London, Oct. 28.—The salmon from British Columbia, which the Fishmongers' Company declared to be salmon trout, the sale of which was made illegal in Great Britain, has been declared by experts to belong to the family of salmonidae, though they differ from the British salmon. The Fishmongers' Company has consequently withdrawn its order prohibitng the sale of frozen salmon from British Columbia, and the importers of the fish are satisfied.

AT IT AGAIN.

Constantinople, Oct. 28.—Details have been received from a Turkish source of the recent rioting at Ezinghian, Asiatic Turkey. It is said that the trouble had its origin in the killing of a Mussulman priest by an Armenian. The murder bitterly incensed the Mohammedans against the Armenians, and an attack was made by the former upon the latter. The Armenians defended themselves, and in the fighting that followed 50 Armenians and ten Mohammedans were killed. Letters from Trebizond, Turkish Armenia, state that the number of victims in the recent rioting is estimated at 700 in the town and 200 in the surrounding villages. Many Armenian women have vanished, and there is scarcely a doubt that they have been Wanted.

A Maniacal Mob.

Would-Be Lynchers Repulsed by Determined Guards

In an Ohio Jail-The Prisoner Escapes-Two Men Killed.

Tiffin, Ohio, Oct. 28 .- A diabolical attempt was made yesterday morning to lynch Lee Martin, a farmer, who shot and killed the marshal who had been sent to arrest him. He had been overpowered and put in jail, and outside the prison walls gathered a whisky-soaked and maniacal mob, thirsting for his blood. At the signal of a whistle they made a rush for the jail doors, 300 strong, sledge-hammers in hand, and yelling like so many Indians. The few policemen were whisked to one side like straws. One of them was is protected by a heavy sheet iron door.

Between 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning, after the mob had moved farther down the street, the prisoner was handcuffed, taken through a side door, and then to a side alley, where a carriage was in waiting. Police Captain Faulkner and Officer Sweeney tok him to Sandusky county as fast as horses could carry them. At 10 o'clock a crowd numbering hundreds, who did not believe that the prisoner had been taken away, started to make another attack, but wiser counsel prevailed. Finally, to pacify them, one of their number, who knew the murderer, was allowed to search the building. He did not find the prisoner, and so informed of Marlborough. the mob, but they refused to believe him. Then Company E, of the Second Regiment of Militia, of this city, was called out to guard the building. Again the place. They became so determined from cellar to garret. The crowd could not help but be satisfied and the greater part dispersed. Strict guard will be kept for several days. Over 200 ough. guardsmen are here.

SOME LIVELY KISSING.

Every Variety of Osculation May be W t nessed When a Big Steamer Comes in Joy Reigns Unconfined - Souls that Rush Together at the Touching of the Lips and Care Not Wh Knows.

Right or wrong, everybody likes to kissing—that is, everybody who 't soured on life. The sight isn't equal to the act, but, nevertheless, it is a cheering sight. There are places in this city where every variety of osculatory salutation can be witnessed several times a week. It is on the pier when some big ocean steamship comes in that this delicious drama is played. This is the time of the year when those who have Mr. J. Mattheson has erected a carpenter shop on Main street, near the homeward, and when their brothers and other fellows' brothers, their husbands, sisters and friends gather on the pier to welcome them, and, find-ing language inadequate, do just what

Adam and Eve would have done under similar circumstances. The end of the pier is packed with as happy an aggregation of mortals as can be found anywhere. Out in midstream is the big, black hulled steamer. Nearly everybody on the pier is going to kiss somebody on the steamer, and vice versa, and in most in-stances the exchange will not be limited. Pleasurable expectancy makes everybody good-natured. The crowd doesn't mind having its toes trod upon or its elbows jostled. Pushed and pulled by panting little tugs the ocean leviathan, itself powerless and unwieldy, crawls towards the pier. At length she gets near enough for recognitions to be exchanged. Handkerchiefs are waved frantically. Kisses are wafted across the intervening spaces. Greetings are hurled from shore to ship and from ship to shore. Everybody is in a tight place, but nobody can keep still. Women on pier and on steamer jump and clap their hands ecstatically.

