KILLED COOK'S WIFE

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 10.—Daisy Carlton, a young waitress at a local restaurant, shot and instantly killed Mrs. Joseph Leslie last night, after the latter had horsewhipped her. Mrs. Leslie's husband is employed as cook in the restaurant where Daisy is waitress.

Mrs. Leslie is said to have quarreled several times with the young girl for encouraging the alleged attentions paid to her by her husband.

BOERS MUST BE SATISFIED

Chamberlain Refuses to Enlarge Provisions of the Peace Treaty.

Says Britain's Treatment of the Boers is in Advance of That of the South by U.S.

London, Sept. 10.—A parliamentary paper issued to day gives a full report of the recent conference between the colonial secretary Joseph Chamberlain, and the Boer generals, Botha, De Wet and Delany. Prior to agreeing to the interview which the Boers asked for Aug. 20, the colonial secretary requested a list of the subjects which it was desired to discuss and the generals forwarded a list of subjects, including the following:—

Complete amnesty to the rebels. A yearly grant to all Boer widows and orphans and maimed burghers. Equal rights for the English and Dutch languages in the schools and courts.

That equal rights with the British be conceded to burghers complying with the terms of surrender, including the right to return to South Africa. The immediate release of all prisoners of war.

The reinstatement of the officials of the late South African republics or compensation for their loss of office. Compensation for all loss occasioned by the British troops by the use, removal, burning or destruction by other means, of all private property. The reinstatement of the burghers in the ownership of their farms confiscated or sold under the proclamation of Aug. 7, 1901.

Compensation for the use of the properties of burghers taken by the British authorities.

Payment of the lawful obligations of the late South African Republics including those incurred during the war.

The rescission of the decision to add a portion of the Transvaal to Natal.

Granting of an extension of time for the payment of all debts due by the burghers to the late governments of the South African Republics.

CHAMBERLAIN ASTONISHED.

Mr. Chamberlain, in replying, expressed great surprise at the number and character of the proposals, pointing out that the conditions agreed on at Vereeniging were duly accepted by the burghers and the British government and that they could not be reopened, nor could proposals rejected at that time be again discussed. If the interpretation of the agreement was open to question, his majesty's government would endeavor to remove all doubts.

At the opening of the conference the Boer generals disclaimed any desire to alter the terms of surrender in any way. The subject of amnesty to rebels Botha expressed disappointment that after the promise given by Kitchener that the rebels had not been granted amnesty at the time of King Edward's coronation in reply to which Chamberlain promised that the Imperial government would not hinder any generous intentions of the governments of Natal and Cape Colony in regard to burghers.

As to the return of burghers to South Africa, the colonial secretary declared it was the government's intention to retain the right to prevent the return of disloyal persons, who had not frankly accepted the terms of peace, instancing former Secretary Reitz, of the Transvaal, as a case in point, and saying that Reitz was using language on the continent inconsistent with the declaration he had signed at Vereeniging.

BOTHA PLEADS FOR LENIENCY.

Botha said he hoped that the "sins of one man would not be visited on others," adding: "If one man says foolish things, let him suffer therefore alone."

Chamberlain informed the generals that there was no truth in the report that the government intended to sell farms belonging to burghers. Regarding some farms sold in the Orange River Colony in regard to burghers, Chamberlain promised that the farms bought by the government would be retransferred to their former owners.

Botha criticised the composition of the commission appointed to allot the grant of $15,000,000 to assist burghers and their families in returning to their homes, and for restocking their farms, etc., and objected to national scouts serving as commissioners, but Chamberlain maintained that the government must be true to those who supported it.

Relative to the transfer to Natal of part of the Transvaal, Botha said the burghers proposed to trek therefrom. He lived there, but he saw no chance.

GOVERNMENT'S LIFE LIMITED TO SIX SHORT MONTHS

Leading Supporters of the Government in Toronto Even Now Looking For Their Resignation—Conservative Prospects Never So Bright and Growing Better Daily—Public Opinion With Mr. Whitney.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—A most enthusiastic convention of Ontario Liberal-Conservatives was held here to-day, at which Mr. J. P. Whitney, who received an ovation, showing his strength as a leader, delivered a rousing speech.

Mr. Whitney, in opening, expressed the hope that every gentleman present who had been a member of the Legislature, would get up and say something before the meeting.

"We want," he continued, "to exchange ideas, to discuss the present situation and the prospects and the steps that are necessary to be taken by us in view of future possibilities and probabilities. There should be no hesitancy on the part of any individual present to get up and say what he thinks would be for the benefit of the party."

"With regard to the present situation," went on Mr. Whitney, "we are in a better position to-day than we ever have been; to-morrow we will be in a better position than we are to-day, and the day after still better. —Applause. I mean by that method of description to show you that I am convinced that the trend of movements and events is so strong in our favor that I was going to say we can hardly stop it ourselves. Of course I would not go to that extreme, but I mean to say that as far as human wisdom and judgment can go to a reasonable opinion, I believe that our position to-day is practically certain. In other words, that the present Government cannot possibly be in power at the expiration of six months from now. —Loud applause. There are some matters that I cannot deal with as fully as I might, because it would be unwise to give the sources of my information; but I tell you to-day, these never was a British Government anywhere so practically certain of dissolution as the present Ontario Government, and if you polled the ministers to-day under oath, I believe a majority of them would say that I told the truth."

"Take North Renfrew, a constituency which has been a Grit constituency for a long time. Mr. Andrew White, brother of the Hon. Peter White, and a well-known public man, personally in touch with all the people in that constituency, succeeded in wresting it from our opponents. Unfortunately for us, he died, and the constituency was got back into the Grit ranks by Mr. Munro, a man of great force of character, of great determination, one of these men who will succeed in any object which they have in view, provided it is in the power of man to succeed, and there is not another such Grit to-day in North Renfrew. I believe from the moment when I have received that our chances to-day are equal for winning the constituency of North Renfrew, and that as the days go on they will be more than equal. There is the utmost enthusiasm and confidence among the Conservatives in that riding. The man, Mr. Mackie, who has been looked upon as the probable Government candidate, a man who a month ago would have said would be a very strong and dangerous candidate, is unwilling to be a candidate, and to-day I believe that even if Mr. Mackie does consent to run, he will show nothing like the strength which some weeks ago he was expected to show. I could give you the reasons. For one thing, there is an Independent Grit candidate, who declares that he has been ill-used by the party, but whether he will stand by his present position and remain in the field, of course I am unable to say."

"The position we are in now, having tardy justice done us in Lennox, is the Government has a majority of one and one seat vacant. It is a matter of life and death with the Government to carry North Renfrew. If they do not carry North Renfrew, the jig is up with them. But it does not follow that if we lose that constituency, we shall be in the same position."

"In regard to public opinion, unfortunately the rate in this country has been that by-elections have gone with the Government. It is not the case in the old country. The attitude of the people of Great Britain, careful in the conservation of their rights, is so critical that the moment a Government becomes installed in power, these critics begin to find flaws and defects in its administration, and consequently the Government instead of in the Government's favor, showing a healthy moral tone in the community. The opposite, I am sorry to say, has been the case in this country. In the election of 1898 we had an exhibition of it. There was no chance whatever for us to elect representatives in the by-elections, although I am prepared to say now that we did win certain of the by-elections, but we were robbed of them by ballot stealing. At that time I will venture to say that outside the members of the Legislature not one-half of the gentlemen in this room expected that we would win. If they had expected we would win, we would have won."

timism pervading the speeches, and the spirit of hopefulness animating all the delegates is happy augury of success.

