PLANNED TO KILL MRS. FITZEL. The Woman Tells How Holmes Plotted Against Her Life.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Mrs. B. F. Pitzel said yesterday that Holmes had given her a number of dresses, two or three pairs of shoes, and one or two hats, with the understanding that they had one belonged to his cousin, Minnie Williams, who, he said, had gone east to live and did not need them.

She also told a detailed story of her narrow escape from death by a dynamite plot which Holmes had fixed up for her on the long chase which followed Mrs. Pitzel in the vain hope of meeting her husband.

The last point they reached in their chase was Burlington, Vt. There Holmes engaged rooms for Mrs. Pitzel at No. 22 Winooski-avenue, and there, she says, he planned a murder more diabolical than anything she had ever known.

He had hardly been in the house a day before he expressed a desire to see the basement for some alleged trivial purpose, and secured a lamp and had begun to grow suspicious of Holmes' mysterious actions, and determined to get to the bottom of what he was doing.

She found him working with his coat off. He had torn up the flooring and was digging in the soft black earth with some tool he had found in the cellar. When he saw Mrs. Pitzel he appeared disconcerted. He told her he was digging a hole to bury a box of dynamite.

A few days afterwards Holmes suddenly started for Boston on the steam train. Mrs. Pitzel followed him. In Boston the detectives finally ran him down, and almost the first he told her if she would look in a certain place under the flooring in the cellar he would find a bottle of nitro-glycerine.

Mrs. Pitzel afterwards related the incident to Mr. Ferry of the Fidelity Insurance Company, and he had De- tective Lawrence and Inspector Griggs. The detective found the nitro-glycerine and the place where Holmes had been working.

CATS AND DIPHERIA.

Evidence That the Animals May Spread the Infection. We have had the evidence, and the iron age, and various other ages, but the present will probably be known as the wooden or paper age. Paper covers the material manufacturing as silk is the latest invention in the paper line. This paper silk does not wear so well as the real fabric, but think how much cheaper it will be!

Enthusiastic paper manufacturers will find the new paper will be an indestructible paper affair, impervious to fire and water. Over in Paris any enterprising milliner will be able to show you stylish bonnets and trimming, ornaments and all the paraphernalia of paper, do not seem to have been thought of yet, but sachets and trunks of paper are common enough. The paper trunk, which is the latest smash, is the despair of the baggage smasher. It refuses to smash.

So do paper car wheels. They have been in use for years on some of the most prominent railroads in this country. It must not be supposed that the wheels are made entirely of paper. The railroad train of the future is likely not only to have paper wheels, but to run on paper rails. These are made entirely of paper, and are formed in moulds under great pressure. They have been used to some extent in Russia and Germany and are said to be free from many of the defects of the ordinary steel rail.

Paper horsehoes are another European invention. Among the advantages claimed for them is that they maintain a rough surface, enabling the horse to get a good grip on the smooth pavements. German paper-makers have put on the market a substance called "paper scotch" which is used instead of clay for modelling. It is simply paper pulp kept soft enough to be worked.

Paper mache ceilings and wall decorations are very fashionable. They may look like leather or brocade, or a thousand and one handsome embossed effects, but they are wood pulp just the same. The housefurnishing departments in the big shops furnish interesting evidence of the extent to which paper enters into ordinary life. Paper pills and tubs are appreciated by the suburban dweller who hasn't "see" tubs. They are much lighter and easier to keep clean, and as cheaper than the old style. Water coolers are made of paper. So is the much-abused cushion.

Peach-baskets, berry baskets, and butter boxes are made of paper and almost everything under the sun, which used to come in paper, blue and white bags, oatmeal, crackers, ice cream, candy, shoes, corsets, dresses—is sent home in a paper box. In Japan, they say, some of the paper boats are in use. Nor must the necessary sewer pipe be forgotten. Paper pipes for carrying water, steam, or electricity are not uncommon. As conduits for electricity they are considered safe, even though the wire be not insulated.—New York World.

The Origin of "Scooner." How many of you know the queer origin of the word "scooner," that it was originally written "sooner," and that it derived its name as follows: It seems that the first vessel of this kind was built at Gloucester, Mass., by one Capt. Robinson, and that when it was launched, one of the bystanders cried: "O, how she scoons!" "A scooner, let her be," answered Capt. Robinson, and a "scooner" she was called. The name took in the letter "h" and became "schooner."

The use of the word "scooner" is explained by the early New England sense of skipping along the surface of the water, as a flat stone does when thrown from the hand. The Scottish "scoon" means the same thing.—Philadelphia Times.

Had La Grippe.—Mr. A. Nickerson, Farmer, Dutton, writes: "Last winter I had La Grippe and it left me with a severe pain in the small of my back and hip that would not leave me when I tried to climb a fence. This lasted for about two months. When I got a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, and used it both internally and externally, morning and evening, for a few days, the latter portion of which time I was completely cured."

Not Her Child. London, Aug. 7.—The special jury in the case of Salisbury against Rawson involving the question whether the baby in the case is the child of the late George Henry Salisbury and its consequent right to inherit the estate of its putative father, this afternoon found that the baby was not the child of Mrs. Salisbury, though the latter persisted in her claim that it was.

Have you tried Holloway's corn cure? It has no equal for removing these troublesome excruciating corns, as many have testified who have tried it.
