

Do you remember the day of your marriage, the sunny day to which you fondly cling, the heart-thrilling words of affection which you recall, the fluttering lips of happy youth to come? Ah! yes; and you remember to see the smile gradually faded from your husband's face; how the love-beam was quenched in his eye; how harsh and cruel words came flowing from his lips; how he grew to love you, and how he died of grief brought by the hands that were destined for your support and protection; how the heart-crashing "change came over the spirit of" your early "friend."

And then! poor lonely, doleful-hearted widow, who goes to sleep, to relieve this over-charged heart, awfully worn out with sorrow, over the graves of husband and son, slain by intemperance; standing amid the ruins of this beautiful globe, surrounded by the monuments of the too-well-remembered agonies; tell us, before they go hence—is this Traffic right? "No! Mr. Chairman, it is wrong, all wrong,—it is evil, only evil, and that continually."

Now, if this traffic in intoxicating liquors be wrong, righteous and destructive, is it not right to stop its further progress? Ought society to look on passively while these waters of death are deluging the land? Assuredly not. No man contends for that. But there is great diversity of opinion respecting the mode of procedure by which Society should seek to protect itself from the evils engendered by this traffic.

But, Sir, the traffic in intoxicating drinks conflicts with every end and purpose of civil government—it wastes the public wealth; it saps the public health; it endangers to public ignorance; it unites for liberty at home, and weakens the defence against aggression abroad; it leads to numerous and grievous crimes; it destroys innumerable lives. It is therefore the peculiar province of civil government to arrest this traffic, to stay its fearful ravages from which no family in the land is safe; and with the proviso of my resolution, which is "to prohibit by law, &c." enforced by deserved and wisely adapted penalties.

But, Sir, the Legislature interferes with the sale of poisons in general; with Arsenic, Prussic Acid and other deadly preparations. The sale of these is, I believe, in this Colony, not only prohibited, but the possession of these poisons is intended to guard the public against the destruction of life by poison, either through malice, or by carelessness; and to provide these dangerous substances for the demands of medical science and mechanical arts, both of which, as skilled hands, they only be of use. Why should intoxicating liquors be withdrawn from the wise supervision which is exercised over the trade in kindred poisons? There is no fact in Chemical or Physiological science better established than the fact that the chemically combined substance called Alcohol, which gives to intoxicating drinks their power of intoxicating, is a poison, that is, in no form, no condition, no quantity, is nutritive, or otherwise than harmful to a human body.

and brotherly sympathy and encouragement have been plentifully made use of by the Friends of the Temperance cause; and by the blessing of Heaven, many thousands have in various parts of the world, been rescued from the terrible degradation of Intemperance; but still more thousands have been hopelessly perished by the traffic, unwearying by argument, unwearying by entreaty, and in our own land more are still perishing yearly, say, almost monthly, through intemperance—our own many of them who are enticed by this fearful evil be rescued from a like fate, save by the removal of temptation from their path.

It is expedient, in order that the youth of the Colonies may be preserved altogether from the dreadful thralldom of the raging passion for strong drinks,—for though the evils of Intemperance have been portrayed in the darkest colors, and the warning voice of Temperance efforts hath swept triumphantly through the land; though myriads have taken warning—yet year by year, but the more the evil has increased, and been filled by a new recruit from the ranks of the young. "The Heavens may cry to the earth, and the earth cry to the vine, and the vine cry to the corn of 'the valley of Jezreel'—drunkard making will not cease while the liquor traffic shall continue."

But, Sir, we are told that such a Law as we ask for is unconstitutional, would be wrong, vexatious interference with the social habits of the community—that it would be deserving of the execration which we extend towards the tyrannical legislation which in other days over-ruled, and now, in other lands, tramples in the mire of infuriated bigotry the most sacred rights of human conscience. This is a question which has excited the most respectable statesmen, so protective of our liberties, which in particular England and the late-ruled Connecticut prescribed the color of your coat, dictated the length of your hair and the cut of your beard, and forbade you to kiss your wife on the sabbath day. Never were objections of less force pressed against any just and benevolent measure than this question of what I regard you shall profess or at what shrine you shall bow, of what shall be the length of your capillary straggles, or the form of your hirsute adornments—whether you shall patronize or practice "nasal patriotism," or shall cherish your sensibilities by lifting an ancient Ballad of "Gallant knight and lady faire."