It takes an awful long time to get the big steamship snug alongside of the pier. It is deliciously tantalizing who are impatiently waiting to rush into one another's arms. But it gives the mere spectator, who has no such reason for impatience, time to observe that there are some stunning girls on board that steamship. The glow of health is on their cheeks and the light of love in their eyes ,and they look their prettiest because in the ex-citement they forget themselves entirely. The breeze toys with bangs, whisks veils aside and sets their hair adrift. But their eyes are on "Tom," or "Harry," or "Charley," on the or "Harry," or "Charley," on the pier, and they are oblivious to such tries. They won't be so tomorrow they will be just like other girls then but now they are different, and that very difference makes them so attractiv, and makes you wish that you were "Tom," or "Harry," or "Char-

The steamship is made fast to the pier at last, the pudgy tugs scurry off in search of others, the gangplank is swung out, and the race to get the first kiss begins. A man starts in the lead; he is half way down when a puff of wind lifts his hat; he pauses to clutch it, and loses the race. A super! brunette, with hat securely moored, darts by, and in another moment is embraced by stalwart arms, and the two spirits have "rushed together at the touching of the lips." Nor do they mind who sees it, and the spectator looks on without compunctions of conscience. In a moment the osculatory engagement becomes general. It is kisses to right of you and kisses to left of you. You can't see them all, can't see tenth of them, but the regret vanishes when you recollect that it will be prac-tically repeated two or three times a week for a month to come, so that you can come again and see what you missed the first time because nature missed the first time because here limits you to one pair of eyes.

All the wor'd loves a lover—or ought to—and naturally the kisses which lovers exchange interest one most. lovers exchange There is something about them-the which accompanies them, which acknowledges them-by which they are recognized and class-ified. But perish the thought that they are the only kind of kisses worth seeing. There is an old man, with the snows of winter on his head, but eternal springs in his heart, kisses & haired lady. And the way he does it and the way she receives it and returns it tells a story of mutua devotion and loyalty that has stood test of two score years or more, and makes you feel like taking off your hat.

Then there are kisses between mothers and their children, and brothers and sisters, and girls and girlssweet and wholesome to look upon, and recient in themselves to make a misanthrope revise his miserable philoso-phy and acknowledge that there is genuine happiness in this world and much to make life worth living. Osculation continues unrestrained or half an hour or more. There is contagion about it. It makes you feel like kissing somebody yourself. It almost prompts you to go up to some girl and say, "Perdon me but I am a stranger to everybody here and there is no one to kiss me. Don't you feel sorry, and won't you try to console

But the rules of polite society forbid it, and if they didn't, "Tom," or "Charley," or 'Harry," would have something to say that wouldn't be a bit pleasant.

But if you are of Anglo-Saxon blood. there is one species of osculation you witness which, instead of exciting your envy, merely causes your risible mustache to twist. That is when two bearded foreigners exchange "plumpers." Of course, there is no accounting for taste, but that is a fort of taste you can't understand. Possibly it can be acquired.-New York Herald.

Better sewage arrangements would, of course, make it still healthier. The simple fact that we empty about 1,000,000 gallons of sewage in the Election of Officers - Confidence in river daily is prima facia proof of an unsanitary condition. But there are other matters to be considered. The city is involved in several suits arising out of the condition of its sewage. One was decided against us some years ago. We were ordered to stop polluting the Thames; and the city was ordered to pay a fine as well. By promising to remedy the evil we have Millar, Millarton. sewers we need. "Has not the city done something in the way of procuring plans to remedy the evil complained of?"