Dr. Raume, M. P. P. of Windsor, pointed out that it was fair to infer from the enthusiasm in the ranks that victory would soon perch on their banners. In North Essex they stood prepared to grant every assistance in their power to place Mr. Whitney in power.

Dr. Willoughby, M. P. P. for East Northumberland, declared it as his opinion that in a very short time the province would again be facing a general election.

Henry Kilber, M. P. P. for South Huron, believed that elections were won by looking after the voters' lists. All old officers elected and several names added to the executive.

$60,000 NUGGET

New York, Sept. 10.—Samuel Hawkins Napier, who found what is said to have been the largest nugget of gold ever mined, is dead, at Provincetown, Mass. He died alone, except for the companionship of a faithful dog, 200 miles from any human habitation, in the wilds of the Gataineau river, Canada.

Napier's rich strike occurred in Australia in 1852. He was a purser on a Melbourne-Liverpool ship when the mad race for the Australian mines succeeded in a very enjoyable time in this city, the guest of A. Wemp, Wellington street, West.

He joined fortunes with his brother-in-law, and the two went out to the gold country. One day Napier's pick struck solidly upon a metallic mass of large proportions.

The nugget was taken to London, where it was exhibited and finally sold for $60,000. Napier settled at Bathurst, N. B., and became a member of the provincial Parliament, but his share of the wealth amassed at the Kingowar diggings was lost in speculation.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 11.

NO ONE-SIDED RECIPROCITY.

In an interview the other day, Mr. John Charlton said that he continues to devote his energies to securing reciprocity in natural products between Canada and the United States, and that he is much encouraged in his propaganda. He has established a "Reciprocity Club," in Chicago, and through it he is working. Mr. Charlton's missionary efforts are not well directed. Time was when our American cousins needed persuasion; now it is Canadian public opinion that is coy. Just to show Mr. Charlton that our neighbors hardly need conversion, we quote for his benefit the following from an American exchange:

"According to Mr. Bond, the Premier of Newfoundland he has secured the sanction of the British government to negotiate a reciprocity treaty between that colony and the United States, and is on his way to Washington for that purpose. We shall see in what spirit the Newfoundlanders' advances are met, but it may not be amiss in the meantime to consider the whole question of reciprocity, particularly with our northern neighbor. One would think that even the most thorough-going protectionist would not be unable to see, and would be willing to admit, that there are many products in which it would be to the advantage of Canada and the United States to trade freely. The Dominion has enormous undeveloped resources, its natural wealth of mine and forest, for example, is almost inexhaustible. It has practically the only workable nickel deposits in the world. Its copper, lead, and iron ores are of the finest quality and in sufficient quantity to supply the manufacturers of the Eastern States, at any rate, for the next century. Canada, and particularly its Eastern provinces, has the greatest forests of white pine left standing in the world, and has practically all the pulpwood. In a word, our neighbor has almost incalculable wealth in raw material for some of the most important manufactures. But Canada has neither the capital nor the manufacturing skill, nor have its people the kind of enterprise and push necessary for the building up of a great manufacturing community. On the other hand, the United States, particularly the Eastern States, have a superabundance of capital and their people are the most enterprising and pushing in the world. Surely statesmanship would be quick to see that here are all the requisites of a mutually profitable trade.

"The Eastern States could furnish a market for all of the ores and timber the people of Eastern Canada could mine and cut, and these, again, would be invaluable customers for our manufactured goods. Take the one article of hardwood alone. As has been said, Eastern Canada has valuable forests still standing. In the cities of the United States and in Europe there is a great and rapidly increasing demand for furniture, flooring, etc. In Buffalo and other American cities there are large factories in which many workmen are employed, and in which thousands of dollars of American capital are profitably employed, but, prosperous as this industry is, it would be greatly more so were it not handicapped by tariff restrictions. Could our manufacturers have free access to the Canadian hardwood forests, they could speedily reach out and secure the trade of England, and the European Continent. But let the present tariff wall be maintained and it will only be a question of time till the Canadians awake to the realization of the fortune that awaits those who first erect close to their hardwood forests factories for its manufacture. Had we been wise in time we could by a reasonable concession in the way of lower duties on Canadian lumber have prevented the imposition of the regulations which have had the effect of closing down forever the flourishing industries which made Bay City and Saginaw the manufacturing centres which they once were. What Canada has done in the matter of pine lumber, she may do with hardwood, and the splendid and profitable trade which is within our reach to-day would then be hopelessly lost to us, and we should see and be able to thank alleged statesmen for the sight—Canadian capitalists reaping the reward, which could be ours, and Canadian workmen, who are now content to produce raw material for American skilled labor, become themselves the skilled workmen, who, by reason of cheaper raw material, will be able to shut us out of the European markets."

Mr. Charlton will see that the people beyond the border quite realize what a good thing it would be for them if Canada could be persuaded to serve continuously as their hewers of wood and drawers of water. We have the natural wealth, and, fortunately, our people are awakening to the fact that this raw material ought to be utilized to furnish employment to Canadian labor. Our American contemporary rightly perceives that we have hardwood enough to keep many flourishing factories going, but there is no reason why we should not have these factories on this side of the line. If American capitalists can see a profitable future trade in taking Canadian woods, manufacturing them in New England, and selling the finished product in Europe, capitalists in Canada can manufacture the material here, and thus furnish employment to Canadian workmen.—Mail and Empire.

Charity Squanderers.

When Napoleon entered Genoa in 1805, the rich patricians of the city exerted themselves to gain the favor of the conqueror by all sorts of flattering attentions. The most elaborate of these was a banquet patterned after the famous one offered by Antony to Cleopatra.

The tables were set in an artificial garden, floating on pontoons, which were towed out to sea during the progress of the feast. At the conclusion of the banquet—again in imitation of Antony and Cleopatra—all the costly gold and silver plate was flung into the sea. This little tribute of honor to the emperor was not so expensive as it seemed, for the floating garden was surrounded with nets, and the plate was subsequently recovered.

What Men Like in Men.

Men like in men these traits: The honor that embodies the justice that ensures the right, the reasonableness that mellows and makes plain, the courage that proclaims virility, the generous instinct that disdains all meanness, the modesty that makes no boast, the dignity that wins respect, the fineness and the tenderness that know and feel. But when one thinks of it more carefully may he not sum it up in just a single sentence and accept it as the truth that all men like a gentleman?

A Prescription.

A schoolteacher in Frome, England, sent this to the father of one of his pupils: "I beg to inform you that in my opinion your son is suffering from myopia, and his case requires prompt attention." The next day the boy brought back this written request: "Mister, please knock it out of Jim, as I ain't got time."

The Samoan Language.

Speaking of the flexibility of the Samoan language, Mrs. Isobel Strong says that the little word "ta" means: "I, we, too, to beat with a stick, to play on, a musical instrument, to reproach, to tattoo, to open a vein, to wash clothing by beating and to turn a somersault."

Books Named From the Bible.

A close acquaintance on the part of authors with the terse and expressive phrases in the Bible is plainly shown in the titles of a host of books. Among the titles taken directly from the Bible, says the Saturday Evening Post, are the following: "If Sinners Entice Thee," "The Day of Temptation," "The Favor of Princes," "Wayfaring Men," "Weighed and Wanting," "The Wages of Sin," "Black, But Comely," "Dross," "In Dedar's Tents," "The Valley of Decision," "The Unjust Steward," "Sons of the Morning," "Visiting the Sin," "The Quick and the Dead," "The Prodigal," "The Bondswoman," "Tinkling Cymbals," "The Crown of Life," "Unleavened Bread," "A Laodicean," "The Birthright," "The Garden of Eden," "The Story of the Innumerable Company," "The Wings of the Morning," "Until the Day Break," "The Mantle of Elijah," "They That Walked in Darkness," "I Go a-Fishing," "The Tents of Shem," "The Snare of the Flower," "Give Me Thine Heart," "Mine Own People," "The Measure of a Man," "Resurrection," "The Market Place," "From My Youth Up," "His Brother's Keeper," "The Hosts of the Lord" and "On the Face of the Waters."