But, Sir, the question is, shall a traffic which unmakes the energies, wastes the resources, and destroys the lives of the people—a traffic which leads to crime, to poverty, and to unnumbered misery—a traffic which is opposed to all the just ends of secular government, conferring no benefit and inflicting immeasurable and innumerable injuries—shall the traffic be permitted to continue, if the law, sustained by the intelligent sympathy of the people, has power to prevent. Ah! but we are assured that should an Anti-Liquor Law be enacted and carried out, it would be inevitably succeeded by such a reaction of the public sentiment and practice, as occurred when the imbecile Stuarts succeeded to the reprobate sway of the sagacious and able King Oliver. Sir, there is no analogy between the cases—the Puritan sought by arbitrary enactments which travelled beyond the province of secular Authority, to repress many of the natural and harmless instincts of the human heart, but drunkenness is not natural to man—the law of Strong Drink is not a natural law, it is altogether artificial; and the traffic by which alone it can be fostered, endangers, either directly or indirectly, the peace of the whole community. But from what quarter is this dreaded reaction to come? Will it come from the grateful wife whose husband has been given back to her respectability and domestic joys of despairing wretchedness? Will it come from the widow whose heart hath "sung for joy" because her manly son is spared from the pangs of intemperance? Will it come from the grey haired sire whose sober, filial progeny are gladdening the days of his age and yellow feet? Will it come from the reverential love of the young man who has been rescued from the clutches of the Libertine, and who has been delivered from the fires of this Tophet? Will the patriot who exults in his country's prosperity sigh for the return of the reign of Rom and Robbery—of war and poverty? Or will this terrible recoil come back upon us from those who may be tempted to abandon the Anti-Liquor Trade? Sir, I think better of our common humanity than to yield to any such fear.

It is expedient for it has been done—a kindred people in a neighbouring land have demonstrated this. Witness Maine, and Massachusetts, and Vermont and Rhode Island and Michigan—another year will add to their number from Sister States. Yes, Sir, and it must be done, Patriotism demands it! Humanity pleads for it! Our Future requires it! The day is not far distant when the aroused and earnest People of this Island, with almost universal acclamation will declare their will which is Law through the mouth of their Government, and will determine that the same spreading Traffic shall cease! Mr. B. DAVIS.—I came not here, Mr. Chairman, with the intention of offering any observations on this occasion. I came for the purpose of obtaining information, of hearing what could be said in favor of total abstinence, and of its principles; I came for the purpose of hearing of the good it has done, and of what it is likely to do;—not to offer any objections to its rational progress, but rather with a view of advancing temperate opinions and the temperance cause. I sincerely rejoice to learn with pleasure how much good our cause has done, but also those of total abstinence, especially in this western world, of which we form a part.

evil and the good? I think not. In so doing, we would condemn ourselves; for man, the subject of the traffic, is not a creature of straw, in word,—preponderates towards doing ill; and even among the best and wisest of mankind, could we weigh their evil actions in the balance against the good, I fear the latter would be found wanting. But, Mr. Chairman, what I wished particularly to speak to, is, not only to the Resolution before the meeting, but also to the observations which have fallen from the proposer and seconders of the different resolutions, all of which, either in a greater or less degree, tend to cast odium on the popular Branch of the Legislature, of which I have the honor to be a member, for not carrying into law a Resolution, of which this one is a counterpart. So short a period of time has elapsed since this matter came before the House of Assembly, that I conceive the public generally, and the majority of this meeting, cannot possibly be aware of the reasons by which the House were actuated in declining to sanction coercive measures towards the actions of temperate men. I say, Mr. Chairman, I consider this meeting of great importance, and I consider it my duty to state to the members of the House of Assembly, before the press had published, and the people become aware of the objections that body to establish what is called the Maine Anti-Liquor Law. I, therefore, think it unfair, not only towards the Assembly, but also to the minds of the men who compose this large and respectable body, to present to the House of Assembly, before the press had published, and the people become aware of the objections that body to establish what is called the Maine Anti-Liquor Law. I, therefore, think it unfair, not only towards the Assembly, but also to the minds of the men who compose this large and respectable body, to present to the House of Assembly, before the press had published, and the people become aware of the objections that body to establish what is called the Maine Anti-Liquor Law.

