question, a convincing case against every
argument, and the naval experts freely admitted that Mr. Bachelet had made a deeply interesting discovery and one that promised great things.

They were particularly attracted by Mr.
Bachelet's passenger carrying model,
which, unlike the mail and parcel carrying train, is not intended to be propelled
by "solenoid" pulling magnets, but by an ordinary air propeller and motor. They asked many questions concerning the application of the system to the launching
of aeroplanes from the deck of a battle ship.

"Aeroplanes would have to have an aluminium surface underneath in order to be raised by this system," said Admiral Sir Henry Jackson, and Mr. Bachelet agreed.
(It is the resistance offered to the magnetic influence by the aluminium under-
body of the flying train that raises it in the air.)

"Could the system be applied to the fire-
ing of guns?" asked Rear Admiral Char-ton. Mr. Bachelet confessed that he had not thought of its exploitation in such a way, but could see no reason why the force of magnetic repulsion should not be utilized as successfully in that direction as
in any other in which power to lift heavy weights would be a desirable thing.

Sir David Salomons had a long conversation with Mr. Bachelet on technical points of his invention. He pointed out that the principle of magnetic repulsion was not new, and Mr. Bachelet admitted this to be so.

"But," he added, "I have found a way
to make it do what it has never been made
to do before—lift heavy weights in the air
and keep them suspended there."
"That is cut a right," said Sir David.
"You have made a most wonderful discovery, and the development of your invention will be watched with the keenest interest by all scientists."

The large number of letters that have poured into the Bachelet laboratory from all quarters in the world has been a keen
test to the keen desire to see the flying train
in operation. Mr. Bachelet has decided to throw open the laboratory to the public in due course, making a small charge for admission, which will be devoted to charities.

Death of Little
Nell Removes
Dickens Link

Passing of Mrs. Tice in London Recalls the Novelist and His Many Haunts.

(Special Dispatch.)
London, May 30.

THE death of Mrs. Tice, the little lady who claimed to be the original
of Little Nell in "The Old Curiosity Shop," removes another link with Dickens.

Some links time will find it very difficult to remove. Every time a Londoner walks along Fleet street the sight of St. Dunstan's tower may remind him of Trotty Beck and his exquisite dinner of tripe, and the message of the bells. And while nearly all of the unwholesome
slums east of Chancery lane that figure
so largely in "Bleak House" have been swept away, the water still goes splash-
ing on in Fountain court as it splashed
when Ruth was waiting there for Tom.

Dickens' own abode in Doughty street,
Devonshire terrace and Tavistock square
still stand to the joy and satisfaction of those who can see, or think they can see,
in the streets surrounding those houses
the originals of many of his most famous passages. To many it is a source of perpetual interest to speculate which of the streets in Bloomsbury it was that Dickens
had in his mind when he described those wonderful Christmas scenes, those heartwarming, glowing scenes of happiness
through which Scrooge's clerk passed on his way home to Tiny Tim.

But while houses and churches and
streets to a large extent remain the same,
the persons who formed the models for Dickens' characters must now, with the death of Mrs. Tice, be totally extinct.
There can be no one now who remembers
Dickens' own father, the original of Mr.
Micawber, who was constantly urged by Mrs. Micawber, Dickens' mother, to "throw down the gauntlet to society."

Leigh Hunt, the model of Harold Skim-
pole, seems already to belong to the dead
classic past. Mrs. Gamp had her representative all over London before "The dark corner of English civilization. Now
one would search in vain for a model of that lady—in England. A few might still be found on the west coast of Ireland.

DREADFUL TRAGEDY
HITS BRANT HARD

Today's Despatches Simply Con-
firm the Worst—No Brantford Bodies Identified as Yet—Tributes Paid in the Churches.

Out of a total of 29, Brantford
and Paris to-day mourn the loss
of all but two who departed on the Empress of Ireland. Sunday
despatches and those to-day only
confirm the worst intelligence.
The two saved were Philip Lawlor
and his son Herbert. Brantford
women and children perished
with the great majority of the passengers of the big liner. Although six Brantfordites, relatives of those lost in the deep, are now at Quebec with the view of identifying Brantford bodies, no
identifications had been established by them up to this afternoon.

Among those who left Brantford
for the scene of the wreck were
the following: E. White, W. E. Day,
Samuel B. Howell, A. Hobbs, Albert J.
Griffin and Albert J. Griffin and Herbert Tarry. The party left on the 6:45 T. H. & B. train Saturday evening, arriving at Montreal on Sunday morning.

Touching references were made
in all the local churches on Sunday in reference to the terrible disaster. At the St. John's Roman Catholic church, an especially large audience, and the services proved
most impressive.

On Saturday afternoon a telegram
was received at the street railway office from Mr. John Steele, whose wife, two children
and sister sailed on the Empress
of Ireland. The message read:
"It looks like the worst," thus confirming the report that all had been lost.

Mayor Spence announced this morning that the city is prepared
in any way possible to assist the stricken ones. In this connection
the C.P.R. has already come forward
and are carrying relatives gratis
to the scene of the wreck.

Meeting Saturday Night.
Owing probably to the short notice
given, the meeting called on Saturday evening of the relatives of those
lost, for the purpose of having representatives go to Quebec and assist in identifying Brantford bodies was only attended by a few. The C. P. R.
having promised transportation to relatives also, doubtless, negated the purpose of the meeting. Mr. W. F.

Cockshutt, M.P., and Ald. S. P.
Pitcher were present and offered
words of cheer; also promise of their personal assistance. This was supplemented by the offer on behalf of the city by Mayor Spence early in the morning. The meeting Saturday night dispersed in a short time after expressions of sympathy were extended.

Message from Mr. Cockshutt.
On Saturday the Courier received
the following telegram from Mr. W.
F. Cockshutt, M.P.:
"Am deeply pained to learn so many Brantford citizens lost in marine disaster; express my warmest sympathy
to bereaved."
W. F. COCKSHUTT.

Not James Faulkner.
In the report to-day it transpires
that the Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner, mentioned among the victims were not Mr.
and Mrs. James Faulkner, former residents of this city, but Joseph Faulkner and wife of London, Ont.

List Incomplete.
A glance at the list of survivors and those who perished shows that the lists are as yet incomplete. No record is given of one of the children
of Jim Steele, Altona street, while the name of Philip Lawlor is not included in the list of survivors, although he was credited with giving an interview Saturday. His son, Herbert,
however, is accounted for among the saved.

Dean Brady's References
Very Rev. Dean Brady, at the three services in St. Basil's church
yesterday, made reference to the Empress of Ireland disaster, and requested the prayers of the congregation both for those in sorrow and for those who lost their lives, and were cut off from life so suddenly.

When interviewed this morning by the Courier, Dean Brady said, regarding the disaster: "As there is no
statement yet of facts as to just how
the accident happened and where the blame lies, I cannot give an expression of opinion on the matter, but we all join in giving our sympathy for those in distress at this time, and we pray for those who were so suddenly cut off from life."

Among Those Lost

Company, Hamilton, and formerly a member of the staff of E. B. Crompton & Co., was among the lost on going to sink" and he answered "I think so." "When I couldn't cry,"

said Mrs. Andersen "although I felt like it" I said to myself my place is here
and I will die with my husband."

ceived here at noon, stated that

been picked up and identified.
The bodies of Ernest Jeffs and Charles Blackhurst of this town have not yet been found.

tistics for May: Births 70; marriages

How Fred Rutherford
Met His Fate Friday
(By Special Wire to the Courier)
MONTREAL, June 1.—Among the passengers on the Empress of Ireland
was Frederick J. Rutherford, living at 100 Chonedy street. Mr. Rutherford was silk buyer for James J. Ogilvy and Sons. He had made arrangements for a business trip several weeks ago,
having booked his passage on the Steamship Baltic, sailing this morning,
but cancelled this to accompany
friend, Mr. Hirschheimer, of Montreal who was sailing for England on the Empress to close some business trans-

sactions. Both Mr. Rutherford and his friend, occupied staterooms near
the smoking compartments in the section which suffered badly from the collision. Being in this position their chances of escape were very slight.
When news of the disaster reached
Mrs. Rutherford, she became dangerously ill and was taken to the home
of friends at 63 Stayer street, West-mount.

Mr. Rutherford was formerly employed by T. C. Watkins of Hamilton, Ontario. He was a brother of Charles and William Rutherford of this city.

Captains Conflict In Their Statements Of Shipwreck

Latest Phase of Disaster is Now One of Responsibility—Captain Kendall Lays Blame on the Collier—Details Over the Wire Concerning Cause of the Accident.

(By Special Wire to the Courier)
MONTREAL, June 1.—Marine authorities were busy this morning distinguishing the statements of Captain Kendall of the lost liner Empress of Ireland, and Captain Anderson of the Collier Storstad which rammed her.
In brief the contentions of the two are
as follows:

Boats Were Lowered.
While none of the men on board the Storstad will give extended narratives
of the disaster because they have been warned not to do so, it was gathered
that a moment before the impact the engine room of the Storstad was ordered to go astern. Sailors say that four boats were lowered immediately
after the collision, which made the way to the scene of the wreck and picked up as many living as could be helped by the little craft. They were all loaded down to their utmost capacity and only very careful handling prevented them from overturning. A second possible was made on the trips
to and from the Storstad, the living always being picked up first.

Pilot Talks.
It was not until he had landed from
the Storstad that Pilot Nault, the man who navigated up the St. Lawrence
from Quebec would make any statement.

