Minister of Defence for New Zealand Says Withou Cohesion Pacific Trade Routes Cannot Be Maintained.

CANADA, NEW ZEALAND AND AUSTRALIA MUST WORK OUT SOME DEFENCE PLAN

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, April 28 .- "That Canada, New Zealand and Australia will ultimately have to get together and adopt some common naval scheme," was the announcement made by Col. James Allan, minister of defence for New Zealand, who arrived here this morning.

THE ONLY FEASIBLE PLAN.

He said that without cohesion these three countries could not maintain trade routes in the Pacific.

Discussing the yellow peril, Col. Allan said Australia and New Zealand were determined to as far as possible keep out Orientals, and they were finding the education test imposed upon immigrants very effective. They had been able to exclude them without quarrelling with Japan or any other country.

ENFRANCHISING OF WOMEN.

The New Zealand minister said the enfranchising of women in his country and Australia had been a success, and their influence in politics had been most wholesome. Col. Allan goes to Ottawa Wednesday, and will later

INSPECTOR PLAYS NEW ROLE MAKES PROPOSAL BY PROXY TO AN IMMIGRANT WIDOW

Wants Lady to Become Partner of a Friend, and Thinks She Would Be Just the Right One to Make Home Happy and Comfortable.

With the party of English day night was a widow with children, the eldest about 14. She was sent out to this country by an agency and although the authorities at first demurred at letting her come Mr Riggs succeeded in making arrange ments for her. Her name is Mrs. Hart, and she is looking for a position as housekeeper Inspector McCallum, who is reputed as an efficient inspector, took a little "flyer" into the realms of another position this morning. He tried to play the part of the little fellow who is re puted to be hanging around with a bow and a quiver of darts. A friend of his who came to this vicinity from England some years ago, and whose wife died about a year ago leaving him with two children on his hands, is looking for a wife. His mother called on Inspector McCallum and explained the situation to him, and "Mac," with his usual readiness to help the needy, promised to do all in his power for the man, who has a 100-acre farm.

Proposed by Proxy. Arriving at the town hall this morn. ing he walked over to a number of women, who were seated on a benc at the side of the wall, and asked i there happened to be a widow amongs

The woman with the four children replied that she was one, and Mr. Mc Callum then and there proposed to her for his friend.

"You don't want to get married do you?" asked Mr. McCallum. "Because if you do I can arrange it. A friend of mine lost his wife recently, and he wants a good woman to help him take A Surprised Lady.

The woman looked at him a moment, too surprised to say anything, and then remarked that she thought she had a position, and that she did not think she would fill the bill, as she had four children of her own. Mr. McCallum sat down beside her and explained the whole matter, but still the woman was dubious. He left her at the hall waiting for word of the position that she expected, but hoping that he would be able to introduce her to his friend, and

The fissure has been getting wider every day, and the residents of that section are alarmed. They think that if the water ever gets in the fissure, or if the current should be swollen to any extent by heavy rains, that a large section of the roadway would be washed away. In the event of such a happening, the houses which abut on the river bank would suffer considerably, as the land at the rear of their vards has been washed away.

A similar condition exists on the Wortley road. The river has washed away a considerable portion of the embankment there, and if a heavy rain in London for five years and storm should occur and cause the many friends here.

Liberals, True to Their Policy, Doing Everything to Rush Business.

Government Wishes to Find Out How Senate Views the Situation.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, April 28.—The Government has decided not to bring up the naval bill until next week. Thursday is Ascension Day, and the week therefore is a broken one, so Government business of another sort, together with supply, will be the order of the week. It was at first intended to bring up the contentious measure about the middle of the week, but on Saturday last it was decided otherwise. The highways bill, the bill to aid agriculture, probably the bank bill and various other Government measures, will be proceeded with or disposed of, and handed over to the Senate for final ratification. Supply will be considered during all the time available.

mending Doan's heep troubled very much last year I have been troubled very much with nasty sick headaches, and a weak aching back which caused me much misery, for I could not work and had no ambition for anything. My kidneys were very badly out of order, and kept me from sleeping at nights. I tried many kinds of pills and medicines, but it seemed almost in vain. I began to give up in despair of ever being well and strong again, when a kind neighbor advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, which did, and am thankful for the relief I obtained from them, for now I am never troubled with a sore back or sick headaches. I will always say Doan's Kidney Pills for mine and can highly recommend Windsor Farmer Undertook to Chase Man Off His Farm.

