FUNSTON READY FOR WAR

Mexicans Have Troops' Train Prepared for the Evacuation of Juarez.

MEXICO OFFERS AMNESTY

Issues Manifesto Inviting All Rebel Leaders to Serve Under Carranza.

[Canadian Press.] El Paso, June 23.—American guns command the situation at every important border point today. Field artillery has been mounted on hilltops in the larger communities, the noses of their guns pointing in a southerly direction, while in the smaller towns, machine gun detachments have been stationed. Military authorities here and in other border encampments announced that every preparation had been made for possible hostilities.

Quiet at Juarez.
A few of the troops that evacuated Juarez had returned today, and there reports that the reoccupation of the town by entire former garrison of 4,000 is contemplated. During the early morning hours in the Mexican town only a few scattering military patrols were on the streets. Gen. Francisco Gonzales, commander, and Andres Garcia, consul at El Paso, who recently has been seeing on the Mexican side, rode through the streets on horseback, apparently making an inspection tour. Streetcar traffic across the river, which was stopped last night, was resumed today.

Troop Trains Ready.
Indications that all preparations have been made in the event of a hasty departure of the remainder of the garrison is deemed expedient. Today a number of troop trains with steam up, stood for instant departure. On one of them fifteen machine guns and three thousand millimeter field pieces were loaded.

Reports current in Mexican circles that Gen. Alvaro Obregon, Mexican minister of war, has issued a manifesto offering to accept the services of all rebel leaders in the event of hostilities with the United States, found some confirmation in the fact that today a number of Mexicans, who had been exiled for political reasons, crossed into Juarez.

Further indications that the Mexican people are being told that the United States is the aggressor in the present crisis, and that Mexico has the moral support of the foreign nations were contained today in the following dispatch to the local consulate from the official information bureau in Mexico City:

Matter To Be Discussed in Commons at Early Date.

This resolution sets forth that "the progress of the war has demonstrated the great advantages which would have accrued to the Allies if there had been a railway tunnel beneath the Channel, and plans should be prepared, so the work can be begun immediately the war is over."

CARRIZAL FIGHT TOOK BIG TOLL OF AMERICANS GEN. PERSHING REPORTS

Of Seventy-Six in Detachment Which Engaged Mexican Force All But Few Stragglers Appeared to Have Been Killed or Captured—Outlook for Peace Between the Two Nations Not Bright.

[Canadian Press.] Washington, June 23.—Interest was expressed by officials of the war department in the unofficial report that Villa is at Escaton, Chihuahua state, negotiating with the Carranza government for amnesty and a command in the Mexican army.

Washington, June 23.—A preliminary report from General Pershing on the Carrizal fight, based on stories told by stragglers reaching the headquarters of the American expedition, and on Mexican rumors, was taken to the White House early today by Secretary of War Baker.

The secretary said General Pershing himself did not regard the report as an official statement of what had happened and indicated that no attempt to decide the course to be pursued by the United States would be made until a complete account had been received. Mexican official accounts, there was about 76 Americans, 17 of whom were taken prisoner. Capt. Chas. T. Boyd, Lieut. Henry R. Adams and ten men are said to have been killed. Of the remaining 47, only a few stragglers reached General Pershing's headquarters yesterday. There had been no word from the two cavalry troops sent out to get in touch with the shattered command. General Pershing said he hoped to have a report from surviving officers by courier during the day.

Secretary Baker denied rumors of plans for an immediate call for volunteers to add to the regular and National Guard forces. He indicated that there had been no additional orders overnight for troop movements.

[Canadian Press.] Washington, June 23.—Hope persisted among officials here today that war against Mexico would not become necessary. Dispatches from Mexico City indicate that leaders in the Carranza Government may show a similar attitude, and will seek to avert the threatened break.

The outlook was far from bright, however, and orders had been issued for the transportation of ten thousand national guardsmen to the border from the central and western army departments by train today, as soon as they are ready for service.

Army officers looked today for the delay in the movement of troops to the light between Carranza troops and American cavalrymen at Carrizal on Wednesday, and this report was to be considered by the War Department. The report was before any drastic action is determined upon.

Tension was not lessened by an official report to the effect that there was no provocation by Americans for the attack on a boat from the gunboat Amnapolis at Mazatlan on Sunday. Secretary of War Baker issued orders last night to Major-General Barry at Chicago and Major-General Bell at San Francisco, commanders respectively of the central and western army departments, asking that the first five thousand militia units in each department be ready for active service be dispatched to the border.

Refugees Safe.
[Canadian Press.] Vera Cruz, June 23.—Five first-class coaches full of Americans arrived here last night. They will go aboard the battleship Nebraska and afterward be transferred to a transport. A special coach also arrived with the American employees of the Aguila Oil Company. The refugees report that their trip down was uneventful.

James Rodgers, the United States diplomatic representative at Mexico City, will arrive here today with special trains bringing refugees from Real Del Monte and Pachuca in twelve box cars. According to the arrivals from the capital the situation in Mexico City is that the trouble between the United States and Mexico will finally be settled by arbitration.

BERLIN CLAIMS PROGRESS MADE AGAINST RUSSIANS

[Canadian Press.] Berlin, June 23.—Continued progress for General Von Linsingen's forces in fighting west and southwest of Lutsk, despite repeated counter-attacks by the Russians, was announced by the war office. Russian attacks in the direction of Brody were repulsed.

LOTS OF GRAIN, FEW POTATOES IN KAISER-LAND

Food Dictator Says British Cash Is Keeping Out Rutabagoes.

CAN'T STOP MEAT-EATING

Predicts More Potatoes for Next Year, But Much Less Pork.

TAKE STOCK OF FOODS

Households Will Be Permitted to Keep Only What Is Actually Needed.

Berlin, June 23.—There is plenty of grain on hand in Germany to carry the country over until the harvest, declared Adolf Von Batocki, president of the food regulation board, in an address at Dusseldorf. The potato situation was more unfavorable, he said, and would be especially difficult during the next fortnight, but the deficit could be met by arranging for increased bread rationing for physical laborers. The potato situation in Western Germany had been made worse by Holland's prohibition upon exports due to the agitation there which, Von Batocki said, was probably induced by "British money."

Herr Von Batocki said it had been proposed to prohibit meat consumption for two months, but that this was impracticable unless a better distribution of the supply of fats could be effected. This could eventually be done, this proposal could be considered.

Witness Relates All His Negotiations in Connection With Kelly Contracts.

[Canadian Press.] Winnipeg, June 23.—J. B. Coyne, for the crown, asked permission of Mr. Justice Undergast at the opening of the fifth day of the trial of Thomas Kelly to call one Menzies to prove the cutting of concrete samples from the Parliament Buildings' caissons. Tests of these samples figured in the evidence of expert witnesses. In view of the fact that Menzies' name was not on the indictment, the court reserved its decision until this afternoon.

William Salt, who was assistant inspector for the Government on the Parliament Buildings, was then called. He was inspecting the caisson work, and took the depth of the caissons, entering the measurements in the notebook which he kept for Provincial Architect. Horwood, Salt's famous "little black book" was produced and identified.

Salt stated that while the public accountants committee was in session, Horwood told him the caisson records "would have to be doctored," and made several feet deeper. Horwood asked him to make a fresh book, and he did. Horwood said these fresh records did not show sufficient depth, so Salt started on a second altered book, Horwood assisting.

The following morning he gave the books to Horwood, and declined to do any more altering. Salt said if he were called before the committee he would not stand behind. Next day Horwood told him he had better take a holiday with expenses paid, and he left for the south. The purpose in altering the books, said witnesses, was to justify the payment of about eight hundred thousand dollars for caissons.

NO DISRUPTION TO FOLLOW UNION, SAYS REV. DR. D. L. MCRAE

Assembly Commissioner Declares Opposition Will Die.

VOTE WAS OVERWHELMING

Consummation Will Come Four Years After War's End.

Rev. Dr. D. L. McCrae, pastor of the Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church, and London's only ministerial commissioner to the recent general assembly of the Presbyterian Church at Winnipeg, where the church union question was a paramount issue, has returned to his home in London.

"It was a most wonderful meeting," declared the doctor in referring to the assembly. "It was without doubt the greatest assembly in the history of the church. Naturally the church debate question was the most important one. The debate on the question was without question one of the greatest ever heard in Canada. It was marked by an absolute lack of bitterness."

"The arguments on both sides were unusually strong ones, but the speakers were never bitter. It was a memorable occasion when the vote was taken. For more than two hours the commissioners, both clerical and laymen, recorded their votes. Presbytery by presbytery the whole 76 representatives of the Canadian Church were present."

ANOTHER CAR-LESS SUNDAY LONDON'S ASSURED LOT NOW

Time for Calling Special Meeting Has Passed.

NO MILITIA INTERFERENCE

Company Representatives Got Cold Comfort From Hughes on Thursday.

There will be no Sunday cars this week, the time for calling a special meeting to pass even a temporary franchise having passed.

No negotiations have been opened officially, at least, and there does not seem to be any likelihood that there will be any. The company is willing to discuss terms, but the terms have undergone some modification during the past few days.

It is learned that some representatives of the company discussed Sunday cars with Sir Sam Hughes, when he was here on Thursday. They got cold comfort, as Sir Sam decided not to interfere, as the camp was going to be moved from London in any event. So there can be no pressure from the military authorities. It is none of their concern, they say, and so they will view it.

The city will go ahead with a paving program, and allow the future to take care of itself.

William Gray, M.P., Promised London 15,000 Troops, and Was Backed by Tory Paper

If the city council, board of trade and businessmen of London are disappointed over the proposed removal to Camp Borden of the largest part of the troops now in training in this city, they have good reason to be.

While they have been placed on the anxious seat several times by "official" announcements of removals, they have always been removed from it by statements from Mr. Gray and the local Conservative organ to the effect that the authorities at Ottawa had changed their minds and that London would have "all the troops it could accommodate."

On May 20 it was announced in the local paper that espoused the cause of Borden, Hughes, Allison & Co., that London would have 15,000 men for the summer. This statement was made on the authority of William Gray, M. P., who "represents" London at Ottawa. The headline over the article said:

15,000 MEN FOR LONDON'S CAMP

First Estimate To Be Increased, Says William Gray, M. P.

Advance Parties Here.

The article beneath this heading gave absolute assurance that the city would have not only 12,000 troops previously promised, but 15,000 men altogether, because of the decision of the militia department to bring additional battalions to the city. The article has the following to say:

"Mr. William Gray, M. P., has returned from Ottawa, and told the Free Press today that the full number of soldiers for whom camp accommodations have been secured at London will train here this summer. THE NUMBER OF UNITS PROBABLY TOTALLING 15,000 MEN. Mr. Gray's statement corroborates a dispatch from Ot-

Enemy Launches Furious Attacks At New Sector; Beaten Back By French Grenades and Bayonets

Germans Last Night Made Three Heavy Assaults Against the French Trenches in the Champagne District But Were Repulsed After Close Fighting.

(Canadian Press.)

Paris, June 23.—The Germans have launched a heavy attack in the Champagne district. Three violent assaults on the French trenches in the region of Mont Tetu were repulsed last night after severe fighting with grenades and bayonets, according to an official statement issued by the war office today.

West of the Meuse, in the Verdun sector, the Germans again attacked Hill No. 304, and there was lively infantry fighting near Dead Man Hill. There was heavy artillery fire all night in this sector. It was particularly violent east of the Meuse, around the Vaux front.

French Official Report.

The text of the communication follows:

"In Belgium a destructive fire of our batteries demolished certain organizations of the enemy in the sand dunes. The Champagne district yesterday evening, following a bombardment of our positions between Maisons-De-Champagne and Mont Tetu, the Germans delivered three attacks upon our trenches along the front of about 1,200 yards. Each one of these attacks was either checked by our curtain of fire or repulsed with hand grenades. Some groups of the enemy which at the third endeavor had succeeded in penetrating one of our advanced positions to the west of Mont Tetu, were immediately expelled at the point of the bayonet. Ten prisoners were taken by us. During the night several surprise attacks against small French posts to the northeast of Butte De Mesnil, were repulsed."

At Dead Man's Hill.

"On the left bank of the River Meuse the Germans have renewed their efforts in the region of Hill 304. Two attacks with hand grenades were checked by the fire of our machine guns. During the night there was spirited rifle firing in the Avocourt wood and at Dead Man Hill. There was also an intense bombardment in the sectors of Enosse and Chantonnay."

"On the right bank of the river there was considerable activity on the part of the artillery along our front. From the Meuse as far as Montainville. This was particularly noticeable in the region to the west and to the south of Fort Vaux. Here the enemy used to a considerable extent shells which produced a gas irritating to the eyes. At Esparges a minor German attack resulted in complete failure."

ITALIANS ADVANCE BY VALE AND PEAK AND TAKE SPOILS

Rifles, Ammunition and Bombs Captured From the Austrians.

[Canadian Press.] Rome, June 23, via London.—The war office today issued the following statement on military operations:

"In the Arsa Valley we occupied some positions between Romini, east of the Mezzata Peak and on the Loraspur, west of Monte Pasquido. Rifles, ammunition and bombs were captured from the enemy."

"Along the Posina-Astico front there has been artillery activity on both sides."

"Attacks by enemy detachments in the regions of Otaglia and Monte Spini were repulsed."

"On the Asiago Plateau we maintained our pressure against the enemy's positions."

"In the Carnia region and on the Isonzo the artillery activity was especially intense along the upper But."

"Explosions and fire were caused by our batteries at several points on the enemy's line."

NO HELP FOR THE MEXICANS FROM JAPANESE GOVERNMENT AS TOKIO OFFICIAL ASSURANCE

[Canadian Press.] Tokyo, June 23.—"Of course any claim that the Japanese Government will assist Mexicans with munitions and arms is out of the question and absurd," said Baron Ishii, foreign minister, to a correspondent of the Associated Press, who asked him today for his views on the Mexican situation. The interview was sought on account of reports attributed to Mexicans that assurances had been received from Japan that munitions and other assistance would be given to Mexico in the event of war with the United States.

Japan is Pacific.
"Let me say this with all the emphasis and earnestness at my command," said the minister. "The Japanese nation sincerely hopes that armed conflict between the United States and Mexico may be avoided. Japan's interest in America, north, central and south, being essentially pacific and commercial, any event bringing disturbances into the American market would be felt keenly in Japan. This is especially true at a moment when the whole European trade is virtually closed to Japan and the Chinese market is seriously upset."

Never Heard of Turbure.
Baron Ishii expressed surprise and mystification when the correspondent referred to Gen. Ramon Turbure, a representative of Gen. Carranza, who was reported several weeks ago to be on his way to Japan on a secret mission. The baron declared he never had heard of Gen. Turbure or his projected visit. He explained that he regarded the Carranza Government as the de facto government of Mexico, and that the usual relations with Gen. Carranza were being maintained.

NOTABLE MILITARY WEDDING TAKES PLACE AT GODERICH

Mary L. Macdonald Wed.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

society event took place yesterday,

and Mrs. Macdonald, "Strathdown," Goderich, and Robertson Young Mac-Lean, lieutenant in the 161st Battalion,
C. E. F., London.

The wedding was military, and fully choral, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Rev. J. B. Fotheringham, M. A. The choir consisted of the bride, Miss Phyllis Nordheim, and Miss Helen Brough of Toronto, both attired alike in lovely blue crepe and taffeta dresses, mid-Victorian style, wreaths, and carrying old-fashioned bouquets of pink roses and blue forget-me-nots, and wearing the gift of the groom, gold and sapphire pins.

The bridesmaids in turn were followed by two little flower-bearers, Miss cap, which he and the little girl scattered in front of the bride as she proceeded up the aisle. The bride entered on the arm of her father, attired in the wedding dress of her grandmother, the late Mrs. Secker Brough, which was of white satin and limerick lace of mid-Victorian period, and wearing rare old lace mittens of her great-great-grandmother's, and the beautiful lace veil of her mother's, which was surmounted by a wreath of orange blossoms and white heather. She carried a lovely old-fashioned flower-holder, filled with lily-of-the-valley, and wore the gift of the groom, a gold watch bracelet, and also a pink topaz and diamond necklace, the gift of her father.

After the ceremony a large reception took place at the home of the bride's father, where Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald received the guests. The latter wearing a beautiful gown of oshes of roses in moire and georgette crepe, with touches of pale blue and pink, and carrying a bouquet of pink roses. Later on the day Mr. and Mrs. MacLean left for a honeymoon trip to eastern points, the bride wearing a smart going-away suit of putty-colored crepe, with touches of pink, and pink hat with blue flowers.

talion, and Mrs. Combe, and Mrs. M.
MacLean, mother of the groom; Mr.

HURONS' DECORATIONS EQUAL OTHERS' SHOWING

Members of 161st Beautifying Squad
Work Overtime to Catch Up.

Now that the boys of the 161st (Huron) Battalion have fairly settled in their new homes at Hillcrest, they are making every effort to catch up to the other battalions in the matter of decorations. Large numbers of flowers and plants were bought several days ago, and they are now busy planting them.