Memorial Service Here
A memorial service for the victims of the Empress of Ireland will be held next Sunday,
and arrangements are now under way. The memorial will be held under the auspices of the Salvation Army, and will probably be held in the armories. The Ministerial Alliance, it is understood, is being asked to name
representatives to deliver ora-

LEGAL CASES
STRUCK OFF
Not One Obstacle in Way
of Brantford's Possession of Railway.
(By Special Wire to the Courier)
TORONTO, Ont., June 1.—The array of counsel was warlike enough
when the old time line-up confronted the Second Appellate Division at Osgoode Hall this morning in the ancient struggle over the Brantford
and Grand Valley Railways, but while the sapient batteries were there, a flash in the pan constituted the gunnery.

City Solicitor Henderson represented Brantford, J. A. Paterson, K.C., appeared for the National Trust and
J. Grayson Smith was spokesman for Receiver Stockdale, Trusts and Guarantee Co., Grand Valley Railway and Brantford Street Railway.
Mr. Henderson ssaw no good reason why the two cases on the list
should not be taken off. An application had been made to vary the minutes of judgment, dismissing appeals
in which Brantford had been successful. Brantford was bringing the railway and the agreement contract
had been executed. Mr. Smith thought
the cases should remain on the list.
A hitch might occur, and as a matter of fact no deeds had been given,
and the transfer had not yet been completed. "All I ask," said Mr.
Smith, "is to put this over."
Mr. Henderson took issue and the court struck the cases off the list, but without prejudicing any party's right
to restore them on two day's notice.
Brantford's street railway troubles,
presumably are nearing an end.

The fourth fire of apparently incidental origin within a few weeks
at Listowel damaged J. C. Hays and Sons' tile plant to the extent of $5,600.

IDENTIFICATION WAS A SORRY EXPERIENCE

Pathetic Scenes at Quebec Where Rows of Coffins Containing What
the Sea Had Given Up Were Found—Children Recovered.

(By Special Wire to the Courier)
QUEBEC, June 1.—Up to midnight
last night forty-eight of the victims
of the collision between the Empress
of Ireland and the collier Storstad
had been identified. The work of identification is very difficult.

Stretched in three rows in a low
ceiling pier shed are 188 black, brown
and white pine coffins containing 188
bodies, less than one-fifth of the victims of the collision between the Empress of Ireland and the collier Storstad.

Twenty-five of these coffins, covered with white satin and snuggled inregularly together, contained bodies
of babies.

At the heads of these forty lines of
coffins stood lines of men and women, many of them survivor looking for relatives and friends. Each coffin
lid was lifted by one of the searchers,
while others crowded close to get a glimpse of the body in that coffin.

The line is constantly moving. One
lid would be dropped with a low-toned
"No," and the searcher would raise
the lid of the next coffin.

Suddenly a low moan of a man or
the muffled scream of a woman broke
the silence, "Oh, Mary, my husband,"
or some name of endearment was uttered.

A stalwart man bent forward and kissed the gashed forehead of his wife—it is remarkable how many heads were cut or bruised.

A woman would fall fainting on the
lid of the coffin she had just raised.
Thus it went on all day long until 48
bodies were identified.

A man would find the bodies of his wife and children. A woman would identify the body of her husband. In the hunt for bodies of the victims
there was no distinction of class.

Every person, whether finely dressed
or roughly clad took their turn in the line that moved constantly from soft
fin, but the great majority of persons were disappointed in their hunt for relatives. At times a frantic man
would hurry from coffin to coffin,
looking over the shoulders of persons near it and trying to satisfy himself by a quick glance that the victim
was not the loved one he sought.

Toronto Man's Experience.
The most pathetic is the experience
of F. W. Cullen, a buyer for the T.
Eaton Company of Toronto, who had
sent his wife, two children and a maid, Jennie Blythe, on the Empress for a summer trip to England. The maid alone survived.

Cullen ran from one coffin to another looking for his wife, but in vain. Then he turned to gaze on the 25 coffins of children. He quickly
found the body of his daughter, Maude, 6 years old. The hunt among the babies, ranging from 12 months
to three years then went on. Some of the babies lying in the coffins looked as if they were asleep, with their hair curled or ruffled by a light
breeze. Others had bruised foreheads, suggesting vividly how they had been
hurled against stanchion or the side
of the cabins before the water came upon them. The legs and arms of others were cut and bruised terribly.

Upon the little ones Cullen gazed, and finally picked out one baby with blonde hair that curled in a wavy manner. He turned to Canon Scott, rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, and said:
"That is my boy." Then Cullen
turned again to search for his wife.
Scarcely had he turned away than T.
H. Archer of Saskatchewan, who had lost a wife and baby in the wreck, and had escaped himself, began to study
the faces of the babies. He had found the body of a woman that he supposed to be his wife. He came upon the body of the child marked No. 118,
which had been identified only a few minutes before by Cullen as the body
of his baby. Archer insisted that the boy was his own child. The two men were brought together by Canon Scott. Both were gracious and affable and both consented to "bury the features of the face again. A police officer lifted up the coffin in his arms, and he held it while the two men scanned the face of the child.
Cullen could not decide and he said
he would go and get the maid.

The maids after a quick glance,
agreed that the baby belonged to Cullen. Then came a deadlock. Both bereaved father clung to the belief that the child was his.

Someone suggested that the decision
be left to Mayor Brouin, of Quebec, to whom each father presented
what he considered proof that the child belonged to him. The Mayor
finally awarded the baby to Cullen.
Both the Cullen children were placed in boxes and forwarded to Toronto Sunday night.

ment. He then paused long enough to accept a chair and tell a few things. Captain Andersen, and his wife, who was aboard at the time of the collision and the members of the crew were feeling extremely bad about the accident, the pilot explained.

When the survivors of the Empress had been brought on board the Storstad after being picked up in the lifeboats of the collier, everything possible was done for them and Captain Andersen and his wife surrendered every bit of clothing they possessed to protect the survivors from the cold. They had torn a table cloth in two with which to improvise garments. "The Storstad" steered surprisingly well all the way up the river; Pilot Nault went on. "With the assistance of the Lord Strathcona, we had little difficulty in making eleven or twelve miles an hour. As far as we could ascertain from an examination on board, the ship had some twenty plates sprung forward, but aft of that she is not so mangled. After we left Quebec we flooded her aft compartments in order to keep her head up. There is no water in her hold, and she stayed on an even keel throughout the trip. Captain Andersen has taken the tragedy much to heart. Several times on our way up I have found him crying. He was very much worked up over it and was very, very sorry."

"Did Captain Andersen tell you yesterday to allow no one on board, and at first even barred out the bailiff against the owners of the vessel for $2,000,000 damages. He absolutely refused to permit reporters to go on board, though one, George Hambleton of the Montreal Star, eluded his vigilance, by masquerading as a bailiff assistant. Mr. Hambleton was nearly caught when copying down the terms of the writ and only escaped by pretending to help to tack it on the door of the captain's cabin, borrowing the shoe of the commander's wife for the purpose.

"Two officers of the Empress after they had rowed a lifeboat to the side of the Storstad and disembarked about twenty passengers, refused to go to the rescue again, declaring the lifeboat was too heavy for them to pull." This statement was made to a Herald Telegraph reporter Sunday afternoon, but third officer Saxe, who was on the bridge at the time of the collision, in company with First Officer Emarreinetz, and was corroborated by Second Officer Tofterass, who heard the third officer make the statement.

They declared they were unable to give the rank or names of the Empress' officers, but stated that some of the first class passengers who were picked up by them, knew them and told the officers they should go out again, but they refused.

The Storstad, the Norwegian collier, is now under arrest, by order of the marine authorities of Canada, pending enquiry into the wreck on Friday.

Mr. Harvey Cockshutt will be the host at a dinner party to-morrow evening at the Hamilton Country Club for the groom and other guests at the approaching Baker-Cockshutt wedding.

The following team will motor to Galt to-morrow, Tuesday, to play the golf club in that city: Messrs Schell, Revile, Champion, Large, Orr, Thornton, Neill, Bunnell, Mabon, Miller, Wilkes, Yates, Webbing, Forsayeth, Ellis, H. Watt and Preston.

Miss Eleanor Mackenzie of Toronto, a popular visitor to Brantford, has been accepted as a member of the Percy Haswell Dramatic Company, which is opening a summer season of stock plays at the Alexandra theatre Toronto.

Rev. Llewellyn Brown was in Montreal on Saturday and Sunday the guest of relatives there. In his absence Rev. Mr. Daniels, secretary of the Brantford Western Mission Band preached in the First Baptist Church morning and evening.

The golf tea on Saturday was very largely attended. The hostesses were Messdames J. E. Waterous, D. Waterous, C. A. Waterous, A. E. Watts, C. H. Waterous and Miss Helen Waterous. The floral decorations of the table were especially pretty.

anything about how the collision happened?" Nault was asked.

"No, he would say nothing about it. He said he was under orders not to talk. He told me that he had managed to pick up 340 of the people from the Empress and had done everything in his power to make them comfortable until they were transferred to the relief steamers."

Pilot Nault said a remark dropped by Captain Anderson at one time was to the effect that at the time of the collision, both he, Captain Anderson, his first officer and Pilot LaChance, the pilot who brought the Storstad from Father Point to Quebec, were on the bridge of the collier. This was the extent of his observations on board the collier regarding the actual collision. "Did any newspapermen come aboard at Quebec and tell Anderson what Captain Kendall had said?" Nault was asked in confusion.

"Yes, the captain answered them."

"What did he say about Kendall's statements?"

"He said they were lies," finished Nault.

