THE PRICE OF SUGAR.

As the Food Board are dealing with Sugar supplies for six months or so, it must be recognized that in making sure of an ample supply, the carrying charges must necessarily be provided for as time goes on, also extra charges which accrue in handling such a large quantity of sugar.

The Food Board therefore have to announce that the price of Sugar will be increased, and give this warning to Consumers so that they may govern themselves accordingly by getting in supplies. There will be no further intimation of the increase until it actually takes place.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.
A TORTURED MIND.

Now the brook came in sight and the excitement rose like yeast.

"Now, then," shouted one old farmer above the cheering and hurraing, "put the old in well to it, cap'n."

And Reginald, with a half smile, lifted the good old horse at the broad span of water.

Before he could clear it, however, Sir Charles passed him and, amidst an outburst of cheering and shouting, leaped the silver stream and, pulling himself together, shot on ahead.

Reginald followed after, Sir Bois in the rear of him and sending splashes of water into the marquis's face, who, after a most gallant effort, landed in and floundered through the water and crawled out, horse and rider soaked and dripping.

The excitement, however, was too great for the spectators to notice him; he was out of the race, and the whole interest centered in the four remaining, Lord Taunton having succeeded, with a touch of his spurs, in sending his horse on to keep company with the rest.

Now, almost abreast, they rise and clear the hurdle, then spin round the piece of turf on their way home.

Whiz! Clack! Smash! At the first barrier Sir Bois comes a cropper and the gallant horse falls lengthways.

Lord Taunton, with a brief-muttered curse, tries to take him in the leap, but falls short and tumbles within a yard.

Reginald Dartmouth and Sir Charles have it all their own way now, and amidst a death-like silence, bred of the most intense excitement, urge their panting horses toward the brook.

"Ten to one on Sir Charles! Fifteen to one on the captain!" shout the crowd.

"Here they come! Oh, the brook—the brook!" exclaims the ladies, rising in the stand, as if by one impulse, and waving their handkerchiefs.

With stern, set face Reginald Dartmouth bears down upon the calm line of water.

Sir Charles, with the old, careless smile upon his handsome face, follows half a yard after.

"The brook—the brook—that'll do it!" roars the crowd.

Then they raise their voices with one loud cry as Reginald Dartmouth, raising his eyes toward the stand, charges at the water and, lifting the chestnut, clears it by an inch.

Sir Charles takes it more cautiously, but clears it, nevertheless, and then a roar rises:

"Now the last hurdle! Two to one on Sir Charles—no, no; Captain Dartmouth—"

The roar ceases as if by magic.

The last hurdle had been cleared by the broad-chested chestnut, but the racer had missed it, and as Reginald Dartmouth rides on, winner of the precious ring, Sir Charles is thrown, as from a catapult, full upon his golden beard, and lies stretched out, still and motionless, upon the greensward.

A shriek cleaves the air, followed by another and yet another—the fence goes down before the onslaught of the crowd, and lords and ladies, farmers and laborers, throng round the prostrate form.

"Lift him up carefully—don't move him!" cry different voices, warningly.

But before any one could do anything a sturdy figure pushed its way through the crowd and, with the aid of a stable-helper, proceeded to lift the unconscious man with gentle care.

Reginald Dartmouth came forward at this moment and, wiping the perspiration from his forehead, bid them be careful—very careful.

But they seemed not to notice him, and, going sedately through the crowd, bore the limp form to a carriage that had stopped on the outskirts of the throng.

Reginald Dartmouth opened his mouth to ask for an explanation and give some command, but he shut it as a lady, dressed in deep mourning, stepped from the carriage and, looking very white and determined, said, distinctly:

"Captain Dartmouth, Sir Charles Anderson is my cousin—the Warren is nearer than the Hall."

Then, before he could answer, she re-entered the carriage, the door was shut with a bang, the faithful old coachman mounted the box, and Sir Charles was borne off.

CHAPTER XXXIX.
WITHIN TWO YEARS.

Change! change! Didst think the world would stand still, man?—BUTLER.

While Captain Dartmouth and some of his friends were rickling their necks over hurdles and a widened brook for the amusement of his guests, a young man was wearily toiling up the hill to the Dale.

He was a slim but well-built young follow, with an air of good-breeding about him that was scarcely borne out by his face, for what could be seen of it was of a dark hue, made rather pallid-looking by the huge blue spectacles perched on the nose, while in direct antagonism his hair which, to match his complexion, should have been black, or at least brown, was of an unmistakable and somewhat brilliant red.

Evidently the young gentleman was no stranger in Dale, for at every turn of the long, dusty road he paused and, shifting the little wallet he carried on his back to a fresh position, looked curiously roundabout him.

Sometimes, as, for instance, when the new row of cottages by Manor Farm met his view, he seemed lost in meditation, and nodded once or twice with an approving air.

But as he reached the top of the hill and came within sight of the new Hall, which reared its stately head above the trees like a new Tower of Babel, he stopped point-blank in the road and, opening his eyes wide behind the blue spectacles, stared with unbounded amazement.

For a few minutes he seemed too astonished to proceed, but, still keeping the spectacles turned upon the new palace, he walked slowly on and, with an air of puzzled bewilderment, gained the new gates, which, in all their glory of iron mounting, presented a magnificent and imposing barrier to the outside world.

As if unable to take in enough of the sight by a long, stand-up gaze, the youth seated himself upon one of the huge stone bowlders flanking the gate, and leaning his chin upon his hands let his eyes wander from cell to grating to garret casement, reveling in a long, scrutinizing gaze.

Presently, while he was still looking, an old farm laborer trudged by.

The youth turned quickly and, in a voice slightly tinged with an accent that might be foreign but could not have been recognized as belonging to any language in particular said:

"Good-morning."

"Good-morning, master," replied the old man, with apt civility.

And touching his wrinkled forehead he essayed to proceed, but the youth arrested him with:

"Can you tell me what place this is?"

"The old man, leaning on his hoe, turned with a significant smile.

"You be a stranger in these parts?"

"Yes," nodded the youth; "quite."

"Ay, ay, so I was thinking," returned the old man. "Well, this be the new Hall!"

And he removed his eyes from the youth to gaze at the enormous place with admiring awe.

"The new Hall!" repeated the youth.

"Humph! Well, it looks new—"

"Ay, it looks new, doesn't it?" assented the old man, with quiet delight.

"So 'ud anybody say; but it beant—not quite, you know. 'Tis only the outside, as one may say, on'y coat and clothin'; the bricks and mortar, and t' stones be the same as when it was called 't' Dale."

"Oh!" said the youth, rather strange, and with a sudden drop of his face; "so this used to be called the Dale, eh? How long ago?"

"Two years nigh upon," replied the old man, pleased at the evident interest which the strange wayfarer took in the new Hall, the pride of the county—"two years nigh upon. Ay"—this with a sigh—"it be more'n two years since 't'ould squire died."

The youth uttered an exclamation and sprang to his feet, letting fall the knapsack with a crash.

"There must be some ants here somewhere," remarked the youth, sinking down upon the stones again and looking round him carefully while he rubbed his leg restfully. "I think I'll change my seat," and still keeping his face, which was white and working, no doubt by the sudden sting—ants can sting, and pretty sharply—picked up his wallet and seated himself upon the opposite stone. "So the old squire died, you say, two years ago?" he repeated, looking down, but speaking with a tone of curious interest; "and this place was built upon the old house, eh?"

"Yes, that be it," sighed the old man, taking off his battered hat and wiping his brow with a glaring bandanna.

"It be a wonderful change! If Squire Darrell could come from his grave yonder he'd never know the place."

"I don't think he would," muttered the youth, sorrowfully.

"I beg t' pardon?" said the old man, not catching the reply.

"I don't suppose he would," said the youth. "This looks such a very grand place. Pray to whom does it belong?"

"To the capt'n—Captain Dartmouth," replied the old man.

"Captain Dartmouth!" echoed the youth, so glibly and with such an expression of amazement and indignation that the old laborer stared; but the youth continued, in a colder and more indifferent tone: "Captain Dartmouth! A sea-captain, I suppose? Bought it, eh?"

"No," sighed the old man, "he didn't buy it. 't' squire left it 'im by will. He be a sojer, not a sea-captain."

"By will?" repeated the youth. "Did he leave him anything else besides the old house, which he lost so little time in effacing?"

"He left him everything," answered the old laborer, with a certain bitterness in his tone. "Everything—Dale, lands, and money, and all."

"Ah!" said the youth, with a certain hesitation in his voice. "There were no other relations, I suppose—there is no nearer?"

The laborer looked at him a moment before answering; then, with a sudden reserve, as of a servant respecting his master's business, replied:

"No, none nearer than the captain. He was his nephew."

"No son—no niece?" asked the youth, carelessly, and with a yawning that necessitated his covering his face with his hands. "No son or daughter or niece?"

"No," said the old man, shortly, faint hesitation in his voice.

"Leastways—no, none. Good-day to you, young sir," and with another touch to the forehead he moved on.

The youth, after another long look at the house beyond the gates, rose likewise and, with averted face, passed into the road.

Before he got fifty paces a sudden shout broke the mid-day stillness, a shout followed by a mingled roar of excitement, a shout and uproar of a crowd interested in some spectacle of accident.

The youth turned and saw a carriage coming down the road toward him.

He stepped on one side just in time to escape the horse—and so narrowly escaping it that his face almost touched the window, through which he saw a lady's face.

The lady saw him and suddenly pulled the check-string.

Fashion Plates.

A PRETTY SUMMER FROCK.

2816—This is a charming model, especially for slender figures. It is just the thing for organdie, dimity, voile and crepe, and will require little trimming excepting a smart sash or belt of bright ribbon. Dotted swiss, with collar of organdie or net edged with Val lace, and a sash of chinese yellow or liberty red, would be very attractive for this style.

The Pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 14, 16, 18 and 20 years. Size 18 will require 6 1/4 yards of 3/4 inch material. The skirt measure about 2 yards at the foot, with pleats drawn out.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address, on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

A SIMPLE PRETTY FROCK FOR THE LITTLE GIRL.

Pattern 3261 is here portrayed. It is cut in 4 sizes: 2, 3, 4, and 5 years. A 4 year size will require 3 1/4 yards of 27 inch material.

As here shown dotted challie in white and blue was used. Pippings of white poplin trim the dress. This model is pretty in dimity or Swiss with lace or embroidery. It is also nice for gingham, percale and pique.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

The Teachers' Convention.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—For the benefit of teachers attending the Convention, will you please publish the following:—
The Newfoundland Teachers' Association will hold a Convention of Teachers in St. John's on July 12th. The Convention will open in the Methodist College Hall on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. His Excellency the Governor has graciously consented to deliver the opening address, followed by the Minister of Education, Dr. Barnes. Sessions will be held twice daily, morning and afternoon; there will be no night session. The Convention will close on Saturday at 12 o'clock.

Every teacher in the Dominion is given a cordial invitation to be present. So far over three hundred have signified their intention of being present. It should, however, be carefully borne in mind by all teachers that they should endeavour to secure accommodation with friends. The Secretary of the Association will only be responsible for those who have written him asking to secure board. These will all be accommodated. He will endeavour, however, to have as many boarding houses as possible selected over and above those who have already written him.

Teachers attending Convention will please note the following arrangements that have been made by the Association regarding their expenses:

1.—Teachers are requested to ask the Agents of the Reid Newfoundland Co. for the Special Standard Certificate when they are purchasing their ticket for St. John's. On presentation of this Certificate to the Secretary he will refund the amount of the ticket, and on presenting this same form at the Reid Newfoundland Co. office in the city, a return ticket will be given to the teacher free of charge. The Reid Newfoundland Co., with their accustomed generosity in all educational matters, have given the Association one way first class fare to St. John's. But for this, it would have been impossible for the Association to pay the teachers' fares. Teachers are requested to carefully guard the Special Standard Certificate, as it will only be upon presentation of this after being filled in by the Secretary, that a return ticket will be issued free of charge. These tickets are good beginning July 8th to 14th, and returning up to and including July 19. Tickets issued on steamship routes will be honoured on the trips connecting with the above dates.

2.—Teachers travelling by the Government Steamers "Prospero" and "Portia" will buy regulation ticket to St. John's, on which they will be given a discount of 10 per cent. The amount of the ticket will be refunded as in (1), and a return ticket issued.

3.—Teachers travelling by "Susu" will buy one first class ticket, which will be honoured as in (1). The F. H. Ellis & Co. have also generously granted the Association the same privilege as the Reid Newfoundland Co.

4.—Teachers are requested to carefully note that they must return by the same route as they came, if they wish to take advantage of the return ticket. They can, however, come on the original ticket, have the amount of the ticket refunded—and return whenever they please at their own expense.

5.—Teachers must attend at least six of the sessions of the Convention in order to qualify for the privileges given above. The full programme of the Convention will be printed and published in the daily papers. In addition, all teachers will be given a programme on the opening of the Convention.

All teachers requiring further information are requested to communicate with the undersigned.

Thanking you in anticipation,

I am, Sir,
Faithfully yours,
W. M. BUTT.

Newfoundlander is Active Figure in the Fishing Industry.

(Fishing Gazette.)

A striking personality in the fish industry of the United States to-day is that of John W. McGrath, president of the Interstate Fish Company, with headquarters in New York, Rockport and Gloucester, Mass. Born in Odegin, Placentia Bay, Newfoundland, 29 years ago, he early gave promise of a great future. Educated in Newfoundland and Canada, his finishing course carried him to the Bar.

Wide of vision and strong of will, he came to the United States in 1911 and soon was in the public eye as secretary to the late President, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, with whom he continued official and friendly relations from 1912 to 1915, when he became associated with George W. Perkins.

On July 1, 1919, at the request of Mr. Perkins, Mr. McGrath became president of the Interstate Fish Company, a position for which he was eminently fitted because of the careful study he had given the subject of fish production and distribution from the first day of his association with Mr. Perkins. In the field of his activity, he covered the entire United States, including

Women Who Smile

Should end that film on teeth

All statements approved by high dental authorities

Most teeth are clouded more or less by film. Millions of teeth are ruined by it. It causes most tooth troubles.

There is now a way to combat that film, advised by dentists everywhere. And a ten-day test will be sent on your request.

How film dims teeth

A viscous film clings to your teeth, enters crevices and stays. You can feel it with your tongue. Then it forms a cloudy coat and may lead to endless damage.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Very few people, under old methods, have escaped these troubles. The ordinary tooth paste does not dissolve film, so the tooth brush failed to end it. Dental science has for years been seeking a way to combat it.

Five years ago the way was found, and dental authorities have amply proved its efficiency. Now it is urged for daily use, and millions already employ it. It is embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent—a tooth paste made to meet modern requirements.

Teeth quickly show

There are three ways in which Pepsodent brings results unique and beneficial, but its action on film is the chief one.

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is aluminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to day by day combat it.

Pepsin must be activated, and the usual agent is an acid harmful to the teeth. So this method long seemed barred. But science has found a harmless activating method, and now active pepsin can be daily applied.

You see the results of Pepsodent wherever you look today—teeth whiter, cleaner, safer. Now see the results on your own teeth.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coat disappears.

Compare your teeth now with your teeth in ten days, then decide for yourself what is best for them. Cut out the coupon to avoid further delay. This test is most important.

His associates in Fulton Fish Market, New York, the principal distributing point for practically all the fancy fish produced on the Atlantic Coast, soon recognized his ability, electing him a director of the Fulton Market Fish Mergers' Association, he being the youngest man in years and also in the market to be selected for that coveted position. As a further tribute the Association selected Mr. McGrath as a member of the Executive Committee.

In March of this year, when it became evident to the wholesale fish dealers of New York that an associasurpassed. The biggest expense in fixing this highway would be that of replacing Colinet Bridge. He hoped an attempt to open this road would be made. On the road from Salmonier to St. Mary's a good lot of repairs were needed and in this part the roads in the district could be only kept in passable condition by special grants, the usual allocations being entirely too small. From Placentia to the Cape Shore there was hardly any road, and that important part of the district had neither railroad nor coastal service, although the people there have to pay their equal share of the taxes. He thought a substantial amount should be voted for this road. A petition to that effect had already been sent to the House. Last fall scores of people there could not market their produce for want of communication by road and consequently thousands of dollars were lost to the country, as the fish held over till this Spring did not bring the money that could be realized last fall. He hoped that special consideration for the special conditions existing there would be given by the Government. He stated that he was informed that this section would not be given Coastal Service for his season, and hoped the discrimination was not in the same category as that shown in other sections. The allocations for the road from Trepassy to St. John's were not sufficient to repair half the road. He noticed that the sum of $800 was the allocation for repairs to more than 50 miles of road on the West side of the bay, the same amount as has been assigned for the past 50 years. Why was there no increase? Why did not the Government vote some of the handsome surplus that they found when they took office? He asked for only enough to make the roads passable for the unfortunate people who are compelled to walk over them.

arrangements being made re Cable at Port aux Basques.

Mr. Warren—The judgment only arrived a day or two ago. Mr. Morine will be instructed to go ahead and collect same at once.

Mr. Halfyard said that the reason Mr. Kinsella's salary was no more than $1,644.00 was because the Civil Service Commission recommended that amount as a maximum salary for men in such positions.

Mr. Higgins wanted to know why Mr. LeMessurier's (G.P.O.) salary was not evened up to that of Mr. Milley, and why was not Mr. Kinsella's raised to $2,160, also. He thought that gross discrimination was shown. Mr. LeMessurier was one of the best officials in the whole service. Ministers may come and ministers may go, but Mr. Geo. LeMessurier goes on forever, and if anything happened that gentleman it would be hard to replace him. Then again, there is Mr. Campbell. Why is he increased from $1,584.00 to $2,160.00 and Kinsella from $1,512.00 to $1,644.00. Why this discrimination? What political work did Campbell do for you? Of course he must have done something to merit an increase of $576.00. We were expecting "reform" in these matters from this "reform" Government, but such acts as these mentioned are the kind of "reform" the country is getting. It is not reform for Campbell to get $2,160.00, Milley $2,160.00 and Harris $3,600.00, while Kinsella gets $1,644.00, Devereaux $1,644.00 and LeMessurier $3,000.00 and these things can in no way be justified.

Mr. Bennett thought that the deputies in all the departments should be treated alike, but instead some of these deputies were receiving $3,600, while others were getting only $3,000. The new Deputy of Posts and Telegraphs is getting only $3,000. Why was this discrimination?

Mr. Walsh asked why was a young man DeLacey, dismissed from his position. The only thing he knew against Mr. DeLacey was that he took some part in politics against the present Government. There again was discrimination and he wished to go on record as being totally opposed to the discrimination now being shown by the Government.

Mr. Fox, on behalf of Mr. MacDonnell, who was absent, asked for telephone and telegraph extensions in certain parts of St. George's District. He also backed up what had been said by others members in relation to the Post Office votes and felt that certain gentlemen employed there were being discriminated against.

Mr. Walsh asked for telephone and telegraph connection in Placentia and commenced by the late government should be completed.

Mr. Halfyard stated that work commenced by the late government would be finished.

