

TWENTY-FIRST YEAR

CANADA SHEDS HER BLOOD ON THE FIELD OF BATTLE TO UPHOLD THE INTEGRITY OF QUEEN VICTORIA'S EMPIRE!

Nineteen of the First Canadian Contingent Were Killed and Sixty-One Were Wounded in a Fierce Fight With Gen. Cronje's Army on Sunday Last--Two Others Missing.

THINGS LOOKING GLOOMY AGAIN IN SOUTH AFRICA. THEY DIED FOR THE EMPIRE. TORONTO WAS SHOCKED BY THE MOURNFUL NEWS.

Strange That Lord Roberts Sends Casualties, But Gives Out Nothing as to the Results of the Fighting.

Has Cronje Been Able to Beat Off His Pursuers and Get Reinforcements?—Boers Are Leaving Natal—The War Situation.

London, Feb. 22.—(4 a.m.)—Lord Roberts' list of 49 killed and wounded officers, including two generals, in the engagements up to Sunday evening, caused anxiety, especially as in the officers' list neither the losses of the Welsh and Essex Regiments nor those of the mounted infantry are included. This is about the number that fell at Colenso, where the top-commissioned officers and men brought the total to 800. It is considered strange that, when sending his casualties, Lord Roberts gives no information as to the results of the fighting. If he has sent such a report, the War Office is withholding it.

Moreover, nothing is known as to what took place Monday, Tuesday and yesterday. This absence of details from Lord Roberts' despatch, contrasted with his rather full narratives during the first part of his operations, produces uneasiness among military observers. All comment in the morning newspapers, both editorial and critical, is threaded with the disturbing suggestion that, despite hard fighting, Gen. Cronje has been able to beat off his pursuers, has escaped and is being reinforced by rail from Ladysmith and by forces on foot and horseback from Northern Cape Colony, as well as the late beleaguers of Kimberley. All is Silence.

As the correspondents with Lord Roberts are silent, the telegrams from Boer sources receive some countenance. The latter assert that Gen. Cronje, while the British were endeavoring to surround him, between Paardeberg and Koodoosand, received reinforcements under Dewett, and that together with the Boer commanders fought the British to a standstill.

War Office Must Speak. However this may be, public opinion here will not be reassured until the War Office issues explicit statements of success, which, of course, would clear away the gathering doubts respecting the uninterrupted success of Lord Roberts' forward movement. No one doubts his ultimate success, but there is a fear of temporary disappointment, and that a lot of hard fighting is yet ahead of the British.

Ladysmith's Relief. The latest report regarding Gen. Buller, circulated in the House of Commons last night was that an agent of the De Beers Company had received a cablegram from Cape Town which must have passed the censor to the effect that Gen. Barton's Frontier Brigade has reached the hills commanding Ladysmith. Quite apart from this, however, and from every rumor, the early relief of the beleaguered garrison is thought inevitable.

CANADIANS KILLED IN BATTLE. Nineteen Were Killed, 61 Wounded and Two Are Missing after the Fighting on Sunday.

The first news of the fight in which the following casualties occurred reached Toronto yesterday from Mr. Frederick Hamilton at Modder River. His despatch was dated Tuesday, and read: "The Canadian contingent participated in Sunday's battle. We formed the Modder River after a night march, and were engaged the whole day."

LORD ROBERTS' BULLETIN.

LONDON, Feb. 21, 5:47 p. m.—The following despatch has been received at the War Office from Lord Roberts: "PAARDEBERG, Tuesday, Feb. 20.—Between Feb. 16 and Feb. 18 Major-General Knox was wounded, Major-General Hector Macdonald severely wounded and Lieutenant Aldworth was killed.

"Other officers killed were Captains Wardlaw and Newbury of the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry and Lieutenants McLure of the Seaforth Highlanders, Courtenay of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders; Siordet and Neave of the Yorkshire Regiment and Bright and Ball-Acton of the Oxford Light Infantry."

Then follows a list of wounded officers, including Col. Bowles of the Yorkshire Regiment, Col. Carthew-Yorston of the Black Watch (Royal Highlanders), and Captain H. M. Arnold (dangerously), and Lieut. J. C. Mason (slightly), both of the Canadians.

In the Highland Brigade 16 officers were wounded, including General Hector Macdonald, Major the Hon. H. E. Maxwell of the Black Watch (Royal Highlanders), brother of Lord Farnham, and Lieut. Akers-Douglas of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, son of the Right Hon. Aretas Akers-Douglas, First Commissioner of Works.

The War Office adds that no details of the fighting have yet been received.

These casualties occurred in fighting near Paardeberg.

THIS MUST HAVE BEEN THE FIGHT. Boer Story of the British Attack Near Scholtz Nek, Where Imperial Losses Were Heavy.

Pretoria, Monday, Feb. 19.—A portion of an official report from Gen. Cronje, dated Sunday, Feb. 18, has been given out as follows: "Yesterday morning, about 6 o'clock, while removing the larger near Scholtz Nek, we were attacked by the British. The fight lasted until 7:30 in the evening. Although on the whole the British were driven back, they each time removed the attack. The loss to the British must have been considerable. Thus far the Boer loss has been eight killed and twelve wounded. This morning the British shelled us with cannon. Chief-Commandant Ferreira's force was too small to stop the cavalry from entering Kimberley."

WILKINSON ROASTS BULLER For Allowing the Boers to Retreat From Natal and Fight Lord Roberts.

London, Feb. 22.—Mr. Spencer Wilkinson, reviewing the military situation in The Morning Post, says: "Sir Redvers Buller can hardly be expected to follow up the Boer army to on thru the passes, but it is rather surprising that he should have allowed the Boers to make good their retreat from Natal without a desperate effort either to hold them fast or to convert their retreat into a rout. The net result will be the addition in a week's time of from 15,000 to 20,000 men to the Boer army confronting Lord Roberts."