Windsor, April 27.—Herbert Toffelmire, a farmer residing near Harrow, was shot in the right foot yesterday morning by an unknown man, whom he found prowling near his home.

According to county officers, Toffelmire discovered the stranger on his premises during the night and made premises during the night, and made chase after him in the dark. A short distance from the house the fleeing man turned and fired two revolver shots, one of which took effect. It is not thought the wound will prove serious. Provincial Officer J. P. Mrs. J. Merkhuger, Waterloo, Ont., enthusiastically recommends Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets. Her experience with them, as she outlines it, explains why, "I was greatly troubled with my stomach", she writes. "I had taken so much medicine that I might say to take any more would only be making it worse. My stomach just felt raw. I read of Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets, and a lady friend told me they were very easy to take, so I thought I would give them a trial and really they worked wonders. Anyone having anything wrong with his stomach should give Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets a trial, they will do the rest. My stomach is fine now and I can eat any food."

One of the many good features of Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsis Tablets is that they are so pleasant and easy to take. The relief they give from heartburn, feature billousness and dyspersials flatulence, biliousness and dyspepsia is prompt and permanent. Try one after each meal—they'll make you feel like

LONDON, MONDAY, APRIL 28. MASTERLY INACTIVITY AT TORONTO.

The Legislature's business is finished. It is as exhausted as a man who has been standing around all day, first on one foot, then on the other. The charges against Sir James Whitney and Mr. Hanna easily overshadow in interest anything done by the Government, which was indeed already overshadowed by the progressive proposals of the Opposition. The absence of any progressive legislation is as striking as the activity of Mr. Rowell and his band. It is a contrast between lethargy and energy. Among the practical proposals brought forward by the Opposition a recognition. His principal bequests there were, besides the banish the bar motion, and, failing that, real amend- estate to his son. It is true in his will ments of the present license system, a there is an intimation that he has number of suggestions for factory regulation. An amelioration of the conditions of woman and child labor was there is nothing very definite as to advocated. Mr. Rowell pressed hard what they are. And Mr. Morgan, for the passing in this session of a jun., is left to his own discretion as workmen's compensation act. The to how, and how far, these schemes burning question of assessment reform are to be carried out. He may carry was urged, a matter in which all the them out to a greater or lesser deorgans of public opinion have expressed gree, or he may fail altogether. His the deepest interest. All to no pur- intentions may be good, but disaster pose against governmental torpor and may come in his business transacblind resistance. The darts of public opinion hurled by the Opposition have fill his father's injunctions, or to carry taken no effect through the armorplated shell of the Tortoise whom we have chosen for our lord and governor. Within his shell he sleeps, or bites the more daring hand that comes too near. Such majestic inertia can't be hurried.

A farcical bill has been put through on the liquor question, just to pass the time and to make a semblance of doing something. Men may still have night-caps, but not an eye-opener. The Sleepers won't stand for the earlymorning draught-why break repose?

As far as assessment reform is concerned the only thing done was to throw a sop to the income taxpayer. With a proper tax on increment in land values, however, there should be no burden on the income-taxpayer or the business community either. Sterile is the word for the whole session; nothing done in education, agriculture, economic reform, anything. The best that can be said for the Whitney Administration is that it is one of masterly inactivity. But this is no time for Fabian tactics. The growing time of Ontario needs a growing policy.

MR. MORGAN'S WILL.

