

ALL PARTIES IN IRELAND HAVE HAD THEIR SAY REGARDING FUTURE OF THE COUNTRY

Government's Reply to Ulster Had No New Suggestions; the Situation Apparently Deadlocked.

PROTEST MEETINGS IN ULSTER TODAY

Meeting of Unionists in Liverpool May Have Some Effect in Breaking Deadlock.

London, Nov. 15.—All parties in Ireland, with the exception of the Nationalists, who, however, are now largely incorporated with Sinn Fein have now had their say in the negotiations regarding the future of Ireland. The Southern Unionists, who are opposed to a dual Parliament for the island, saw Mr. Lloyd George today, Lord Midleton stating the case for them, while the Ulsterites had before them the Government's refusal of their counter-proposals for a settlement of the Irish question. It was understood that the Government's reply to Ulster contained no new suggestions or proposals, leaving the situation apparently deadlocked.

Protest Meetings.

Protest meetings will be held in Ulster tomorrow against what the Ulsterites characterize as a "betrayal of Ulster," when, among others, J. M. Andrews, Ulster's minister of labor, the marquis of Londonderry, and John James Bourne, member of the Ulster delegation to London, will speak. It is considered unlikely, however, that anything will be done to break the apparent deadlock before the meeting of the Conservative party in Liverpool on Thursday when the delegates will have an opportunity of voting upon the strategic questions that the recent offer to Sinn Fein "went beyond the Unionist opinion of this country," and "that no settlement of the Irish question will be acceptable which does not absolutely respect the position acquired by Ulster."

Chamberlain's Position.

Austen Chamberlain, Government leader in the House of Commons, a supporter of the Ulster position, will not be present at the party convention to defend his stand, but is expected to address a public meeting that evening. Andrew Bonar Law, who the Ulsterites hoped would carry their standard, also is not expected to attend.

The so-called "die-hards," who recently attacked the Government's Irish policy in the House of Commons, will carry on a fight against Mr. Chamberlain in the convention, and it is expected that Lord Derby, with whom Mr. Chamberlain is standing, and who is an advocate of peace in Ireland, will at least try to pour oil upon the troubled waters. The delegates to the convention number between 1,200 and 2,000.

Ulster Opinion.

Belfast, Nov. 15.—U. M. Andrews, minister of labor in the Ulster cabinet, upon his return to Belfast from London this morning, issued the following statement:

"A disgraceful betrayal of Ulster has been attempted by the Coalition Cabinet. The suggestion has been made that we should agree to a parliament for all Ireland with Dominion powers. We have informed His Majesty's Government that we are not prepared to admit the ascendancy of any parliament other than the Imperial Parliament over ours or to agree to its reserved services being transferred to a parliament for all Ireland, which undoubtedly would be controlled by those who are enemies of the empire.

"Our Premier and his colleagues have pointed out to His Majesty's Government in the clearest possible way that any discussion based on a parliament for all Ireland must prove fruitless; and we have asked that this proposal should be withdrawn before any conference takes place between His Majesty's Government and the Ulster Cabinet. In the interest of peace, which every right thinking person desires, we accepted a parliament of our own as a compromise and final settlement. It is for our opponents, if they desire peace, to accept and work their parliament in Southern Ireland in the same spirit with the object of producing a happy, prosperous, peaceful and loyal Ireland. The Ulster representatives will not agree to any surrender of her rights."

Alberta Indignant Over Statement of Farmer Speaker

Lethbridge, Alta., Nov. 14.—There is great indignation here over the statement reported to have been made in Toronto by Miss Mary MacCallum, assistant secretary of the Canadian Council of Agriculture, to the effect that thousands of farmers in Southern Alberta will starve during the coming winter. The statement is declared to be an exaggeration and absolutely incorrect.

"BLUEBEARD OF GAMBIA" ASSUMED THE ROLE OF GOOD SAMARITAN IN ANSWERS

Versailles, Nov. 15.—Henri Landru, alleged "Bluebeard of Gambia," on trial in the Assises Court before Judge Guichard, today assumed the role of good Samaritan in his answer to the charge of murdering Mlle. Andree Baty, his seventh alleged victim. Mlle. Baty was the only girl in the list of ten women whom he is charged with having murdered. The others were all elderly or middle aged. In his answer to the charge of murdering Mlle. Baty, Landru said he merely had befriended the comely girl whom he found weeping and out of work, with only two francs left. He told the court he, therefore, could not have murdered her for money.

POLITICAL LEADERS ADVOCATING FREE TRADE IGNORANT OF TARIFF WORK IN OTHER COUNTRIES

In No Other Country Is There Any Expressed Inclination Toward Free Trade, But, Rather General Action in the Opposite Direction—Report from U. S. Committee on Ways and Means.

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—Canadian political leaders advocating free trade, or even a radical revision downward, appear to be ignorant of the general tendency in all countries to increase protection to stabilize exchange, foster industries and increase revenue. In no other country is there any expressed inclination toward free trade or freer trade, but, rather there is general action in the opposite direction. The aftermath of the war found in the reconstruction period has had a similar effect on the economic policies of all the leading countries, and all are endeavoring, by increased tariffs, to bring order out of chaos by stabilizing industry of all kinds.

The United States Committee on Ways and Means, under the chairmanship of Jos. W. Furdroy, sponsor for the recent high tariff legislation in that country, has received an exhaustive report on the tariff legislation of the principal countries. This report is compiled by Julius Kalain, director of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, and shows the general trend of tariff legislation in the dealing with foreign tariff legislation the report says: "A survey of tariff legislation in the principal foreign countries since the armistice reveals an unmistakable trend toward increases in duty, largely for protective purposes, but in some cases, particularly in Latin America, for fiscal reasons; in a few cases increases in duty were justified by Government officials as a means of discouraging the importation of non-essential articles.

"Doubtless the most influential factor in the general economic structure of normal economic life by the

GERMANY OFFICIALLY DENIES REPORT SHE WILL BE UNABLE TO MEET PAYMENT

Berlin, Nov. 15.—The report that Germany has notified the Allies that she will be unable to meet the next reparations instalment was emphatically denied tonight in official German quarters. A similar denial was made in entente diplomatic circles which are in close touch with the negotiations now proceeding with the reparations commission.

LARGE CROWD GREET'S PREMIER IN WINNIPEG

Says Government Having Difficulty in Raising Money to Carry on Campaign.

TELLS HECKLER TO COME ACROSS

Shows That Profits of Wheat Export Company Are Backing Progressives.