In front of the officers' quarters is a raised bed of colored plants. The battalion's name, "Hurons," is spelled out offering a relief from the plan adopted by other battalions of using white-washed stones. Many of the tents now have a flower bed in front of them.
Some of the company orderly rooms have their company initials in white stones before the doors. One of the sister lines has a pathway to each tent outlined, and a few have paved them with bricks.

Whitewashed ropes and posts have now been placed around the officers' quarters, and down some of the lines.
The whole gives to the camp an appearance which fully equals that of any of the battalions who have been in camp for far longer periods.

PIPERS BANDS AND SCOTTISH DANCERS FEATURED CONCERT

Soldiers' Comfort Fund Increased Largely.

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAM

Musical Numbers by Highlanders Made Great Hit With Crowd.

One of the largest, if not the largest, pipe bands ever seen in London played at the Scotch band concert in Victoria Park last evening, when the massed pipers of the London pipe band, the 161st and 142nd Battalions, and the pipers of the Medical Corps, accompanied the little Scotch dancers in their dances.

A band concert with Scottish dancing and pipers was an innovation, and the novelty attracted a large crowd of people, who thoroughly enjoyed the program. The dancers performed on the green in front of the bandstand in a square formed by the spectators, and made a pretty picture.

The dancers presented seven numbers, the majority of which were either Scottish reels or the Highland fling, and were repeatedly encored. Those taking part were Marian Black, Irene Anderson, Kathleen England, Kenneth Dunley and wee Sammy Munro, who won the hearts of his audience with his dancing of the "Shuan-Trewes."

Mayor H. A. Stevenson, who introduced the dancers, made a short speech, and at the conclusion of the program the Lord Roberts Chapter, I. O. D. E., under whose auspices the concert was given, presented each of the dancers with a sterling silver maple leaf pin.

In the pipe band were 21 pipers and several drummers. This band was under the direction of Pipe-Major Johnstone of the 161st. The band of the 161st was under the leadership of Bandmaster Scott.

To Help Soldiers.

The proceeds, which amounted to $286.50, will be turned over to the soldiers' comfort fund.

The program presented was as follows: "Bonnie Brier Bush," march; American fantasia, "In Coolindale," march; "Rustication," (intermezzo);
two-step, "Here Comes Tootsy"; "Dianem," overture; march, "The King's Own," "God Save the King."

CANINE CAMP FOLLOWERS OBJECT TO SIR SAMMY

Strong for Rank and File, But Show Little Respect for War Lord.

Since the beginning of the war canine admirers of the men in khaki have been a feature of all places where troops were concentrated. London camp is no exception. If all the dogs which frequent the various camps were collected they would number in the hundreds.

Whether it is the coolhouse or genuine admiration for the men who are going to fight for their country which brings them there it is impossible for a human to learn. Apparently it is the latter, for even the cookhouse is deserted when the battalion band turns out for parade.

Large dogs are no respecters of person. They care no more for the major-general than for the private, and in fact, several of the review made known their disapproval of Canada's minister of militia by barking and snapping at his horse's heels. The marshal of the field did his best to remove them, but a galloping horse held no terrors for them, and they remained throughout the manoeuvres.

In the past, drastic measures have been necessary for the removal of these useless patriots. Many of them are responsible for the "involved" markmanship of officers in the first and second contingents. Queen's Park, too, had its quota of targets during the winter.

If camp authorities again order the removal or disposal of the canines, only the battalion mascots will be left.
These are in the class by themselves. Nobody dares order them executed. Usually they are one of the larger types of dog, and their superiority to the camp "hangers on" is marked.
They do not bark and frisk about at every movement of the troops, but march quietly at the head of the centre of the band or sit sedately in the centre of the parade ground seeing that all manoeuvres are properly executed.

Board floors will be placed in a few of the tents and part of the orderly room will be floored.

Practically all the battalion is here now. Only about sixty sick and injured remain at Walkerton.

Although not newly arrived the battalion took part in the review yesterday. Lieut.-Col. Adam Weir acting as one of the brigade commanders.

MUSICIANS GALORE.

Musical talent is not confined to the band. All the battalions produce good musicians, and these make good use of the facilities offered in Y. M. C. A. and canteen quarters. Augmented by a few mouth organs a good orchestra is formed for a half hour entertainment between drills. Often there is no audience, but when there is applause is generous and prolonged. If a well known popular or patriotic tune is struck the audience has a habit of applauding by whistling and singing. Those who have mastered neither of these accompaniments keep time with their swagger sticks. Everybody enjoys it.

91ST MEN HUSTLE MAKING READY TO LEAVE FOR FRONT

All Given Passes Which Expire
Saturday Night—Sir Sam and Lady Hughes to Present Oxford Colors—Wellingtons Need Men.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

ST. THOMAS, June 22.—The 91st
Overseas Battalion will leave St.
Thomas for England within a few days.
The exact time is not yet definitely known. This information was handed out by Sir Sam Hughes at London today. The minister stated that the battalion would be in England inside of two weeks. The men returned to St.
Thomas from London at 1 p.m., and at once big preparations for getting away were commenced. Nearly all the men were given a leave of absence, and late tonight every train out of the city is carrying a number of one soldiers to their homes on a farewell visit. The men are taking their suitcases containing their belongings, and will return without them. All passes expire at 10 o'clock Saturday night.
Those who were away on leave prior to the orders being received have been notified to return at once.
The Elgin Battalion will be given a grand send-off. Already the city officials and others are making arrangements for the event. The battalion will march to the depot beneath thousands of flags, and undoubtedly accompanied by thousands of cheering citizens.
This will be the first time since 1866 that a battalion, full strength and marching kit, has left this city for the front, and such a scene will be witnessed by thousands of people for the first time. The soldiers all express themselves as pleased with the "marching orders."

SIR SAM AND LADY WILL HAND COLORS TO "OXFORD'S OWN."

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WOODSTOCK, June 22.—Sir Sam
Hughes and Lady Hughes will be in Woodstock on July 1, when the colors will be presented to the 161st Battalion
"Oxford's Own."
The colors have been given by the Boehmer Orr Company of this city, and Lady Hughes will make the presentation.

BRUCE BATTALION IS WELL EQUIPPED.

KINCARDINE, June 22.—The 160th Battalion goes into camp with the most complete outfit of any of the battalions training there, and all furnished by the contributions of the people of Bruce County. The Walkerton 24th of May committee this week put on the finishing touches by deciding to purchase five mess tents, each 30x50 feet, also a large tent for recreation, reading and writing, possibly 50x80 feet.
All this comes out of the net proceeds of the big day May 24 at Walkerton, which netted $1,400 after paying all expenses.

OXFORD BAND SO GOOD IT PLEASES EVEN SAM

Musicians of 161st Scored Unusual Triumph at Thursday's Review.

None of the battalion bands will claim first place without the brass band of the 161st Battalion having a try for it. The work is in charge of Bandmaster Scott, formerly leader of the 33rd Battalion Band. The Daily Press, while the battalion manoeuvres has brought the band to a high state of efficiency. Only three clarinet players are needed to complete this organization, and the bandmaster expects that from a musical centre such as London these will soon be forthcoming.
All kinds of march, popular and classical selections, are included in the repertoire, which Londoners had an opportunity of hearing at Victoria Park on Wednesday night.
These marches are popular and the men in the ranks soon pick them up.
They have nothing of their charm when whistled. Probably the most stirring is "The Bonnets of Bonnie Dunee." At the review on Thursday the rousing manner in which it was played made even Sir Sam keep time with his hand between salutes.
An added attraction of the Oxford's battalion is its pipe band. The members wear the Scotch bonnets, and today got their first practice in the early morning is apt to rile those who are not ardently Scotch, but when on parade the band breaks into a stirring highland tune no one can resist marching to. Well played music must shorten a long dusty march by hours.
The pipe band of the 161st is probably the largest in camp. It is composed of fourteen drummers and pipes and is in command of Pipe Major T.
O. Johnson.

REPORTED COL. WIGLE WILL GO TO CAMP BORDEN SOON

Likely To Be Engaged in Special Instruction Work.

Lieut.-Col. E. S. Wigle of the 18th Battalion and Lieut.-Col. McGregor, who will command the new Highland unit, were in the city yesterday making the review and incidentally see Major-Gen. Hughes.
It was stated to The Advertiser today that Lieut.-Col. Wigle will not go back to France on July 8, when his leave expires, but will be detailed for special instruction work at Camp Borden.
Lieut.-Col. McGregor will, it is stated, commence recruiting very shortly for the Highland Battalion.
Both officers left last night for Windsor.

RECONCILED TO LOSS OF GREATER PORTION OF OVERSEAS TROOPS

Citizens, However, Are Sore at Heavy Expense.

NO DEFINITE INFORMATION

S. F. Glass, M.P., Says That Hughes Did Not Discuss Situation With Him.

The citizens generally have reconciled themselves to the loss of the military camp. They are sore, very sore, for having squandered the money. It has been wasted, and there is no possible return for it.

Mayor Stevenson is hopeful that the camp will be of fair proportions, but has no definite information as to the number. There is certainly no chance that it will be 10,000, nor half of that number.

"Sir Sam complimented us on what we had done for the soldiers," said his worship. "I still am hopeful that the camp will be of good proportions."

Believes Major Portion Will Go.

"I feel certain that the major portion of the camp will go," said Philip Forcock, chairman of the utilities commission. "We have expended $15,000 or more on the camp, and did it willingly. There are large mounds and many wires constructed for the camp. These will have to come down if the camp is removed. It seems to me that there is a great deal of extravagance and waste of money in connection with the camps about the country. I am supplied at the outcome, but what can we do?"

William Gray, M.P., who should at least be interested in the welfare of London, and particularly as it is affected by the camp, is out of the city. What he knows about the camp is hard to discover. In any event, he was not here to greet Sir Sam Hughes, and ask him how things were coming.

Did Our Best, Says Glass.

S. Frank Glass, M.P., East Middlesex, saw Sir Sam Hughes for a few moments on Thursday afternoon, but did not discuss camp matters with him. Their conversation was about other questions.

"Sir Sam did not tell me anything about the camp, other than what I saw in the newspapers," said Mr. Glass. "We have done our best, and have done it before him, and have done our best. If the camp, or a portion of it, is to be removed, Sir Sam must have good reasons for so doing. It is expected that some of the troops will leave here next week."

REPORT PHENOMENAL SHOWING OF SILVER

Londons Interested in Premier Langmuir's Return From Inspection.

Londons Interested in the Premier Langmuir mine in the Porcupine district have returned from an inspection of the property with reports of a phenomenal showing of silver.

A blast fired by J. W. Cawson, one of the directors, is reported to have yielded ore which was said by experts to run $1,800 to the ton. Samples of this ore have been displayed to only a few men, including the manager of the Dome mine, who described the ore as wonderful. Silver has never been found in the Porcupine district before in quantities of any size.

Those who went on the trip were J. W. Cawson, E. C. Cullis, directors; J. P. Hunt, William Jennings and D. H. Gilles, shareholders, and J. A. McIntosh, president. Development work is under way and a mill capable of taking care of both barite and silver will be constructed in a short time.

CONDUCTOR BROKE RULES; AUTOIST IS DISCHARGED

Former Opened Doors While Car Was In Motion—Charge Falls Through.

George Marshall, driver of an automobile which struck James O'Farrell, 757 King street, as he was getting off a street car on the night of June 12, appeared in the police court today, charged with a breach of the traffic law in passing a standing street car. Marshall stated that the car was not stopped when he endeavored to pass, and that as he came up opposite the rear of the car, the rear doors opened and O'Farrell jumped off without waiting for the car to stop. Pte. Walter Stummins, a military policeman, who was getting off at the same time, declared that the doors were opened while the car was still in motion. He saw the automobile coming and remained on the step, but O'Farrell jumped and was struck by the machine. The case against Marshall was dismissed.

Magistrate J. C. Judd declared that the accident was really due to the carelessness of the conductor in opening the doors of the car against the regulations of the street railway company, before the car had stopped.

SPECIAL FUND FOR "U" OVERSEAS HOSPITAL GROWS

Between $500 and $700 Already Raised of $2,000 Required.

Dr. E. E. Braithwaite, president of Western University, who is acting as medical director for the special $2,000 emergency fund that is being raised for the Western University (No. 10) Stationary Hospital, announced today that between $500 and $700 had already been contributed.

The ready response to the appeal for the unit has been such that those behind it hope that the full amount of $2,000 will be raised before the unit leaves London. There are many uses and needs for this emergency fund, and in order to have the local unit prepared for any contingencies it was decided to raise one of $2,000.

TAG-DAY TO AID IN CITY MISSION WORK

One Will Be Held on July 15 to Raise Funds.

On account of the war curtailing the amount of subscriptions to the City Mission, the businessmen forming the committee in charge of the work have decided to make the appeal wider and go to the general public by means of a tag day, to be held on Saturday, July 15.

This work is endorsed by London's leading men of affairs and prominent leaders. Ministers of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist denominations have a place on the managing committee.

The mission is open every night of the year, and does a great work among the very poor and the outcasts of both sexes, reaching many of whom the churches have no access.

The ladies' organizations of the various churches are heartily co-operating in furnishing volunteer taggers for the occasion.

MAJOR DUNCAN STUART.

Major Duncan Stuart, junior major of the 135th (Middlesex) Battalion, C. E. F., is a soldier of not only many years' experience, but of two active campaigns as well. His military career started in the 7th Fusiliers of this city, for he served first as private in that regiment. After passing his non-commissioned officer's examination, he was made a corporal of the 7th, and shortly afterwards was given his commission as lieutenant.

When the Northwest Rebellion broke out, Major Stuart was in the ranks of the British Columbia, but he hastened to join the regiment, then on the Saskatchewan River. On his arrival at Moose Jaw, the news of 18th's capture had come in, and with it the prospect of active work in the field came to an end.

Joined 26th in 1890. In 1890, he took command of C Company, 26th Middlesex Light Infantry, and in 1897 was promoted to junior major of that regiment. The next year he became senior major of the 26th.

In 1899 he was appointed to the command of B Company, 2nd Battalion Royal Canadian Regiment, under Col. (now Major-General Sir W. D.) Otter, and served through the South African campaign. This regiment and the Imperial Light Infantry were the only two colonial regiments in the war.

The Royal Canadians were brigaded with the Cornwallis, Sherbrooke and Gordon (7th) as the 19th Brigade under Gen. Smith-Dorrien. The following official record of Major Stuart's service is taken from the War Office files.

STUART, D. E. M. (2nd Battalion, R. C. R.) South African War, 1899-1900. Advance on Kimberley. Operations in the Orange Free State, February to May, 1900. Landing operations at Paardeburg (17 to 25 February), actions at Poplar Grove (March 7), Driefontein (March 10), and the battle of the Tugela (22-23 February), May 5 and 6, and Zand River (May 10). Operations in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900. Including actions near Johannesburg (May 20), Pretoria (June 4), Queen's Medal with four clasps.

First into Pretoria. Major Stuart was one of the first, if not the very first, British soldiers into Pretoria on June 5, 1900. Having been ill after the battle of Doornkop (Johannesburg) he marched with the column until the day when Pretoria was reached, and was taken into the city on a cape cart. The Kaffir in charge missed his way and reached the city before the British vanguard. A Dutch woman directed the Kaffir to the house where British prisoners were kept, and where Major Stuart had the somewhat unique experience of being a prisoner of war for some time.

From this time onwards his hospital was removed to Burke's Hospital, in charge of Dr. Veale, a Canadian, who had become naturalized as a burgher of the 2nd Africaners' Republic. The kindness of Dr. Veale and his staff of Dutch nurses is remembered with gratitude by Major Stuart.

At Bloemfontein, Major Stuart was sent to Wunburg, then to Cape town, and later to England, where he was the guest of King Edward VII, then prince of Wales, in the convalescent home on the grounds of the Sandringham Palace. After one month's stay in England he returned to his regiment at Eerste Fabriek.

At Bloemfontein, during the advance to Pretoria, he was in command of the details of the 9th Division, in all about 1,500 officers and men. The 9th Division was composed of the 19th and Highland brigades.

In Charge of Prisoners' Camp. Before the return of the Royal Canadians to Canada, Major Stuart was placed in charge of one of the prisoners-of-war camps at Capetown and was for some months inspector of the burgher camps under Gen. Sir John Maxwell. The camps in this division being those at Krugersdorp, noted for its national monument where the annual gathering of the Dutch nation was held on Dingman's Day; Potchefstroom, where the war of 1841 broke out; Vryburg, on the borders of the Kalahari desert, and Mafeking, famous for its alleged siege.

Major Stuart afterwards commanded the Rand Rifles in the Doornfontein district, and was with them at the affair at Brakpan.

Left With Princess Pats. A few days after the outbreak of the present war he took 508 officers and men from the west for the Princess Pats. Later he was camp commandant of the Austrian internment camps at Banff and Castle Mountain. When the 135th Battalion under Lieut. Col. Bart Robson, was formed in December, 1915, he was appointed junior major.

Major Stuart wears the South African (Queen's) Medal with four clasps—Cape Colony, Driefontein, Abraham's Kraal and Johannesburg (battle of Doornkop).

Good Words for Boers. As a result of his South African experience, the major has only good words for the Boer generals. Both, whose splendid record since the surprise of the colonies of South Africa surprises no one who knew them.