The House then rose till 8 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

Mr. Higgins asked Mr. Brownrigg if the man named in the Estimates, Chas. Hynes, sub-collector at Kelligrews was not the same gentleman who had filed the election petition against Woodford and Jones and in one week after such work he was rewarded by being appointed to the above position. Mr. Frank Tilley was dismissed and Mr. Hynes rewarded with his job. Mr. Tilley's salary was $375.00 and now Mr. Hynes' is $750.00, exactly double. Of course he is worth double what Tilley was getting on account of his service to the party. The excuse of the increase of the salary is that Topsall is added, but that is not worth considering. Here is what we are up against: Hynes is rewarded for political services with a job of $750.00 and poor DeLacey is dismissed because he rendered no service to the government party. And yet we are told that this is a Reform Government now in power. Could inconsistency go further? He asked Mr. Brownrigg that the wrong done to DeLacey be put right forthwith. It is anything but creditable to the Minister of Finance and Customs.

Mr. Brownrigg—Would it be creditable for me to make a job for DeLacey?

Mr. Higgins—it would be more creditable for you to make a job for DeLacey than it was to make a job for Mr. Geo. Shee, as Leader of the Upper House, a thing unheard of in our political annals.

Mr. Brownrigg promised he would reconsider DeLacey's case and see if anything could be done in the way of reinstatement.

Mr. Bennett drew attention to the coal situation and feared if not taken in hand in time, conditions would be worse next winter than last. He also called attention of the Minister of Shipping to the price now being paid. While at Freshwater three weeks ago people were landing coal there purchased from the Bell Island Companies at the rate of $8.00 per ton. Surely that must be the landed cost to the Companies. If so, there is a discrepancy of $10.50 per ton between coal landed at St. John's and that landed at Bell Island. It has long been thought that some middleman was making a nice thing out of the coal purchased at Sydney by dealers in Newfoundland, and this looked very much like it. He asked that the Government make a searching enquiry. He also asked if any arrangement had been made between the Government and the Dominion I. & S. Co. and the Nova S. S. & C. Co. re the export tax on iron ore from Bell Island to which Mr. Warren replied that no final arrangement had been entered into and he did not anticipate any before the House closed. In the meantime the tax would be continued the same until final arrangements would be made and next session retroactive legislation would be introduced.

Sir M. P. Cashin asked if anything was done by way of collecting the Profits Tax due by the Nova Scotia S. & Coal Co. He understood the Dominion I. & S. Co. had voluntarily paid theirs, then why should the former Company go free. If no arrangement is finalized between the Companies and the Government with regard to the tax on ore, what about the one dollar tax that was going to be put on last fall during the election? Now you have no policy whatever. It is ridiculous to come in here and say now you are going to introduce retroactive legislation next year. Then what about the railway legislation? We have the same old railway now as we had when the elections were on last fall. It looks as if nothing is going to be done on this score. As regards the coal situation, why not make the coal people come across. They have the coal and we have the ore. There should be negotiations entered into with this principle in view. This position was backed up by Messrs. Moore, Walsh and Higgins in forceful addresses.

Mr. Bennett before the Committee rose, called attention to an article in the Advocate of Saturday last, written by Mr. Coaker in connection with his visit to the war area recently, which he thought reflected on his conduct of the Militia Department when in charge there. The statement was made by Mr. Coaker that some bodies had been found by him while going through the battlefields and on enquiry from Rev. Major Nangle he was told that the O.C. in France at the time had asked permission to have men detailed to search for bodies but no notice was taken of their request. Mr. Bennett wanted it to be clearly known that when he was Minister of Militia no such request had come from the O.C., who was then Mj. Bernard. He further stated that no such request was necessary to be sent on this side. If the O.C. in France thought it necessary that such work should be done, he had only to order same and see that it was accomplished without reference to him as Minister of Militia. Seeing that the reflection was on him, he took the present opportunity of putting himself clear before the public and he trusted Mr. Coaker would through the same channel now make the matter also clear as far as he was concerned. He could not deny such a request, but he was safe in saying it was never made. Furthermore, he asked Mr. Coaker to verify the truth or otherwise of his denial by having the records of the Department examined as the request.

if such there was, would be on file there. He made the explanation in justice to himself and to clear his name of any unmanly conduct.

Mr. Coaker said it gave him great pleasure to hear Mr. Bennett make such an unqualified denial of the reflections contained in his article. He could not think of Mr. Bennett being so callous to such a reasonable request, if such there was, being on record. Of course it could be verified by hunting up the records of the Department. He then detailed as to how he came across the bodies and being incensed over the finding of seven, he asked Major Nangle how it happened that these were overlooked for three years. Major Nangle could not explain it, as he himself had searched the place over time and again. It had been then told him that Major Bernard made the request as detailed in his article. Of course now that Mr. Bennett had denied the receiving of the request, he thought a full investigation should be made and the right shoulders bear the responsibility. Nothing gave him greater pleasure than to hear Mr. Bennett deny any responsibility.

Sir M. P. Cashin asked that the fire sufferers in his district be given consideration and detailed at some length the privations suffered by those who had been unfortunate. The Prime Minister promised consideration.

Mr. Walsh pleaded for an Inspector of Mines and told some touching incidents of his life while working in the mines at Little Bay, and other places. We have all kinds of inspectors for everything else, but nothing to protect the miner.

Mr. Higgins, in discussing the Marine and Fisheries votes, was told by Mr. Coaker that ten Trade Commissioners would be appointed abroad in the foreign fish markets at a salary of about $5,000.00 each. Total $50,000.00.

The Committee then rose.

Notice was given of the Educational and Municipal Bills and suspension of the Rules on Wednesday, after which the House adjourned until to-day at 8 o'clock.

House of Assembly.

MONDAY, July 5.
The House opened at 3 p.m.

After some preliminaries the House went into committee on Supply.

Mr. Higgins asked if it was the intention of the Government to make any special vote out of the surplus for marine works, etc.

The Prime Minister replied that no special vote would be made. An amount up to ten or fifteen thousand dollars had already been voted and he feared some more would have to be allocated to replace bridges, etc., that had been destroyed in recent fires.

Mr. Higgins discussing the vote for Public Works said that the increase of 20% was altogether inadequate. Regarding the changes made in St. John's East he said they are not going to make any reforms, but shifts are being made in the district which will not give satisfactory returns. This is very petty work, but my regret is that some of the methods adopted in giving the allocations will not bring satisfactory returns, and the district by the shifting will lose men who have in the past given excellent service.

Mr. Jennings said he was not aware that things were as Mr. Higgins stated. Mr. Higgins replying said that from his information he gathered that some person was taking charge of his (Jennings) Department.

Mr. Jennings—I don't think so.

Hon. R. A. Squires in reply to Mr. Walsh stated that some months ago several thousand dollars had been appropriated for emergency repairs to roads and bridges in the district of Placentia and St. Mary's.

Mr. Walsh speaking of the grant for Public Works thought that the allocations were altogether inadequate, for this season, and hoped the discrimination was not in the same category as that shown in other sections. He thought that the same rate of wages should be given men on Public Works as is given by private corporations and firms. He asked if it was the intention of the Government to open the road from Colinet to Placentia. The beauties of the scenery in that part of the district could not be

Bedrooms & Beds

There's nothing more important to the bedroom than the Bed itself, is there? From the point of usefulness or ornament it ranks first. Does your Bed suit your taste? Does it harmonize with your room? Does it give you the sleep-comfort you need? No? Well, then it's time to discard it and get another, quick.

We are showing All-Brass, Brass and Enamel, and All-Enamel Beds in all sizes and very fine designs. Each and all of which Beds can be fitted with Springs and Wool or Felt Mattresses if desired.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

WHAT IF THE WAR IS OVER.

Does patriotism have to stop the minute war is over? Of course not. What a silly question! Then tell me this: Why should we stop practising a virtue which was one of the finest expressions of war patriotism, which did as much to win the war as any other virtue, and which is still more needed by our country than any virtue the calendar? I refer, of course, to thrift.

But we got so tired of saving during the war, says someone. We saved and saved and saved, and now we want to spend a little.

What Thrift Means.

But thrift, my friend, does not necessarily mean saving. It does include some saving, (where possible), but it has a different and much larger meaning than just saving. Thrift means wise spending. Roosevelt's definition is, "Thrift is common sense applied to spending." I know some young people who, because they have a comfortable income between them, can save goodly amounts each year; but I do not call them thrifty for, though they save, they waste wealth in appalling ways—buy clothes hastily and care to discard them because they are suitable; leave food tools out in rain to rust; let expensive food rot in the refrigerator.

Ten Forms of Thrift.

Here are some of the concrete things that thrift means, according to very high authority on the subject: Planning meals that provide the necessary nourishment at least cost. Checking food, waste—in storage, preparation, at table, and by use left-overs. Producing food at home wherever possible, by gardens, poultry, and so on. Purchasing clothes in terms of a lined wardrobe instead of a bargain sale. Using care as regards laundering, fully, removing spots promptly, rinsing, storage and disposition of these between seasons. Choosing a house and furniture suitable for family needs rather than display. Intelligent management of the fires for heating and cooking, to reduce fuel consumption. "Economy of light by careful consideration of size and number of lights necessary and by burning only when in use. "Saving time by a daily and weekly plan for housework, by simple living, by convenient workrooms, by efficient utensils.

And Don't Forget the Children.

"Teaching children thrift. Training them share in the work of cleaning what they will eat; training them to take care of their clothing by making the mshare in the work of cleaning or in the deprivation caused when a lost or carelessly used garment has to be replaced; training them to save time by orderliness, by making them share in the loss of leisure time which disorderliness causes."

Perhaps it will interest you to see how you measure up to these standards of thrift. I feel sure there are some of my reader friends who can give themselves 100 per cent. on every count.

British Export Strength.