Winnipeg, Nov. 15.—(Staff Correspondent Canadian Press)—That the government had the greatest difficulty in raising money with which to spread information in regard to its record and its plans, was stated tonight by Premier Meighen at a crowded meeting in the Board of Trade building. "Those who think there is a vast campaign fund behind the government are mistaken," the Prime Minister declared. "If a man helps this government with money for this campaign he has my permission to reveal his name if he wishes to do so. It is his business." The Prime Minister was replying to a question from a member of the audience.

"If you'll supply some we'll take them for us," he told the heckler.

Mr. Meighen went on to say that the investigation before the cost of living committee of the House of Commons had revealed that $100,000 of the profits of the Wheat Export Company (a subsidiary of the United Grain Growers) had been diverted to subsidizing newspapers for political propaganda. The campaign financed in this way was responsible for much of the ill-feeling against the government, he said.

The Premier defended the government's protective tariff policy, the mercantile marine policy, and, turning to the railway question, the Premier said he knew what his own railway policy was, but he had great difficulty in locating that of his opponents.

Sir Hibbert Tupper Urges Support For Meighen Gov't

Declares It the Duty of All Citizens to Stand by the Government.

Shubencadee, N. S., Nov. 15.—Sir Hibbert Tupper and Hon. F. B. McCurdy, Minister of Public Works, addressed a meeting held here this evening under the auspices of the National Liberal and Conservative Party of Hants County. Sir Hibbert spoke of the tariff as the principal issue of the campaign, and approved of the record of the Government which, in a trying time, had accomplished a great deal of work for the reconstruction of the affairs of the country, disturbed by the great war. He paid an interesting tribute to Hon. Mr. Meighen as leader of the Government and urged that it was the duty of all citizens to give the Government another lease of power to carry on the work so well begun.

Mr. McCurdy pointed out the importance of a settled tariff policy which he claimed would only be attained by the election of Premier Meighen, and asked the voters to give the Government their wholehearted confidence.

Monomaniac Shoots Sir Andrew Macphail, Then Suicides

Two Shots Fired at Distinguished Physician, One Lodging in the Shoulder.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—Suffering from monomania in the form of violent hallucinations, and described by his brother as having been "queer" for some time and to have been obsessed with the idea that some "terrible monster" was following him, Louis Ogulnik, 38, son of S. M. Ogulnik, prominent tailor of this city, shot Sir Andrew Macphail, professor of medicine at McGill University, through his right shoulder at the latter's office at 218 Peel Street this afternoon.

Immediately after the shooting, Ogulnik turned his revolver on himself, pulling the trigger twice. One bullet lodged in his chest, the other in his brain. Death was almost instantaneous. Four shots were fired. Of these the first went wild, Professor Macphail had time to partly dodge the second and as he rushed through a door and was closing it behind him, the second shot rang out and struck him in the shoulder just above the armpit. He was not seriously hurt being able to phone for an ambulance himself. A few minutes later he was on his way to the Royal Victoria Hospital where the bullet was extracted.

The dead man had known Sir Andrew fairly well but whether he had ever consulted him medically the family could not say.

CANADA STRONGLY FAVORS VIEW THAT U. S. PROPOSALS SHOULD BECOME PERMANENT

DENIES REPORTS THAT IRISH DELEGATION AGREED TO RECOGNIZE SOVEREIGNTY

Paris, Nov. 15.—Sean O'Connell, Stan Fein representative in Paris, in a statement to the press today denied reports current here that the Irish delegates in London had agreed to recognize the sovereignty of the king and to accept a settlement of Irish claims a modified form of Dominion Home Rule. He declared any suggestion of this kind constituted a complete misrepresentation of the present situation. "The demands of Ireland," he said, "remain unchanged and unmodified. Ireland is today as resolute in her determination to win independence as at any moment since the struggle began. It is absolutely untrue to say that her position has been modified by events of the last four months."

GREAT POWERS FORMALLY ACCEPT IN PRINCIPLE THE PROPOSALS OF UNITED STATES

Great Britain Wants Replacement Programme Spread Over Period of Years Rather Than Taken Up at End of Ten Year Holiday—Mr. Balfour Speaks With Assurance of Complete Accord of the Dominions.

Washington, Nov. 15.—Formally accepting "in principle and spirit" the United States proposals for reducing and limiting naval armaments, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan today pledged their adherence and began discussions of details to a committee of Admirals to be formed by the United States and Great Britain, which the original proposal would allow her. France and Italy want to be taken into consideration at the outset and not wait for disposal of the question as it affects the big three. Moreover, both France and Italy feel that they should be permitted to increase rather than decrease their sea forces to bring them up to a figure comparable with what is being allowed the other Great Powers, as previously outlined, wants the replacement programme spread over a period of years rather than taken up at the end of a ten year holiday, and she wants further reduction and definite limitations on submarines.

After a session of little more than an hour, the Conference, after hearing addresses of general acceptance by Arthur J. Balfour, for the British; Baron Admiral Kato, for Japan; Senor Schanzer, for Italy; and Premier Briand, for France, adjourned to meet again on the call of Secretary Hughes and the newly appointed committee on naval armaments went into secret session.

Mr. Balfour's attitude showed clearly that he spoke with assurance of the complete accord of the Dominions' delegates in presenting the British point of view. Previous to the session he had several conferences with Sir Robert Borden and the delegates of Australia and New Zealand, who had been made conversant with the stand which the head of the Empire delegation proposed to take and had given it their complete endorsement. Sir Robert Borden was one of the delegates in attendance at this afternoon's session of the committee consisting of the entire delegations.

Downward Tendency in Cooked Ham And Bacon Prices

Very Noticeable in Wholesale Quarters, But Retailers Slow to Catch On.

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—A downward tendency in the price of cooked ham and breakfast bacon has been in evidence in the Ottawa wholesale provisions market in the last few days, and a reduction of two to three cents a pound to the trade has been made. Cooked ham is now selling wholesale at 38 cents to 42 cents a pound, and breakfast bacon from 24 to 28 cents.

GOVT OF ALBERTA PREPARED TO PREVENT SUFFERING IN SOUTHERN PART

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 15.—There will be no starvation in Southern Alberta this winter, notwithstanding reports that have been circulated to that effect in some parts of Eastern Canada. The government will see that no such misfortune occurs, and already steps have been taken to meet whatever situation may arise. This statement is made by Hon. George Howley, minister of agriculture, in behalf of the government.

DOMINION FAVORS CONSIDERATION OF DIMINUTION OF NAVAL ARMAMENT AT FIXED PERIODS.

BALFOUR ACCLAIMED BY GALLERY

Makes Masterly Presentation of the Stand to be Taken by the Empire.

