JEROME MAY INDICT OWNER OF EQUITABLE.

Thomas F. Ryan Refused to Answer Questions at Insurance Investigation—Chairman Asks That Proceedings Be Instituted.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—The legislative committee which is investigating life insurance conditions today determined to send to District Attorney Jerome a request that he institute proceedings against Thomas F. Ryan, financier for the Equitable Life Insurance Society, to punish Mr. Ryan for refusing to answer questions before the committee. He had refused to answer when asked what H. R. Harriman, president of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroad companies, had said to him when Mr. Harriman tried to induce him to share his control of the Equitable Society with Mr. Harriman. Mr. Ryan was asked whether Mr. Harriman had threatened proceedings against him unless Mr. Ryan consented to share his stock with him. Acting on the advice of his attorney, Paul D. Cravath, Mr. Ryan declined to answer those questions, although Senator Wm. Armstrong, chairman of the committee, directed him to do so. Mr. Ryan, however, did answer one question by saying that Mr. Harriman did not tell him that there would be a legislative investigation of life insurance business unless he gave up his stock. Mr. Ryan had already testified that he secured control of the Equitable Society by paying James H. Hyde $250,000 for 500 shares of the total 1,000 shares of the society.

Answering Mr. Hughes' request to Mr. Ryan as to what Harriman said, Mr. Ryan said that Mr. Ryan could testify freely as to facts, but that he was not required to state what Mr. Ryan intended to do in private conversation. In reply to further questions bearing on this subject, Mr. Ryan said the relations between Mr. Harriman and himself were quite strained for several days, and that the upshot of several interviews between the two men was that Mr. Ryan told Mr. Harriman that he intended to carry out his original plan, regardless of what he or anyone else might do.

The witness again declined to answer when he was asked whether Mr. Harriman offered to put any share that he might get into the trust which was afterward created by Mr. Ryan. Neither Mr. Hughes nor the members of the committee insisted any further upon answers on this subject, but asked Mr. Ryan about other matters. Later in the day, however, Senator Armstrong made an announcement that the committee had determined to transmit a certified copy of Mr. Ryan's testimony to District Attorney Jerome, with a request that proceedings be instituted by him to punish Mr. Ryan for refusing to answer the questions.

"This course is rendered necessary," said Senator Armstrong, "by reason of the fact that the committee has no summary power to punish for contempt of court while the legislature is not in session."

Counsel for Mr. Ryan gave out a statement tonight in which they stated that if the committee has directed to refer the matter to the district attorney there should be no difficulty in securing a ruling as to whether or not Mr. Ryan is compelled to answer the questions.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—An additional list of the honours usually conferred on the retirement of a government was issued tonight. It included a number of former cabinet ministers and members of the house of commons whose political services are recognized. The press is honored in the person of Sir Alfred Charles Harcourt, proprietor of many English journals, who is created a viscount. Sir Michael Hicks-Benich, former chancellor of the exchequer, and Baron Tregear also are made viscounts. Among the new barons are C. T. Ritchie, who was chancellor of the exchequer in the early part of the Balfour administration; Sir W. H. Lauriston; Sir Henry Meysse-Thompson, M. P.; Edmund Breckett, Faber, M. P.; and William H. Grenfell, M. P. These entitled to membership in the privy council include Sir Edward Henry Carson, the retiring solicitor general; C. W. Cavendish, M. P.; Sir Charles Daley, M. P.; and Lt. Col. Richard Markitchew, M. P. Eleven members in the house of commons received baronetcies.

The Times this morning says that Sir Edward Grey will probably be secretary of foreign affairs in the Campbell-Bannerman cabinet, while the liberal imperialists except Lord Rosebery, will hold important offices. The Times believes that Sir Robert Thorneley will become lord high treasurer.

AWFUL CRIME OF ONTARIO FARMER.

Murdered Wife, Son and Daughter, Then Shot Himself—Business Troubles Had Driven Him Insane.

SHELburne, Ont., Dec. 8.—Word was received late last night of a terrible murder and suicide in the western part of Melancthon, about ten miles from here. James Coulter, a farmer, murdered his wife, daughter and son, and then shot himself.

It is supposed he murdered the boy in the barn first by striking him with an axe and then shot his wife and daughter and himself.

The town is shocked by the awful affair. Dr. Moore of Hornings Mills, who was called to the scene of the crime, is of the opinion that the murder was committed about 1 p. m. on Thursday. The wife and daughter were washing dishes at the time.

The daughter and son were alive when the doctor reached the home, but the daughter died shortly after, and the son died about 6 p. m.

They were both unconscious and unable to give any information. Dr. Moore, Dr. Rooster, coroner of Shelburne, and Crown Attorney McKay of Orangeville are going up to the Coulter home this afternoon.

It is evident that Coulter desired to destroy all evidence of his terrible work, for he had set the bed on fire before shooting himself. A neighbor passing by had his attention attracted by the smoke, and entering the house, found Coulter dead on the floor. The fire was extinguished and the ghastly deed disclosed. Coulter was a man who never touched liquor in his life, and was almost a temperance fanatic. He had a hot temper, which he frequently failed to control. His half-brother, who lives in the same neighborhood, can offer no reason for the crime except that he has been brooding over the sale of his farm and the purchase of another place. He desired to withdraw from the bargain, and had offered the purchaser one hundred dollars to break the bargain. He killed all the members of his family except his married daughter, who lives a short distance from the scene of the tragedy.

A WOMAN'S BACK IS THE MAINSPRING OF HER PHYSICAL SYSTEM.

The Slightest Backache, if Neglected, is Liable to Cause Years of Terrible Suffering.

No woman can be strong and healthy unless the kidneys are well, and regular in their action. When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to have filtered out of the blood are left in the system.