When a multi-millionaire dies, the public are very naturally interested in the terms of his will, by which he disposes of the vast wealth he leaves behind him. It is no wonder, therefore, that so much attention should be paid by the press of all countries to the will of J. Pierpont Morgan, who accumulated an estate so large that it seems guns and soldiers, and characterizes it the exact amount. It is estimated at being anywhere between three hundred and five hundred millions of dol-

There are in- recovery in the court of chancery, numerable operations, recognized not only as legitimate, but consistent with the ordinary standard of morals, for the accumulation of wealth. No one has recognized it to a greater extent than our own Lord Strathcona.

How far did Mr. Morgan recognize this claim during his life? Very slightly, if at all. It is said by his apologists that he gave freely, but in secret. Possibly there may be some truth in this, but in these days of the ubiquitous reporter, and the almost omniscient press, it is impossible for any person to do much good or evil without being ings in disguise. It is an ungracious task to criticise one who is dead, but the evil as well as the good that men do lives after them, and the greater a man has been the less we can afford to disregard the lessons of his life. So far as Mr. Morgan's conduct in life is concerned, The winter fountains gush for thee, we can only conclude that he has failed to recognize the great Christian verity, that wealth is to be held in rust for the benefit of others. The disposition of his wealth, both in life and after death, could have been a Thy parent fountains shrink away, No notable measures have gone on more convincing proof of his Christianof his religious creed.

To turn British into Canadian currency, the chancellor will need $37,500,000 more in the year just begun than last year, and there was anxious conjecture as to his method of raising the money. He pleasantly disappointed the taxpayers by announcing that there would be no new impost. He predicted that British trade and industry, which the Unionists cried would be ruined by Lloyd George finance, would reach new heights of prosperity in the current year, with corresponding advantage to the national exchequer. #### The Personal Side of Macaulay

(By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

Readers of Macaulay's essays will remember what he did to the poems of poor Robert Montgomery. Some of those slashing book reviews which first saw the light in the pages of the failings. The first paragraphs of his A Quebec newspaper some months celebrated essay on Warren Hastings, ran as follows: book seems to have been bound themselves to furnish papers, it would be more than ever interesting just to say that the covenants on both and the result is before us in the form of three big bad volumes, full of undigested correspondence and undiscerning panegyric.

"If it were worth while to examine this performance in detail, we could easily make a long article by merely pointing out inaccurate statements, in elegant expressions, and immoral doc trines. But it would be idle to waste criticism on a bookmaker; and, what ever credit Mr. Gleig may have just! earned by former works, it is as bookmaker, and nothing more, that he men than Mr. Gleig have written nearly as ill as he, when they have stooped to similar drudgery."

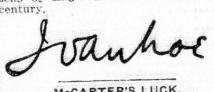

Now, that is what the unfortunate Mr. Gleig must have been tempted to call a blow in the midriff. It sounds harsh, even cruel, and the modern reader is probably inclined to regard Macaulay as hard-hearted man, who delighted in the misery of his You're fellow-authors. But this is a most I erroneous view of the character of the great historian. His friends called him "a lump of good nature," and as I re-read the fascinating pages of Trevelyan's "Life and Letters of Lord Macaulay" (this great book has just been published in shilling form by T. Nelson & Sons) I admire more than ever the genuine goodness of heart of this prince of book reviewers and most vivid of historians.