A mute memento of the tragedy is to be found in the blood smeared on the bows of the Storstad, it evidently came from passengers who were crushed to death in their berths. One of the officers on the Storstad gave out the following statement when interviewed after the arrival of the vessel:

"At the time of the disaster I was lying in my bunk. Being awakened by a terrific shock, I jumped up immediately and ran out on deck, where I heard the engines going full speed astern. I am a strong man and have had several experiences during nearly thirty years at sea, but what I saw and heard there made me weep. I still see all those men and women shrieking and struggling in the water. The statement that nothing was done to pick up the survivors is absolutely false. We lowered the boats and rescued 357 of those on board the Empress. There was not an officer or a man aboard the Storstad who did not do his utmost to save life and comfort the rescued; every man on the ship gave away everything he had, the captain's wife even giving away everything she had, having later to borrow a pair of shoes from one of the engineers. We split up the tablecloths, blankets, etc. to cover the rescued, many of whom were absolutely naked when picked up. Those who had been in the freezing water for an hour or so were at once taken to the engine room, the warmest place on board, and so numb were they that several sat on the cylinders of the engines, their flesh searing on the hot steel. I am absolutely confident that public opinion will be entirely reversed when the true facts of the case are published."

Captain Anderson loyally and literally interpreted his instructions

shivering on the deck of the Storstad" Asks as to the cries which were exchanged between the commanders of both vessels immediately after the collision, John W. Griffin, Captain Lange's attorney (Lange is agent for the Storstad) stated that Captain Anderson heard Captain Kendall cry: "Don't go astern," and that he replied "I'm going ahead." The first and third officers were on watch on the Storstad and the captain was on the bridge some minutes previous to the collision.

L. A. Gosselin, K.C., has given the following opinions on the tragedy, based on what he saw of it, as a survivor:

"The moment the collier pulled clear the Empress began to list towards the side on which she had been struck. At once I realized this was serious. I ran into the cabin and aroused Lionel Kent. There was so little noise or shock that he had not awakened. I went back to my cabin and pulled on my clothes. There was quite a slant then. I went to the lower side, where people, perhaps a dozen, were working at a boat, trying to get it loose. We could not get it free and some of the men went away. Mr. Kent went to the other side and he afterwards told me he was on the rail and while he was there he did not see any boats lowered from the Storstad. Meanwhile the deck was sinking more along" when certain of the local beauties came "Thro' the Rye" on their way to work or fair.

This world-famous melody is to be found in the wonderful collection entitled "Heart Songs"—now offered by the Courier paper to its readers on terms that make it practically a gift. Elsewhere in to-day's issue is printed the coupon with music border that explains how this song book may be obtained. The sale of these books started on Saturday with a rush. The consignment will not last long.

Catarrah is an excessive secretion accompanied with chronic inflammation, from the mucous membrane. Hood's Sarsaparilla acts on the mucous membrane through the blood, reduces inflammation, establishes healthy action, and radically cures all cases of catarrh.

The air to which "Comin' Thro' the Rye" has become familiar to thousands of Canadians—and to which it is now sung—is an old melody. "The Miller's Daughter"—somewhat modified by Walter.

People generally, and the artist and commentator who have followed, have taken it for granted that the song referred to crossing a field of rye. But the authentic version, however, shows that it refers to the fording of the River Rye, where certain stepping stones allowed the barefooted Highland lassies to cross none the worse for the shallow water that swirled about their pretty ankles.

It may well be imagined that Burns and his convivial cronies were not averse to "happening

and more. The water was lapping along the edge. Then something came floating by and we reached for it. There were three or four of us. We found that it was a collapsible boat and we pulled the boat to us. The deck tilted so sharply that without any impulse on our part we were forced on board of the boat. We got the oars out and found ourselves in the midst of a lot of people in the water, and we pulled them in.

"There were about forty in all, and there were about three women. I took charge of the boat because there did not seem to be anyone else to do so. I made the people stand up so that there would be more room. There was so little room that I could hardly row. When we got clear we saw the collier some distance away. I could not tell how far, but it took about half an hour to row over to her. I did not realize then that she was the ship that struck us I thought she was some other boat. There were no boats coming from her. When we got there, there was a ladder over the side, but no one offered to help us. When we got aboard, I saw some sailors standing about. The captain was on the upper deck. He did not come near us. I shouted to him: "For God's sake do something."

"The captain came down and some of the men got down into the collapsible boat and rowed away in it. That boat came back and other boats come. The people were taken in at two places. Sailors stood about indifferently. I found a rope and got a life-boat, and told the people to use it. I do not know what language the sailors spoke, but the captain understood and spoke English. I did not see him after he left the deck. I certainly will be willing to appear and tell what I saw," said Mr. Gosselin in conclusion.

Lionel Kent, manager of the Explosive Company of Westfield, Ontario, said that many of the women were told, after the collision that there was no danger. Discussing the part that the Stordstad played in the tragedy, Mr. Kent said: "When I first went out the Stordstad was less than fifty feet away from us, and when they went around our bow and eventually to about a quarter of a mile away to the port-side. I cannot understand their attitude in this case. When their lights first came there, people thought it was a vessel coming to the rescue and exclamations and expressions of relief came from all sides. Some said: "God bless you," to the boats as though they could hear. But not a single boat was put out until about daylight, when two little white boats put out. They may have had their own troubles, about which we know nothing about, but to say the least of it, it seemed curious.

"I was picked up and taken to the Stordstad. Captain Anderson, who is a big man, stout and silent at the top of the gangway as we came up. He may have been feeling very deeply inside, but he did not betray his feelings to us. In fact the whole crew standing in groups about the deck seemed to treat the whole thing as a matter of course. The men all had a cabin about twelve feet by fifteen long, and the women's were the same. Men and women had scarcely a bit of clothing among them, and women, distraught with anxiety for husbands or brothers or others dear to them, came running in among the men to search the new arrivals, utterly unconscious of their attire. The men were just the same way. The horror of the night seems to wipe away all thought of anything of that sort, but the men did what they could to help them. People with only one or two garments, would give them to others who needed them more, and there was a spirit everywhere of helpfulness and gallantry. After about an hour the captain came down and took out about six bottles of whiskey. He left one bottle for us, and took the other bottles forward to Dr. Grant. I think for other survivors.

for the Empress of Ireland was continued by H.M.S. Essex and numerous smaller craft employed by the C. P. R. The bubbles were still coming up from the Empress to-day. The ship is three miles from shore. Two of the lost liner's lifeboats were found floating down stream.

Quite a Salvage MONTREAL, June 1.—Captain Belanger, commander of the G. S. S. Eureka, made quite a salvage while cruising about in search of bodies, and in all he found $2000 in purses that had remained afloat. One of $450 was picked up. All of the money was turned over to Captain Walsh, marine superintendent of the C. P. R. to await claim.

Can't Raise Ship QUEBEC, June 1.—Commander Tweedie of the Essex, who is helping in the search for bodies, is of the opinion that the Empress of Ireland is beyond all hope of salvage. This opinion, is of course, based on conjecture from a description of the damage done to the liner by the collier. He thinks that the hull will have to be blown up by dynamite so that it may not become a danger to navigation. The divers of the Essex have been offered to the Canadian Pacific officials if their services are required.

At the Ranges

The first match in the Canadian Military Rifles League brought out a large attendance at the Ranges on Saturday, some seventy-five members of the regiment attending. The competition was very keen and some very good scores were put on. There out of the four C. M. R. L. scores also count for places on a team which will be sent either to the Ontario or Dominion Rifle Association matches in August, and this will no doubt add a great deal of interest to the matches.

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to bring back color, gloss, thickness. Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready to use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of fuss. While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge and soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant. SOUTH BRANT'S CANDIDATE

Mr. W. S. Brewster does not need any introduction to the people of this city and county. Through the medium of his profession as a lawyer, then early in his career as a prominent figure in municipal life, next as a parliamentary candidate, and finally member—these and other things have kept him very much in the public eye during an exceptionally successful career.

However, a few facts as to his life will at this time prove of general interest. Mr. Brewster was born in Northumberland county, the son of a farmer. After a public school and collegiate institute course he entered Victoria University, from which he graduated as a B.A. His student career was exceptionally fine, and he won the gold medal in classics. Having decided to enter upon a legal career, he came to Brantford many years ago and entered as a student with Messrs. Fitch and Lees, who then had a large practice here. After two years with them he spent another two years with the well-known Toronto firm of Moss, Hoyle & Aylesworth, and after passing most successfully he was called to the bar and commenced practice here in 1885 as a partner of Mr. Fitch, Mr. Lees in the interim having passed away. He next practised alone, and then became the head of the firm of Brewster, Muirhead & Heyd, now Brewster & Heyd. The subject of this sketch has long held a foremost position at the bar, not alone in this vicinity, but also in the province at large. This latter fact was abundantly demonstrated when some three years ago he was elected a member of the Benchers of the Law Society of Ontario. This is a very high honor, as appointment is by vote of the entire legal fraternity of the province.

Mr. Brewster is not only a sound lawyer in what is known as the "office" sense of the term, but he is also a brilliant court counsel-

South Brant's Candidate For Good Government

Mr. W. S. Brewster, K. C.

—keen in cross-examination and most effective in jury addresses. He has often been called upon to act as Crown Counsel, notably when he brought Kennedy, who killed a little girl, to conviction, after he had been loosely allowed to escape the first time. Also in the case of Jack Bennett, charged with an atrocious murder, and Felix Doyle, who, although convicted, had the sentence commuted to imprisonment for life because of weak intellect. In all these instances Mr. Brewster, acting for the Crown, held the balance true, although bringing out the facts in unanswerable fashion.

His first public activities in this community consisted of membership of the Public School Board, of which he afterwards became chairman. He next entered the City Council as alderman for four years, finally as chairman of the finance committee. Then the call came in 1905 to carry the Conservative banner in an Ontario election fight and although he did not win against Mr. T. H. Preston in that instance, he pulled a large old-time Liberal majority down to comparatively small figures. Next time he defeated Mr. M. McEwen by 199 and last time Mr. M. Harris by 384.