Washington, Nov. 15.—(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—It is understood that Canada strongly favors the view that, by arrangement for periodical conferences, the proposals put forward by the United States should become continuous and permanent. This would involve consideration of the diminution of naval armaments at fixed periods. It would also involve the calling into conference of all nations that might, from time to time, develop considerable naval power. The proposal would give permanence and continuity to the United States plan and it is expected that it will meet with the strong approval of the nations whose representatives are now assembled in Washington. It is believed that this idea has been embodied in a memorandum by Sir Robert Borden, Canada's representative at the Conference.

Features of Day

This move to ensure lasting benefit to the world from the projected limitation of naval armaments is one of the most interesting developments of the third day of the Conference on Limitation of Armaments, as featured by a notable address from A. J. Balfour, acting head of the British Empire delegation, delivered at the second open session of the Conference this morning, and by the first definite step in the threshing out of the details of the naval proposals, the appointment of a committee of experts to examine the plan put forward by the United States delegation and pass upon by the feasibility of its various features.

Balfour Acclaimed

Mr. Balfour was acclaimed by his fellow-delegates and by crowded galleries for his masterly presentation of the stand of the British Empire. He declared that the representatives of the Empire had considered the United States plan "with admiration and approval," and had agreed with it "in spirit and in principle," but presented several points which were susceptible for further consideration. He particularly called attention to the large amount of tonnage permitted for submarines, a tonnage in excess of that possessed by any nation at the present time. He suggested further consideration of the proposal might make it appear desirable to cut down this figure also to forbid the construction of submarines of great size which are not intended for defense, but whose whole purpose is probably by methods which the civilized nations would regard with horror.

This position, broadly outlined by Mr. Balfour, is believed to be one upon which the British delegation will take a firm stand. It is of particular importance to Canada and the other overseas Dominions. The days when German U-boats were hovering off the Nova Scotia coast have not been forgotten and it is felt that the dominions and some of the smaller, outlying portions of the Empire might be placed in a very awkward position if submarines capable of long distance travel were constructed.

Cashed Forged Cheque And Hit The High Spots

Toronto, Nov. 15.—Pleading guilty to having forged her mother's name on a check and drawing $500 from a bank, Maud Bourdigon, a 17 year old French girl was remanded today until the 22nd. According to Detective Elliott, Maud frittered away the $500, "leading the high life in Ottawa."

Consider Proposal

The British delegates, it is believed, will present as a counter-proposal that Britain and the United States be permitted to maintain yards capable of turning out one ship per year. These and other points upon which the views of the various nations differ are to be settled by the special committee of experts which was appointed at the first committee session of the conference speech. Admiral Lord Beatty was chosen as the British representative on this committee. When the experts have agreed (Continued on page 3)

Argentina—The principal change to the twenty per cent. horizontal increase made last year.

Australia—A new tariff for the protection of industries created or expanded during the war as well as encouragement of new industries calculated to increase the economic independence of the country.

Belgium—In 1920 the government was authorized to increase by 300 per cent. the specific rates of duty for one year. This year the limit of increase was raised to 600 per cent.

British India—The upward revision of the tariff in British India is ascribed to fiscal need of the country and the desire for protection to promote the development of native industries. This year further tariff increases were made.

China—This year China has provided for horizontal increases of 50, 60 and 100 per cent. of import duty.

France—France has abrogated her commercial treaties. A change in tariff impositions has been made to increase protection.

Germany—The capacity to make tariff changes in Germany has been greatly curtailed by the Treaty of Versailles, but the abrogation of commercial treaties and some tariff changes have increased protection.

Italy—A new tariff adopted this year considerably raises the tariff rates.

Japan—This year Japan put into effect temporary legislation to provide additional protection to certain industries. A general tariff revision is overdue.

New Zealand—Few changes have been made since the report of a tariff commission.

Portugal—Tariff changes have been confined to exemptions for articles of necessity, like foodstuffs, and increases in duty or import restrictions on non-essentials or luxuries.

"Where do they come from?" insisted Mr. Kelly. "Those who subscribe to them can tell if they so desire," the Premier answered, and Col. Harry Mullins, a prominent farmer of Portage La Prairie district, remarked that he had contributed to them, too.

"What is Mr. Crerar's grain policy?" he asked. "Never mind the policy. Get on with something else," replied Mr. Kelly.

"There you have Crerar's grain policy," replied Mr. Meighen, amid some laughter. Mr. Kelly interrupted at another point, when the Prime Minister was telling the purpose for which the United Grain Growers had been formed and stating that this company had not fulfilled these purposes.

"Yes," replied Mr. Kelly, firmly. The Premier declared that the United Grain Growers had gone on the grain exchange and committed all the sins of a grain company. "They put $100,000 of their profits in the Grain Growers' Guide," he said.

"They did not," retorted Mr. Kelly. "Then is the evidence of Mr. Rice-Jones before the cost of living commission wrong?" queried the Premier.

"Where was it?" countered Mr. Kelly. The Premier repeated his statement that the United Grain Growers had put no money in the Grain Growers' Guide. "It wasn't in the Guide," he insisted.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

And Quebec's domination in the event of a Liberal victory is made more certain by the fact that Mr. King will not be in the next House

"This is an election of revenge" is the burden of the Quebec Liberal speeches of the campaign.

Can a party in power with more than half its voting strength drawn from one province be said to truly represent the great Dominion as a whole?

Decidedly not, particularly when the racial appeal is being kept alive in this election for the purpose of vote-getting in practically every Quebec constituency.

"I honestly think you do not realize the extent of the national peril you are creating," wrote Dr. Michael Clark, himself a Liberal, to Mr. Crerar early in the campaign.

The one party which can bring to Ottawa a majority truly representative of every province but dominated by none is the National Liberal and Conservative party.

Sir Ernest Wild Apologizes To Police Magistrate

Appetite Good, Gained 20 lbs. Could Not Feel Better

From a nervous wreck this man was restored to health, strength and happiness.

He tells his own story in this letter.

Mr. Ralph A. Roberts, Lovena, Sask., writes:

"In 1917 I had lost all appetite, failed 25 pounds in weight, became very nervous and shaky and in fact given up all hope of recovery. For some time I had suffered from constipation, which kept getting worse, until I was fast becoming a total wreck. Doctors and their drugs were sending me to my grave at the age of 39.

"Then I read about people being restored by Dr. Chase's Medicine and after three months' use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills I found that my bowels were restored to normal movement each day and the constipation was no more. I had a good appetite, had gained 20 pounds and could not feel better. I shall always be grateful for these benefits."