"Everyone who knew Gen. De La Rey," says Major Stuart, "regrets his death under such circumstances. He was the chivalrous opponent of Gen. Buller, and when the latter was wounded and captured, he sent him to the British Hospital at Klerksdorp with the utmost care."

"In Gen. Beyers, too, South Africa lost a good soldier, although he was a bitter opponent of the British," declares the major. "When self-government was granted to the Transvaal, Gen. Beyers was elected speaker, and the English colonists and who knew his feelings, expected that it would be almost impossible for Beyers to give them fair treatment. They were disappointed, for Gen. Beyers proved to be most fair-minded and courteous, and it was largely owing to his attitude that the sections of the Transvaal Parliament were always marked by good feeling and cordiality between the English and Dutch members."

This added 5 points to the 161st Battalion's score, making its total 14.

CONSTRUCTION WORK OF VITAL IMPORTANCE

New Battalion Offers Opportunity for Those Barred Other Branches.

Response of recruits to No. 1 Overseas Construction Battalion, now being raised in Ontario, and for which Lieut. C. O. Fleming of Toronto is now signing on men here, will determine the length of stay the local men will make in this city. If sufficient numbers are enlisted the men will be outfitted here, and billeted until such times as they are ready to be moved to Toronto, the Ontario headquarters.

In all 550 men are to be raised in Ontario, the remaining members of the establishment being secured in Quebec and the maritime provinces. Every one of the officers of the unit is an engineer, some of them of international reputation. Lieut.-Col. Ripley, the commander, was the engineer in charge of the grade separation of the C. P. R. in Toronto. He was the builder of the Lethbridge viaduct and other important railroad works. The other and junior officers of the unit are all engineers of experience.

Speaking editorially of the unit, the Toronto Mail and Empire has this to say, in part:

Contractors' men and handy men of all kinds are needed, and the physical standards insisted on for the ordinary infantry regiments are in some respects relaxed. For instance, it is not necessary for a member of the construction battalion to have the first-class eyesight that is demanded of men who must handle a rifle. Handling a spade or hammer is not, perhaps, as exciting as manipulating a machine gun, but it is just as necessary for the soldier of the construction battalions to be able to keep open lines of communication, and they may do anything from building a bridge or a railway to filling sandbags. What the unit are, the military men, "soldiers and sailors, too," the construction corps are to the modern army.

LAMBTONS GET TASTE OF TRENCH WARFARE

Drainage Work Give Boys of 14thth Foretaste of Flanders.

LAMBTONS. Fatigue parties of the Lambton (14thth) Battalion are getting a taste of trench life. The clayey nature of the ground on which they are engaged makes a large amount of drainage necessary. Many new drains have been made, and fatigue parties are engaged in digging a new one which flows close to the battalion's quarters. Earth thrown up on one side of it gives it the appearance, from a distance, of a deep trench in Flanders.

Occasionally a Canadian service bat bobs above the breastworks, and adds greatly to the delusion. Working in military trenches is not a new thing. Water is quite as exciting as dodging snipers' bullets, and adds nothing to the good temper of those engaged. Snickers passing in the way have been offered a good job made to them, with chances to begin immediately.

161ST SEEKS REVENGE FOR DEFEAT AT BASEBALL

Will Have Lacrosse Scrimmage Tied to War Belt, It Says.

"London's Own" football team last night defeated that of the 161st, 2-0. The boys of the Huron County, however, promise to repay this as soon as the lacrosse schedule is in operation.

Lacrosse work in the 161st Battalion is in charge of Lieut. Roy Walters, who is in charge of the Toronto University lacrosse team for two years. Nearly twenty-five men turn out for practice, and excellent material is being developed. Among these are several for the London hockey team, is developing into a lacrosse player of some note, and all play their best. League matches will probably be played with a team of ten, although many are in favor of using the regular one, composed of twelve men. The ten-man team was adopted by the Association because of the difficulty in obtaining twelve lacrosse players in the smaller towns of the league.

No games have been played yet, Lieut. Walters, through illness, being unable to arrange for any. The first will probably be played with the 153rd Battalion some time next week.

GOING TO CAMP BORDEN. Ptes. Reid, Hood, Osborne and Jupp leave from the C. O. C. this evening for Camp Borden.

BROTHERS IN SERVICE. Mrs. Caton, Chelsea Green, has three brothers in the service of King and country in the C. E. F., Royal Navy and imperial army. Pte. Fred Haynes, the youngest, enlisted in this city with the 23rd Battalion and is now on the firing line.

Her brother, Seaman Harry Haynes, was for four years a member of the crew of the ill-fated battle cruiser Black Prince, that was lost in the recent naval battle in the North Sea. By a peculiar trick of fate he had Crassey, both of which were lost in the opening stages of the war. He is at present serving on a submarine.

The third brother, Trooper James of the 8th Hussars (Imperial Service), went through the battles of Mons, Hill 60, Neuve Chapelle and Langemark. At present he is in hospital in Ireland, injured in the thigh and arm from gunshot wounds.

NEW INSPECTOR. Major P. H. Deane, of all inspector general's staff, Toronto, has been promoted to be lieutenant-colonel with headquarters in Toronto. New duties assigned to him will cover all Eastern Canada.

LIEUT. MAYO TRANSFERRED. Lieut. Mayo, who has been for some time acting transport officer of the local A. S. C. details, has been transferred to the office of Col. J. G. Leighton, deputy inspector-general, Toronto.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES. Although there are no cases of measles in the newly arrived 160th (Bruce) Battalion, the battalion has been quarantined for a few days. There were a few cases at Walkerton, but they were left there when the battalion departed. The quarantine was placed on merely to make sure that the disease had not been carried to London, and not because of fear of an epidemic here.

WAS AMONG FIRST OF CANADIANS TO LAND
ON FRENCH TERRITORY

Lance-Corp. William Penhallurick of English street was left with the 5th Field Ambulance quota under Lieut. (now Major) Cameron Wilson and Fisher. This was the first body of troops to leave the city after the declaration of war.

The London soldier was attached to the first Canadian unit landing in France, and has since remained on duty with No. 3 Canadian Stationary Hospital. "Somewhere in France."

HALF HOLIDAY BROUGHT
MANY VISITORS TO CAMP

Civilians Inspect Lines in Great Numbers on Thursday Afternoon.

Yesterday's half holiday, following the review and inspection of the troops in the morning by Sir Sam Hughes, was naturally pleasing to the boys in camp, and they took full advantage of it, using the spare time to their own various purposes.

Impromptu baseball and lacrosse matches were soon in full swing behind the lines, and several football games were started. These offer the best chance for the boys to show their skill, and the goalkeepers are playing. Outside of the sport and exercise they afford their chief value in bringing out the material for the battalion teams and regular matches.

A half holiday also offers a chance for friends and relatives of the soldiers to pay an afternoon call. They took full advantage of it, and there was probably more civilians in the various camps on Thursday than at any time since the arrival of the battalions here. Visitors find

"ZEPPE" DETECTED BY SEISMOGRAPH, FOUND BY SEARCHLIGHTS, DRIVEN OFF

"There will be no more zeppelin raids over London."

"There has not been a zeppelin near London for six months."

"And the reason is that the searchlights and the aerial guns have stopped the zepps."

"This is the most striking statement made by William B. Robeson, the Port Huron inventor, who has returned from a ten months' visit 'somewhere' in France and somewhere in England."

"The two great new weapons of the Germans in this war," said Mr. Robeson, "were the zeppelin and the submarine."

"Both of them proved to be workable and dangerous. In both the war has developed a startling fight between scientists of one nation and those of another—each trying to outreach the other."

"Take the submarines, for example. They came out and sank ships. There was danger that they would soon do terrific damage to all the shipping. The Germans seemed to be ahead."

"The British then invented and sank nets, which trapped the submarines like so many fishes."

"Then the British were ahead."

"Then the Germans put a new prow on their submarines, a prow which tore the nets to pieces."

"The Germans seemed to be ahead again."

"Then the British went after the submarines in little boats and with hydro-aeroplanes. They now have a way of catching a submarine in a regular trap."

"Imagine four little boats in a square formation, with a hydro-aeroplane on each."

"In the central point of this square is a larger boat, which is the bait for the submarine. The submarine that sees this boat does not see the four others."

"There is just enough crew in the central boat to be able to work the wireless and get away."

"Trapping the Sub."

"Up comes the submarine and shoots the torpedo. As soon as the boat is struck the signal flashes to the four watching boats, and the hydro-aeroplanes leap into the air."

"The four boats drop chains, and these chains go round and round, and the boats and the hydro-aeroplanes draw in. The aviators know the submarine is within the area of that square, and often they catch sight of it. In a few minutes the submarine is surrounded by a circle of chains and nets, and it's caught like a rat in a trap."

"The zeppelin has come into the war in such a way as to tax all the resources of the British in their search for control as well as their skill."

"The raid in which bombs actually fell in London was enough to stir anyone. The bombs fell, as it happened, in a slum district which could be spared, so far as the old buildings were concerned, though it is too bad lives were lost. But it was reckoned that if the bombs had been dropped a few minutes earlier they would have struck Westminster Abbey or the Parliament Buildings."

"Now, to see a zeppelin in flight is to see a wonderful sight."

"On get used to ordinary balloons, and even to aeroplanes, I have been on grounds here where there were so many of them you wouldn't notice them any more than sparrows."

"But the zeppelin, which so suddenly showed its power to cross the sea, and was capable of unknown power of destruction, will always stay in the memory of those who have seen one."

The Zeppelins.

"The zeppelin is not an unmatched air-craft; the French and British have now driven even better controlled. But the Germans are said to have almost a corner on the best aluminum, and aluminum is vitally necessary for these craft."

"Well, we'll admit that the zeppelin is a wonderful thing. It has one defect as a war instrument—it is noisy, while the new British dirigible is noiseless."

"The coming of the zeppelin is first made known by seismograph—the instrument that is used in measuring earthquakes."

"And when London knows that the zeppelin is approaching, immediately the searchlights throughout the capital, now assigned to an area in the sky, begin to travel up and down."

"All the operators are watching the rays of the other searchlights, and the effort is to bring the zeppelin into focus of three searchlights, and then to open fire on him."

"The first effort of the British was to send a wireless current aloft to demagnetize the compass of the zepp, and thus mean the pilot lose his reckoning. In that case he would immediately mount, and as he ascended the fire of all the guns below would be turned on him."

"The next zepp that came over matched the British science with his own science. He carried a gyroscopic compass that could not be affected by the wireless."

"But by this time the system of air detection had been perfected. The Londoners were able to find the zepp. They were able to locate the airship out of town, so the guns could fire at it without the cannon balls doing a lot of harm in the city."

"And the British have guns that reach the zepp as soon as the three focusing searchlights make it a target on the black sky. For the lights that are used take note of the fact that the zeppelin loves cloudy nights, and the lights drive right through the cloud."

"I have been wakened up at night in London by the news. They're shooting at zepps! And I would sit up in bed listening to the firing all over the city. We would always wait until the firing ended, because there might be a sudden warning to get out."—Detroit Free Press.

AT "SIXTY-SIX"

"The days of our years are three score years and ten."

At 66 Kitchener stood within four years of the allotted span. Yet no one thought of him as an old man. At 64 he came suddenly face to face with the task "for which he was called to the kingdom," 64 years of preparation, two years of accomplishment; "so great the task, so short the term allowed." Then on the wings of the wind the soul of this man of the solitudes passed, and all the waves of the maddened sea boomed forth their requiem as they broke upon the rock-bound shore.

At 64 men look about them for some way of escape from the burdens and seek some easier way. Long ere even he had reached such an age the mighty Nelson finished his work and went out in a sunset of golden glory at Trafalgar. Wolfe, the hero of Britain's might on this continent, was but a youth when he slipped into the silence amid the roaring of the guns over the birth of a new British Dominion.

"That men may rise on stepping stones of their dead selves to higher things."

At 64 is a man not done with stepping stones?

A youth in service of France, when the German hordes swept over that fair land.

A young man exploring Palestine.

An officer of the dark ways of the East.

A relentless engineer-soldier, building year by year through drifting sands and killing heat.

An avenging angel sweeping over the Sudan, and their hearts beat once heaved and forever were still.

A great pro-consul with almost regal powers and splendor. Surely the stepping stones were all surmounted.

And from the top might he not see, as Moses saw from the top of Pisgah, "all the land of Judah unto the uttermost sea?"

One step more remained, and without fear, and asking no favor or help of man, at 64 the step was taken. Unto that place the people looked, and heard the voice that called for their sons, and to him the sons of the mighty went in countless multitudes. About him flocked a mass of men under 45 years of age, greater in number than all the population of England when Elizabeth and her sailor men smote the pride of all the world, even the fleet of Spain, and kept Britain free.

Five million men armed, drilled and drilling, a battle-line around the world. The homes of England inviolate, the throne secure, little children at school, June roses blooming, Yorkshire gardens all ablaze, Scottish hills sweet with the heather, and the glens asleep in peace, all the men away to his army.

Now, indeed, the stepping stones were past, but the vision beckoned on and on, "Come, my friends, 'tis not too late to seek a never world. Push off, and sitting well in order, smite the sounding furrows, for my purpose holds to sail beyond the sunset and the baths of all the western stars until I die."

At 66 men know him as the organizer of victory. On the hills in the moonlight a dog barks. The echoes of his voice are heard across the open fields. From another hill one of his kind answers, but men sleep on until the morning. So came the voices with their petty cries of carping criticism, but the sun rose and set, and the evening star shone out, and men continued in their faith as silently the ships bore them across the waters to France, and to the lines.

The souls of men must be touched by the power of some great soul ere ever a nation will arise and sweep onward with avalanche-like power to the fulfillment of a mighty purpose. It was the mystic of our strange national life that this soul whom men called cold and distant should revitalize the over-soul of our national life, and with great wisdom and wondrous patience, lead the mighty spirit of our Empire into the hard path of trained and desperate duty. In other centuries the Edwards and the Henrys led their armies forth to war, but he organized an Empire of four hundred million, shaped and fashioned it for "The Day," and so concerning those kings and princes of another day.

"But we—we reckon not with those whom the mere Fates ordain. This Power wrought on us and goes Back to the Power again."

At 66 what were the thoughts and purposes of his heart, and did they not cluster about the victory that was yet to come? Another organizer greater than he, a leader and a law-giver to a nation in its birth, came to where victory was within his grasp; then from the eternity spoke the Voice. "And the Lord showed Moses all the land unto the utmost sea, and said, 'I have caused thee to see it with thine eyes, but thou shalt not go over thither.'"

ALVINSTON.

ALVINSTON, June 22.—It is reported that Ptes. Gordon Riley and Archie MacEachern of the 7th Battalion are being drafted with others to go to France at once.

At a meeting of the school board on Friday evening, all the teachers were re-engaged for another term except Miss Coke who has resigned.

J. H. Lee has been appointed justice of the peace for the village of Alvinston. He is manager of the local canning factory.

MAN ON THE BENCH

BY DUFFIELD OSBORNE.

A bench in Madison Square is a rather comfortable loading-place of a summer evening—unless the park is crowded. Then it is less comfortable, though it may be more interesting.

On that particular night I smoked my pipe meditatively, thinking of things I had done and things I had not done. A man sat huddled up at the opposite end of my bench, too far away for me to care how dirty he was. I had merely glanced at him casually. I don't know why I glanced again; a mere wandering of the eyes, I suppose, but it was then that my attention became fixed. He was muttering to himself and shaking his bent head.

"Crazy," was my first thought. "I'd better find another bench."

Then he lifted his head and faced me with the doubting inquiry you see in a homeless dog that is used to being kicked. I suspect that my aesthetic side is supersensitive, and when you join that quality to a sympathetic nature you are apt to be uncomfortable. I hate the sight of suffering, and yet I can't always bring myself to avoid it. Instead of moving away I returned his silent inquiry.

He seemed of middle age and medium height. Matted black hair straggled from under a greasy cap, and a full, dark beard hid most of his face. He was swarthy and perhaps rather dirty faced, with heavy, roughly heven features. Only the eyes were noticeable, and these, though small, were of the deep blue, set far in under slazy brows, and peering at me with doubt, suspicion and dumb misery.

A foreigner, that was sure of—no Russian, perhaps a Jew. A moment later I answered his look in words.

"Do you speak English?" I said. "Do you need any help?"

"You can do nothing for me," he spoke with a dull, even intonation rather guttural, and with only the slightest accent. Then I knew him for an eastern European of some sort. A Frenchman, German, Spaniard or Italian of his class never spoke English so well. No one who was anything for me—no one who cannot bring the dead to life.

Once again the insanity hypothesis crossed my mind.

"Tell me," he went on, "have you ever seen little children mangled? Have you ever seen the face of a woman when she is dying?"

I shook my head slowly, sure now that the man was mad.

"Yes," he began again, "but maybe you can help me. I was a patriot, and perhaps you know what God thinks about some things."

There seemed nothing for it but to temporize so I said:

"Certainly I can listen, if you wish to talk. As for what God thinks, you know, perhaps as well as I."

"Yes," he said, "I know. He has me," he said in a low voice. Then he slipped nearer on the bench, and I sat still and controlled my face, that he might not see my repugnance. Once there was a time when I was a patriot, he went on. "I was in Little Russia, and I loved my country—oh, so much! Now there is no country for a man like me to love."

