A WARNING NOTE FROM THE B.A.

People often say, "He is a good man, but he is a little out of the ordinary." The least of these, renders the de- kidney trouble a simple note of warning. Don't neglect to cure it. Serious kidney troubles often are cured in time, often are cured in a few days. Mr. Horatio T. N. writes:—"I suffered about two years with kidney trouble. Had pains in my back and legs; could not sleep; and had no appetite. I took one of Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me. The pains have all left and I now sleep well." Price 50 cents per box, or 8 for $1.25. All dealers, or THE DOAN KIDNEY PILLS CO., Toronto, Ont.

MISCELLANEOUS.

At a town council meeting a newly-fledged magistrate, in thanking his colleagues for the honor they had conferred on him, instead of saying he would temper justice with mercy in the petty sessions court, assured them that he would do his best to "tamper with justice and mercy."

Pain in the chest and weezing are promptly and completely cured by Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Its best cough remedy in the world. Easy to take. Price 25c.

Minard's Liniment Cures Colds etc.

"Awh, old man, how aw you Seen Gange lately? They tell me he has taken to the law, and is in business with his father."

"Yaws, Gange is working hard now."

"What position dose he fill?"

"He sits in the outer office and makes people believe he is a client."

Destroys Worms.

Mrs. John Lowe, New Germany N. S. writes: I have given Dr. Low's Worm Syrup to my children with excellent results. They are fond of taking it and it acts perfectly, requiring no cathartic afterwards.

Mr. Highliffe (looking up from the paper)—Well, well! Wonders will never cease! They've got so now that they can photograph in colors.

Mrs. Highliffe (glancing at his nose)—I think, my dear, you'd better get your picture taken before the old process is abandoned.

Minard's Liniment cures Distemper.

Raging Headaches, that nothing else will cure, are quickly quieted by Minard's Sterling Headache Powders. Price 10c and 25c. at all dealers. Refuse substitutes.

"Didn't the minister feel it when so many in the congregation fell asleep during the sermon?"

"Oh, no; it encouraged him to keep on."

"How so?"

"Why, he was egotistical enough to think they were nodding approval at what he said."

Chilblains.

Mrs. J. B. Rusk, Ruskvic, Ont., writes: I have used Haggard's Yellow Oil for chilblains, and found it most effectual. It relieved the irritation almost immediately and a few applications made a complete cure.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper.

Only a Trifling Cold

Has been the Lullaby Song of Many a Victim to their Last Long Sleep. A cough should be loosened as speedily as possible, and all irritation allayed before it settles in the lungs. Once settled there Bronchitis and Consumption may follow.

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

is just the remedy you require. The virtues of the Norway Pine and Wild Cherry Bark, with other standard pectoral Herbs and Balsams, are skillfully combined to produce a reliable, safe and effectual remedy for all forms of Coughs and Colds. Mr. N. D. Macdonald, Whyocomaugh, N.S. writes:—"I think it my duty to let people know what great good Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup did for me. I had a bad cold, which settled in my chest, and I could get nothing to cure it till I tried Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. The first bottle helped me wonderfully, and the third one cured me." Price 25 cents per bottle.

The Knights of Malta.

Count Guido Thun has just been elected to the grand mastership of the sovereign order of Malta, which I need hardly add has nothing in common with the masonic organization of that name in this country, nor with the Protestant monarchical orders of Jerusalem in England and in Prussia. The real and ancient Order of Malta is the same which has been in existence without interruption since the year 1048, and its knights now, as then, were bound by religious vows to celibacy, and are compelled before they can secure election to show that they have sixteen quarters on the father's as well as on the mother's side, that is to say, a long row of ancestors who have refrained from any mesalliance, and who have restricted their selections of a consort to women with ancestors as blue blooded as their own.

This order alone of all orders of knighthood in existence is recognized as an independent sovereignty and its grand master as an independent sovereign prince, and it maintains at the court of Vienna a full fledged embassy, at the head of which is a knight of the order, Count Radolph Hardegg, who ranks as a full fledged envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary along with the other members of the foreign diplomatic corps. Formerly the order maintained embassies at the courts of France, of Spain, and of Portugal, but now only two of those legations remain—namely: that at Vienna and that at the Vatican. The grand master ranks both at home and abroad as a cardinal archbishop and as a prince of the holy Roman empire, and, like the ordinary knights, possesses all sorts of ecclesiastical prerogatives and attributes.