"Diapepsin" for Bad Stomach, Indigestion

Take "Pape's Diapepsin" now! In five minutes your stomach feels fine. Don't bother what upset your stomach or which portion of the food did the damage. If your stomach is sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; you loath gases and acids and eructate undigested food—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear. If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quick, cost, surest, most harmless antacid is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only sixty cents for a large case at drug stores.

Pullman Company Consolidated With Haskell, Barker Co.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—Details of the consolidation of the Pullman Company and the Haskell, Barker Car Company virtually have been completed. It was learned here today. The stock will be exchanged, it was understood, in the ratio of four shares of Haskell-Barker for three of Pullman. This ratio, it is said, was agreed upon because a larger valuation of the Pullman Company was said to have occurred through the discovery that amounts charged off for depreciation were found to be greater than actual depreciation of property.

Whitch?

Crerar
The head of a great trading organization which unites its trading with its politics—a political theorist—has lost control of the political movement he started and is being driven into impossible positions by class rule extremists. He is under the domination of Wood, the political boss of Alberta. He would give effect to Free Trade, thus destroying Canada's industrial and economic structure.

A Vote for Crerar is a Vote for Chaos

King
So evasive that nobody knows where he actually stands on the great issues of the day. Fits his policy to suit his audiences. Talks Free Trade to the West and Protection to the East. Specializes in high-sounding phraseology. His party is pledged to a large measure of Free Trade, but fails to suggest new methods of obtaining necessary National Revenues.

A Vote for King is a Plunge in the Dark

Meighen
Easily the outstanding figure in Canadian public life today, and the only real Leader in sight. Able, forceful, courageous, and upright in character. A statesman of demonstrated ability with broad National and Imperial vision and an unassailable record. Stands firm for the maintenance of a reasonable Protective Tariff, and aims to provide the maximum amount of profitable labour for all.

MR. MEIGHEN'S CREED.

"More than any other country, Canada needs a protective system. She is a young country mostly undeveloped. She lies alongside a great big country tremendously developed. The United States has every advantage that Canada has and tremendous advantages besides. It surely follows, to the mind of every reasonable man, that to abandon the protective system in Canada would be simply to invite the absorption of Canadian industry in the far vaster industries of the United States. The principles of the protection of Canadian industry have been proclaimed by practically every statesman who has shouldered the responsibility of government in Canada. They are sound and they are right and the vast mass of the people of Canada know that they are sound and right."

—From Premier Meighen's Portage Speech.

THE PRIME MINISTER.

The Ottawa Journal publishes the following remarks which it announces were overheard in the street on Saturday:

"I have no politics. I heard Meighen speak the other night and I heard Crerar and King speak a few days before. There is only one thing I can do. I am going to vote for the man. He is head and shoulders above the others. And the people see it. He is winning the country to him every day."

While the foregoing is the expressed opinion of only one man, the vast majority of Canadians hold the same view. There cannot be any shadow of doubt notwithstanding the two columns of very interesting "news" with which The Telegraph revealed its readers yesterday morning regarding the province-wide condemnation that the Government may expect—that the more Mr. Meighen is heard in this campaign, the more supporters he makes for his party. Those who listen to him know what they have got, which is precisely what they don't know when dealing with Mr. King. The latter is everything by turns, and nothing long. Men of that character are not wanted as Prime Minister in this country.

And yet it may be doubted if any Canadian political leader ever had a more uphill task before him than that Mr. Meighen had to face. He became Prime Minister at a time when the whole world was distracted to a degree never previously experienced in all history; industrial turmoil, unemployment and unrest; class consciousness rearing its head and demanding government by class and for class; trade conditions throughout the world completely out of joint; the currencies of nearly all countries depreciated; the world's credit system endangered; all nations loaded with mountains of debt due to the war; the people still suffering generally from the awful tragedy of the great human holocaust; agitators of all kinds stirring up strife—these were among the many unparalleled conditions he had to face.

Resolutely and with fine courage he set to work, and he has well measured up to his great task. Steadily, persistently and without variation, turning neither to the right nor to the left, he has expounded the doctrines of moderate and reasonable protection and of trade independence as the best and only material policies for Canada under present conditions. Just as strongly and consistently he has urged the necessity and desirability of unity among all classes in order that the country may work out its salvation to the best possible advantage. With equal persistence he has told the people that in work, serious, earnest, honest work, lies the hope of the future, not in the frittering away of energy by stirring up class and racial strife and division.

So far a large measure of success is his. He has driven both the leaders of the Opposition parties to shift their fighting ground and change front, which is as good testimony as could be adduced as to the strength and wisdom of his own policy.

Under the fire of the Prime Minister's criticisms, Mr. Mackenzie King has made himself quite ridiculous. The cartoon poster comparing his policy to the fit, seven varieties of Hines pickles satirically describes his wobble and vacillating.

Mr. Meighen has succeeded in convincing the public that the Liberal leaders have no well defined policy except that of splitting into camps and that they are merely trifling with the public at the most critical time in the country's history. To use a somewhat slang phrase, he has made the huge great Liberal party look like thirty cents—or less.

THE POLICY OF THE STANDARD.

The Standard was taken over by new owners on the 16th day of September last. On September 17th they laid down the policy which the paper would pursue. To quote from the announcement which appeared in the issue of that date: "The new ownership is comprised of a group of men who have faith in Canada and particularly in the Maritime Provinces and who believe that the interests of the Dominion can be best served by the maintenance of a stable fiscal policy; by retention of the markets we have, and by the opening up of others through the negotiation of suitable trade arrangements with other countries; by the limitation of tariff preferences to direct importation through Canadian ports."

Previous to the 16th of September last the Standard was owned and controlled by a private individual whose policy was his own and who alone can be held responsible for the attitude adopted by The Standard in federal, provincial and civic politics. He has completely severed his connection with this newspaper.

The Standard today is supporting the Meighen Administration because it believes it is the best qualified to give the Dominion the leadership and because it believes that Premier Meighen in his choice of Hon. J. B. M. Baxter as the provincial representative in the cabinet has the outstanding and ablest statesman in New Brunswick.

Another reason why The Standard advocates the Meighen policies is that it believes they are the soundest on tariff and railway matters, questions of paramount importance to the Maritime Provinces.

It is evidently Secretary Hughes' idea that the way to disarm is to disarm. The Washington plan as submitted by him to the Conference is no half-way or temporizing measure. The American secretary apparently sees no need of the new order that they lay along in the matter of limitation of naval armament. He would cut deep at the start, and thus bring real relief from the burden which is so rapidly driving the world to bankruptcy.

The news dispatches say that the Hughes proposition was a shock to the other powers, but if one may judge by the published interviews with the foreign delegates, they don't dislike it, and the more they study it, the more strongly it seems to appeal to them.

