THE RACES.

Large Crowd Witnessed
Trotting on Ice
on Tuesday.

The horse races, New Years Day, were well contested and afforded a good afternoon's sport for the large and good natured crowd that gathered on the ice.

The free for all, was captured by Speculation, owned by Mr. S. S. Harrison and driven by Allen Miller. Dr. W. Harold, driven by T. Ellsworth got second place and Harry Wilkes owned by Bruce McBeath got third.

The 2.30 Class was won by W. H. Miller's colt, Harry Forbrooke and driven by J. F. Andrews. E. Sullivan's Daisy M., got second place and Richard Ellsworth's Harry E. got third.

The Three Minute Class, was won by Prichards Harry E. Allen Wheeler's Polly L. got second place, and Fred O'Leary's Rock Farm Joe got third.

THE HOLIDAY.

New Years Day was enjoyed by the many. Driving, horse racing, dinners and the various evening entertainments were much in evidence.

In the morning everything was very quiet but in the afternoon the horse races attracted many hundreds to the ice in front of the town. The result of the races will be seen in another column.

The Nordheim Outing Club held a very enjoyable dinner at six thirty o'clock in the evening at their cottage. Fourteen members were present to enjoy the sumptuous repast prepared by Mr. Geo. Gray.

In the evening the Outing Club and a number of friends were entertained by H. St. Clair Jelliffe at his home at Cross Point. There were about forty present. The enjoyable affair broke up in the wee sma' hours all having spent a very pleasant evening.

WM. CURRIE ELECTED

Government Candidate Had a Majority of 115 In Yesterday's Election.

As a result of the bye-election held in the county yesterday Wm. Currie was elected by a majority of one hundred and fifteen. The fight was a hard one and we may safely say that the conservative party was never in a better organized condition while the liberal party had about twenty days in which to prepare for the conflict.

Addington was the first to be announced giving Mr. Currie a majority of one hundred and sixteen. Then the excitement commenced. Quite a crowd gathered in front of the telephone exchange and waited for the returns from the outlying parishes. Dalhousie gave Mr. Stewart a majority of One hundred and twenty-six.

The following are the returns—

	Currie	Stewart
Campbellton	357	244
Durham	181	214
Charlo	111	94
Balmoral	105	35
Maple Green	59	03
Flat Lands	15	16
Dalhousie	127	253
Eldon	27	39
	1070	955

Extra policemen were sworn in for the day, but everything passed off quietly.

ALLEGED JAPANESE PLOT AGAINST AMERICANS.

New York, Dec. 26.—A cablegram to the World from Havana says Governor Magoon is investigating a report that the Japanese are planning an insurrection in February against American rule in Cuba, the Philippines and Hawaii.

This information was given to the American governor by Mr. Pardin as, a government official.

Five Japanese are said to have been taking photographs and measurements of the fortification of Havana.

The secret police have been shadowing the five Japanese for three weeks. Governor Magoon ordered the police to watch them, but not to molest them.

Pardinas overheard a conversation of the Japanese, who talked of planning an insurrection among the negroes in Cuba simultaneously

ly with insurrection in the Philippines and Hawaii.

The Japanese plot is said to be due to the antipathy of the Mikado to the United States. This antipathy dates back to the Russo-Japanese peace conference at Portsmouth, and was accentuated by the killing of Japanese seal poachers and the exclusion of the Japanese from the schools attended by the white people in California.

The Japanese obtained entrance to the New Batteries at Havana and Cabanas by pretending to be reporters from the Havana Post. They are all well appearing and speak five languages. They lived in poor quarters in the suburbs, their suspicions were aroused, and they removed to another address. Sunday the secret police found them and they again scattered.

It is said that a German acquaintance of Governor Magoon fears arrest.

ROBBER CAUGHT WITH MONEY ON HIM

Stewart McAllister Captured
by Detective Noble

The I. C. R. station at Jacquet River was burglarized on Saturday night about $36 being taken. The door leading from the waiting room to the office was broken open and the cash drawer smashed.

Sunday evening I. C. R. Detective Noble took a special to Jacquet River and with his usual sagacity and energy located the thief and brought him to Campbellton Monday evening and placed him in the lockup. It was a quick piece of work considering the difficulty in obtaining a clue.

The theft took place after the departure of the Maritime Express, there being no person on duty. Detective Noble spent Sunday night and Monday morning in following up clues and arrested McAllister at Nash's Creek. He stoutly denied any connection with the robbery, but Noble felt sure of his man, even though he only found $3 on him, after a hasty search.

McAllister was brought to Campbellton and lodged in the lockup where Detective Noble made a thorough search of the prisoner's clothing with the result that he found $25 in bills in the toe of one of his boots and $4.75 in silver in the tail of his coat.

When the discovery was made the prisoner broke down and confessed to the robbery, giving particulars of the whole affair. Detective Noble is certainly to be congratulated on his work on this case which adds another to his long list of clever captures.—Telegraph.

McAllister was up before Magistrate Matheson yesterday and was committed for trial. Detective Noble took the prisoner to Dalhousie jail this morning to await the next sitting of court.

Bowel Troubles

Liver pills, cathartics, mineral waters, often make Constipation worse. They merely irritate the bowels and force them to move—stop taking purgatives and the bowels become "tight" again.

"Fruit-a-tives" are the one certain cure for Constipation

because their action is upon the liver. "Fruit-a-tives" are a liver tonic. They stimulate the secretions of bile by the liver, this bile causes the bowels to move in the natural, regular way and completely cures Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices with tonics and antiseptics added. In "Fruit-a-tives" one atom of bitter replaces one atom of sweet in the fruit juices, forming a new compound which is many times more active, medicinally, than the fruit juices could possibly be. 50c. a box—$2.50 for 6 boxes. At all dealers.

RAILWAY HORROR

Collision on Baltimore & Ohio R. R.

FIFTY-THREE DEAD

And many more will likely Succumb—Heartrending Scenes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—The Baltimore and Ohio wreck at Terracotta last night grows in magnitude as the hours pass. The most conservative estimate of the dead tonight is fifty-three, with three score of injured in the hospitals or at their homes suffering from wounds and fractures sustained in the rear end collision which completely demolished the two day coaches and the smoker attached to the local Frederick (Md.), express No. 66.

Several of the most seriously injured are expected to die during the night and the death list may reach sixty or more. Heartrending and pitiful were the scenes at the city morgue today where hundreds of persons flocked to assist the police in the identification of the dead. Women, girls and even men with iron nerves shrieked, sobbed and fainted as their relatives or friends were found among the thirty-two corpses strewn about the floor. Coffins, wicker baskets and winding sheets were based on all sides. It was a day never to be forgotten.

Officials of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad are conducting an investigation of the wreck in Baltimore for the purpose of placing the responsibility for the terrible disaster. General Superintendent Todd exonerated Milton Phillips, the operator at the Takoma block station, the last signal station that the equipment train passed before crashing into the passenger train at Terracotta. The superintendent declared that Phillips was obeying the instructions; when he went home at 6:30 o'clock leaving the "double green" signal burning.