The honors and privileges thus accorded to the order are less on account of its political importance to-day than in memory of the inestimable services which it rendered in the past. For from the sixteenth century it may be said to have policed the entire Mediterranean. It had its headquarters first on the Island of Rhodes and afterwards at Malta, which it owned, and thence it sent out its galleys in every direction attacking the Moslem pirates, who in those ages infested the Mediterranean, protecting the French, the Spanish, the Italian, and the Austrian coasts from the devastating raids of these dreaded sea-wolves, and rescuing Christians, who, taken prisoner either on the European coasts or on board some captured ship had been carried off to Moslem slavery in Algeria, Morocco, Tunis, and Tripoli. The white and black flag of the order, was throughout all those hundreds of years welcomed in the south of Europe as a protection—almost the only safeguard—against Mohammedan barbarity and cruelty, and for this reason the sovereign order of Malta should be held in honored remembrance throughout the civilized world.

It was robbed of its possession of Malta by the first Napoleon, when on his way to Egypt, and the then grand master of the order sought refuge at St. Petersburg, where the order was taken under the protection of the czar. It never recovered its ownership of Malta, which subsequently the English took from the French and held today, and has today no territory over which it can be said to exercise sovereign sway, although it is enormously rich, possessing vast estates in Austria, Hungary, and Germany. Indeed, its grand master enjoys a civil list of considerably over half a million dollars, while its envoys at Vienna and at Rome are among the most highly paid ambassadors. Cardinal Rampolla is prelate of the order, which is perhaps only right and proper, since he is one of the few members of the sacred college who belong to the old nobility and who is able to furnish the genealogical qualifications demanded of the knights.

The new grand master is a first cousin of that Count Francis Thun who was for a time prime minister of Austria, and who reigned on the death of his wife, to whom he was deeply devoted. She was one of the most prominent and popular figures in Viennese society, in fact, one of its leaders, and she now sleeps her last sleep in the famous family vault of the Thuns at Tetschen. The latter may be described as one of the Elbo gates of Bohemia. The ancient castle of the Thuns is perched nearly on a lofty crag of rock, and in its gardens are over 2,000 varieties of roses. The castle played a great role in the seventeenth and eighteenth century wars. The family burial place is not, however, in the private chapel of the castle, which is visible for miles around, but in the Loretto church on the market place at Tetschen, where for several centuries all the members of the grand old house of Thun have been interred.—Marquise de Fontenoy.

A writer, who has had ample opportunity for knowing the mind and programme of Pius, has just published a little pamphlet of "Thoughts and Notes" on the subject. He tells us something we all knew, when he sums up the programme of the Holy Father, in the Scriptural phrase, "to restore all things in Christ." This great aim, he explains, is to be reached principally "by forming Christ in all those, who, by virtue of their vocation, are destined to form Him in others." In other words, the education and discipline of ecclesiastical students and of the clergy are to be the basis of the edifice of restoration. In addressing the Bishops, Pius X. invites them to use all their diligence in forming the clergy in holiness and in securing that the seminaries may be equally distinguished for sound teaching and exemplary conduct. In his very first encyclical he earnestly recommends Bishops to exercise special vigilance over newly ordained priests. "The good," says the author of the pamphlet, "have reason to rejoice at the activity displayed by the Holy Father for the practical execution of his programme to restore all things in Christ. He has laid down excellent rules for sacred music; he has instituted an Apostolic visitation for Rome, and for all the dioceses of Italy, and even outside Italy, wherever he finds evils to be remedied he does his best to provide against them; he has issued excellent regulations for ecclesiastics coming to Rome, for the purpose of higher studies in the universities; he has restored the obligation of an examination for all who are proposed as bishops; he has ordered the collection into one code of all the laws of the Church, and he has himself outlined the rules to be followed in this immense work which is destined to immortalize the name of Pius X." These are only a few of the great acts of the present pontificate which is not yet two years old.

A certain Dominio Dolentino, from Urbino, was arrested in Rome the other day as a vagrant who had been bothering passers-by by his importunities for alms. When taken to the police station an examination, proved that he had, in cash, about his person 257 lire, besides two postal bank books, of Bologna where to his name stands the comfortable little sum of 3,100 lire about £124. Certainly he appears to be becoming a lucrative profession, and in Italy it has almost been reduced to a science by the many more or less unscrupulous old dames who attend the Quarant Ove Stations and every species of "foots" with a regularity truly admirable, and who may be seen seated in the porch or on the steps of the different churches, at which the functions take place, equipped with a chair, and on very cold days a "scellino," or little pot of hot ashes—whining out a veritable litany of petitions and blessings (and, alas, sometimes the opposite) on the heads of the passers-by. They are quaint figures, these church beggars, and we grow used to seeing them in the more or less picturesque and ragged attire, though to the fastidious stranger their dirt and raucous appeals for charity may easily be repulsive.

