CHAPTER IX.

THE LAST OF GODFREY KNIGHTON.

He shrank back from the bed, step by step, still staring with distended eyes, until he backed up against the wall, and there the nameless horror seized upon him more fully still, and he slipped to the ground, and crouched trembling and sweating while one could count twenty.

At last he arose, and wiping his clammy forehead with his hand, muttered:

"Steady, Baptiste! Keep your head, my friend. This—this—is rather sudden and unexpected! Saints and angels, yes! But keep steady, Baptiste! Let me think—think!"

Dragging himself to the chair near the bed, he dropped into it, and drawing the curtain with a trembling hand, he beheld it, he pressed his white, shivering hand to his brow and pondered. He sat thus for quite five minutes, then, still white and trembling, he got up, took the keys for the second time that night, and cautiously stole downstairs.

He went to the dining-room and found the liqueur-stand, and got a glass of curacao to steady his nerves—the glass clinking against the bottle in a horrible manner—then went to the library, unlocked the safe, and took out the will.

He looked hard at the cash box, but put it back unopened, and shook his head.

"No, no, Baptiste! You cannot be too careful—under the circumstances!" Then he thrust the will into his pocket and went into the hall; but, with his hand upon the balustrade, he paused and considered, his brow knit into deep wrinkles.

Up in their frames the Knights looked down at the thief, some frowning, some smiling; but Signor Ricardo was not affected by them; he had seen something more terrible that night than family portraits.

After thinking for a few minutes, he stole to a small glass door leading from the hall to an inclosure, which was called the walled garden, a favorite spot of Iris's. Unfastening the door, he stepped out, and, taking care to keep in the shadows, leaned against the wall and drank in the cool night air.

Then he crept along the wall until

Mrs. SELCHERT'S DAUGHTER

Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Horicon, Wis.—"My young daughter had been troubled for several months with backache and a bad feeling in her stomach. She did not want to eat anything, while before she was so hungry she could hardly wait for her meals. The doctors gave her medicine, but it did not help her. One day I was reading a little book of yours and it reminded me that when I was a young girl I took several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So she went to the drug store and got a bottle, and after taking the second one she could eat and has not had backache since. In all she took six bottles of it. She goes to school and on Saturdays helps with the housework. She is a normal, healthy girl now and we recommend your medicine. You have my permission to publish this letter as a testimonial for the Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. FRANK SELCHERT, 150 Larabee St., Horicon, Wisconsin.

Mothers all over the country have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to be a most reliable remedy for such conditions.

over the bed, she was almost startled by the sight of Signor Ricardo's face looking out at her through the glass door. He looked paler than usual, and though he smiled and showed his teeth, as her eyes met his, it was rather a forced smile.

In another moment he came across the lawn toward her, treading on the tips of his patent-leather boots.

It was the first time they had been alone together, and Iris, remembering her father's injunctions, and his evident dislike to the signor, gave him rather a cool response to his stilted greeting.

"Ah, Miss Iris," he exclaimed, fixing his dark eyes on her. "Aurora, goddess of the morning, tending her flowers."

"You mean Flora," said Iris, forcing a smile.

"I mean all the goddesses combined in one charming divinity!" he corrected her, with a bow and a wave of his white, supple hand. "What a charming little spot!" and he looked round with a bland air of admiration.

"It is pretty," said Iris, arranging her simple bouquet, and moving toward the door.

"It is exquisite! So reposeful in its quietude and solitude. Surely, this is a favorite part of the grounds with you, Miss Iris?"

"Yes," she admitted. "It is in my special little garden, signor."

"Hoh! You keep it for yourself, exclusively, is not that it?"

"Oh, no!" replied Iris, with a smile at so selfish an idea. "Any one is free to come here."

"I am so glad; a horrible idea was seizing me that I was intruding."

"Indeed, you are not," said Iris. "Pray come whenever you please. Have you not been here before?"

The signor smiled blandly and shook his head.

"No, I did not know of it until I saw you through the door there. But I shall come—yes, often. Not many people do come here, I suppose? It looks so quiet and—what do you call it?—unfrequented."

"No; I don't think many people do come into this walled garden," said Iris. "It is not so bright and cheerful as the terrace and the lawn."

"It is too quiet and melancholy," said the signor, with an air of satisfaction. "That is the world all over. It likes gaiety, and color, and brightness; it is only divine spirits like your own, Miss Iris, who love the shade and the seclusion."

"Oh, but there is plenty of sun here," said Iris. "Do you not see the dial?" and she pointed to it with her pony.

The signor regarded it with curious interest.

"Hoh! Ah, yes; the dial! I did not notice it. It is a pretty object. And you can tell the hour of the day by it?"

"Yes," said Iris, going up to it; and, unlike a watch, it never wants winding up.

"Or cleaning?" put in the signor interrogatively. "It is never disturbed, your dial, Miss Iris?"

"Oh, never!" said Iris, smiling at the idea. "It has been there ever since the house was built, and my father would not think of having it removed."

"That is right," said the signor in accents of strong approval. "Such old antiquities should never be moved; it is—what do you call it?—sacriligious. If this beautiful little garden belonged to me, as it belongs to you, I would not let any one come into it but my special friends. And as for the gardener, I would say, 'My friend, cut your grass and grow your flowers, but do not move, do not alter, the arrangement of anything. Respect age and historic associations.'"

Iris smiled at the high-flown language.

"I understand what you mean, signor," she said. "There is no danger from our gardener; he is quite as fond of the walled garden as I am, and would not think of introducing any improvements."

The signor nodded again with approval and satisfaction.

"It is a charming place," he said. "Shall I not carry the flowers for you?"

But Iris declined his offer, and carried her bouquet into the breakfast-room, the signor following her.

A new vegetable is the Chinese cabbage. It has the combined flavors of celery and cabbage, and is excellent cooked or served raw in salad.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

HE WANTED TO DRIVE THEM.

At the height of the time when the "help wanted" section of the paper was three or four times longer than the "situations wanted" section, I happened to sit behind a man on the trolley who was talking about his labor situation, from the viewpoint of the small employer.

Said this man, "Oh, won't I be happy if the time ever comes again when I can get a gang under me and just drive them with the fear of losing their jobs as a whip. Believe me, I'll make them work."

As I listened I shuddered for there was in that man's tone and manner a viciousness, a savagery that it did not seem to me could have been exceeded by the old time slave driver.

He Used the Whip.

A few days ago I heard another man speak in a similar vein, only this time the dream had come true. He said, "And I said to him, 'All right do as you please if you can afford to. You know better than I do whether you can get another job.' And you ought to have seen him cringe. This time there was triumph as well as savagery in the tone, and again I shuddered."

Of course there is a swift and true answer to my horror at this state of mind. It is that this attitude is a reaction from the effort employers have had to make to get a fair day's work from their employes.

This state of affairs inevitably brings a reaction when laborers become more plentiful than jobs.

Remember How Cross You Often Get. If you don't think the employer of labor has his problems just think back to your own experiences as an employer a few years ago. Don't say you don't employ labor. We all do even if only as shoppers or users of a telephone or a trolley car or railroad. And surely we have not forgotten the slack service we received and the irritation we often felt when labor was so scarce that men and women were insolently sure of their jobs.

But is it not equally true that this savage state of mind on the part of the employer when he is in power has something to do with the laborer's slackness when he is in power? Is it not natural that the man who has been savagely driven to work in slack times by the fear of losing his job will take particular pleasure in soldiering on the job when the employer can no longer use the whip?

Of course Many Employers Are Not Like This. And surely the employer class as a better educated is in a better position to see things in the large and try to restrain the desire for revenge.

I do not mean to imply that the two men I have quoted were typical of all employers. They represent merely one type. The opposite type fortunately exists to keep the balance true.

Fashions in Furniture.

Furniture fashions vary almost every season, there is always some newly-designed chair or lounge coming into vogue.

The present trend is toward upholstered furniture, a splendid selection of which we are now showing. Here—huge Cosy Chairs, Chesterfields and Lounges, over-stuffed and beautifully upholstered in Silk, Tapestry, Damask, etc.—gladden the eye, and there is no lack of smaller upholstered articles.

ULSTER QUESTION TO-DAY.
LONDON, Oct. 20. The most difficult problem facing the Irish Conference, that of Ulster, is understood, come up before the full conference which is dealing with the subject of Irish peace, at the session to be held to-morrow. All information obtainable in authoritative quarters, however, points to strict adherence by Mr. Lloyd George and his colleagues to their Ulster pledges. The issue is expressed by many persons as it will be possible to construct some plan which, while apparently leaving Ulster untouched, will give such advantages to Southern Ireland as to compel Ulster to make terms with the South.