It is expedient for it has been done—a kindred people in a neighbouring land have demonstrated this. Witness Maine, and Massachusetts, and Vermont and Rhode Island and Michigan—another year will add to their number from Sister States. Yes, Sir, and it must be done, Patriotism demands it! Humanity pleads for it! Our Future requires it! The day is not far distant when the aroused and earnest People of this Island, with almost universal acclamation will declare their will which is Law through the mouth of their Government, and will determine that the same spreading Traffic shall cease! Mr. B. DAVIS.—I came not here, Mr. Chairman, with the intention of offering any observations on this occasion. I came for the purpose of obtaining information, of hearing what could be said in favor of total abstinence, and of its principles; I came for the purpose of hearing of the good it has done, and of what it is likely to do;—not to offer any objections to its rational progress, but rather with a view of advancing temperate opinions and the temperance cause. I sincerely rejoice to learn with pleasure how much good our cause has done, but also those of total abstinence, especially in this western world, of which we form a part.

It is expedient for it has been done—a kindred people in a neighbouring land have demonstrated this. Witness Maine, and Massachusetts, and Vermont and Rhode Island and Michigan—another year will add to their number from Sister States. Yes, Sir, and it must be done, Patriotism demands it! Humanity pleads for it! Our Future requires it! The day is not far distant when the aroused and earnest People of this Island, with almost universal acclamation will declare their will which is Law through the mouth of their Government, and will determine that the same spreading Traffic shall cease! Mr. B. DAVIS.—I came not here, Mr. Chairman, with the intention of offering any observations on this occasion. I came for the purpose of obtaining information, of hearing what could be said in favor of total abstinence, and of its principles; I came for the purpose of hearing of the good it has done, and of what it is likely to do;—not to offer any objections to its rational progress, but rather with a view of advancing temperate opinions and the temperance cause. I sincerely rejoice to learn with pleasure how much good our cause has done, but also those of total abstinence, especially in this western world, of which we form a part.

It is expedient for it has been done—a kindred people in a neighbouring land have demonstrated this. Witness Maine, and Massachusetts, and Vermont and Rhode Island and Michigan—another year will add to their number from Sister States. Yes, Sir, and it must be done, Patriotism demands it! Humanity pleads for it! Our Future requires it! The day is not far distant when the aroused and earnest People of this Island, with almost universal acclamation will declare their will which is Law through the mouth of their Government, and will determine that the same spreading Traffic shall cease! Mr. B. DAVIS.—I came not here, Mr. Chairman, with the intention of offering any observations on this occasion. I came for the purpose of obtaining information, of hearing what could be said in favor of total abstinence, and of its principles; I came for the purpose of hearing of the good it has done, and of what it is likely to do;—not to offer any objections to its rational progress, but rather with a view of advancing temperate opinions and the temperance cause. I sincerely rejoice to learn with pleasure how much good our cause has done, but also those of total abstinence, especially in this western world, of which we form a part.