While making no positive charge Superintendent Todd intimated that the burden of the blame would fall upon the engineer and crew of the extra. The five members of the crew who were arrested shortly after the accident, are now being held to await the result of the official investigation. They are Harry Hildebrand, engineer; Ira O. McClelland, fireman; Frank F. Hoffmeier, conductor; Ralph Rutter, brakeman, and William A. Norris, baggage master.

Gazing vacantly between the bars of his cell at the police station Engineer Hildebrand is too full of emotion to make any definite statement. "It will all come out at the investigation," he said. "I don't believe that there is anything for me to say, and I could not say it if there was."

ENGINEER CONTRADICTED
Before he was arrested the engineer made a statement to the Associated Press in which he declared that if the danger signal light was displayed at Takoma he failed to see it on account of the dense fog.

Milton W. Phillips, the operator who is also held a prisoner at the Tenth precinct, said today that the equipment train ran past his danger signal at a speed of from fifty to sixty miles. He says there was a heavy fog but not enough to hide a red light. He declares that he immediately notified the operators at University Station that the train had taken the block against orders. His statement is corroborated by the University Station operator who says he received the message. Policeman J. T. Kennedy, stationed at the Takoma Park, will testify that he saw the signal light in its proper place and that Hildebrand drove past the signal. Fred Lomum, gatekeeper at Takoma, makes a similar statement.

C. W. Galloway, general superintendent of transportation, of the Baltimore & Ohio, exonerated the company from all blame, and put the responsibility on the engineer of the equipment train or the operator at Takoma Park block.

"If the coroner's jury fails to hold the engineer or the block operator," he said; "we shall not consider the matter settled. We shall go to the bottom of the wreck. This horrible catastrophe could have been avoided. Some one is responsible and we intend to leave no stone unturned until the responsibility has been fixed. The Takoma block system was installed two years ago and is the safest known to railroad men."

The Grip.

"Before we can sympathize with others, we must have suffered ourselves." No one can realize the suffering attendant upon an attack of the grip, unless he has had the actual experience. There is probably no disease that causes so much physical and mental agony, or which so successfully defies medical aid. All danger from the grip, however, may be avoided by the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy, not one case has ever been reported that has resulted in pneumonia or that has not recovered for sale by All Druggists.

THE LUMBER TRADE.

(OTTAWA CITIZEN.)

There has been a remarkable falling off in the exportation of lumber from Canada to Great Britain during the past six years. In 1900 the exports from Montreal amounted to 226,995,857 feet. This year it was decreased to 146,765,423 feet which is over ten million less than last year. The explanation is that more is being sold in Canada and the exports to the United States have also very much increased. The price of lumber is so high in Ottawa at the present time as to create curious surmises as to what prices must be at points distant from the area of production. Contractors have to pay as high as $70 a thousand for choice lumber, while very ordinary grades bring nearly half that figure.

LOOKS LIKE FOUL PLAY

Man named Collins Arrested in Connection with a Halifax Death

Halifax, Dec. 28.—A few days ago William Snow was drowned in the dock off Cunard's wharf, and it was first thought to be a case of accidental death, but since then rumors of foul play are prevalent. Detective Harrihan went to Mulgrave for a man named Michael Collins, suspected of knowing something about the affair. As far as the police can learn, Snow was on Water street on Monday night, and in a saloon had words with a man. Snow left the place shortly after and his antagonist also left in a short time. They later had a scuffle on the street when the deceased lost his last. He ran down to the wharf pursued by his antagonist. Witnesses saw the scuffle and followed to see what would occur on the wharf, but saw Snow in the water and the quartermaster of the Mina throwing to him a rope, which he did not appear to see. Collins, the party who has been arrested at Mulgrave, is said to have been seen coming up the wharf after the drowning. Witnesses of the scuffle were taken to the station yesterday to tell what they know of the occurrence. In another quarter their seems to be an inclination to keep any information from the police, but another method will now be used to get information in that quarter.

A Jamaican Lady Speaks Highly of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mrs. Michael Hart, wife of the superintendent of Cart Service at Kingston, Jamaica, West Indies Islands says that she has for some years used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, croup and whooping cough and has found it very beneficial. She has implicit confidence in it and would not be without a bottle of it in her home. Sold by All Druggists.

NORTH SHORE ROWDIES GET INTO TROUBLE.

Bathurst, Dec. 26.—I. C. R. Police Inspector D. A. Noble was in town Monday and had Nicholas Bertie of Bedford, before Justice O'Brien on a warrant charging him with causing disturbance on No. 40 train Saturday night 22nd. It appears he and another man got into a fight, and broke a seat and a window, besides using very bad language. He pleaded guilty and was remanded until Thursday the 27th for trial. Mr. Noble also laid charge against Wm. McDonald, who was taken off said train and locked up at Bathurst Saturday night by Officer Chamberlain for causing a disturbance on said train. He pleaded guilty and was fined ten dollars.

It's a pleasure to tell our readers about a Cough Cure like Dr. Shoop's. For years Dr. Shoop has fought against the use of Opium, Chloroform, or other unsafe ingredients commonly found in Cough remedies. Dr. Shoop, it seems has welcomed the Pure Food and Drug Law recently enacted, for he has worked along similar lines many years. For nearly 20 years Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure containers have had a warning printed on them against Opium and other narcotic poisons. He has thus made it possible for mothers to protect their children by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Sold by A. McG. McDonald

SHOWS FURTHER DECLINE.

Paris, Dec. 19.—France's birth rate still continues to decline. The official statistics for the year 1905 are: Population 38,961,943; marriages 302,623; divorces 10,019; births 807,291 and the deaths 770,171. The births exceed the death only by 37,120 which is one third less than in the year 1904. The increase of the population is 10 per cent, as compared with 15 per cent. in 1904 and 79 per cent. in 1903.

Dangers of a Cold and How to Avoid Them.

More fatalities have their origin in or result from a cold than from any other cause. This fact alone should make people more careful as there is no danger whatever from a cold when it is properly treated in the beginning. For many years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been recognized as the most prompt and effectual medicine in use for this disease. It acts on nature's plan, loosens the cough, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Sold by All Druggists.

Get It Quick!

Pain calls for "Quick Action." When the sufferer grows weak and exhausted through pain only one thing will give relief—and that is the elimination of the pain. Easy to say but how can pain be quickly relieved?

J. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

Messrs. H. A. Pitman, of Boston, and I. B. Rogers, of Dedham, Mass., have just completed a very enjoyable outing of three weeks at Charles Cremant's camp on the head waters of the Restigouche and Upsalquith Rivers. Mr. Pitman, who has made many hunting trips in New Brunswick, had plenty of chances to shoot a moose, but none that he saw had sufficient antler spread to suit his fancy, and he contented himself with knocking over a nice caribou. Mr. Rogers, however, succeeded in bagging a moose, caribou, and a deer, all good specimens of their kind. Many sportsmen who have hunted in other sections of New Brunswick this season have remarked on the surprising scarcity of caribou, and deer, and the explanation offered by the guides was that the animals must have migrated earlier in the year to the high country near the source of the great rivers in the northern part of the province. The experience of Messrs. Pitman and Rogers would seem to bear out the opinion of the guides for in the short space of four days they were privileged to see three hundred caribou. In a single herd they counted fifty-three of these magnificent animals and were able to approach within a few rods of them. It was a grand spectacle and one which seldom falls to the lot of sportsmen in this country. —Fredericton Herald.