LABOR BOARD FAILS.
CHICAGO, Oct. 20. Efforts by the Railroad Labor Board to avert the threatened railroad strike through conferences with the heads of the five unions, which ordered the walk out effective on October 20, failed when the meeting adjourned to-night with the announcement by the Board that "while discussions were beneficial no definite results were obtained." Adjournment is final, chairman R. M. Burton of the Labor Board announced. We do not plan at present to call in railroad presidents. I cannot say what our next step might be."

CANADIAN MERCHANT MARINE.
MONTREAL, Oct. 20. Apart from the ships on special charter the Canadian Government Merchant Marine plans in the coming winter to maintain a regular fleet of twenty-six ocean freighters running from the ports of Halifax and St. John, N. man, to-day issued an appeal to all Railroad Unions to call off the proposed general strike and accept the wage order by the United States Railroad Labor Board. The Union men were warned that if they strike, "arrayed against you there will be 100,000,000 men, women and children. The same Railroad Managements that now seem to decry public opinion would so mould and crystallize it against you as to overwhelm you, and would use in their defense that power which should be used against them." Cessation of Railroad work now would make more terrible the existing conditions of employment, and in its trend would follow extreme poverty, want and suffering." The letter adds.

PARIS, Oct. 20. A plot by French Communists to take retaliatory measures against United States officials in France, in the event of the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti, two men convicted in the United States Court of murder, was revealed to-night, when it became known that threats had been made to blow up the offices of the United States Reparations Commission and Passport Bureau. Friday is the day generally set for carrying out the threat and demonstrations, and the French police are taking every precaution to prevent a gathering of any kind, near buildings occupied by United States officials.

Wedding Bells.

The marriage of James J. Everard, eldest son of Mrs. James Everard to Miss Alice Murphy, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Murphy, was solemnized at St. Patrick's Church on yesterday afternoon at 5.30 p.m., Rev. Dr. Kilchen officiating. The bride wore a tailored suit with hat to correspond, and was attended by her eldest sister, Mrs. John T. Kelly, who wore a suit of lawn. Mr. Edward Everard, brother of the groom, acted as best man. After the ceremony the party proceeded to the home of the bride's parents, Water Street West, where only the relatives of the young couple were assembled. A well prepared supper was served after which the toasts were given and songs rendered, making the occasion one to be long remembered. Many costly presents were received, amongst them being a handsome parlor clock from the employees of A. E. Hickman Co., Ltd., where the bridegroom is a trusted employee. The happy pair then motored to the Goulds where the honeymoon will be spent.

HARVEST HOME SERVICE.
The annual Harvest Home Service of Gower St. Church will be held next Sunday. Contributions of fruit and vegetables may be left at the church on Saturday. All such contributions will go to the Methodist Orphanage. Rev. Carl N. Garland will preach in the morning.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S NIGHT.
Thursday was Young People's Night in connection with the Gower Street Silver Jubilee Celebration, and it was a great success. The Lecture Room of the church was filled to overflowing with the young people of the church from fourteen years old and upwards. The officers of the young people's organization of the other Methodist churches of the city were also present. The programme was full and interesting and illustrated all the kinds of work for young people now being carried on. Following were the numbers:— Selection, Orchestra;

Chairman's Remarks; Tableau—Epworth League; Solo, Miss Woods; Dialogue, Mission Circle; Selection, Orchestra; Club Singing, Mr. H. Wilson; Piano Solo, Mr. C. Moore; Drill, Girls' Club; Solo, Miss Sylvia Moore; Recitation, Mrs. Baird; Piano Duet, Misses Taylor and Lawrence; Address, Rev. Carl N. Garland; Solo, Miss Sadie Soper; Tableau, Choir; Selection, Orchestra; Refreshments.
Among the items on the programme the Physical Drill by the members of the Girls' Club, the tableau by the Choir and former Epworth League members, and the Dialogue in costume by the Mission Circle were exceedingly good. The latter was particularly worthy of mention. It was entitled, "Tired of Missions." The first scene represented a sparsely attended meeting of the Mission Circle where the members pleaded for a change of programme in their work because they were "tired of missions," and thought that China and Japan and the rest of the heathen lands should look after themselves. Then followed a series of scenes in which the great and increasing need of mission fields were graphically illustrated. The need of teachers in the schools, the need of hospitals and nurses, the need of preachers and evangelists, the need of neglected children in the great teeming mission fields of the church—all were most vividly and impressively portrayed. As a result, the Mission Circle whose members are "tired of missions" put aside all thoughts of giving up their work, and set themselves to do it with redoubled enthusiasm. The dialogue was well rendered, and reflected much credit on the twenty-five or more young ladies who enacted it. The address of Rev. Carl N. Garland was a strong appeal to the young people of the church today to resist any temptation to lower the standard of the Christian life in any way, and to give themselves wholeheartedly and unreservedly, as did the men in the days of 1914 to the service of God in the service of the world. As a result of his appeal three of the young people signified their willingness to enter missionary work if the call should come and the way be open. The arrangements for this large gathering were admirably made and carried out, and much credit is due the chairman of the committee, Mr. Chesley Bowden, and his fine and capable band of workers. The newly organized Orchestra of the Young Men's Bible Class made its first public appearance last evening, and their selections were a great addition to the pleasure of the evening.

THIS EVENING'S MEETING.

The closing meeting of the week's celebration will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the church auditorium. It will be a meeting for Prayer and Praise, Praise in the backward look and Prayer in the forward look. Short addresses will be given by the pastors of the other Methodist Churches of the city. All former members of the choir will occupy seats in the choir-loft, and a feature of the evening will be the singing of old-fashioned hymns to old-fashioned tunes. Rev. Carl N. Garland will speak on "A Look Backward and a Look Forward." The meeting is a gathering of all the Methodist congregations of the city, who unite in a home-coming to old Gower St., the mother-church of Methodism in St. John's.

Civic Commission
Weekly Meeting.

The weekly meeting of the Municipal Commission was held last evening. Mayor Morris presided, and Councillors Vincombe, Peet, Jackman, Collier and Hallett were present. After confirmation of minutes of previous meetings, the following matters received the attention of the Board:

The Newfoundland Motor Association called attention to the number of unregistered out-of-town cars which are continually driving within the city limits, the drivers of which do not hold a license. A copy of the communication was ordered to be forwarded the Inspector General of Constabulary.

Communications were received from the Superintendent of the Electrical Department, Reid-NGE. Co. Ltd., stating that the lights ordered will be installed as soon as possible; that the pole at junction of Mundy Pond and LeMarchant Roads, would be moved to a more suitable location.

A letter was read from Mr. William White, LeMarchant Road, calling attention to the condition of this thoroughfare during winter time, and the necessity of devising some means whereby the road can be kept open. He suggested the erection of temporary snow fences such as are placed along the railway line. This, he thought would be the means of keeping the road clear. The matter will be more fully gone into at a special meeting.

Mr. J. Lawrence wrote with reference to the present condition of Pleasant St., and asked that same, particularly the sidewalks, be given attention.

The application of W. F. Martin for water and sewerage connections was granted.

F. G. House asked compensation for glass broken by Council employees on his premises, Duckworth St.; Council will replace same.

Commissioner Jackman, in introducing the Resolution of which he gave notice at last meeting, advocating the raising of a loan by bond issue for Municipal improvements, stated that, owing to many buildings being erected in the suburbs which are now within the city limits—as defined by the St. John's Municipal Act, 1921, the Council would be faced with a very serious problem in devising ways and means to have the water and sewer mains extended to these buildings, and with that end in view, he thought it advisable to have the present Act amended; also that, if the city was to keep pace with the times, an effort should be made to provide the funds whereby these necessary improvements could be undertaken. The matter was carefully considered, and the Council were of opinion that, as the term of office of the present Board would shortly expire, it would not be practicable at this stage to advocate such legislation, and they recommended that the matter be left with the incoming Council to be dealt with—Commissioner Jackman falling in line with

NEWFOUNDLAND PREMIER TAKES TARIFF WITH NEW YORKERS.
Sir Richard Anderson Squires, Premier of Newfoundland, was the guest of a score of oil traders of New York at a luncheon at the Drug and Chemical Club recently. Sir Richard is on an unofficial visit to the United States, and as he had taken occasion to appear before the Senate Finance Committee at Washington for an informal presentation of Newfoundland's reaction to the proposed tariff on fish and fish oils, the local oil men grasped the opportunity presented by his presence in this city to invite him to meet with them.