The market advance in British power to export must be taken as a most hopeful symptom of the power of England to "come back" to a normal state of things and to hold her own in world trade. A growth of ability in this direction has been noted in these columns for some months past, but the most recent figures afford a still more striking evidence of the condition of affairs. This is encouraging not only as regards Great Britain but with respect also to other countries which have been oppressed by war conditions and have consequently suffered from distorted exchange. Eventually the latter can be corrected only by rectification of currency and banking methods, but the improvement of exporting power will be a great assistance about the desired strengthening of the situation. Great Britain's growth in exports means that there will naturally and necessarily have to be a corresponding growth of imports in other countries.

It is to be hoped that other countries will in the near future begin to exhibit something like the recuperative power of Great Britain in foreign trade. There are encouraging indications here and there, but thus far nothing that seems at all comparable with the power of control and ability to meet obligations that exists in England. Great Britain has her own internal problems, and they are many, but she is making progress towards their solution.—"The Chronicle," Montreal.

SEASIDE MUSINGS.

I walk beside the sea and muse, among the surge lashed rocks; the waves roll up and wet my shoes, and spoil my green silk socks. It seems to me the ocean's sound is one great, endless knell; its waters are the battle ground of all that in them dwell. Like cannibals fish make their meals of relatives that pass; the swordfish fills itself with eels, the dolphin eats the bass. All fishes are avoiding foes by every futile means; the salted codfish bristly goes, pursuing canned sardines; I sense an endless tragedy where'er the breakers boom, the thrilling epic of the sea, that tells of death and doom. And if I bade the warfare cease, I'd simply waste my breath; in vain I'd preach a balmy peace to those whose trade is death. Until the end of stars and suns the hungry fish will slay; the big will chase the little ones, and stow the same away. The sharks would look on me with mirth, or bid me amble hence, just as the people do on earth, when I talk peace and sense. And on the land as in the sea red blood must always flow; alack, alas, and woe is me, that such things should be so!

An Epigrammatic Dean.

In his new volume entitled "Out-spoken Essays," Dean Inge sets forth his observations on life, religion, politics, and other subjects of the day. Many are epigrammatic as well as gloomy, as may be gathered from the following extracts:—

"It has often been noticed that every man looks a gentleman in Khaki; and it is to be feared that many war brides have suffered a painful surprise on seeing their husbands for the first time in civilian garb."

"Religion remains as important as it was before the war."

"Man remains what he has always been—a splendid fighting animal, a self-sacrificing hero, and a blood-thirsty savage."

"Patriotism varies from a noble devotion to a moral lunacy."

"Public opinion is a vulgar, impertinent, anonymous tyrant who deliberately makes life unpleasant for any one who is not content to be the average man."

"No one can govern who cannot afford to be unpopular."

"No one is so cruel as the disillusioned sentimentalist."

"The Government policy is first to create unemployment and then endeavor to— the shortest and maddest road to ruin since the downfall of the Roman Empire."

"It is probable that men were happier in the Middle Ages than they are now."

"The clerical profession was a necessity when most people could neither read nor write. But to-day our best prophets and preachers are laymen."

Suit has been brought against the Imperial Brokerage Company, of St. John's, Newfoundland, by S. Sklaroff & Sons of Philadelphia, over an offering of "three hundred barrels of new Fall pack" which the plaintiff declares was quoted at $17.00, c.i.f., New York. On being assured that the pack comprised large and medium falls the Philadelphia firm opened a credit of $5,100 and ordered the consignment forward. The plaintiff claims that the fish forwarded were not new but of the previous season and that the defendant has received payment for goods not up to specifications.—New York Fishing Gazette.

SITTIN' ON THE PORCH.

Sittin' on the porch at night when all the tasks are done. Just restin' there an' talkin' with my easy slippers on. An' my shirt band thrown wide open an' my feet upon the rail. Oh, it's then I'm at my richest, with a wealth that cannot fail. For the scent of early roses seems to flood the evening air. An' a throne of downy light gladness is my wicker rocking chair.

The dogs asleep beside me, an' the children rompin' round. With their shrieks of merry laughter, oh there is no gladder sound. To the ears of weary mortals, spite of all the scuffers say. Or a grander bit of music than the children at their play! An' I tell myself times over when I'm sittin' there at night. That the world in which I'm livin' is a place o' real delight.

Then the moon begins its climbin' an' the stars shine overhead. An' the mother calls the children an' she takes 'em up to bed. An' I smoke my pipe in silence an' I think o' many things. An' balance up my riches with the loneliness o' kings. An' I come to this conclusion, an' I'll wager that I'm right— That I'm happier than they are sittin' on my porch at night.

I want another bottle of "Brick's Tasteless", it is the best preparation I have ever taken to give me an appetite.—apr28.11

WILLIAM FREW, Water St.

Wants It Fresh!

England did not take kindly to frozen fish during the war, and no less an authority than Sir Thomas Robinson, of Grimsby, is credited with the statement that "frozen fish has gone dead entirely in England now that our own trawlers have got to work again."

This means that Lord Leverhulme, who plans to insure a constant supply at even prices by storing up frozen supplies sufficient to last over stormy periods, has quite a task ahead of him. But his Lordship plans to freeze his fish in brine, a method said to eliminate all objectionable features, so he may fare better than did Sir Thomas, who endeavored to put frozen halibut and salmon on the permanent fish map of Great Britain.—New York Fishing Gazette.

Democrats at Check.

With practically but little difficulty the Republican Convention at Chicago, some time ago, made a choice for the Presidential nomination, as also for Vice-President, but the Democrats in convention at San Francisco appear to be having troubles of their own. According to yesterday's early despatches, twenty-two ballots had been taken up to midnight, Saturday, neither of which bore any result, though since the resumption yesterday morning, following adjournment for Sunday, something may have materialised, and the selection may possibly be made to-day. The entrance into the running of William McAdoo, son-in-law of President Wilson, after his withdrawal, may have been brought about by party exigencies, the chief one being perhaps the physical unfitness of the President to enter for a third term. At any rate McAdoo is a candidate for nomination and was among the three leading in the last ballot taken on Saturday, being second, with Senator Cox first and Senator Palmer away down in the list. Judging by this it looks as though the race is to be between Cox and McAdoo, although at the last minute a "dark horse" may be introduced by those who do not favor either of the leading candidates.

During a good part of its history the Democratic Party was under a cloud, but a ray of sunshine shone through for a brief period under the Presidency of Grover Cleveland, but it was left until Wilson's time, according to contemporaneous opinion, for it to attain full revelation, and the question now for Democratic supporters to decide is whether the light that shined is to be totally obscured or burst into newer and more effulgent beams. The main question before the San Francisco Convention in the construction of its platform, has been the League of Nations' Covenant and the Peace Treaty, but apparently there has been no opposition of any strength to either of these. Prohibition, in the shape of the Volstead Act for its enforcement, is another plank which may have to be recalled, though it is well known that the influence of Mr. Wilson will have some effect in the incorporation of this in the political structure, deleted of its drastic powers, by reason of which the President placed his veto upon it, yet had that same veto overruled by Congress. Then there is Labor, toward which the President has shown himself a firm and sincere friend, and it is possible that he will induce the Democrats to take a definite stand on Labor matters. Should he succeed it is beyond question that the party will receive the loyal support of Labor delegates, who have nothing to expect from the Republicans. Any moment now and the name of the successful Democratic candidate may be flashed from the city of the Golden Gate, and then the real campaign begins.

Police Court.

An old pensioner was fined $1 for assault. As he threatened to burn down the home he was living in, another was found for him. A part bottle of gasoline was found on his person when he was arrested. With this he was said to be threatened to start the blaze. The old man, however, claimed that it was an embrocation for his leg.

Averted Accident.

The promptness of the motorman of No. 6 street car saved a teamster and horse from accident on Water Street, West, this forenoon. The horse with long cart was coming down Springdale Street, and when crossing into Water Street the horse shied hitting the street car which was coming East. The motorman with great promptness brought his car to a standstill. Meanwhile the driver got control of his animal.

Fetch Good Prices.

The auction sale of horses at George Neal's wharf to-day was well attended. The horses for sale were of the driving type and averaged about $250 each. At yesterday's sale the horned cattle fetched good prices, while young pigs (6 weeks old) sold for from $9 to $15 dollars each.

BOLSHEVİK SUCCESS. LONDON, June 5. Bolsheviki have broken enemy resistance on the Crimean front, according to an official Soviet statement, under Sunday's date, received by wireless to-day. Bolsheviki occupied a number of villages twenty-five miles southwest of Orskhov in southern Ekaterinoslav region, the statement says.

SPA CONFERENCE OPENED.

There was a brief meeting to-day of the Allied and German Delegates, who during the next few days, will discuss matters relating to the Peace Treaty. The session was held in the drawing room of the Villa Fraunceux and the German Delegates, Chancellor Fehrenbach, Dr. Walter Stimmons, Foreign Minister, and Herr Wirth, Minister of Finance, were seated at the left of a horseshoe table next to the Japanese. There were no introductions or shaking of hands. The President of the Conference, M. DeLacroix, the Belgian Premier arose and immediately opened what is considered to be the most international meeting since the armistice by announcing the order of business, which included disarmament, reparations, coal supply, trial of Germans accused of atrocities, and the situation at Danzig. DeLacroix inquired of Herr Fehrenbach if he desired to make any observations. The Chancellor, speaking in German, which was translated by an official interpreter said, "I desire to say in behalf of the German Government and of the German people that we have come here to take part loyally in the discussion of the Treaty of Peace can be executed." Premiers Lloyd George and Millard expressed themselves as satisfied with the formal beginning.