"IT'S ONLY A COLD, A TRIFLING COUGH"

Thousands have said this when they caught cold. Thousands have neglected to cure the cold. Thousands have filled a Consumptive grave through neglect.
Never neglect a cough or cold. It can have but one result. It leaves the throat or lungs, or both, affected.

Dr. Wood's
Norway
Pine Syrup

is the medicine you need. It strikes at the very foundation of all throat or lung complaints, relieving or curing Coughs,
Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, Sore Throat, and preventing Pneumonia and Consumption.
It has stood the test for many years, and is now more generally used than ever. It contains all the lung healing virtues of the pine tree combined with Wild Cherry Bark and other powerful remedies. It stimulates the weakened bronchial organs, allays irritation and subdues inflammation,
soothes and heals the irritated parts,
loosens the phlegm and mucous, and aids
nature to easily dislodge the morbid accumulations. Don't be humbugged into accepting an imitation of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark,
and price 25 cts.
Mr. Julian J. LeBlanc, Belle Cote, N. S., writes: "I was troubled with a bad cold and severe cough, which assumed such an altitude as to keep me confined to my house. I tried several remedies advertised but they were of no avail. As a last resort
I tried Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and one bottle cured me completely."

THE BENEFACTOR

It was what an egregious blunder he had been. Surely the feeblest perceptive powers should have sufficed to inform him that the check had been sent in error. The whole tenor of the note which accompanied it was relevant of Langdale's design. He had maliciously renewed his contribution of $50 to Macmillan's charity fund in order to imply that he believed the clergyman had called upon him for the purpose of reminding him of it.
Macmillan had spent about $2,500 of the money in such a way that he could never get it back, and Amy would not be benefited one penny unless he should disburse about $1,500 more on Monday, and this, of course, he could not do. How he was to return the $2,500 to Langdale within a reasonable time he did not know. He had stolen it, in effect, for the simplest common sense should have kept him from such frantic haste. Monday would have served him quite as well as Thursday for the payments and would have given him opportunity to assure himself of the reality of Langdale's generosity.
Mr. and Mrs. Langdale returned from a Christmas visit on Monday morning, and the lady went on alone to their home in Larchmont, whence she telephoned to her husband at his office about 11 o'clock. The chief part of her message was that she had found some very pretty presents that had been sent by Miss Amy Branford and Miss Martha Macmillan. How did her husband account for this? And he told her of a quarrel with Mr.
Macmillan a year ago. Had he not advised her against sending anything to Miss Branford and Miss Macmillan?
Langdale had neglected to tell his wife about Macmillan's call and had willfully concealed his own malign jest
in the matter of the fifty dollar check.
Now therefore he disclosed the one and still hid the other.

"You'd better hustle around and get them something," said he, "something rathless, and invent some excuse for the delay."
The incident passed from his mind immediately, for he was called to consider a matter of considerable gravity.
This developed in the visit of a Mr.
Griddle, one of the very few persons to whom Mr. Langdale told the truth.
"Well, Griddle," said he when that gentleman had dictated modestly into the office, "have you looked him up?"
"It's Dr. Hayward, all right," responded Griddle. "I took one of your boys up to see him, and I've heard from Omaha. The consilium
is a fake, and I don't suppose there's
any doubt that somebody has got Hayward to make a report on your health,
though I can't find out who it is."
CHAS. R. SCOLLEN, Gen. Manager,
New Carlisle, P. Q.

"It's the Dr. Street bank gang, of course," responded Langdale. "The accounts for the bluff that they're making. They think I'm going to break down. That do you think about it?" he demanded upon a sudden impulse, for he had caught a look in the detective's eye. "What change do you notice in me? Come! You're a keen eyed chap. Tell me!"
Griddle hesitated.
"Well, sir," he said at last, "aside from your general appearance, which I think is fine, I notice a kind of something in your speech, a sort of hesitation. Now, there was a man I knew who got into a state where if he wanted to say 'do' he couldn't think of the word, and sometimes he'd say 'do' in old time, perfectly ridiculous. I believe they call it aphasia."
"Yes," said Langdale, paling, "that's what they call it."
An attendant entered, bringing Mac-millan's card.

"Here's the fellow that put us on to Hayward," said Langdale. "I thanked him heartily, but of course he didn't know what I was talking about. Well, he'll have to wait now till Hayward shows up. He's my first duty now.
I'll give him a job, and then he'll run to his employers, of course, and you'll see where he goes."
Langdale was waiting grimly when Hayward's presence was made known to him. He had prepared a greeting consisting of the single word "doctor,"
which he knew would startle Hayward
more than any other verbiage sound.
The door opened. Hayward entered.
Langdale drew breath to speak, but what was that word? The word, the word! He knew the meaning as well as ever in his life, but not that word.
Phantoms of words elapsed through his brain, but of them all he could catch only a phrase that Griddle had used, and it was that which he uttered:

"Perfectly ridiculous."
"I beg your pardon," said Hayward.
"Time—time was what Langdale needed—time in which to triumph over this enemy in his own brain, whose state must be concealed from this man at all costs."
"I was thinking about a man who is waiting to see me," said Langdale, and, to his own surprise, he now spoke sensibly enough. "Would you mind stepping into this other room while I see what he wants? He's a minister and a relative of my wife's, and I don't like to keep him out there with the rabble."
"Certainly," said Hayward and entered the adjoining room.

Langdale sank into his chair and tried to bring the word "doctor" to his lips, but he had not succeeded when Macmillan entered.
"Mr. Langdale," said the clergyman,
"I want to speak two words, one for myself and one for an unfortunate young man in your employ, a Mr. Tunbridge. It appears that in drawing a check to my order he mistook the amount. He has had great trouble and suffering from what I should call nervous prostration. Probably a little rest will bring him round all right, and if I may venture to speak in his behalf I would urge you to grant him a bit of vacation, with perhaps a friendly word or two to start him on his recovery."

"What did he do?" said Langdale.
"He drew the check for five thousand."
Langdale stopped him with a gesture. The door between the two rooms was open, and he dared not close it now, and doubly he dared not have Hayward hear this story. Rich language throw away their money. This is why they are looked up by anxious relatives. If Hayward should report this to the Dr. Street crowd they would withdraw even the proposition which they had made.

And with that proposition Langdale was now content. He had seen the handwriting on the wall. A man who can't say "doctor" when he tries is in no state for a long and bitter warfare of wits with clever enemies. His one idea now was to keep his condition from Hayward's knowledge. But his decision to accept the proposition of the Dr. Street people he desired Hayward to keep secret, for the reaction following a quiet tip of that kind would help him to dispose of the stock which he had acquired. Insiders would then buy greedily, thinking that they were acting upon stolen information.
All this passed through Langdale's powerful mind in a moment.