The Newfoundland premier spoke briefly following the luncheon, the burden of his address being that his country is desirous of building up cordial and extensive trade relations with the United States, and that his people consider it unwise for this government to erect a tariff barrier against Newfoundland. In the light of the fact that the trade between the two countries is in favor of the United States in the proportion of four or five to one, and because international trade depends upon the facility for an interchange of commodities rather than upon the purchase of goods with money, it is believed in Newfoundland trade circles that American export trade with that country will fall off if Newfoundland must seek other markets for its fish and oils.

Sir Richard was most gracious in his appreciation of the trade relations between producers in this country and distributors of their products here.

G. Armstrong, local British consul-general, spoke with reference to the desirability of the broadest possible trade relations between the United States and the British Empire. He was proud to mention that in addition to Australia and Newfoundland, Canada now had a trade commissioner here, and he believed that other British colonies would soon be similarly represented. J. M. Devine, who has been the Newfoundland trade commissioner in this city, told of the gratifying results which had followed his efforts to build up trade between the two countries. He offered his assistance in that direction in whatever manner it might be desired.

A condemnation of an isolating high tariff which would result in the loss of export markets was made by H. E. Miles, of the Fair Tariff League. He opined that the day of strong protection had passed and that full consideration of the new seller's position of America should be had in all tariff constructions. A welcome to the visiting premier was spoken by A. E. Squier, of the Oil Traders Association of New York. Edward Born, president of the Seaboard Trading Co., expressed the belief that the outcome of the tariff deliberations would be satisfactory to fish and oil importers.

Arrangements for the luncheon were made by Robert Badcock, of W. & S. Job & Co., Inc. Williams Haynes was toastmaster.—Ex.

Premier's Reply to Postal Deputation.

A deputation from the Newfoundland Postal Association waited on the Prime Minister at his office yesterday afternoon and discussed with him the matter of wages and the existing discrimination between them and the Postal Telegraphs and other employees of the Department. Mr. G. B. Lloyd explained the grievance of the Association, and asked if anything could be done to place the salaries of all on a like basis. Sir Richard in reply, stated that it did not come within the powers of the Executive Council to make any alterations in the present salaries paid. It was possible that the whole Act which controls the present salaries will be reconsidered. A special meeting of the Postal Association will be held tonight, when the Prime Minister's reply will be laid before the body.

S. U. F. Dance.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the S.U.F. a dance was held last night in the Club Rooms, Waig Street. About 50 couples attended, and a thoroughly good time was spent in dancing to music furnished by the C.L.R.C. Band. Miss Gertrude McGilivray as chaperone fulfilled her duties to the entire satisfaction of all present. Supper was served by the Ladies' Association in their well known style, after which dancing was resumed until 2:30 this morning.

Potato Harvest.

The past week has been exceptionally fine for the farmers, and as a consequence practically all the potato crop has been lifted. In some sections, particularly west, the yield has been good, and 15 barrels to 1 barrel of seed. About 50, however, probably ten barrels would, however, be a fair average. Irish Cobblers and Great Scots seem to be the favorites. Both these varieties yield well, with very little culls.

The Horseless Carriage.

Weekly column devoted to the interests of the Motoring Public.

The heartfelt sympathy of every motorist goes out to the widow and other relatives of the late John H. Valentine in the great sorrow that they are called upon to bear through last week's tragedy. That the Great Comforter of all sorrows may extend to them His Divine consolation is the universal wish. For Mr. Edgar Templeman the sympathy of all motorists is expressed in the terrible misfortune with which he is connected.

MOTOR NOTES.

(Contributor's)

The object of making these remarks

(1) To minimize accidents on the roads.

(2) To make motoring pleasanter.

(3) To save a car.

One hears the remark that if we can drive a car in Newfoundland we can drive one anywhere else. This is a pleasant reflection after you have left the country, but is not of much help out here. It is understood that money for the purpose of improvement of roads and is not forthcoming as would be wished. Still much could be done at small cost to obtain the objects desired above. The scheme would be the co-operation of the authorities, police and the Motor Association. Herewith are noted about a dozen suggestions:-

(1) Before receiving a motor licence the driver of a car should be required to pass an examination not only in the actual driving, which is easy, but in the knowledge of the working parts of the car, the rule of the road and all connected with it.

It is true that it is a little more difficult to obtain a licence out here than in England but it must be remembered that in England there are good roads, well regulated traffic, plenty of gas posts and garages and also men belonging to motor associations patrolling the roads at frequent intervals. Even with these precautions there are a good many accidents.

(2) Every car should be fitted with a speedometer. Speed is always underestimated; nothing except a mechanical contrivance will give the correct speed.

It should also be compulsory for all lights to be fitted so that they can be dimmed. Lights should be dimmed when meeting other cars and horses. It is as important for the latter as for the former.

(3) All vehicles on the road should carry red lights and tail lights. In the evening countless cars are met without lights and frequently on the wrong side of the road. There seems to be no justification why they should not.

(4) Drivers of carts should be instructed in the rule of the road, and the necessary signs when altering their direction. This is particularly necessary in the city. Some of the carts carry long poles. Sometimes these carts are on the wrong side of the road, and alter across to the correct side, they fill the whole road. The drivers might be more prompt in pulling into the side on the approach of other vehicles.

(5) Some cars speed round corners on to the main road without blowing their horns. This is a dangerous practice and often leads to narrow escape from accident.

(6) Children on the road cause much anxiety to the motorist. The road should be for vehicles first. The regulation here seems to be that the road is for pedestrians first. The children might play on the sidewalk. The practice of throwing balls, hoops, stones, etc., at a car should be suppressed.

(7) Pedestrians might remember that it is easier for them to move out of the way of a car than vice versa. In London, a pedestrian, crossing the street at places other than a recognized crossing, does so at his own risk. While motorists should use every endeavour not to inconvenience pedestrians, the reverse also applies.

(8) Stray animals on the road are a great nuisance. The road is certainly not for these. Horses and cows should not be allowed to wander at liberty. Dogs can be trained not to run in front of cars trying to bite the tires. Ducks are awkward to avoid. They are slow moving, whereas hens generally have a run for their money.

(9) The papers might be requested to publish "Lighting Up Time." The regulation is that lights should be on from sunset to sunrise but no one knows when these times are. These times might be altered to half an hour after sunset and half an hour before sunrise. Vehicles left without occupants at night should have their lights on and be left where they do not obstruct traffic. Cars left at corners of narrow roads, unlit, are liable to cause inconvenience.

(10) There are several places, especially at cross roads, where a traffic controller would be useful. It is sometimes difficult to understand some of the signals made by the police.

(11) On the main roads in the city sign posts should be placed at suitable intervals stating "Keep to the left." These might also be placed at junctions. On other roads warnings might be placed as in England. It would also be useful to have the mile posts along main roads.

(12) It is recognized that most of the roads are hard on cars. There appears however to be no reason why the many bridges and railroad crossings should not be attended to. On leaving King's Bridge on the way to Bally Haly—a bridge in constant use—there is a drop of from two to three inches from bridge to road. There are others nearly as bad. On LeMarchant Road leading to Topsail—an otherwise good road—there is an uncomfortable two hundred yards of ditches and large stones. This is only one instance but there are many others where a fairly good road is spoiled by a bad patch. Much could be done without a vast expenditure to improve conditions—a good deal and thereby make motoring and driving more pleasant. The scenery all round is grand but the cost of running a car is so great owing to the wear and tear it gets on these roads that it needs a fortune to keep one going.

There are many other places where the roads are much obliged to our esteemed correspondent for his interesting and instructive contribution.

MR. DUNLOP.

Health First POSTUM

This is the start of a better day

There's satisfying comfort and cheer in a breakfast cup of Postum, and there's no disturbing element to irritate nerves or digestion and leave mental energy lagging before the day is done.

Thousands of former tea and coffee users have found that Postum makes every dinner for a delicious table beverage, and brings steeper nerves, clearer mind—better health.

As many cups as you like with any meal—no after-regrets.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tin) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink with the meal in being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

There's a Reason for Postum

HOW FUNDS ARE DISTRIBUTED.