"Russia is passing through great troubles, but she will emerge free and happy," I said, conscious, as I spoke, of the conventional nature of my words. "Her exiles will yet be proud of her."

His thick lips curled behind his beard, showing his white teeth like a snake when it snarls. "I will never again be proud of anything. Once I was proud of all things—of my village, of Russia, of the world, of my country and their coming brotherhood—of myself, for did I not look to raise up the poor and to help those that are oppressed? Did I not fight for the cause? Yes, with the weapons of civilization—that is what the men I revered told me, and I believed."

He was silent, though his lips still moved, and I, finding nothing to say that was not futile, sat dumb, with the weight of a tragedy bearing down on my heart. At last he began again.

"Listen, and I will tell you of the things I did. Until I was twenty I lived in the village of my birth. Its name counts nothing, but my parents still live there, and the spels are very watchful. Then I went to the capital of our province, which also you need not know."

I found myself smiling at his caution.

"I could read, and the words of Russia, of the world, of my country, from pocket to pocket. I read them at night, by spluttering candles, with my blouse hung against the window. Then I went to that city of which I spoke, and the men themselves, listened to their burning speech, and gave myself to them for a disciple, or for a sacrifice if they thought best. Oh, but they were clever men, and their words were my food."

"In those days our province had a gentle governor, who was kind to the poor, but a few years ago, by a stroke of a new one came—a gruff soldier from the east. We were advised by our brothers to beware of him. He was not a good man, but he, too, was clever."

too clever for us and for himself—too clever, alas, for me! After that the rooms where we met were darker, and we slunk to them by darker ways that we might listen to the burning words of our listeners. Oh, but that governor's ways were darkest of all!

"For a while he did nothing. Then, in one night the soldiers surrounded three of our meeting-places—all but one. Forty-seven of our comrades they took, and the printing press, and much paper with the words on them. Perhaps we had set down too many of our thoughts, for these were of war—not against the Little White Father, who was misled, but against the men who deceived him and would not let him know and relieve our needs; but the governor laughed, and, saying our words were war, he forbade that our comrades should be tried by the courts of peace. He and his officers tried them, listening to what they pleased, and forty-seven went to Siberia or to the mines."

"I have told you how there was one meeting he did not catch, and this was the one that I attended, and we went to it as usual, for a few weeks, till all was quiet again. Then it was whispered to us that a great and good man was come from Moscow to tell us their heads together of the wicked governor. Cursing still, we asked what we must do to be men altogether—men worthy of liberty. Then he took from his clothes, very carefully, the little iron eggs."

"It is from these," he cried, "that the liberty of Russia must be hatched, the liberty of the poor over all the world is there one of you half-men who is brave enough to play the hen?"

"I was full of the fire of his eloquence, and said very quietly:

"I am one who is a man. Only tell me what I must do."

"I cannot tell you how calmly I said it, for there was no blood in my veins only fire. After he had looked at me closely a while, he said:

"You will do. Wait!"

"So I waited, feeling now hot and again cold, till one by one the others had slipped out and gone away, all but three—the big man from Moscow and two of our leaders. They sat with their heads together, and I waited for a long time. Then they called me over, and the big man said:

"Brother, you are happy in being chosen to do the work of freedom. Here, I give you the little egg of liberty that shall make all men equal. Keep it carefully in your clothes. Tomorrow you shall go at midday to the house of the great man, Vasil, and when your tyrant shall drive by in his carriage you shall throw the egg beneath it and run away. If you do not run fast enough, if they take you, you shall say nothing of any of us, unless you are a traitor to the great cause and to mankind."

"I loved him to him, took the little bomb and went home. All that night I lay awake. I felt courage and also a little fear, but when the hour came I went out into the street, as I was ordered, near the great Church of St. Vasil. The crowds went by me, but I did not see them, for I was waiting for the carriage to come. I waited long I waited, but at last it came, with a guard of two Cossacks."

"Then I took out the bomb, wrapped in a bit of cloth, and as the carriage came near, I raised my arm and threw it. Oh, God, what a scene! The noise and the smoke and the smell! The two Cossacks lay on the ground, one very still, the other screaming, his hands before his eyes, which were torn out. At my feet writhed a little girl, with one arm blown off, and a woman threw herself upon her and shrieked and shrieked. All around were poor men and women and children covered with blood, running, twisting about or lying still. Amid the pieces of the carriage and the kicking horses lay the new governor, his face, set and stern, looking straight up at the sky, and both his legs gone. I am sorry that I ran away, and that no one stopped me."

He ceased speaking and rocked back and forth on the seat, holding his head with both hands and groaning. I could say nothing. Then he peered at me again with the look of the stray dog.

"Always since then," he whispered, "asleep or awake, I see nothing but the blood, and the little girl with her arm torn off, and the face of her mother while she shrieked. That was four years ago, and I know that it did no good. They sent a new governor down, and all was the same—only God hates me. How He will punish me, I do not know. Some day I will shoot myself and find out. When the bullet is in my head, perhaps I shall not see such things any more!"

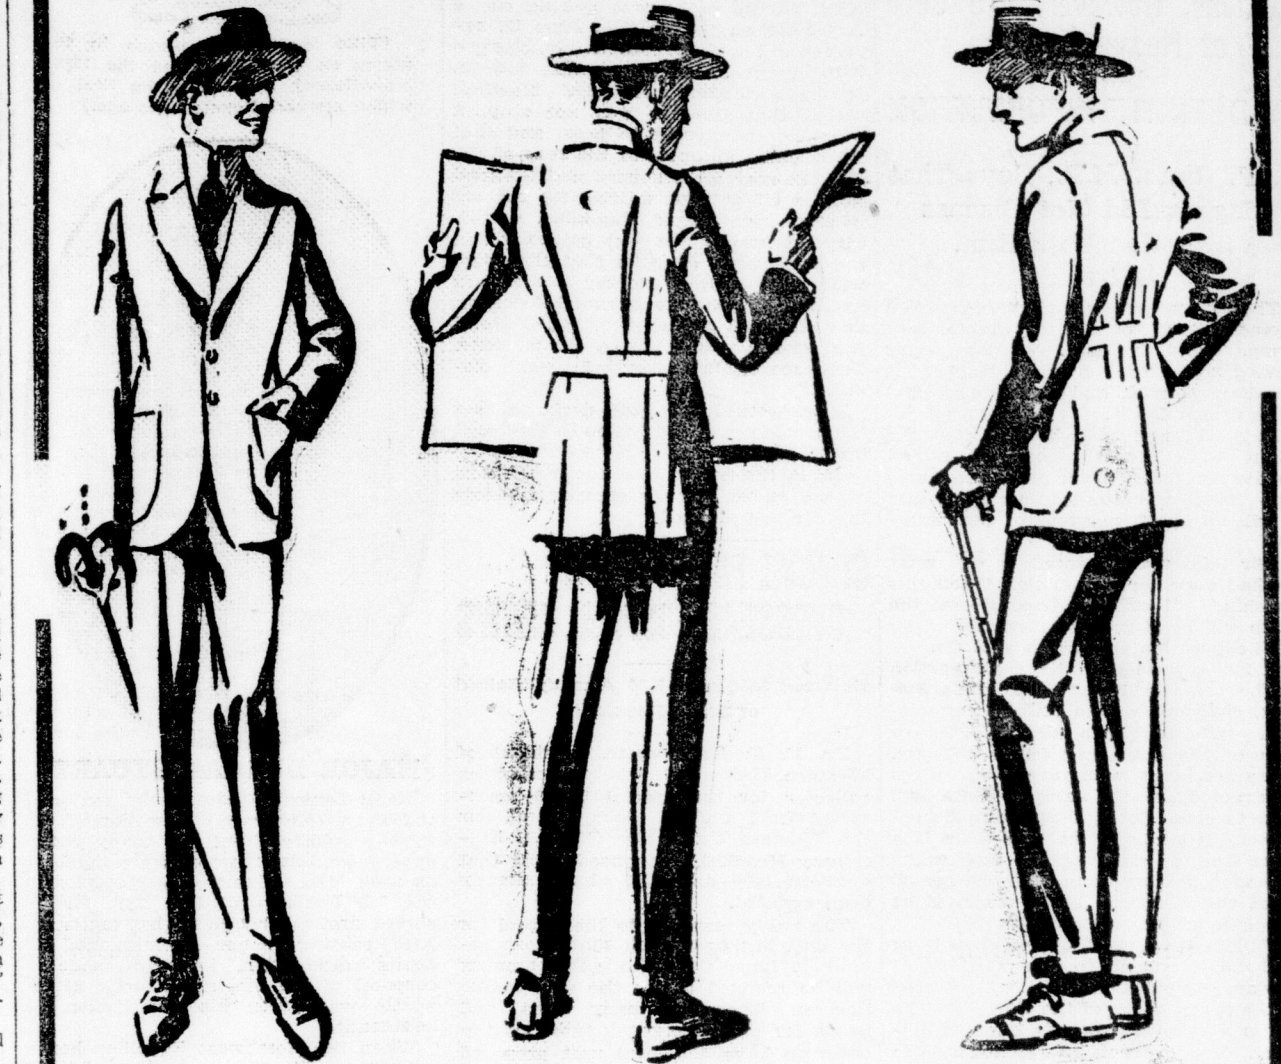

Still I sat silent and watched him, like a bird charmed by a snake, disbelieving myself because I could say nothing. When he had looked at me again his eyes shifted, and he got up and shuffled off.

HOLLAND PREPARES TO MOBILIZE THE WOMEN

Will Keep Essential Civil Life of Nation Going in Event of War.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, June 22.—The women of Holland are to be prepared for instant mobilization in case of war to keep the essential civil life of the nation going, as well as perform such service behind the lines as that of the Red Cross.

Under the scheme now drawn up the National Women's Council of the Netherlands is arranging for inscription of women to be opened all over the country, where all the available female labor forces can be registered and classified on the card system. It is to be left to each woman volunteer to say whether she would desire a salary or not, and whether she has any objection to transferment from one place to another, while she is entirely free in her choice of the nature of the work. As, however, there is likely to be a superabundance of offers for certain kinds of labor, the volunteer can register a second and even a third selection. No wage paid is to be less than that earned by the man replaced; on the other hand, the woman so employed may in no case claim the place when the emergency is past.

The plan has the entire approval of ministers and the commander-in-chief of land and sea forces, and the post-office, railway and other authorities have promised their co-operation in fixing the amount and kinds of labor that would be needed in the event of mobilization. The preparatory work of the women's registration is already in full swing in various centres of the country.

DRESS AND THE WAR.

[Canadian Press.]

BRELLIN, June 22.—The campaign of the Munich police president, of various generals commanding home departments, and of 35 women's clubs against women who dress too modestly and conspicuously does not meet undivided approval. Many newspapers have been printing editorials and letters from their readers protesting against the effort to modify feminine dress. One of these protestants is an officer of a battery of artillery in

"He who has experienced for himself at the front something of the much discussed 'gravity of the times' does not wish at any price to see all the beauty and joy of life destroyed by an ashen grey Puritanic mood. We think with gratitude of the women whose beauty our eyes delighted in during a short rest at home from the burdens of the war, and we forbid, with all the straightforwardness of the soldier at the front, that anyone, even in his thoughts, accuse these women of lacking a proper appreciation of the earnestness of the war. You should ask the furloughed men, from general down to private, whether they would like to see Germany populated merely with spectacles from those 35 women's clubs."

GENERAL SIR SAM NICE TO SELF IN MODEST INTERVIEW

Taught Lawyers "I Won't Take Puppism."

STICKS WITH ALLISON

Names Sir Wilfrid Laurier in "Disreputable Little Clique."

[Special to The Advertiser.]
TORONTO, June 22.—"Kind of handed it out to them, didn't it?" quotes General Sir Sam Hughes, minister of militia, who spent this evening in Toronto, en route from London to Ottawa, when asked concerning the recent investigations before Sir William Meredith and Hon. Justice Duff, and Sir Charles Davidson respectively. The minister was well pleased with manner in which he had handled cross-examination counsel at both investigations. "Taught them," said he, "that I won't take puppism from the Angel Gabriel." "When do you expect the reports from the commissions?" Sir Sam was asked. "Don't know and don't care," he retorted. "It's a matter of supreme indifference to me, mere piffle, from start to finish."

Sticks by Allison.
"You still stick by Allison?" "Sam Hughes sticks by his friends," was the emphatic response. "Allison is one of the biggest and best men in Canada—and the cleanest, too. He has saved the country thousands of dollars and done splendid work. Allison has earned credit for what he has done and for the enemies and traducers he has made. Who are they, this disreputable little clique? Line them up and look them over for yourself." Here General Hughes enumerated the "traducers" of himself and Allison.

Does Not Love These.
He named among others Sir Wilfrid Laurier, F. B. Carvell, M.P., Stewart Lyon, John Ross Robertson, John B. Robinson and B. McNab, to each of whom he paid his respects in picturesque language.

Reverting to military matters, General Hughes spoke in eulogistic terms of the men in khaki whom he had inspected at Niagara and London camps, and was enthusiastic over the prospects at Borden Camp. Recruiting throughout Canada and particularly in Quebec was, he declared, "coming along in a most satisfactory way."

Sees Self in Movies.
Sir Sam reached Toronto on his special car with his personal staff late in the afternoon. He was the guest of a party of friends at the National Club for dinner, and subsequently attended a private production of the inspection at London portrayed in rapidly developed "movies." He left for Ottawa via Canadian Northern.

FRENCH AIRMEN SHELL 2 TOWNS EAST OF RHINE

Drop Bombs on Karlsruhe, 100 Miles From Nancy.

ALSO ATTACK MULHEIM

Fifty Shells Are Dropped On the Military Works
There.

[Canadian Press Cable.]
PARIS, June 22.—An official statement issued tonight contains the following regarding aviation:

"In reprisal for the successive bombardments carried out by the Germans the last few days on the open towns of Bar-le-duc and Luneville, our aerial squadrons have conducted several operations in enemy territory. On the night of June 21-22 eighteen shells were dropped on the town of Treves, where a great fire broke out. Today a flight of nine aeroplanes dropped 40 shells on Karlsruhe (175 kilometres from Nancy). Another group of ten aeroplanes set out to bombard Mulheim (on the right bank of the Rhine). Fifty shells were dropped on the military establishments at that town.

Fight With Fokkers.
"Pursued by a squadron of fockers on their return from Mulheim, our machines gave battle, in the course of which a fock was brought down. One of our machines was obliged to make a landing by reason of motor trouble.

"In the course of the day our pursuit aeroplanes likewise displayed activity. Sub-Lieut. Nungesser brought down his eighth aeroplane, which came to earth at Lamorville in our wire entanglements.

"To the south of Libona a German aeroplane simultaneously subjected to machine fire by Sergt. Chaiat and Sub-Lieut. Guynemer, crashed to the ground. Sergt. Chaiat had brought down up to that day four aeroplanes; Sub-Lieut. Guynemer nine.

"In the region of Elneville, north of Luneville, an enemy aeroplane was brought down by the fire of our artillery.

"The two German aeroplanes which fell yesterday morning to the north of St. Michel and near Fort Genicourt, were brought down by Sub-Lieut. Chaiat, who had accounted for six enemy machines up to that time."

SALONIKI FRONT BECOMING ACTIVE; BULGARS ADVANCE

Allied Airmen Give Pursuit to German Aeroplanes.

PARIS, June 23—1:05 a.m.—A Havas dispatch from Saloniki says that there is intense activity of the artillery of the central allies all along the front. Engagements between the patrols are increasing.

Extensive movements of the central forces are reported between Trupa and Osin.

Allied aeroplanes have bombarded the Gumudjima-Veles camps. French aeroplanes, the dispatch adds, drove off three German machines which were proceeding toward Saloniki.

The Bulgarians, the dispatch adds, have made some advance.

Snow Avalanche Covers Railway Many Feet Deep

Traffic in B. C. Tied Up—
Columbia River Rising Rapidly.

REVELSTOCK, B.C., June 22.—A great slide came down this morning and piled a mantle of snow and debris on the Arrowhead branch line of the C.P.R. Many feet deep, closing the line to traffic. It is expected traffic will be resumed tomorrow.

The water in the Columbia River here is within a few feet of the 1894 record, with prospects of a continual rise, owing to hot weather. No through trains from the west have arrived since Sunday. Passengers were taken east via the Arrow Lakes and Crow's Nest line today. In the west flood conditions are somewhat better.

ULTIMATUM FROM HYDRO ISSUED TO POWER CO.

Corporation Must Come to Terms or Have Export License Cancelled.

TORONTO, June 22.—That the Canadian Niagara Power Company will have to come to reasonable terms with the hydro-electric commission or stand a chance of having its license to export power to the United States cancelled, was the report obtained from a semi-official source today.

The hydro-electric commission insists that 50,000-horsepower be sold to it by next December. Some 32,500-horsepower has been offered by the company at $15 per horsepower. This price is regarded by the hydro as out of the question. It is said that the company is getting from $20 to $25 in the United States.

