Canada's oldest official student publication

By TIMOTHY LETHBRIDGE
The Brunswickan has been publishing for 118 years and is not in its 119 year. It is Canada's oldest official student publication, although it was not always called the Brunswickan.

For many years the paper was called the University Monthly and was published in the form of a booklet. At that time it contained a lot more in the way of creative writing.

In October 1922, the publishers felt the previous name was a little plain and so changed it to 'The Brunswickan'

In the late 1920's, the publication, which was still printing on a monthly basis, became a broadsheet paper, and on September 24th, 1931 it started publishing weekly. Then Lieutenant-Governor Hugh McLean said 'Such a paper will be an inspiration and assistance to students.' The Bruns has had its ups and downs, but it has fulfilled that prediction and remains one of the premier student newspapers in Canada.

Students now are lucky. In 1930 they had to pay 10$ per copy. By 1950 the price was down to 5$ and for many years now it has been free, distributed to various points around campus for those who are ambitious enough to rise early on Friday mornings.

Many notable people have entered the Brunswickan's doors, become Editor-in-Chief and then departed to gain their fame. Once such notable was Dalton Camp.

It's live, it's free,....it's the BRUNS

by DAVID MAZEROLLE
Editor-in-Chief

A thirteen-month-old baby falls to her death from a student apartment building. The Dean of Students is chosen without the general student populace getting a chance to meet all the candidates. The Student Union election is marred by various mix-ups at the polling places. A serious housing shortage exists in Fredericton, both on campus and off, with demand outnumbering supply almost two to one. Two UNB students win a place in the Guinness Book with the world record in continuous downhill skiing. Our girls' field hockey team places fourth best in Canada. The mens' ice hockey team loses in the semi-finals of the CIAU championships in a heart-breaking struggle with the powerhouse se University of Toronto team. Popular, award-winning rock bands like Rough Trade, the Spoons, and the Payolas appear at UNB. The Brunswickan is there to bring you the story and the pictures. Brunswickan reporters talk to the people who shape the events showing you the truth amidst the evasion, the facts amidst the hearsay. Our photographers capture and freeze the moments of action on the political frontlines, on the playing field, and on the stage. All this free, every Friday morning.

The Brunswickan is Canada's oldest student newspaper, founded in 1865. As we enter our 119th year, we the editors, reporters, researchers, photographers, artists, typesetters, ad designers--all and sundry--are hoping to produce a "Brunns" that is accurate, hard-hitting, provocative, responsible, attractive and appealing. If anything happens on our campus and in our world which will affect UNB students, we want them first to turn to the Brunswickan. Is this asking too much? I think not. Look out there among you, among you almost two thousand freshmen, you five thousand returning students. The expertise exists for the production of a truly great, truly powerful campus medium--the Brunswickan.

If you are inquisitive, objective, if you won't take "no comment" for an answer, if you think about and feel for the concerns of students; if you want to impart the facts of the situation to the people of the UNB campus, come to the news section. Can't write a news story? We'll teach you. Meet Cal Johnston, wunderkid News Editor.

Improve your photo skills at the Photography department, headed by Lisa Burke. The Bruns has its own cameras, lenses, and darkroom. A picture is worth a thousand words when it comes to communicating the image, the salient, dramatic point of the story.

Do you draw? You can illustrate an entertainment story, like a short work of student fiction. If you cartoon, please consider drawing a regular, campus-oriented humour strip. Remember, "Doonesbury" artist Garry Trudeau started his strip as a student at Yale. Perhaps you can do political cartoons to complement our editorials.

On the entertainment scene, the Bruns is looking for people with a knowledge of rock and pop music, ballet, modern dance, classical music and any of the other fine arts to write in the Entertainment pages. We may also print short poems and fiction by student writers.

The mechanics of producing a newspaper requires people to design graphics, to typeset, to prepare photographs for printing on newsprint, to lay out all the text and pictures on the pages. This is a vital area which although unglamorous, leads to the healthy, cathartic pressure of facing the printing deadline, as we work Wednesday night and some Thursday mornings at the layout tables.