Yes; we have had a number of plans before the local authorities We first engaged Col. Waring, some eight years legislation. ago. His proposition was to limit the sewers to carrying sewage alone-allowing the storm water to run off on the streets, construct a number of additional sewers, and then empty all the sewers into the river under the surface of the water. Then when I was on the board of health some years ago I submitted a plan of chemical ing the church known as the old French natives find all their wants supplied, when I game in abundance, pasture and hay for their horses and cattle, the happy natives find all their wants supplied, by and it is no uncommon thing for farmthe sewers into the river under the columns sometime in March, 1887. Then to the Cove flats, where a sewage farm sidered the pioneer church of Ontario.

"I suppose it would not be very singular if I favored my own plan, with such improvements and modifica-tions as the experience of other cities need not be considered, because it does not remedy the main evil, and the one which the courts have forbidden-that of polluting the Thames. Mr. Chipman's plan is much better, but there are objections. It involves syphoning afraid we could not provide force enough to make that work satisfac-Then I fear that to empty untreated sewage upon the farm would create a nuisance in summer, while it would be practically inoperative in winter on account of ice and snow. We have a sewage farm very successfully operated at the asylum, but there the method of treatment is different from that proposed for the city. The sewage is strained and mechanically treated before it is conveyed to the farm; it is pumped only at stated periods; and the authorities have not only a skillful manager for the farm, but unlimited supply of labor. A system similar to that at the asylum would be far more expensive than that proposed by Mr. Chipman-both in its construction and its management. But whatever my personal predilections may be, I am not wedded to any plan. We are investigating and securing estimates, and if the city is prepared to go on with the work the board of health will in due time be ready with the best schemes it can devise for the inspection of any expert the council may select. Whatever plan may be finally adopted, however, will require for its successful operation careful manage-ment. The very best system will be

The process of sewage collection involves the construction of a sufficient number of sewers; and their location is a matter for the council and board of health to decide. Our present sewers have been constructed on no definite system; and it will not only be necessary to lay down sewers on streets not hitherto provided for, but also to relay some of the existing sewers. A sewer will doubtless have to be constructed in the area drained by Carling's Creek; intercepting sewers will have to run from Wellington street on the south, and from the outlet of the Carling's Creek on the north to the central sewer. This is a simple matter of engineering which our own authorities can decide. The main question will arise over the disposal of the sewage when collected. The simplest method of disposing of sewage is by emptying it into water-the process of dilution, but that is out of the ques-tion—the Thames is too small for the purpose. For us there is a choice between three processes, that of irrigation, intermittent filtration, and chemi ical precipitation. The first requires a large tract of land—about an acre for every 100 people; the sewage is run over this land which it fertilizes, and this is the sewage farm in the strict sense of the phrase. The second move your corns in a few days? It will give plan requires a much smaller tract of land on which filter beds are construction the end. We shall have to adopt either one ceiving an immense number of other of the last two plans; or what might rivers, each important for its size and possibly be better, a combination of both. It is quite probable that at some future time an economical pro-cess will be devised for treating sewage with electricity, but at present that would be too expensive."

"Have you any idea what the cost of a satisfactory system would be?" enable us to say definitely, but I assume we shall have to calculate on way the fine towns of Minnedosa and

"And how do you propose to raise this money?" "That is a matter for the financiers of the city to say. I should say that the main part of the work would be a general charge on the city, for which debentures could be issued running over a very long period. The next is the Bird Tail, much resembling the Little Saskatchewan, and also taking its rise in the mountains amongst the valuable timber districts. On the opposite side of the Assiniboine, and only two or three miles above the mouth of the Bird Tail, comes in the Qu'Appelle, the most important river next to the Souris that the Assiniboine receives—a river celebrated for the number, length and beauty of its lakes, and for the fine country that it drains. To the north, a little above the Qu'Appelle, comes in the Shell River, a magnificent stream, possessing the best water power of any river in the Province. Beyond this the Assiniboine extends in a northwesterly direction until the head waters of its upper tributaries interlace with the affluents of the Red Deer River above