DEMOCRATIC DEADLOCK.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5. The Democratic National Convention took fourteen ballots at its first session to-day, and failing to find a nominee took recess until to-night. When the afternoon balloting was in the closing stages the Palmer boom was taking an upward excursion; in fact the first it had enjoyed since it took a slip in the tenth ballot last week. McAdoo votes had taken a leading place from Cox votes, and the Cox column had finally regained some of its strength. When the session ended the three principal, contenders were probably closer together than they had been for a long time, and if it meant anything, it meant that the deadlock was a little tighter.

LATEST.—James M. Cox, of Ohio, was nominated as candidate for the Presidency of the United States in the Democratic National Convention at 1.40 to-day.

The C.C.C. football preliminaries will be played on the Shamrock Grounds to-night at 7 o'clock sharp, as follows: (a) B.I.S. vs. Collegians. (b) Star vs. Saints. (c) C.C.C. vs. Feildians. DIAMOND DUST

Nothing But the Truth—Without Fear or Favour.

GOOD GAME TO-NIGHT.

The game to-night between the B.I. and C.E.I. should prove to be the most exciting thus far played this season. There will be no change in the Irish lineup, but several will be noticed in Harvey's crew. The game will commence at 7 o'clock sharp with Messrs. Chesman and Duff in control.

OPEN LETTER TO UMPIRES CHESMAN & DUFF, and "PEEGEE."

Gentlemen—As manager of the C. I. Baseball Team I should like to make a few remarks through the medium of your column to call attention to some matters so that they may be rectified during the progress of our game with the B.I.S. to-night.

1.—When first or second (or both) bases are occupied I want Umpire-in-Chief Chesman to make decision on plays at third.

2.—It would be desirable in such event that he trot down to third base to see accurately what the play is.

3.—I also want Field Umpire Duff to move lively when plays are to be made on the bags and get right at the scene of play so that correct decisions may be given.

4.—Chief Chesman has a habit of sometimes turning away on the pitcher's offering, and therefore cannot judge the "break" of the ball as it passes the plate. This should be remedied.

5.—One fault I find with Mr. Duff is that he should watch the position of the first baseman when receiving the ball to retire a batter. Some of our opponents have a habit of pulling their foot off before the ball comes to them.

6.—I also want Field Umpire Duff to move lively when plays are to be made on the bags and get right at the scene of play so that correct decisions may be given.

7.—I also want Field Umpire Duff to move lively when plays are to be made on the bags and get right at the scene of play so that correct decisions may be given.

my associates have made, and it is apt to cause bad feeling among my players. In future I shall send you my lineup previous to each game. As regards to-night's game, the positions and players are as follows:—Thomas catcher, Allan Churchill pitcher, Max Churchill first base, Jimmy Alderice second base, Gabriel third base, Tommy Payne shortstop, Carter left field, Windsor centre field, Drover right field, Albert Martin spare.

Drover's injuries prevent him from catching, so that I am obliged (much against my will), to backstop myself.

Thanking you for space, and trusting I have not wearied your readers,

Yours truly,

A. M. THOMAS,
Manager C.E.I. Baseball Team.

Go to it, Harvey, old kid, we wouldn't stand in your way for anything, but oh! what will Ches and Dave think of you when they read the above.

Hello! Tommy Payne, still in the League?

Yes, fella, but I came pretty near being with the Wanderers.

We are asked by the committee in charge of the Cadet Sports to-morrow to state that in the Baseball Relay Race, only those who have played at least one game this season are eligible to compete. Each team will consist of three runners, and all must be attired in regular playing costume. Running spikes will not be permitted. The course will be one round for each competitor, and the prizes are handsome gold medals.

WOULD HARDLY KNOW HIS WIFE, SAYS WALSH

Has Improved So Much On Tanlac She is Like Another Person, Now—Ten Years of Suffering Overcome.

"Tanlac has so built up my wife's health so that those who have not seen her for a few weeks would hardly take her for the same person," recently declared Patrick Walsh, for twenty-seven years track foreman for the Reid Newfoundland R.R., and who lives on the Waterford Bridge Road, St. John's.

"For the past ten years my wife had been in very bad health, and it was a good dollar that I've spent on medicine, but never a bit did it help her at all. Her stomach was badly out of order; she always had a bad taste in her mouth and complained a lot of pain caused by gas on her stomach and palpitation of the heart. She had terrible headaches that almost drove her distracted and became so nervous that any unusual noise around the house would make her shake like a leaf. She couldn't sleep at night and always felt tired and worn out in the mornings. Her appetite was so poor that she didn't do more than just pick at her food, and she became so weak that she couldn't even carry a pail of water from the spring to the house, which is only about twenty yards, and even the lightest work around the house seemed to tire her out completely.

"When we saw by the papers that so many folks were being helped by Tanlac, we figured that it must be different from other medicines, so I bought some for my wife, and sure enough it proved to be all that we expected, and just five bottles have made a new woman of her entirely. It gave her a splendid appetite and she can now eat to her heart's content and is never bothered with indigestion at all. Only to-day she was telling me that she hasn't had a headache since she started on Tanlac. Her nerves are just fine and she sleeps as well at night as she gets up in the mornings as cheerful as a cricket and is able to do all her housework without any trouble. Tanlac is a grand medicine, and I want to recommend it to all who may be suffering as my wife did."

a no-hit game it is necessary to put a lot of stuff on the ball. But what does it profit a pitcher to put a lot of stuff on the ball and fail to get next Chief Chesman.

The C.E.I. relay team is the favorite in to-morrow's event at the Cadet Sports.

Incidentally, our two umpires don't need any Spring training. They can miss 'em without practice.

Murder Trial at Sydney.

MARINELLI "NOT GUILTY."
The trial of Michael Koval, a Russian, for the murder of Giacomo Marinelli, an Italian, whose body was found, terribly battered, on the Lehigh Road on the night of December 26, 1919, was on last week at Sydney, Cape Breton, before Judge, Mellich. Marinelli pleaded "Not Guilty" to the charge. Alice Marinelli, wife of the deceased, also stands charged with the murder or as an accomplice and when in the prisoner's box, also entered a plea of "Not Guilty." The Crown intended to use Koval as a witness against Mrs. Marinelli and vice versa, and hoped to prove intimacy between the two, and that there were reasons for getting the husband out of the way. The trial attracted great attention throughout Cape Breton, and intense interest prevailed, when amidst a silence that could be felt, the jury on Wednesday afternoon last unanimously returned a verdict of Not Guilty against the Russian, the accused being immediately released. Mrs. Marinelli was placed on trial on Friday last, with Koval as chief witness for the Crown.

SCHLESWIG NOW DANISH.
PARIS, July 5. The treaty returning the Danish Zone in Schleswig to Danish sovereignty was signed here to-day by British, French, Italian and Japanese Ambassadors and H. A. Bernhoff, Danish Minister to France.

RAILWAY HORROR.
MCALISTER, Okla., July 5. Eight persons were killed and 12 injured seriously, when the Missouri Kansas and Texas freight train crashed into the rear end of the Carnivals Company's special in Atoka yards, about thirty miles south of here last night.

LUCAS PAROLED.
LONDON, July 5. Sinn Fein has decided to parole General Lucas, kidnapped from his hunting lodge, recently, in order that he might visit his wife and new born son, according to a Dublin despatch to the Manchester Guardian to-day.

SALARY STEALS.
KINGSTON, Ont., July 5. Every member of the Canadian Parliament who voted to increase his indemnity by fifteen hundred dollars is a thief, according to the Rev. E. H. Burgess, Presbyterian Minister of this city. In the course of a sermon, last evening, in Zion Church, Burgess said that the state morals could not be very high, when members at Ottawa voted themselves fifteen hundred dollars. The preacher styled self-boasting of salary a piece of low mean rascality.

PRISONERS ESCAPE.
INDIANAPOLIS, July 5. Twenty-two prisoners, including two lifters, escaped from Marion County Jail, early this morning, after having knocked the night jailer unconscious and taking his keys as he was making the rounds.

ATTACKS REPULSED.
PARIS, July 5. Bolshevik attacks in the Lake Szade region have been repulsed by Poles, according to advices from Warsaw to-day. The Poles captured a brigade staff and important war materials, the advices add.

MORE MURDERS.
DUBLIN, July 5. A military patrol fired upon a party of armed cyclists between Thurles and Sherrine to-day killing one cyclist and wounding another, when the patrol saw the party the cyclists fled to the woods.

LIGHTNING'S WORK.
WOODSTOCK, N.E., July 5. During a terrific electrical storm to-day a house, occupied by Mrs. Duntan, was struck by lightning and damaged. Two barns and connecting sheds, owned by Arnold Osler at Windsor, were struck and burned to the ground, hay, grain, several hogs, and a lot of heavy farming machinery were lost.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.
KINGSTON, Ont., July 5. A herd of twelve cattle, the property of Benjamin Lewis, were killed by lightning near Newburg yesterday.

SCENES IN THE PRIZE RING.
BONTON HARGOR, Mich., July 5. Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, knocked out Charlie White, Chicago, in the ninth round of their scheduled ten rounds championship fight before a capacity crowd this afternoon. White, carried the fighting to the champion for seven rounds, and half knocking and pushing the New Yorker through the ropes, in the fifth round. The Chicagoan, who had never been knocked out before, was floored five times in the ninth round and was counted out while lying on his face. A series of right and left hooks to the chin finished the challenger. Several thousand women were in the crowd. There was a riot when the fight ended, and spectators scrambled over the seats and into the ring, breaking down the press section and injuring several ring-siders. None of them, however, were seriously hurt.

The Commission.

Issued to Hon. J. D. Ryan and R. K. Bishop and R. G. Rendell, Esq., in the Woodford Affidavit Enquiry.

George The Fifth, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain (Sgd), and Ireland, and C. Alexander of the British Dominion Beyond The Seas, King, Defender of The Faith, Emperor of India.