It is radical, certainly, but apparently the delegates believe it to be fair in principle, as far as they can determine from a superficial examination. It will be subject to modifications of course before it is adopted, but that it can be accepted as a basis for negotiations is generally agreed.

THE PORTLAND ROUTE.

The whole trouble in connection with the possibility of Canadian grain being shipped overseas through Portland arises, as The Telegraph declared it would, through the criminal folly of the Laurier Government in not specifically insisting that all grain without exception should be carried over the road the Government was providing the money to build, instead of leaving it to the shipper to route it any way he liked. For failure to insist upon this being done, The Telegraph, very properly, demanded that the Laurier Government be hurried from power for its traitorous treatment of the country's interests.

This is one of the very few pieces of really sensible advice The Telegraph ever gave to the public, and as events have since proved, it is a sad pity it was not followed.

Mad and Empire: Manning Doherty is reported to have made the statement that the present Canadian tariff is the most iniquitous one that any country in the world knows today. We venture to say that there is no other man except another Progressive of equal illumination who has the combination of moral courage and tariff knowledge to deliver such sweeping judgments. The trouble with the supporters of protection is that they have to depend on argument, a method which the generally parasitic politicians have no patience of.

Mr. Meighen has succeeded in convincing the public that the Liberal leaders have no well defined policy except that of splitting into camps and that they are merely trifling with the

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Canada's Favorable Conditions.

(Quebec Chronicle.)
The Canadian Bank of Commerce, in its November commercial letter, make the encouraging report that the receipts of grain are continuing to be greatly in excess of those of last year, or of any prior year with the exception of 1915. To some extent the grade has been improved by inclement weather, and this, with low prices, has been disappointing to the growers. As a whole, however, the proceeds of the harvest, even at the lowest prices, should enable the growers to liquidate current indebtedness to a satisfactory extent. Crop sales have already stimulated business, many lines of which show a distinct improvement over their condition in September.

Although the wheat harvest is likely to be considerably above the average in volume, the western farmer is not overlooking the desirability of mixed farming. In districts where experience has shown that grain growing is somewhat hazardous, the farmers are turning to dairying, and a moderate demand has arisen for pure-bred Holstein cows. The latter have come from this branch of farming is emphasized by the fact that most of the farmers who find it necessary to borrow money to pay the expenses of threshing are those who are not in possession of an income from dairy products.

Meanwhile, our exports of dairy products are declining owing partly to doubt, to the uncertainty of the markets in the United States. In the United Kingdom, which formerly obtained so large a proportion of its dairy products from Canada, there is still a large stock of New Zealand butter obtained under war contracts, which has not been liquidated. The result is that a number which will disappear as conditions generally right themselves in Europe. Competition from New Zealand, Denmark and Holland have to be reckoned with, but Russia, which has been in the past such a strong competitor of Canadian dairies, has been unable to export for some years. The United Kingdom, which has been a large customer of Canadian dairies will be out of the market for some time to come. There is reason, therefore, to hope that the market in the United Kingdom will be opened up by Canadian dairies which are capable of indefinite expansion and at present the products are in the hands of the consumer in the United Kingdom.

The British Columbia apple crop has been exceptionally heavy, and growers are reported to be having one of the best seasons on record. As a rule the chief market for this fruit is in the United States, but this year, as the result of arrangements made during the summer, a memorable market has been established not only in the western states of the American Union but also in New York and other eastern cities, where the British Columbia apples have competed successfully with the native product.

Along the Atlantic Coast and in Newfoundland, the fishing industry is regaining hopefulness. Old stocks of fish have been disposed of, and a fair proportion of the new cure has been marketed to advantage. The demand from Europe for the products of Newfoundland is improving, and South American products are being exported. These and other outlets are enabling exporters to dispose quickly of their stocks of new fish, the higher grades of which are not so plentiful as usual.

The fishermen feel no anxiety that changes in the United States tariff will affect Canadian fishing products adversely, except in the case of pickled herring, for which there is only a limited market in that country.

The extent of unemployment, the number of persons in idleness and the inadequacy of the return from agricultural enterprises are not nearly so pronounced in Canada as in other countries. Among the facts that distinguish the business of the world at the moment are the unemployment which prevails in the United States and in Great Britain, necessitating in the latter country extraordinary measures of relief, and the extravagant government expenditure reported from many countries, notably Argentina, in efforts to stimulate business, repression. This constitutes decisive evidence that a return to stable conditions is still some distance away. Conditions in Canada are undoubtedly favorable as compared with those prevailing elsewhere, and serious as are the problems confronting her people, it does not appear that their solution is beset with difficulties as grave as those confronting other countries.

Leaders on the Platform.

(Toronto Telegram.)
The coming of a political leader to a small town is a big event in the colonies of rural community life. Residents of party, the people turn out in hundreds and the speeches, many coming long distances by motor car. Curiously appears to be the dominating force in bringing out the crowd that has heard Messrs. Meighen, Crerar and King in Ontario in recent weeks.

The audience are polite, almost too much so. Messrs. Meighen and Crerar appear to be so anxious to take in the whole show that they remain silent when there are opportunities to interrupt. The habit of the speaker that beloved and picturesque figure in Old Country politics, is not Canada. Our citizens who attend the meetings prefer to remain undisturbed and obscure in the shadow of the crowd.

A Good Example.

This fact was demonstrated most emphatically by Hon. Mackenzie King's recent meeting in Saralia. Saralia's principal industry is the Imperial Oil Company, and oil is the leading issue in Saralia's campaign, which is the West. Lambert three-cornered fight. The Liberal platform of 1919 puts oil on the free list. Premier Meighen spoke in Saralia about three weeks ago and pointedly asked the electors to request Mr. King, when the Liberal leader came there, to state his tariff platform definitely. King went to Saralia last week, deliberately broke his speech to request somebody to do it for him about the tariff, and there wasn't a word from the audience. Remarks had come from several in criticism of his points; many at the meeting had displayed Tory sentiment, but nobody would undertake the duty of questioning the difference of a Canadian election audience. Under similar circumstances, in the Old Country, half the crowd would have been on their feet with questions.

A Quiet Speaker.

Crerar discourages questions from the audience. The Progressive leader has a conversational style of speaking, making no effort to work up to any climax and remaining content to persuade or convince rather than to enthrall his auditors. He is not a "big" speaker, but has a quiet method, making frequent references to his desire to avoid the stirring up of passion and kindred hard feelings. At Woodstock, when the crowd began to question him, Crerar actually requested that the Progressive leader should make a conversational style of speaking, making no effort to work up to any climax and remaining content to persuade or convince rather than to enthrall his auditors.