The female constitution is naturally more subject to kidney disease than a man's; and what is more, a woman's work is never done—her whole life is one continuous strain.

How many women have you heard say: "My back aches!" Do you know that backache is one of the first signs of kidney trouble? It is, and should be attended to immediately. Other symptoms are frequent thirst, scanty, thick, cloudy or highly colored urine, burning sensation when urinating, frequent urination, puffing under the eyes, swelling of the feet and ankles, beating of the heart, etc.

These symptoms if not taken in time and cured at once, will cause years of terrible kidney suffering. All these symptoms, and in fact, these diseases may be cured by the use of

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

They act directly on the kidneys, and make them strong and healthy. Mrs. Mary G. Galt, Auburn, N.B., writes: "For over four months I was troubled with backache and was unable to turn in bed without help. I was induced by a friend to try Doan's Kidney Pills. After using five thirds of a box my back was as well as ever." Price 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25 at all dealers, or sent direct on receipt of price. THE LATE WM. B. DUPLISSEA.

The funeral of William B. Duplissea, who was drowned in Eagle Lake Wednesday, will be held from his late residence in Westfield on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Coroner Ballentine was in the city yesterday and spoke feelingly of Mr. Duplissea's untimely death. He said that Mr. Duplissea was thought very highly of by all who knew him and that his death was a very much affected. The story of Mr. Duplissea's body being found with his arm around the dog was not correct, as the body of the dog was found floating.

DUTCHER CASE

REGALLED BY DEATH

OF HUGH GREEN

MONTGOMERY, Dec. 8.—Hugh Green, I. C. E. section man at Meadow Brook, died yesterday. Green was a brother of Mrs. Dutcher, who was murdered at Meadow Brook some years ago by being assaulted and afterwards burned to death in her home along with her son. Green was the man who rescued the little Dutcher girl from the burning building, and it was her story of the crime that resulted in the conviction of John Sullivan.

PAYMENT FOR M. P.

In view of the howl of indignation which has gone up from all parts of Canada over the losses of parliamentary indemnity and considering the number of times the denunciations of that measure have referred to the British system as a model, it is interesting to note that a strong movement will be made in the next British parliament to change that system and to establish a new one by which the members shall not only be paid a salary—or an indemnity, if you choose—but shall also have refunded to them by the country the necessary election expenses.

The rendering by legislators of valuable service to their country without money and without price is beautiful in theory; but like many beautiful things and persons, it fails to justify its good looks in the wear and tear of practical application. One of the chief results of the gratuitous service system in Great Britain has been to place the reins of government wholly in the hands of the moneyed class. A man who has not inherited wealth or who has not the faculty for making it, no matter what his genius may be along the lines of statecraft, is practically barred from public life. And this is largely to blame for the utter inability of the British Government to cope with, or seemingly to understand, the great poverty problem that is racking the Old Country today. The men who make the laws are out of tune, out of sympathy, out of touch with the great masses of the people who must live and die under these laws, because they are of another class, a class that knows not the pangs of hunger nor the horror of unemployment to a man with wife and children.

The cry for a change will come from the Labor representatives who are about the only members of parliament not independently rich and who are now maintained in public life by the organizations they represent. And from present indications these will be in a position to make their influence felt. About fifty Labor candidates will be in the field and it is not an extravagant estimate under present conditions, that thirty will be elected to form an independent autonomous group in the House. If this group can preserve its cohesion it will be no inconsiderable figure in an assembly of many factions such as the next parliament is certain to be; for it is doubtful if the straight Liberal majority will be large enough to keep the government in power without the support of some of these smaller parties whose goodwill can only be obtained by legislative concessions.

JAPANESE IMMIGRATION.

In spite of the opening of the Russo-Japanese war in opening up to the outstanding millions of Japan new lands for colonization the yellow peril still remains a very real thing for the people on the western coast of America who have already suffered much from the immigration of cheap labor from this country and who fear a greater flood. Premier McBride of British Columbia has been the voice of the province in its advocacy of some restriction, and recently, yielding to a strongly expressed sentiment in their State, the members of the California legislature in Congress have aligned themselves in support of a bill providing for the extension to Japanese and Koreans of the exclusion law now regulating Chinese immigration.

But the peril will have to take a shape much more definite to both Canada and the United States before either government can be induced to take action. No power is anxious today for a quarrel with the victors of Mukden and Port Arthur and the Sea of Japan and in the present elevated condition of Japanese sentiment it is certain that any such slight as the exclusion of their citizens from any country they might choose peacefully to visit would be hotly resented. Canada especially is barred from any such action by the Anglo-Japanese alliance. However, if the invasion reaches the extent where the living conditions of Canadian laborers must be lowered to meet the competition, it will certainly be the duty of the government to provide a remedy. Canadian workmen and the standard of living they have attained by long effort must be protected, whatever the cost.

NEW FERRY BOAT LAID OFF.

The air pump in the ferry steamer Ludlow gave out yesterday afternoon and passengers were given a wretched service as far as schedule time running is concerned. The boat was taken out of the route last night and moored at the McLeod wharf for repairs. A new air pump is being imported from Boston and will be put in. In the meantime one of the old boats is running on the route.

DAY BY DAY.

I heard a voice at evening softly say,
Bear not thy yesterday into to-morrow;
Nor load this week with last week's load of sorrow.
Lift all thy burdens as they come,
Nor try
To weight the present with the by and by,
One step and then another, take thy way—
Live day by day.

Though autumn leaves are withering
Round thy way,
Walk in the sunshine. It is all for thee.
Push straight ahead, as long as thou canst see,
Dread not the winter whither thou mayst go.
But, when it comes, be thankful for the snow.
Onward and upward. Look and smile and pray—
Live day by day.