To The Honourable James Daniel Ryan, The Honourable Robert Kirby Bishop, and W. R. Warren, Esq., H.M. Atty. Gen. Robt. George Rendell, Esquire, C.B.E. Greeting.

Whereas on the sixteenth day of April, 1920, a Memorial, signed by Sir Michael Patrick Cahill, K.B.E., Leader of the Opposition in the House of Assembly, and others, all members of the Opposition, was presented to Our Governor of Newfoundland, to which Memorial was attached the affidavit of one William Woodford, who, up to the Eighteenth day of March, 1920, when he resigned his seat in the House of Assembly, was a member of the party which constitutes the Opposition, which said affidavit is as follows:

IN THE SUPREME COURT.
In The Matter of The Election Act, 1918, And in The Matter of The Petition of Richard Kelly, Complaining of The Undue Return of William Woodford as a Member For The Electoral District of Harbor Main, at an Election Held on The 3rd Day of November, A.D., 1919.

I, William Woodford, of St. John's, Newfoundland, the above-named respondent, make oath and say as follows:

1. That I did not make any arrangement, agreement, terms or undertaking with the said Richard Kelly in relation to the withdrawal of the said Petition or otherwise in respect of same.
2. That I did make and enter into an arrangement or agreement with the Honourable Richard A. Squires, Prime Minister of Newfoundland, and the Honourable Michael P. Gibbs, a Solicitor of the Court, at their request, in relation to the withdrawal of said Petition.
3. That the said arrangement was entered into on the 17th day of March now present and was as follows: On condition that I would forthwith resign my seat as a Member for the District of Harbor Main, the said Squires and Gibbs were to cause the said Petition to be withdrawn, and the said Squires was to procure my appointment to a position in the service of His Majesty's Government at a salary of two thousand dollars per year with a further allowance of five hundred dollars per year in lieu of perquisites. The said appointment was to be deferred until the close of the next Session of the House of Assembly, but the salary was to begin as from the first day of April next, and I was to receive on the 19th day of March now present a payment amounting to three months' salary in advance.
4. In accordance with the said arrangement I tendered my resignation as a Member of the House of Assembly on the morning of the 13th day of March now present.
5. The said payment on account of salary has not been made to me nor has any payment on account of same or otherwise been made to me.
6. The said Gibbs on the said 19th day of March told me that the payment would be made according to the arrangement but would have to be deferred until the completion of the proceedings for the withdrawal of said petition.

(Sgd.) W. WOODFORD.
Sworn at St. John's, this 23rd day of March, A.D., 1920, before me.

(Sgd.) D. F. KENT, Clerk.

(Stamp)
And whereas the allegations contained in the said affidavit are stated by the therein referred to Honourable Richard Anderson Squires, King's Counsel, Prime Minister of Newfoundland, to be absolutely untrue.

And whereas We deem it expedient that a Commission should be issued to enquire into and to take evidence upon and concerning the resignation of the said William Woodford, and also upon and concerning the circumstances in which the said affidavit was made, the circumstances subsequent thereto, and upon the several matters and statements contained in the said affidavit, and to report the same to Us.

Now know ye that We reposing great trust and confidence in your knowledge and ability have constituted and appointed, and by these Presents do constitute and appoint you the said Honourable James Daniel Ryan, President of Our Honourable Legislative Council, Honourable Robert Kirby Bishop, a member of Our Legislative Council, and Robert George Rendell, Esquire, Commander of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire, to be Our Commissioners for the purpose of the said enquiry, and We do by these Presents confer upon you the said Honourable James Daniel Ryan, Honourable Robert Kirby Bishop, and Robert George Rendell, all the powers which Our Governor in Council by law or otherwise can confer, of summoning before you any party or witness and of requiring them to give evidence on oath or on solemn affirmation, orally or in writing, and to produce such documents and things as you the said Commissioners may deem requisite to the full investigation of the matters into which you are appointed to examine, and to enquire of and concerning the premises by all other lawful ways and means whatsoever.

And We do ordain that in the temporary absence or incapacity of any of you, the other two Commissioners shall have full power to proceed with examination and enquiry into the aforesaid matters so far as seems to you desirable, and to adjourn such enquiry from time to time as need may be.

And further, it is Our will and pleasure that you do with as little delay as possible, report to Us under your hands and seals your finding upon the facts of the matters herein submitted for your consideration.

And We do also appoint Our trusty and well beloved Patrick John Summers, one of Our Counsel, learned in the Law, Officer of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire, to be Secretary to this Our Commission.

Given under the Great Seal of our Island of Newfoundland.

Witness Our trusty and well-beloved Sir Charles Alexander Harris, Knight Commander of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Companion of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, Commander of the Royal Victorian Order, Our Governor and Commander in Chief in and over Our said Island of Newfoundland and its Dependencies, at St. John's, in Our said Island, this 17th day of June, A.D., 1920, and in the Eleventh year of Our Reign.

By His Excellency's Command,
(Sgd.) R. A. SQUIRES,
Colonial Secretary.

How Outport Doctors Are Paid

Some Sidelights on Patronage.

Dear Sir.—As the only Medical Man of the floor of the Assembly it was my honor, had I been permitted to remain there till the Public Charities was under discussion, to make a demand for fair play for the outport medical practitioner, who is forced to the Government's Charity work for nothing. My friend, Mr. MacDonnell, member for St. George's, very kindly and very ably drew the attention of the House to the subject a few days ago, but the public at large (who probably class the outport doctors with the bloated monopolists,) and who either the bill is passed or not, expended for nothing. Early in the present Session it was very edifying to me at least, to see the unanimity with which the Bill introduced by the Minister of Justice, Mr. Warren, which the Lawyers were permitted (almost double their charges), was passed and passed without question, as was my friend, Mr. Higgins himself, would say, "delightful" to see the writ of corpus which caused the late to jump at once to his feet and force the remarks of the introducer, incidentally give the rest of the position the hint of "hands off," bringing me should "as-in-duty-bound" phrase I learned from hearing petitions presented, daily for a couple of months, make any objection.

Medicine Has No Organization.

I regret that there is not in the medical profession in Newfoundland same unity, the same organization, the same power to secure their interests as was there demonstrated by a legal profession. But being a member in the "power of the press," I permit to present the case of the Outport Doctors to the public through that medium, hoping thereby arouse the spirit of fair play. It is said that the matters and incidents to which I shall refer could exist if the Doctors would only stand by one another, but it must be remembered that the Doctors are scattered all over the Country and rarely meet. As a matter of fact, though I have been practicing for over twenty years, within two hours of the City, I do not know any of the doctors in St. John's. There is no Medical Society or other organization to bring them together. On the other hand, all the doctors in the Country, (I mean, I mean, live and have lived in St. John's, and if they should get together to mulct the public, which I do for a minute insinuate, who is it to say they must not be the doctor must wage a campaign for himself.

An Immutable Law.

There has been in force for many years a rate of compensation for the medical attendance of poor, attended on the order of the local relieving officers, which is not only ridiculous but an insult to our profession. Who was the originator of the scale cannot be discovered, but he was a Mede or a Persian, as it has stood unchanged the assaults of ages. All our Governments have taken pride in the fact that no poor person, who is in need of medical attendance shall suffer in this Dominion, for is there not a large amount voted every year for such care? It is true that we have pauperised all our people by giving Hospital attendance free to those who are able and willing to pay, while scores of people who are genuinely poor must wait for months for admission, although they are paying for the treatment of the former. But in the treatment of the sick poor at the Great Benefactor, while handing the Charity to the Doctor to do for nothing; for that is what a payment of fifty cents a visit and twenty-five cents a mile (going only) means. No amount of protesting can secure fair play, and unfortunately a strike is out of the question, for if the neighbouring Doctor, who may be hankering for an extension of territory at the local man's expense, does not step in and do the work at the rate offered, a five thousand dollar Colonial Secretary, who has not to wet his feet to earn his salary, will hold you up as one who would neglect the POOR for "filthy lucre." Doctors as a rule do more than their share of Charity work in everyday practice, without having to do the Government's also, and it is unfair that they should be compelled to do so.

How the Government Does It.

While the attendance of the regular poor may be done while a Doctor is on his ordinary rounds and thereby not put to much additional expense, the inadequacy of his compensation does not go all so much as for the accident and emergency cases, and Public Health work, all of which must be attended immediately, the amount allowed is nothing but an outrage. In connection with Public Health work I have, on several occasions, written the Medical Health Officer, Dr. Brehm, who agreed that the fees were ridiculous. During his absence last year I wrote Dr. Fraser and Dr. Scully, who were Acting M. H. O.'s at the time. Dr. Scully recommended to the Government a payment of One dollar a visit and One dollar a mile, which would be satisfactory. I was then in attendance upon an epidemic of Smallpox at Conception Harbor. Correspondence with the then Colonial Secretary, the Hon. Mr. Hallyard, brought only a rebuke of my intention of deserting the POOR, as I had notified him that when the cases then under treatment were released from quarantine, I declined to attend at the rate paid. Nothing was said by him of the Government's obligation to the afflicted or to a man's right to be adequately paid. When pressed for a satisfactory answer as to why the M. H. O.'s recommendation could not be carried out, he side-stepped in the manner now become characteristic of the Colonial Secretary's office, referred me to the Department of Charities, as the matter did not come within his jurisdiction at all. Yet within a fortnight of the receipt of that letter he sends me a circular letter notifying me that "the Government had decided to pay Medical men engaged on attendance in contagious diseases, $15 a day and expenses, where the Medical man was to go away from his practice, and was not to apply within the radius of his practice," so I was as well off as ever. Shortly after I went away, and in my absence a second outbreak of Smallpox took place in Colliers and Bacon Cove. Dr. Gill was called and engaged at $15 a day and expenses. Of course it may be said that there was nothing else to do but to send for him as the local man was away, but he continued to attend all the epidemics that occurred later until the snow stopped him, when I was engaged at the SAME RATE OF PAY till travelling conditions improved, when I was "reduced to the ranks" and he took up the work again.