At the meeting of the Committee of the Permanent Newfoundland Marine Disasters Fund held yesterday, a letter written by him to an enquirer, answering a question concerning the distribution of the funds, was read by the Treasurer, Hon. Robert Watson. The letter is appended. The meeting was presided over by the President, Hon. W. J. Ellis who had been absent from recent meetings through illness. The treasurer acknowledged receipt of $1000 from the Executors of the Estate of the late Archibald Macpherson. An appreciation of the action of the captain, purser, officers, crew and passengers of the S.S. Rosalind, S.S. Fortia and S.S. Prospero in holding concerts and taking up collections for the widows and families of those lost at sea, was made. The management of the fund is in the hands of Mr. J. R. Goodison who sees to the distribution amongst its beneficiaries.

THE LETTER.

Dear Sir,—I understand from the Prime Minister, Sir Richard Squires, who has lately returned from Canada, that you are desirous of having some information regarding the administration of the fund collected in 1914, for the relief of the dependents of the seafarers from the steamers "Newfoundland" and "Southern Cross" who lost their lives during the terrible marine disaster of that year.

The total amount collected was in the neighborhood of $310,000.00. The Deputy Secretary-Treasurer is absent on his vacation or I would be able to give you the exact figures. The decision of the Committee appointed to administer the fund was to make annual grants (varying from $50.00 to $100.00) to the widows and aged parents of the deceased, annual grants of $35.00 for each of their children up to the age of 15 for boys and 16 for girls; and special grants (varying from year to year) to certain survivors whose health had become impaired through exposure on the ice during the night of the disaster.

During the first year the total payments to beneficiaries amounted to about $28,000.00, and the following year there was very little change. Since then, of course, some of the older people have died and certain children have reached the age when they no longer participate. Last year the payments totalled about $18,000.00.

In 1914 the total recipients were as follows:—

ADULTS.
Widows	96
Fathers	101
Mothers	105
Others	$2,334
CHILDREN.
Sons	114
Daughters	91
Brothers	84
Sisters	84
Others	13,886
	720

During 1921 we had the following beneficiaries:—

Survivors	13
Widows	29
Daughters	55
Sons	71
Fathers	38
Mothers	48
Brothers	33
Grandfathers	3
Grandmothers	3
Grandson	1
	227

I should mention that certain subscriptions were given in 1914 on the understanding that the Committee would not confine their operations to relief of dependents under the "Newfoundland" and "Southern Cross," but would render assistance to the families of seamen and fishermen generally, who might lose their lives whilst in the pursuit of their calling—in other words establish a "Permanent Marine Disasters Fund." With this object in view the Committee were authorized, by Special Act of the Newfoundland Legislature, to devote to the Permanent Fund the interest earned on the investments made from the 1914 Fund.

The Committee meets monthly at the Newfoundland Savings Bank and I take pleasure in stating that the whole of the Committee give their services free. In fact the only expense in the administration of the fund is a small honorarium paid to the Deputy Secretary-Treasurer, who is an official of the Bank.

The accounts are regularly audited by a firm of English Chartered Accountants.

If there is any further information desired by you, or by anyone else in Montreal who has been so good as to subscribe to the fund, I shall be very glad to supply the same. I remain, dear Sir,

Yours faithfully,

R. WATSON, Hon. Treasurer.

OCTOBER.

October is the eighth month of the old Roman year which began in March (Mars), but by the Julian arrangement, while retaining its old name, became the tenth month, from January, and had thirty-one days assigned to it. The principal ecclesiastical feasts in this month are those of St. Luke, Evangelist, on the 18th and of St. Simon and St. Jude on the 28th. By the Slavs, October is called the "yellow month" from the fading of the leaves. To the Anglo-Saxons it was known as Winterfylleth, because at the full moon (fylleth) winter was supposed to begin. In the history of the world October cuts a wide swath, because in this month, to be precise on the twelfth day, Christopher Columbus discovered America, though, according to the historian of that remarkable voyage, land had been discovered on the previous evening yet it was not until the next morning that Columbus "beheld the flat and dimly wooded shores, gleaming beneath the rays of an autumn sun, and by actually setting his foot on them, realised the fulfilment of his hopes." But Columbus was not the first white man to reach the American continent, for we read that "the ancient Scandinavians or Norsemen so renowned for their maritime enterprise, had at the commencement of the eleventh century, not only settled colonies in Greenland, but had explored the East coast of America as far south as Delaware Bay." But be that as it may, to Columbus belongs the honor of making the first landing on the American continent on October 12th, 1492, having set sail from Spain on the 3rd day of August in the same year.

Forty-two years after Columbus had reached the Bahama Islands, an adventurous Frenchman, one Jacques Cartier, master pilot of St. Malo, crossed the Atlantic, sailed through the Straits of Belle Isle, coasted down the Western shore of Newfoundland, and along the New Brunswick coast, entering the Bay to the north and in the province of Quebec, to which he gave the name Chaleur, on account of the heat experienced. In October of the following year, 1535 Cartier sailed up the St. Lawrence River and landed on the site where the city of Montreal now stands. This visit of Cartier is reckoned as the discovery of Canada. Thus in the month of October, America may be said to have been twice discovered. History carries also another anniversary in October, one which all Englishmen or Britons, to be exact, honor and revere. On the 21st day of this month, in the year 1805, Nelson put a period to the ambitions of Napoleon Bonaparte by defeating the combined fleets of France and Spain off Trafalgar, dying, however, from the effects of a musket bullet, in the hour of victory. On that fated day the immortal signal "England expects that every man will do his duty" was hoisted to the mast-head of the Victory, Nelson's flagship, and ever since these words have been an incentive to great deeds. Scanning the chronological record for this month, there can be found many other anniversary days all of which are honored throughout the Empire. There are the battles of Hastings, Agincourt, Camperdown, Balaclava; the beheading of Sir Walter Raleigh, the murder of Nurse Edith Cavell, the first battle of Ypres, the second battle of Le Cateau, the proposal of Germany that an armistice be held (1918), the unconditional surrender of Turkey. Altogether October is rich in memories of the past, and has its special place in the history of the Empire and of the world.

Sir John Crosbie Welcomed Home.

Sir John Crosbie, accompanied by Lady Crosbie and his daughter, Miss Vera, arrived by last night's express, after an absence of about 2 months spent in Montreal where Sir John was undergoing treatment at the Royal Victoria Hospital. A large concourse of citizens had assembled at the Station and a whole-hearted welcome home was given the party. Sir John appeared to be in his wonted vigor, although somewhat fatigued after the long train journey. The Telegram extends to him a hearty welcome home and also to Lady Crosbie and Miss Vera.

Preliminary Enquiry.

The preliminary enquiry into the case of Edgar Templeman, charged with the manslaughter of John Valentine, was begun yesterday afternoon in the Magistrate's Court before Judge Morris. Several witnesses were examined including Messrs. R. G. Ash, R. Simms, F. Lumsden, and Mr. Balfour of the Agriculture and Mines Office. The hearing occupied the whole afternoon. Deputy Minister of Justice Summers appeared on behalf of the Crown, whilst Mr. W. J. Higgins, K.C., M.P.A., represented the accused. The further hearing was postponed until Tuesday next.

Express Delayed.

The incoming express was two hours late in leaving Port aux Basques this morning owing to the late arrival of the Kyle. It is due here to-morrow afternoon with the Kyle's mails and the following passengers:—Mrs. N. Hynes, Rev. T. J. Bride, J. A. Penney, N. Penney, S. Matthews, Hon. S. Milley, C. Duley, S. Curran, J. Jacobs, E. Powley, Mrs. S. Kennedy, Miss B. Fahey, W. P. Ford.

Old Country Wins.

The Old Countrymen defeated the Officers' Mess of the C.L.B.C. in the Ping Pong Tournament played last night, by a margin of ten points. The tournament was very keenly contested and great enthusiasm prevailed among players and spectators. The teams were:—C.L.B.C.—Lieut. Colonel R. F. Goodridge, Capt. Henry, Lieuts. H. C. Hayward, P. B. Rendell, F. Reid and A. B. Perlin.

On Thursday next the C.L.B. team will visit the C.E.I. Club Rooms and play them on their own ground. A further series of tournaments will be arranged shortly, as great interest is being taken in ping pong, which is a splendid winter game.

Gallant Mariner Honored.