After reaching Toronto Mr. Brewster was speedily recognized as having all the equipment making for parliamentary prominence. He has more than once been given charge of Government measures, and is a member of three very important committees—Legal Committee, Private Bills Committee and Privileges and Elections Committee.

Among other things, he took a leading part in helping to frame, and, together with J. W. Westbrook, M.P., North Brant, getting through the Gas Bill, which meant so much for the people of Brantford and Paris. Also, together with Mr. Westbrook, he secured an agricultural representative for Brant county. Another of his acts has been to secure a Free Employment Bureau in Brantford.

He introduced a Bill, but unsuccessfully, to abolish the property qualification for aldermen, secured a bass hatchery in Brant county, to which there has now been added, at a cost of some $3,000, a trout hatchery; obtained two large wings, greatly needed, at the School for the Blind, at a cost of $120,000, got through the Hospital Bill, having a clause added to place a representative of the Trades and Labor Council on the Board of Governors, and so on.

Perhaps the activity of which he is most proud—and rightly so—is the part he took with regard to the Workmen's Compensation Act. In reference to this splendid measure he was in constant consultation with Hon. Mr. Lucas, who had charge of the bill, and his assistance was highly appreciated by Sir James Whitney and the members generally.

In religion he is a foremost adherent of the Brant Avenue Methodist Church, and is its treasurer and superintendent of the Sunday school.

For every reason it will therefore readily be seen that Mr. Brewster is thoroughly entitled to continued and hearty support, not alone because he backs the best and cleanest Government Ontario has ever possessed, but also upon personal grounds and valuable service.

That he will win is certain, but in addition it is only the part of due recognition and proper appreciation to make that victory most emphatic.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT—MISREPRESENTATIONS BY LOCAL GRIT ORGAN.

The Brantford Expositor cannot, dare not, deny the splendid and the far-reaching nature of the Workmen's Compensation Act introduced by the Whitney Government.

The organ knows right well that in its varied and well-thought-out provisions in connection with the interests of the industrial classes, it is, without much doubt, one of the best and most progressive measures of the kind in the world, but instead of giving credit in a manly way, it seeks to belittle and sneer.

The main plea of our cotem, is that in some mysterious way the Liberals did the whole thing.

Let's have a look into this. When Sir James Whitney and his colleagues decided to ask Sir William Meredith, Chief Justice, to make an exhaustive enquiry with reference to the best and most effective labor safeguards in other lands, what was the attitude of the Liberal party?

The Expositor alleges that it was Mr. Rowell who first, in the fight of 1911, talked of such an enactment, and still further elaborated the subject in "the year 1912."

"The above is absolutely, totally and deliberately misleading, to use no stronger terms."

At a speech in Orillia during the 1911 campaign Sir James Whitney made the announcement: "The new bill providing for the compensation to injured workmen, which Sir William Meredith will draught for the Legislature, will be the best in the world."

The Premier thus told of action taken, while Rowell was spouting puny platitudes, not fully developed, according to the admission of our cotem, until "the year 1912."

After the statement of Sir James there was a Rowell mass meeting in Toronto, and Hon. Mackenzie King, former Minister of Labor, and speaking in the presence of and for Mr. Rowell, said:

"What the workmen of Ontario want is not reports by any Chief Justice. They have had enough to do with judges and law courts. They want to get away from law and all its associations. They want justice, but not justice obtained through litigation."

The outcome is well known. The Chief Justice, who has always been of radical views regarding the safeguarding of labor—he showed that more than once when a member of the Ontario House—brought in most carefully-thought-out deductions, and the thoroughly advanced legislation now on the statute books stands to the credit not only of himself, but the Whitney Government.

As a matter of fact, Rowell and the Liberals had as much to do with framing and carrying the Workmen's Compensation Act as the Brantford Expositor did in carrying Hydro-Electric, which it fought in an effort to keep Brantfordites in the grip of a private monopoly.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Both Brants.

Got 'em. Going to keep 'em.

And don't you ever forget that little fact.

Just one month of hustle and get there.

It's a cinch, but make it even cincher.

Messrs. Brewster and Westbrook are not experimenters. They have each proved their worth.

Do you believe in an honest administration of your affairs? If so, vote for Brewster and Westbrook.

'Tis the voice of the voter. You hear him exclaim: "Voted Brewster and Westbrook before. Going to do it again."

Our esteemed cotem, is running a series of editorial articles entitled

"The Story of a Day." Why not make it read all days?

The local Grit organ sobs that the Ontario House has been "prematurely" dissolved. As for the Rowellite chances, they are suffering from senile decay.

Don't forget that the first work of the approaching contest will be the registration. Every Tory will do his duty with regard to that, and don't you ever forget it.

Young men of Brantford, if you are twenty-one and a British subject, you can have a vote. Keep your eye on dates of registration court sittings when they are announced.

Eagle Gun Club

The Eagle Gun Club had their first match with the Gun Club from Governor's Road on Saturday and they gave a good stiff argument to their opponents, they winning by 15. It was a 25 bird shoot. The scores:

Eagles—B. Fisher 21; C. Page 25; F. Cook 14; R. Martin 15; J. Stevenson 13; M. Doherty 12; G. Matthews 13; R. Lambden 15; H. Bowden 16; J. Bowden 17; J. Dennis 19; A. Wood 10.

Governor's Road Gun Club—A. Hopkins 22; E. Hopkins 19; Ern. Hopkins 11; F. Hopkins 14; M. Vapple 12; E. Shuert 16; S. Greenfield 13; M. Chatterton 12; E. Chatterton 11; R. McKinnon 15; C. Moon 12; F. Braithwaite 16.

The two ten bird events were won by A. Hopkins on possible.

The prizes were cigars donated by McPhail brothers and Brant Bowling alley.

The return match will be held in two weeks.

Water Pumped
 During the month of May, 1913, water pumped at the Waterworks totalled 113,671,301 gallons or an average of 3,666,816 gallons per day. For May, 1914, the total was 130,067,728 gallons or an average of 4,195,734 gallons per day.

It Proved A Real Rouser

In the Borden Club hall on Saturday night there was a rally of the workers in connection with the approaching fight in South Brant.

And what a rally it was! Every ward, each division and sub-division were thoroughly well represented, and it was a grand thing to witness the enthusiasm—dead earnest enthusiasm.

Mr. W. S. Brewster gave an address bristling with information, which will serve to enable the canvassers to completely knock on the head any mis-statements upon the part of the adversary.

This city never saw a more determined or united gathering, and the outcome means victory with a corking big V.

Softball

On Thursday night the Ham and Nott softball team and the Good, Shapley and Muir team will clash at Recreation Park. The batteries for Ham and Nott will be Simmons and Sears and for the G. S. and M. Quinn and Dowling.

To-morrow night the Clerks softball team will play the Duffis at Recreation Park. The batteries will be: Clerks, Berry p.; and Robins, c.; Duffis, Stuart, p.; and Sears, c.

Shipping Out Baskets.
 Many rows of baskets lined Colborne street in front of the Willow Works this morning. They were part of a large consignment of fruit baskets, which are well constructed in from one to two bushels each.

With the City Police

John Howard was this morning committed for trial on a serious charge against moral laws. The defence was formally heard and the magistrate decided that he would adjudge the charge.

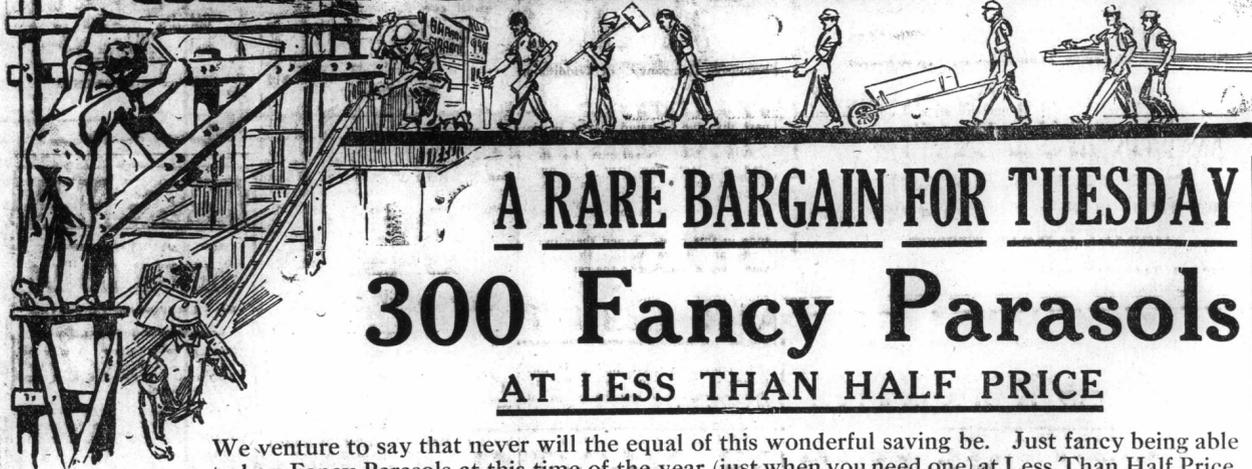

Once again the long arm of the law was put upon Ras Clouse, who appeared before the bench to answer a charge of fraud, preferred by Tom Botor, an Hungarian woman, who rented a portion of a house from Clouse for eight dollars a month. She claimed she rented six rooms and when she went to occupy the rooms she found a dark man established in two rooms. She objected and asked for her money back, which was refused. Ras Clouse things differently and said he had rented four rooms to her, and she had a separate entrance to the extra two which he had let to a doctor. The agreement showed that the woman had agreed to rent house number 7, and the magistrate decided that there was no fraud and he gave Ras his liberty.