Some Interesting Figures.

To show the public the "penny wise and pound foolish" side of the refusal of some red tape ridden bureaucrat to back down on this matter and what it has had to pay for his stubbornness, I will compare the cost of the two epidemics.

First outbreak of 97 cases cost for attendance $286 per case.

Medicines furnished cost 22 cents per case and the entire cost of the epidemic was $288.25.

Second outbreak cost $73 per case, about 61 cases. Medicines cost $113 per case.

Total cost of second outbreak $1892.

This second epidemic if paid for at the rate advised by the Medical Health Officer, would have cost $460 or $1400 less than it did. As all those accounts are "certified correct and authorized" by M. F. O'Toole, S.M., and as that official accompanied the Doctor and Druggist on their rounds on very many of the trips, we must presume that as far as he knew they were correct. It may incidentally interest the public to know that Mr. Cantwell of Brigus, was paid One thousand and sixty-five dollars for motor driving in Harbor Main to "attend Smallpox," and in addition also collected a medicine bill of two hundred and nine dollars. The epidemic must have been exceptionally severe and widespread, as visits were made from Brigus to Holyrood South, including Chapel's Cove and Harbor Main on several occasions, although the people there did not know they had Smallpox last Summer. Dr. Gill made only 42 day's attendance and a couple of side trips on three of which he used Mr. Lamb's car, yet so anxious was Mr. Cantwell about the health of his district, that he had to make 89 trips for which he has been paid. In fact things must have been very serious during my absence last year, though I did not miss many faces on my return, but this is due to the splendid attendance they received. To read the bills for motor drives is like reading the Calendar. Trips are charged for June 2, 4, 7, 9, 11, 13, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 23, 24, 27, July 1, 2, 3, 4, 7, 10, 14, 16, 18, 19, 20, 23, August 18, 20, 23, 26, 27, 28, 31, September 1, 3, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 23, 25, 26, 27, 29, 30, October 1, 2, 3, 4, 9, 10, 11, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 20, 23. The disease seems to have ceased the day after Nomination Day as the charges ceased, or was it that on that day Mr. Cantwell found that he could not kill out the particular Smallpox he was after? Apparently it was good policy to make him while the sun shone, and like the cost of living, motoring soared towards the end of the season. A trip to Avondale in June was worth $650, but in September had risen to $150. Seven trips to Holyrood at a cost of $190 helped along the good cause. It took 17 trips to Bacon Cove to look after 4 houses and prices ranged from $14 to $26, or a total of $245. September 1st was a busy day as 2 trips were made to English Cove, 2 to Conception Harbor and 2 to Avondale at a total earnings for the day of $37, besides performing the wonderful feat of getting to Avondale from Brigus without going through Conception H.R., for separate charges were made for each so they must have been visited at different times. Having seen those charges in the original, I am convinced that it pays much better to be the caddy driving the Doctor than to be the Doctor.

Doing the Work Gratis.

All over the Country Doctors are compelled to do the Government's work for practically nothing, and in view of the exhibition above, I am sure the great general public would much prefer to see that the practitioner who has borne the heat and burden of the day for the outports should be paid decently for his work than to have the public funds squandered as in the case quoted. Unless public opinion compels the Government to do us justice, there is nothing left to do but to throw up all Government work altogether. To continue the policy in force in this district of subsidising one Doctor to encroach on the practice of another is both contemptible and demoralizing. The recommendation made by the M. H. O. of a fee of $1 a visit and $1 per mile would be fair for all Government work within the area of a practice and would be acceptable to the profession, and I think should be immediately granted.

I have the hope that this letter may help my "brothers in arms" to obtain justice, but if it does not it will at least let the "Dear People" know who have been joy-riding at their expense.

Yours truly,

W. E. JONES.

An Important Matter.

Dear Sir.—The regulations governing Vehicles and Motor traffic recently promulgated by the Inspector General are only such as are enforced in every city, and are not being put in operative any too soon in St. John's. To the writer, however, there still appears to be a weak link in the chain of protective measures here as they apply to motor car driving.

In all British countries the rule of the road is that drivers must pass to the left of all vehicles going in a contrary direction, and to the right of vehicles going in the same direction as themselves. Consequently in all British countries the driver's seat is on the right hand side of the car or carriage, as this best enables him to judge of the least margin of safety he can, in crowded thoroughfares, give to other passing vehicles. In the United States, however, the opposite is the rule—American drivers must pass to the right, and consequently the American driver's seat is on the left side of the car or carriage, and for the same reason that ours is on the right side.

Until within the past four years or so, 95% of the motor cars imported here had their drive wheels on the right side, as they should be, as the cars then imported were, from lots specially designed for export to Canada or other British countries. With the enormously increased demand for motor cars and trucks for war purposes, there was not the time to give to the production of special feature cars, and only the American type was turned out, hence in the past five years nearly all the American cars imported here have the drive wheel fitted on the left side of the car, and this should now be prohibited, as it is a source of very serious danger, and sooner or later must be the cause of accidents.

If the power be not already vested in the Inspector General to enforce the importation only of cars with the drive wheel fitted on the right hand side, Legislation should promptly be enacted to give him such power—as the present illogical method is one of "courting disaster."

Yours truly,

SAFETY FIRST.

Feildians Win.

Under fairly good weather conditions and in the presence of a large number of spectators, the Feildian football team defeated St. Andrew's by 3 goals to 2 in last night's League game on St. George's Field. The exhibition of play was very fine, but one goal being scored in the first half in favor of the Saints. In the second period the Feildians, after some brilliant manoeuvring changed the scoring in their favor by kicking three goals to the Saints one. Mr. F. Brien refereed, the players being: Saints—Goal, Lush; backs, Tait, Carmichael; halves, Foster, Burns, Burnside; forwards, Quick, Mann, Elton, Young, Chen, Quick.

CHAPTER XXV.

BOSTON COMMON AND THE CHRISTMAS TREE.

Boston Common has long been a place of historic interest to the city, and its grounds have been the centre of many a rally, and the scene of many an oration. For generations the Common was the play-ground of the children, and the recreation ground of the people; but it is not so now as such a marked degree as it was in the past. When the site of the Common was selected, Boston was a comparatively small city and did not have fifty thousand people, wherein to-day it boasts a million. In the early stages of the city's development, the majority of the business people lived within the limits of the city proper, and within close proximity to their business; and the Common was very largely frequented. But now things are changed, and Boston proper, or that portion of it which must ever be looked upon as older Boston, is wholly devoted to business, and the proprietors of these concerns, as well as many of their employees live beyond the city bounds. The facilities of transit are so great now, that the conditions of city life are completely changed; and the agencies of the telephone and the automobile have abolished the inconvenience of distance. Thus the business people are able to reside miles and miles distant from their work, and at the same time be on hand for duty. These agencies, with the splendid street car system which connects city with suburb, and also with adjacent cities, have brought about the new order which now prevails. This new order has to a large degree weaned the people from the Common, hence, though the city is greater, the necessity for the Common seems the reverse; that is, in the sense in which it was so long cherished.

But Boston Common is still a great highway in the heart of the city, and tens of thousands of people pass over its thoroughfares daily; and thousands of children play on its lawns, and romp 'neath its shady trees. On special occasions and on Sunday afternoons, the chief attraction of the Common seems to be centered in its orators who hold forth with zeal and fervor upon the various questions of the day. Whether this oratory is as copious as it was in years past we do not know, but when we last listened to it, there was some drastic statements indulged in, especially by the advocates of extreme socialism. At the time we wondered why certain things were said; but were reminded that it was Boston Common, and that Boston was the city of free speech, and that if people did not like what was being said, they were not bound to listen to it. This seemed very good logic, and for the time settled our doubts. The Common is undoubtedly at its best in the Summer season, but there is one day in the year when it is particularly attractive, and that is Christmas Day. The attraction consists of a huge Christmas tree, which is erected at the side of the Common, quite near Tremont Street, and which is lit up with seemingly countless electric lights. The tree as we saw it on last Christmas night stood about seventy feet high, and its branches were adjusted in proportion to its height. There was a slight fall of snow at the time, probably a depth of three inches, and its whiteness in the Common, where there was not any traffic, gave a rich relief to the tree; and the reflection of the city lights intensified the brilliancy of the entire scene. To and fro passed the populace in their thousands. By the tree, and at certain angles from it, stood the people in their hundreds. Along Tremont Street the taxi cabs glided, and tooted their horns, while their lights flashed and radiated in every direction. The scene was animating, and the best of all was, the decorum of the people. There was enthusiasm without excitement, and enjoyment without sensation; and while Boston was honoring the day, it was in a most commendable manner honouring itself, and the traditions of a thousand generations

Light is still shining, the Christmas tree erected in Boston Common was hailed by the people. It was a Christmas tree on a big scale; and as it sparkled before our gaze, it seemed to exude something like the following: "I am a Christmas Tree, and the light which flashes from my branches to-night, is a representation of that Greater Light which the Author of Christmas brought into the world; and which still shines, and which will continue to shine, until darkness be chased from the earth, and the shadows flee away." (Continued on Thursday.)

With Three-Point Cantilever Spring Suspension New Overland 4 Motor Car Seems to "Sail Over the Roads"

THE new Three-Point Cantilever Spring Suspension of Overland 4 permit the wheels to go up and down, but protect car and passengers from ordinary road jolts. Bumping, twisting, swaying and vibrating are wonderfully lessened. The bows of the road seldom reach you. There is less tendency to bodily fatigue after long drives.