Items of Interest.

A plenary council of the Archbishops and Bishops of Canada will be held this year.

Rev. Francis Jager, O. M. I., one of the German missionaries in Southwest Africa, was put to death on March 2 by the natives, who are still in revolt against the German authorities.

Mgr. Girolamo Rullieri has succeeded the late Mgr. Sveliti-Spiroli in his important office as Secretary of the Sacred Congregation of Propaganda for the affairs of the Oriental Rite, and has already taken up his charge. Mgr. Rullieri is well known in Rome, and since 1882 he has been "minutante" at Propaganda, and his judgment is greatly prized on many intricate questions, and his appointment is received with universal satisfaction.

Sir Martin Gosselin, a distinguished diplomatist, who died rather suddenly in Portugal at the beginning of March, to which country he had been appointed British Minister since 1902, was received into the Catholic Church during his last illness, he having been preparing for the step for some time. His long diplomatic career began and ended in Portugal, but he had meanwhile done distinguished service in many parts of the globe. Berlin, St. Petersburg, Rome, Rio Janeiro, Brussels, Paris, were scenes of his successful labor. He took a prominent part in the work of various important international commissions, and was for a time Assistant Undersecretary of State for Foreign Affairs at London.

The cause of the beatification of the Irish martyrs has entered the Congregation of Rites with flying sails. The precious box of documents taken to Rome by Father Conmee, S. J., of Dublin, the vice postulator of the cause, has already been assigned to the officers of the Congregation. It contains the acts of the judicial inquiry which has been occupying the Ecclesiastical Court of Dublin since last February. Eighty sessions were held, at every one of which the Archbishop of Dublin presided as judge, and the result is a great mass of really excellent testimony arranged and submitted with due regard to the strict rules laid down by the Congregation of Rites. There are in all mentioned by name in the acts. One only about three-fourths of these are mentioned by name in the Acts. One of the most heroic figures in this long list is that of Dermot O'Hurley, Archbishop of Cashel, who was hanged on May 6, 1844, after having undergone a long imprisonment and torture of the cruellest kind. Much of the evidence has been gathered from the State papers of the time.

"Forty years ago," says the Catholic Universe, "Jules Verne, whose death last week removed one of the few writers as well known all over the world as in their own country, contracted with a French publisher to produce two books a year. If the compulsion of this contract largely accounts for his remarkable productivity, in some degree also, no doubt, it was the spur which brought him to his seventy-seventh year with an energy, an inventiveness, a joy in labor, as fresh and fertile as in the first glow of his maturity. The French novelist is a shining example of the axiom that the only way to develop the faculties to their utmost is to exercise them to their utmost. The mind wears out only when it is not used."

The Providence Visitor says: "The statement made by one Rousseau, who contrived an infernal machine to blow up the steamer 'Unbrist,' that he sent to Cuba the bomb which is supposed to have destroyed the battleship 'Maine' in Havana Harbor, may or may not be true. But it serves to remind us that the blame for the wrecking of the 'Maine' has never been fixed. It has been generally attributed to Spain, but no one knows—at least as far as the public are concerned—whether the battleship was destroyed from without or as a result of some accident or negligence from within. To fix the blame would not, of course, bring back to us the noble men who lost their lives in consequence of the war with Spain, nor reimburse the national treasury for the cost of making Cuba politically free or of keeping it in peace after we have spent our blood and treasure to make it independent. But it might restore our national honor somewhat for the hasty war with Spain, and would give Spain the opportunity of proving what she has all along contended, that she had no part in the destruction of the 'Maine.'"