Shock After Burns.

Shock, which is always present in severe burns, requires the administration of stimulants. The amount of shock or collapse after any bad injury or sudden fright differs with the character of individuals. Some succumb to it much more readily than others. When serious, the temperature drops below normal, the face is pale, pinched and anxious, the pulse slow and feeble, the body bathed in a cold perspiration. Sometimes there is shivering. Sometimes the mind wanders. Place the patient at once in a horizontal position, the head slightly raised. Administer stimulant, alcoholic or aromatic vinegar. If whisky or brandy is used, give from a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful of hot water every ten minutes until five or six doses have been taken. Surround the body and legs inside the thighs and under the armpits with hot water bags, hot stones—anything to give warmth—but take care not to burn your patient. If the injury is to the head, follow the same treatment, but omit the alcoholic stimulant.

Apples and Currants.

If the liver is sluggish, refusing to work, so that the bile flow is deficient and so all fats remain undigested, the eating of either apples or an abundance of currants will effect a beneficial change. The jaded organ will be stimulated; all the digestive juices act; the food is all absorbed, and soon the appetite cries for more. Therefore the apple and the currant have been called appetizers because they are the means of bringing appetite to those in search of it. The apple being in season longest has the usual claim to favor as an appetizer, but the currant is almost as deserving of the claim. But it has more waste in the shape of fiber and skin than is found in the apple, the proportion in the currant being over 4½ per cent, while in the apple it is only 3.15 per cent.

Why Teak Wood is Durable.

The teak, which has passed into proverb as the best material for shipbuilding, is superior to all other woods from the fact that it contains an essential oil which prevents spikes and nails driven into it from rusting. This property is not possessed by any other wood in the world and furnishes an explanation of the fact that ships built of teak are practically indestructible. Since have been known to last for 150 years, and when broken up their beams were as sound as when first put together.

A South African Animal.

There is a curious looking animal in South Africa that looks for all the world like a piece of toast with four legs, a head and a tail. It resembles a pussy cat about the forehead and ears, but its nose is distinctly that of a rat, while its tail is not very dissimilar to that of a fox. This strange animal is called the aardwolf and doubtless dwells in South Africa, because, judged by his looks, he would not be admitted into good animal society anywhere else.

Misinformation.

Smith (angrily)—I understand you said my face was enough to stop an automobile?
 Jones—I certainly never said anything of the kind.
 Smith—Then I must have been misinformed?
 Jones—That's what you have. Instead of stopping at sight of your face, my reputable automobile would increase its speed.

Why He Desired a Cannon.

It is related that an Indian chief once approached General Crook and wanted to borrow a cannon.
 "Do you expect me to loan you a cannon with which to kill my soldiers?" the old veteran inquired.
 "No," the chief replied; "kill soldiers with a club. Want cannon to kill cowboys."

PIONEER DEAD

On Saturday morning at the ripe age of eighty five years, there passed away at his late residence, lot 16, concession 11, Harry Richmond, in the person of Mr. Wm. Pick, one of the oldest landmarks of this neighborhood. A native of England, he came to America 57 years ago, living for two years in Ohio. He then came over to Canada, working near Morpeth for the late Hooper King. A few years after he bought and finally settled on the farm on which he died. The following year he married Sarah Hewitt, daughter of the late John Hewitt, of Morpeth.

Mr. Pick served seven years as an apprentice at shoemaking, but when he came to this country gave up that vocation and followed farming. He was a member of the Methodist church on the Creek Road for half a century.

A widow and two sons and an adopted daughter survive him. They are Thomas Pick and George Pick, both living on the homestead, and Miss Ellen Pick, of Chatham.

AN EXPLOSION OF GRAY MATTER

By Charles Curtz Hahn

Copyright, 1901, by A. S. Richardson

It was two weeks after the terrible explosion in Dr. Wainwright's office, which had injured six men and nearly killed the doctor. Just how it had occurred was a mystery not only to the public, but also to Dr. Wainwright's brother physicians, who, after carefully examining the wrecked office, could find no sufficient cause for such an appalling disaster. The doctor himself was laid up in St. Joseph's hospital, and his man, who had given the alarm by shouting from the second story window of the doctor's office, had been confined in the Presbyterian hospital and unable to give an account of what he knew.

"You see," said Mike to the half dozen doctors around his bed, "the doctor was diggin' away at his books an' his skeletons an' cuttin' away at dead bodies until he began to think that he knew all about a man an' could come as near makin' one as the Creator himself, God forgave me for sayin' it. But he didn't care to do that, for he said there were entirely too many sinners in the world now.

What he did want to do was to make a brain, an' after three years of hard study an' practicin' he did so. I can't tell you what he made it up, but he knew himself. Sure, he used to be puttin' around in the office all hours of the night, keepin' me awake until I naded rest, for I slept in the little room behind the office.

"Well, after the doctor had studied the ingredients of a man's brain until he knew just what it was made of, he went to work muddin' one. An' I helped him, may God forgive me! He had studied some phrenology or other an' knew how to fix the bumps, too, so that his brain would be benivolent, an' when it was done it was as near like me own as two peas, berrin' the difference in size. Ye know what influence one mind has over another? Well, this was the principle on which the doctor was workin'.

He intended to work on other men's minds by this big brain of his'n.

"Ye'll be wonderin' how he set it goin', an' that is somethin' I'll not tell ye, either, for I don't know, but he figured an' figured wild electricity an' the powers of the air until he rigged up a machine that did the business, an' when he wanted to set the thing a-goin' all he had to do was turn a little crank, an' the brain began sendin' out its influence, an' as it was a dozen times bigger than a common man's brain he figured that he could make any man do what he wanted him to if he once got him under the influence of it.

"Ye mind owd Lawyer Skinner, him as wint crazy a year ago an' deeded away all his money to hospitals an' churches an' colleges? Ay course ye did. Faith, it was the doctor as did it. May the saints preserve us, ye, the doctor! As I told ye, this brain of his'n was made benivolent, like me own, wud a great bulgin' forehead.

Ye experimented on a number of animals before we came to Lawyer Skinner—ye know what a close fistid man he was an' the riches av him? Well, one day when I see the doctor toolin' him up the stairs I wondered what was in the wind, but the doctor had everything ready for him, unbeknownst to me, had a checkbook an' a lot of writin' paper an' deeds an' conveyances on the eliter table in the room where the brain was, an' pen an' ink too.

"Just step into the next room," the doctor said, all so pleasant as pie, "I'll look at some papers an' then I'll join ye."

"Well, the doctor seen the lawyer seated at the table an' then he turned the crank, which was out in the room we were in, an' then we stood an' watched him through the glass top of the door. First the owd fellow began to squirm around in his chair as if somethin' was happenin' to him. Then a powerful expression came over his face, an' he reached for the checkbooks. He filled ivry one av them for poor people an' churches an' hospitals, an' when they were all used up the doctor turned the power down a little an' wint in an' got him. Sure, an' he was a cute one,

Ignorance

Blows out the gas and furnishes the newspapers with a just and an obituary notice. "Didn't know it was loaded" may be an honest plea, but it never brought a victim back to life. Those who let a cough run on, in ignorance of the danger, find no escape from the consequences when the cough develops into lung trouble.