Yet another case was dismissed when a Polish woman, P. Wozniak, washes the premises of the Brantford Plating Company was allowed to go upon a charge of stealing spoons from the company's building. She had taken them, not knowing or thinking that they were valued and to be plated, and had been very frank in admitting that she had taken them. She had returned all the missing articles.

Alvan Stepler, told a straight story, when he was charged with leaving his boarding house surreptitiously. He is now working in Stratford and offered as far as possible to repay his landlady, whom he owes 19 dollars. He expressed his penitence and will be liberated as soon as arrangements have been made.

Peter Marraele, an Indian youth, was sent home to his people at Chipewewa where reports show he was always well treated. His story, told some days ago, as otherwise, and he did not want to go back.

Impressive services were held at the Salvation Army Citadel yesterday.

At 9 a.m., prayer meeting was held when prayer was offered on behalf of the bereaved in the disaster of Friday.

At 11 a.m., Adjutant Hargrove gave a frequently words similar to the one found in Scripture. The church was ways in the minority, and the opposition numerous and loud.

Such words are addressed to the people as a source of comfort and strength. Christ in speaking to his disciples said: "When they cast you out of the synagogue, fear not, and in coming over storm swept waters, hold sway. He spoke the same reassuring words; and in the face of the awful blow—the greatest which the Salvation Army has ever suffered—we will but listen we may hear (him say in tender tones, "Let not your hearts be troubled, neither let them be afraid."

At night the Adjutant again addressed the meeting taking his text from Exodus 3: 7: "For I know their sorrow." Referring to the great disaster and the blow which the Army has sustained, he said their confidence was in God. The loss was indeed a sad blow to the Army but they must not let their grief deter them from continuing their good work; they must meet the blow with fortitude as becomes true soldiers of the Cross; they must not allow their sorrow to blind their eyes, or close their eyes to the fact that there are others who mourn.

Other members of the army also spoke, they having been closely associated with many of the Empire's victims in other years in the Old Land.

The band and songsters gave appropriate selections.

The Citadel was crowded and scores turned away.

It is possible that the memorial to the Army's dead will take place next Sunday. The Adjutant announced that in any case, the Victoria hall would be the place of meeting next Sunday night.

At the close of the meeting last night, fully a score of persons went forward to the penitent form, expressing a desire to live a different life.

The adjutant has received many messages of sympathy from His Worship, the Mayor. Rev. Mr. Jenkins, Rev. Mr. Rose and many other prominent citizens.

Venerable Archdeacon Mackenzie celebrated his 35th year in the ministry of Grace church yesterday. It being Whitsuntide, Dr. Mackenzie delivered two eloquent sermons on "The Holy Spirit," pointing out the four symbols by which the Holy Spirit is explained in the Gospels—wind, fire, water and oil.

By-Law Withdrawn

A Listowel despatch says: The local ratepayers Saturday to have voted on a by-law authorizing a loan of $10,000 to the Dominion Milk Flour Manufacturing Company. The promoters, however, at the eleventh hour, had the by-law withdrawn, fearing its defeat, as the town was favorable to a counter proposal, that of the Libby, McNeil & Libby firm of Chicago, who offered to locate a big condensed milk factory in Listowel if the town would provide inter-switching facilities between the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk railways. As this has been arranged the Chicago firm will probably locate here. Mr. John Hodgie of this city and Richard Thomson of Paris are said to be interested in the Dominion concern.

The new train from Montreal to Chicago made its first run yesterday and was met at the Toronto Union station by a group of C. P. R. officials.

REV. MACNEILL AT PARK BAPTIST

Eloquent Toronto Minister Delighted Large Congregation Sunday.

"Four years ago upon the re-opening of this church, after alterations," said the Rev. C. W. Rose, at the Park Baptist Church yesterday, "the speaker for the occasion was to have been the Rev. John MacNeill of Toronto. Changes however, intervened, and now after four years we are glad to have the opportunity of having Mr. MacNeill in Park Baptist Church,

when he will preach morning and evening."

It was a great rally day for the church and the morning service, also the evening service was attended by large congregations who were drawn by the fame of the speaker. He gave a masterly sermon in an emotional, but not demonstrative manner and took for his discourse the brotherliness of Jesus, which was found in the words of St. Luke and contained in the text "For He which sanctifieth and they that are sanctified, are all one. For He is not ashamed to call us brethren."

Christ was not ashamed of us, He gloried in his connection with us and proclaimed us from the housetops. The scriptures throbbed with that great truth, the love and brotherhood of the Saviour. The epistles had spoken of him as the Son of man and St. Lukes used the phrase after Christ

pouring out his very being that he might prove and confer his unity with men. He had gone through temptation that he might sympathize with men. There was not one moment of this life when his unity with men was not the supreme theme of his life. There was no need for Him to have died as human beings do, but it was in accordance with his unity that He should and He did. His love was proved by his sharing of his knowledge of God with men. He opened the name of God to men and he gave new life to the world when he spoke that name as it had never been spoken before. He opened the great secret of divine life, showing his great love for men.

Many men were given to ascribe all the dark deeds of the world, to God, whereas they lie in the heart of God. That could only be done through personality. There was a point of contrast between man and God and it meant that the great truth was that a great brotherhood existed between man and God. It was either God manifested in the flesh through Jesus or God must be spelt with a small 'G' for evermore.

The second great proof of this brotherhood was the sharing of faith with men. Jesus had said, "I will put my trust in Him." It was an example for us to lay our faith in God. Jesus had lived here by his faith in the power of God. He had gone through life on his knees—in prayer. He could have triumphed by his divine power, but he preferred to triumph by his faith. He conquered as we must conquer, where he might have called his miraculous powers into play. What he had done so might we by faith.

The third great proof of His Brotherhood was His establishment of a new race. The nation of Abraham had been scattered, its superstructure had been broken up and Jesus undertook to establish a new family and he gave the scriptures, which were given to all who believed, to form the new family of all who believed in Him. It was a family redeemed in his blood.

Jesus laid the foundations in a darkness that would never be fathomed. He was not a great high priest, who could not be touched by his humble followers. He was a father and would ever tend to our wants. He would visit us through the great love of his brotherhood and did it not strike us that we should endeavor to prove our strength in that brotherhood. It was our business to-day to lift every burden that burdens weary souls; it was our business to strike into the dust of evil. We should say to men of this practical age that we have a Lord who was so practical that he refused to build upon the unregenerate souls of men. We stand for a brotherhood that would never fade as others would with the touch of time. We should be glad, be jubilant because of the march of the Work of God.

A Sad Death

Mrs. (Rev.) A. J. Snyder Passed Away Last Evening

It is with much regret that we are called upon to chronicle the death of Armeta J. Wright, beloved wife of Rev. A. J. Snyder, pastor of Sydenham street Methodist church, which sad event occurred last evening at almost precisely seven o'clock, after an illness extending over two years. The late Mrs. Snyder was a woman of very strong character and ever a devoted member of the Methodist church with which she had been so closely allied through her husband's life, work. It was one of her greatest regrets since coming to this city that she had not been able to take the active part she had always been accustomed to assume in church work. She has been a severe sufferer for many months but through it all ever displayed a cheerful disposition and a Christian fortitude that was admirable, and worthy of the Christian woman she was. Mrs. Snyder was ever a woman of her own home and inclined to be of a retiring disposition. She was beloved by those who knew her best. She leaves to mourn her loss besides her sorrowing husband, two daughters, Mrs. P. McMillan of Winnipeg; Mrs. Frank Binkley of New Liskeard; and one son, Dr. R. Garfield Snyder of New York City; also two brothers, Reuben Wright of Kingsville and Andrew Wright of Harrow, Ont.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Obituary

Infant McHugh Mr. and Mrs. McHugh of 75 Marlboro street, mourn the loss of their infant son who died at their residence yesterday. The funeral will take place this afternoon to Mt Hope cemetery. The sympathy of many friends rests with the bereaved young woman.

Infant Jackson The infant son, Joseph Morris, of Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson of 53 Oxford street, passed away at the family residence yesterday. The funeral will take place this afternoon at Mount Hope cemetery, when the Rev. Mr. Whitelaw will officiate. The family friends sympathize with the sorrowing parents.

Late Mrs. Esther Robinson A venerable and greatly respected resident of Brantford passed away this morning in the person of Mrs. Esther Robinson at the ripe old age of 98 years. The death took place at the residence of her daughter Mrs. George Myers, 38 Nelson street. There are left to mourn the sad loss besides the daughter mentioned, three sisters to Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Frank Johnson of Brantford; Mrs. Vansickle of Hamilton, and Mrs. McKinnon, of Woodstock. The late lady was born in New Jersey and crossed the line while still a young woman. The funeral will take place on Wednesday to Putnam wher the remains will be conveyed by the G. T. R., after funeral services have been held at the late residence on Tuesday evening.

Esther Ann Hall. Esther Ann Hall, an old and valued servant of the Hewitt family died yesterday in her sixtieth year, at the residence of Mr. H. S. Hewitt, 168 Brant Avenue. The deceased had not been feeling very well during the day, but the end from heart failure was totally unexpected. She had a wonderful record of service, having been for forty-five years in the employ of the Hewitt family. Forty-four of this number was spent with Mr. S. Hewitt at 104 Brant Avenue and the remainder was given in the home of Mr. H. S. Hewitt, when she had taken up her residence this year. In appreciation of her long record, her late employer had provided for her in his will. She was in life a devout Christian and regularly attended the Grace Church.