One of the agitation for reforms in Russia permanent good to religion is likely to arise, says the London "Catholic Times," if we may trust reports from St. Petersburg. As all who are acquainted with Russia are aware, the Orthodox Church has been treated by M. Pribudonstef as an instrument of bureaucracy. It has been constantly utilized for political purposes. As may be easily imagined, State interference has had a deadening effect. The Orthodox Church gradually ceased to supply the moral needs of the nation. The clergy were afraid to be active, and their influence steadily sank. Practically the religious condition of the Russian people became a state of stagnation. Now there is an awakening. A scheme for holding a congress of Orthodox clergy for the discussion of questions associated with the Church and its connections with the State is under consideration. The first aim of the congress when it assembles will be the complete separation of the Church from political questions, and in the second place measures will be devised for raising the intellectual level of the clergy. It is not improbable that the congress will tend towards reunion with Rome, for a barrier to a better understanding will be removed if the connection between Church and State is severed.

Our Financial Position.

The statement of Provincial receipts and expenditures for the year 1904, published in another column shows, as we briefly pointed out last week, that the Government spent $375,880.13, while they received only $307,730.50, leaving a deficit on the year's transactions of $68,149.63.

When the Conservatives went out of power in 1891, the debt against the Province was $128,429.21, and deducting the debt inherited from the Davies Government, only $76,688.34 of this was contracted by the Conservatives.

The change of Government took place fourteen years ago, and now let us see how our Liberal friends have kept their promise; let us see how the deficits have disappeared; let us see how revenue and expenditure have elapsed hands during all these years.

After playing false all these years and in most reckless fashion rolling up this huge burden of debt and committing the Province to this enormous interest charge, the Government, through their organ, have the temerity to tell the public that we have practically no debt at all, inasmuch as we have no credit at Ottawa as a sum sufficient to meet the debt and leave a small surplus.

Twenty-two hundred persons, enough to people a good sized town, were added to the population of Canada last Friday, when the big liners Canada and Virginia debarked their passengers at the deep water terminus, Halifax.

What words can be found to describe the excellence of its position when the debt was but 128,000? But it was against this trifling indebtedness that the party now in power held up their hands in holy horror.

Sessional Notes.

On Monday of last week the Government bill "Respecting the Legislature," was up for consideration. This is an amendment to the act governing returning officers, and is to the effect that the returning officer shall have a casting vote in all elections in which there is a tie.

Another Government bill that evoked the severest criticism of the Leader of the Opposition and his followers was the act amending the act "further securing the Independence of the General Assembly."

The Leader of the Opposition said the intention of the bill was to ensure the genuineness of any prosecution that might be brought against a member of the Legislature for an alleged infraction of the independence of the Legislature.

The sitting on Tuesday forenoon was short and scarcely any thing outside of routine occupied the attention of members. On the third reading of the bill respecting the Legislature Mr. Mathieson demanded a division which resulted as follows:

YEA:
Mathieson
McDonald
Morson
McKinnon
Prowse
Fraser
Wood
NAYS:
Peters
Cummings
McNutt
Simpson
Hazard
Godkin
Gallant
Arsenault
McWilliams
Warburton
Smith
Agnew
Irving
Clarke
McMillan

Wednesday forenoon Captain Joseph Read took the oath and his seat. Some bills were advanced a stage and questions were asked and answered.

After routine proceedings on Thursday, the Leader of the Government moved, second by Mr. Mathieson, Leader of the Opposition that the House go into Committee on a draft address to the Governor General respecting the failure of the Government of Canada to maintain efficient and continuous communication between this Province and the mainland.

The Leader of the Opposition said the intention of the bill was to ensure the genuineness of any prosecution that might be brought against a member of the Legislature for an alleged infraction of the independence of the Legislature.

1. That upon the first day of July, 1873, Prince Edward Island entered the Confederation of the Dominion of Canada upon certain conditions set forth in an order to Her Majesty the Queen in Council, dated 26th June, 1873.

ance of its public services—the great obstacle to its further advancement was its isolated condition. In these circumstances the proposition of the Dominion to place this Province in continuous communication with the railway system of the Dominion was the strongest inducement to enter confederation.

4. This stipulation in the contract has never been fulfilled. In the year 1884 a joint address of the House of Assembly and Legislative Council of this Province was presented to the Governor General of Canada in Council setting forth the grievance of which this Province then complained by reason of the nonfulfillment of the terms of Union.

7. That in consequence of the irregular and insufficient winter service inculcable losses have been sustained not only by the people of this province but by all the business-houses in Canada having business-transacts with Prince Edward Island.

11. That the establishment and maintenance of efficient and continuous steam communication would result in immense benefits not only to Prince Edward Island but to the other Provinces of the Dominion.