The great valley of the Assiniboine is a most interesting portion of Mani-toba. Several hundred feet below the level of the surrounding prairie, generally about a mile wide, rich in verdure beyond description, the hills along the shores clothed with timber and divided by ravines heavily wooded, and down which flow numerous spring ereeks, the valley of the river affords a perfect paradisc for the stock raiser, the sportsman and the naturalist There is food for a thousand animals where only one or two at present are, and hundreds of hay stacks might be fish, the shapely goldeye, the voracious pike, and the splendid pickerel. In the fall millions of prairie chickens come in from the open plains to spend the winter in the sheltered valley among the trees, where the berries of the wild rose and the hawthorn and the seeds of various plants and bushes supply the birds with food. In the summer there are millions of wild flowers, and the varied songs of many birds adds a pleasing cheerfulness to the shores of the wild river. The valley is the same in richness and beauty for many hundred miles along the course of the river; nor is the vast rolling prairie that extends boundless and beautiful on every side a barren waste. On the contrary, rich, ready-cleared and productive farms are everywhere waiting to receive the agriculturist, showing by the wealth of verdure that blooms and waves on the surface what a magnificent soil is beneath, and what an abundant return may be expected from well directed industry. The valley of the Assiniboine is the favorite home of the half-breed population. Sheltered from the winter's storms, with a supply of wood for building and excellent water, fish and herds to the valley to spend the winter in the shelter by the river, where stacks and buildings have already been provided, and where there are usually open springs from which cattle can drink when they feel in-

If, however, the deed conveyed land on both sides of the creek all the intervening land covered by the waters of the creek would belong to B, and consequently he is the owner of all the flats left dry within that area. Can the criminal be prosecuted after six years, and should the trial be where the crime was committed or where the criminal lives? Ans.-The penalty is imprisonment not exceeding three years. The sentence would depend upon all the circumstances and the view the judge might take of them. The fact of the convict being a female might or might not affect the sentence, which is in the sound discretion of the judge. 100 Much Medicine

The People Are Too Apt to Imagine Themselves Slaves to Disease.

It Is a Mistake to Pour Down Medicine for the Simple Ills of Life.

Common complaints are often the most dangerous. This is so because they are generally disregarded and ultimately become chronic, or lead to more serious complications. Take, for example, constipation of the bowels. There is no more general a complaint known to man, and yet it is lightly thought of, and passed over. The fact remains that thousands of our best men and women are slaves to supposed diseases, which baffie all skill, because the seat of the trouble is not reached. Nature needs nature's remedies, which is common sense, as all will recognize. Would our symptoms be out of order most of the time were it not for our stomachs and what we take into them? Ask your physician the most common of all foundation for the ravages of disease and from which grows languor, dizziness, nervousness, headaches, sallow and bad complexion, and in fact almost all the ills that afdict manking, and he will tell you, "CONSTIPATION." To cure it permanently it must be done carefully and without the use of violent drugs, and the only safe and best cure known at the present time is Karl's Clover Root Tea, which is composed enurery of herbs, nature's greatest remedies. As a which is composed entirely of spring medicine it cannot be equaled, and the words below from a well known

Ohio man testify to the facts: New Vienna, O., May 12, 1894. Messrs. S. C. Wells & Co., Le Roy, N. Y.-Gentlemen: For some years I have been troubled with a skin disease which was very annoying. I tried several so-called blood purifiers, but without avail. At last I was induced to try Karl's Clover Root Tea,, and am happy to say it was just the medicine I needed. My doctor was astonished at the cure, and says there must be great merit in such a medicine. Karl's Clover Root Tea is marvelous in its effect, and deserves all the praise given it. I cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers from aggravated or chronic cutaneous affections. Very respect-

yours, A. H. HUDSON.
American projectors of this boon fully yours, to mankind have unbounded faith in this great regulator of the bowels, and from the wonderful cures worked by it as attested by hundreds of testimonials unhesitatingly recommend it to all sufferers.

THE REJECTION OF PLUNKETT'S PLEA.