Crerar's meetings bring out some farmers who do not habitually attend political gatherings. They fall to perform in the accepted manner with loud ovations and cheers. Sometimes, they then lag in starting the National Anthem at the close, and at such times Crerar leads off himself with a strong baritone voice. That always makes a hit.

The Hardest Hitter.

Meighen is the best speaker of the three, perhaps because of his longer training in Parliament. He is also the hardest hitter. Both King and Crerar are inclined towards using the complaining manner when they attack their opponents, but Meighen goes at his enemies without ceremony of any kind. He is not a "big" speaker, but he has a habit of turning on them and holding them up to ridicule. Anyone who questions Meighen is liable to have the meeting harboring bitter feelings against him. Meighen seldom rises to convince the one who interrupts, rather he convulses the audience at the offender's expense.

King is a noisy and verbose speaker. He has no idea of economy in language. He shouts loudly and waves his arms, even in small halls where such shouting is not necessary. At any meeting where he speaks first he is most likely to leave those who follow behind him. King works like a steam engine in the mazes of his own eloquence.

The Ladies Come Out.

The ladies have been coming out in goodly numbers to attend these political meetings. Their appearance in the halls cannot pass without notice because most of them keep their hats on. Husbands bring their wives and at several meetings it was noticed that, where the husband rose to his feet in enthusiasm at the final ovation, the wife rose with him. At crowded meetings, gray-haired old ladies can be seen standing up in the aisles. The women have caught the spirit of politics.

This is so in many cases, but not in all. During an organization meeting at London, Ont., recently, a lady speaker was telling the women how proud they should be of their new duty of voting. "I don't agree with you," called a woman out of the audience. "I think this pesky ballot is the biggest nuisance I ever heard of."

King and the Veterans. (London Free Press.)
Hon. Mackenzie King spoke at great length at London, Ont., recently, a word of encouragement for the war veterans? Was there a syllable to show Mr. King knew a war took place? Was there a word of criticism of what the Government has done for the veterans of Canada? There was not.

The Union Government and the Meighen Government has a record in regard to the war and the aftermath of the war of which it has every reason to be proud.

Canada was first in the field caring for the veterans maimed in the war. We started our hospitals in 1915. Military hospitals and re-establishing homes have taken care of medically and clinically no less than 455,000 returned soldiers; have treated dependently over $84,000; have admitted to vocational training 48,000, and of that number 25,000 odd had graduated by August, 1920. Of all the men put through 89 per cent of them are today in satisfactory employment, earning money, helping to produce. The Department of Civil Re-establishment has also placed in permanent positions 175,000 disabled men. In among the returned men but no country in the world has been so generous to its returned men as Canada.

One hundred and sixty millions of dollars has been paid out in gratuities to returned soldiers. In this respect Canada leads by far the largest amount per man of any country, even the richest country in the world today—the United States.

The pensions list includes 177,000 pensions. Up to the present—August, 1921—$5,000,000 have been spent in this way.

A scheme of life insurance has been adopted whereby returned soldiers may be insured without medical examination at actual cost, not even including cost of administration. In sums of from $500 to $5,000. This is the cheapest insurance on earth. Over $80,000,000 has been granted in loans to place 20,000 returned men on the land.

There are undoubtedly individual cases of hardship and of injustice in the returned men but no country in the world has been so generous to its returned men as Canada.

Do the war veterans of Ontario want to entrust the guidance of Meighen to the guidance of Mackenzie King, who only returned to the Dominion during the war to oppose conscription, or a party which is depending for its majority upon the Province of Quebec as "our common enemy" (meaning the reputations as "users" (again meagre where the vote appeal against the Meighen Government is its record on conscription).

Do the veterans of Ontario propose to join hands with Lucien Cannon in the snuffing out of Meighen's record because he patriotically believed that Canada should give "the last dollar and the last cent" for the cause of civilization?

Halifax Explosion Wrecked Her Nerves.

The reader will, no doubt, remember when a few years ago there was a collision in the Halifax, N. S., Harbor and one of the munition ships was blown up, causing great loss of life and laying a large portion of the city in ruins, and causing a great deal of suffering and distress among the inhabitants.

Mrs. Winfield Dill, now of Windsor, N. S., was living in Halifax at the time and went through this trying experience. She writes as follows:—"I was living in Halifax at the time of the explosion, and it wrecked my nerves so that I could not do my household work. I would take such nervous spells I would be under the doctor's care."

I saw Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills advertised, so I took two boxes, and they helped me so much I took six more, and now I am completely relieved. I can recommend them to anyone suffering from heart and nerve trouble."

Heavy Snowfall At Fredericton

Upper St. John Valley and North Shore Receive Substantial Covering.

Fredericton, Nov. 16—Almost six inches of snow had fallen here up to noon today in what had all the appearance of a mid-winter snowstorm. Reports from all over the province indicated that New Brunswick was fairly in the grip of a storm. It was snowing equally as hard as it was here all along the Upper St. John Valley and the North Shore as well as the highland central portion of the province, while the snow extended into Charlotte county and along the coast at St. John and other points.
With today's snowfall the total amount of snow in some portions of New Brunswick may reach three feet in depth before nightfall.

Mosher Criticizes Minority Report

Declares Ry. Representative of Arbitration Board is Off On His Figures.

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—(Canadian Press)—A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, today criticized the minority report of the board of arbitration in the wage dispute between the Canadian National Railways and the Brotherhood. The minority report was submitted by G. D. Kelley, railway representative.

Mr. Mosher, in commenting on the report, said that the strength of the Brotherhood was twice as much as the figures quoted in Mr. Kelley's findings. Mr. Mosher also took exception to the statement that all the clerical forces, except on the Canadian National Railways, had accepted a tentative wage agreement. "The clerical forces and other classes such as compose the C. B. R. E. have not accepted the tentative agreement in either Canada or the United States," Mr. Mosher said.

The Dominion election falling on that day, the clerk of the court has written the Presiding Judge for instructions, and it is likely that the trial will be set over until after Christmas.

The flavour of the chocolate coating depends on a careful selection of the cacao beans—and there are almost 100 different kinds! Ganong's select, blend and roast their own cacao beans. The aroma of the chocolate depends on a proper roasting of the carefully selected beans, just as aroma is developed in roasting coffee. In the famous candy kitchens at St. Stephen, this roasting is most carefully done.