"For five thousand?" he said, echoing Macmillan's words. "Well, yes, sir, I've heard from Omaha. The consilium
is a fake, and I don't suppose there's
any doubt that somebody has got Hay-
ward to make a report on your health,
though I can't find out who it is."
"But you told him fifty?" gasped Macmillan.
Langdale laughed softly.
"Poor fellow!" he said. "Poor fellow! This is really my fault. I've noticed that Tunbridge was breaking down. He's done quite a number of queer things around the shop. I ought to have given him a vacation long ago.
Now I'll stake him to a good one, so don't worry about him, and, as for his tale, it's mere moonshine. I told him to draw the check for $5,000, and I signed it with great good will. I understood that you needed the money to pay Miss Branford's property out of the fire, and, heaven knows, I'd like to see you do it. And, besides," he continued, with the expansive freedom of a man who finds that he is lying exceptionally well, "besides, I owe you money. Yes, sir, I've never had the law laid down to me as you laid it down. It made me see that business in the right light, and what with that and all this talk in the papers and my wife's conscience (which she generously shares with me) I've decided to let the whole thing go. These fellows have made me a decent proposition, and I'm going to accept it, and then I'm going to take my wife to Europe for six months and have a nice, quiet time. She's been begging me to go, and now I'm going to do it. It's a sort of belated Christmas present. Mind you, this is all confidential."

"But, my dear Langdale, all this money—"
"My dear Richard, it's a Christmas present to you and Amy, so say no more about it."
As to any expressions of gratitude which he may have had the grace to utter Macmillan retained only a vague memory. He was so completely unmanned that he thought best to go to his office and be quiet for a few minutes before transacting the business which was now so easy.

He had barely had time to address few appropriate remarks to Amy's picture and indite one brief letter
when a knock at the door announced
Dr. Hayward. The distinguished physician had come to make a little explanation. Doubtless Mr. Macmillan had remarked some change in Mr.
Langdale of late. Doubtless he knew of Mr. Langdale's prejudice against doctors. Mrs. Langdale, however, was a very sensible woman and had been reasonably anxious about her husband, so she had prevailed upon Dr. Hayward to depart from the usual routine of professional life and call upon a patient in need.

"I'm afraid I gave Mr. Langdale a hint," said Macmillan. "I deeply regret it."
"Oh, that's all right," replied the doctor. "It makes no difference now.
You've done more for him than I could. If he stops this confounded scandal and goes away to Europe he'll be all right. How you ever persuaded him to do it I don't know."
"I cannot understand it any more than you can," responded Macmillan.
"Don't let the Minister Drop."
"It is very unlikely if the minister should fall from the place where it has been hung up."

LEGEND OF THE TOPAZ.
Why the Jewel is Called the Stone of Gratitude.
The topaz is called the stone of gratitude, and the old Roman books record the following legend, from which the stone derives this attribute:
The blind Emperor Theodosius used to hang a brazen gong before his palace gates and sit beside it with her eyes, hearing and putting to rights the grievances of any of his subjects.
Those who wished for his advice annihilated had but to sound the gong, and immediately admission into the presence of Caesar was obtained. One day a great snake crept up to the gate and struck the brazen gong with her coils and Theodosius gave orders that no one should molest the creature and bade
her tell him of her wish.
The snake bent her crest lowly in homage and straightway told the following tale:
Her nest was at the base of the gateway tower, and while she had gone to find food for her young brood a strange beast, covered with sharp needles, had invaded her home, killed the nestlings and now held possession of the little dwelling. Would Caesar grant her justice?
The emperor gave orders for the porcupine to be slain and the mother to be restored to her desolate nest. Night fell, and the sleeping world had forgotten the emperor's kindly deed, but the emperor moved by a series of explores or redistributions of energy, and rushing on to inevitable destruction."

ANSLOW BROS., Publishers,

CAMPBELLTON, N. B. Jan. 3, 1907

We wish all our readers a prosperous New Year.

St. John Banquet, on the 27th showed Hon. Mr. Emmerson that he enjoys the confidence of the Liberals of this province and that he will be loyally supported by them in whatever measures he takes to make the I. C. R. a success, and in his political attitude generally. He has shown himself a capable leader, and his hold upon the province is strong.

In numbers and enthusiasm the Liberal Convention was highly satisfactory to its managers, and by completing organization insures increased strength and efficiency to the party in this province. It is well to thoroughly organize and keep organized, ever when no enemy of importance is in sight, for fortune rarely comes to the unprepared. In Mr. A. B. Copp the New Brunswick Liberals have an able organizer, who will strain every nerve to lead the party to victory.

At the Indian National Congress held at Calcutta, last week, the demands of last year's meeting for home rule were re-submitted with increased vigor and boldness. The Congress started in a very small way in 1885 and has convened with increasing numbers and courage every year since. During the past year the Bengali people, numbering about eighty millions have started a boycott against British goods, and lately crowned in just a newspaper man Emperor of India, the British officials not daring to interfere. All races and faiths in India are uniting, the common English language and the government railways bringing them easily together. The day of while dominion in India and the rest of Southeastern Asia has nearly passed. It is only a matter of time when Britain must relinquish Hindostan, France give up Indo-China; the Americans leave the Philippines; and Holland vacate the East India Islands. Since Japan's success and China's awakening, the other Asiatics are thinking hard. The fact that Europe has taught them and introduced them to scientific training will only increase their longing for European freedom. It is well. The world is big enough for all races.

It is reported that the Japanese consul at Honolulu has said that the Japanese fleet will not proceed to San Francisco next January, as planned, because it does not care to run the risk of an accident in San Francisco harbor such as the battle ship Maine suffered in Havana eight years ago. If the consul is reported correctly, he has given a severe slap at the honor of the United States, and his words will tend to widen rapidly-growing breach between America and Japan. The distrust that nations entertain towards each other is one of the very darkest features of our civilization. And in most cases, this distrust is justified. The "Maine" incident has never been satisfactorily explained. Indeed there is, at least, as much reason to believe that the yankee government, or some interested individual of that nation, blew up the Maine in order to force the war, as there is that Spain or some Spaniard did it. The wary Japs whose own honesty is not any too highly valued by those who know them best, propose to keep out of the white men's trap.

B. F. Pearson, owner of Halifax Chronicle and St. John Sun, has been made a member of Nova Scotia government. Newspaper men are coming to their own.

7000 of the 9000 inhabitants of Bejar, Spain have decided to emigrate in two bodies, one to Nicaragua and the other to Uruguay. Never before did a town go so quickly in such a way.

Japan like Mexico, has nationalized her railways, buying out the companies at the government's own valuation, whether the latter were satisfied or not. Japan has also taken stock in steamship and agriculture companies. Henceforth the white traders will have to compete in Eastern Asia not with Japanese individuals and combinations but with the Japanese government itself which is going into all kinds of business.

The compulsory voting, proposed by our government, will come hard on many voters who have refused to come to the polls before they were guaranteed pay for it. It will also interfere with the practice of paying men to stay home. But it will be a good thing; for every citizen should come out and declare himself. It is his duty to influence legislation as far as he can, and his vote is the main instrument in doing so.