The best time to kill a snake is in the egg. The best time to cure a cough is when it starts. Ordinarily, a few doses of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure a cough at the beginning. But even when the cough is deep-seated, the lungs bleed and the body is wasted by emaciation, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will in ninety-eight cases out of every hundred effect a perfect and permanent cure.

"My husband had been coughing for years and people frankly told me that he would go into consumption," writes Mrs. John Shreeman, of No. 25 25th Place, Chicago, Ill. "He had such terrible coughing spells we not only grew much alarmed but looked for the bursting of a blood vessel or a hemorrhage at most any time. After three days' coughing he was too weak to cross the room. The doctor did him no good. I stated the case to a druggist, who handed me a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. My husband's recovery was remarkable. In three days after he began using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery he was up and around, and in two more days he went to work. Two bottles cured him."

was the doctor, for he sent me out to deliver him all before he let the owd miser out of the room. Next day he wint around an' tried to git his money back, but the most av it was drawn out, an' he couldn't.

"But this did not satisfy the doctor, an' so he tore the great brain to pieces an' began muddin' another one—the exact opposite av the benivolent gentleman. He picked up a low fellow from a saloon, who was all light an' niver spoke a peaceful word in his life, an' began experimentin' again, first wud animals an' then wud men, an' at last came the diffidence av preachers which caused the trouble.

"Ye know this, there was Parson Whitely av the Presbyterians, Mr. Wesley av the Methodists, Rector Engisn av the Episcopalians, Mr. Strong av the Campbellites, Dr. Doolittle av the Baptists an' one or two others, but their names has slipped me mind.

"As soon as they were seated in the back room an' the current was turned on them preachers began arguin' an' then after awhile to fightin'. After watchin' them for a few minutes the doctor became frightened at what he had done an', forgettin' all about the crank, ran in to separate the rivilin' gentlemen.

"There be no nade av me tellin' ye what happened then!

"The influence caught him as soon as he got into the room, an' he pitched into the fight worse than any av them. Begorra, but it was a fine fight! Ochi, how me heart jumped wud joy as I watched them peltin' one another an' breakin' the furniture into kindlin' wood!

"See I to meself, 'Wid such pious min settin' the example there can be nothin' wrong in a few whacks,' so wud a whoop I grabbed me stick an' rushed in.

"Be the Donnybrook fair, but it was a swate time we had! But it was too late to last. 'What should that Baptist do but swing a chair over his head, thyrin' to kill Dr. Whitely, an' instead av bringin' it down where he should he hit the glass jar on the shelf an' knocked the great brain to the floor an' broke it into a million pieces.

"Thin how cristfallen an' ashamed them preachers was when they came to themselves an' saw what they had been doin'.

"Av course the doctor would not explain, an' so the preachers began bergrin' him not to tell on him, which he promised.

"But I didn't.

"Thin the story wint around that there had been a terrible explosion in the doctor's office, an' him an' I were taken to the hospital. Whist, there comes the nurse wud the gruel!"

Final 1.*PRETTY WEDDING

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Heath, King St. West, was the scene of a very happy event yesterday afternoon about half-past four o'clock, when their daughter, Miss Alice May, was united in marriage to Alex. Whitney Hornick, a prosperous young farmer, of Tilbury township. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Rural Dean McCosh, in the presence of the immediate relatives only. The bride was attired in white and looked very charming.

The happy young couple left last evening on a honeymoon trip east. Upon their return they will take up their residence in Tilbury. The bride is well known in this city and is very popular with her many Chatham friends, who all join in wishing the newly married couple a very happy and prosperous life together.

Beef Ham

IS ONE SOLID Chunk of beef. No fat, no bone, no loss whatever, and the choicest cut of the beef, cooked with just a little seasoning. We can give you our word that it is the nicest thing we ever had in the cooked meat line. We have sold quite a quantity of it so far and everybody is pleased with it. Just try it. We think you will like it.

Cooked Ham

We have sold an immense quantity of cooked ham for the reason that our cooked hams this year have been superior. We have smoked cooked ham or unsmoked cooked ham, the latter kind especially having a big sale.

Geo. A. Young*OUR GROCER*'Phone 151*AN UGLY THREAT

Byron Freeman, who for two weeks had the honor of being night porter at the Rankin hotel wanted to get some money for his work. He went to the police court in his efforts to get money but the case was dismissed, so Byron got nothing. The man had hired to William Peck, for a month at $18 per 31 days and board. After two weeks Freeman quit suddenly, without saying a word, and Mr. Peck had to assume the official duties of night porter himself.

Freeman claimed that the reason he had quit was that he had been taken suddenly ill, but he had neither seen a doctor or told his employer that he was sick. Judge Houston told Freeman that Mr. Peck was bound to board him if he was sick, and everybody knows that Mr. Peck would have done so.

Judge Houston asked Freeman why he hadn't seen a doctor.

Freeman, as he was about leaving the court room said that he would make somebody else see a doctor. Judge Houston took this as a threat against Mr. Peck. When he learned that the exporter was in the habit of carrying a revolver, the judge ordered Freeman to sit down and threatened to send the fellow up to jail for a year. The court remarked that a man of the plaintiff's temper and disposition shouldn't have a revolver and, if it could be proved that Freeman had carried a revolver, the judge promised to deal severely with him.

KRAUSE CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Yesterday was a big vocal student enrollment day at the Conservatory of Music—eleven new students enrolled under Samuel Slade, seven under Miss Eva N. Robyn, both of vocal departments. Mr. Carter's personal class is much in excess of any past year's work, and all members of the faculty have felt a fine increase in their number of students.

The enrollment up to date has been double the number of any enrollment in the history of the Conservatory of Music.

News of New Fall Dress Goods

The tendency for fall is away from smooth finished materials and towards rough effects. As we have already stated, Zibelines are to comprise the novelty materials for fall, and fancies are to take precedence over monotones. A grand display of New Dress Materials and two Bargain Priced lines are the attractions in our Dress Goods Section this week.

New Zibelines, 42 inches wide, at 50c yard.

New Zibelines, 54 inches wide, at $1.00 yard.

New Zibelines, 54 inches wide, at $1.25 yard.

New Zibelines, 54 inches wide, at $1.60 yard.

New Chevots, at 50c, 75c, $1.00 and $1.25 yard.

New Broadcloths, at 75c, $1.00 and $1.50 yard.

New Covert Cloths, 54 inches wide, at 85c yard.

New Homespuns at 50c, 75c and $1.00 yard.

New Frieze at 75c, $1.00 and - - $1.25 yard.

New Venetians at 75c, $1.50 and $2.00 yard.

New Fancy Tweeds, at 75c, $1 and $1.25 yard.

65c Meltonette at 50c a Yard

11 pieces of heavy English Meltonette, full 50 inches wide, heavy enough for fall and winter wear. A beauty for unlined skirts, shades, black, navy, grey, browns and fawn. This is a good 65c line. We make a leader of it and for this week the price will be, per yard.....50c

Black and Colored Skirt Lengths

40 odd skirt lengths—3 1/2 to 4 yds—of black and colored dress stuffs, some light, some medium and a number of heavy weight pieces. These are regular 35c to 50c lines. We want to clear the lot this week and the price is, each.....$1.25

Opening! Fall... Styles*In Clothing for Men, Boys' and Children.

To celebrate the Opening of the Fall Season we will place on sale a line of suits for men and boys, which represents all that is best in the new styles and materials. The prices quoted emphasize the "Lower Than Elsewhere" kind for which this store is noted—viz:

Men's Fine Fall Suits	Boys' High Grade Fall Suits
$10, $12, $13	$5.00 &amp; $6.50

Intelligent buyers nowadays know something about good clothing, and we are willing to submit this line of suits to the most careful and intelligent scrutiny, as being the most for the money to be had in the city.