13. It is not the province of this Legislature to dictate the means by which your government shall carry out the terms of Union in respect to "continuous" communication but we desire to press upon you that by construction of a tunnel under the Straits of Northumberland and between this Province and the Mainland the terms and agreement of Union between the Federal Government and this Province may be carried out and this Province may receive the same consideration with regard to inter communication as the other Provinces of the Dominion.

14. And we further press upon your government that to meet the immediate needs of our people an ice breaking steamer of much greater power than the present winter boats should be provided with all possible expedition.

15. Wherefore the Legislative Assembly prays that your Excellency in Council will take the foregoing facts into your most serious consideration and adopt vigorous and immediate measures to remedy the grievances complained of.

At Thursday evening's session Hon. Mr. Hazard moved the following resolution:
Whereas, for several years past Sir William C. McDonald, K. C. M. G., of Montreal, has evinced a most laudable desire to devote largely of his wealth to the cause of Education throughout the several provinces comprising Eastern Canada, by contributing large sums of money to McGill College, and the erection of the Macdonald Institution for the training of teachers there.

The transports accompanying the Russian squadron are reported to be plying between Kanirank Bay and Saigon under the merchant flag of Russia.

Extending over the whole of this year Manitoba will require the help of 90,000 immigrants for seeding, hay, harvesting and farm work generally, said J. J. Golden, provincial immigration commissioner. This is a substantial increase over last year when about 60,000 were brought in for that purpose. The class of immigrants coming to the province this year is much superior to that of any other year. Reports from the Soo Line are that settlers are pouring into the West as the United States in unprecedented numbers.

Tuesday afternoon a terrific explosion occurred on the government steamer Sontag, lying at the dry dock, Kingston, Ont., killing one man outright, and injuring several others. Thirteen men were engaged about the steamer preparing her for the season's work in the light house service. A number of gas buoys were on board. These contain gas at a high pressure. While moving one of the buoys it exploded with terrific force on the deck, hurling the men in all directions. A sheet of flame spread over the boat and the deck which caught fire.

"For this cause a man shall leave his father and mother; shall cleave to his wife. And they two shall be one flesh. Therefore now they are not two, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder." Mark X., 7, 8 and 9. This was the text of Very Rev. Dr. Morrison's sermon on Sunday evening last in the Cathedral. His theme was the Sacrament of Matrimony. The Rev. preacher pointed out the nature and aim of this Sacrament and showed the three fold nature of the impediments to marriage. Some of those arise from the law of nature; others are in consequence of the positive revealed command of God and others are laid down by the law of the Church.

They also reported favorably of their success in arousing interest in favor of the project among members from all parts of the Dominion as well as at St. John, Halifax and Sydney. ## Welcome to His Lordship Bishop McDonald on his return from Rome and the Holy Land.

His Lordship Bishop McDonald was tendered a splendid reception on Monday evening last on his return home after an absence of nearly six months, spent in Rome and other parts of Europe and in the Holy Land. Appropriate decorations were arranged in the vicinity of the Cathedral and the Palace. A string of flags extended across Great George Street in front of the Cathedral and electric lights were strung along on Great George Street, from Sydney to Dorchester Streets, in front of the Cathedral and Palace. An arch of electric lights spanned the main entrance to the Palace, a row of flags extended across the street from the railway station. All the Catholic Societies turned out in force and proceeded to the railway station, and awaited his Lordship's arrival from Georgetown. The train reached the depot about 7.30 and his Lordship was escorted to a broughie, accompanied by Very Rev. Dr. Morrison, V. G., and Rev. Dr. McMillan, who had gone to Georgetown to meet him. The line of march was then taken up in the following order: The League of the Cross, headed by their band; the Knights of Columbus; the C. M. B. A.; the A. O. H. and the B. I. S. The streets from the Cathedral to the Station were completely thronged with people. When the procession reached the Cathedral, his Lordship emerged from his carriage at the Palace steps. After a few minutes the procession of clergy from the Palace escorted the Bishop to the Cathedral. His Lordship in cappa magna, was received at the Cathedral entrance by Very Rev. Dr. Morrison, V. G., who presented him with the crucifix, holy water and incense. The procession then moved up the aisle, blessing the immense congregation as he passed along. Proceeding to his throne he was presented with the following address, read by Very Rev. Dr. Morrison:

TO HIS LORDSHIP THE RIGHT REVEREND JAMES CHARLES McDONALD, D. D. BISHOP OF CHARLOTTETOWN.