Minnesota state threatens to interfere with S. J. Hills scheme to double his profits by making his stock appear more valuable than it is and fixing his rates so as to collect common interest on a sum for too large. Texas has revolted against Senator Bailey because Bailey accepted a fee as counsel from the Standard Oil Co. The time is passing when U. S. leaders can hold the people and serve the corporations at the same time.

The report of a thorough understanding, by which the British, French, Spanish and Italian armies and navies, doubtless assisted by the Portuguese, Belgian and Dutch, are prepared to act together against a disturbance of European peace by Germany, the only country that is credited with any present intention of raising trouble, is believed to be true, and will go a long way towards keeping Europe tranquil. The German parliament refused to increase its army in Africa will also tend to keep Kaiser Wilhelm quiet. British

HOCKEY TALK

Many Are In Favor Of a
Hockey League

COMPRISING FOUR TOWNS.

Dalhousie, Campbellton, Newcastle and Chatham.

A North Shore hockey league should be the slogan of the puck experts in the four towns of Dalhousie, Campbellton, Newcastle and Chatham. Dalhousie now has a rink and hockey is sure to flourish there. Campbellton is talking about a local league in its town, as players are abundant, and if Newcastle could make up a team, there is no reason why a flourishing hockey organization should not be in existence.

The other towns may count on Chatham going into such a league if formed, and if Newcastle could put a team on the ice, there is no reason why the scheme could not be carried out.

Chatham has been invited to enter the N. B. A. H. League, but the boys decided that the trips would be too distant in some cases and therefore they kept out of the new league.

Negotiations are now on for games with outside teams to play here during the winter, and the Marathons, St. John, Sackville, Sussex, Amherst and Campbellton have been communicated with.

LOCAL LEAGUE.

The local players will hold a meeting in a few days to discuss the formation of a local hockey league. Prospects are bright for a four-team league. Rumor has it that Loggieville is making ready to clean out the North Shore. Why not invite them to put a team in the local league, and then they can figure out how they would do in a North Shore league?

Indications are bright for good hockey this winter, and the players should get good support.—Commercial.

British Naval Gunners.
Make Great Record, 1906.

London, Dec. 24.—The result of the tests of gunlayers with heavy guns in the British fleet of 1906 has just been issued and shows as a result of admiralty encouragement, consistent training on the part of the officers and appeal to the men's vanity by the wide circulation throughout the fleet of the result of practice, phenomenal improvement and a still higher standard of marksmanship.

The only difference between the test this year and last was a slight shortening of the time allowed for each run of three minutes this year the run was reduced to two and three-quarter minutes and similarly for lighter calibres.

The admiralty is issuing the report notes its extreme satisfaction at the very marked improvement in the results as compared with form former years including even showed so great an advance over those of 1905, when the shooting previous results. It further notes that this improvement in the result of higher standard generally throughout the fleet.

The great innovation which marks the report is the publication of the number of hits for each ship, whereas previously only the points awarded have been published.

The average points per man have risen from 68-2 last year to 80 this year, and it must be remembered that this test is the test of the ability of the gun captains to hit the target and of the rest of the gun's crew that they can handle their gun smartly. The officers are not permitted to assist or interfere in any way, the rest differing in this respect from the carried out in the American navy.

The Gans-Nelson moving pictures are only one of the many pictures to be shown. These pictures are unquestionably the most interesting that Halifax ever had the privilege of witnessing. They show all the details of the two gladiators battling for supremacy, and Mr H. Lee Craig, the provinces popular baritone singer, took the audiences by storm. He has one of the sweetest voices that the Halifax people ever had the privilege of hearing for some time, and they also call one of the best moving picture shows that ever has visited our city, and if they ever come this way again they will be greeted with a bumper house, as they deserve. ## The BENEFACITOR

A Christmas Story
By HOWARD FIELDING

Copyright, 1906, BY C. W. HOOKE

OVER the coffee cups on a December morning the Rev. Richard Macmillan and Miss Martha, his aunt, discussed a problem of conscience, that same hard riddle which has busied so many tongues and pens and is known by the name of "talented money."

There was a certain rich man named Curtis Langdale, who had married some years ago a cousin of Macmillan's mother. The young clergyman had received various small favors from Langdale—presents at Christmas not only for himself, but for Aunt Martha and for Miss Amy Branford, to whom Macmillan was engaged. In particular there had been a check for $50 every Christmas for the last three years, since Macmillan had been pastor of the so-called Sandstone church of Southfield, and this check was a contribution to the charity fund of the church.

About a year before the date of this narrative the attention of the Rev. Mr. Macmillan had been sharply called to the fact that Mr. Langdale was a very modern financier, whose chief delight and most recent form of profitable business consisted in half wrecking a bank through connivance with some official thereof, buying control from frightened stockholders and then putting the bank on its legs again.

The knowledge of this truth so affected the Rev. Mr. Macmillan that he had a serious talk with Mr. Langdale in that gentleman's office in New York and returned the last check for $50 on the ground that his church would be more blessed without it. On this occasion Mr. Langdale, who had a genius for dissimulation, professed to sympathize with Mr. Macmillan's opinion, to be grateful for his friendly admonition, and in all ways very ready to serve him should occasion arise.

And now the occasion, vaguely prophesied by Langdale, had really come, and in such form that Macmillan knew not how to deal with it; for, in a certain sense, it was not his own conscience that should render the decision, nor was the sacrifice his. It was Amy Branford's.

Amy had just celebrated her twenty-first birthday and was certainly old enough to be a free moral agent. She had been left almost alone in the world by the death of her father two years ago and was now living with relatives in Southfield who were in narrow circumstances. Her father had left considerable property, but in such an involved condition that no income could be extracted from it and the estate itself drew nearer and nearer to total extinction.

Mr. Macmillan was the trustee of this property, and he had striven with all his power to save it. He believed himself to be a good business man; he had confidence in the policy which he had pursued in this matter, and yet, almost in the moment of victory, he found himself face to face with total defeat. Ready money—that was the only thing that could save the day. A few thousands in cash, not later than Dec. 25, would put all right; the lack of it would mean irreparable disaster. It was the morning of Wednesday, Dec. 23, and he had failed to raise the money.

"Why don't you go to Mr. Langdale?" said Aunt Martha, and that remark had precipitated the discussion. Now, it happened that in the newspapers of that morning there was a particularly interesting story about Mr. Langdale, to the effect that he had

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work"

The Dog and The Shadow
You remember the fable of the dog who dropped a real bone for its shadow which he saw in the water. "Bear in mind that all is not Gold Dust that glitters under the name of washing powder. Don't accept a shadowy substitute; get the real

Gold Dust Washing Powder
with the Gold Dust Twins on the package."

GOLD DUST makes hard water soft

Surprise was instantly succeeded by sympathy in Macmillan's mind, and the conventional "How do you do?" half importunately.

"Oh, I'm all right," answered Langdale. "Never better."

"Well, that's good news," said the clergyman. "I was a bit anxious, having met Dr. Hayward in the hall."