It is expedient for it has been done—a kindred people in a neighbouring land have demonstrated this. Witness Maine, and Massachusetts, and Vermont and Rhode Island and Michigan—another year will add to their number from Sister States. Yes, Sir, and it must be done, Patriotism demands it! Humanity pleads for it! Our Future requires it! The day is not far distant when the aroused and earnest People of this Island, with almost universal acclamation will declare their will which is Law through the mouth of their Government, and will determine that the same spreading Traffic shall cease! Mr. B. DAVIS.—I came not here, Mr. Chairman, with the intention of offering any observations on this occasion. I came for the purpose of obtaining information, of hearing what could be said in favor of total abstinence, and of its principles; I came for the purpose of hearing of the good it has done, and of what it is likely to do;—not to offer any objections to its rational progress, but rather with a view of advancing temperate opinions and the temperance cause. I sincerely rejoice to learn with pleasure how much good our cause has done, but also those of total abstinence, especially in this western world, of which we form a part.

that, sooner or later, it will be adopted by all British dependencies having Legislative Bodies. This is an avowed stage at which the principles of Bills are usually discussed, therefore, I shall further intrude my views on your notice, by briefly calling your attention to the disadvantages to which the present system subjects your constituents, and that it is likely to injure the country in another time to come. The partisans of the Government are the only persons likely to be appointed to vacant seats in the Council, under the present system, so that the members of Council are in this capacity as such only the representatives of the majority in the House of Assembly. The Council so established, therefore, serves not as a check on the House of Assembly, nor yet on the Government, so that it is only the desire of the majority which should be possessed of life and independence, to check every extravagance and abuse, whether practiced by the Government or the Assembly, and serve as a salutary check on the whole for the good of the whole, and make each of the parts in its own sphere independent of the sway of the influence of the other of any one of them. But, Sir, it is not likely, that the party now in the majority in this House, will always be in a majority in the House of Assembly; now, when they will be the minority as they are likely to be; after packing the Council with their partisans for present gratification, what must be the consequences, the consequences will be that the Council will be defeated in the Council, and the country will be in a fix, the voice of the people will not be heard, and their will shall become defeated. If any member of this House wishes the Council to continue as now constituted, he will therefore, as a demonstration of his folly in the opinion of the people, and in the opinion of the people, Sir, when you consider, that only a few of the districts in the country are represented in the Council, or even known to some of the members of the Council, you cannot expect that the deliberations of that body, can equally affect the inhabitants of every part of the Colony—you cannot for these reasons in justice to the people of Prince Edward Island, sanction the present system of constituting the Council. This Bill is intended to alter the present system, and thereby give every district in this Colony an equal independent representation in the Upper House, to that which it has here. Besides, the right of electing the Legislative Council, which this Bill provides, is intended to be exercised by the people of the Island represented there as well as here, and as man cannot be expected to devote their attention and talents, and time, to the business of the country gratuitously, the Bill provides for the payment of their expenses. The clause providing for qualifications is left unaltered, it is intended also to have every member to fill up, and when you do fill them, I trust you will endeavour to defeat the ambition of arrogant, self-conceited, ignorant, noisy, empty-headed demagogues in filling places that should be occupied by the most intelligent, the most moderate, the most upright, and the most independent men in this Colony. The House of Lords in its constitution is patriarchal, not composed of a set of arrogant, proud, consequential, tyrannical, ignorant, oppressive men. The House of Lords is composed of the most enlightened legislators in the whole world for their numbers. It is not composed of all the nobility of the United Kingdom. The Irish members of the House of Lords are elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the House of Lords, on the part of the monarch who is elected for life, from among their own Peers, in that part of the United Kingdom; and the representative Peers of Scotland are also elected by their own Peers, so that we see there is here a representative selection of Peers for the

It will be adopted by all having Legislative Bibles... The Bill was read a third time... The House divided on the motion...

Writing for the Election of Members to serve in the General Assembly of this Island... THE TRYTEON BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S GRAIN SHOW... THE TRYTEON BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S GRAIN SHOW...

THE TRYTEON BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S GRAIN SHOW... THE TRYTEON BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S GRAIN SHOW... THE TRYTEON BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S GRAIN SHOW...

THE TRYTEON BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S GRAIN SHOW... THE TRYTEON BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S GRAIN SHOW... THE TRYTEON BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S GRAIN SHOW...

THE TRYTEON BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S GRAIN SHOW... THE TRYTEON BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S GRAIN SHOW... THE TRYTEON BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S GRAIN SHOW...