She was never married and her only Brantford relatives are Mrs. Thomas Hall of Darling street, stepmother, and Mrs. Thomas Bremner of 13 Waterloo street. The funeral will take place to Mount Hope cemetery from the last named residence to-morrow.

The Story Hour. "The Three Beggars," by B. J. Ford, will be the story dealt with on Tuesday by the Story Hour, and on Thursday "Ariou and the Dolphin" a tale from Herodotus will be the subject, taken by Miss Middlemiss.

Only One The rumor is entirely incorrect that the hospital, which has about seventy patients, is crowded because of the alleged prevalence in the city of typhoid fever. As a matter of fact, there is only one typhoid case at present in the institution, and this came from Simco.

Waterworks Plans Willis Chipman of the engineering firm of Chipman and Powers, consulting engineers, will arrive in the city to-night to confer with the water commissioners regarding tenders for the new pumping machine. Quite a Falling Off E. B. Eddy, city relief officer, has just issued his monthly report which shows charity disbursements for the month of May amounting to $40.30. The funds spent for charity purposes will, as the warm weather comes, get less and less. For April the disbursements were 145.90, and for March $196.

Some Runaway Some excitement was caused on Dalhousie street, shortly after noon to-day, when a team of horses attached to one of the city garbage wagons, ran away up the Courier lane and headed down Dalhousie St. They had only got as far as the Strand Hotel when they were pluckily stopped by a pedestrian.

They Stopped Riding. A number of young Dragons last night were careering around the city on their horses and in many cases their doings were alarming the owners of the animals, who feared that if that treatment continued, their horses would be unfit for use at Niagara and last night several young sports had their names taken to the stables for the night by the police. The offenders will come before their commander to be reprimanded for their frolicsome spirit.

Income Returns The assessors report that there are many returns from persons as to the amount of their incomes not yet handed to the department. They are given ten days in which to fill these returns out and return them to the department, but many sent out on May 1st are not in yet. They are liable to a fine of $100, but the assessors do not wish to impose this fine unless they have to. The neglect to send these returns in in the given time has made a lot of extra work for the department.

Fire Department Out The firemen had a run last evening at 8.30 to McGregor's grocery store, corner of Richmond and Pearl Sts., where fire was discovered in the basement. Some excelsior had caught fire, evidently from becoming overheated, and when the firemen arrived the basement was filled with a dense smoke that almost suffocated them. However, the firemen, by the use of two chemicals, soon had the blaze extinguished. $5 will cover the loss to the store, as the only damage one was the charring of the beams in the basement.

STARS ACCEPT ONE MORE DEFEAT

They Played Better Ball on Saturday, However, Against Galt.

Another scheduled game of the W. B. A. was staged Saturday afternoon at Agricultural Park, the opponents being the local aggregation known as the Stars and Galt. The result was the same as usual, as the Stars were concerned, and it is to say they lost by the score of 8 to 2.

The Stars showed some improvement over their previous games, as their box score will indicate. They played somewhat better and although they had as many hits as their opponents, they did not come at the critical moments, that is when a hit would have meant a run. There is one fault that the Stars have and that is their work on the paths, which was sometimes very bad.

The Galt boys got away to a good start in the opening stanza by scoring two runs, with the aid of Mr. Plante, a long-tongued gent of the G. T. who was selected to do the pitching for the local boys. For the first few innings he was as wild as a March hare, hitting two out of the first three men to face him. Coupled with a couple of hits, and Bragg's error, a run had crossed the plate. It seemed as if the game progressed that the Stars played better ball. They scored their only two runs in the third inning on some good hitting. Plante, first man up, got a hit and Sears did likewise, and there were two stations occupied. Patterson went out, pitcher Von Ende, Bragg went out, O'Hara to the bat, Watt, and the bases were filled. Littich came across with his first hit, which was a good clean single, and two runs crossed the plate which was all the Stars managed to get.

In the third, Galt managed also to get a couple of runs. McGraw, Broadbent and Johnson hit in succession, and two runs crossed the plate. The next two men were easy outs. The Stars went out in order in the fourth while Galt grabbed one run.

It was about this stage of the game that the Stars began to show some real baseball. Bragg, after his errors, settled down and grabbed everything that came his way. The Stars again threatened to score. McKay started off with a beautiful double to centre, and was safe on third when McGraw dropped the ball after running McKay between second and third. McKay then showed his judgment in his base running by taking too big a lead off third and was caught about four feet from the plate, the next two were easy outs. The best play of the day was when "Nip" Wilkinson went to the fence and pulled down Broadbent's fly-scraper. It was some catch. The Galt player would hardly believe it had been caught.

In the seventh innings Galt scored their eighth and last run of the game. From the seventh to the end both teams played splendid ball, Plante es-

'SHAG' BEAT TORONTO

Canadian League Champions Sew it Up in Eighth and Ninth.

TORONTO, June 1.—Ottawa defeated the Beavers on Saturday at the Island in the final game of the series by the score of 6 to 2, the Canadian champions sewing up the game in the last two innings, when they scored two in the eighth and two in the ninth. The locals could not do anything with the slants of Lill, who replaced Shockey in the fourth, the Ottawa heaver having the Leafs completely baffled by his speed.

Ottawa opened the scoring in the second when Rogers hit for a home run and in the third scored another when Shaughnessy hit safely with Bullock on second. The locals courted their first in the third. Murphy singled and stole and tallied on a single. Isaac's single and Burill's double tied the score in the fourth.

The visitors took the lead in the eighth when they scored two. Lill was passed, Bullock bunted, and both runners were safe, on Murphy's error at second. Nill singled, filling the bases. Here the locals pulled off a fast double play, Shaughnessy going to first. Rogers was passed, the fourth ball being a wild pitch which tallied Bullock. Lage was passed and with three balls and one strike on the batter, Kirley was yanked and I Galm substituted. Powers walked forcing a run. Dool took up the flinging in the 9th. Fried singled and Lill walked while Bullock sacrificed them along. Nill grounded to short, Fried scoring, and Lill counted on a wild pitch. Shaughnessy grounded to short, a brilliant one-handed stop by Murphy.

The Beavers had the bases full in the ninth with two down, but Mr. Arty hitting for Asld, forced Burrill at third.

INITIAL TRIP OF THE "NORONIC," GRAND TRUNK'S FINE NEW PALACE STEAMER ON THE GREAT LAKES

Party of 200 Guests, Including Brantford Representatives, Left Sarnia on Saturday—New Boat is the Last Word in All the Comforts of Lake Travel.

The Noronic made its inaugural trip on Saturday with a large company of newspapermen and prominent people from many cities as guests of the owners of the boat, which company is to be known as Northern Navigation Co., running between Sarnia and Duluth.

The Grand Trunk Railway Management acted as host to nearly two hundred newspapermen from Canada and the United States on the occasion of the inaugural trip of their palatial steamship "Noronic." Points as distant as Fredericton, N. B. and Chicago, Ill., were represented by staff reporters while Ontario and the States bordering on the Great Lakes sent a large delegation. The "Noronic" left Sarnia wharf Saturday at 1:30 p.m., proceeding to Detroit, where a stop was made, and a tour of the city by auto was a pleasant diversion. Embarking again, about twenty hours were spent on the broad bosom of Lake Erie before the boat landed its happy load at Windsor dock, where a special train was waiting with diner and sleeper attached, and the return trip was made in record time, the representatives of the Brantford papers arriving here about eight o'clock.

It is a matter of pride for Canadians that such a magnificent boat should have been built and equipped in a Canadian yard, the Western Drydock and Shipbuilding Co. of Port Arthur. A few figures regarding the "Noronic" may prove interesting. The boat has a length of 385 feet and a width of 32 feet. She has 279 staterooms, each one equipped with electric berth light, and with hot and cold water. Her license permits her to carry 750 passengers while her freight capacity is 3,500 tons, and her gross tonnage 6,905. Comparing the "Noronic" with the "Hamonic" which until the present was the finest boat on the Northern lakes, it will be seen that the passenger accommodation has been nearly doubled while the space for freight has been but slightly increased. The dining room is worthy of special mention. It will seat 278 at one time, and the furnishings and decorations leave nothing to be desired. Large windows permit an unobstructed view of the ever changing panorama that is presented as the boat rushes through the water. The observation room, off which the dining room opens, is another favorite spot for sitting and lounging. Here dancing is nightly indulged in to the music of the splendid orchestra carried by the boat. The "Noronic" is to be added to the Northern Navigation Co's fleet plying between Sarnia and Duluth.

Brantford Had Military Aspect Sunday Afternoon

Church Parade of Dufferins, Field Battery and Cadets.

The Rev. Mr. McClintock chose his text from Luke 9:5, and based his address on the words, "Be ye of good courage." "The soldier," he said, "does his duty because he is a man. He is of good courage," and look to Christ for the highest courage the world has ever known. The noblest work you do, men, is not as soldiers, but as common men.

There are two kinds of courage, physical and moral, and military courage, being largely of the first kind, is not the highest—it is the commonest kind. The courage of Jesus Christ was something higher than the courage of a soldier shows. Ability to meet death fearlessly was the commonest. The fanatics who charged and recharged in the battles of the Egyptian campaign, and threw themselves, armed only with spears, at the lines of riflemen, were victims, not heroes. It takes higher courage to break through the walls of convention or time-sacred abuses and social customs. Christ turned on the money-changers and laid them low, fearful for their crimes, because he was morally right. The more I think of Him and the scenes of His labors, the greater grows the splendor, the grandeur and the magnificence of His holy Name. His was no courage that went out to death with strains of martial music and comrades at his elbow—it was higher, nobler, finer, the greatest the world will ever see. Temptations abound in the few days ahead of you in your camp. Can you take an example from the soldier who knelt before his comrades and prayed? Can you withstand the evils that are ever ready to your hands? Can you be a man of courage? It takes courage to do things and say things that men would rather not hear. I believe there are men and women in Brantford today who are selling their birthright because they lack the courage to break down the conventions that hedge them in. The Armageddon will not be a war of nations, of steel to steel, but it will be a war of civilizations, of West against East, and of ideals and standards combating. Go home from this parade, and when you

Mr. F. H. Walsh Sustained a Broken Shoulder by Fall on Sunday.