The Men's Suits Come in correct styles and are made of the most desirable materials—The newest plain and fancy worsteds including all of the favorite ducks and stripes, English and Scotch woolens, fine chevots, cassimeres, heavy serges and the latest fancy mixtures. Every garment tailored by expert workmen. Fit, style and material guaranteed.

Strictly Fresh Eggs

Are not always so easy to get. We made an arrangement with a large chicken owner, by which we get "strictly fresh" eggs every other day. You can depend on these; they are not only perfectly good, but are of fine flavor.

We have satisfied very particular people all through the summer and feel sure we can satisfy you also.

SOUGHT COIN SECURED CELL

Went to Police Court on Tour of Investigation, but a Ready Tongue Brought Trouble.

Jos. Thompson, porter at the Idlewild, paid a fine yesterday for being drunk. In the afternoon he remembered that he had had some money on his person when he was arrested. He went to the police station to investigate. He investigated so well that he got locked up and learned to his sorrow that a man's memory can get him into trouble. When Thompson arrived at the police station his condition showed that he had taken bracers after his sport of the night before. He found that it was P. O. Groves' day for being at home at the police station. Thompson became quite noisy when P. O. Groves said he knew nothing about the money, so that officer locked the money seeker up.

Officer Darr had arrested Thompson, so when the former came on duty last night he soon explained where the money had gone. P. C. Darr, when he searched Thompson, had found as much as 75 cents scattered through the pockets of the man who had gazed too long on the fluid that produces a rail-fence gait.

The officer had collected the coin and, putting it in Thompson's pocket-book, had concealed the purse in the hip pocket of the man of many drinks. There the money was located by P. C. Darr.

This morning Thompson pleaded not guilty, and the case was adjourned till 3 p. m. to get the evidence of P. C. Groves.

SOMETHING SPECIAL

The Ladies' Assisting Society never do things by halves. They have ever proved themselves adepts at enterprise and entertaining and their good cause has consequently prospered.

Their coming effort will be one of their best. The "Coronation At Home," announced for Tuesday evening next at Christ Church, promises to be a unique and delightful affair. Apart altogether from the social treat it will bring about and the more material consideration of a coronation menu, an excellent program has been provided.

The ladies, with their usual good fortune, have secured the services of much of the Maple City's best literary and musical talent and a specially enjoyable social is assured.

And the price is only 10 cents!

LAWN SOCIAL

Bethel Church, River Road, Harwich, was the scene of a most delightful peach social last evening. The lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stephens, next to the church, was very prettily decorated with Chinese lanterns, and tables were spread, on which were served peaches and cream and cake.

After the light repast the gathering adjourned to the church, where a very pleasing program was rendered. Aid Archie McCoig made a most genial chairman. He always does, and was at his best last evening.

After the program a hearty vote of thanks was given to Mr. and Mrs. Stephens for the use of their lawn and generous hospitality. The social realized $40. The program:—

Tommy Brown entertained a number of his friends last Thursday evening, on which date he completed another year to his age. While driving to the party Roy Jordan's horse, became frightened at some unknown object in the road and suddenly shied, throwing the occupants in the ditch. Percy Mummery was severely hurt and was picked up in an unconscious condition and carried into the home of H. Stover, where he was tenderly cared for. Miss Innes, who was also of the unlucky party, was badly bruised around the head, while the driver escaped without any injury and quickly stopped the horse, which ran into the fence. The buggy was also damaged, the top being smashed and the shafts broken. Percy's condition is now much improved, although it

BANKRUPTS IN LIVERY.

Curious Laws That Were Once Enforced in England and Scotland.

At one time in England and Scotland bankrupts were compelled to wear a distinctive dress. This was a result of enactments passed at various times in Scotland from the year 1006 to 1088. The Edinburgh court of sessions specified the dress to be of parti color, one half yellow and the other brown, something after the style of the dress now worn in English prisons by the worst class of prisoners, those who have attempted to escape or been guilty of murderous assaults on officers. The enactment also provided that the bankrupt should be exhibited publicly in the market place of his town for a period of two hours and then sent away, condemned to wear the dress until such time as he had paid his debts or some one else had done it for him.

Although this was a period of laws which can only be described as ferocious, this law was such an outrage on public sentiment that in 1088 it was so far repealed that the wearing of the dress was only compulsory in cases in which fraud had been proved or, curiously enough, if the bankrupt had been convicted of smuggling. The same practice was legal, but not generally in force in England down to the year 1836. The idea was, of course, to warn persons who might have given credit that the bankrupt was not able to pay, but popular sentiment soon recognized that it was wholly unfair to impose such excessive penalties on a man who might have become bankrupt through no fault of his own, and, as usual, when the law became contrary to public feeling it ceased to be operative.

Where Wives Rule Husbands.
In the valley of the Barca, in Abyssinia, there is a community where the women, without holding meetings or agitations of any kind, have emancipated themselves. All the women work hard, while the men are idle; but, by way of compensation, the house and all it contains belong to the wife. At the least unkind word she turns the husband out at night, in storm or rain, and he cannot come back until he makes amends by the gift of a cow. The wife considers it a duty to abuse the husband, and if she were weak enough to show any love for him in life or grief at his death she would be scorned by her tribe. The wife, without any reason, may strike her tent and go, taking with her one-third of the joint possessions. The husband, unless he is traveling, may not live out of his tent, but his wife may go to her parents for a year and annul, for the time, her own marriage.

Grim Scotch Wit.
The People's Friend cites the following as a sample of "characteristic Scottish wit—keen, grim and caustic." A certain parishioner dealt in old horses, alternating his spells of labor with heavy sleeps. During the period of depression which followed each overindulgence John habitually took to bed and there diligently studied the family Bible. During one of these fits of attempted reformation his condition prompted his wife to call in the Rev. Mr. Wallace, the parish minister, who at the time happened to be passing.
"Oh, Maister Wallace, come in and see our John; he's rale bad!"
"What's wrang wi' him?"
"He's fere to meet his Makker," said Mrs. John.
"Quick as fire came the crushing reply:
"Humph! Thell'm be need na be fere for that; he'll never see'm."

Unsatisfactory.
"You should be a little more explicit in your statements," said the editor to the new reporter as he glanced over a batch of copy. "Here you say that the Hon. J. Edward Cashy, who has been under the care of three physicians during the past ten days, is now out of danger."
"Well, isn't that plain enough?" queried the new pencil pusher.
"Certainly not," replied the autocrat of the sanctum. "How is the uninitiated reader to know whether the Hon. J. Edward is on the highroad to recovery or dead and out of reach of the three physicians?"

A Canny Contract.
A fountain in a public square needed painting.
An artist agreed to do it for nothing, provided he could take as much time as he pleased for the job and erect a boarding to protect himself from idle curiosity while at work.
The contract was made on these terms, but the painter sold the surface of the boarding to advertisers, and nobody knows how long he will be painting the fountain.—London Answers.

Not Quite So Painful.
Teacher—What does the word celibacy mean?
Class—The state or condition of being single.
Teacher—Correct. Now, if you wanted to express the opposite of celibacy, or singleness, what word would you use?
A Bright Pupil—Pleurisy.

A Difference.
Marie—I have an engagement with Cholly and I don't know how to get out of it.
Helen—Haven't you any reason for breaking it?

Marie—Yes, I have a reason—Cholly is the reason—but I want an excuse—Puck.

Her Engagements.
"Your daughter has had a great many admirers."
"Oh, yes! She puts nearly all her window curtains on the rods with her old engagement rings."