These sessions also lead to the unique, unpredictable, and fractious camaraderie we enjoy here in Room 35. Come join the fun

If I sound a bit too rhapsodic about the Brunswickan, it is because I believe in it, believe desperately in free speech and the public's right to know. I want our--and that "our" includes all of you--our paper to be essential to your Friday mornings, with all the news, sports and entertainment to make you a part of your university community. I encourage you, beseech you to join the Bruns in whatever capacity your skills and schedules will allow. I hope you'll search us out --we'll be searching for you. Talk to us at registration, or come visit the office at Room 35 of the Student Union Building office wing. With sufficient people power (we are an equal opportunity organization) we will truly be able to say "You won't be able to read it fast enough." Believe it.

Pigs in Space (news)

By TIMOTHY LETHBRIDGE

The news section is the largest section in the Brunswickan. Starting on page three, it involves from three to eight pages and sometimes includes the front page as well.

Being a writer concentrating on news is a fantastic way to get to know the university and its people. You can do such as cover protests or coaster derbies; or on the more static side of the news, but just as interesting, you could cover student politics, senate meetings and much more. Do a bit of digging around and find yourself a story, there is plenty going on in the university that few people know anything about.

The more staff there are covering news, the more interesting the paper becomes. If everyone could just cover one story a week, and research it in depth, many new and interesting facts would be revealed. Quite often, the editorial topic for the week will be inspired by some dirty work one of our news reporters has uncovered.

If you would prefer to devote most of your time and energies to another club or organization, you can still write for the Bruns. You could prepare a column on a regular basis about the activities of that organization.

When students first join the newspaper, many are worried they do not have vast journalistic experience or are not, "good enough." This is hogwash. Students are not expected to write as well as Dalton Camp (but if you stick with the Bruns, you may one day become a great writer as he did). The news department is planning to offer a series of workshops on such things as writing style, interviewing techniques, and editing.

The news department is interesting to work in and also fun. There are occasional trips, and of course great Bruns parties.

The present news editor for the 1984-85 academic year is Calum Johnston, and he can give you any more information you might want. Call can usually be reached at the Bruns News Line, 453-4973.

News turns a paper into a newspaper, literally. Come and see what we are all about...you will never regret it. Just come to our regular staff meetings Fridays at 12:30 in SUB room 2; or if you cannot make it then, come in anytime and see Salum Johnston, and we will set you up working on your first story from the week's news list.

COMING... SOON!

U.N.B. has an event for you

By BILL TRAER
Sports Editor

First of all, we would like to welcome all of you potential sports fans to U.N.B. This university has a rich tradition in a number of varsity sports which the Atlantic Universities Athletic Association (AUAA) offers to its member schools.

We hope you will join in this tradition and help support our teams. All students with UNB-ID are admitted free of charge to all university sporting events.

Stringing off the year is the Soccer team, the Red Shirts. Last year, for a few short weeks anyway, they were rated the number one soccer team in the country. While it didn't last, it would be nice if this year they could go all the way to a Canadian championship; the last time they won it was four years ago, right here at U.N.B.

The Red Sticks, which is our women's field hockey team is noted as being a winner. They have won the AUAA title 3 out of the last 4 years. Last Fall they hosted the CIAU National in which they finished fourth. Fan support really picked up for the Red Sticks last year and we hope it will continue.

When winter rolls around, the hockey team, the Red Devils get going. The Red Devils are now the in things in Fredericton. Last year, after a mediocre 23 years, they won the AUAA title. Earlier in the year, the Devils had been rated a good hockey team and had drawn several good crowds. But when playoff time came around, the UNB campus came alive with Devil-Mania and packed the Aitken Center to the rafters when the Toronto Blues, the Canadian Champions visited town. This year, Coach Donny McAdam returns as pilot at the helm and 84/85 should be another banner year for the Devils.

As for Basketball, we have quite literally, the best team in Atlantic Canada in the Red Bloomers. Our girls have not lost a conference game in 2 years.

The men's team though, had a rather disappointing season, so this is a rebuilding year for the Raiders.