TRENCHES REGAINED IN GALLANT ATTACK BY WELSH FUSILIERS

LONDON, June 23.—12:16 a.m.—A British official communication made public at midnight says:

"Early this morning (Thursday) the enemy exploded an exceptionally large mine in the neighborhood of Givenchy, just north of La Hassee Canal. The explosion was followed by a hostile bombardment of our trenches, under cover of which the enemy entered our trenches on a narrow front. Troops of the Royal Welsh Fusiliers immediately delivered a very gallant and successful counter-attack, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy and driving him completely out of our positions. Considering the size of the mine and the intensity of the fire our total casualties were comparatively light. Since then the situation in this neighborhood has been quiet.

"Farther south, during the night (Wednesday) we exploded a mine in the neighborhood of the Hohenzollern redoubt and occupied the lip of the crater.

"Today (Thursday) passed quietly everywhere. Southeast of Arrmentieres our artillery was successful in silencing enemy guns which were shelling behind our lines near the Ploegsteert wood.

"Yesterday (Wednesday) in the air there was a marked decrease in activity by the enemy, while our machines carried out a great deal of successful work in co-operation with the artillery."

Law in the Way of Appointment of Lloyd George

Prevents More Than Four Principal Secretaries Being in Commons.

LONDON, June 23—3:19 a.m.—It has just developed that the principal reason for the delay in appointing David Lloyd George to the war office is a technical one. There exists a statutory prohibition against the presence in the House of Commons of more than four "principal secretaries of state," and Mr. Lloyd George's appointment as Earl Kitchener's successor would bring the number up to five.

The other members of the House of Commons holding these high offices are Sir Edward Grey, Andrew Bonar Law, J. Austen Chamberlain and Herbert L. Samuel.

Unless one of these ministers goes to the House of Lords, a re-arrangement of the cabinet offices or the amendment of the act of 1853, which contains the prohibition, will be necessary before Mr. Lloyd George takes up his new office.

GOVERNMENT TO PROVIDE MEN ARTIFICIAL LIMBS

Ottawa Warns People Against Petitioners for Such Funds.

OTTAWA, June 22.—Funds to buy artificial limbs for soldiers are being solicited by certain people in different parts of the country. The military hospital commission says no attention should be paid to such appeals.

"It cannot be too widely known," states that secretary, "that the most ample provision is being made by the Government for the latest and best types of artificial limbs both in Canada and in England for all members of the forces who have suffered amputation. A special factory is being established in connection with the convalescent home in Toronto for the manufacture and fitting of artificial limbs."

UP TO MR. GRAY AND MR. GLASS.

SECURE in the promises of William Gray, M.P., S. Frank Glass, M.P., and the local Conservative powers that be, the city of London had settled down to forget its camp removal "scare." These members of Parliament, taking upon themselves the responsibility for the continuance of the camp in this city, have issued a number of statements, no doubt in the best of faith, indicating that this city would have all the troops it wanted or could care for. No matter what the wording, the impression was given that there would be no serious diversion of troops from London, and that, according to one of the "pledges," we would have at least 10,000 men in the city.

The city made every provision for the handling of the troops, both from municipal and commercial standpoint, and large amounts of money were expended or promised and a considerable area of land secured. The city was prepared to do everything possible to make the camp ground a proper place for mobilization and training. But along comes Sir Sam Hughes, and, without a word of apology for Mr. Gray or Mr. Glass, announces that the greater part of the troops will be moved to Camp Borden.

The minister of militia should know the best place to train troops, and there is much to be said for Camp Borden. But there is little to be said for Mr. Gray and Mr. Glass, and little to be said for the policy which brought the troops to London and then, after tens of thousands of the city's and country's money had been expended, decided to move them to a point where they will be beyond the reach of friends and relatives up to the time they leave for overseas.

If London had been given a hint that the Camp Borden move was contemplated, London would not now feel itself to be the laughing-stock of Western Ontario. Mr. Gray and Mr. Glass would not feel as humiliated as they do at the present time, and there would not be a feeling throughout the city that the minister of militia has played ducks and drakes with the mayor, the board of trade, the troops and the citizens.

Perhaps if London had a man strong enough to have faced Sir Sam Hughes yesterday and told him what citizens thought of his treatment of the city there would be a different story to tell. Perhaps Sir Sam would have changed his chameleon mind again and decided that, except for brigade drill, 1,500 soldiers would suit the situation handsomely. But everyone fears Sir Sam, it would appear, as though he were a jackboot general ready to ride his horse over the first man who opened his mouth, at the same time berating his officers and calling for three cheers for the King for the benefit of "his boys." Certainly Mr. Gray and Mr. Glass were not on hand to settle the matter for London, as they were supposed to have settled it at Ottawa a few weeks ago.

London is not complaining over the removal of soldiers to a tract where they can be made more efficient soldiers; it is complaining about the method adopted and the fact that the city's services are to be naught through official blundering and the inadequacy of our political influence at Ottawa.

A GREAT RED CROSS "DRIVE."
GOOD generalship, resourcefulness, efficiency, patriotism, the team spirit, and last, but by no means least, a loving desire to minister to the men who suffer in fighting the battles of Empire, have triumphed once more, and the London branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society finds itself in less than schedule time with a mammoth task undertaken a few weeks ago almost completed.

This task has been nothing less than a contract to supplement the Government's supplies for the Western University Hospital unit, with between 227,000 and 230,000 articles, all packed, and ready to take away, within a month's time.

The articles in question have ranged all the way from pneumonia jackets, socks, bed-socks, shirts and dress-gowns, to sponges and cheesecloth handkerchiefs, not in dozens, but in hundreds and thousands.

Moreover, there has been the question of financing to consider, a matter of $12,000, and for this required amount the special fund has been drawn upon.

With the consciousness of power, of ability to accomplish, achieved in the past two years' experience in regular Red Cross work, the executive decided to undertake the immense contract. With the loyalty and devotion to the work which has steadily grown as the months have gone by, the women of the city rallied to their support, cheerfully giving up their time and shelving less pressing tasks for the one big duty which could not wait.

One hundred to one hundred and thirty women have gathered daily in St. Andrew's Hall to make up surgical supplies, and in the past two weeks an average of about one hundred have worked deftly and rapidly each evening as well.

At the Red Cross tearoom the members of the Sir John Carling Chapter, I. O. O. F., have looked after the giving out of cut-out garments, and been responsible for forwarding them completed to St. Andrew's Hall, where all packing is done.

More than three hundred and fifty boxes, 27x18x20 inches, all labeled and ready to forward, testify to the progress that has been made.

The big chart on the wall, with the list of articles required, has in many places the significant word, "Completed," which further bears out the statement of the skillful general, Lady Beck, that "daylight is at last in sight."

From the big June "drive," which has meant such satisfactory achievement, the workers will turn back once more to the two days a week for Red Cross work, now a matter of routine, as much a part of their lives as sleeping and eating.

If the war has drawn attention particularly to the German quality of efficiency, the lesson is driven home in watching the Red Cross workers, who, notwithstanding their numbers, go about the tasks set them, quietly, accurately, and without the slightest confusion. Everyone seems to slip naturally into her place in the great machine of accomplishment. The officers, who direct operations, do so with swiftness and sureness, yet without hurry. Each article is cut with mathematical precision, each bandage made in just a certain fashion, and the necessary twist for closing a bag of dressings has become an automatic movement.

The labeling of boxes is beautifully clear and regular, and a mistake in forwarding under such conditions is inconceivable.

The work of the Red Cross Society in preparing the huge order for the Western University Hospital unit spells courage, efficiency and patience. It reveals something even finer and better, the fact that Canadian women have learned to pull together, to lose sight of themselves in devotion to a great cause, when animated by a great impelling motive of love.

It has proved unmistakably that Canadian women can rise to any demands made upon them, and that in this wartime service they have received the training to fit them for the larger sphere of public service which they are destined to occupy in the future.

WAS IT SOLDIERLY?
MAJOR GENERAL the Hon. Sir Sam Hughes is head of the Canadian militia. In view of his wholehearted and ruthless condemnation of staff officers in London yesterday, blatantly delivered in the presence of all the battalion officers of the district, how he reconciles his action with King's regulations and orders is puzzling a good many.

Naturally, Sir Sam is a wonderful man. He says so himself and he ought to know. He has explained that he did not instruct the late Earl Kitchener how to run the war, but that was a mere oversight, according to those who know Sir Sam. The only explanation that can be given of his local action yesterday is that he is a supreme being, whom K. R. and O. does not touch.

Sir Sam "called" officers as if they were mere school boys yesterday and he did it in the presence of their juniors. On this point K. R. and O. has something interesting to say.

In section VIII, paragraphs 347 and 348, the following appears:

Par. 347.—An officer of ANY rank will adopt toward his subordinates such methods of command and treatment as will not only insure RESPECT for authority, but also foster the feelings of self-respect and personal honor ESSENTIAL IN MILITARY EFFICIENCY.

Par. 348.—COURTESY IS INDISPENSABLE TO DISCIPLINE. Commanding officers should not only bear this in mind, but they should circulate the principle in those UNDER THEIR COMMAND.

Whenever it becomes necessary to check carelessness or neglect of duty, admonition or reproof (unless the occasion demands public example), SHOULD BE CONVEYED PRIVATELY.

Soldiers who witnessed the review on Carling Heights on Thursday morning declare that there was absolutely no demand for censure, let alone public censure of the typical Sam Hughes brand that was hurled at the officers, and that the action of the major-general was a violation of the first principle of discipline. The effect was offset somewhat, it is admitted, by the reputation of the man who did the censuring, but at the same time the prestige and efficiency of the officers reproved by the war lord of Canada has naturally not increased.

It must be said for the newspapermen present that they did not endeavor to make a sensation of Sir Sam's action—much as he would have liked it. Laymen though they may be, it is more than evident that they are more aware of the real worth and devoted service of the staff of No. 1 Military District than Sir Sam Hughes. Untrusting in their labors, courteous, efficient, held at home when they would be at the front, they have done those things which the cheap public horseplay of Sir Sam Hughes cannot tear down. But it is ever Sir Sam's delight to throw humiliation upon gentlemen.

London has got more or less used to Hughes' outbreaks. Last summer he called a commanding officer, one of his own appointees by the way, "an honest old duck" in the presence of his men. The fact that the battalion subsequently acquired considerable publicity through the action of some of its members was a not-to-be-wondered-at sequel. Just how much the words of Sir Sam affected the future of this unit is a problem no one can answer. That he personally could be charged as being guilty of complicity in its future acts is a seemingly unanswerable contention. And the same conclusion applies to his action yesterday. It was not soldierly or becoming to the chief of Canada's forces, to say the least.

EDITORIAL NOTES.
London sees through a glass grayly when it comes to influence with Sir Sam Hughes.

Few people would treat their dogs the way Sir Sam Hughes treats his officers on occasions.

Some more Americans will echo Sherman's phrase about war if they have to spend a summer in Mexico.

I note that Friend Mederic, the mayor of Montreal, wishes he was out of office for a week.

So that, sacre bleu! he might just poke a few obstreperous reporters on the back.

They'll write up that Gentilhomme so he'll feel their sting, by gum.

Unless he's a hide that's extra tough. Folks like Mederic and Sam should learn to be more calm. Nor away on such hysterical flights to soar. For people nowadays are emerging from the haze.

And are learning that a donkey's bray is not a lion's roar.

The House On the Hill

BY EARL REED SILVERS.

Young Mrs. Jack Winter gazed long and sorrowfully at the little white house on the hill.

"If you'd only stop your foolish attempts to write short stories," she said to her worshipping husband, "you could make enough money at your business to buy that house in a few months."

"But perhaps I'll sell a story or two," Mr. Jack answered, "and then we can buy it anyway."

"You'll never sell a story," Her speech was brutally frank. "It isn't in you."

"My beginning to think so myself," Mr. Jack answered, "and then we can buy it anyway."

"You're only wasting time and money," I wish you'd get the foolish idea out of your head."

Mrs. Jack's tone betrayed long suffering. She had been married for six months, and during that time Mr. Jack had received eleven rejection slips. He was obsessed with the idea that he could write, but neither his wife nor his friends gave him any encouragement.

"Your stories sound funny to me," his college chum had told him once. "They're not like other stories, I've read. Why don't you have them and happily? That's the kind that sells."

"But in life," the budding author had retorted, "things don't always end happily. I try to make my stories true to life."

It was the same when he read his efforts to his otherwise adoring wife. "If I were you," she told him, "I'd give the chance to take up that big Morrison case just because you wanted time to finish a story and the thing came back two weeks after you sent it."

"I don't care," Mr. Jack spoke determinedly. "That story is going to make its mark some day."

"Well, I hope it does," she sighed. "But the law case would have given you at least a thousand dollars, and we could have bought the little house."

"Well, maybe I'll sell it yet," He drew his reluctant wife away from her dreamy contemplation of the much desired white cottage, and chatted about one hundred and one trivial things until they reached their rented apartment. In the mail box, he found a thick envelope.

"What is it?" Mrs. Jack spoke without enthusiasm. She had seen similar missives before.

"The 'Final Payment' has come back," he announced. "I'll send it out again tonight."

"I wouldn't if I were you," She spoke with a touch of sarcasm. "It's only a waste of postage."

Mr. Jack wisely refrained from replying, but made his way to the den, where he idly picked up a current magazine. On the title page, the announcement of a prize short story contest stared at him.

"One thousand dollars," he read, "will be given for the best short story submitted. The story must be unusual—the more out of the ordinary the better for our purpose."

Without saying a word to anyone, he inserted "The Final Payment" in an envelope and sent it to the magazine conducting the contest. Then he awaited results.

Meanwhile he maintained a discreet silence. He pushed himself industriously to his law business, and managed to secure one or two big cases, which promised to turn out exceedingly well.

"I told you that you were never meant for a writer," Mrs. Jack reminded him one evening, about two months after his prize story had been submitted. "Look at the money you are progressing. We ought to save a thousand dollars easily within the next two years. If you had kept on trying to write, we'd be worse off than ever."

Mr. Jack smiled, and went on his way. Then, one afternoon, his office mail brought an envelope stamped with the name of a certain magazine. It wasn't a long, thick envelope, but a short, thin one, and it contained something which made his heart beat furiously.

That night, at the supper table, he broached the subject to his wife. "Do you remember that 'Final Payment' story?" he asked.

"Yes," She showed little interest. "Well, I sent it to a magazine about two months ago."

"You did?"

keen disappointment in her voice, he led her to the wicker couch. "Do you know who bought the house?"

"I told you I didn't," She was still angry.

"Well," He paused a moment for effect. "It was Mr. Jack Winter!"

"What!" She looked at him with amazement.

"Yes," he continued, "yesterday I received a check for one thousand dollars for my story, 'The Final Payment.' It won first prize in the magazine contest."

They didn't bother about supper that evening, but walked together to the little house on the hill. After they had explored every nook and corner to their heart's content, Mrs. Jack turned with beaming eyes to her husband.

"I guess," she admitted slowly, "that short story writing does pay, after all."

JARVIS AND SILCOX WIN DOUBLES CHAMPIONSHIP

Elmwood Pair Capture Free Press Trophy—Chapman and Allen Get Barnard Trophy—Shea Trophy Goes to Connor and Ashplant.

London bowlers again demonstrated their ability on the greens and captured the three trophies in the Scotch doubles tournament. Each city club is represented in the prizes, the Free Press trophy being won by Jarvis and Silcox of the Elmwood Club, the Barnard trophy by Chapman and Allen of the Thistle Club, and the Shea trophy by Connor and Ashplant of the Rowing Club.

Out-of-town links were eliminated in the semi-finals in the whole three events. In the Free Press trophy events, Gray and Langford won out from Connor and Ashplant, 18 to 10, while Jarvis and Silcox got the long end of a 15 to 10 score from Wylie and McPhail of Brantford. The finals provided plenty of excitement, and the result was in doubt until the last bowl was rolled, when Jarvis and Silcox won out from Gray and Langford by one shot, the final score being 17 to 16. This trophy is emblematic of the championship of Ontario.

In the semi-finals of the Barnard trophy, Keene and Heaman defeated Lashbrook and Nightingale, 19 to 5, and Chapman and Allen won from Wylie and McPhail, 14 to 10. The finals in this event went to Chapman and Allen, who defeated Keene and Heaman, 18 to 8. Chapman and Allen were the winners of the premier trophy last year.

The finish of the Shea (consolation) trophy was also won by one point. In the semi-finals Turnbull and McDougall defeated Lashbrook and Nightingale, 19 to 5, and Chapman and Allen won from Wylie and McPhail, 14 to 10. The finals in this event went to Chapman and Allen, who defeated Keene and Heaman, 18 to 8. Chapman and Allen were the winners of the premier trophy last year.

FRENCH GOVT. CAME SAFELY THROUGH A SECRET SESSION

Particulars of National Defence Satisfy Government's Critics.

[Canadian Press.] Paris, June 23.—The French Government has come safely out of the ordeal of the secret session. The Chamber of Deputies at a public sitting last night gave the Government a vote of confidence by 440 to 57.

The secret proceedings, which extended over seven sittings, were welcomed both by the Government, which was enabled to explain its actions freely, and by its critics, who by reason of the exigencies of national defence had been unable to give particulars to support their complaints in a public session.