The path before thee doth not lead astray.
Do thy next duty. It must surely be The Christ is in the one that's close to thee.
Onward still onward, with a sunny smile
Till step by step, shall end in mile by mile.
Till do my best, unto thy conscience say—
Live day by day.

Live day by day.
Why art thou wandering toward the backward way?
One summit and another thou shalt reach.
Why stop at every round the space to count?
The past mistakes if thou must still remember.
Watch not the ashes of the dying ember.
Kindle thy hope. Put all thy fears away.
Live day by day—

SATURDAY SERMONETTE.

WHAT UNCLE HIRAM SAID ABOUT FRENZIED LIFE INSURANCE.

I was reading the disclosures made by the recent investigations of certain life insurance companies when Uncle Hiram came in, and I very naturally asked him if his life was insured.

"No," said Uncle Hiram, "I got no life insurance; got a little fire insurance, though. The gent up to the meeting house coaxed me to take out a policy in his company, but the premium comes so high I'm tempted to give it up half the time. Had to give up drink in and cousin, an' I call that pretty expensive 'insurance'."

"But, Uncle Hiram," I said, "you ought to make some provision for your widow in case of death."

"Wal," said the old man, "as I never had any wife an' never expect to have any I ain't doin' any frettin' about my widder not bein' provided fur."

"But," I said, "if you had a few thousand coming to yourself from an endowment, it would keep you comfortable in your old age."

"I rather guess," said Uncle Hiram, "that a lot of fellows that ain't feelin' very comfortable in their old age, these days, they been puttin' all their savings in 'insurance, and now in their old age they're left without any savings and never had any fun spendin' their money."

"Who's goin' to 'sure the 'insurance companies'?" said the old man with a growl. "That's a company called the Royal—something or nother—that's pitched their ole men overboard in their ole age and their wives and children an' feelin' very comfortable, are they? An' some of them men jest had the hardest work to pay their calls, fur they kept callin' an' hollerin' louder an' louder all the time fur more money, fur their wives an' children, fur their name families to have more furs an' ornaments, I spose. I think that Royal George—whatever his other name was, must've belonged to King Herod's royal family. He'll kill about as many 'wimmin' children as his great-grandfather did."

"An' another great trouble to them frenzied 'insurance companies is you got to hang on; that ole electric wires, when you get hold of 'em they won't let you go."

I asked Uncle Hiram what he meant by frenzied insurance companies.

"Them companies that air like frenzied finance," I said.

"Oh!" I said, "frenzied finance."

"They air frenzied all right," said Uncle Hiram, "but the biggest assees are the men that go in to 'em an' come out the little end of the horn," said the old man.

"Oh, 'insurance is all right enuff if you know how, and don't think that the chestnut ole is the best."

"I think a man is a fool (an' worse) if he don't look after his family when he's dead. An' a girl is a bigger one that will marry a man what's too selfish to put sum good sold 'insurance on his ole wife an' the kids out of the poorhouse when he's havin' a good time up in heaven. I don't think they're heaven if I knowed my wife was in the poorhouse. 'Insurance is all right fur you fellows, but Uncle Sam's 'wimmin' children air bank stock. In's will hold my little savin's all right."

LONDON, Dec. 8. (P. M.)—A despatch to the Times from St. Petersburg dated yesterday and received here today by way of Bydgoszcz, East Prussia, says Premier Witte has given his resignation to the emperor, who refused to accept it.

ST. PETERSBURG, Thursday, Dec. 7 (evening) via Bydgoszcz, Dec. 8.—A much more optimistic feeling prevails in government circles at the prospect of a complete collapse of the postal telegraph strike, and the fact that all plans for a general strike seem very much complicated throughout the empire. The workmen's council and the railroad men's affiliated organizations this afternoon came to a final decision to reserve their strength for the great struggle projected for the middle of January. Without the support of allies with the means of $10,000 exalted and with sufficient and poverty stricken members returning to work, the leaders of the strikers' unions realize that they cannot hold out any longer. At the same time it is reported that their salaries will be increased by the addition of $2,500,000 for salaries to the budget. Not any of their political demands, however, have been granted. A period of comparative calm, lasting a few weeks may now supervene and both sides will use it in preparations for the January struggle. In a fortnight, heavy snows are likely to put an end to the reign of pillage, arson and murder in the country, and the bill will give the government a chance to do something tangible. The radical editors are already organizing a movement to defy the new press law even before it is issued. This law abolished the censorship in cities, but not in the country.

How Is Your Cold?

Every place you go you hear the same question asked.
Do you know that there is nothing so dangerous as a neglected cold?
Do you know that a neglected cold will turn into Chronic Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Disrupting Coughs and the most deadly of all the "Widespread" Diseases?
Many a life history would read differently if, on the first appearance of a cough, it had been remedied with

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

This wonderful cough and cold medicine contains all those very pine principles which make the pine woods so valuable in the treatment of lung affections.
Combined with this are Wild Cherry Bark and the soothing, healing and expectorant properties of other powerful herbs and barks.
For Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Pain in the Chest, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness or any affection of the throat or Lungs. You will find a sure cure in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.
Mrs. C. N. Loomer, Berkeley, Cal., writes: "I have used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for coughs and colds, and have always found it to give instant relief. I am recommending it to one of my neighbors and she was more than pleased with the results."
"Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup 25 cts. per bottle at all dealers. Put up in yellow wrapper, and three pine leaves the trade mark. Refuse substitutes. There is only one Norway Pine Syrup and that one is Dr. Wood's."