The springs of Overland 4 attached at the ends of a 130-inch (3.3m) Springbase gives the riding comfort and road steadiness heretofore possible only with cars of long wheelbase and great weight, yet Overland 4 retains the light weight and economy advantages of 100-inch (2.54m) wheelbase.

Three-Point Cantilever Spring Suspension protects the car from the hammering and wear of road blows. They lengthen its life and reduce upkeep costs.

Equipment of Overland 4 is dependable and complete from Auto-Lite Starting and Lighting to Tillotson Carburetor.

250,000 miles (400,000 km.) of test, have made the strength and endurance of this car a matter of record.

Codfish Standardization Commission

TO THE FISHERMEN OF NEWFOUNDLAND:

PROPOSAL REGARDING THE METHODS TO BE ADOPTED TO IMPROVE THE CURE OF NEWFOUNDLAND CODFISH.

1. That the position of the Newfoundland Fisheries in relation to those of Norway, Iceland and Britain be placed before the fishermen and the public through the Press, and in any other manner that will illustrate the necessity for improving our cure of fish if we are to successfully market our fish in competition without that from other countries.

2. That a full and complete statement of the essential features of curing that must be adopted by all fishermen if the cure is to be improved shall be published and circulated throughout Newfoundland and Labrador.

3. That Inspectors shall be appointed whose duty it shall be to examine and inspect all fishery and curing stages, boats, etc., throughout Newfoundland and the Labrador with a view to—

- (a) Explaining the methods to be adopted to improve the cure;
- (b) Bringing about an improvement in the construction of sanitary conditions of Fishing Stages;
- (c) To collect and distribute information as to catch of fish or other matters affecting the interests of the fishermen and the country generally.

NOTE:—The Inspectors should eventually be given authority to condemn stages that are unfit for the sanitary curing of fish.

4. That fish purchased from the fishermen by exporters, whether in St. John's or in outports, shall be bought subject to a cull.

5. That all exports of fish from Newfoundland and the Labrador shall be inspected by duly qualified inspectors and certificates issued specifying the nature, style, cure and quality of the fish, and that specific standards shall, if possible, be laid down for the guidance of the Inspectors.

SUMMARISED, THE REQUIREMENTS MOST ESSENTIAL FOR IMPROVED CURING ARE:

- (1) Clean boats, stages and splitting tables.
- (2) Well split fish.
- (3) Fish to be well washed from knife—all blood, liver and gut to be removed.
- (4) Clean stage for curing fish.
- (5) Regularity in salting.
- (6) Fish to be washed thoroughly on back and face when taken from salt bulk.
- (7) Fish to be bled as soon as taken from the water when possible.

LABRADOR.

Same qualities for all markets.

No. 1 FISH.

Fish to be split to the crux of the tail, washed from the knife, free from blood stains, clots, liver and gut. To be firm, thoroughly salted and well pressed. To be washed out of salt bulk by hand. All slub and slime removed from back. To be dried sufficiently to stand shipment without loss in weight. Fish not complying with these requirements to be classed as No. 2 quality and to be stowed in such a manner in the vessel as to form a distinct part of the cargo.

SHORE FISH CURED LABRADOR STYLE

To be known as Imitation Labrador. All Shore Fish cured Labrador style will be graded as such and not as Labrador, and must be cured as above. The making of this quality of Imitation Labrador is not encouraged as the demand will be very limited.

The black should be removed from the fins of Shore and Bank Fish from 18 inches up. Such fish when well cured will be classed Extra No. 1 and will command the highest price.

CURING OF FISH.

Fish is an article of food, and this fact must be kept clearly before all those who have the handling of it from the time it is caught until it reaches the consumers' table. Unfortunately, this fact is lost sight of by nearly all those who are occupied in the Fisheries of Newfoundland, whether they be the catchers, curers or exporters. There is not sufficient care exercised by any one of the several classes of handlers. The fishermen in their anxiety to get their catch under salt forget the fact that the fish they are curing is to be eaten by some person many thousands of miles away possibly many months hence. The exporters in their desire to, first: secure a large stock, and second: to send it to market quickly, also lose sight of the same fact. This must change, and in future all interested in the fisheries must always remember that they are handling an article of food, and treat it accordingly.

The first essential feature of all processes for handling food products is cleanliness. The boats into which the live fish are thrown from trap or hook must be clean, sweet and free from gurry of past catches. The stage upon which the fish are thrown from the boat must be clean. The splitting tables must be clean and kept clean throughout the whole time that the fish is passing over it. The curing stages must be thoroughly cleaned before the season opens, and kept clean during the whole season. Pound boards should be well washed frequently. Water is plentiful and cheap and should be used without stint. Stages should be limed at least once every year, inside and out.

With thoroughly clean boats, stage heads, splitting tables and stages, the first step towards good fish is secured. The next is cleanliness in handling the fish. All blood, livers and gut should be removed; all slime and gurry thoroughly washed off before the fish is put under salt. This can only be done by well washing the fish when split in plenty of clean water.

The fish should be split to the crux of the tail and laid open evenly without pockets. The sound bone should be removed to about half an inch beyond the end of the sound, to allow the blood in the bone to drain out. If this is done the fish, on going to salt, will have every chance of turning out of salt bulk or pickle a perfect fish.

Salting should be done with care. Much fish is spoiled by irregular salting and by careless packing in bulks. Salting should be completed without delay. Fish should not be laid away to be salted at convenience. Washing out from salt bulk should be done by hand—every fish being washed back and face separately. Eighteen hds. Cadiz salt should be used in salting Labrador cure. Shore cure should not be bulked higher than three feet and from ten to twelve hds. Cadiz salt to the hundred quintals.

The length of time for remaining in salt bulk or pickle is a matter for the judgment of the person in charge of the curing, as also in the curing once the fish has been washed out of bulk.

In some cases it is thought advisable that hook and line men should throat their fish immediately they are removed from the hook. This permits the fish to bleed, and not only insure a whiter fish but retards decay of the fish.

The foregoing approved by the Standardization Commission.

Hill Climbing Extraordinary.

The feats of the La France Fire Motor Truck in so successfully climbing the steep hills of the city slopes yesterday, followed by the demonstration of the Overland up Market House Hill, has led others to test the powers of their cars similarly. Last evening Messrs. Silverlock and Cullen, each taking some passengers, the former in a Studebaker Touring Car, the latter in a Big 6, tackled the South Side Hill and notwithstanding the difficulties presented and the primeval condition of the track, the climb was made without a stop by both cars and return by same route safely accomplished. At 11 o'clock last night a daring chauffeur, the make and number of whose car could not be ascertained, made the trip from Water Street to Duckworth Street, via Market House Hill, and there turning his car came down very slowly, thus showing that he had his machine under perfect control, and displaying much coolheadedness. It was a pity that there were no more spectators to witness this feat; though perhaps the driver desired to do his stunt away from the gaze of the public, but the ubiquitous reporter happened along at the time and took it all in, admiring vastly the nerve and steadiness of the night climber. To give the reason why the number of the car could not be determined might get the chauffeur or owner into trouble with the authorities, and we have too much regard for the man at the wheel, though unknown, to give the secret away. Here's luck to you, old man, and may all your future ascents be equally as successful as that over Market House Hill last night.

Motor Association Meeting.

At a meeting of the Nfld. Motor Association held in the Board of Trade rooms last evening, the report of the Secretary, Mr. Collishaw, showed the finances to be in a healthy state, a substantial balance being on hand. After reading his report, Mr. Collishaw tendered his resignation and expressed his thanks to the President and other officers for their assistance and co-operation with him in the carrying out of his work. A vote of thanks was passed Mr. P. E. Outerbridge for his services as Secretary during the absence of Mr. Collishaw, last year. It was decided to defer the election of officers till next week and in the meantime a committee consisting of Messrs. H. E. Cowan, E. Collishaw, J. L. Slattery, W. White and Reg. Harvey will consider nominations and report. Messrs. F. Brehm, J. L. Slattery and E. Collishaw were appointed as a delegation to interview the Government Commission as to the machinery necessary for the roads improvement undertaking. The deputation will report at the next meeting. The equipment outlined by Secretary Collishaw will cost about $9,600. With the funds already in hand, their share of the motor taxes collected by the Municipal Council and the grant from the Government under the new legislation, the Association will have about $25,000 with which to carry on their work.

To-Morrow's Attraction.

C.C.C. SPORTS.
The attraction for to-morrow will be the C. C. C. Sports, which take place at 2.30 p.m. on St. George's Field. Some 16 sport items are listed on the programme, the most interesting being the Inter-School Relay Race, Football Fives, Physical Exercises by a squad of boys from the Fifth School, St. Patrick's Hall, and the Baseball Relay Race. During the afternoon the C.C.C. band will play selections, and refreshments will be sold by the ladies' committee. The sports are being held under the patronage of His Excellency the Governor and His Grace the Archbishop.

Gift to St. Anthony.

While Dr. Grenfell was at Twillingate on his way north, the local Hospital committee took the opportunity to consult with him regarding the site of the proposed new hospital, and generally in relation to the erection and operation. During his visit a concert was held at Alexandra Hall, and the proceeds ($70.00), to Dr. Grenfell, the proceeds ($70.00), to Dr. Grenfell for his hospital at St. Anthony. The presentation was made by Mr. Arthur Mannel, J.F., secretary of the Twillingate Hospital Committee, who in his letter to the doctor refers to the donation as a "sight recognition of his valuable services."

G. F. S. Entertainment.

At the Synod Hall, last evening, a delightful entertainment was given by the candidates of the G.F.S. The programme which consisted of songs, dances and recitations, concluded with an amusing sketch by Mrs. Herbert Outerbridge and Miss Ruth Emerson. The meetings have now closed for the summer, but the girls are looking forward to some picnics in the country. On Thursday evening the quarterly meeting for members will be held in the Synod Hall.