No highly flavoured centres can disguise the lack of attention paid to the chocolate itself by makers who depend upon outside sources to supply the coating they use. THE STANDARD'S SPORTING SECTION

EVEN IN BASEBALL THERE ARE EXCEPTIONS TO RULES

Umpire Klem's Ruling An Example of When "Infield Fly" Is Something Entirely Different—An Instance During a Game Between Pirates and Giants.

When is an "infield fly" something entirely different? You may find the answer in the story of a play which is one of the most peculiar in baseball.

On July 27 the Pirates and Giants tangled in one of their "crucial" games. Eventually the Pirates got two men on the sack. Then a Buccaneer bopped to the plate and hoisted the ball high into the air in the region which he and the catcher were jointly occupying.

The wind was strong that afternoon. First it blew the ball into foul territory, then swished it back to a point just over the fair line. It sailed back and forth as it slowly descended—and then, about halfway down, a plume toward a spot about one foot beyond the foul line and into fair territory just in front of the home plate.

Frank Snyder, the catching party for the Giants, made a grab for the ball, but it eluded him. It dropped upon the landscape. Snyder hurriedly picked it up and threw it to second base. Rawlings stepped on to the sack for a fore-out and then whipped the ball to third, leaving the runner going into the sack.

It was a double play, retiring the side. Thereupon the Pirates shrieked—how they shrieked. "It was an infield fly, and nobody's out but the batter," they howled at Umpire Bill Klem.

"It was no such thing," responded Klem. "It was a common, ordinary garden variety fly, and the double play stands."

The Pirates yipped and howled. They crated and debated. They craved the book of rules and warbled: "Section 5, Rule 51: If, before two players are out, and while first and second bases are occupied, the batter hits a fair fly ball, other than a line drive, which can be handled by an infielder, the umpire shall declare it an infield fly, the batter is out whether the ball is caught or not."

And then they howled at Bill. "It was an infield fly," the catcher, by attempting to get it, became an infielder. The batter was automatically out because it was an infield fly. So only the batter is out and not the other two players."

"Begone," said Bill, or words to that effect. "It was not an infield fly. It was a high fly which might either have been foul or not, but it wasn't an absolutely certain infield fly. I can't call it that. I called it an ordinary fly and the double play stands."

Then the Pirates carried their protest to the Commission of the National League. They took certain victory in the matter, inasmuch as they

Leonard Preparing For Final Bout

Gleneagles Again Offers Big Purse

Big Golf Tourney Again Likely to Attract American Professional Stars.

As it has been noted abroad that Jack Hutchinson has virtually decided to go over to Sandwich next year in defence of the British championship honors which he won at St. Andrews, and also that Jim Barnes and Walter Hagan have their minds set on making a third onslaught on the open title, it is of passing interest that the date of the annual 1922 golf tournament at Gleneagles has been scheduled for June 12. Last year the entry of a majority of the American professional team and of Joe Kirkwood, the Australian champion, placed the Gleneagles tourney on a very high plane indeed. That it will fall very far below the old standard next year is unlikely, for if Hutchinson, Hagan and Barnes do go abroad it is not to be supposed that they will pass up such an opportunity to enrich themselves as the tourney in the Highlands offers.

The Wolf's Last Stand in America

Washington, Nov. 15.—The wolf is again making his last stand in America. Bloody fanged from cattlemen's stock, and fighting for his existence against the best traps, rifles, poison and hunters, he has been cut down in number, until today it is estimated by the United States biological survey, that in the western states, his last refuge, there are probably less than five hundred.

Hunters are fast getting his pelt, through exciting and romantic adventures. In Northwest Wyoming, Uncle Sam's hunters are now interestingly drive to clean out what is believed to be less than fifty. Since the drive began last spring twenty-four have been killed.

The old system of laying bounties on the head of wild animals has been found after years of study and experience to be a failure. Dr. A. K. Fisher, in charge of economic investigations of the biological survey, says:

"Since 1890 millions of dollars have been spent in bounties," he declared, "and there has never been a case where the bounty did any permanent good."

The old bounty men, he charged, were in the game more for the money and the living they could get out of it, than for the purpose of ridding the country of wild animals. It was found, he added, that the bounty men after hunting a season, purposely would leave one or two pairs of wolves, to raise more wolves, for more bounties.

In the beginning of the government's drive with paid hunters, Mr. Fisher further charged, some of the old bounty men proved unfaithful.

"Some of them would write up here saying if they could only have the tail of a shark, or the tip of a kangaroo's tail, they could surely lure game into their traps. That was all pure superstition."

Although the wolf has attacked many persons and hunted man in packs in the steeper of Alaska, and other parts of the old world, there is no single case on record, Dr. Fisher reports, where a wolf has attacked a human being in North America.

Beatty Feted By U. S. Officers of Grand Fleet

Civilization Safe If British and U. S. Navies Always Stand Together.

Washington, Nov. 15.—So long as the United States and Great Britain "stick together civilization will live," Marie Beatty, Admiral of the British Fleet, declared tonight at the first reunion of the British and United States officers who served with him during the war in the Grand Fleet. The reunion was a dinner attended by 75 officers of the two navies, including all ranks from Admiral to ensign.

Rear-Admiral Hugh Rodman, who commanded the United States force which were attached to the Grand Fleet, acted as toastmaster, and in reply to Earl Beatty's declaration expressed the hope that the British and United States navies might "always stand together." "Since I have come to this country," the British Admiral said, "I have encountered nothing but hospitality, generous and eloquent. This has filled me with more complete understanding of what I began to recognize while we were in the North Sea together; that we all were of the same race, with the same aspirations and hopes and determinations to aid civilization. Those I have met here have only strengthened the thoughts which I was struck together, civilization will live.

The assurance expressed by President Harding today at Arlington that the dead shall not have died in vain was echoed by Earl Beatty, who said it would bring "a feeling of contentment to the bereaved." He recalled that some of the British officers present were here in connection with the Conference called by President Harding "with the idea that those organs of sacrifice of the war shall not occur again."

Admiral Beatty said that he had been asked how naval officers could look with pleasure on an armament reduction, when it was, in a way, "cutting our own throats." Naval officers, he said, knew the sacrifices and costs entailed by world armaments and felt that anything that could be done to "short circuit" these outlays and make it difficult to repeat the record of the past would be of value to both the naval service and the world.

The banquet hall was a scene of cordial informality. The colored signal flags which lined the rafters overhead were constantly fluttering with hearty cheers and songs.

Admiral Rodman welcomed Earl Beatty and then the assembly broke into a prolonged cheer "for Commodore-in-Chief," in the midst of which Admiral Beatty arose, smiling.

"I can tell you, Admiral, and I can say it in all sincerity," he said, "tonight is the happiest I have known for a long time, because it takes me back to days when you and I were together on the same task of making life better for the world."