LEFURGEY, M. P., DEEDS INDEMNITY; MONCTON NEWS

(Special to the Star.)
MONCTON, DEC. 8.—A. A. Lefurgey, M. P. for Prince, P. E. Island, Moncton with his sister, Mrs. George McEwen, was interviewed by a Star correspondent in regard to the increased indemnity and pension legislation at last session. Mr. Lefurgey thinks the bill in regard to pensions should be repealed or amended so as to make it apply more particularly to those ministers of the Crown who have grown old in the service of the country. He does not think those who are still in active politics should be in a position to take advantage of this bill which was brought down so late in the session that opportunity was not given for careful consideration. In regard to the pensional indemnities Mr. Lefurgey says that while in some cases it may be an excessive allowance it is not too much for capable members who pay strict attention to their parliamentary duties and he does not think it will be repealed as to do so would place the members in a very awkward position.

BRITISH HAD HOT FIGHTING IN NIGERIA.

(Special to the Star.)
PLYMOUTH, Dec. 8.—Invalided home owing to wounds received during the recent severe fighting in Southern Nigeria, Lieutenant C. A. L. Irvine, King's Own Scottish Borderers, has arrived here. Lieutenant Irvine was with the escort accompanying the district commissioner, Mr. Davidson, on a tour, and when a day's march from Sapelo the expedition was ambushed near a large village. They got their Maxims to work with terrible results upon the enemy, who again and again attempted to push the machine gun. Finally after a hot rear-guard action they extricated themselves and retired to Sapelo.

THE KING OF SPAIN SUEW FOR $10,000.

(Special to the Star.)
MADRID, Dec. 8.—King Alfonso is the defendant in a suit for $10,000 brought by Senor Fernandez Dure, an amateur aeronaut.
The aeronaut holds the king responsible for damages done to his balloon. He alleges that King Alfonso was present at some balloon ascents at Madrid, and in walking around, came across Senor Dure's balloon, which was unattended.

The young king jumped into the car and began throwing out the ballast, with the idea of making an ascent on his own account.
An aide-de-camp, who saw the risk he was running, hurried just as the king was about to take to the air, and he pulled out a knife and ripped up the envelope, thus allowing the wind to place the members in a very awkward position.

The report that the Lurcher buoy at the entrance of the bay had drifted out of position has been ascertained by the marine department to be untrue. The mariner who gave the information that the buoy was adrift had confounded the Rockport, N. S. buoy with the Lurcher. This buoy had drifted all the way from Rockport to the Bay of Fundy. The Lurcher buoy has not been out of position for over twelve months. The Rockport guide will be replaced as soon as possible.

THE DESERTED SHIPYARD.

(The following was written after an interview with an old ship carpenter who moved from here in 1875 and returned on a visit recently.)
Once more I come to visit thee, My boyhood's happy home, After thirty years of absence Like an exile I did roam. Few are left to greet me Who were comrades in those days, When I swung the axe and mallet On the shores of Courtenay Bay.
While strolling round at leisure One summer afternoon, As near as I remember "Twas the twenty-first of June, My boyhood's happy home, After thirty years of absence Like an exile I did roam. Few are left to greet me Who were comrades in those days, When I swung the axe and mallet On the shores of Courtenay Bay.

It seemed to me as yesterday, When I was but a boy, And the day was set for launching, And my heart was filled with joy; How I helped to swell the cheering As the left the greasy way And tossed the rippling waters Into foam and drenching spray.
We built as stately vessels As ever sailed the sea, Many of them floating yet As sound as sound can be, Though some with crew and captain Have long since sunk to sleep On Atlantic's rocky bottom Ten thousand fathoms deep.
Now the boys have grown to manhood And the men have passed away And heads that were of raven hue Are thickly strewn with gray; We meet but meet as strangers, Who were playmates in those days, On the shores of Courtenay Bay.
My heart was sad and heavy, As I left that silent shore With fondlest recollections Of the days I'll see no more; For the master and his workmen Are now since laid away In that silent little churchyard On the banks of Courtenay Bay.

Gilbert's Arm Gave Out After Twenty Minutes Wrestling
Mike (Twin) Sullivan May Meet Joe Gans
The Neptunes to Retire From Hockey

WRESTLING
GILBERT'S ARM GAVE OUT AGAIN
MONCTON, N. B., Dec. 8.—Gilbert and Hardy wrestled here tonight before a fair crowd. Hardy was the aggressor all through and after wrestling for twenty minutes without either getting a fall, Gilbert announced that he had sprained his wrist and was unable to proceed longer. The crowd wanted them to continue, but doctors were called and decided that Gilbert was unable to wrestle longer. During the last round, Hardy got a blow in the eye, and when Gilbert failed to appear, Hardy became somewhat excited and wanted to box the Yankee. The sympathy of the crowd appeared to be with Hardy.

HOCKEY
NEPTUNES RETIRE.

It is understood that the Neptunes have decided to retire from the city league and their resignation will likely be handed in at the meeting of the executive on Monday night. It is said that the rowing club take exception to the ruling out by the league of the Neptunes and Shafter, of Sackville and Moncton respectively, who are to be in the city during the winter. There are those who say that the Neptunes were to have had the former Sackville player on their team, and while the loss of this one particular player will not to a serious extent cripple them, they believe that these two players referred to, as long as they do not receive any remuneration for their services for playing, should be available.

Regarding the Neptunes' stand with regard to the players referred to, it must be said that their view is quite reasonable. No matter what might be thought regarding either one or both of the players receiving remuneration for playing hockey last year, there is no one up to the present time who is prepared to prove it, and it is certain that should either player here this winter they would not be paid to do so.

MONTEAL WANDERERS' EAST.
ERN TOUR.