Mr. Justin McCarthy's rejection of the Plunkett scheme to bring about harmony in the Irish party by calling a conference of its members of all shades of opinion to decide upon the measures to be brought forward for the benefit of Ireland, is not calculated the Times asserting that an important to inspire belief in the McCarthyites treaty of great advantage to Russia sincerity to do their utmost for that had been concluded between that emcountry. Minister Chamberlain for arming the pute. It was conveyed to us in such Venezuelan frontier with Maxim guns, excites much interest in official and diplomatic circles at Washington. It is said to be a most unusual course for the Colonial Government to reject the advice of the home Government on questions of important public policy. It appears also that following the adverse action in British Guiana, the London Foreign Office cabled instructions to Sir Charles Lees, Governor-General of the colony, to return to London. It is stated here that this is equivalent to a recall, and the belief is expressed that it indicates the disapproval of the London authorities in the ability of the Governor-General to carry out the policy laid down by Minister Chamber-lain. The position of the Governor-General is one of such lignity that it is not usual to summon him to London merely for consultation, although this happened when the Venezuela question reached a critical stage in 1841. Among those in a position to be best informed the belief is quite positive that Sir Charles has been recalled, and that the action of the Guiana council is the diis now on his way from Demarara to London. The British ultimatum has not yet reached Caracas. The understanding here is that it was forwarded from London to Berlin and thence by a steamer from Hamburg to La Guayra. TION. At the dedication of the Emperor Frederick Church and the Empress Augusta Monument the Empress appeared in public in Berlin for the first time since her illness, which commenced at the Kiel fetes, being brought on by over exertion on that occasion. The fact that her Majesty had grown considerably thinner and paler was com-mented upon on all sides. Indeed, the health of the Empress is still delicate and that is the reason why her birthday (Oct. 23) was observed in the most strict family seclusion. The usual court congratulations and other cere-monies were omitted, and even the gala performance prepared for the opera, which was to give the reopening of that renovated theater a certain eclat, did not take place. The physicians in attendance upon her Majesty have strongly advised her to carefully avoid all excitement and late hours in order to fully recover her health.

By special, imperial edict, the copies of the rules governing the treatment of recruits are being made ready for the commander of each regiment to hand to his subordinate officers. This action is being taken on account of the number of cases of cruel treatment of recruits which have recently been made

STAGNATION IN POLITICS. British politics remain stagnant. The speeches of minor men like Mr. Trevelyan and Mr. Curzon do not make a ripple on the surface. The Chronicle has a professed outline of the Government respecting voluntary schools, but it is doubtful if any decision has been reached. The plan described would increase the grant to board and voluntary schools five shillings for each scholar, but the conditions under which the money will be given are not de fined, and these cover the controversial ground. It is not unlikely that an edu-cation bill will form part of next year's legislative work, and it will probably be a financial measure for altering the limits of the money grants to schools without raising the vexed question of religious teaching. The Ministry will hardly undertake to recast Mr. Foster's act and expose itself to feuds in the Government ranks.

AN ANXIOUS WEEK. It has been an anxious week for everybody infected by the great mining speculation craze. On Monday and Tuesday the market was saved several times when on the verge of panic, but during the last few days there has been a strong recovery, and very likely things will soon be booming again, for the public has by no means learned a serious lesson. It is admitted that Mr. Barnato and his friends have spent £15,000.000 in cash to prevent a collapse of the shares they are interested in. New issues have not been so numerous as until this week, but there are no lack of subscribers to those that were offered. In fact, it seems probable that the public mining fever will hardly be cured before spring, and then only by the application of drastic remedies.

A whispered report is going arour that Salisbury has Bright's disease, is frightened about it, and desires to shift the troublesome burden of the Foreign Office to other shoulders. The circumstances of his taking the wardenship of the Cinque Ports away from Lord Dufferin has led to the conjecture that there has been a bargain by which he gets the charming south coast resi-dence of Walmer Castle, where Wellington died, to nurse his illness in, and Dufferin takes his place in Down-ing street. This story seems ingenious rather than convincing.