A Telling Retort.

Fault was found, says the Christian Endeavor World, with the way in which the shorthand writers reported the speeches in a legislative body. They retailed by giving the speech of one of the members exactly as he made it, with the following result: "The reporters—ought not to—the reporters ought not to be the ones to judge of what is important—not to say what should be left out—but—the men can only judge of what is important. As I—as my speeches—as the reports—as what I say is reported sometimes, no one—nobody can understand from the reports—that it is—I mean. So—it strikes me—it has struck me certain matters—things that appear of importance—are sometimes left out—omitted. The reporters—the papers—points are reported—I mean—a brief statement—what the paper thinks of interest—is reported."

The Oldest Death Sentence.

The oldest death sentence extant is found in the Amherst papyrus containing the trials of state criminals in Egypt, about 1300 B. C. The criminal in this case was found guilty of magic, which his judges state "was worthy of death, which he carried out, and he killed himself," apparently by stabbing, as in the Japanese "hari kari," which is also of very ancient origin.

Among less civilized peoples drowning would seem to have been the earliest method of legal punishment, for about 450 B. C. the Britons killed their criminals by throwing them into a quagmire. Of other than capital punishments the oldest recorded comes from Chaldea, where it was enacted some 6,000 years ago that when any one manne a slave "the hand that thus offended should pay him each day a measure of corn."

The "Gold Snake."
A Mexican superstition very common among miners in that country, relates to the "gold snake." This species of serpent is perfectly harmless and very handsome, being green in color and with a golden iridescence in its scales. Faith is entertained that wherever a gold snake makes its nest there is a ledge containing the precious metal, and there are many miners who will locate a claim at once if they find a gold snake.

Reverend.
It was apparent that the barber was highly pleased.
"What has happened?" asked the man with the towel round his neck.
"I dislocated my shoulder in the spring," he answered.
"Well?"
"The doctor who set it got out of this chair just before you came in. If his wife recognizes him when he gets home, it'll only be by his voice."

The European Plan.
Landlord (after air guest has faintly at sight of her bill)—Jean, I have sent the boy for a glass of water for the lady, and I want you to see that 10 cents is added to her bill. Understand?

The Popular Length.
Artist—Do you wish me to paint you a full length portrait?
Mr. Saphiedde—Well, I want it as long as your customers usually buy.

"FOOT ELM" KEEPS
THE FEET COOL

Nothing Like it to Keep the Feet Cool, Sweet and Comfortable During the Hot Weather.

Every summer plenty of people are puzzled to know what to do to keep their feet cool. They suffer so much from hot, burning, aching, sweating feet that walking is absolute misery. A "Foot Elm" powder in each shoe will transform a pair of bothersome burning feet into cool, comfortable feet, and make walking a pleasure. try it, and see if it won't.

Price 25 cents a box, at all drug-gists or by Mail. Scott & Terry, Bowmanville, Ont. Do not accept a substitute.

Sunday in England.
Few people are aware how strict a Sabbath is still legally ordained in England. The Lord's day observance act forbids not only Sunday trading, but also every possible occupation—walking, riding, rowing or any game—and strictly enjoins upon all subjects over nine years of age attendance at church. At the opening of every assize the royal proclamation for the preservation of morality is read. People who are then present for the first time are astonished to hear that the monarch forbids and calls upon the magistrates to punish absence from divine service on Sundays, any playing of cards or other games of chance or haunting of public houses on the same day. Everybody found in an inn during service hours is liable to a fine of 80 cents, the landlord to a penalty of $2.40, and for a successful prosecution church wardens are entitled to a reward of $10. As recently as 1804 Isaac Walton, a manservant, was fined $2.30 for refusing to attend church on Sunday when ordered there by his mistress. About the same time a mother was prosecuted by her son and actually imprisoned for not attending church.

Don't Do It "Just For Now."
Many young people form habits which cripple and handicap them for life by doing things "just for now." They let things drop wherever they happen to be "just for now," thinking that they will put the book, the tool, the letter or the article of clothing later where it belongs. When these young people grow up to manhood and womanhood, they find that the habit of putting things down anywhere "just for now" has become a tyrant that fills their lives with confusion and disorder. It takes no more time or effort to put a thing where it belongs in the first place than it does later, perhaps less, and the chances are that if you do not do so at the proper time you never will. Even if it costs you a little inconvenience at the moment to put everything in its proper place, to do everything at the proper time, the orderly and methodical habits which you cultivate in this way will increase your power and usefulness a hundred-fold and may save you much trouble and mortification in the future.

Tried Hard.
At a trial at Auburn, Pa., one of the witnesses was a green countryman unused to the ways of the law, but quick, as it proved, to understand its principles. After a severe cross examination, says an exchange, the counsel for the government paused, and then, putting on a look of severity, exclaimed:

"Mr. Wilkins, has not an effort been made to induce you to tell a different story?"

"A different story from what I told, sir?"
"That is what I mean."
"Yes, sir; several persons have tried to get me to tell a different story from what I have told, but they couldn't."

Displayed Some Strength.
"Pa?"
"Well, Willie?"
"You wouldn't pick sis out for a strong woman, would you?"
"Hardly. Your sister is a quiet, gentle girl."

"Well, that's all you know about it. She just puts it on. Why, I heard that big man that's been calling here tell his chum last night that she threw him over. I don't know what it was, but if she threw him over anything she's a bird."

Prevention of the Flight of Birds.
To prevent birds from flying without the barbarous and injurious system sometimes practiced of cutting their wings it will be found sufficient to tie together with a thread three or four of the largest feathers of one wing. This destroys the balance, the wings do not act symmetrically in the air, and flight is rendered impossible. Poultry, pigeons, etc., may be kept within bounds in this simple fashion.

Merely Misplaced.
"Captain," said the cabin boy, "is a thing lost when you know where it is?"
"No, you fool," answered the captain, who, being a wise man, abhorred frivolous questions.
"Well, sir, your silver teapot is at the bottom of the sea."
Exit cabin boy.

It Wouldn't Work.
"I found," said the man who frequents the races, "that I seemed to win every second day, so I made up my mind to take a fresh start and bet only every second day."
"And how did you come out?"
"Well, I think I must have started the scheme the wrong day."

The Kind of Judge He Wanted.
The story is told of an Irishwoman who tried to console her husband with the remark that he would have a fair trial and an upright judge. "Yerra, woman," replied her spouse, "what'd I want wid an upright judge? What I want is a judge that'll lean a little."

Opportunity.
Opportunity has all her hair on her forehead, but when she has passed you cannot call her back. She has not tuff whereby you can lay hold on her, for she is bald on the back part of her head and never returns.

The average amount of water that should be taken daily is from two to four pints, or from four to eight glasses. More water should be drunk in hot weather than in cold.

THE ARIZONA KICKER

ITEMS OF NEWS FROM A VERY BREEZY EXCHANGE.

Some Personal Remarks That Are Quite to the Point by a Man Who Is Always Ready to Back Up All That He Says.

(Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.)

WE are told that no eastern editor accepts a railroad pass for fear of being biased in favor of the corporation. We can't understand it. We have three annual passes, and we like nothing better than to hold a railroad pass for the heck and give him a shake. Perhaps it is the difference in the climate.

None of the extinct volcanoes of Arizona seems inclined to resume business but we still have cloudbursts and cyclones to keep us up to the mark.

Major Halsey of Lone Jack and Colonel Henderson of Grass Valley exchanged shots the other day in the latter town, and the only damage was the wounding of a dog. We advised the both of 'em long ago to do their shooting with clubs.