There are two things about Macaulay which Trevelyan emphasizes with abundant detail. First, his generosity; his hand was always in his pocket. He could never refuse to honor a begging letter, and if the impecunious person called at the historian's house he was sure to do even better than if he had depended upon Macaulay was specially moved by tales of distress from poor scholars, even club-footed poets were never turned empty away. One morning a man called and introduced himself as a Cambridge needy man of let-"I was going to give him sovereign," said Macaulay afterwards, "and send him away, when I discovered that he was a philologist, whom I never should have expected to see in such a plight. I felt for him, and gave him a hundred pounds. A hard pull on me, I must say. However, I have been prosperous beyond where thy glittering current the common lot of men, and may well assist those who have been out luck." This is only one story of hundreds that are told of his illimitable He was so tender-hearted that he would weep over the pages of Clarissa Harlowe and blubber like child over an affecting story of cruelty or distress reported in the newspapers. And yet this soft-hearted genius was the reviewer who jabbed his gleaming stiletto into the heart of Montgomery and a tribe of other poets and authors All of which goes to show that a reviewer may hate the sins of an > disposed to the sinner himself. A second beautiful quality in Maculay's make-up was his love for children. Never was there a more indulgent uncle. The Trevelyan children actually worshipped "Uncle Tom," and well they might, for he was the prince of entertainers. Old bachelor and bookworm that he was, Macaulay was never happier than when down on all-fours having a romp with his He liked to play robbers them, and his sallies from behind castles composed of chairs and newspapers made heaps of fun for young folk. Every week he took them with him on a half-day excursion to the Tower, Madame Tussaud's waxworks, and the art galleries. He loaded them down with gingerbread and good things, and all the time kept up a constant fire of stories and jokes. No wonder those fortunate nieces wor-shipped this ideal uncle! All things considered, Macaulay seems to me to have been one of the most unselfish, industrious, level-headed, brilliant citizens of England in the nineteenth century.

LYONS, GIMBEL AND SMITH RELEASED BY LONDON CLUB

First Two Were Inexperienced and Smith Was Not Fast Enough -More Releases Will Be Handed Out This Week

By Manager Deneau.

The way of the raw recruit is hard, and so Messrs. Lyon, Gimbel and Smith, who have been trying out with the Deneau delegation of swattlists since last Wednesday, found it. These three players were released by Manager Deneau Saturday afternoon.

Lyon and Gimbel come from Cleveland. This was their first attempt to break into fast company, and both of them were pretty raw. Lyon has all the promise of a coming ball player, but he is yet too young to make the step into fast company. With a couple of more fast company. With a couple of more players will be released before the week is out.

Matteson Looks Good.

Mattie Matteson was out with the squad Saturday, and he showed up pretty well. He seems to be in far better condition this year than when he was with the Berlin team last season.

In 1908, when the Browns made such a strong bid for the pennant, the In 1908, when the Browns made such a strong bid for the pennant, the club was a veteran organization. Until September many believed the team would win the flag. The infield—Hobe Ferris, Wallace, Jimmy Williams and Tom Jones—played remarkable ball. The pitchers, catchers and outfield performed in good style. Suddenly the team cracked, and the pennant went formed in good style. Suddenly the team had cracked from age.

glimmering. Critics said the team had cracked from age. Five years have passed and of that veteran infield only Bobby Wallace remains. Stovall has gathered a bunch of recruits. He and Wallace are the only old heads in the line-up. The 1908 team cracked of old age. Will the 1913 aggregation explode because of extreme youth?

In no one department has Stovall made such radical changes as in the batteries. Usually old heads are considered necessary in the battery department when youngsters are added to the infield and outfield, but Stovall followed no such plan. He disposed of every vet catcher and pitcher.

In point of experience the oldest catcher has had byt two months in the big show, Earl Hamilton, with about three years' experience, is the veteran box man. The work of this team will be watched closely.

Robert B. Mantell.

Apropos of the coming of Robert B. Mantell to the Grand Opera House Tuesday and Wednesday and Wednesday matinee, May 6 and 7, in Shakespearean and classic repertoire, it is interesting to note that "comic relief," inder whose protecting wings many unutterable crimes have been committed by playwrights and stage managers of modern times on the theory that the audience must be amused every ten or fifteen minutes no matter how heavy the tragedy, has generally been supposed to have been an invention of the Elizabethan dramatists. But Sidney Lee has recently explained that this bit of iconoclasm, this blending of comedy and tragedy, admirable as it is, is not to be ascribed to the daring Elizabethans. INSTALLATION SERVICE

Helpful Address By Rev. G. N. Hazen Rev. J. E. Millyard and Rev. Mr. Cozens.