From present indications the maritime provinces are to be visited this winter by one of the crack hockey teams of upper Canada, the Montreal Wanderers. The Amherst Daily News says:

"A. H. Lamy last night received a reply from the Montreal Wanderers with regard to terms for three games in the province. The Wanderers gave their figures, which are rather high, and Mr. Lamy has wired them the best figure that the Wanderers can give. The game will probably be made the 1st, 2nd and 3rd of January, and Halifax, Amherst and perhaps Truro and Moncton will be visited. If the Wanderers come, which seems highly probable, the Wanderers will likely be obliged to raise the price of admission for that night, as otherwise they will lose money in the matter."

It will be seen that at the present time only one New Brunswick town is contemplated in the proposed tour being arranged for the Montreal team. It is to be hoped that it will be possible for the visiting team to play here.

THE RING
ERN GOT THE DECISION.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 8.—Young Ern, of Philadelphia, tonight got the decision over Charley Neary in an eight round bout before the Milwaukee Boxing Club. The first five rounds were Ernie's. In the sixth round Ern drove his man to the ropes in a fierce mixup, and in the breakaway from a clinch sent Neary staggering to the ropes with right and left to the head. In this round Neary landed left on head and right on ribs, followed by two light ones to Ern's chin. In the seventh round Neary made Ern's head wobble with a hard right to the neck. In the last round Neary put several hard blows to the body, but was unable to land effectively. Ern delivered several uppercuts, followed by rights and lefts to Neary's head. Ern blocked two hard blows to the jaw just before the song sounded.

MIKE (TWIN) MAY FIGHT JOE GANS.
A match between Joe Gans and Mike (Twin) Sullivan is a possibility at San Francisco in January. A battle between the fast Cambridge boy and the lightweight champion would do more to straighten out the lightweight championship muddle than any other that could be arranged.

While Battling Nelson is quite generally recognized as the real champion, his title is not altogether flawless. Gans is the holder, although because it is admitted to be impossible for him to reach the class limit of 133 pounds, it is an empty honor.

Gans met Britt, and the bout was alleged to be at 133 pounds. The men weighed in the ring, but there was evidence of trickery. Britt beat Gans three to one, and then lost on a foul—a crooked battle most of the coast sports thought.

But Britt outpointed Gans so far that there remained no question of his superiority and gave the Californian the championship in the minds of nearly everybody. And then along came Battling Nelson, and by knocking out Britt in eighteen rounds proved himself to be the greatest real lightweight in the ring.

Now looms large on the pugilistic horizon Mike (Twin) Sullivan, a boxer well enough known in New England, who dreamed of a possible rival of the fighting Dane until he outpointed Joe Gans, of Baltimore, and was given the title of champion of the world by Jimmy Gardner, of Lowell, who is the one boxer whom Battling Nelson respects.

Sullivan will surely beat Gans if he meets him in January. It matters not but the fact is that he is a possible rival of the fighting Dane until he outpointed Joe Gans, of Baltimore, and was given the title of champion of the world by Jimmy Gardner, of Lowell, who is the one boxer whom Battling Nelson respects.

LEWIS MUCH CLEVERER THAN ARTHUR COTE.
Before a sparsely filled house at the Washington Sporting Club, in Philadelphia, Harry Lewis, of Philadelphia, clearly proved his superiority over Arthur Cote, of Bideford, Lewis had all of nature's advantages, height, weight and reach in his favor and used all of them to good advantage. He also was the cleverer of the two and four rounds brought into play all the cleverness at his command and had Cote all at sea. Lewis landed with such regularity with his left that a boxer of ordinary make up would have been discouraged, but Cote is something out of the ordinary, and kept coming, regardless of the punishment being dealt out.

In the second round Lewis assailed Cote with a straight right that landed flush on the Canuck's jaw and dropped him to the mat, but he was up right away and had his head.

In the last two rounds Lewis assailed Cote with a straight right that landed flush on the Canuck's jaw and dropped him to the mat, but he was up right away and had his head.

MORE EVIDENCE HEARD AGAINST DR. PRESTON.

AFTERNOON SESSION.
The court room was again crowded at the afternoon session, showing the great interest that is being taken in the case. The crowd remained with few exceptions until the close of the proceedings for the day.

Dr. Preston looked rather careworn as he took his seat, but was composed, and at various stages in the examination of the witnesses conversed with his counsel, Mr. Morrill.

There was an absence of legal quibbling. The collector general instructed the witnesses in relating the conversations which took place between the deceased and the witnesses not to repeat the names of any persons that were mentioned in connection with the case. There was nothing of a sensational nature in the evidence of the witnesses examined during the afternoon. Miss Maxwell said that the deceased had said that an instrument had been used on her, and Miss Muir said the deceased had told her she did not expect she would survive the operation. The witnesses examined at this session were Miss Maxwell, Miss Muir, Dr. G. A. B. Addy and Burpee Brown.

MISS EDITH MAXWELL.
Miss Edith Maxwell, Victorian nurse, was the first witness called after the court opened in the afternoon. "I assisted at an operation on Miss Edith Clarke on Nov. 19th, Dr. Roberts, Dr. Scammell, the deceased and her mother and father were present. Miss Clarke was in bed when I arrived. The operation was performed by Dr. Roberts.

"The operation is known as curettement. I saw the patient the following morning. Dr. Scammell and Dr. Roberts were also present. There was no conversation concerning her physical condition on Monday morning. On Tuesday Miss Clarke said she was not feeling very well and I had some further conversation with her."

B. L. Gerow objected to the question as to what was said on that occasion as to her illness. Mr. Morrill wanted the statements confined to her illness. He objected to any conversation that would in any way implicate Dr. Preston if he was not present.