"While in this country," he continued, "I have been taken miles from the sea and it was pretty dry, yet I was not permitted to forget it, so Admiral Rodman, an old comrade, tonight has with stories of the sea and the sixth battle squadron."

5,000,000 School Children Suffer From Malnutrition

National Tuberculosis Society of U. S. Has Unique Plan to Correct Health Habits.

New York, Nov. 15.—The National Tuberculosis Association reported yesterday that more than 5,000,000 school children in the United States were suffering from malnutrition.

To correct this, the association soon will put into effect a unique plan for instructing these children in correct health habits. The plan has been developed with the aid of Dr. W. B. F. Emerson of Boston, nutrition expert.

Each child will be required through his teacher and parent to submit a card indicating daily performance of eleven health chores. The card reads: "I was weighed this week on the day checked (x)."

Besides a good breakfast and luncheon at evening meals, at mid-morning and afternoon lunches, as directed. I ate only wholesome food today, including vegetables, fruit, and at least a pint of milk, as directed; and tried always to eat and drink slowly.

I drank four glasses of water, some before each meal, and drank no tea, coffee, nor any injurious drinks.

I was in bed last night ten or more hours, as directed, windows open.

I rested lying down not less than 25 minutes both this forenoon and this afternoon.

I played in the fresh air today, exercising for the time and in the way directed.

I washed my hands before each meal today.

I brushed my teeth after breakfast and after the evening meal.

Canadian Pacific Liners To Go To Southampton During Coming Season

With the opening of the 1922 season of navigation on the St. Lawrence the Canadian Pacific Express liners will make Southampton their British port of call instead of Liverpool as hitherto, it present plans materialize.

Quebec will continue as the Canadian port of call for these liners.

According to an announcement, preparations for the change are now well under way and the necessary space at Southampton is being arranged. The use of Southampton, it is stated, will shorten the time between Canada and England, and also provide a shorter railway journey to London.

The vessels concerned include the big new Empress of Scotland liners, which will call at Southampton, and also provide a shorter railway journey to London.

It was pointed out that the number of the company's ships calling at Liverpool will not be less than the three new Canadian Pacific steamers, Montclair, Montrose and Montpelier, now nearing completion for the Montreal service, will use Liverpool as their British port of call. Both the Montclair and Montrose will be seen there at the opening of next season, it was stated, with the Montpelier following shortly afterwards.

Proposed Reorganization Expected To Increase Shipments From Iona

During the past few years the output of the Iona (C.B.) Gypsum Company has found its way into the American market, principally Philadelphia and New York, steamers having been engaged in the transportation.

The shipping season is now about over, the last of the ships engaged having completed her time charter for the season in Europe, was found to compare favorably with the best manufactured anywhere on the continent.

It is reported that the company is about to undergo a complete reorganization, and that in a short time, under new management, and after a period of rest, the plant will be working to its fullest capacity.

According to the report a representative of a party of Montreal capitalists is at present looking over the plant, and the indications are that the coal interests will sell out. It is the intention of the new owners, should the deal go through, to make extensive alterations, both in the plant itself as well as its shipping facilities.

The latter was one of the drawbacks under the old ownership, but by the expenditure of a liberal amount of money this difficulty can be overcome, in which case shipments on a regular basis to the United States should be every likelihood of it doing so, it will mean a great thing for the Iona. It is believed that the plant will necessarily follow that considerably labor will be required as well as a steady force of men skilled and otherwise.

Getting Acquainted.
A new foreman took charge of the shop this particular morning, and many of the men had not as yet met him. About the middle of the forenoon he was making a tour of the buildings to familiarize himself with the layout, when on passing a small enclosure he saw two workmen inside who were sitting down smoking. Before he had the opportunity to speak one of the men said: "Hello, what are you doing, stranger?"

"I'm dodging the new foreman," was the reply.

"So are we, come in and have a smoke,"—Forbes Magazine.

Projects Suggested For Unemployment

City Commissioners to Bring in Report on Works Suggested at Conference.

The matter of unemployment was discussed by the mayor and commissioners after the council meeting yesterday and several projects were suggested that would provide work for quite a number of men during the coming winter if they decided upon. The commissioners of water and sewerage, public works and harbors were asked to prepare reports for submission to the council at an early date, giving estimates of the cost of the work suggested.

Mayor Schofield suggested that as it had been stated another main was needed to Loch Lomond that this work might be undertaken during the winter and the federal government asked to absorb a portion of the extra cost of the work. He suggested also that a cover be built over the trench so that the men would not have to keep the snow out of the trench, and requested the commissioner of water and sewerage to have a prepared showing location and probable cost.

Commissioner Thornton asked if the situation was as bad as painted. He noticed that the moving picture houses were doing a rushing business, and this did not look like hard times. The mayor said he did not think the situation was as bad as some claimed, but it was bad enough.

Commissioner Bullock said the trouble was that people in this country were not educated in thrift and did not save when times were good. He had a job which had to be done not later than next summer, and he proposed to bring in a recommendation that it be proceeded with this winter. This was the repairing of the Wellington wharf, and this would give work to ten or twelve men for a period of about two months.

The mayor asked what about the crushing of stone for next summer's work. Commissioner Frink said there was only so much money to go round and carry on the world's business. So far as the city was concerned, the money must come from the taxpayers, and if they felt they could stand the strain he was willing to go ahead. To operate the two stone crushers would mean an outlay of probably $25,000 to $40,000, and would give work to about forty-five men. He could bring in an estimate of the cost of a new crusher if the council desired. During the summer he had paid the men from $3.50 to $5 per day, and he suggested the same rate would apply this winter, for men had refused to work for less than the union scale.

The mayor suggested that he take up with the officers of the Federation of Labor the matter of a lesser wage during the emergency work of the winter, which was carried on to provide employment.

Commissioner Frink also called attention to the 1911 agreement, and said the city council should call on the government to go ahead with the development at Sand Point and this would provide work. Mayor Schofield pointed out that until after the election it would not be possible to do anything along that line, but said they were going after the government as soon as possible. The discussion closed with the understanding that each of the commissioners would bring in a report on the works suggested.

PRINCE EDWARD CHURCH. A large audience gathered in the Prince Edward street church last evening to listen to Mrs. E. M. Whitmore, who is delivering a series of lectures on rescue work in the United States. Rev. D. J. MacPherson, who was in the audience closed the meeting with prayer. Mr. Barry objected to it being called a skeleton key. He also produced a screwdriver which had been found in the doorway after the arrest. The case was postponed until today at ten o'clock. One man pleaded guilty to being drunk and was remanded.