Check All Supplies. On the resumption of the public session several motions were read by the president, only one of which, however, was accepted by the Government. This was a lengthy resolution drafted jointly by the presidents of the different groups which after expressing confidence in the Government, set forth that the secret sessions had given the members of the Chamber a valuable insight into the general conduct of the war.

The Chamber had decided to institute and organize a delegation to exercise, with the assistance of the Government, a direct general check on all services supplying the needs of the army at all points, front and rear.

While having no intention of interfering with the conception, direction or execution of the military operations, the Chamber held it was its duty to see that preparations of an offensive and defensive nature, both industrial and military, were carried on with a care, energy and foresight commensurate with the heroic of the soldiers of the republic.

After the passage expressing confidence in the Government was adopted, the motion as a whole was passed 444 to 59.

A motion introduced by the Socialist, Leon Accambray, calling for the appointment of a committee of 44 to investigate and report on the conduct of the war and the relations between the high command and the public authorities, with a view of taking steps if necessary to organize and control Parliament in the best interests of national defence, was not voted on.

GERMAN CAPTAIN VIOLATED RULES, IS SPANISH VIEW

Sub Visited Interned German Ship in Cartagena Harbor.

[Canadian Press.] Madrid, June 23.—Great interest and curiosity is manifested over the visit of the German submarine to Cartagena, bearing a letter to King Alfonso from the German Emperor. El Liberal is skeptical concerning the explanation that the letter is merely one of thanks for the treatment shown the Germans interned from the Kamerun.

The paper points out the peculiarity of the choice of a submarine to carry imperial documents, and says that the commander of the undersea craft committed an offence against international rules by entering the port and communicating with the German interned ship Roma before the Spanish naval authorities were consulted. Premier Romanones, interviewed concerning the visit, says that the Spanish Government will not permit its neutrality to be brought into question under any circumstances, and will insist on the strict observance of international regulations concerning the entrance of belligerent warships into neutral ports. The letter which the submarine brought has not been turned over to the German embassy, and no further details have been learned regarding it.

CONSCIENTIOUS ONES REFUSED TO OBEY

Sentenced to Death and Late to Ten Years' Imprisonment.

[Canadian Press.] London, June 23.—The Daily News says that four privates in the non-combatants' corps—composed of men with conscientious scruples against fighting, who are detailed to work behind the lines—were court-martialed at Boulogne for refusing to obey orders and sentenced to death. The sentence was later commuted to ten years' imprisonment. The affair has caused a sensation, and will be taken up for discussion in Parliament on Monday.

He has been east on departmental work and spent a few days here with his sister, Mrs. George W. Stonehouse of the Bonquet town line. Mr. Boyle reports that prospects for a good crop in Western Canada are favorable.

WASHINGTON HEARS GERMANS ARE USING TORCH IN MEXICO

Attempting to Inflame Feeling Against States.

WILSON STILL CAUTIOUS

Officials Hoping for a Peaceful Outcome of the Situation.

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 23.—One fact stood out tonight at the close of a day of many developments in the Mexican crisis. Apparently, both the United States Government and the Mexican authorities of Mexico hope to treat the clash at Carrizal yesterday as an incident aggravating general strained relations, but not of itself likely to precipitate general hostilities. Whatever the Washington administration is concerned, no final decision can be reached until President Wilson has received a report on the fight from American army officers.

Preparations by the war department for possible war with the Mexican Government went forward here today without interruption. At the same time there came hints that General Carranza had been almost persuaded by European influences not to persist in a course certain to bring on a conflict.

Still Hope for Peace. Many officials here have not abandoned hope of a peaceful outcome, basing their hopes against war on reports that have reached them indirectly that the Carranza Government is inclined to seek a peaceful way out. Whatever the facts may prove to be when General Pershing's report arrives, it is certain that no steps toward reprisal will be taken, at least until that report has been carefully studied. One of the first actions would be to demand the release of the Americans said to have been captured.

A circular note addressed to the Secretary of Central American diplomats by Secretary Lansing in connection with the Mexican situation, was made public at the state department. The statement is a blunt assertion of the interests of the United States to defend "our national peace and the safety of our citizens," even at the cost of war.

To Counteract Carranza. General Carranza took pains to see that his charges of bad faith against the United States were widely circulated, both here, in Latin-America, and in Europe. Secretary Lansing felt it advisable to counteract this. It is known that the state department has received much indirect information tending to show that German influences have been busy in Mexico, Latin-America and in neutral Europe. It was suggested also that Mr. Lansing might have intended the circular note to head off possible offers of mediation.

HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE WHEN MERCURY SANK

Eight Hundred Aboard When the Vessel Hit a Mine.

[Canadian Press.] Petrograd, June 23.—The loss of life on the steamer Mercury, which was sunk by a mine in the Black Sea, has been undoubtedly large from late reports received in regard to the disaster.

The Mercury was travelling from Odessa to Kherson with 800 passengers, including a large number of college students, who were bound for their homes for the summer holidays. The vessel struck the mine thirteen miles from Odessa and two miles off shore in a rough sea. The bow was blown off, and the ship sank in five minutes. Only two lifeboats were launched and both, laden with passengers, were overturned. Thirty-three boats which were sent to rescue were unable to approach the scene of the wreck owing to the heavy sea, but succeeded in rescuing passengers who were strong swimmers, or who floated to them on fragments of wreckage. In this way a majority of the passengers were saved, but a large number are unaccounted for. Twenty-eight boats which were sent to rescue, but were unable to approach the scene of the wreck owing to the heavy sea, but succeeded in rescuing passengers who were strong swimmers, or who floated to them on fragments of wreckage. In this way a majority of the passengers were saved, but a large number are unaccounted for. Of the six, only three returned, two of them being hit while he was speaking to them. It was while dressing the wounds of one of these men that he was wounded.

Capt. Hahn was attached to the headquarters of the first division as interpreter. Recently he had been appointed staff captain to Brigadier-General Williams who is now a prisoner. INGERSOLL MAN WRITES Himself Saved by Steel Helmet Which He Had on Three Minutes.

INGERSOLL, June 22.—In a letter to his mother, which was written in the hospital at Boulogne, France, Pte. Henry Crotty, wounded in the recent heavy engagement at Ypres, mentions that his life was saved by a steel helmet which he put on only three minutes before being wounded. Following is an extract from the letter referring to the battle:

"I can't begin to describe what it was like. Suffice it to say that it couldn't possibly have been worse. They concentrated everything they could on a very small area, machine guns, rifle fire, artillery, trench mortars, 'sausages' weighing 140 pounds, consisting of high explosives with a very thin casing and also liquid fire. They tried to gas us, but the wind was wrong. At times the trenches seemed to rock like a ship. When the wind when they thought we were all accepting the hospitality of his satanic majesty, they started across at us again. They got about halfway when we soon convinced them of the error of their way. Some got back and then pandemonium reigned again. Well, they did that three times, then I got a crack on the dome with a piece of shrapnel and didn't take any more interest in the performance for a while. When I woke up from my little snooze I managed to bind up my head and get down to the dressing station. It was pretty tough going, too, as they shelled our communication trench all along, but I didn't get any more shrapnel."

"What saved my life was a steel helmet. I never wear one generally, but we found a couple in the trenches belonging to fellows that didn't need them any more, and I was told I had better put one on. Not three minutes after I got hit. It went through the helmet all right, but it changed the course of the piece, and instead of spilling my brain-pan it just irritated my skull for about two and a half inches."

NEW INGERSOLL PRINCIPAL. INGERSOLL, June 22.—The vacancy caused by the resignation of J. C. Smith, principal of the collegiate institute, recently appointed public school inspector for East Elgin, has been filled by the appointment of W. E. Shales, M.A.

Mr. Shales has been at the head of the science department for the past two years. H. G. Locke, M.A., of Kingston, has been appointed classical master.

NINETEEN GERMANS REFUSED CITIZENSHIP

Judge Klein in Walkerton Adds to Justice Clute's Long List.

KINCARDINE, June 22.—Of 21 aliens who applied to become British subjects at the general sessions before Judge Klein at Walkerton, this week, only three were accepted, namely, Elmer Strunk and Vrona Huernemann of Formosa, who were natives of the United States, and Jacob Hubner of Carriack, who was born under the French flag in the province of Lorraine. The other nineteen, who were born in Germany, had their applications laid over for another year, when if the war is still on, a further adjournment of their requests will likely be in order.

With Mr. Justice Clute turning down 45 German applications for British citizenship at Walkerton a few weeks ago and Judge Klein refusing another batch of nineteen this week, the chances seem slim for any more Germans getting papers in Bruce while the war is on.

No doubt many of these have voted at elections and enjoyed all the privileges of citizens under the French flag, aware that they were actually aliens. With the outbreak of the war and stringent ruling of the courts against the subjects of the alien country, the serious side of the great world tragedy has dawned on them, hence the rush to enroll under the British flag. In many cases this impulse is sincere.

At a meeting of the board this week it was decided that, after this, water-takers who pay for their domestic services on the 15th of July and 15th of January, six months in advance will get a 10 per cent reduction. An agreement for the purchase of hydro lights was entered into.

"Airmen flew over Imbros Sunday and successfully bombed aircraft sheds and two torpedo boats, one of which was set on fire. Three of the enemy's aeroplanes which attacked El Arish on Sunday were shot down. One of the pilots was captured."

Paris, it was reported, has many women working in the winery factory making khaki cloth.

Acknowledgment of assistance given London in forming a centre of emergency work was read, as well as a letter from the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, assuring the corps of "enthusiastic co-operation."

A company had asked for 75 women munition workers at the same rate of pay as men, it was reported. They are to make 18-pounder shells.

J. M. Godfrey, president of the Canadian National Service League criticized the Dominion Government for lack of leadership, and added that present recruiting methods were useless. It was like "thrashing a dead horse, to try and get recruits by the existing system, he said.

LUTZOW AND ROSTOK SANK ON WAY BACK

Berlin Says This Why Loss Was Not Recorded at First.

ROTTERDAM, via London, June 22.

2:35 a.m.—The Courant today, in an article gives what it says are the German admiralty's reasons why it did not make known in its first report of the recent battle of Jutland the loss of the battle cruiser Lutzow and the light cruiser Rostok, as follows:

"When the first report was sent out our two ships had not sunk, but were being towed, badly damaged, back to Germany. Finally both sank after the survivors and wounded had been taken off. If the German admiralty had stated in its first report that attempts were being made to save the ships, English destroyers would undoubtedly have been sent to try to sink them."

VENIZELOS MAY SOON BE AT HEAD OF GOVERNMENT

Zaimis Not Strong Enough To Hold Reins in Greece.

VICTORY FOR THE ALLIES

Acceptance of the Demands Brings Great Satisfaction in Britain.

LONDON, June 22.—12:33 a.m.—The British Government last night issued the full text of the Entente Allies' note to Greece, with which the Greek Government has complied. It contains four demands, as follows:

"First.—Real and complete demobilization of the Greek army, which must, with the least possible delay, be placed on a peace footing.

"Second.—The immediate replacement of the present Greek cabinet by a business cabinet having no political color and offering all necessary guarantees of neutrality toward the allied powers, and sincere consultation of the national wishes.

"Third.—The dissolution of the chamber followed by new elections after the period required by the constitution and after general demobilization has restored the electoral body to normal conditions.

"Fourth.—Replacement of certain pro-Germans by a business cabinet, inspired by foreign influence, has facilitated attempts against peaceable citizens as well as insults against allied legations, and those under its jurisdiction."

The urgency of the Greek problem has greatly diminished since last October, when the Greek government had accepted the demands of the Allied Governments for the demobilization of the army, dissolution of the Greek Chamber of Deputies and a general election was resolved in Greece by a vote with much relief and satisfaction.

When on the fall of M. Venizelos, the Allies landed a force at Saloniki, the attitude of Greece was a burning question, and apprehension was felt in all the allied countries, especially France, at the prospect of German military activity in the near east. Latterly, however, with the Russian success in Asia Minor, less anxiety was felt on this ground. Nevertheless, the recent Russian occupation of the Greek frontier at Port Ruppel, and the renewal of German activity in Athens, proved that danger still existed. Thereupon, the allied powers began to apply further pressure in the shape of a partial blockade of Greek ports. The rumor was current that Greece had signed an agreement with Bulgaria for the peaceful evacuation of all the frontier forts.

Zaimis Leans to Allies.

The Skouloudis ministry promised a partial demobilization of the army, owing to the powerful influence of the king and his court, never carried it out. Finally, the Entente Allies presented a demand for the demobilization of the army, which, as announced, have been accepted, and ex-Premier Zaimis has been called upon to form a ministry, of which he will be head of the foreign department. M. Zaimis is a neutralist with a leaning, it is said, toward the Entente Allies. The view is held here that his age and temperament make it doubtful whether he will be strong enough to counteract the pro-German influence, and it is expected that it will not be long before Venizelos is again in power.

SUFFERED FROM BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM, DROPSY

Dear Mr. Editor,—I wish to tell you of a recent experience I had when suffering from backache, weak back, rheumatism, dropsy, and congestion of the kidneys. I tried a new medicine called "Anuric," which has recently been discovered by Dr. Pierce's Medical and Surgical Institution in Buffalo, N. Y., you have no doubt heard for years. This medicine acted upon me in a wonderful manner. I never have taken any medicine so helpful in such quick time. I do wish anyone in need of such a remedy would give it a trial.

(Signed) G. H. HERR.

Note.—Folks in town and adjoining counties who are afflicted with the results they have obtained by using "ANURIC," the newest discovery of Dr. Pierce, who is head of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, in Buffalo, N. Y. Those who started the day with a backache, stiff legs, arms and muscles, and an aching head (worn out before the day began because they were in and out of bed half a dozen times at night) are appreciating the perfect rest, comfort and new strength they obtained from Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. To prove that this is a certain and reliable solvent and conquerer of backache, kidney and bladder diseases and rheumatism, if you've never used the "Anuric," cut this out and send ten cents to Doctor Pierce for a large sample package. This will prove to you that "Anuric" is thirty-seven times more active than lithia in eliminating uric acid—and the most perfect kidney and bladder corrector. If you are a sufferer, go to your best druggist and ask for a 50-cent box of "Anuric." You run no risk for Dr. Pierce's good name stands behind this wonderful new discovery as it has for the past half century for his "Golden Medical Discovery" which makes the blood pure, his "Favorite Prescription" for weak women and "Pleasant Pellets" for liver ills.

SHUT OFF OIL SUPPLIES

United States Takes Measures To Frustrate Plans of the Plotters.

Washington, June 23.—Advices received here from Mexico allege that German representatives there have encouraged Gen. Carranza and the officers of the de facto government in their opposition to United States troops remaining in that country. The form of encouragement was said to have been moral rather than material. The reports further declare that German citizens residing in Mexico have been treated with great consideration, their property not being molested. Some Americans have taken advantage of the favors accorded German subjects by placing their property in the hands of German friends upon leaving Mexico.

This information was disclosed by a competent authority in connection with information concerning the activities in Mexican affairs of Capt. Franz von Rintelen, now under indictment in New York for conspiracy to foment strikes in American munitions plants, and under arrest in England. Von Rintelen is known by the authorities mentioned as well as by Government officials to have been most active in Mexican affairs.

His activities began at the time Villa and Carranza were at odds, and when Huerta went to the border to direct a plot to gain control of the Government. Von Rintelen then was described as having been prompted by the plot to endeavor to stir up trouble between the United States and Mexico, although primarily his activities were said to have been directed against the United States and not against the United States.

The information obtained leads officials to believe that Von Rintelen thought that by starting a dispute between the United States and Mexico, munition shipments from America would be stopped, that the United States would be too busy to pursue the submarine controversy, and that the Allied navies would be prevented from securing oil and gasoline from the Mexican fields. HAD SALT RHEUM ON HANDS

Could Not Do Her Work.

Eczema or salt rheum is one of the most common of all skin diseases. It may centre itself on any part of the body, but there are certain places where it most usually begins, such as the bends of the elbows, the backs of the knees, the groove behind the ears, the scalp, on the palms of the hands, between the fingers, or on the soles of the feet.

It is, as a rule, not dangerous, but is very irritating and annoying to the sufferer on account of the terrible itching and burning sensation it causes. It is impossible to eradicate this trouble from the system by external applications, as it is caused by the blood being in an impure state. What you need is a good blood-cleansing medicine such as Burdock Blood Bitters. A medicine that will drive out all the foulness from the blood and make it pure and rich.

Mrs. Adelaide Theriault, Theriault, N. B., writes: "Some time ago I was troubled with salt rheum on my hands, and it was so bad I could not do my work. I tried several medicines, but they all failed to help me. One day a friend told me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got a bottle, and before I had taken it my hands were better. I am not afraid to recommend B. B. to anyone."

B. B. E. has been on the market for the past forty years, and is manufactured by The T. Millburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FOUR WEEKS IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Brown Finally Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio.—"For years I suffered so sometimes it seemed as though I could not stand it any longer. It was all in my lower organs. At times I could hardly walk, for if I stepped on a little stone I would fall almost faint. One day I did faint, and my husband and I doctor came. I was taken to the hospital and stayed four weeks, but when I came home I would faint just the same, and had the same pains. A friend who is a nurse said for me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it that very day, for I was suffering a great deal. It has already done me more good than the hospital. To anyone who is suffering as I was, my advice is to stop in the first drug store and get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before you go home."—MRS. W. C. of the oil used in the British navy comes from Mexico.