THE THEATERS. The autumnal theatrical season is to be the most prosperous in many years, even the reputed to be unlucky theaters, like the Royalty and the Duke of York, seem to have shaken off their bad luck, and are now crowded nightly. In fact the demand for theaters is so great that even the old Imperial, next to the Aquarium, is to be reopened.

CUTE Inflammatory Rheumatism is produced by an excess of uric acid in the blood. Paralysis is nearly a dead circulation produced by impure and impoverished blood. So-called neuralgia of the thigh is sciatic rheumatism; scrofulitic rheumatism is hereditary; syphilitic results from syphilis; gout is caused by high living; sluggish circulation affects the heart.

"THE KIND THAT CURES"

Thus the whole line of rheumatic diseases owe their being to an affected circulation of impure blood. No person can suffer a rheumatic pain that has a free and equal circulation of pure blood, and this accounts for Scott's Sarsaparilla curing the supposed incurable cases. It eradicates all rheumatic poisons and acids from the blood and equalizes the circulation.

Among the Students of the Medical Department. Determined Set-To Between First and

Second Year Men-The Terrors of the Black Hole-Police Called In.

versity Medical School usually falls on November 1, but the students celebrated that occasion this morning. On this day it is the custom for the sopho-IMPERIAL CHURN POWER. mores to take the "freshies" and force them through the trap door into the dark hole, where the pickling vats are in which the subjects are kept. It is part of the duties of the freshies when in the hole to bring up the necessary subjects for dissection, which commences next day. Naturally there completed it had been found neces sary to call on all the third and fourth year men, and incidentally two of London's finest. The freshies were well aware of what was in store for them. Last night they met at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, and, after debating into the hole. This morning only one freshman was in the class that greeted Dr. Mitchell at the first lecture. The balance of the class met on the mar-ket and marched to the school, singing to keep their courage up. They arrived before the lecture was finished and, finding the door of the dissecting room locked, barricaded themselves in a long hallway. When the second year men were released they got a ladder, and by using it as a battering ram, forced open a door and met the enemy. The charge of the Light year men fought manfully, and some of their coats were torn from their backs. Left alone, it is doubtful whe-put the first year men in the hole, or vice versa. But when the aid of the heavy third and fourth year men was secured, some of the smaller freshmen submitted gracefully, and jumped down of their own accord. Others continued to fight, and it took as many as eight second year men to down some of the country-bred freshmen. Kalbfleisch, a second year man, had a leg badly sprained, and a number of other students were more or less bruised. The freshies brought up three corpses, and demonstrated their fitness for the life that lies before them. When the uproar was in progress, the dean of the faculty, Dr. Moorhouse, attempted to gain entrance to the building. He was refused admission, and the students attempted to drown the din by means of a street piano, which they had smuggled into the building. Dr. Moorhouse summoned the police, and two officers werd down. One of them. P. C. Birrell, looked into the dissection room, and suddenly concluded that there was nothing there.

concluded that there was nothing there that needed any attention from him. After some good-natured "guying" the officers went away. A concert was afterwards held in the lecture room, when an imprompte programme was carried out, with Third-Year Man Shaw ("Foot") acting as chairman. Some of the freshies were paler than usual, but good nature reigned supreme. The students afterwards got rid of the superabundant exuberance of spirit, and exercised their lungs by parading the streets east of Murray Bay, in the River St. with the street piano and singing col-Lawrence, with her hold full of water. lege rangs and making their presence One hundred sheep have been taken generally known. generally known.

the least indignity. When the chief thought of the affidavit sworn to by Golding and Turner he felt as if there could be no mistake, and when he recalled Mrs. Warren's calmness and the action of the victim of the assault, he thought again that there could be no mistake; but, unhappily, the two apparent certainties failed to harmonize. Before they were half way to Denby, Williams wished he were well out of it, and he almost regretted that he had run for office. They drove directly to Justice Drew's house and found him at home. They also found Seth Turner there, fretting in the justice's parlor. He had been sitting there for hours, impatient for Mr. Warren's arrival, yet dreading the scene that must follow and longing for

Then he added hastily: "I won't ask you at present to detail the things set forth in the affidavit. You may have observed that a good deal of it is information and belief?"