Question was pressed. "I can scarcely give the conversation without mentioning names." "On Thursday morning I thought the patient was in a very serious condition, but I did not tell her so. I saw her on Wednesday and also on Thursday and Friday. Each day she was increasingly weak. I saw her again on Saturday morning and she seemed weaker than the day previously. On that day she did not speak except to ask for a drink. She never spoke to me about dying. I saw her on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday mornings of the week she died. I was not present at her death. The deceased was conscious on those three days. I kept a record of the patient's condition. I thought the patient had rallied the day after the operation, as compared with her condition before the operation took place. Considering the operation, I thought she was in a fairly good condition."

"Miss Clarke told me that she had taken medicine, and also that an instrument had been used on her. This was on Monday, and was said in the presence of Drs. Roberts and Scammell. I did not see her sign anything. She did not say what kind of medicine was used."

Mr. Morrill said if the conversation was confined to the word "had," in connection with the use of the instrument, he had no objection.

"I saw a young man at the house, between twenty-five and thirty years of age, on three different occasions. Once he was in the patient's room, and on the other occasions was in the kitchen. He was quite tall, very stout and dark, and clean shaven. He was there on the Tuesday after the operation. I do not know his name, and have never seen him since to my knowledge."

"I thought the patient was dangerous until when she made the statement that an instrument had been passed on her. At no time did the deceased say anything that would indicate her belief that she was going to die."

"Did you ever hear the doctors tell the patient she was in a very serious condition?"

The witness—"No, I did not."

"I gave the deceased a hypodermic of strychnine on three different occasions. I saw other medicine in her room."

Being shown a bottle the witness failed to identify it as the one she saw in Miss Clarke's room.

MISS MARY MUIR.
Miss Mary Muir was then sworn. I have practiced my profession in Scotland, Montreal, Toronto and St. John. I attended Edith Clarke on the occasion of the performance of an operation on her, on Sunday, the 19th. I knew there was a conversation taking place between Dr. Scammell, Dr. Roberts and Miss Clarke, but could not distinctly hear what was being said, except when I was in the sitting room. This was before the operation was performed. They seemed to be talking a long time. I did not see her sign any paper, but saw Dr. Scammell with a paper in his hand. I did not see him have it in her room. I knew there was writing on the paper."

On being shown the paper containing the statement signed by Dr. Scammell, the witness said the paper she saw in Dr. Scammell's hands was of a similar size.

"The operation performed on Miss Clarke was a curettement. In this case it was a serious operation, and occupied about half an hour."

"There was some badly decomposed placenta taken from the patient. The operation was a successful one."

"The patient said she felt very weak and did not expect to get through the operation. She also said she had been in that condition for several weeks. This conversation took place while I was preparing her for the operation, and after she had had the conversation with the doctors."

"What did you think of the patient's chances of coming through the operation?"

Dr. G. A. B. Addy.
Dr. G. A. B. Addy was then called. "I made a post-mortem examination of the remains of the late Edith Clarke on the Friday following her death. I was assisted by Dr. Scammell. The object of the examination was to ascertain the cause of death."

"Blood poisoning was the cause of death, in my opinion."

"The patient was poorly nourished. The abdomen was flat. The heart and the covering were normal. Both lungs were pale and collapsed, and there were adhesions in some places, due to localized inflammatory conditions. The upper lobe was much affected by tubercular nodules."

"This right lung was also considerably involved. There was a small abscess in the right apex."

"There was no evidence of inflammation in the pelvic cavity. The uterus was enlarged, soft, and patchy. The uterine cavity contained tissue in a state of decomposition."

"The blood poisoning was caused by decomposed tissue."

"It would be possible to use the instruments without leaving any marks of violence that would be noticeable after death."

"A woman might produce an abortion herself. It has been done."

"An ordinary layman might possibly accomplish this purpose without leaving traces of violence."

"There was not enough disease in the lungs to produce death."

"An unhealthy woman would not be so likely to survive such an operation as a healthy one."

"Large doses of quinine are sometimes used to produce the contraction desired in these cases. Ergot and ergotins are also used to produce the same result."

"I could not tell from the post-mortem examination when the miscarriage took place."

"The condition found in the lungs was not the result of blood poisoning. Death was due, in my opinion, to blood poisoning or a form of septicemia."

BURPEE BROWN.
Burpee Brown, druggist, was then sworn.

"I am a registered druggist, and have known Dr. Preston for about ten years. I have filled a good many prescriptions for him."

The witness was shown a prescription and said he had filled it, and identified the signature as that of Dr. Preston.

The prescription called for half an ounce of fluid extract of ergot, to be taken in doses of 30 drops in water. The prescription was dated the 13th of November and was filled the same day. The witness did not remember who brought the prescription to him.

The witness was shown a small bottle, and said he had seen it before. The number on the bottle corresponds to that on the prescription.

On being given the bottle, which was partly filled, the witness said the contents smelled like ergot and also resembled that drug.

"I have dispensed ergot for nearly all the physicians in the city."

"I think I have dispensed it for Dr. Preston before filling the prescription now in evidence."

The collector general reserved the right to recall the nurses and Dr. Addy if he wished.

Counsel for the defense did not cross-examine any of the witnesses. After Mr. Brown's examination was concluded an adjournment was made until ten o'clock this morning.

STEEL MAGNATE'S CAREER WRECKED BY ACTRESS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—The business career of 1905 has been one of the greatest of the year. It has been a year of steel magnates, of great corporations, of great wealth. It has been a year of steel magnates, of great corporations, of great wealth. It has been a year of steel magnates, of great corporations, of great wealth.

Corey is a protégé of Andrew Carnegie. He is worth about $10,000,000 and draws a salary of $100,000 a year. He is one of the new "steel millionaires," having risen from a laborer's job at $40 a month. His wife aided him greatly in his early days, both with her money and her work. A few years ago his name began to be mentioned with that of the actress. A week ago his wife left home and went west to procure a divorce.