"Dr. Hayward? Who's he?"

"Why, he just went out."

"No, sir," responded Langdale; "you'll see to doctors here. I can burn my own stomach for nothing. Do you mean the tall man in the gray suit?"

"Yes."

"That's a seventeenth cousin of mine from Omaha. He's looking up the family. Going to write a history of us."

Macmillan was perfectly sure that the man was Dr. Hayward, but he supposed that Langdale was ashamed of having called in a physician after all the abuse which he had heaped upon the profession.

Macmillan turned to his real errand. But he had made scarcely more than a beginning of the story when Langdale suddenly resorted to their last interview.

"You didn't approve of me then," said he. "What do you think of me now?"

Macmillan would gladly have postponed the ordeal for a few minutes. He had decided to lay Amy's affairs before Langdale as a simple matter of business, just as if he had been dealing with an officer of a bank, to ask Langdale to consider it and give an answer on the following day, and having thus put off the decision, to lead the conversation to the precise point which Langdale had reached at a bound.

Before the two men could come to either upon any common ground the arrival of important visitors broke off the conversation. Langdale excused himself courteously and gave his hand to Macmillan.

"I'm glad you came to see me," said he. "You've done me a considerable service."

"Well, I really don't see—"

"You have, Richard; you have indeed. And I won't forget it. I always keep you in mind at this time of year. Goodbye, goodbye."

In a daze of disappointment, perplexity and self reproach Macmillan departed. He had bungled the interview in all ways. He had accomplished absolutely nothing for Amy, for Langdale, for his own conscience. The account of the occurrence which he gave to Amy had no clearness to his own intelligence, but seemed quite satisfactory to her.

"You must see him again," she said. "You have to see him. He feels it and is grateful. Of course you can't know just what it was that you said that gave him light, but I am sure that he saw a way to carry out his plans more honestly. That's what he meant when he spoke of your service to him."

"Amy, that is absurd."

"But, my dear Dick, is there any other possible explanation? I've been reasonable. He said you had served him. How else could you have done it?"

The next day was Thursday and business practically ceased for the week. There was really nothing of importance that Macmillan could do to avert the doom that would fall on Monday, yet he went to town about noon and forced himself to face several discouraging and useless interviews. At 8 o'clock he went to his little office, beaten and disheartened.

There was a letter on the floor, and he recognized Langdale's envelope. It gave him a shock, but no real hope, for he had not even succeeded in telling himself to face several discouraging and useless interviews. He would not have been surprised to find a check for $50. Under the circumstances a man of Langdale's peculiar notions of humor might have found amusement in such a gift.

There was a check in the envelope, but not for $50. Five thousand was written. A thrill went through Macmillan's veins, and he unfolded the accompanying letter with trembling hands. It was very brief, as follows:

"Dear Richard—Inclosed you will find my note. In the inscrutable ways of Providence even the self righteous may be brought to repentance and be made the means of good. I am very glad you came to see me. Cordially and with Christmas wishes
CURTIS LANGDALE

The awkward wording of the letter left some doubt as to who was the "self righteous" man who had been "brought to repentance," but Macmillan was not in a critical or sensitive mood. He was merely glad and grateful. Thrusting the letter into his pocket and holding the check in his hand, he strode out to the bank just in time to cash the check.

Good luck attended him at every step. Though the hour was so late, he found the men of whom he went in search, and by the strength of his new hope he was enabled to accomplish whatever he desired.

Among the million of the great city, with all their feverish desires and vast diversity of torture, there was not a man whose heart sang louder for joy. If he had been able to communicate with Langdale and express his sense of gratitude the day would have been perfect, but Langdale was celebrating Christmas in some secure retreat, no one knew where.

On Saturday morning Macmillan went to the city and spent an hour or more in his office. He was at work there and singing as he toiled when there came a tap at the door. Macmillan admitted a young man, whom he presently recognized as a clerk of Langdale's.

"But I have," was the reply. "I needed the money right away."

The young man sank down in a chair.

"I'm knocked out, I guess," he said in a high keyed voice. "I'm done for—that's the truth about me."

"Why, what's the matter?"

"I've been speculating—we all do—in Langdale's shop. We get tips, you know—some good, some bad, but they all look good. A fellow who is a sort of an office boy there has made over $10,000," and he laughed nervously.

"but I couldn't make a cent. Oh, it was my own money. There's nothing wrong. But it's knocked me out. I don't know what I'm doing. I drew that check of yours. Here's Mr. Langdale's memorandum, $50,000. Well, I couldn't see the decimal point, and though I'd heard him say fifty, I drew it for $5,000, and he signed it."

He passed a crumpled slip of paper to Macmillan, whose hair had begun to stir at the roots. Upon the paper were these words scribbled in pencil: "Draw check to order of Richard Macmillan for $50,000."

"Most men wouldn't write the last two ciphers at all," said the clerk, "but Mr. Langdale always does. So I might have known what the amount was. I've drawn enough checks for him in the last three years."

Macmillan passed his hand along the top of his head.

"This is very important," he said. "Of course it shall be rectified, but I'm afraid I can't command the money immediately. I will explain, however, to Mr. Langdale on Monday, and," he added, moved by the weariness and misery in the other's countenance, "I will put in a good word for you."

"It's kind of you to say so," responded the clerk. "My name is Turnbridge."

He rose and stretched himself like a weary animal, then moved stiffly toward the door. But Macmillan called him back and talked to him for a long time cheerfully, so that he went away in better spirits. This kindness was very ill requited, though not willfully, for poor Turnbridge was wholly unaware that he had added to Macmillan's burden. The fact is, however, that he had made Macmillan see clear-

ENGLAND IS STORM SWEEPED

Terrific Gales and Heavy Snow-Falls Continue.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—It is many years since central Europe has suffered so severely from an Arctic visitation as it has this Christmas week. From France, Belgium, Switzerland, Germany and Austria-Hungary the same tale is repeated of heavy snow storms, the interruption of railroad, vehicular and telegraphic communication, the loss of life and general discomfort and inconvenience in the towns as well as in the country districts.

While England is, as a rule, fortunate in escaping very severe winter weather she has suffered this year to an unprecedented degree. According to the reports received here to-night from northern points the storm situation is growing worse. The heavy snow storms which began several days ago continue. They are accompanied by violent gales and even thunder storms in some places and have resulted already in the serious railroad accident near Arbroath, Scotland, in which about fifty people were killed or suffered serious injury.

Railroad traffic in the northern part of England, and especially in Scotland is becoming completely tied up. Large towns like Edinburgh, Dundee and Perth are almost isolated. The telegraphic services are greatly disorganized and would be completely so but for the extension in recent years of the underground system of laying the wires. The snow storms continue with equal severity in northern Wales and in Ireland.

None of the trains that left London on Thursday over the Midland Rail, way have yet reached Edinburgh, while in all other directions trains are snow bound and passengers are suffering from cold and hunger. The relief trains sent out are being similarly embedded in the snow, and the railroad companies have issued official notices that it is impossible to guarantee traffic on schedule time so far as Scotland is concerned, although there has not yet been serious trouble in Central and Southern England.