As we were returning from Wolf Creek the other day a number of Colonel Taylor's cowboys struck our trail and pursued us for three miles, but our 'nurse held his lead and pulled us safely through. This is about their fourth attempt to catch us, and they ought to become discouraged pretty soon.

Bill Whalen, who used to hang out a good deal in this locality, was buried the other day in New Mexico. It is needless to add that he was hung by a vigilance committee and pronounced dead before the burial. Bill was a man who always ran a good thing into the ground.

We always endeavor to sail close to the ethics of the profession, but it does seem to be our duty just now to remark that the editor of the Blue Hill Banner is a liar, a thief and a coward. Should he differ from this conclusion a telephone message will always find us with the trumpet at our ear.

It has been suggested to us over and over again that if we desired to lead a blustering expedition into Mexico we should take the editor of the Blue Hill Banner with us. We have got all the business on hand we can attend to, and Uncle Sam seems to have more territory now than he knows what to do with.

The assertion at the head of our editorial columns that the Arizona Kicker has the largest circulation of anything on the face of this earth may be doubted, but as a matter of precaution the man who doubts it had better bring two guns along and get the drop on us before he begins to talk.

Most of the coroners in this territory instruct their juries to bring in a verdict of "struck dead by lightning" when a bikist is found dead along the highway. This would seem to make out that we have an unusual number of thunderstorms, but it clears up all mysteries with promptness and dispatch and saves expense to the counties.

The Red Mountain Eagle calls upon 500 single women of the east to come out here and marry 500 single men of Red Mountain and encourage them in their work of rebuilding a state. We have seen about 200 of the men of the Red Mountain district, and our advice to the single women of the east is to stay right at home and die of old age.

That we may not hereafter be interrupted in our editorial or postoffice work we shall set Saturday afternoon as a sort of holiday for people who want to shoot at us to drop in and pop away. Last week no less than eight callers broke in upon us at odd times, and though no damage was done, our work suffered from the interruptions. Saturday afternoon is the time, and come as soon after 1 o'clock as you can.

The friends of John Haynes fear that he has met with an accident of some sort. He started to ride over to Cochise last week, and two days later his boots and a few bones were found on the trail. It is the general belief that a mountain lion got him, and our loss is his gain.

Our esteemed contemporary came out last week with a challenge to us to meet him in mortal combat, but we shall not take advantage of the occasion. On the contrary, if he feels like shooting at us we will face a brick wall and let him pop away at us for an hour or two at ten paces. He may hit the wall once or twice, but we know he won't hit us.

A traveling fakir who came into this neighborhood four weeks ago and sold his liver pads for a dollar apiece and sang the hymn of the "Sweet By and By" with tears in his eyes has been found dead near Rocky Ford. He either sang too sweetly or his pads were a fraud.

It is now three weeks or more since any one pulled a gun and tried to shoot the hands off the postoffice clock, and we are living in hopes that the reform will last several months to come. We are prepared for a surprise party, however, and shall shoot as straight in return as we know how.

In a communication to this paper two weeks ago Judge Childers spelled "happy" with only one "p," and we took the liberty of adding another. He now announces that he won't be "happy" until he has had a shot at us, and we suppose we shall have to give him an opportunity. It is rather a bore, though, and there are times when we are inclined to let a halfbreed Indian run away with our dictionary and boil it down for soup.

It has now been definitely ascertained that the man who was lynched at Blue Grass Valley last March was a William Scott of Iowa, who had come out here to seek his fortune and gobbled a horse as a beginning. It is well enough that William should have been identified, but we can't see how it is going to help his case any.

The story in a Chicago paper that we won $3,000 on a hand of poker is the veriest nonsense. In the first place, the average jackpot around here is seldom above $2, and in the next we never met a man in this territory who wouldn't lie down if the sum got much above $3. The story arises from the fact that with king high in our own hand we bluffed Judge Harkins, who had an ace full, out of a two dollar and a half pot. The town is full of poker, but even the best players have to sweat the blue out of their suspenders in making enough to buy a plug of tobacco.

End of a Romance in High Life.
"You said," she complained after they had finished their wedding trip and he was too busy smoking and reading his paper to pay much attention to her, "that you felt as though you were among the clouds the day I promised to be yours."
The man who had married his stenographer merely answered:
"Yes. My office is on the eighteenth floor, you know."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Watered.
"I saw one of the trolley sprinklers at work today," remarked Mr. Snuggs to his wife when he reached home.

"Well," said Mrs. Snuggs, "I can understand how the trolley cars get their electricity through the wires, but not how the trolley sprinklers get their water that way."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

His Only Chance.

DINED IN THE KITCHEN.

One Satisfactory Meal Grant Had After His Tour of the World.

"When General Grant stopped at the Palmer House in Chicago on his return from his tour of the world," said a man who was there at the time, "the steward was all but stupefied one noon at seeing the ex-president slide in at the kitchen door as though escaping from some one."

"I am sorry to trouble you," he said, as though asking a great favor, "but may I have a little corned beef and cabbage?"

"Why, certainly," the steward replied; "but shan't I send it out to you in the dining room?"

"No," he answered; "I'll eat it right here if you'll let me sit down."
"So a place on the rough board table, where the cook had been fixing the meat, was cleared, and Grant drew up a stool and set to, and the way he got away with that corned beef and cabbage was a caution. When he had finished, he laid down his knife and fork with a funny sigh of satisfaction, put one hand on the steward's shoulder and said:

"Young man, I don't suppose you care for that at all, but if you had had to eat what I have for the past few months it would taste like a dinner for the gods. It tastes homey!"

"The ex-president had dined with everybody from the queen down, but that cabbage and corned beef doubtless reminded him of the time when he was not so well known, but probably far happier—when people in St. Louis called him 'captain' when they spoke to him and bought the wood he carted into town to sell."

Character at a Glance.

An insignificant nose means an insignificant man. An open mouth is a sure sign of an empty head (keep your mouth shut). A projecting upper lip shows meanness and avarice. Pointed noses generally belong to middle-class people. Large eyes in a small face betoken maliciousness.

A retreating chin is always bad; it shows lack of resolution. A projecting under lip indicates ostentation, self conceit and folly. Fine hair generally betokens native good taste and intelligence.

A dimple in the chin is pretty, but indicates weak mental organization. High cheek bones always indicate great force of character in some direction. Fullness of the temples is supposed to show powers of mathematical calculation.

A small mouth, with nose and nostrils also small, shows indecision and cowardice. Half shut eyes show natural shrewdness, together with lack of sincerity. Slow moving eyes are always found in the heads of persons of prudence and ability.—London Answers.

Wheat in Fable and History.

Possibly wheat was the corn so plenty in Egypt when famine drove thither Joseph's unnatural brethren. Wheat went with other precious things into the mummy cases and sealed jars stored in royal tombs. Today acres by the thousand laugh in boarded grain said to have sprung from sparse kernels plundered by a ruthless explorer from a royal mummy's hand. Does it whisper now—this new-old Egyptian wheat—to its constant friend the sun, of Rameses and Pharaoh—of Apis, the sacred bull—of Isis, Egypt's Ceres—of Osiris—the great sphinx—and Memnon's head, singing to hail the sunrise? If it would but speak aloud so mortals could comprehend, how our wisdom might be broadened! What a re-creating of history must be wrought and how we boasting moderns might hide diminished heads!

A Tart Retort.

Lord Roberts once found himself the center of a circle of new friends in a London club. There was a very tall gentleman present, who, evidently believing himself to shine as a wit, seized every opportunity to raise a laugh at the other people's expense. On being introduced to Lord Roberts the wit bent down patronizingly to his lordship and remarked:

"I have often heard of you, but"—shading his eyes with one hand as though the famous general, being so small, could be seen only with difficulty—"I have never seen you."