Coach Don Nelson returns for his 27th year, one which

The U.N.B. Red Shirts on the move should see the return of the Raiders to winning form.

Those were the big sports at U.N.B. There are others which receive little support, and undeservedly so, such as the Black Bears, the men's wrestling team, which has dominated the AUAA for the last decade. Coach Leo McGee has a fine squad with many returning athletes. There is also the men's and women's volleyball teams known as the Rebels and the Reds and the swimming team which is called the Beavers. Rounding out the sports are the cross-country teams, the Red Harriers and the Red Blazers, the women's hockey team, three time New Brunswick Champions, which coach Mike Power hopes they can improve on.

As one can see, UNB offers a variety of sports to the spectator, and a lot to offer to the non-spectators. UNB has a fine Phys-Ed facility which can be made use of by any student.

The Canadian Olympic Volleyball team plays the Cuban National team.

The U.N.B. Red Raiders battle the Saint Marys Huskies at the Aitken Center.

Entertainment WANTS You!!!

By MIKE MACKINNON
Entertainment Editor

Do you enjoy going to concerts and pubs in the SUB, reviewing records or attending films? If you do, then the Entertainment Department is the area of the Brunswickan for you.

During the school CSL (Campus Services Ltd), either singly or in conjunction with other groups, will be holding pubs in the SUB that will feature live bands. It is our intention to not only review these bands but to promote them as well. If you are interested in doing some along these lines your help is more than welcome.

In addition, this year we would like to start running record and book reviews on a regular basis. This has been done in the past but in a rather sporadic manner. Once again, any help in this endeavor is welcome.

Move and film reviews have been a regular feature of the Entertainment section and this year things will be no different. Along with reviews of moves that are currently showing in the city we also publish write-ups and reviews of films presented by university based groups such as the UNB Film Society. Other presentations covered by this area are plays put on by T.N.B. (Theatre New Brunswick) and other groups; ballet, such as the National Ballet shows coming up on September 11 and 12, and the Noon Hour entertainment series held at d'Avrey Hall.

All things considered, there is a wide range of topics to be covered in this section and your help is not only welcomed, but needed. If you are interested, drop by the office, room 35 of the SUB, or phone me at 453-4983.

A touching and humorous story that features the eccentric Dr. Coppelius and his beautiful mechanical doll. Distinguished by sprightly dances and superb character development, this ballet is designed to enrapture and delight audiences of all ages.

"Bright and breezy..."

- Guelph Daily Mercury
February 10, 1983

"In a remarkable display of color, costume and intricate set design, the National Ballet of Canada began its winter season with a presentation of the romantic classic, Coppelia.

...a delightful, exciting two hours of entertainment."

- Barbara Meyers
Ryersonian
February 17, 1983

"...I cannot imagine a more enchanting ballet for young and old alike than Erik Bruhn's lavish Coppelia.

"...what a fantasy world it is! Some of the most gloriously uplifting sets and costumes and truly exuberant dancing..."

- Mike Saunders
CKTB Radio
February 14, 1983

"Coppelia...would restore even the most jaded lovers faith in romance.

The illusion is strengthened by the expert use of every aspect of Theatre. Costumes, that use the whole crayon box of colours, blended with cleverly appropriate staging is merely a beginning.