Mr. Frederick H. Walsh, coal merchant, sustained a nasty mishap at his residence, 150 Sydenham street yesterday. Mr. Walsh, who has been in uncertain health for some time was strolling in his yard, when a peeping rig made him turn and step directly off the driveway. He slipped and fell over on his shoulder, sustaining a broken bone where he fell. Mr. Walsh was reported to be resting easily to-day but it will be some weeks before he will be able to be around again.

Lacrosse

The local lacrosse club expect to hold their first practice this season on Wednesday evening next. Manager Slattery expects to have a number of extra sticks and suits to replace damaged ones from last season. The boys have lots of time to get in first class condition before the opening game, which is played in Brantford against London on Saturday, June 27th.

There are a couple of fast players from northern towns residing in the city at the present time, who have signified their willingness to turn out with the locals, so with all the players of last year's team available there should be some keen rivalry for positions on the red and black line-up this season.

Leafs to Practice.

The Maple Leaf Baseball club will hold a practice at Agricultural Park on Tuesday evening at 6.15 All players are requested to be present as the team for the game in Dundas on June 3rd will then be picked.

Cockshutt Game Was Chapter of Accidents

Football Games on Saturday Were Keenly Contested—Results and Standing of the League.

A series of accidents marked the game between the Dufferin Rifles and Cockshutt United at Mohawk Park on Saturday, when the teams played to a two all draw. The most serious accident occurred to Bobby Richardson, the United's best forward, he had his leg put out, and it will mean that he will be kept out of the game for some time to come.

The game started fast, Cockshutt playing with the sun in their eyes. They obtained a two goal lead and Richardson doing the trick twice and soon the Duffs, playing strongly exerted pressure and Humphries netted for them. Then Richardson was injured and carried off. Carey, the United goal tender, was next laid up and Anderson took his place in goal for the rest of the game. Play was vigorously contested in the second half and hard knocks were exchanged, Clark and Frank Biggs of the Duffs being laid up for a period. With a larger compliment of men the Duffs again scored, tying the score. The fight for the deciding score was strong, but neither side obtained it, and the game ended a draw 2-2.

Cockshutt had three men on the fence at one time on Saturday, and Duffs were playing with nine at another period. It was however, not a malicious damage game, and was an encounter full of vim, both teams going the limit.

Wanderers—Goal Dudden; B Charlack, Johnson, MacDonald, G Wallace, Atkison, Hutchings, T Mears, A. Bonner, MacKellar, Johnston.

Notes S. O. E.
William Mitchell played a good game and done some tricky work, also A. Baker played some good game. T. Mathias is turning out splendid football and he is some player for the Sons. A. Johnson played a good game and he scored the best goal of the season with a long shot. W. Budd and W. Smith played a good game and did some good passing. For the Wanderers B. Charlack is a good back and did some splendid work for the Wanderers. Dudden is some goal tender and worked hard for his team. Mears played a good game and Wallace is also a hard worker.

S. O. E. football club will hold a general meeting in the Roberts and Van-Lane shoe store on Tuesday at 8 o'clock; all players and committee men are requested to appear.

Paris and Tutela.
PARIS, May 31.—Paris and Tutela of Brantford played a game of one goal each in the Brantford-Paris football league on Saturday. The game was one of the best ever seen here and the large number of spectators were kept on their toes till the final whistle blew.

The teams were very evenly matched and some splendid football was witnessed. Paris scored their goal in the first half and Tutela equalled in the second. Bier for Paris, played a wonderful game in goal, his steps bordering on the sensational. W. Hollands of Brantford, refereed satisfactorily. The line-up—Tutela—Stanley, goal; Mason and Burns, backs; N. McLeod Roberts and P. McLeod, half backs; Hamilton, J. Hingley, Gore, Pointer and Fisher, forwards.
Paris—Brier, goal; Parker and Curl, backs; E. Coxall, Nabin and Beechy, half backs; Peterdy, Eccles, Rhodes, Dall and Chaplin, forwards.

Smith had many obstacles to combat in his role as manager and the worst of these was public sentiment. Smith found himself in a peculiar predicament, coming to Erie as a stranger, to succeed the most popular man who ever ran an Erie ball club, Larry Quinlan. The fans seemed to take the impression that not enough of an effort was made to obtain Quinlan and Smith, unfortunately, had to bear the brunt of the grouch.

It was apparent to Smith, too, that he was not having the best of success with the team and he deemed it advisable to quit and give O'Neil a chance to get someone else.

A NEW MANAGER

Smith of Erie, Pa., Replaced by First Baseman Gygli.

ERIE, June 1.—Frank Gygli is now manager of the Erie baseball team. The shift was made last evening, when George Smith, realizing that he was not having success with the team, and that he was out of tune with the youngsters on the roster, handed his resignation to George O'Neil, owner of the team.

ASHER REPORTS GALLAGHER GOES

An Even Break at Erie—Red Sox Open Series at St. Thomas Today.

Ed. Asher, the big right hand pitcher who joined the Red Sox to-day and went to St. Thomas with the team. He will likely work to-morrow with Gero and will pitch to-day. Asher is the part of a grand pitcher. He is a tremendously big fellow and has had many years experience. The Sox played an exhibition game at Niagara Falls yesterday and got beaten 12-2. Gallagher for Brantford only had four innings and Ivers replaced him in the box. Gallagher was released to-day.

Deneau had to go home from Erie on Saturday consequently LaCroix played first and Lamond did the receiving. Chase was hit hard by the Yanks and also gave five charities. In the morning Eddie Taylor's fine pitching made Brantford's only victory in Yank territory sure.

The Red Sox will play three games at St. Thomas and will return home Thursday to open up with Hamilton. The club is being closely run by Eric for third place and will have to win the majority of the games this week.

With a change in the management at Erie it would not be surprising to see another change at St. Thomas. Midge Craven, while a grand ball player, is running his team in slipshod manner.

The victory of Ottawa over London yesterday puts a different complexion on league affairs. That Ottawa team is hard to beat on their own grounds.

The most unpopular man in the Canadian League just now is the schedule maker. He is in bad with the majority of the magnates and the entire fandom of the major part of the circuit.

Sir Herbert Tree at His Majesty's Theatre in London paid a high tribute to the late Laurence Irving, the noted English actor, lost on the Empress of Ireland.

WOODSTOCK WINS FROM CHAMPIONS AT HOME.

STRATFORD, June 1.—Local fans saw a real baseball match here Saturday afternoon, when Woodstock's W. O. B. L. nine stole an 11-inning game by 5 to 4. It was a thriller all the way. Stratford leading by 3 to 1, until the visitors went to bat in the ninth. Then Coose, the Oxford City twirler, won his own game. Wheelman and Chapdelaine each got a single, whereupon Coose tripled, scoring both men and tying the score, 3 all. Stratford squeezed in a run in the tenth, but as Woodstock had done likewise, the score was 4 to 4. In the eleventh for the visitors. Wheelman got to first when hit, advancing to second on Coose's bunt, Anderson missed a long peg to first and Wheelman scored the winning run. Score: R. H. E. Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

By Leona Dalrymple... The truth about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with interest.

No. 83. Behind the Curtain. I SEE more of mother now than I did formerly. It will always annoy Mary I'm afraid to have me stop there on the way home, though her visits to her mother are much more frequent than my visits to mine.

LEONA DALRYMPLE... young wives to expect the husband to give up his people lightly while she clings more closely to hers. My evening chats with mother have brought about a great many quarrels with Mary.

"Well, Peter," she will frequently say, "just why are you late tonight?" I know the tone. It promises trouble long before the trouble is under way.

"Should Men 'Explain'?" "Yes!" Still the tone was ominous. Why must a man account for every belated minute of his time? The very accounting makes him chafe and fret at the chains that bind him. I hate to explain. Most men do. And if Mary wouldn't ask me the minute I appear in the house why I'm late—why, in the course of time, I'd pleasantly volunteer the information without that terrible sense of impatience driving me to a studied self-control.

A Stubborn Stand. "Why is mother selfish?" I begged formally. "She expects you to stop there every night. I've spoken of it before. You keep me waiting at the dinner spots—you know very well how it is, Peter!"

THE GARDEN OF LOVE :: By Michelson

She worked in the garden, planting, pruning, pattering. With a dainty, coaxing touch she nursed the tender shoots, coddling the young leaves, crooning to the baby buds. The soft spring breeze murmured strange things to her, but never told her the greatest secret of all.

Then all of a sudden all those buds became little Cupids. It was truly amazing. They made her gasp—pleasantly. A delicious thrill

When Shall a Woman Leave Her Husband?

I HEARD a woman the other day say, "We women should erect a monument to Mrs. Soandoe. She showed the proper spirit when she left her husband without a word, as soon as she discovered his affair with that school teacher."

Who Deserves a Monument? No man has any right to leave a good woman just because he thinks he's "in love" with some one else; and no decent man will do it—even if his wife is foolish enough to be willing to let him.

PRIDE is a selfish craving for publicity within the narrow circle of a close coterie. Many malingers are proud of their descent from Oliver Cromwell, for instance, or some similar great man, who have pathological aversion for newspapers and the public in general.

Britain Is Appalled By Enormous Tragedy

King George Expresses Deepest Sympathy—Entire Nation is Stirred by Terrible Loss of Life—Public is Grief Stricken.