Captain English, Jr., Presented With Cup.
A very pleasing function took place at Government House this morning, when Harbor Master, Capt. E. English, Jr., was presented with a handsome silver cup in recognition of his services in connection with the stranding of the s.s. Ethie some two years ago. The presentation was made by His Excellency Sir C. Alexander Harris, and amongst those present were Sir R. A. Squires, Hon. Geo. Shea, H. W. Leveson, Deputy Minister of Customs, Capt. Kerf, Senior Naval Officer, Mr. Hal Hutchings, Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries, A. A. Parsons, Governor of the Penitentiary, Capt. Ed. English, Sr., and the three sons of the recipient. His Excellency made a brief speech in which he complimented Capt. English on his skill and decision which alone averted a disaster. He said he had visited the scene of the wreck of the Ethie some short time ago, and only then realised what courage was needed on the part of the captain to bring his steamer through the dangerous shoals to a point where landing was possible. He also said that the Imperial Board of Trade was sending a special letter of recognition, which would be handed over to Capt. English when received. The cup is a magnificent silver one, standing over a foot high, and is inscribed as follows: "Presented to Capt. Edward T. English by the Government of Newfoundland in recognition of his gallant conduct and able seamanship which resulted in the saving of the lives of all the passengers and crew, numbering 90 souls, on the occasion of the wreck of the s.s. Ethie at Cow Head, Newfoundland in December, 1919."
Capt. English, in his usual unassuming style on receiving the present said, "I beg to thank your Excellency for the great interest you have taken in bringing to the notice of the British Board of Trade in England the particulars of the loss of the s.s. Ethie. I also wish to thank the Government of Newfoundland for the recognition they have given me in the performance of my duty. I assure your Excellency and those who are present that I appreciate this piece of plate and shall ever treasure it as one of my most valued gifts. I trust your Excellency may be spared many years to present souvenirs on such occasions to men of the mercantile marine."
It will be remembered that in December, 1919, whilst coming from the Straits, the s.s. Ethie was beset by Capt. Ed. English, Jr., and saved the lives of the passengers and crew. A terrible storm was raging at the time, the ship was leeward and unmanageable and to make matters worse the wind was on the land. The ship was surely drifting on a straight shore, where all would have been lost. Ahead were sunken reefs, and through these the captain decided to steer his ship. It was accomplished and the ship was stranded close to the main land at Martin's Point.

Manlaughter Case.

STEPHEN WELLS ON TRIAL.
The trial of Stephen Wells, charged with the manslaughter of Thomas Hickey off Flatrock on July 13th, was commenced to-day in the Supreme Court before Mr. Justice Kent and the following special jury: R. Knight, R. Kenny, J. Bowden, F. Noseworthy, W. Oliver, R. Morris, T. Thistle, M. Tobin, D. Willar, G. Reid, M. Healey, H. J. Burnell. Mr. F. Mews appeared for the Crown and Mr. W. J. Higgins, K.C., for Wells. In stating the case for the Crown Mr. Mews said that Wells was a member of the crew of the schooner "Fanny W. Freeman" which left St. John's at 10 a.m. on July 13, and proceeded north along the coast. On the same morning three men, Patrick, Thomas and Michael Hickey, left Flatrock in a large motor boat towing a smaller one. When some distance off the land the big motor boat was anchored and Michael and Patrick Hickey went off in the smaller one, leaving Thomas Hickey in the other. Near noon the men in the small boat saw the schooner "Fanny W. Freeman" bearing down upon the anchored boat, and raised a shout which had no effect. The schooner hit the motor boat broadside on and caused it to go under. It came up astern empty, and nothing more was seen of Thomas Hickey. Council thought that there must have been culpable negligence if a vessel sailing north on a straight course and on a fine clear day, could not see the motor boat. Wells, as lookout man of the schooner at the time of the accident, was as a consequence, standing his trial for manslaughter.
The first witness for the Crown was Michael Hickey, brother of the victim of the accident. He said that the day was a clear and bright one, and he had seen the schooner bearing down on the motor boat of which Thomas Hickey was the sole occupant, and when it was 200 feet off he had shouted a warning, which remained unanswered. He described the accident as he saw it.
Higgs, K.C., Cross examined. Patrick Hickey was next called and his evidence was practically the same as that of his brother. Capt. Batstone of the schr. Fannie W. Freeman was next called. He said that John Ridcoo was at the wheel at the time of the accident and Stephen Wells was in the high and shall ever treasure it as one of my most valued gifts. I trust your Excellency may be spared many years to present souvenirs on such occasions to men of the mercantile marine."

WILL LEAVE IT TO PREMIER.
LONDON, Oct. 21.
Lloyd George in the House said the question of releasing interned and untried prisoners in Ireland was one for discussion in connection with the final terms of peace. Sinn Fein will leave the initiative to the Premier, it is said in Dublin.

STEAMSHIP CONNECTION.
HALIFAX, Oct. 21.
Steamship service between St. John's Halifax and Boston will be resumed in early November the operators being the New York and Cayenne Steamship Company, succeeding Nova Scotia Steamships Ltd., Colonel Chipman stated to-day. The freight service will later be followed by a combination passenger and freight.

PRAISE FOR BLUENOSE.
HALIFAX, Oct. 21.
Interest grows in the International Fisheries race, and many people from Canada and the States are flocking here. The Elsie Gloucesters defender, while on the marine slip, was inspected by thousands. Her fine lines are expected to give her an advantage in light winds, but she is also said to be excellent in real heavy weather. Captain Welsh, after viewing the Bluenose, declared she complied in every way with the spirit and intent of the deed of gift of the International Fisheries Championship trophy, and was one of the finest examples of a deep sea fishing vessel under the British flag.

Boy Lost Off a Liner in Ocean.
New York, Oct. 14.—The French liner Franco, from Havre, was halted in midocean on Wednesday night when Francois Robert, bell-boy, 15, tumbled into the sea from an after rail. He had been playing with two other boys of his age when he lost his balance and plunged into the foamy wake.

As it takes some time for a big ship like the Franco to stop, she was more than an eighth of a mile from the spot where the boy disappeared when Capt. Roch turned her around and headed back. A luminous lifebuoy had been sent adrift to guide the boy, if alive, and show the navigator the probable whereabouts.

The Franco cruised about the place more than an hour and a half, concentrating searchlights on every direction of the tumbling sea and then headed west again, her commander deciding that the boy probably had fallen directly into the whirr of the liner's quadruple screws and had been killed instantly. He was the sole support of his widowed mother in Havre.

Funeral on Sunday afternoon at 2.30 from his late residence, No. 68 Carter's Hill. Friends and acquaintances please accept this, as the only intimation. Boston and Montreal papers please copy.

IN SAD BUT LOVING MEMORY of our dear brother and nephew, Francis J. Walsh, who was drowned Oct. 21st, 1920, aged 24 years.
One year has passed, but none can tell The loss of our dear one we loved so well.
He was the one who helped us most, And all our troubles shared.
The days are dark and friends are few, Dear Francis how we miss you, R.I.P.
Sadly missed by Brother Michael and Aunt Margaret Walsh.

Boy Lost Off a Liner in Ocean.
New York, Oct. 14.—The French liner Franco, from Havre, was halted in midocean on Wednesday night when Francois Robert, bell-boy, 15, tumbled into the sea from an after rail. He had been playing with two other boys of his age when he lost his balance and plunged into the foamy wake.

As it takes some time for a big ship like the Franco to stop, she was more than an eighth of a mile from the spot where the boy disappeared when Capt. Roch turned her around and headed back. A luminous lifebuoy had been sent adrift to guide the boy, if alive, and show the navigator the probable whereabouts.

The Franco cruised about the place more than an hour and a half, concentrating searchlights on every direction of the tumbling sea and then headed west again, her commander deciding that the boy probably had fallen directly into the whirr of the liner's quadruple screws and had been killed instantly. He was the sole support of his widowed mother in Havre.