The forty-second Sunday school anniversary at Empress Avenue Methodist Church yesterday was one of the most successful in the history of the school, Rev. G. N. Hazen delighted everybody in the morning, as he drew some valuable lessons from the postage stamp. In the afternoon Rev. J. E. J Millyard gave a most helpful talk on the Bible, using each letter in the word "Bible" to illustrate the book it-Mr. Millyard also gave a most helpful and inspiring address in the evening, on the value of the Sunday school to the scholar, to the worker, to the church and to the nation.

The installation service in the after-noon conducted by the pastor, Rev. T. Wesley Cosens, was very impressive The Sunday school orchestra and choir also the regular church choir, furnished splendid music during the day. Great credit is due to Mr. R. G. Bowie and Miss Dewey for the musical program.

CAN'T KEEP SUNDAY WITHOUT A LAW

Secretary of Lord's Day Alliance Addresses Londoner's on Sabbath Observance.

Tells What Alliance Has Done Secure Day of Rest For the Workers.

Rev. W. M. Rochester, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, addressed the men's meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium Sunday afternoon on the sub-ject of Sunday observance. "The law touches industrial liberty, not religious liberty," he said. "Seventh Day Adventists don't have to work on Saturday, and they don't have to worship on Sunday, but they must keep he nations rest day. We couldn't have a Sabbath without law, any more than a man could have a garden without a fence where animals run at large. The law only makes it possible for a man to have a Sabbath day. It remains with each man himself to say how he will spend it.

Too Much Frivolity. Mr. Rochester spoke at the King Street Presbyterian Church in the evening. He said: "The frivolous treatment of the Sabbath is responsible for unfounded criticism of the Lord's Day Alliance, yet our Sunday is the foundation of Canada's industrial prosperity. The superiority of the Englishspeaking race is due to their religious keeping of the Sabbath. There are people who would make Sunday a holiday instead of a holy day. These are people with low foreheads, high collars and empty laugh. You can buy collars, but you have to work for brains. The holiday Sunday saps the foundations of life, and we must arrive at a correct estimate of the Sabbath or we will be going from one ex-treme to the other, from the open Sunday to the rigorously closed one. "What we need is a Sabbath that shall give all men rest as far as it is possible to do so. The Lord's Day Alhance does not say that a man must go to church on Sunday, it only insists that every man shall have one day's rest in seven. The Lord's Dav act is the only charter today that pro vides one day in seven to every man There is a lot of unjust criticism of the alliance for attempting to enforce the act. But, you know, no law ever goes unless it is pushed."

GENIAL PREACHING AND GENIAL LIVING

Christ's Method of Teaching the Gospel the Best for Lost World.

At the Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church last evening Rev. Dr. McCrae preached to a large congregation on "God's Search for a Lost World." "This man receiveth sinners and eateth with them," was the text. The Pharisees and scribes murmured against the Saviour and criticised him. They thought him too genial in his preaching and teaching. "I believe in genial and teaching. "I believe in genial preaching and teaching and living," said Dr. McCrae. 'But this does not mean the discussion of little, gossipy frivolous themes in the pulpit. People come to the house of prayer to worship, and are often sent away unblessed and no better than when they came. Our preaching of the great themes of the Bible will hold men to eternal things. The trouble with us today is that we are losing our grip of a personal God in Jesus Christ. When we have no grip of God we lose everything."

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, D. C., April 28. - A ush of speech-making on the final day of general debate on the tariff bill made lively proceedings in the House. Most of the members had held back, with a view to getting the large audiences expected with the closing of the general debate, and the shifting of the consideration of the Underwood tariff revision to a reading of the measure under the five-minutes rule, beginning

Chairman Underwood has not changed his view that the bill should be dis-posed of in the House within a week from today, and that the sugar sched-ule is not likely to offer much real trouble. He hoped that unless the fight of the anti-free wool advocates spreads, the bill will emerge from the Senate substantially in the form in which it stands.