THE TRYTEON BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S GRAIN SHOW... THE TRYTEON BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S GRAIN SHOW... THE TRYTEON BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S GRAIN SHOW...

THE TRYTEON BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S GRAIN SHOW... THE TRYTEON BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S GRAIN SHOW... THE TRYTEON BRANCH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S GRAIN SHOW...

Table with columns: Name and Title as set forth in Licenses, Circulation authorized by Certificate, Average circulation in Notes during 12 months ending at above, Average amount of bank bills during 12 months ending at above.

Table with columns: Name and Title as set forth in Licenses, Circulation authorized by Certificate, Average circulation in Notes during 12 months ending at above, Average amount of bank bills during 12 months ending at above.

Table with columns: Name and Title as set forth in Licenses, Circulation authorized by Certificate, Average circulation in Notes during 12 months ending at above, Average amount of bank bills during 12 months ending at above.

New York Illustrated News.

THE ILLUSTRATED NEWS is published weekly... It contains sixteen large pages, filled with a great variety of interesting reading matter...

The Old Established Hat and Clothes Renovating Business... THE Subscriber, grateful for past favours, intimates that he continues to work at the above...

WANTED immediately by the Subscriber, a FARMING MAN who thoroughly understands the routine of farming labour.

A CARD. THE Subscriber begs to intimate that he has commenced the business of COMMISSION MERCHANT AND AUCTIONEER...

SEAMEN WANTED. WANTED seven able Seamen for H. M. S. Schooner Galena from the 1st May next...

ST. NICHOLAS HOTEL. Between Spring and Broome Streets, Broadway, NEW YORK.

TREADWELL, ACKER & Co., PROPRIETORS. This magnificent MARBLE HOTEL, unequalled in architectural beauty...

ADMINISTRATION. ALL Persons having claims against the Estate of the late CONRAD YOUNKER, of York River, Farmer, deceased...

MARE FOR SALE. MARE is foal four years old, well bred, and exchanged for a heavy Horse. Enquire at this Office. March 30. 1853.

FOUND on the night of the 24th inst., between Bushaw Inn and De Sable, a LEATHER HAT BOX with a Brass Lock thereon...

Two Farm Servants Wanted. A GOOD PLOUGHMAN, who is well acquainted with the general management of a Farm.

Books Just Received. LATHAM'S MAN and his migrations, Gerald Miles, the narrative of a residence in a Brazilian Valley. GEORGE T. HASZARD.

APOTHECARIES HALL. The Old Established HOUSE, 1810. CHARLOTTETOWN, JANUARY, 1853.

T. DESERRAY & Co. HAVE just received, per late arrival from London, Dublin, United States and Halifax...

Charles Stewart will let, on Monday the 4th April, at 10 o'clock, the repairing of a Wharf on the South side of the Broad River...

Thomas G. Ruggles will let on Monday, the 5th April next, at 10 o'clock, the repairing of the bridge at Joe Martin's, Lot 2...

Joseph Murphy will let, on Monday the 4th April, at 10 o'clock, the repairing of the Carriage River Bridge, and the building a Bridge near Alexander M'Donald's...

John M'Kag will let, on Tuesday, the 12th April next, at 11 o'clock, the repairing of a Wharf on the South side of the Broad River...

Charles Stewart will let, on Monday the 4th April, at 10 o'clock, the repairing of a Wharf on the North side of said river...

Hon. E. Thornton will let, at 10 o'clock, on Monday the 4th April next, the building an additional Block to the new Wharf, St. Mary's Bay...

VERSES

On being asked if I still loved Scotland.
Yes, Scotland! I do love thee still,
The other lands may seem to me,
There's naught to do for me.