Your Lordship,—The Catholics of the Diocese of Charlottetown have very much pleasure in tendering Your Lordship a most cordial welcome on your return from the Eternal City. When last autumn you had undertaken your long journey to visit the Holy Father, our very best wishes accompanied Your Lordship, and since that time we have not been unmindful in our prayers to invoke Divine Providence in your behalf, that you might enjoy the protection of Almighty God, and be enabled to bring your pilgrim's journey to a happy termination.

Your Lordship may therefore feel assured that ours is a special pleasure in beholding you once again in our midst for which we now express our sincere gratitude to the Supreme giver of every blessing.

Your visit to the eternal city, to commune with Christ's Vicar on earth, is for us all a matter of deep religious significance and heart-felt consolation. Towards the supreme visible pastor of souls, who received the commission from Christ to feed the lambs, and the sheep of His flock, do we all entertain that spiritual attachment and that spirit of filial obedience, which makes us the world over, in the words of St. Paul, one body and one spirit as we are called in one hope of our calling; and we feel that, in Your Lordship's visit to the See of Peter, we also in a yet more intimate manner have been made partakers of the blessings imparted by the Supreme Pontiff of God's Holy Church.

It was also with much gratification that we were apprised of Your Lordship's pilgrimage to the Holy Land, to visit those places made sacred by the footsteps of Divine Lord during His visible mission in this world. We feel assured that you were not unmindful of your flock when embled in prayer before the Holy Sepulchre, and in the blessing of the Divine Saviour on this portion of the Lord's vineyard.

Our earnest prayer is that we may all derive much spiritual benefit from your visit to the Centre of Catholic Unity,—that religion may thereby be still further strengthened in our souls, for we feel that we must ever regard religion as the great power that makes for righteousness, that safeguards our mortal lives, and which furnishes the only permanent motive that can successfully lead to the true ideals of honest citizenship.

We sincerely express the hope that your journey through many foreign lands may have been a source of personal pleasure to Your Lordship, and is our earnest wish that you may still have many long years of health and happiness in the Diocese of Charlottetown.

In conclusion we beg Your Lordship to impart to us all the Apostolic Benediction.

Charlottetown, P. E. Island, April 18th, 1905.

His Lordship in reply sincerely thanked his priests and people for this beautiful address, and for the grand reception tendered him. He then gave a very interesting account of his visit to the Holy Land, and told of the pleasure it afforded the Holy Father to learn of the progress of religion in this portion of the Lord's vineyard. His Lordship told of his travels in other parts of Europe and in the Holy Land. The many holy places hallowed by our Lord's footsteps and made memorable by many events narrated in the New Testament were referred to. He had the happiness of saying Mass in the Church of the Annunciation at Nazareth, and in the Church of the Nativity at Bethlehem, and in many other churches in places memorable by reason of our Lord's presence and the presence and labors of the Apostles and Saints. At these scenes and incidents cannot be described here. At some other time a more lengthened account may be given. He concluded by bestowing the Apostolic Benediction. Solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament followed, his Lordship officiating, assisted by Rev. D. McDonald and Rev. Dr. Carran, who had assisted him at the throne as deacon of honor. Rev. Dr. McMillan directed the ceremonies. The service concluded with a grand Te Deum.

Archibald Jamieson was killed in the mine at Stellerton Monday afternoon while running a cage in which the coal is taken up, the connecting wire broke and the cage went over him, causing his death instantaneously. He was eighteen years old and the youngest son of Mr. John Jamieson.

The above is a copy of a report just received from the Seed Laboratory, Ottawa, of samples from our spring Stock of Seeds sent March 10th, 1905. You will notice that the percentage of foreign weeds in the Timothy seed is, in one sample, only ONE FIFTH OF ONE PER CENT., and in two other samples three-fifths of one per cent. All the samples of Clovers, with the exception of two, have less than two per cent. of foreign weeds in them, so that our Seed for this season's trade is practically free from weed seeds, and the highest grade in Canada, or anywhere else for that matter. We also sent samples of our Seed Wheat (four varieties), Seed Oats (four varieties), Seed Barley (two varieties), Field Peas, Vetches, etc. Mr. Clark, Chief of Seed Laboratory, writes us as follows: "I may say that I have examined all the samples of Grains and Vetches, and do not find any of them to contain noxious impurities." The original Official Reports can be seen at our office by anyone on application. We have also received a letter dated March 17th, 1905, from one of the largest Seed Growers, Grain and Seed dealers in Canada, from whom we have ordered a large number of cars of choice Seeds and Seed Grain, and they say: "Cars of Grain and Seeds for immediate shipment have gone forward, and we herewith enclose invoices for same. We feel like complimenting you on the quality of seeds you have bought. Without doubt, taken all around, they are the highest grade of Seeds we have shipped this year, and you need have no fear the Seed Bill will interfere in any way with any lots of Alsike, Mammoth Early, and White Clovers and Timothy you have purchased, as they are as pure as can be got."