Concerted Action Needed.
 (Western Star.)
 The problem occurring in the herring industry in the minds of our herring buyers at this present is that of the disposal of small herring during the approaching fishery operations. From various sources there is a plain indication that there will be little or no demand for that grade of fish in the herring trade this season. "Pack" buyers state emphatically that they will buy only large fish. Other years there has been more or less demand for the small run of herring put up round, but there seems to be little or no prospect of disposing of them in that way this year.
 Various methods as a remedy have been suggested by packers with whom we have conversed. One is that fish should be prohibited from using nets smaller than 2 1/2 inches; another is that nets smaller than 2 1/2 inches should not be allowed to be used. Then again there are those who advocate being permitted to cull the fish when buying them from the fishermen. They argue that when they buy a high price for herring which they do not fetch sufficient to pay for the loss on the small fish. For instance, if they pay $4 for the fish from the boat, and the herring is 50 per cent. small, then the fish which they pack cost them in fact 20 per cent. more from the boat.
 We have given the matter some thought and have come to the conclusion that one of the first steps to be taken by the fishermen to discard from their nets with a mesh smaller than 2 1/2 inches. Being co-partners in the voyage they should co-operate as an endeavor to put only merchantable goods on the market. They should allow their interest to end when they have passed their morning's catch into the measuring tub or the dealer.
 On the other hand it is up to the packers, the Fisheries Department, the Board of Trade to look around and create a market for these herring under 1 1/2 inches in length. There must be concerted effort made to avoid the annual destruction and waste of large quantities of fish which, during their size, are equal in every respect to those which meet such high demand and fetch such good prices in the markets of the United States and Europe. Thinking smaller per cent. 25 barrels cut every hundred, one thousand barrels for every three thousand barrels is too great a wastage and a liability, let it be ever so bountiful, stand this strain indefinitely. In the past we as a people have been most extravagant and wasteful in connection with our fisheries—due no doubt to our misfortune of circumstances rather than intention—and though conditions may not have very materially changed, and they never will until we seek remedies, the time has, however, come when we should take advantage of our opportunities, and make full use of the great resources which have fallen to our lot.

Grand Dance Carnival.
 The event of the year will be the Grand Carnival which takes place in the Prince's Rink on Wednesday next, October 26th. The Rink will be decorated for the occasion, and the floor will be properly cleaned and waxed. The Dressing Rooms will be reserved for the Masqueraders to retire to between the intervals, and chairs will be put around the Rink floor for the convenience of those who wish to sit during the Dance and Concert numbers. Beautiful prizes will be awarded for the best costumes. See McManara's Jewellery Store window this afternoon with the display of prizes from which the winners may pick their choice. The prizes will be the same as for Ice Carnivals, Masqueraders, 20c.; General Admission, 20c.; and number of gallery tickets 30c. on sale at the Royal Stationery Store. The C. C. Full Band of 25 instruments will be present and will play their best music and Concert numbers. You have only a few days to get your costume, therefore do not delay.—adv.

Line Quarry in Full Swing.
 We are glad to learn that work on the line quarries at Aguathuna has been resumed on a large scale. M. J. McManara, who arrived from there last week, informs us that there are about 100 men employed. According to present indications operations will probably continue all the winter months, as probably a thousand men, as the Railway Steel Works will have to depend upon these quarries in future for their supply of limestone.—Western Star.

A FINE STEER.
 Duncan McManara, of Selkirk, has secured a fine young steer a few days ago that tipped the scales at 569 lbs. The animal was raised on Mr. McManara's farm and was only two years old. This, we think, is a very good demonstration of what can be done with cattle raising on the West Coast, and Mr. McManara, who is one of our most enterprising farmers, as well as a business man, is to be congratulated.—Western Star.

Physical Development.

And its Bearing on Health and Strength.

THE PASSIONS.
How to Control and Develop Passions.—It is possible for anyone to conquer an undesirable passion, as is well known by all who have had experience.
Sullenness.—We must faithfully, and at first in cold blood, go through the outward movements of those opposite dispositions that we wish to cultivate. If we are persistent we will finally meet with due reward. The sullen expression will fade out and real cheerfulness will come in its stead.
Frowning.—Whenever you catch yourself frowning, smooth out your brow. When you find you are talking in a high tone, lower your pitch. When you discover your fists clenched, open out your hand. When you feel like saying something nasty, refrain, and whenever an opportunity arises say something pleasant.
Read to Happiness.—If you carefully and faithfully carry out these directions you will find that you do not become angered so easily, and that when you do become angered you do not remain so long. You will begin to feel more kindly to others and you will lead a happy life.
Testimony of Students, Physiologists and Actors.—It is curious how even the temporary imitation of the outward expression of a feeling will bring about the feeling itself.
Expression of Mental Condition.

vinced it is hard to avoid it, though one strove to separate the passion from its corresponding gesture.
 Many actors declare they can perfectly mimic the outward appearance of emotion in face, gait and voice without feeling the emotion at all.
 Experience of Actors.—According to Mr. Archer, however, who has made a very instructive statistical study of this question, whenever an actor plays a part well he is overcome with the emotion of the part. In his book, "The Anatomy of Acting," he quotes many noted players.
 Paleless.—"I often turn pale," writes Miss Isabel Bateman, "in scenes of terror or great excitement. I have been told this many times, and I can feel myself getting cold and shivering and pale in thrilling situations."
 "When I am playing rage or terror," writes Mr. Lionel Brough, "I believe I turn pale. My mouth gets dry, my tongue cleaves to my palate. In Bob Acres, for instance (in the last act), I have to continually moisten my mouth or I shall become inarticulate. I have to swallow the lump," as I call it."
 All artists who have had much experience of emotional parts are absolutely unanimous.
DOES THE EXERCISE OF A FASHION MAKE IT INCREASE OR DECREASE?
Exercise of Passion.—It is said by some that manifesting an emotion does not increase it. On the contrary, it is claimed, it makes it cease. Rage melts away after a real good outburst. It is the pent-up emotions which are not expressed that keep up a constant turmoil in the brain.
Increase of Passion.—On the other hand, others hold that if a man repress the expression of his passions he will find that they will expire if they get no vent at all. While if he permits their outbreak to occur frequently he will find them increase to intensity as time goes on.

LOVE.
Nature of Love.—This is the strongest passion of all and by many considered the most irresistible. It is described by Bain as "a massive pleasure growing out of definite relations to persons or sentient creatures, and pointing to the embrace." Strange to say, however, it often is lacking or at least checked by ordinary shyness or by the instinct of personal isolation. This latter is the actual repulsive force to us of the idea of intimate contact with most of the persons we meet. It exists more strongly in men with respect to one another, and more strongly in women with respect to men.
Parental Love.—Parental love is stronger in women than in men, at least in the early childhood of its object.
According to Schneider, as soon as a wife becomes a mother the centre of the world is no longer herself but her child. She does not think of her own hunger; she must first be sure that the child is fed. It is nothing to her that she herself is tired and needs rest so long as she sees that the child's sleep is undisturbed. Now she has the greatest patience with the cry-baby, whereas until now every discordant sound, every slightly unpleasant noise made her nervous. Every limb of the still little being appears to her beautiful, every movement fills her with delight.

Thousands Use Knox Gelatine Exclusively—

because they can get good results with this Gelatine that they cannot get with the less concentrated gelatins. Try this delicious dessert for dinner.

Knox Banana Dessert.
 1/4 envelope Knox Sparkling Gelatine, 1 pint lemon jelly, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 egg, 1 teaspoonful vanilla extract, 1/2 cup cold water, 2 cups milk.
 Make 1 pint lemon jelly with 1/4 envelope gelatine, 1/2 cup cold water, 1 cup boiling water. Four into square mold; let stand till firm. Mix hot cream with yolk of egg, sugar and milk, add 1/4 envelope gelatine, stir until thick. Pour over lemon jelly. When set, add sliced bananas, pour over lemon jelly. Serve with cream.

Two Packages—Plain and Acidulated.
 Each Making Two Quarts (1/2 gallon) of Jelly.
 With the Plain Sparkling, lemons are used for flavoring. The Acidulated Sparkling makes an envelope of concentrated lemon juice—a great convenience when lemons are scarce. Each contains a tablet for coloring.

Let us send you the Knox Gelatine book and enough Gelatine to make one pint—enough to try just one of our soups, puddings, salads, for cream, shampoos, candies, etc.

Beauty of Devotion.—James says that the passionate devotion of a mother, ill herself, perhaps, to a sick or dying child, is perhaps the most beautiful spectacle that human life affords. Contending every danger, triumphing over every difficulty, outlasting all fatigue woman's love is here invincibly superior to anything that man can show.

It has been drawn to my attention that many readers are anxious to have the real Physical Culture with relation to the development of the muscles of the body published as early as possible, and for their benefit I would say that this series of articles is of vast importance. In fact, unless you first cultivate the power of the will over the body Physical development is of little use to you. As an example take a man who begins to train for a special sport. He must quit bodily abuse, smoking, alcoholic stimulants, and he must confine himself to a restricted diet; therefore he must, before getting the Physical side, study well the moral side, and concentrate on same.
 In the present series there are seventeen more subjects to cover before going on with the development series. These are: Hatred, Grief, Fear, Anger, Sympathy, Sociability, Envy or Jealousy, Secretiveness, The Passions of Hunting and Fighting, The Passions for Play, Avarice, Pity, Gratitude, Admiration, Esteem, Shame, and Pride.
 These will cover two or three issues, when I hope to meet the desires of anxious readers.—GEE.