Will Frustrate Plans. It was pointed out today that at no time would the United States have failed to press its demands in regard to the conduct of submarine warfare, even if a state of war existed with Mexico. As for exportation of oil from the Mexican fields, it was said that in the event of war between the United States and Mexico some means would be found to prevent the plans of Von Rintelen from being realized.

The names of Federico Stallforth of New York, a former banker in Mexico, and Andrew C. Meloy, also of New York, are mentioned in connection with that of Von Rintelen. Stallforth, who was said to have been associated with Von Rintelen in Mexico, was called before the federal grand jury in New York to testify as to his activities. Von Rintelen, while in this country, maintained headquarters in Stallforth's office. He is understood here to have denied any connection with Mexican intrigues, but was remanded to jail over night for contempt for refusing to answer certain questions before the jury.

Meloy was indicted. Von Rintelen in Mexico. He was indicted in New York on the charge of having obtained a false passport for Von Rintelen.

Another name mentioned with Von Rintelen's was that of David Lamar, sometimes called "the Wolf of Wall Street," and indicted with him. Lamar is said here to have obtained a large sum of money from Von Rintelen to be used in promoting certain plans regarding Mexico, and dock strikes in New York. So far as is known in Washington, Lamar performed no services commensurate with the sum of money he is said to have received.

GREAT BRITAIN ON EXCELLENT TERMS WITH ARAB REBELS

Moslems Aroused Over Shell-ing of Sacred Shrine

BY TROOPS OF THE SULTAN

Head of Church May Be Removed From Bosphorus to Holy City.

[Canadian Press.]

London, June 23.—The only news from Turkey of the revolt of the holy citizens of Arabia is a brief statement in a Constantinople communication saying: "A British warship appeared in Sheikhan Bay, off the Hajaz coast." Nor have any further details reached the public from the entente powers. The morning papers again emphasize their belief that the revolt will be certain to prove of capital importance in the near future, probably meaning the removal of the head of the Moslem church from Constantinople to Mecca. Great Britain, as the greatest Moslem empire, has the keenest interest in the movement. Since the early days of the war Great Britain has endeavored to maintain its attitude of the highest respect for the Mohammedan religion. At the outbreak of the war a proclamation was issued declaring that the holy places of Arabia, including the shrines of Mesopotamia and the port of Jiddah, would be immune from attack or molestation by British military forces as long as there is no interference with pilgrims from India. The Daily Telegraph today gives the following statement of the attitude of Great Britain toward the revolt.

Friendly to Sherref. "Toward the Great Shrine we shall carry out a policy of friendly neutrality, helping him, should he desire it, to keep open the routes of pilgrimage, but carefully avoiding any interference with his jurisdiction." The Daily Telegraph adds:

"The route is another evidence of the German miscalculation of race psychology. Berlin was confident she would be able to stir the most of the world into revolt against the British Empire, as was evidenced by her efforts in Egypt and in India. The success of these efforts was insignificant, and the only result of her machinations has been to confront her ally Turkey, with a new and formidable danger, for an Arab revolt confronts the Turkish sovereignty at a vital point. Instead of a holy war against Great Britain we are witnessing the outbreak of a serious war against German domination in Constantinople."

How the Tribes Divide. The Morning Post gives a list of nine principal Arab tribes, five of which, it says, are avowedly pro-British, three anti-Turkish, and one pro-Turkish. Reuters' Telegram Company, in a summary of the events which led to the revolt, declares that the Turks recently contained two serious errors which the Arabs are not likely to forget or forgive. The first, it says, constituted drastic anti-Arab measures, including numerous executions of influential pilgrims following the visit of Enver Pasha, the Turkish minister of war, to Northern Arabia. The second, it says, was the shelling of the shrine of Kerbelah, which is sacred to the Shia Mohammedan of both Persia and India, and which contains enormous treasures the offerings of pilgrims for centuries past.

BERLIN'S NEW NAME WILL BE GOOD ONE, NO MATTER WHAT CHOICE

Each of Six Offered Has Significance Commending It.

[Special to The Advertiser.] BERLIN, June 22.—General satisfaction was expressed with the choice of the six names to be voted upon by the electors of Berlin in the name-changing contest. It was only after mature deliberation that the selection was made, and no one should feel disappointed should any of the names be chosen. A straw vote taken among 150 citizens resulted thus: Brock, 75; Kitchener, 40; Benton, 25; Adams, 10. Should the first three win the $500 prize-money, the big money will go out of town, and will to some extent remunerate those outsiders who have taken such a keen interest. The six names which will appear on the ballot have the following significance:

Brock, named after Sir Isaac Brock of Queenston Heights fame; Kitchener, after Field-Marshal Lord Kitchener of immortal memory; Corona, a short term for coronation; Adams, "spell it backwards"; Keowana, the Indian name for Great Lakes; Benton, after one of the early settlers. Jacob Benton, one of the city's townpeople are "bent-on" business.

Sarnia has many advantages over other places, but the city and its advantages will be chosen further this continent. A united effort on the part of everybody in the city is desired.

The executive of the Sarnia Board of Trade comprises live businessmen and manufacturers, who are determined that Sarnia shall get her share of new business from now on.

The board of trade will be pleased to receive hints or ideas in connection with its propaganda.

SEAMAN'S BILL OBJECTED TO. SARNIA, June 22.—Complaints have resulted in American Lake Huron against the bill, which was recently passed by the Government of the States. The passenger capacity of the steamers was reduced, and the bill is seriously hurt. This week, Rev. J. Archie Barker, while motoring with some friends in Arran Township, struck a spot in the road and the car overturned. Mr. Barker, J.P. of Port Elgin, was quite badly hurt, but the other members of the party escaped. In either accidents the cars were not damaged much, and were able to proceed.

ONLY MIRACLE CAN SAVE AUSTRIANS IN SOUTH BUKOWINA

Russians Take Radantz, to South of Czernowitz.

BALTIN'S ARMY CORNERED

Hundreds of Austrians Drowned When Flying Before Russians.

[Canadian Press.]

London, June 22.—11:20 p.m.—The official announcement by the Russian war office of the capture of Radantz, a town of 13,300 inhabitants, situated 30 miles south of Czernowitz and ten miles from the Rumanian frontier, shows how actively Gen. Letchitzky is pursuing the broken Austrian forces. According to a special dispatch from Petrograd, nothing but a miracle can avert the destruction of Baltin's army, as Gen. Letchitzky now holds a stretch of twenty miles on the Sereth River.

According to a report from Rome an Austrian army under Gen. Baltin is shut up in the angle of the frontier near the town of Sereth, completely surrounded by Russians.

May Have Reached Moldavia. The Austrian official communication received here tonight claims that the Austrians have repulsed Russian attacks near Gura Humora. This town is in the extreme south of Bukovina on the Moldavia River, 54 miles south of Czernowitz. Thus far, however, the Russian pursuit seemingly has extended much further than the Russians claim.

Hundreds of Austrians Drowned. Hundreds of Austrians were drowned in the Strpa after the recent Russian success on the eastern bank to the north of Buczacz, according to Reuters' Petrograd correspondent. Troops holding some of the trenches enveloped by the Russians from the north and the south and cut off from the bridges rushed into the river, panic-stricken. A few managed to swim across, says the dispatch, but the majority perished.

Abandoning Bukovina. Gen. Pflanzner's demoralized army is preparing to abandon all Southern Bukovina to the Russians, according to Berne dispatches.

The Berne correspondents received their information from Vienna. They reported that the Austrians would make a stand at Rodna Pass, twenty miles north of the Rumanian frontier, and at other strategic points, barring the Russian advance into Hungary.

The Russians are now throwing large forces across the Sereth River, attempting to cut off large Austrian forces before they reach the Carpathians. The Austrians are abandoning large quantities of ammunition in their flight.

GERMANS TAKE OVER DEFENCE. PETROGRAD, June 22.—12:15 p.m.—Via London.—The last two days have brought no essential change in the situation on General Brusiloff's front. Crossing the River Sereth in Bukovina, General Letchitzky's forces have forced their way slightly further south in pursuit of the Austrian General Pflanzner's army, but in the centre and on the northern flank the Russian drive has been halted by the fierce counter-offensive of the Teutonic allies. The defense of the Kovel-Lutsck region has been taken over entirely by the German reinforcements, newly arrived from the French front and which are making a determined attempt to regain the ground lost during the first ten days of the Russian advance.

One group of German forces in concentrated at Kovel, where it attempted to advance toward Kocki, but after a sharp conflict in the neighborhood of the Stokhod River, was forced to retire by the Russians.

The second group of German forces defending Vladimir-Volynsk has started an advance along the main road, leading from Vladimir-Volynsk to Lutsck, while a third group, with headquarters at Sokol, is likewise joining in the movement to press back the extended northern flank of General Brusiloff's army.

On the other points of the front Russian operations are being delayed by the necessity for consolidating positions already won.

FIVE GERMAN ATTACKS. PETROGRAD, June 22.—(Via London 7:45 p.m.)—The news yesterday announced the capture of the town of Radantz, in Bukovina, 30 miles south of Czernowitz.

The official statement follows: "The Germans are violently bombarding the region of the Ikskul bridge-head. On Wednesday night, following artillery preparation, the Germans took the offensive on the front of the Dvinsk position along the Poniwesch railway. They were everywhere repulsed."

"In the region in front of Dubatova, twelve versts south of Lake Viashevskole, the Germans, after intense artillery preparation, launched an offensive and seized a portion of our trenches. We hastened reinforcements to the scene and drove the enemy back to his own trenches."

Driven Back Again. "South of Krevo, the Germans crossed the River Krevianka. Our fire prevented their further advance and drove them back to the west bank of the river."

"On the Oginski canal and Jaslova River there has been artillery and rifle fire. During the course of the day our fire brought down two German aeroplanes within our lines, one two versts south of the Listopad station on the Bologoy-Sedletz railway, and the other near the Juk farm, ten versts south-east of the mouth of the Oginski canal. Both the machines were completely destroyed and their pilots killed."

Again Put to Flight. "In the region of Gruziatyn the enemy attacked in massed formation, but was put to flight, leaving a great number of killed and wounded."

"In the region west of Sokol, on the S. R. road, by a counter-attack of German offensive, and captured about 600 prisoners and some machine guns. In the same region the enemy's heavy artillery launched gusts of fire from the region of Mysk."

"In the region of Radniestvo, on the Stokhod, west of Svidnik and east of Vorontchik, extremely violent fighting occurred. We made no prisoners. This is accounted by the fact that our troops refused quarter to the Germans, who had been employing a brave detachment of territorial reserves from Yaroslavl participated. Their commander was wounded, but refused to quit the ranks."

A steamer, the property of Albert Cole, went mad Wednesday, but was dispatched before it had contaminated any of the bathers.

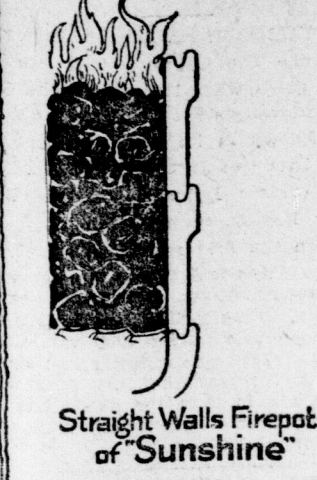

Mr. Campbell has also lost three head of cattle, which had been bitten by some animal.

The canine which, it is believed, started all the trouble has not been apprehended.

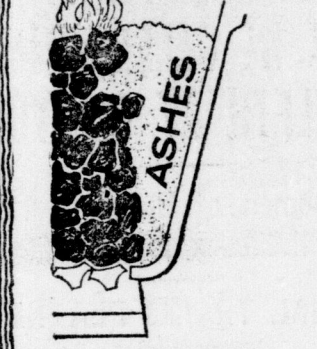

ANNIVERSARY AT WHALEN. WHALEN, June 21.—The anniversary services held in the Methodist Church were attended by a large crowd to greet the former pastor, Rev. Mr. Jewitt, who was the minister here eighteen years ago. Mr. Jewitt expressed his pleasure at seeing so many familiar faces. His three sons have crossed the ocean and are in service for King and country.

Rev. Bernard of Ellenville and Rev. Hazelwood of Toronto Battalion were also present. The Woodham choir gave a choice song service.

ATTACK ON WEST BANK
Enemy Fails in Assault Made Near Hill No. 304.

[Canadian Press Cable.]
PARIS, June 22.—The official communication issued by the war office tonight, reads:

"On the right bank of the Meuse the strong German reconnaissance attacked one of our advanced posts after artillery preparation. Repulsed by our fire, the enemy dispersed, leaving several dead on the ground.

"On both banks of the Meuse the bombardment with shells of heavy calibre continued throughout the day with extreme violence. On the left bank the enemy especially directed his fire against our positions on Hill 304 and Le Mort Homme, and on our second lines in the region of Esnes and Châtinaucourt.

"At 6 o'clock in the evening an attack directed against our trenches between Hill 304 and the Bethincourt brook was completely repulsed after very spirited fighting with grenades.

Reoccupy Lost Positions.
"On the right bank a counter-attack carried out by us in the afternoon enabled us to reoccupy the greater part of the elements the enemy had obtained a footing in last night.

"The bombardment from 6 o'clock took on a character of unprecedented violence on the front to the north of the Thiaumont fortified works, the Vaux wood, Chapelle, and the sector of LaLauze of one of the detached military works of Verdun.

"In the West the artillery action has been intense in the region at the foot of the Meuse hills.

"Quite spirited cannonading has been carried on on the rest of the front, notably in Champagne in the sector of Mont Tetu.

STRANGE TIMES ON THE BOSPHORUS AND IN SEA OF MARMORA

War Scenes Create Wonder for Turkish Capital.

CLEVER ALLIES' TRICK
Disguised as German Officers, Bought Supplies for Submarine.

New York, June 21.—A Constantinople correspondent writes as follows in the Missionary Herald:

It has been a time of unusual sights and sounds, this year. I do not refer to the unaccustomed blaze of the electric light or the clang of the trolley gong, or the "Allo!" over the phone, to all of which the sleepy old Turk of Stamboul is becoming accustomed. But aeroplanes, hydroplanes, and captive balloons have made us crane our necks and wonder. When war was first forced upon Turkey there was a dread of hostile air craft from the north, and we were all ordered to have our houses dark at night, and to screen all windows. In fact, when a biplane actually appeared above Haskeuy, on the Golden Horn, one Sunday morning, the alert and watchful Turkish soldiers on it and succeeded in bringing it down—only to find they had killed two of their own aviators in their panic.

Submarines.
We had a chance also to study submarines, for a half-dozen German U-boats have been proudly cruising up and down the Bosphorus. They all carry the Turkish flag, but all are manned and officered by Germans. One of these came all the way round by sea, through Gibraltar, till it finally met its end in the Black Sea. Others were brought by rail in parts across what was Serbia, and put together in Constantinople by German mechanics, with whom the city teams. But we have had visits from British submarines, too. One of these fired a torpedo at the German steamer stamboul, lying at the quay, and tore a big hole in her side after blowing up two or three lighters that were in the way. Another sank a collier at the docks of the Anatolian Railroad, at Haidar Pasha. Another just missed a steamer tied up at the Top-hane arsenal, but made a big dent in the stone quay, as the column of water rose 50 or 60 feet into the air. The visits into the harbor of the capital gave many a panic that led them to believe all sorts of stories of further exploits. Here is a sample, and it seems to have truth back of it. One day two British German officers appeared in a Greek grocery in Pera and bought a large consignment of groceries. Loading these on the backs of hannis, or porters, they took them down to the harbor and told the boatman into whose sandal they loaded them that they were to go to a steamer lying at Haidar Pasha, over on the Asiatic shore. On arriving there, the Germans told the boatman their steamer must have changed its anchorage, and compelled him at the revolver-point to row them around back of Haidar Pasha. Here, to the amazement of the boatman, a British submarine, into which these pseudo-Germans loaded their purchases, said the boatman well in British gold, and disappeared.

Then there was the captured French submarine Turquoise, which was proudly exhibited for a few days (admission, one lira per person, "for the 2nd Croissant") and then absolutely disappeared. Where did it go? Nobody knew, but their stories didn't match. I rather think this sounds the most plausible. The Turquoise appeared before a Turkish hospital ship on its way to the Dardanelles, stopped it, and the French commander boarded it to see whether it carried anything but hospital supplies. Down in the hold he found ammunition and German officers, but he also found himself a prisoner; while the hospital ship by a shot disabled the coming tower, so that the submarine was forced to surrender. On hearing this tale of treachery (for even the censorship did not keep such "dope" from leaking out of the country), the French Government sent word through a neutral power to the Turks that either the Turquoise, with its entire crew, was to be returned through the Dardanelles to the French fleet, or every hospital ship Turkey owned would be sunk. The Turkish navy, with its entire crew, was to be returned through the Dardanelles to the French fleet, or every hospital ship Turkey owned would be sunk. The Turkish navy, with its entire crew, was to be returned through the Dardanelles to the French fleet, or every hospital ship Turkey owned would be sunk.