The latter probably has 20,000 men available at Paardeberg. "A prolonged fight from Friday to Monday seems to argue something like a balance between Gen. Cronje's and Lord Roberts' forces. The question, therefore, is which side is able to get the largest immediate reinforcements? The most substantial reinforcement is the addition of a few battalions of the Cape Mounted Infantry, which will be available in a few days."

Flags All Over the City Were Hung at Half-Mast Out of Respect for the Brave Men Who Fell in Battle.

Brief Sketches of the Dead and Wounded—How the News Was Received in Ottawa, Montreal, London, and in the West.

Not since the Northwest rebellion of 1885, has such a blow fallen upon the Dominion as that which dashed from South Africa yesterday. The expected has happened. The Canadians met the enemy in battle, and did not escape scathless. In Empire's victories are dearly purchased. To-day a nation mourns and a nation honors the memory of brave men. The third act in the grim tragedy of war has yet to be enacted. The first, the call to arms; the second, the raging battle; the third, the silent shaft of granite commemorating to future generations imperishable deeds of valor. Thus is history made. Well did the poet say, "The paths of glory lead but to the grave."

The news, unconfirmed, of the relief of Ladysmith, joyous as it was, paled into insignificance before the grim tidings that Canada's sons were among the slain in Sunday's engagement. The news was received in the city with universal expressions of sympathy. Many flags were flown at half-mast, and otherwise there was evidence that the sympathies of Torontonians were at the front.

Mr. Tupper's remarks were warmly received by the House.

There is no more beautiful china for decorative purposes than the Royal Copenhagen porcelain, the best work there is no blue so lovely as the Copenhagen blue, and no blue more difficult to describe: it must be seen to be appreciated.

Hands may be kept nice even if much housework has to be done. Gloves should be worn whenever possible, but it is a mistake to take to use a thick clumsy kind under the impression that extra thickness gives extra protection.

The distant boom of cannon rolled dully 'v'er the veldt; The heavy mist of powder on the sunburst grass still dwelt; For there had been an onslaught, which now had passed away, A charge that left behind it, in the twilight, cold and grey, A hundred hearts not heaving, for they had gone above, A thousand sorely wounded for the cause that heroes love.

THE WAR EAGLE MEETING.

Shareholders Met Yesterday and Heard Hopeful Statements About Future of Mine.

VERY POOR FINANCIAL SHOWING

Doubted the Expediency of Working the Property With Broken Machinery.

Contrary to expectations the adjourned annual meeting of the War Eagle Mining Co. held yesterday, passed off harmoniously. The head office chambers on Wellington street were crowded with shareholders, including many of the most prominent men of the city.

A good piece of the information laid before the meeting was found in a special report on the mine recently made by an American expert acting in behalf of several large independent stockholders.

On the other hand, when questioned the directors would make no statement as to the time when dividends would be resumed.

Mine Has Not "Petered Out."

Mr. Blackstock submitted reports on behalf of the directors, and all were adopted in silence.

Mr. Darwinington, in referring to the low grade ores, said further: "The 200-foot level has so far produced more than the average quantity of low grade ore preventing its economical production on this level that will make the grade of the level much above the average, if it can be treated more effectively."

Mr. Kirby on the Mine.

Mr. Edmund B. Kirby, the manager of the mine, in a report dated Feb. 1, states that almost the entire production of the War Eagle mine has been derived from its main vein, which is from 300 to 400 feet to the sixth level, and has now been explored to a depth of 735 feet.

Mr. Darwinington's report.

New Machinery Coming.

Mr. Kirby has from the first considered that good economies were possible and advisable in the operating of the mine, and on the 2nd of February instant he advised the directors that it was necessary to close down the mines temporarily, as it was impossible to accomplish the result desired while maintaining shipments and development under the unsatisfactory conditions then existing.

Mr. Darwinington's Report.

have been circulated to the effect that the War Eagle mine has been worked out, and that the closing down is simply a blind to hide this fact, the directors submit extracts from an independent report made by the eminent American mining engineer, on behalf of certain large shareholders, and also from the report of Mr. J. B. Hastings, the company's local director, and consulting engineer, made on the 10th November last.

The 750-foot level (the lowest opened so far) has shown increased values over all intermediate levels up to the 250-foot level. The average for the month of December last, when ore from this level predominated in the shipments, was $13.64 net for the whole lot, which means probably $20 per ton for the whole of the large ore body (on this level). This 750-foot level, considering its size and value, is a very encouraging feature of the ore body. The ore body is 20 feet in place, and the grade the highest, since the 250-foot level, a spur of the vein was discovered extending along the foot wall from the portion of the ore, and carrying good width of value from the top level.

Profit and Loss.

The following is the profit and loss statement for the year ending Sept. 30, 1899: To cost of mining and developing $271,038.70 To Crown Point mine expenses 734.00 To Richmond Group expense 682.70 To general expenses 1,284.40 To legal expenses 4,238.13 To tender damage 1,180.83 To mine accidents 3,231.56 To sundry expense 1,842.47 $284,238.62

By balance brought forward $821,509.39 By net proceeds from ore sales 518,870.31 By net proceeds from other sales 518,870.31 By transfer fees 643.25 $1,860,893.26

By balance carried forward $1,860,893.26

ANGIER'S PETROLEUM EMULSION

The medical profession particularly good results from the use of our specially purified Petroleum in relieving the obstinate cough of influenza. Nothing could possibly be more helpful in such cases. When the throat and lungs become badly inflamed soothes and heals, and prevents the formation of chronic lung tissue. "We don't claim to have a "cure-all," but results such as this do their own talking :