Mabel Gilman disappeared from the stage a year or two ago. She is now in Paris studying singing under Jean DeResque.

It may seem odd that Corey's marital troubles will result in his business downfall, but it is a fact. Wall street is already discussing his successor, the man who is to rule the great steel corporation. Andrew Carnegie, the biggest steel stockholder, said today: "The whole thing is too sad to talk about."

Faith
You cannot be expected to have faith in Shiloh's Consumption Cure, the Lung Tonic, as a cure for Cough, Croup and all diseases of the air passages, if you have not tried it. We have faith in it, and we guarantee it. If it doesn't cure you, it costs you nothing. If it does it costs you 25c. That's fair. Try it to-day.

Shiloh has cured many thousands of the most obstinate cases, and we do not hesitate to say that it will cure any Cough, Croup, or Lung trouble. If we did not believe this we would not guarantee it. Shiloh has had an unbroken record of success for thirty years. It has stood every possible test without failure. Further is found in the many testimonials of those who have tried Shiloh and been cured. Miss Annie Taylor, Asper, Pa., writes: "I have a bottle of Shiloh's Consumption Cure and found it very beneficial. I have three children, and they had all been suffering from Cough and Lung trouble. I gave them all a bottle of Shiloh. We gave it to the children when they were in bed and they got all well. I am very grateful. I shall always keep it in the house."

ST. JOHN ST. SATURDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1905

WHAT ST. JOHN WOMEN WEAR AND ARE LIKELY TO WEAR.

OBSERVATIONS OF A WOMAN WHO FOLLOWS THE WORLD OF FASHION AT REASONABLY CLOSE RANGE.

By POLLY GADABO, U.T.

FROM THE SHOPPING STAND-POINT A FORTNIGHT FROM TO-NIGHT WILL BE CHRISTMAS EVE; then what a hustle there will be. Hundreds are doing their buying already, but the great bulk of business is yet to come. I see the same old St. John crowd in the stores—the elderly madam endeavoring to "match" a skin of herself with which she is making her friends bedroom slippers; the enthusiastic Miss fingering myriads of little ribbons, from which she will doubtless choose some dainty coloring to finish off a delft creation for Yuletide presentation; and the staid, deliberate mother, who sets about her shopping bright and early, so that her plans will not be frustrated by a crush of customers or the depletion of such lines of goods as she has in "her mind's eye."

A run around among the stores unfolds a wondrous tale of beautiful goods and no end of novelties. It seems as if the lovely things have sprung into being by the wave of a fairy's wand, or the pressing of a magic button. As this little chat is entirely devoted to the discussion of apparel it would be a breach of newspaper ethics to proceed with a long story about the fancy goods, etc., so I will have to offer a few terse suggestions only. Always remember that separate skirts, silk waists, knitted jackets, kid gloves, neckwear, scarfs and mufflers, dress lengths, costumes, fur, hats, silk undershirts, fine undersuits, etc., are staples when you are buying for the ladies.

AS THE SEASON ADVANCES THE CALL FOR A COAT LONGER THAN ITS PREDECESSOR OF LAST FALL BEcomes more and more pronounced.
While this is in direct contradiction to the views of many buyers and manufacturers, as expressed at the beginning of the season, a little study will show this call for longer coats is in keeping with the evolution of fashions, rather than with the desires of women generally. As a matter of fact, the long coat had had its day before the present season set in, and conditions were ripe for a change to the short jacket; women favored it, and it seemed that a revival of the shorter garments was surely at hand, when one overlooked factor upset all calculations.
The exceedingly light weight of the furs, which are so generally used, necessitated the retention of the long coat for at least one more season, and as women in general will insist on change, it became Hobson's choice, and coats are longer by six to eight inches.
At this time it appears certain that the longer lengths in coats will be retained until some heavier materials are used for skirts, and as there are no indications of a movement towards heavy skirtings, there is no likelihood of any falling off in the demand for full-length coats.

MANY AND MUTABLE ARE THE DESIGNS PRESENTED, AND A SO-LUTION OF THE FASHION QUES-TION does not seem to be any nearer than it was some six weeks ago. The tailor is adhering to one genre, the dressmaker to another and the ready-to-wear trade is closely copying both.
At the beginning of the season a reign of brilliant coloring was confidently predicted, and many things combined to carry out the prophecy. Now, however, there comes a well-defined runner that both France and England are rather taking to black and darker tones, and that the brilliant rose and geranium shades, mauve, the violets and blues—that are pretty nearly the one and the same thing in the later color card—are passed over in favor of more sober tones. One authority says closely fitted lines, and another considered equally as good advocates looseness. One declares for huge sleeves, and another pins his faith to moderately sized and reasonably shaped arm coverings. The question of cuts and skirt widths is equally vexed. One very prominent Parisian tailor is turning out skirts that set closely to the hips, might almost be said to be clinging at this point, and are not more than five yards at the foot. His competitor is making close costumes in which the skirt measures no less than double that width at the hem, and falls in soft but very full folds around the body part. Never was there such a time when "you pay your money and you take your choice" was so eloquent in things of clothes and fashion, and the woman who is hard to suit can certainly follow her own sweet will this season, and will feel that she is strictly "in it" so far as fashion is concerned. The most striking thing of the season is the success of the picturesque gown, whether presented as an entire gown, or under the guise of what might more properly be termed a corset shirt. The draped princess is highly favored in chiffon velvets, and in several of the new soft suits, while the plain and severe article is more often encountered in real furs, and the crocheted and Cluny genre than elsewhere.