"Yes, I noticed that. It's straight, though." "This other affidavit," and the justice glanced at Turner. "Yes, Nick," blurted out Warren's being held in Toronto, from Oct. 25 to Nov. 2. This exhibition of ceramics is perhaps creating more interest than any other exhibition held in Toronto for some time. The devotees of the art are becoming more numerous each year, and consequently the artists are doing more excellent work. The great advance since last year in technique, originality and subjects shows how much has been done for the encouragement of this branch of art, in the establishment of annual exhibitions by the association, where the same standard requirements obtain as in the regular exhibitions of pictures. London and Montreal branches of the association have also held successful words, which would mean, I take it, explaining your hostility to Dutton?" exhibitions, their exhibitions for the year following upon the close of this year following upon the close of this. T. U. was held in their rooms on Thursday afternoon, when a very interesting Bible reading was given on "Light." It was decided to have a "Light." It was decided to have a dressmaking class in November, under the supervision of Mrs. Crow, of Toronto. The Y. W. C. A. classes have been organized. The Bible and shorthand classes will hold their meetings and the chore. on Tuesday evenings, and the chorar and art classes on Thursday evenings.

A Fine Exhibition of Ceramics Under the Auspices of the Women's Art

HIS LIPS WERE GLUED.

Minister in a Bad Box-Charged With

Political Fraud. Greenvile, Ohio, Oct. 28.—The Rev. C. W. Hoeffer, the Republican candidate for the Legislature, charged with offering the Democratic executive committee to vote for a Democrat for Senator if they would give him $1,500 for election expenses, appeared in the pulpit to preach yesterday. The church was crowded. Stenographers were there to take down his words. He was late coming but gave out the hymn, and after it had been sung arose, trembling all over, and said: "Last night a boy waked me up at midnight at my house and brought me a powder which I took. I hoped it would give me strength, but it had the opposite effect. It will be impossible for me to say anything. This powder has deranged my

With that he fell into a chair, his head leaning over the back, his arms hanging Women screamed and great excite ment and confusion followed. Some shouted to bring him water. By some means he partly revived. To all cross questions he answered: "My lips are glued." He repeated this answer to all questions. Finally a deacon prayed that God would show the church what to do. Finally the preacher was carried home where admission is denied to all callers. Inquiry seems to reveal the fact that Rev. Hoeffer was not at home, but stayed at a neighbors' house Saturday night.

A NEW CLUB.

Name Suggested for a New Social Organization in London. London (Special), Oct. 28.—It has been facetiously suggested that a new social club in process of organization in this city should be entitled "The Dodd's Kidney Pill Club" as the present members are all enthusiastic advocates of that remedy and in common with many other citizens declare that in all cases of kidney trouble no other agent has been found so completely effective. Most Londoners have at their fingers' ends the particulars of the many marvelous cures through the use of the specific. In every drugstore in the city the medicine is kept in large quantities and warmly recom-

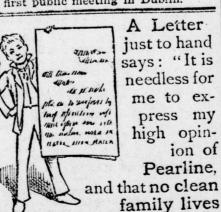

TOO MUCH CHLOROFORM. Hamilton, Oct. 28.-Miss Maud Held, 20 years old, who resided with her parents on Caroline street north, took an overdose of chloroform Friday afternoon to relieve her from pain in the stomach. She fell asleep, face downward, with a handkerchief saturated with chloroform to her face, and when discovered life was extinct. It is not thought she intended suicide. BABY LOST IN A SWAMP. Chatsworth, Ont., Oct. 27 .- No trace has peen found of the 5-year old daughter of T. J. Spears, second concession of Holland, although the woods have been diligently searched. Mr. Spears was at work in a field when his little daughter came out to him. The child being barehead and bare-footed and the wind cold, Mr. Spears sent her home to get her hat and shoes on, and from that time to the present the little one has not been seen and no trace of her can be