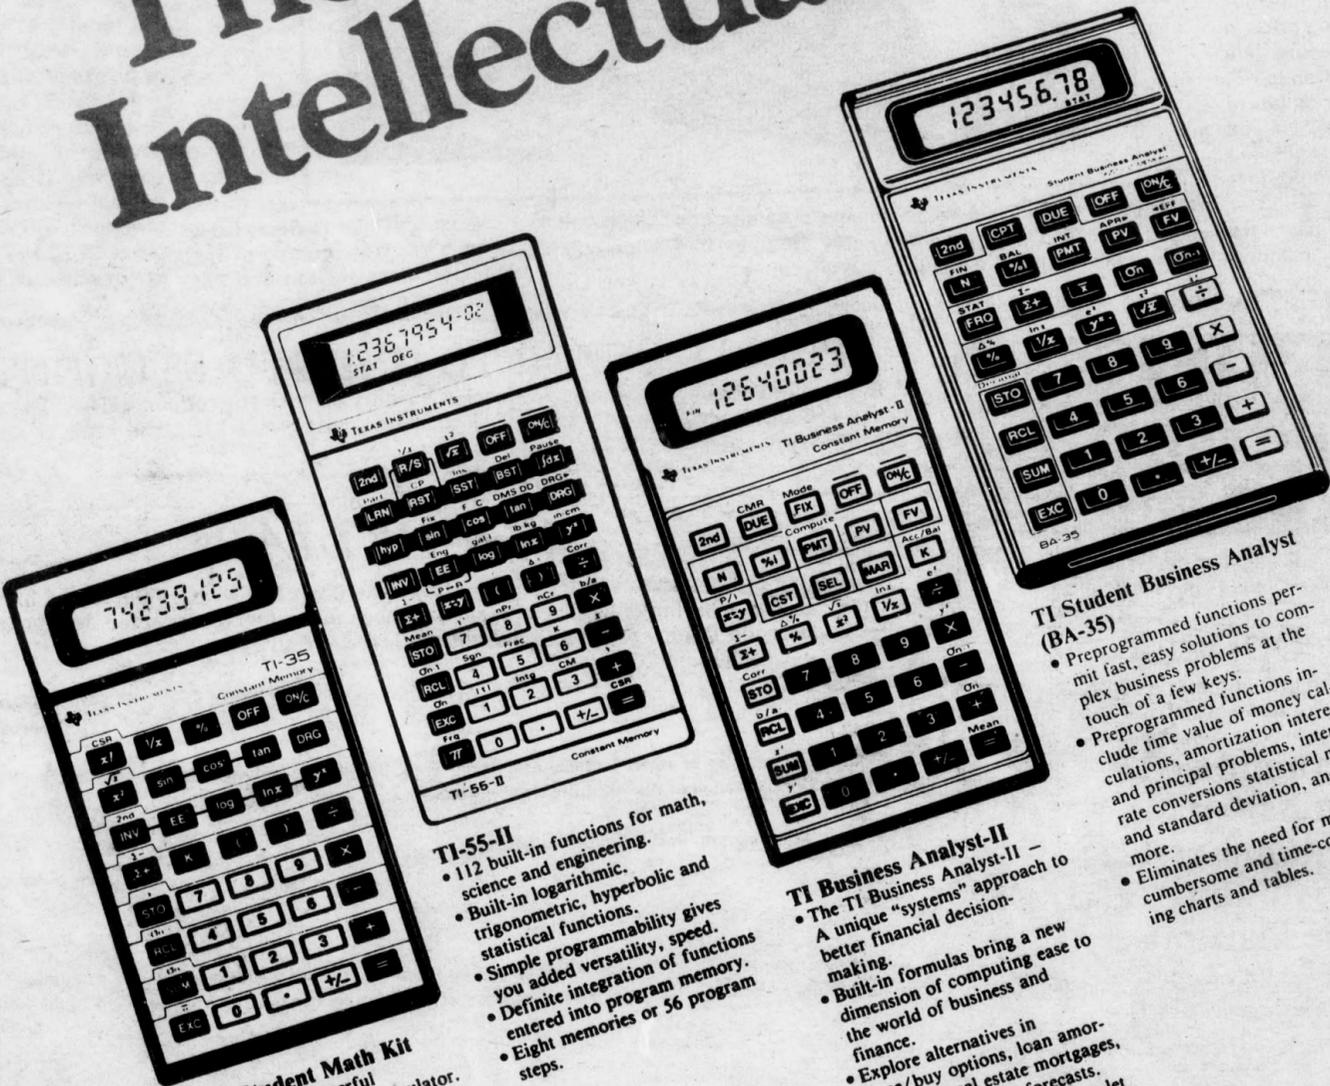

Most importantly, Producer Erik Bruhn has achieved a notably successful blend between the pure art of the dance and opportunity this work provides for mime.

...Coppelia is a delightful blend of all the elements of the dance, the acting, the costumes and staging and what the company also obviously considers equally important, the music."