THE PARTY.
 It may be 'im old fashioned an' my style is rather plain. But I'd like to see the parties of my boyhood once again. We didn't have 'em often, an' they lacked the pomp an' show of the gay an' brilliant gatherings which this age has come to know; but they had a thrill about 'em, an' whatever folks may say. The world lost something wholesome when the custom passed away.

Our notion of a party was a family affair. With all the uncles and cousins and the uncles gathered there, an' the young folks makin' merry an' the lovers whispering. An' the bachelors an' excusers when we'd ask Aunt Lili to sing; an' the silence an' the wonder an' as we heard some friend recite. To our common admiration, "Curfew Shall Not Ring To-night."
 Now the family seldom gathers as of old it used to do. We have changed our old-time gladness for the customs of the new, an' I can't help feelin' sorry, for whatever folks may claim.
 The old-time family party never brought regret or shame. Though I don't know how to say it, still somehow it seems to me. What we really need are parties of the kind that used to be.

"The Unkissed Bride."

A FARCE COMEDY WITH A LOVE STORY.

"The Unkissed Bride" will be presented by Gladys Klark Co. at the Casino to-night. This very exciting example of fun creating farce is heralded as the laughing sensation of the season having been pronounced by theatre-goers and critics in every city where it has appeared as being the best play of its type ever presented. "The Unkissed Bride" is possessed of the spark that kindles love into a flame, and with a fascinating appeal that could not be described in mere print. It has been popularly referred to as the frisky, frolicsome farce with a "kick" in it and the last word in "speed." It is crisp, new and brilliant and has been hailed with joy in New York, Boston and the larger cities. "The Unkissed Bride" is a comedy sparkling in its wit, remarkable in its construction and containing a howl of delight in every line and scene. Every member of the Gladys Klark Co. is in exact harmony and sympathy with the character they present, and the entire performance is carried along through a screeching bombardment of laughter from the audience. "The Unkissed Bride" will be presented by Gladys Klark Co. to-night.—adv.

QUIT TOBACCO

So easy to drop Cigarette, Cigar, or Chewing habit

No-To-Bac has helped thousands to break the costly, nerve-shattering tobacco habit. Whenever you have a longing for a smoke or chew, just place a harmless No-To-Bac tablet in your mouth instead. All desire stops. Shortly the habit is completely broken, and you are better off mentally, physically, financially. It's so easy, so simple. Get a box of No-To-Bac and if it doesn't release you from all craving for tobacco in any form, your druggist will refund your money without question.

"Laugh and grow fat" is an old axiom. We advise the use of a good tonic.
 is a wonderful tonic and will certainly improve your health. The selection of a tonic is a matter of great importance, as your health depends upon it. To fight disease successfully during the changeable autumn months the system should receive a toning up. The facts we state about "Brick's Tasteless" silence all criticism.
 Weigh yourself the day you commence to take Brick's Tasteless, then weigh yourself two (2) weeks later and note the increase.

MILLEY'S

SWEET, PURE MILK—always on hand when you want it!

If you have never used Libby's Evaporated Milk, you will be amazed to find how good, how convenient and economical it is. Many women who first tried it in some emergency now use it always—they find it gives such satisfactory results.

There's no waiting for the milkman—you can always keep several cans on the shelf and in summer there's no bothering with ice, and in winter the milk wagon can get stuck in a heavy drift of snow as often as it wants to!

And there's less waste—a can of Libby's Evaporated Milk will keep indefinitely before being opened—and after you have opened a can you can use just what you need; the rest, put in a cool place, will keep several days.

Libby's Milk comes from the finest dairying section of America and is processed in our own sanitary condensaries—it is not the "distributed" product of an unknown and nameless plant.

Order a tin from your grocer to-day.

The Story of the Years ---1896-1921.

Gower Street Methodist Church--
Address Delivered by Mr. John Leamon, Recording Steward.

(TUESDAY EVENING, October 18.)

(Concluded.)
AN INNOVATION.

It was in 1903 that individual cups were first used in the administration of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, and while at first the innovation was not generally approved, we think all will now agree that it is a great improvement over the old method.

The Bi-centennial of the Birth of John Wesley was celebrated in 1903.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.

On Sunday 15th June, 1905 the celebrated English preacher and writer, Rev. Mark Guy Pearse preached in this church, many present will remember the occasion and the eloquent sermon which it was our privilege to hear.

On March 13th, 1906, the Rev. E. Ryerson Young, the devoted and consecrated missionary lectured on his work among the Indian tribes of North America. In the same year another visitor of note in the person of the Rev. Dr. Crosby visited St. John's and took part in our Missionary Anniversary. On November 14th an event of such importance as to call for special attention took place on the first Sunday in February, 1907, when sixty Sunday School Scholars went forward at the Sunday School session and gave themselves to the Lord. Mr. G. W. Gushue was Superintendent at the time. That there may soon be a repetition of an occasion so glorious we will all pray—and none more earnestly than the Superintendent and teachers of the present day.

In 1910 Mr. Herbert Booth, son of General Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, and well-known Evangelist conducted a successful campaign in this church.

CHURCH UNION.

In 1912 a ballot was taken in the Quarterly Official Board on the basis of Church Union, resulting in sixteen votes in favour and two against. A little later the vote of the members and adherents was taken after meeting had been called for discussion. I have no record of the vote, but it was largely in favour of union.

In 1912 Rev. Dr. Rogers our Pastor completed his 50th year in the ministry. On January 1st, 1913, the Official Board presented a clock to Mr. and Mrs. J. E. P. Peters on the occasion of their Golden Wedding.

REV. DR. ROGERS.

In 1913 the Rev. Dr. Rogers, who had just entered on his third year in the pastorate of the church, following a comparatively short illness was called to his reward. During the two years of his Ministry he had endeared himself not only to his own congregation and to the Methodist people generally, but to all classes of the community, and his passing was a source of profound and genuine sorrow. The subsequent removal of Mrs. and Miss Rogers from St. John's to Halifax was a distinct loss to the church. The great interest they showed in all departments of the church was inspiring, but particularly in connection with the Woman's Auxiliary Missionary Society, and the Sunday School was their work and influence felt.

FRESH AIR CAMP.

In 1914 the Rev. D. B. Hemmeon, B.A., assumed the Pastorate of this church, and for four years faithfully and acceptably ministered to the congregation. His pulpit utterances were always eloquent, scholarly and inspiring. During his pastorate a fresh air camp for the poor children of the congregation was opened and operated for three years, each child being given ten days at the camp, which proved to be a real boon and blessing to all the families concerned.

THE WAR.

The most eventful year of the 25 was that of 1914 when the world was plunged in war, and Gower Street Church, in common with all the other churches, was called on to part with its best and noblest young manhood, many of whom went out during that year and the years that followed to make the supreme sacrifice. Up to the present there is nothing on the walls of this church to show our appreciation of the debt we owe to these heroes and to honour their memory. But you will be pleased to know that in a short time a suitable memorial tablet in bronze will arrive from England and will be placed in this church. Further, for a long time the Board has discussed the plan of erecting a memorial building which would more fittingly honour our heroic dead, but owing to present financial conditions, the matter must be held in abeyance, but certainly not forgotten.

STANDARD BEARERS OF THE YEARS.

Not only the loss of its sons on the field of battle and on the high seas has this church been called to mourn. During the past twenty-five years many of its standard bearers have fallen by the way. I would recall the names of the late A. E. Shirran, Capt. Moss, Campbell Macpherson, T. M. Simpson, J. E. P. Peters, Capt. L. Diamond, James MacIntyre, Alex. Scott, J. W. Nichols and Captain Eric Ayre. Among the noble women who worked so faithfully and unselfishly for this church we must think of Mrs. S. R. March, Mrs. R. K. Bishop, Mrs. Macpherson, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Diamond and Mrs. Fenwick. These all died in faith, leaving us an example that we should follow in their steps.

How gladly would they be with us to-day. May we not think of them as present in spirit?

TEMPERANCE.

The great Temperance Campaign fought and won in 1815 is something in which this church did its part, and of which we are proud, although the lack of enforcement of the act as it stands upon our statute books is something of which as a people we may well be ashamed.