Love.

(Written for the S. H. Review, by H. E. E.)

Within the breast of Mother Earth,
A little seed long waited birth.

The spring sun smiled. In glad surprise,
She leaped to greet his kindly eyes.

And blithely strove to reach his skies,
Where open wide,—O sweet surprise,

Love's paradise, her paradise.

Within my heart long buried lay
A seed of love. One happy day,

One came, and smiled. O, friend of mine,

To life it sprang, a fragrant vine!
O, let it round thy heart entwine,

And pluck the flower, dear friend of mine,

For all are there they are all thine.

Within my soul Thy word hath lain,
Like fruitless seed on rocky plain

Lord, turn Thy face that I may see!
Let me but feel Thy smile on me!

These barren wastes will fruitful be
As Jordan's vales,—blest, These to see—

In years for Thee, through tears, for Thee.

ality of Almighty God. Of His extreme loveliness and amiability; and to whom He becomes the chief attraction, the abiding and central, the dominating idea of their lives. If we add to this fact, the consideration of the pagan ill-doing by which the early Christians were surrounded, and the difficulties, in their day, attending any practice of their religion, we may begin to understand why they preferred the solitude of the desert to the company of evil men.

If some overwhelming Divine influence should, even now, drive the wretched myriads of East London into desert caves and dens, to live with God as the old hermits did, content with poverty and loneliness, so only they had Him, we shall hardly presume to question that they would be better off than they are now.—(Sacred Heart Review.)

Unitarians and the Church.

Lately Mr. Lester Drummond gave an address in the schoolroom of the Unitarian chapel at Rosslyn Hill, Hampstead, England, at the invitation of the minister and an committee of the congregation.

Taking for his subject "Why I Joined the Church of Rome," the lecturer described the steps which led him from Protestant evangelism of the old-fashioned type to the fullness of Catholic truth.

Nothing could have exceeded the attention of the audience during the address, which lasted for nearly an hour, and at the conclusion the minister, the Rev. Mr. Gow, who acted as chairman, warmly thanked Mr. Drummond for the address, which, in his opinion, contained arguments in favor of Catholicism, which from the Trinitarian Protestant standpoint, were irrefutable.

A most interesting discussion then ensued, in which several of the leading members of the Rosslyn Hill congregation took part. The speakers all seemed to consider that Catholicism, however proof against Trinitarian Protestant objections, could not stand up against the wider views of modern thought and, as one speaker who was much exercised about the Fall of Adam and the Old Testament miracles put it "the facts of science." One curious objection urged by a minister present was that the Catholic Church ought not to claim to be a teaching body, because in the seminaries the order was passed round, "no proselytes." He also asked why the Catholic Church did not seek to re-convert those who had left her communion. Mr. Drummond confessed his entire ignorance of the "no proselytes" order, and was of opinion that it would be cheering news to the Protestant Alliance and other bodies of similar character, who looked upon the missionary efforts of the Catholic Church with terror and dismay. With regard to apostates, his experience was that the Church persons rather than argue with them and waste time endeavoring to teach them what they already knew. The Rev. Mr. Gow was of opinion that the belief in an infallible escher was harmful inasmuch as those who held it were prevented from that intellectual search for the truth in which he considered a man should spend his life. Catholics and what they considered the truth put before them by their Church—they accepted it and that was the

All Three Still in the Ring.

(N. Y. Freeman's Journal.)
"Father Lambert and Father Cronin are very fond of the West, where they both studied and were ordained. The ocean swell, borne by chance of tide or drift of land a thousand leagues from the sea, will still murmur of the deep. Father Cronin is just turned seventy. Father Lambert confesses to a few years more. But they are both young men still. The soul, like the diamond, never grows old. And the body counts its years by its own peculiar calendar. It all depends on the kind of staff it is made of. We three were made of tough fibre, thanks to our good old Irish mothers. We all three sat huddled together under the wing of our Alma Mater in Corcoran's back in the late fifties. A wag has since said: "Three such chicks never came from under one hen before or since." We are all three "still in the ring."—Western Watchman.