A New Era. Representative Rainey, of Illinois, who had charge of the agriculture schedule of the bill as a member of the ways and means committee; Representative Murdock, of Kansas, the leader of the Progressives, along with Representative Chandler, of New York, and others of that party, and some of the big guns of the Republicans, were on today's speaking program. #### Much Inconvenience To the Householder By Garbage Mix-Up

Dr. Burdon, chairman of the board of health, stated today that the problem of garbage disposal arising out of the action of the private collectors stopping their collections in the exof May, would be considered at the next meeting of the board on the 6th

Inspector Lutman said that so far the sanitary inspectors making their annual spring rounds have not found any conditions arising from the nondisposal of garcage that would call for interference as yet on the part of the department. A great many housheholders have been put to a great deal of inconvenience in the matter as a result of the private collectors stopping before the city is ready to begin. Pure hangs the silver crescent Above the twilight wood, And pure the silver music Wakes from the marshy flood.

O earth, with all thy transport

How comes it life should seem A shadow in the moonlight A murmur in a dream? Over the wintry threshold Who comes with joy today,

So frail, yet so enduring, To triumphs o'er dismay? As, quick her tears are springing, And quickly they are dried, For sorrow walks before her,

But gladness walks beside. She comes with gusts of laughter-The music as of rills; With tenderness and sweetness,

The wisdom of the hills.

Her hands are strong to comfort, Her heart is quick to heed; She knows the signs of sadness, She knows the voice of need;

There is no living creature However poor or small, But she will know its trouble,

And hearken to its call. Oh, well they fare forever,

By mighty dreams possessed, Whose hearts have lain a moment On that eternal breast.

SOCIETIES TO SHOW CLEAN BILL OF HEALTH

Says E. T. Essery, of London, in Support of New Insurance

Toronto, April 26 .- "This bill will turn fraternal societies into life insurance ompanies," declared Mr. P. M. Pattison, Toronto, at the annual meeting of the Canadian Fraternal Association yesterday. He was discussing the bill introduced by Mr. J. A. Patterson, K. C., chairman of a special drafting committee, to regulate fraternal benefit societies, and he added that proposals like this were making every fraternal society un-

An explanation had just been made by Mr. Paterson. He said the bill proposed that every three years each society should report to the registrar of insurance a valuation of its assets and abilities and send a copy to every member. If the registrar was not satisfied that the return of valuation shows that he society is actuarially sound he will order it to improve its deficiency of 5 per cent every three years, so that in 60 ears all societies would be actuarially olvent. There was nothing to prevent society improving itself faster if it ished, but if it did not advance at the rate of 5 per cent every three years the registrar could cancel its registration. It vas not a rate bill compelling every soiety to come to a uniform rate, but alwing societies to improve at their own simply purposes that societies should show a clean bill of health every three years," said Mr. E. T. Essery, London, who agreed that public opinion demanded such a measure, and if the societies did not originate it Parliament would force a bill on them. "Surely it is better to undertake an own reform and have 60 years in which to finish it, than have Parliament tell us to do it in much less time," was the sum of Essery's argu-

NEW ADVERTISING OFFICES. F. Albany Rowlatt Occupies Fine Offices in Tanner-Gates Building, 26-28 Adelaide Street West, Toronto.

This company's new offices occupy he entire rear half of the fourth floor in the Tanner-Gates Building, Toronto and are very well fitted to accommodate the increased business which forced them to move.

Mr. Rowlatt, whose experience dvertising work is long and varied, planned every detail of the office before construction, so that the result would assist in the rapid and accurate transaction of business with least rouble and loss of time. This move, which is the result of a rapidly increasing business, is particularly noteworthy because of the fact that Mr. Rowlatt will not accept a! classes of business, specializing only tr the best class of commercial and financial advertising, and with his strict principles and high ideals of service and general business management, he has established a select list of satisfied clients.

The offices themselves merit a clos nspection.
Mr. Rowlatt has always prided himself upon his service, and his new move will be a very great step towards perfection of the same.