CENTENNIAL OF METHODISM.

An event of more than ordinary interest took place in 1915 when the Centennial of Methodism in St. John's was celebrated. On Sunday, June 20, in all the Methodist Churches of the city appropriate sermons were preached, morning and evening, by the Rev. F. R. Matthews, B.A., President of the Conference, Rev. T. B. Darby, M.A., Rev. James Pincock and Rev. Edwin Moore. Mass meetings of the Sunday Schools were held in the afternoon at Gower Street and George Street where addresses especially adapted for the young were given. At Gower Street Hon. H. J. B. Woods presided, while Rev. F. R. Matthews and Rev. Edwin Moore addressed the meeting. At George St. Mr. A. W. Martin presided and the speakers were Revs. J. Pincock and T. B. Darby, M.A. On Monday night the crowning service of the Centenary was held at Gower Street Church, which was filled to capacity. At 7 p.m. His Excellency Sir W. B. Davidson and Capt. Goodridge, A.D.C. arrived and were met by the Church officials. Miss Horwood presided at the organ, and began the service with a fine organ prelude, followed by responsive readings led by the President, the Doxology and invocation, then came the hymn "When Israel of the Lord Beloved," followed by the reading of the Scripture by Dr. Fenwick and prayer by the Rev. D. B. Hemmeon, B.A., Pastor of the Church. The singing of Jackson's "Te Deum" by the united choir of the four churches accompanied by Mr. Arthur Mews, organist of Cochrane Street Church (who had trained the joint choirs) was magnificent. Miss Horwood next played "O God of Bethel," in which the whole congregation joined most heartily. Rev. F. R. Matthews, President who presided then introduced the speaker of the evening, the Rev. Geo. J. Bond, B.A., LL.D., who delivered a soul stirring and masterly oration.

TABLET UNVEILED.

The President of the Conference next invited His Excellency the Governor to unveil the Brass Mural Tablet, which had been placed on the right of the pulpit in honour of the occasion. Referring to the patriotic strains of the oration, he mentioned that on the authority of Sir Robert Perks of London, no less than 750,000 of John Methodists are now serving at the front or training to go there. His Excellency expressed himself as being warmly in sympathy with the Centenary Celebration, but after listening to the magnificent oration just delivered, was at a loss to speak lest he should detract in the least from its dignity of power. He paid a high tribute to the genius and labours of Wesley, and of the grand men who had so worthily extended his work in Newfoundland. Without being invidious he might mention John Pickavant, George Cubbit, Samuel W. Sprague and William Wilson of early days, and would add two in our day whom it had been his privilege to know, viz.—the eloquent Dr. Rogers and the honoured Dr. Cowperthwaite, who happily survived. In closing he spoke of the splendid response made in Newfoundland to the call for men and money for the war. He then stepped aside and drew the curtains over the brass tablet, and read the inscription thereon aloud, as follows:—

This Tablet Commemorates The

Founding of the Methodist Church in the City of St. John's in the year 1815. By the REV. JOHN PICKAVANT, of Lancashire, England. And honours the memory of those faithful missionaries, who, with him, have profoundly influenced the religious life of Newfoundland. Erected in connection with a Centenary Celebration in this Church in the year 1915.

The Centenary Celebration was brought to a close by the singing of "God Bless Our Native Land," the National Anthem, the pronouncing of the Benediction by Rev. Dr. Morton, a former pastor of the Church, and the playing of an organ postlude by Mr. Gordon Christian, L.R.A.M., Organist of George Street Church.

GOWNS AND SCOUTS.

The year 1915 saw the gowned choir and the new Methodist Hymn Book simultaneously introduced in connection with our Sunday worship. The formation of the Boy Scouts by our Pastor, Rev. Mr. Forbes in 1915 is a movement which I think we all appreciate. It is of immense value to the young lads of the congregation both physically and morally and will bind them closer to the church.

MRS. DEMAREST AND WHITE GIFTS.

The Evangelistic Campaign of Mrs. Booth Clibborn Demarest was a notable feature of 1919, and her splendid and successful services in this church will not soon be forgotten.

The "White Gift Service" with its offerings of self substance and service was introduced by our pastor two years ago, and has proved to be of great material assistance to the poor of this church, and of spiritual uplift to all who participate in it.

GIRLS' CLUB.

The Girls' Club, which was formed with Mrs. George Peters as President, presented its first annual report in 1919, which was very much appreciated and the information given in reference to its four standards of work, viz: Physical, Intellectual, Religious and Service was most encouraging and inspiring. The Club is still actively at work under the leadership of Mrs. J. S. Currie.

A HAPPY AUGURY.

I will close with one glimpse at an important event affecting the Parsonage which took place in Scotland in 1920. I refer to the marriage of Rev. E. W. Forbes, Pastor of this church. Taking advantage of a well earned holiday, ostensibly on Boy Scout business he slipped across the Herring Pond to Scotland and made a raid on the Presbyterian fold and took unto himself a wife. The Presbyterian loss in this instance is a gain for the Methodists. Some might call it a case of proselytizing, but rather let us see in it a consummation of Church Union, and hope that it foreshadows the larger union for which we wait so hopefully.

REV. CARL GARLAND.

In closing this report let me say how greatly the Official Board appreciates the splendid services rendered us in our public celebrations by our distinguished visitor and fellow countryman, the Rev. Carl N. Garland. We will not soon forget his eloquent and soul stirring sermons of Sunday and the magnificent lecture Wednesday. We gratefully thank him for what we have already received and in anticipation of what he is yet to give us.

Household Notes.

When you store bulbs in the cellar moist them with cardboard labels dipped in paraffin.

The flavor of mushrooms is very delicate and can easily be spoiled by putting flour in the gravy.

If cocoa is beaten with a Dover egg beater just before serving, scum will not form on the cups.

The envelopes which have transparent name-space make excellent holders for buttons and tape.

Boast a roasting ham with a few tablespoonsful of grape juice. This will give it a delicious flavor.

Stick a bit of adhesive plaster on the bottom of each rubber and you will not slip on icy pavements.

In very cold weather the canary's bath should be slightly warm. Be sure that he is not in a draught.

If you wish to use the baby's tummy and throat, put a drop of honey on his chin and tell him to lick it off.

Old velvet piano covers make excellent round sofa pillows, shift the edges, gathering the velvet to the center.

When cleaning radiators lay damp cloths over the tops of them so that the dust will stick there and not fly.

With your list you must enclose that part of a Lantic Sugar package which bears a red ball showing the words Lantic Sugar.

Save up all the red balls on Lantic Sugar packages. They will count in another competition which we shall have after this one is completed.

Look out for our advertisements each week and read them for your mother.

Colin Campbell, Limited., Distributors of Lantic Sugar.

Household Notes.
Fill left-overs with a flavored, sweetened gelatine in which cream and milk are used instead of water. Chill.

Corn for popping should be drenched with water before it is placed over the coals. Then every grain will pop.

If you dislike the bitter taste of candied grapefruit peel, soak the skin for 2 hours in cold water, before using.

Cocoa often tastes raw because the cocoa, sugar and water have not been cooked together before adding the milk.

To make "Teapot Tea," put two teaspoonfuls tea in cheesecloth, or place it in a teaball. Put in a scalded pot, and pour over it 2 cups of boiling water. Allow it to steep for 5 minutes, then remove tea bag, and serve immediately.

Baked ham cutlet is appetizing. Place slice of ham in baking dish and cover with thinly sliced apples. Mix together 1 cup water, 3 tablespoon flour and 1 tablespoon vinegar, and pour over ham. Bake and serve in a border of seasoned potatoes.

Mix together 5 tablespoon brown sugar, 1 cup chopped nut, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking-soda, 3 table-spoons molasses, 2 cups flour and 1 cup sour milk. Then add 1/2 cup chopped nuts, 1 cup chopped dates and pinch of nutmeg. Bake in a greased mold and serve with vanilla sauce.

Young Woman Attacked

CULPRIT AWAITING TRIAL
A hideous deed was perpetrated upon a young woman of Corner Brook while on her way from there to Curling last Tuesday evening. At Crow Gulch she was met by a young man and maltreated. Her cries aroused the attention of her brother and sister who were also on their way to Curling by motor boat. Upon coming to the shore they found their sister lying in a prostrate condition on the shore. The matter was reported to the police, and as a result a young man named Pico was arrested and now awaits trial at the jail...