War On Promises.
And the requisitionings all through the city! Turkey has shown the world how to make war on nothing a year. All you have to do is take what you need from your own subjects, giving them paper promises (where necessary) to be redeemed after the war. One firm I know was thus forced to furnish 3,000 pounds' worth of shoes for the army; another gave up $100,000 worth of suitcases; but their promissory note acknowledged receipt of only half that amount. Protests were unavailing. The other half was a dead loss. But when it came to requisitioning hundreds of yards of ladies' silk stockings and yards upon yards of ribbon, the reluctant proprietors wondered why such articles were being taken from them.

When the awful carnage at the Dardanelles began, ghastly results came pouring into Constantinople in shiploads, filling all the hospitals and many barracks and other temporary hospitals. Ocourse, only the lighter cases could stand that 120-mile journey; the worst of the wounded never came back. But even the slightly wounded had a terrible time getting there. A friend of mine, a nurse with the Gallipoli force, told me the tale of one shipload. It was one of the Bosphorus steamers that had been painted up as a Red Crescent ship. Its normal accommodation was for 1,150 persons, but from the many thousands of wounded waiting to go to Constantinople, 2,500 poor fellows were packed on to the boat under care of some commissary officers. The British submarines that controlled the Bosphorus would allow hospital ships to sail only during the day, so they had to tie up at Silivri over night; and those rascally officers went ashore and gambled away the money that had been entrusted to them for provisions for the wounded, while the poor sufferers were given nothing to eat or to drink for the 30 hours it took that old boat to make the trip! Only one died on the way, but several more were past help when landed.

NO DROUGHT IN SIGHT, RUTHVEN CROPS JUMP

RUTHVEN, June 21.—The drought which was prophesied would hit this district has not shown up yet, and almost daily showers are the order. Crops of all kinds grow by leaps and bounds. The hay crop will be the largest seen here in many years. Many large fields of corn are now being cultivated, and every stalk is in the pink of condition. A few large fields north of here are now just being planted, but with a late fall thousands of bushels of the finest kind of corn will be reaped from these same fields. This week will about see all of the tobacco plants set out. Many fields which were planted out two weeks ago were badly cut by worms. These have all been replanted, and are now coming along first class. All the growers are looking for a bumper harvest, and with a few weeks of warm weather, barns will be filled to the roofs with all kinds of grain.

William Tapping and sons have finished building their large barn, which will be used to store their twenty acres of tobacco which they are growing. The strawberry crop, which has been extra good here this season, is about over. Hundreds of crates of the finest quality were shipped to the eastern markets, and good prices were received. Potato bugs have made their appearance here by the thousands, and now armies of locusts are seen.

700 Motherless Chicks.
The Sherman Bros.' poultry yard at Kingsville can show over seven hundred young chicks all hatched in incubators, and everyone of the birds is in fine condition. Twelve quail eggs were placed in the incubator, and 11 young quail are to be seen among the large brood of chicks. Sherman Bros. are figuring on raising about two thousand chicks this year.

EUROPE IS ACCEPTING WAR AS NORMAL STATE

One Must Die Anyway, So Why Not at Front Is the View Taken.

Vienna, June 5.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The general state of belligerency in Europe has not only modified the material course of life, but has had such an influence on the psychology of the public that after two years a state of war has become an almost normal condition, according to a woman contributor to a prominent Polish newspaper.

The constant presence of the thought that war is the great end to which day, and to win it the prime objective, has in the course of the past few years given a secondary place to the interests of the masses, so that now the loss of relatives on the battlefield is no longer associated with the self of a person, but with the will of the aggregate to win. For this also signifies a material nature are made, whose rendering no other cause or demand could hope to achieve.

When the war was not as yet looked upon exactly as a normal state in which a continent ought to find itself, there is a striking indifference about it in many respects. There is, of course, a keen desire that peace may come soon, but coupled to it inseparably is a grim determination to show that the central power group cannot be defeated, and was rejected from the army. He was born in Milverton, but came to the city when a small boy, and lived here ever since.

SELLS WITHOUT LICENSE AND IS HEAVILY FINED

Mrs. Frances Chappell of Sandwich West Pleads Guilty to Charge.

WINDSOR, June 22.—Mrs. Frances Chappell of the Chappell House, Sandwich West, pleaded guilty to selling liquor without a license, and was fined $300 and costs by Magistrate Breaud this morning.

A similar charge is pending against Jake McGee of the Brighton Beach hotel, and his trial has been set for Thursday next.

Both informations were lodged by License Inspector Pacaud, following a visit, it is said, of private detectives in the employ of the license department. These houses were closed some time ago on the orders of the license board, which cut off their liquor licenses.

BRUCE-WOOLLEN.
MOUNT ELGIN, June 21.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Morris, third concession of Dereham, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday.

June 7, when Miss Emily Woollen was married to John A. Bruce of Putnam. At high noon, to the strains of the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin," the bride party took their places under an evergreen arch, decorated with white blossoms and beaded with ferns and flowers, and from which was suspended a large white bell. The bride was given away by her brother, John Woollen, and was attired in a cream silk embroidered net over silk and carried a bouquet of cream roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Emily Davies, wore a blue dress and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The best man was the groom's brother, Gordon Bruce. Little Etta Skinner was a pretty flower girl, dressed in pink silk, and carried the wedding ring in a basket of sweet peas. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold necklace and pendant set with pearls; to the bridesmaid, a pearl sunburst brooch; to the best man, a gold watch fob; to the flower girl, a locket and chain, and to the organist a pair of gold cuff-links. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. T. Cavers of Dereham Centre, in the presence of near friends and relatives.

On the following Tuesday evening the friends and members of Ebenezer Church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Morris and gave Mrs. Bruce a miscellaneous shower. During the evening an address was read and the newlywed couple were presented with a pair of handsome oak rockers.

PROMPT ACTION OF CROSSING WATCHMAN SAVED MANY LIVES

Crowded Car Was Derailed in the Nick of Time.

BARELY MISSED FREIGHT

Spectators Shuddered as They Saw Car Skid Along on Pavement.

The prompt action of the watchman at the Richmond street crossing of the C. P. R. in derailling a northbound North Belt car last evening barely averted another level crossing accident. The escape was so close that occupants of the car, after they knew they were safe and people on the sidewalks near by shuddered.

The car was filled to capacity with a crowd anxious to get home to supper, and, according to one man, was going about 25 miles an hour when the gates were shut.

A freight train from the west was coming in at a high rate of speed, and the watchman, seeing that the car was not going to stop, threw the derailler. Even then the car did not stop, but slid along on the pavement, and those on the sidewalk feared it would crash through the gates right in front of the train.

With the power off the car came to a standstill, with the front barely half a car length from the rails.

"The watchman, in my opinion, saved a lot of lives," said a former member of the city council to The Advertiser. "A good many of those who were in that car are lucky to be alive."

LITERATURE WAS EASY

Entrance Examination Papers Not Hard So Far, Say Students.

Another paper of the entrance examinations was written off yesterday afternoon. The subject was literature and in the opinion of the majority of those writing it was an easy, although long paper. The paper was set so that pupils from both the Protestant and Catholic schools might write on it by selecting passages from the readers used in the two schools.

The questions covered the reader studied by the pupils most thoroughly, requiring them to give the subject of the extracts selected by the examiners, and to explain the meaning of certain phrases.

Some quotations from memory were also asked. The students who are writing declare that so far they have found the papers very reasonable.

DAUGHTER'S BLOW SAVED MOTHER, SAYS FAMILY

Prevented Jeremiah Collins From Strangling Her Is Police Court Story.

The troubles of Jeremiah Collins, 551 William street, and his wife and family took up the major portion of the time in the police court session. Collins' family swore the last night he went to his daughter's residence and attacked his wife and was about to strangle her when one of his daughters struck him on the head, inflicting a cut several inches long.

Collins claimed that his wife had not been at home for some time, and that he had merely gone to bring her back. He could not remember attacking her.

Magistrate J. C. Judd said that the best thing that the Collinses could do would be to separate. As both parties were willing, U. A. Buchner, who was appearing for Mrs. Collins, was instructed to draw up an agreement of separation. This is entirely wrong, Mrs. Collins will be given the children, three of whom are under seven years of age. The charge of being drunk and disorderly against Collins was withdrawn and he was allowed to go.

NO DISRUPTION

Figures Not True Indication. "The result was overwhelmingly in favor of union. The figures of 406 to 18 do not begin to represent the actual feeling for union. Many of those who voted against union could not carry their congregations with them, and others again were not ministers."

"Many persons seem to misapprehend what the union vote really means. They seem to think that it goes into effect at once. This is entirely wrong. It is to be started one year after war's conclusion, and as it will take three or even four years to consummate, it will be at least four years after the end of the war before the final details have been arranged and the consummation of union is an actuality."

"I am convinced, and I feel sure that practically every one of the 600 odd commissioners at Winnipeg was convinced that there will be no disruption following church union. I feel sure that the opposition that is now in existence will have died out before the consummation of union."

Will Preach On Union. Dr. McCree will preach in his own pulp on Sunday, and will, in the morning, speak of the general assembly, and in the evening on church union.

Speaking of general conditions in the West, he declared that Winnipeg was improving fast. Crops, he said, were in good shape, and although there had been much rain, it had caused no damage.

Commenting on the new temperance act in Manitoba, Dr. McCree said that he had seen no drunken men what ever during his two weeks in Winnipeg.

"Drunks are few and far between in this country. The temperance act is working out in splendid shape," he declared.

Inspector Burgess of Humane Society Has Emaciated Beast Destroyed.

Inspector Burgess of the Humane Society, had an old horse destroyed this morning.

He found a foreigner driving the animal, and at once ordered that it be killed, or the owner would be prosecuted.

It was fearfully thin. This was due to inability to eat, and old age. The owner decided that it would be better to have it destroyed.

Inspector Burgess is always on the lookout for such cases, and is doing much to keep the city clear of ill-used horses.

CELEBRATE DIAMOND WEDDING.

GUELPH, June 21.—Robert and Mrs. Wilson, at their home in Nassagaweya, surrounded by their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, celebrated the diamond anniversary of their wedding on Monday, June 13.

Mrs. Wilson and her husband recall many incidents in connection with the Mackenzie uprising of 1837. Mrs. Wilson says that at that time the rebels came to her father's house, demanding that he should give up his firearm, which he refused to do, while Mr. Wilson recalls organizing the neighbors to meet an expected attack of invaders at Goderich, which failed to materialize. One of Mrs. Wilson's reminiscences deals also with the time when the late James J. Hill, the deceased railway magnate, used to wait on her in a grocery at Rockwood. A name and five or six boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, all of whom are living, and were present at the celebration with the exception of Ben Wilson in Calgary, and Alex. A. Mitchell, C.E.F., who is now lying in a British hospital.

Of grandchildren there are 29, and of great-grandchildren, 28, making a total of 57 in all direct descendants at the celebration.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

HAY AGAIN FLENTIFUL AND DEMAND WEAKER

Goes From $13 to $18 Per Ton on the Market Today.

Hay was again plentiful on the local market today, there being more than fifteen loads brought in. The demand was weak and prices were low. Hay was offered at from $13 to $18 per ton, which was the same as the price which it sold on Thursday's market. Yesterday twenty-five loads were brought in. At present the farmers have little work to do, and are now bringing in the hay which they stored. The new hay will be ready to cut in a few weeks.

There was a slight drop in straw today, it selling at from $7.50 to $8 per ton. The local demand for straw is never large and is easily filled.

There should be a good vegetable market tomorrow. During the week little green stuff and garden produce has been brought in and a keen demand is anticipated by dealers. Practically no butter or eggs have been offered during the week, and the poultry market which has been dead all winter, shows slight signs up living.

The demand for poultry is very keen and chickens sell readily.

WOMEN'S MASS MEETING TO BE HELD IN JULY

Emergency Corps is Busy Completing All the Arrangements.

At the meeting of the Women's Emergency Corps on Thursday, further arrangements were made in regard to the big mass meeting to be held in the city in July. Regret was expressed over the inability of Nursing Sister Neelin to continue her work in connection with the publicity department for the present, owing to illness in her home. Saturday last she addressed the convalescing soldiers at the Belleville Military Convalescent Home and on Sunday made strong recruiting appeals from the pulpits of Dundas Central Methodist and St. Andrew's Presbyterian churches. On Monday at the noon hour, she addressed the men at McClary's dining-room, in addition to other meetings.

Miss Farncombe is addressing a district Women's Institute convention today at Bridgeport, and another at Kingsmill on the 29th. A similar gathering in Alisa Craig was addressed by Mrs. A. A. Campbell the end of last week. Hereafter, the regular weekly meetings of the Emergency Corps will be held on Thursday mornings at 11 o'clock in Cronyn Hall.

FILLING OBLIGATION TO "FIGHT OR PAY"

Have Loosened Purse Strings
in Generous Manner.

$390,000 ALREADY RAISED

Patriotic and Charitable Investments Represent Goodly Sum Locally.

Giving a recruiting address in Victoria Park a few weeks ago, Miss Constance Boulton of Toronto told the immense throng which gathered around her, that there are just three things to be done at this time, enlist, pay, or leave the country.

Some idea of the manner in which the citizens of London have fulfilled their obligation to "Pay" in the past year is to be gained from a glance at the sums contributed to various patriotic objects and raised by different organizations for war relief purposes, amounting to approximately $390,000.

While the accompanying figures represent campaigns and special efforts which have been brought prominently before the public, there are enough instances of liberality, both on the part of individuals and organizations, to themselves fill a good large book of acknowledgments.

$134,570 From City.

First in order must be considered the civic grants, covered by taxation. A two-mill tax rate insures for the patriotic fund an income of $79,000. A further assessment of 1.7951 mills gives $65,570 for the payment of premiums on soldiers' life insurance policies, grants to the soldiers' club, recruiting, changes in fair buildings for military purposes, camp expenses, etc.

The citizens also pay a one mill provincial war tax. October last over $30-000 was raised for the British Red Cross Society, $30,000 more than the goal set.

In a similar way, with an objective of $72,000 for the London branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society during the winter, approximately $100,000 was obtained by a whirlwind campaign, payments to be made monthly.

In addition to this, $25,000 was raised by the London branch previous to the campaign.

Through the efforts of the Women's Canadian Club, $1,635.55 was raised during the winter for Serbian relief, and $3,813 for Belgian relief.

I. O. D. E. Raises $30,000.

The various chapters of the Imperial Order of Daughters of the Empire have made a splendid showing of $30,000 for soldiers' club, military convalescent homes, the soldiers' club, etc.

The Local Council fund for immediate relief of the Belgians has amounted to over $2,400. The sum of $1,632.72 has been contributed to the Overseas Club Tobacco Fund, the greater part of which has been forwarded to the headquarters in London, England.

Over and above the foregoing large amounts have been paid in to the patriotic fund on the original campaign subscriptions of $138,000. Missionary organizations report that their givings this past year have exceeded former years, while creditable subscriptions have been given towards the maintenance of the Children's Aid Society Sherbrooke Club plan, and other local objects.
The proceeds of the flower day for the Byron Sanatorium reached $3,800.

While every effort is being bent as far as paying and work is concerned towards the winning of the war, the claims that are always with the citizens are by no means being neglected.

AUDITORIUM.

An all-female program, which included the famous stage success, "The Great Divide," two educational features, and a humorous comedy, with Harry Watson Juni., made up an exceptional program of motion pictures at the Auditorium last evening. A prominent part of the program was the instrumental music by the reorganized Auditorium Orchestra, which is now under the direction of Mr. George Cameron Emsley. For years
Mr. Emsley was a favorite pupil of the late Professor Michael Hambourg, and for the past year has officiated as conductor of the famous Garden Theatre Orchestra, Toronto. If last night's musical performance is a forerunner of what Auditorium patrons may expect from Mr. Emsley and his associates, the Auditorium is bound to become the mecca for musicians of London.

STIRTON-DYER CASE DECIDED AT OSGOODE

Judgment Given in Appeal From Local Master.

TORONTO, June 22.—At Osgoode Hall today before, Lennox, J.—Stirton vs. Dyer—T. G. Meredith, R.C., for plaintiff; J. C. Gibson, K.C., and W. M. Flock (London) for defendant.
R. H. Ivey (London) for defendant.
Coles. Appeal by defendant Dyer from report of the local master at London of January 15, 1915.

Judgment: As to Savannah account, neither plaintiff nor defendant Dyer has ground for complaint and plaintiffs appeal as to this dismissed with costs to defendant Coles, fixed at $25. Defendant's appeal as to $1,800, charged back to him, will be allowed. The master's finding defendant liable to the partnership for Hezlewood account, $93.37 for $93.67, and for $250 loaned Mahon without authority, is upheld. I think Dyer is chargeable with $150 for cigars in addition to $1-34.20, as found by report. He is also liable for interest upon $1,334.20, amounting to $247.56, as found. As to sixth ground in reference to $1,350 report is not disturbed. Interest on overdrafts should be reduced by $202.10, interest on $100 for four years and fifteen days, leaving total for interest on this heading at $346.14. The appeal as to the eighth ground failed.