To this Lord Roberts promptly replied:

"I have often seen you, sir, but I have never heard of you."

The Safest Place in a Storm.

Every one is aware that it is not wise to seek a tree's shelter in a thunderstorm; but, if you must take refuge there, then climb to the topmost branches. It has been proved that the upper boughs of trees during a storm would be the safest position, and it is said that birds in the branches are seldom killed. When the tree is struck by lightning, it is the trunk which, presumably from its greater dryness, is a bad conductor and which therefore suffers the most.

Special Inducements to Liberality.

"What are your rates?" asked the prospective victim of the lady fortune teller.

"I can't afford to tell you anything but disaster for 50 cents," replied the lady, "but for $1 I'll agree to tell you a good fortune with no bad luck in it."

His Ideal Woman.

Parke—The other day I was in a kind of vision and saw my wife as the most perfect woman in the world.

Lane—Where were you?

MALT BREAKFAST FOOD

Is Nourishing and Sustaining

Medical Authorities Say It Is An Unequalled Health Food.

Thousands of really respectable people are quite indifferent to the requirements of the stomach, unless that organ is seriously deranged. Poor breakfast grain foods soon interfere with digestive vigor. When Malt Breakfast Food is regularly used each morning, perfect digestion, bodily energy and happiness will be your reward. There is no insoluble starch in Malt Breakfast Food; every particle is nourishing. The best medical authorities say Malt Breakfast Food is an unequalled health food for young and old.

MEN AND BOOKS.

Chopin rarely read anything heavier than a French novel.

Lord Clive said that "Robinson Crusoe" bent any book he ever read.

St. John Chrysostom never tired of reading or of praising the works of the apostle John.

James I. of England was a lover of the classics and very familiar with most of the Latin writers.

Bunyan read little besides his Bible and often said that Christians would do well to read no other book.

Salvador Rosa liked any kind of poetry, but more especially that relating to the country or to country scenes.

Hume said that Tacitus was the ablest writer that ever lived and himself tried to model his style on that of the Roman historian.

Locke gave most of his attention to works of philosophy. He said, "I stand amazed at the profundity of thought shown by Aristotle."

The elder Pitt liked Shakespeare, but not the labor of reading plays. He enjoyed hearing them and once said that he had learned more English history at the theater than at the university.

BOERS MUST

BE SATISFIED

of remaining, the feeling of the British in Natal being so strongly anti-Boer.

MARTIAL LAW TO END SOON.

On the subject of martial law, Chamberlain said it would not be continued much longer.

The colonial secretary refused to recognize as burghers foreigners who had been naturalized during or just before the war, saying they had been bribed by the resolution of the Volksraad giving them burghers' rights as a reward for taking part in a conflict in which they were not concerned.

Botha concluded with an appeal for the widows and orphans, and said he considered that the appropriation of $15,000,000 was inadequate.

Replying to this Chamberlain compared Great Britain's treatment of the Boers with the treatment of the south by the north after the civil war in America.

MORE MAGNANIMOUS THAN U. S.

"I would remind the general," said Chamberlain, "that we have undertaken already more obligation than have ever before been undertaken under similar circumstances. To take one case in my time:

"I recollect very well the great civil war in America, and I appeal to that because that stands out as a case in which more than ever before, or indeed, ever since, the victor the conqueror, showed a magnanimous and generous feeling to the conquered. There was good reason for this, because they were brothers of the same religion, the same everything.

"It was a civil war, but even in that case the northern side, that is to say, the victorious side, made no provision whatever, either by way of grant, pension or allowance to the people who had been wounded, to the side that had been conquered. They gave them their lives and liberties, and after a period of ten years, gave them votes, but did not give them any money compensation.

"But we have gone a step beyond addition to all our own enormous expenses a very large sum to relieve those who are really destitute in our new colonies. We have done more than I think was expected of us. We have done all that we can afford to do, and I think it would be undesirable for the generals to press us any further in this matter, either now or in writing."

FORGET AND FORGIVE.

Proceeding, Chamberlain reciprocated the desire expressed by Botha that they should all live in peace in future in South Africa.

"We want in this country," said the secretary, "to forget and forgive, as you think, as you will say, that you have something to forgive, we also think we have a great deal to forgive. But we want to forget all that on one side and the other. We each fought as well as we knew how, and there is now peace. All we want is to recognize you as fellow subjects with ourselves, working as we shall work for the prosperity and liberty of South Africa. How great that liberty is and how soon complete self-government will be extended to South Africa depends entirely on the rapidly with which the old animosities die out."

Chamberlain concluded with saying that the government would be glad of the co-operation of men like the generals, who had loyally accepted the new situation. As they wanted South Africa to be a happy abiding place for all, he felt sure that if the burghers met the British half way they would find them quite as good friends in the future as they had been loyal enemies in the past.

Free medical advice. Men and women suffering from chronic diseases are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., by letter, absolutely without fee or charge. For more than thirty years as chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Pierce has devoted himself to the treatment and cure of chronic forms of disease. Assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, each man a specialist, his success has been phenomenal, ninety-eight persons in every hundred treated being absolutely and altogether cured. Women have especially availed themselves of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, thereby avoiding the unpleasant examinations, and odious local treatments considered necessary by some practitioners. Over half a million women have been treated by Dr. Pierce and his staff for diseases peculiar to women, with unvarying success. Write without fear as without fee. Every letter is treated as strictly private and sacredly confidential, and all answers are sent in plain envelopes, bearing no printing upon them. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, World's Dispensary, Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

A LOVER'S QUARREL.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—As the result of a lover's quarrel, Rolan O'Shea, a young lawyer just admitted to the bar, shot and killed his betrothed, Emily Hogan, here today, tried to kill the girl's mother, and then turned the weapon upon himself and tried to commit suicide. He was removed to the Chicago hospital in such serious condition that it is thought he will die.

Last night the young couple quarrelled. Early this morning O'Shea visited the Hogan home with a view of reconciliation. The altercation was resumed and reached such a height that Mrs. Hogan interfered. O'Shea resented this action and fired at both women. The shot fired at Mrs. Hogan went wild.

CHUMMY WITH BRITONS

London, Sept. 10.—Most cordial relations have been established between the British and American generals attending the manoeuvres of 90,000 German troops near Frankfurt-on-the-Oder.

Gen. Young and French naturally interest each other as cavalry leaders, and Lord Roberts and Gen. Corbin are good companions, although not well matched in stature. Gen. Hamilton, being an outspoken and easy talker, also pleases the Americans. Gen. Wood and Kelly-Kenny are practical men of fine ability as orators. The British generals, being a field-marshal and lieutenant-general, outrank the two American major-generals and Brig-Gen. Wood and

South Africa to be a happy abiding place for all, he felt sure that if the burghers met the British half way they would find them quite as good friends in the future as they had been loyal enemies in the past.

The American generals, after giving a dinner to the German and British officers at the close of the manoeuvres, will visit Vienna, Paris, and London, and have a short run through Scotland.

WHEN YOU VISIT TORONTO

BANK OF FRANCE ROBBED.

Paris, Sept. 10.—Several of the morning newspapers to-day mention a rumor that the Bank of France had been robbed of an important sum, estimating that it was the work of burglars. The Patrie this afternoon published an interview with an official of the bank, who said:

"The robbery amounted to $44,000 in gold. It was discovered yesterday, but was kept quiet on the advice of the police. It was not the work of burglars. The gold was taken in the day time, evidently by a person or persons having access to the cash vault, but suspicion yet rests on nobody."