(By Special Wire to the Courier)
LONDON, May 30.—The British public which went home last night believing that the greater part of the passengers on board the Empress of Ireland had survived the disaster in the St. Lawrence, was shocked beyond measure this morning when it was learned that the loss of life exceeded 1,000, and that many of the victims were from the United Kingdom.

King George early in the morning sent a messenger to the European manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, expressing his sorrow and regret at the disaster, and the great loss of life.

John Burns, president of the local government board was one of the first callers at the London offices of the company to ask for the latest news.

The Lord Mayor of London, upon learning of the extent of the disaster, decided to open a fund toward the relief of the widows and orphans as well as the dependents of those of the passengers and crew who had been lost.

Great crowds besieged the London and Liverpool offices of the company and anxiously scanned the lists of the rescued.

There were many pitiable scenes when women and men who had waited throughout the night in the hope of hearing friends or relatives were safe could not find their names on the lists, and turned away in despair when further bulletins were posted.

A number of passengers who had booked their berths on trans-Atlantic steamers sailing to-day, cancelled their trips at the last moment as a result of the accident to the Empress of Ireland.

King George cabled to the Duke of Connaught, governor-general of Canada:

"I am deeply grieved over the awful disaster to the Empress of Ireland in which so many Canadians lost their lives. Queen Mary and I both assure you of our heartfelt sympathy with those who mourn the loss of relatives and friends."

To Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway His Majesty cabled:

In the appalling disaster which has befallen your company by the loss of the Empress of Ireland in which so many perished, I offer you my sincere sympathy."

The King received this morning the following telegram from Raymond Poincare, president of the French republic:

"It is with profound emotion that I learn of the terrible catastrophe in connection with the Empress of Ireland, which will plunge so many families into mourning. From my heart I tender to your Majesty the sincere regrets and keen sympathy of the French people."

The Irish Nationalist convention at a meeting to-day in London under the presidency of T. P. O'Connor, passed a resolution of sympathy with the relatives and friends of those who died when the Empress of Ireland sank and it was transmitted to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy.

The London morning papers in commenting editorially on the disaster, call for a thorough investigation as to whether the bulkheads were closed, and, if so, how it was that the most modern system of watertight compartments failed to keep the ship from sinking.

The claim for the Empress of Ireland will be the heaviest sustained by the Lloyd's underwriters since the sinking of the Titanic.

It is expected that the disaster will give a serious check to the scheme of establishing a Canadian Lloyds, with a view to reducing the rates charged in London for insuring vessels navigating the St. Lawrence. Statistics show that the underwriters have con-

Fly Swatting Is Useless

Our Dominion Entomologist says: "I am convinced that the practical results of the fly swatting campaigns that have been carried on by some of our newspapers are useless as fly reducers." But the fact that one ten-cent packet of WILSON'S FLY PADS is capable of killing a bushel of flies proves them to be the best of all fly killers and recommends their continuous use to good housekeepers.

WILSON'S FLY PADS are sold by all grocers and druggists everywhere.

Heavily laden with cargo, the ship was blowing in the wind and the prevalence of fogs and ice. The Morning Post, expressing satisfaction that the Canadian Government will appoint a committee of enquiry, says that the fact that this is the third accident in the same waters in the present season will inevitably quicken the uneasy sense that the St. Lawrence route is one having special perils to navigation at certain times of the year.

Much space is devoted in the newspaper columns to Laurence Irving. Should his death be confirmed it will be regarded as the greatest loss the British stage has suffered since his father, Sir Henry Irving, died.

General Booth of the Salvation Army will hold a memorial service in Albert Hall on June 3.

The Times in an editorial considers that nothing could have saved the Empress of Ireland, considering the nature of the collision, but asks: "What was the Stordast doing to run into the Empress of Ireland with such suddenness and violence?"

"It is a singular coincidence that the Stordast's sister ship was run into by the Empress of Ireland, the twin ship of the Empress of Ireland. On that occasion, happily, no lives were lost. Speculation on the precise causation of the present disaster is perhaps premature, but the strictest investigation will certainly be demanded."

The last letter to London from Laurence Irving referred to his desire to return home as quickly as possible before starting on a fresh tour. This is supposed to be the reason why he decided to travel by the Empress instead of the Stordast.

The Times discusses the question of the underwriters and the St. Lawrence route at considerable length. It says that despite admitted improvements in the St. Lawrence the toll of casualties is so heavy that some underwriters prefer to have nothing to do with British North America. They are reluctant to be obliged to discriminate against the St. Lawrence route, but they are convinced that any Canadian Government scheme of insurance rates below the current market rates would result in a loss to be borne by the Canadian people.

The Times adds that but for the loss of life involved the underwriters would be rather glad of a disaster happening because of the comparative freedom from accident in recent times has led to the cutting of rates in all directions to an extent which the best authorities believe to be absolutely unjustified.

Scores of watching and waiting women besieged the C.P.R. offices in Liverpool for news of husbands, sons and lovers.

BRANTFORD DRUGGIST HAS VALUABLE AGENCY

M. H. Robertson, druggist, has the Brantford agency for the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-ka, the remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis. This simple remedy has powerful action and drains such surprising amounts of old matter from the body that JUST ONE DOSE relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation almost IMMEDIATELY. THE QUICK action of Adler-ka is astonishing.

"Aye, aye, sir," responded Mr. Brently, and left to commence his investigation.

Hazel Strong was prostrated. For two days she did not leave her cabin, and when she finally ventured on deck she was very wan, and white, with great, dark circles beneath her eyes.

Shortly after her first appearance on deck following the tragedy, M. Thurman joined her with many expressions of kindly solicitude.

"Oh, but it is terrible, Miss Strong," he said. "I cannot rid my mind of it." The girl could not help but feel grateful to him for his kind words. He was with her often—almost constantly for the remainder of the voyage—and she grew to like him very much indeed.

M. Thurman had learned that the beautiful Miss Strong of Baltimore was an American heiress—a very wealthy girl in her own right, and with future prospects that quite took his breath away.

It had been M. Thurman's intention to leave the ship at the first port they touched after the disappearance of the Stordast. Did he not have in his coat pocket the thing he had taken passage upon this very boat to obtain? There was nothing more to detain him here. He could not return to the continent fast enough that he might board the first express for St. Petersburg.

But Miss Strong had obtruded herself and was rapidly crowding his original intentions into the background. That American fortune was not to be sneezed at, nor was its possessor a whit less attractive.

CHAPTER XIV. Drowned at Sea

THE next morning at breakfast Thurman's place was vacant. Miss Strong was mildly curious for Mr. Caldwell had always made it a point to wait that he might breakfast with her and her mother. As she was sitting on deck later M. Thurman passed to exchange a half dozen pleasant words with her. He seemed in most excellent spirits.

As he passed on Miss Strong thought what a very delightful man was M. Thurman.

The day dragged heavily. When M. Thurman stopped again to chat with her in the afternoon she welcomed the break in the day's monotony. But she had begun to become seriously concerned about Thurman's continued absence. Presently she broached the subject to M. Thurman. Had he seen Mr. Caldwell today? He had not. Why? "He was not at breakfast as usual, nor have I seen him once since yesterday," explained the girl.

M. Thurman was extremely solicitous. "I do not like the pleasure of intimate acquaintance with Mr. Caldwell," he said. "He seemed a most estimable gentleman, however. Can it be that he is indisposed and has remained in his stateroom? It would not be strange."

"No," replied the girl; "it would not be strange, of course, but for some inexplicable reason I have one of those foolish feminine presentiments that all is not right with Mr. Caldwell. It is the strangest feeling. It is as though I knew that he was not on board the ship."

M. Thurman laughed pleasantly. "Mercy, my dear Miss Strong," he said. "Where in the world could he be then? We have not been within sight of land for days."

"Of course it is ridiculous of me," she admitted. And then: "But I am not going to worry about it any longer. I am going to find out where Mr. Caldwell is." And she motioned to a passing steward.

"What may be more difficult than you imagine, my dear girl," thought M. Thurman, but aloud he said, "By all means."

"Find Mr. Caldwell, please," she said to the steward, "and tell him that his friends are much worried by his continued absence."

"You are very fond of Mr. Caldwell?" suggested M. Thurman.

"I think he is splendid," replied the girl. "And mamma is perfectly infatuated with him."

A minute later the steward returned to say that Mr. Caldwell was not in his stateroom. "I cannot find him, Miss Strong," he hesitated—"I have searched his berth and he has not occupied last night. I think that I had better report the matter to the captain."

"Most assuredly," exclaimed Miss Strong. "I shall go with you to the captain myself."

It was a very frightened young woman and an excited steward who presented themselves before the captain a few moments later. He listened to their stories in silence, a look of concern marking his expression as the steward assured him that he had sought for the missing passenger in every part of the ship that passengers might be expected to frequent.

The captain ordered an immediate and thorough search of the entire ship from stem to stern—no nook or cranny was to be overlooked. It was a full hour later that the first officer returned to report the outcome of the search.

"Mr. Caldwell is not on board, sir," he said.

"I fear that there is something more serious than this, Mr. Brently," said the captain. "I wish that you would make a personal and very careful examination of Mr. Caldwell's effects, to ascertain if there is any clew to a motive either for suicide or murder—sift the thing to the bottom."

"Aye, aye, sir," responded Mr. Brently, and left to commence his investigation.

Hazel Strong was prostrated. For two days she did not leave her cabin, and when she finally ventured on deck she was very wan, and white, with great, dark circles beneath her eyes.

Shortly after her first appearance on deck following the tragedy, M. Thurman joined her with many expressions of kindly solicitude.