The gales have caused many minor casualties along the coasts. A telegram from Holyhead says that an unknown vessel has foundered off Rhosslyn Point, Wales. Distress rockets were sent up last night, and a lifeboat put out and searched for hours, but found no sign of the vessel.

Among the worst sea disasters thus far reported is the wreck of the Japanese liner Awa Maru through the snapping of her anchor cables. No lives were lost in this accident but the steamer, which is on the rocks off Redcar, threatens to become a total loss unless the weather moderates.

In London itself the snow continues to fall at intervals and is bringing much discomfort. Londoners who live in the suburbs are indulging in the unusual pastime of tobogganing. In the mountain districts of France there is much suffering from the heavy fall of snow and consequent floods are reported from the highlands of Ardennes.

In Belgium drift ice is forming on the Scheldt and other large rivers. In Switzerland the weather is of an unusual severity. The uplands already are under six feet of snow and some

Women Obtain Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Help.

She Has Guided Thousands to Health. How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Mrs. Fred Seydel.

It is a great satisfaction for a woman to feel that she can write to another telling her the most private and confidential details about her illness and know that her letter will be seen by a woman only.

Many thousands of cases of female diseases come before Mrs. Pinkham every year, some personally, others by mail. Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Mrs. Pinkham never violates the confidence of women, and every testimonial letter published is done so with the written consent or request of the writer, in order that other sick women may be benefited as she has been.

Mrs. Fred Seydel, of 412 North 54th Street, West Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Over a year ago I wrote you a letter asking advice, as I had female ills and could not carry a child to maturity. I received your kind letter of instructions and followed your advice. I am now a well woman in consequence, but have a beautiful baby girl. I wish every suffering woman in the land would write you for advice, as you have done so much for me.

Just as surely as Mrs. Seydel was cured, will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman suffering from any form of female ills. If you are sick, write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It is free and always helpful.

mountain villages are completely isolated. This state of affairs is drawing renewed attention to legislative measures to keep the Swiss passes open all the year though up to the present time the government has declined to contemplate doing this because of the heavy expense.

Austria and Hungary are also suffering in the grasp of extreme wintry weather. Traffic on some of the railroads in Galicia has been suspended. In Budapest the heavy snow has put an end to the street travel on wheels.

THE OLD YEAR

(Special to Events)

Another year has glided by. Another mile post past. We are nearer to our home on high. We are nearer to our list.

Oh how quick the years do fly. But we seldom stop to think in the by and by.

And we are nearing to the brink. In the year that is passed away.

Were we faithful in the race, Did we the truth at all times say, Did we look up to His loving face?

Did we fail to hear the Master say, Child keep close to my side; Did we try to walk in the narrow way, Or walk in the way that is wide?

Did we here the Master's tender voice, Saying, child give me thine heart, And did we in our hearts rejoice, And try to do our part?

Or did we try to follow him near, Although the way we could not see. In our hearts these words did we hear, My child keep close to me.

Or, did we not list to this tender call, Did our hearts we try to close, In our hurry for gain we did not hear at all.

And no love in our hearts arose. In the hurry and bustle day by day, How anxious we are to secure, The things that will perish and fade away.

Not the things that will ever endure. For the things of this world, don't worry and fret. To us for a time they only are lent, But let us be more anxious to get, The things that give peace and content.

Life is too short, to tangle and fight, Our friends and our neighbors to try and deceive. Rather let us try to live for the right, And be men, that the world will believe.

GREAT BRITAIN EMBARRASSED

Official Acceptance of Bryce's Appointment not Received.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—The United States is causing British officialdom considerable embarrassment through its failure to send in its acceptance of the appointment of James Bryce as ambassador to Washington in succession to Sir Henry Mortimer Durand. This acceptance must be received before the official announcement of the appointment can be published.

The present occurrence is most unusual in Great Britain, where it is very rare for an appointment of this kind to be made public until the formality of its publication in the gazette is completed.

While it is not known what the cabinet will decide, the friends of the retiring ambassador at Washington in the diplomatic service do not believe that he will be raised to the peerage. It is pointed out that, although Sir Henry is retiring from Washington it does not necessarily follow that he will entirely sever his connection with the imperial service.

There is no diplomatic position open at present," said an official yesterday, "but there are many posts in the imperial service for which Sir Henry is admirably suited, and it is more than likely that he will take one of these places than go to the house of lords."

SAYS BRITAIN WAS NOTIFIED

Washington, Dec. 29.—When shown the cablegram from London saying that the British government is embarrassed because of the failure of the United States to send its acceptance of the appointment of James Bryce as ambassador to the United States to succeed Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, Secretary Root said:

"The British government was notified both orally (through Ambassador Durand) and in writing several days ago that the appointment of Mr. Bryce as ambassador to the United States would be eminently satisfactory to this government."

It was announced in Washington dispatches a week ago, that in response to inquiries from the British government, President Roosevelt had indicated that Mr. Bryce's appointment would be entirely acceptable to this government.

LIBERAL CONVENTION

Held at St. John. A. B. Copp appointed Organizer

The provincial liberal convention called by Hon. H. R. Emmerson was opened in Berryman's hall, St. John, on Thursday evening with a large attendance of prominent members of the party from all parts of New Brunswick. It was called order by the Minister of Railways, who said that in his call he had but one object. It was simply a straightforward call to the liberals to confer for the good of the party and to form a real, go-ahead active organization. A good many people wagged their heads at him and thought it must mean that there would be a federal election. He was not surprised at this in view of the history of the past as it has been customary to organize only on the eve of an election. There is no election in prospect in the near future, so far as he knew. Continuing, he added that nothing was this a local government convention, but a federal gathering. He himself was a supporter of the local government. He had decided that the time had come to meet and thoroughly organize, not only in every county but in every parish and every district. It was to be a working and not a talking convention. Mr. Emmerson congratulated his hearers on the large attendance and wished all a happy Christmas season, and that in the future they could look back on this convention as a pleasant one with nothing but bright and pleasant memories. He spoke of the prosperity of the country and said that the state was prosperous too. The New Brunswick Liberal G. G. King and if Mr. King was in the meeting he should then take his chair. Mr. Emmerson referred again to the reasons for calling the convention at this time, and he then left the meeting in the hands of his hearers.

As Senator King was not present at the moment, Dr. E. T. Gaudet, of St. John's, one of the vice-presidents, took the chair. There was much talk of forming resolutions and nominating committees, but nothing was done. The meeting then appointed R. E. Armstrong, of the St. Andrew's Beacon, as secretary.

Senator King having arrived he took the chair, by request. It was decided, on motion, to organize a Liberal association as already outlined.

It was agreed that each accredited delegate have a vote.

The following speakers addressed the meeting: Mayor Sears, John T. Hawke, P. B. Curvell, M. P.; Hon. C. W. Robinson, M. P.; Dr. E. T. Gaudet; Hon. Francis J. Sweeney, surveyor-general; P. J. Veniot; Alex. Rogers, ex-M. P. for Albert county; Daniel Gilmor, J. F. Tweedale, M. P.; Victoria county; R. E. Armstrong, of the St. Andrew's Beacon; I. N. Carpenter, M. P.; and C. M. Leger, M. P. Each of these speakers championed the cause of liberal principles and paid high compliments to Hon. Mr. Emmerson, for the results of his administration on the Intercolonial Railway.