VARIETIES

The End of Education.—The multitudes think that to educate a child, is to crowd into its mind a given amount of knowledge;

A YANKEE STORY.—A young gentleman, a stranger, in the city of Baltimore, entered a fashionable church, passing up the middle

The Power of Imagination.—Mr. G. had by degrees become so attached to his cup, that he could not comfortably pass

WHOLESALE.
WILLIAM ELLIOT & Co. of BOSTON.
United States, Merchants, have constantly
on hand at Charlottemore, P. E. Island, a large supply

A GOOD PLACE FOR HUNTING.—"Well, farmer, you told us your place was a good place for hunting, now we've tramped it for LADY (allegedly).—"Where, in the name of wonder, doctor, could I have got such a nose as this?"—Doctor A.—"Out of the

J. GILLIGAN.

Has now open a full and complete assortment of FINE DRUGS and MEDICINES.
Solely imported from the best sources, and

GREAT BARGAINS

By Wholesale and Retail.
THE SUBSCRIBER has just opened a GENERAL
and Extensive Assortment of DRY GOODS.

JUST RECEIVED

A further Supply of New Goods,
AT THE LONDON HOUSE.
The latest styles in Mantles and Dress Materials.

FALL SUPPLY

OF ALL ARTICLES IN HER LINE.
Some very handsome Embroidered Dresses, Artificial Flowers, and Patterns

FALL SUPPLY

THE SUBSCRIBER OFFERS FOR SALE,
A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF BRITISH MANUFACTURED GOODS,

WHOLESALE

WILLIAM ELLIOT & Co. of BOSTON.
United States, Merchants, have constantly
on hand at Charlottemore, P. E. Island, a large supply

FRANCE LANGUAGE

MR. THEODORE CORNIER has leave to teach the French Language; and that he will be most happy to engage for private tuition.

CASH! CASH! CASH!

THE SUBSCRIBER has just opened a GENERAL
and Extensive Assortment of DRY GOODS.

CASH! CASH! CASH!

THE SUBSCRIBER has just opened a GENERAL
and Extensive Assortment of DRY GOODS.

THE COLONIAL

LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.
GOVERNOR—THE HONORABLE THE EARL OF ELGIN
and KINCARDINE, Governor General of Canada.

NATIONAL LOAN FUND LIFE

Equitable Fire Insurance Companies of London.
Incorporated by Acts of Parliament.

Fire! Fire! Fire!

Secure your Property at a saving of five per cent.
MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

ALLIANCE

LIFE AND FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY, LONDON.
ESTABLISHED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

Winter Arrangement of Mails.

THE MAILS for transmission to the neighboring Provinces, Newfoundland, and the United States, during the ensuing Winter, will be made up

BELLS! BELLS! BELLS!

THE SUBSCRIBER manufactures and keeps constantly on hand, all sizes of Church, Factory, Steamboat, Ferry, Locomotive, School House, and Plantation

NOTICE

THE TENANTS of THOMAS HEATH HAVILAND, Esq., on Townships Number 43 and 50 and other Lands in this Island, are requested to

NOTICE

ALL persons having any legal demands against the Estate of the late JOHN DAVIS, the Elder,
of Charlottemore, Bahamas, deceased, are hereby requested

TEMPERANCE HALL COMPANY.

A MEETING of the Directors of the above Company, held in the Temperance Hall, this evening, the following Resolutions were unanimously

CASH! CASH! CASH!

THE SUBSCRIBER has just opened a GENERAL
and Extensive Assortment of DRY GOODS.

Freehold Farm for Sale.

TO BE SOLD a FINE freehold Farm, containing about 100 acres, situated in the parish of St. George's, and bounded by the sea on three sides.

TO BE SOLD OR LET.

DWELLING HOUSE, Out House, and Premises, situated in Cumberland Street, near the residence of Dr. Jenkins.

GOOD BARLEY

GOOD BARLEY bought at BRIGHTON HARBOUR,
March 10, 1853.

200 TONS OF HEMLOCK TIMBER

TO BE DELIVERED by the 1st JUNE
next, apply to WILLIAM HEARD.

WILLIAM STRAIGHT,

DRESSING and finishing, and stilling of Beaver
and Silk Hats.

BANKING NOTICE.