Dr. Phelan says when he says we "confess to a few years more." We confess to nothing of the kind. We repudiate the allegation and frown on the slagger. We would not be at all surprised if Dr. Phelan has been advised from his usual reliability by Dr. Cronin himself, who, for some years back, has been boasting of his youthness, compared to our oldness, and putting on youthful airs and strutting like a goose before company in our very presence. We stood it with all the patience we could find in the dictionary, until some time ago Dr. Cronin visited Ireland and consulted the ancient Bismal manuscript there. On his return we noticed a great change in his demeanor; his chin did not protrude so far, his head was less elevated, the youthful swagger was gone. We were struck with astonishment at the change and tried to guess the cause, but in vain, until one day, driven by a guiding conscience, no doubt, he confessed with edifying humility that the ancient Bismal manuscript showed him to be over a month older than we; he arriving in Ireland March 1st, we in Pennsylvania April 13, of the same memorable year. This discovery put an end to his cutting up youthful ospers in our presence. But with his usual resourcefulness, he now goes to the other extreme and looks down upon us with the dignified and benignant gaze of a conscript Father, or a patriarch taking a fond look at his great grandson. This we don't mind, being content with the chronological advantage nature has kindly given us; and besides, it is good to have one man that one can look up to. But to do that, Corcoran, and his lot, is not to be got.

Father Cronin is widely known as an editor, but he is at the same time one of the ablest preachers in the Church in America. He has since with Archbishop Ryan, Ireland and Gleason, in his fascinating power for an audience.

Speak ing of Dr. Phelan, editor of the Western Watchman, Dr. Cronin, of the Buffalo Catholic Union and Times, and the editor of the Freeman's Journal, the Milwaukee Catholic Citizen says: "All three have lived to keep the peace in the Catholic journalistic world. American Catholic journalism cannot go wrong while these men live."

Death of Adrian Iselin.

New York, March 29.—Adrian Iselin, the banker, who died yesterday in his eighty-seventh year, was a generous benefactor of the Catholic Church, the gifts made by him and his family aggregating nearly a million dollars.

Mr. Iselin was married in Baltimore, in 1845, to Miss Eleonora O'Donnell, daughter of Columbus O'Donnell, of that city. Miss O'Donnell was related to John Carroll, the first Catholic Bishop of the United States. For forty years they and their family made their principal home at New Rochelle, N. Y. Ten years ago Mrs. Iselin built St. Gabriel's Church at New Rochelle, one of the most picturesque church edifices on Long Island Sound. Together with a rectory and home for the Sisters of Charity, it is said to have cost $500,000.

The couple celebrated their golden wedding on December 11, 1895. Their seven children and twenty grandchildren were in attendance, and the occasion was commemorated by the children by the unveiling in St. Gabriel's Church of a memorial window representing the espousal of Joseph and the Virgin. The children are Adrian Iselin, Jr., O. Oliver Iselin, William E. Iselin, Columbus O'Donnell Iselin, Mrs. Delancey Astor Kane, Mrs. John G. Beresford, and Miss Georgianna Iselin. The children have since added a complete set of memorial windows in memory of their mother. Mrs. Kane has given the church a marble baptismal font to commemorate the conversion of her husband to the Catholic faith.

Another gift was made when the family transferred its gymnasium property in New Rochelle to St. Gabriel's parish for a school for children. The Leland Castle, in Residence Park there, owned by Columbus O'Donnell Iselin, was also transferred to the church by its owner for a nominal sum, and is now an academy of the Ursuline nuns.

Since the death of Mrs. Iselin, in 1897, the banker and his family have continued to make costly gifts to the Church. They contributed largely to the building of St. Catherine's Church in Pelham, and to a church in the coal regions, and last year Mr. Iselin gave a $50,000 church and a rectory to the Italian Catholics of New Rochelle. The latter gift greatly pleased Pope Pius X when he heard of it. He expressed his appreciation of the magnanimity which would prompt a Protestant gentleman to make such a splendid gift to his Italian fellow countrymen in a foreign land.

Two years ago the banker's youngest daughter, Miss Georgianna Iselin, gave a home for convalescents in the Church. It was built at Scarsdale, Westchester County, and named St. Eleonora's Home, in memory of her mother.