After the speeches, which were received with loud applause, the meeting adjourned till Friday morning.

The New Brunswick Liberal Convention opened in its second session Friday morning at 10.35 a clock in Berryman's Hall, which was filled to the doors, many additional delegates having arrived this morning. Senator G. G. King was in the chair. Hon. H. R. Emmerson spoke briefly in opening. This was to be a business, not a talking convention, he said, but this evening's session had been reserved for a grand "experience meeting." He was convinced that the most effective form of organization was the establishment of clubs in every parish in the province. Organization would be the work of the official organizer, and having established organizations in every parish, his visits should be continued to be paid regularly to each club room should be organized in each case a club room where the workers may gather and discuss the matters. The card system also should be adopted in order to the keeping of "lists" in every parish in each section, and thus in the whole province. Mr. Emmerson assured his hearers that he would be happy to do anything in his power toward the furnishing and making attractive of the club rooms.

A nominating committee composed of a representative from each county was appointed and retired to nominate the officials of the organization.

In the interim thus created, Hon. Mr. Emmerson moved, seconded by Mr. C. J. Osman, that a committee of three be appointed to consider the appointment of a provincial party organizer, and to report recommending a suitable man for this appointment. The committee was named to consist of Mr. H. H. McLean, St. John; Hon. J. T. Harris, Queen's; Hon. W. P. Jones, Carleton county; Mr. P. J. Veniot, here rose to state that in his opinion the counties in which on account of mixed population, and for other reasons, an organizer was most needed, no member to represent them in the committee. Hon. Mr. Emmerson thereupon amended his motion so as to include in the committee J. B. Goggin, M. P.; of Kent; O. Turgeon, M. P.; of St. John; and he added, to have a paid assistant for the organizer, as that official would have to devote his whole time to the work, and consequently to be well paid. In counties where an assistant was required someone would be appointed by the liberals of that county. The motion was amended and passed. Mr. Emmerson then asked each county to appoint its representative on the provincial executive committee.

The nominating committee made the following report, which was adopted by a standing vote: Mr. A. O. Skinner, president; Mr. O. Turgeon, 1st vice-president; Alex. Gibson, Jr., 2nd vice-president; R. E. Armstrong, secretary; C. J. Osman, treasurer. The executive committee's additional members are to consist of the following: Madawaska, Cyrien Martin, M. P.; P. Victoria, Jas. Porter; Carleton, Hon. W. P. Jones; York, W. T. Whitehead; Sunbury, Dr. James Peake; Queens, Hon. L. P. Harris; Kings, Hon. A. S. V. ite; St. John city, Thos. McAvity; St. John county, Jos. Lee; Albert, Alex. Rogers; Westmorland, C. S. Hickman; Kent, Jas. D. Irvine; Northumberland, S. W. Miller; Gloucester, P. J. Byrne, Restigouche, Jas. Reid; Charlotte, D. Gilmor.

Hon. Mr. Turgeon of Gloucester, chairman of the committee to consider an organizer, here reported that the name A. B. Copp, M. P., of Westmorland, had been selected to fill this position, that further, an assistant organizer would be appointed when the organizer should reach a French county. This assistant would be either of French extraction or a man speaking the French language.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson moved the appointment of a financial committee to arrange for the government and management of the association. As representative of the different sections of the province he nominated Mr. J. H. Hickman, of Dorchester; Mr. A. W. Adams, of St. John; and Mr. Warren C. Winslow, of Northumberland. Seconded by Mr. Barnes, M. P., this motion was carried.

Senator King, chairman, here called upon several prominent liberals who had been present at the opening session to address the meeting. Premier Tweedie, the first speaker, said that on his recent visit to Washington, with Hon. Wm. Pugsley, they had found a great change in the ideas of public men toward Canada. Senator Elkins, of West Virginia, had particularly expressed his surprise at Canada's growth. But, continued the premier, it must not be forgotten that the west was not the only part of the Dominion.

Every great nation must have a seaboard. As the Atlantic seaboard, these provinces were thus playing an important part. Some sections, however, were asking too much of the Dominion government, forgetting its difficulties. In this category he would place the French Canadian, he was therefore proud that on the counties in which the 80,000 French are to be found. Liberal representatives have been sent to Ottawa. He was proud of their political sagacity and wisdom. The French Canadians of substance look back on the long scroll of misery which contains their past history. The English people of the province, of this city of the majority are also the descendants of those who suffered for loyalty to their flag and to the King. Sincerely was the Empire, Loyalsists, who are united and their loyalty.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson then moved the invitation to the platform of Hon. A. G. Blair. During the speaker's last connection with Mr. Blair in his constituency they had not seen eye to eye, but the issue then debated was now decided and dead and had great pleasure in inviting Mr. Blair to the platform.

Mr. Blair said that he felt very much at home, although he must confess that he had strayed very far from "old habitation." His most prominent reason for being glad to be present was that his friend, was his successor—that he had vacated his late position. This was, however, a question of the past, because the people of the Dominion had decreed that he and his supporters were wrong. He had associated with the opposition because he had thought that that party was even more in error than was the government. When the struggle of the Dominion election should come on he would heartily aid Hon. Mr. Emmerson.

The business sessions of the New Brunswick Liberal Association were brought to a successful termination on Friday afternoon. There was a large attendance of delegates, and much enthusiasm was aroused.

On invitation of Hon. Mr. Emmerson Mr. Charles Marcl, M. P. for Bonaventure, addressed the meeting at the opening. He made an eloquent speech after complimenting Mr. Emmerson on bringing the I. C. R. into first class shape, he said that he was glad that his competitors, the French Academics of the Maritime Provinces are to be found in thousands in the ranks of the Liberal party. In this category of men are the French Canadian, he was therefore proud that on the counties in which the 80,000 French are to be found. Liberal representatives have been sent to Ottawa. He was proud of their political sagacity and wisdom. The French Canadians of substance look back on the long scroll of misery which contains their past history. The English people of the province, of this city of the majority are also the descendants of those who suffered for loyalty to their flag and to the King. Sincerely was the Empire, Loyalsists, who are united and their loyalty.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson then moved the invitation to the platform of Hon. A. G. Blair. During the speaker's last connection with Mr. Blair in his constituency they had not seen eye to eye, but the issue then debated was now decided and dead and had great pleasure in inviting Mr. Blair to the platform.

is to the same cause. There is no place in New Brunswick in which the people of Quebec are as interested as St. John with its historical connections. This city has an assurance from its geographical position that it is to be the winter port of Canada.

When the member for Bonaventure had concluded, three cheers were given for him in a hearty manner. Resolutions approving the Government Grand Trunk Transcontinental Railway legislation for pure and honorable methods in elections; and confidence in Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Mr. Emmerson were passed unanimously.