THE SUBSCRIBER will grant Cheques on the "Bank of British North America" at Halifax, and on the Agents of the Bank at New York, for any amount

NOTICE

THE SUBSCRIBER, being about to leave the Island,
for a short period, particularly requests all persons
that are indebted to him, to make early payment

NOTICE

ALL persons having any legal demands against
the Estate of the late JOHN DAVIS, the Elder,
of Charlottemore, Bahamas, deceased, are hereby requested

ADMINISTRATION NOTICE.

ALL persons having claims against the Estate of the late LAWRENCE WILLIAMS GALL, Esq.,
of Charlottemore, deceased, are requested to present

WANTED—CHARTER.

A VESSEL of about Fifty Tons burthen, for the purpose of conveying Goods, to be chartered, will secure a Charter. Apply to Never Failing Remedy!

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.
A CRIPPLED MAN ASKED HIS COUNTRYMEN
WHY THEY WERE SUFFERING.

TO BE SOLD OR LET.

DWELLING HOUSE, Out House, and Premises, situated in Cumberland Street, near the residence of Dr. Jenkins.

GOOD BARLEY

GOOD BARLEY bought at BRIGHTON HARBOUR,
March 10, 1853.

200 TONS OF HEMLOCK TIMBER

TO BE DELIVERED by the 1st JUNE
next, apply to WILLIAM HEARD.

WILLIAM STRAIGHT,

DRESSING and finishing, and stilling of Beaver
and Silk Hats.

BANKING NOTICE.

THE SUBSCRIBER will grant Cheques on the "Bank of British North America" at Halifax, and on the Agents of the Bank at New York, for any amount

NOTICE

THE SUBSCRIBER, being about to leave the Island,
for a short period, particularly requests all persons
that are indebted to him, to make early payment

NOTICE

ALL persons having any legal demands against
the Estate of the late JOHN DAVIS, the Elder,
of Charlottemore, Bahamas, deceased, are hereby requested

ADMINISTRATION NOTICE.

ALL persons having claims against the Estate of
the late LAWRENCE WILLIAMS GALL, Esq.,
of Charlottemore, deceased, are requested to present

WANTED—CHARTER.

A VESSEL of about Fifty Tons burthen, for the purpose of conveying Goods, to be chartered,
will secure a Charter. Apply to Established 1823.

HASZARD'S GAZETTE.
Published every Wednesday by GEORGE T. HASZARD, Proprietor.

WHOLE TON'S

Tom's mistress and her opit
her Mother—Mamma's
kind Offer—Resignation—
An interesting Convers
of Niggers—Mr. Adolph'
—Uncle Tom and Eva.

WHOLE TON'S

Tom's mistress and her opit
her Mother—Mamma's
kind Offer—Resignation—
An interesting Convers
of Niggers—Mr. Adolph'
—Uncle Tom and Eva.

WHOLE TON'S

Tom's mistress and her opit
her Mother—Mamma's
kind Offer—Resignation—
An interesting Convers
of Niggers—Mr. Adolph'
—Uncle Tom and Eva.

WHOLE TON'S

Tom's mistress and her opit
her Mother—Mamma's
kind Offer—Resignation—
An interesting Convers
of Niggers—Mr. Adolph'
—Uncle Tom and Eva.

WHOLE TON'S

Tom's mistress and her opit
her Mother—Mamma's
kind Offer—Resignation—
An interesting Convers
of Niggers—Mr. Adolph'
—Uncle Tom and Eva.

WHOLE TON'S

Tom's mistress and her opit
her Mother—Mamma's
kind Offer—Resignation—
An interesting Convers
of Niggers—Mr. Adolph'
—Uncle Tom and Eva.

WHOLE TON'S

Tom's mistress and her opit
her Mother—Mamma's
kind Offer—Resignation—
An interesting Convers
of Niggers—Mr. Adolph'
—Uncle Tom and Eva.

WHOLE TON'S

Tom's mistress and her opit
her Mother—Mamma's
kind Offer—Resignation—
An interesting Convers
of Niggers—Mr. Adolph'
—Uncle Tom and Eva.