THE SUN-PLAID MODEL IN EVIDENCE OF THE FACT THAT ITS TRY
NO MEANS NEW OR NOVEL, MAKES ITS APPEARANCE IN NUM-BERS. All of them modish materials of the moment are employed for its fashioning—brocade, serge, soft chevot, hermes, albatross and the woolen crepes, and in silk there are mesaline and liberty satin—this latter evidently destined for a run—peas de cygne, crepe de chine and only semi-occasionally, taffeta. This last, though, is still well to the front in kilted models, the kilt being arranged in many and tiny gores, as many as sixty being employed by one maker for the fashioning of such a skirt. The stitching that simullates a yoke or yoke effect on the hips is now more likely to assume a fancy form than not, wavy lines, walls of Troy and other fantasies being wrought in silk threads on the sewing machine.

Black skirts show some colored attachings, but colored skirts rely on an exact match in the trimmings. There is a wide acceptance, present and to come, for those designs that have plaitings set in after all manner of ingenious ways. One that is capable of much differentiation has the material set in gores that fit well at the top, and are deeply slashed in the middle or at the sides to admit plaitings. As a pattern which will solve the problem of close fit at the hips and marked flare at the hem this is surely a success, and the designers have taken due advantage of it.

IT IS ALMOST CERTAIN THAT THE SUMMER LINE WILL IN-CLUDE A CHARMING ARIAT OF CHINA SILK PETTICOATS, made short length and with a bit of a train.
Some of these will have a simple trimming consisting of a deep dounce with several rows of tucks set in at regular intervals. More elaborate styles will show a preference for Valenciennes lace as the principal trimming contribution and this will be used on the deep dounce applied in a festoon effect on the plain section of the skirt. The rival of the China silk petticoat will be the white taffeta. But to return to the cotton petticoat. Great efforts are now being made to surpass in beauty all previous records made by the white muslin petticoat, and the results of this praiseworthy determination will doubtless be seen in the models offered for the January sales. One wonders what improvements can possibly be made upon the established order of things, to such a fine degree of excellence have they attained.

THE EARLY PART OF WINTER WILL SEE THE EXTREME VOGUE
OF SMALL FURS, anent which there is little or nothing new to chronicle, save, perhaps, the passing of mole skin from fashionable favor. The only difference between the models of last season and this is that there are usually collar bands, and comfortably long ones, at that, to the later productions, and the flat shoulder pieces of a year ago are now being modeled to include the collar, and appear in these, and is an marked improvement. Cravats, scarfs, occasionally a bobbed collar, and gloves, are still available for display in their separate of fashion later on.

THE SEPARATE SKIRT IS MORE IN EVIDENCE THAN EVER DURING THE SUMMER-TIME. The rise of the skirt was here given an impetus to the skirt business that is result in an increased spite of the fact that select heavier materials to rule season, a vast quantity of light-goods—velvet, cashmere, hennnot veiling weaves generally—made up. In fact, so far em to dominate the market, the medium and low priced goods are edged. In chevrons and serges the at bench and panne weaves prevail, and the styles on those are as varied as it is possible to make them.

Kilted skirts are extremely prominent, the circular pattern offers about the only alternative. Quite an appreciable number of double skirts, the first disposed after a handkerchief fashion, and falling over a deep circular flounce, are on display, and up to the present have commanded some favorable attention. This top is an actual square of cloth, the centre cut out sufficiently for the waistband, and the points falling to center back, front and sides. The best of those fasten with a long row of buttons and buttonholes usually covered with the material of the skirt. In black and colors the design is equally effective for dressy wear.

THE SILK WAIST HAS EVIDENT-LY TAKEN TO A LARGE EXTENT THE PLACE THAT THE LINEN held in the affections of the dressy public during the warm weather. The average of extravagance and elaboration is even higher than before in the late models, and handwork is imitated everywhere to a marvelous degree.
Rather a heavy quality of crepe de chine is favored for the more expensive numbers, and assurance is freely given that this will go through the laundry without injury. More than that, one manufacturer declares that, if anything, this same material is improved by soap and water, and that the lace and embroideries employed are such as can be handled to advantage by a skilful laundress. Other materials in favor for waists of a dressy character are rayon—and this comes in solid colors, printed designs and small checks, the last usually overlaid with a brocade design that enhances their attractiveness much—meas-line, peau de cygne, louisine (this chiefly in short coloring) and chiffon taffeta. Some few are seen in a chiffon fille française, and the latest comer is an Ottoman, likewise of chiffon character. Bengaline, too, is in accord with the coming vogue of corded and crystalline silks, and occasionally one sees a few samples in set satins of liberty or other equally soft and sheer weaves. The bolero, either in fact or in effect, is the leading feature of the more expensive numbers. Many times it is made a distinct one, the trimming scheme being so arranged as to afford this effect, but when chiffon, an allover lace or embroidery is a component part of the design, then the bolero is of silk, the sleeve to match, and an underbustion fashioned of the sheer material.

CHILDREN, EVEN THE YOUNG-EST, HAVE A LITTLE SOCIAL WORLD ALL THEIR OWN, and this being so it comes about that there are almost as many styles of clothes as as rule in adult circles. The baby slaps and dresses, even the all-important christening robe, belong to a period of infantile life when the child is heard rather than seen; but later—beginning with the first short dress—an increase in both seen and heard—clothes as sume considerable importance, alike to the child and her parent. For whether carried in the nurse's arms or led gently by the hand no modern child is too tiny or too inconspicuous for its little frock to escape kindly criticism—or it may be that the criticism is not always to be thus characterized. For by it is the taste of the mother gauged and in a way her social position determined.

At any rate, the little garments are potent for good or ill, in the present and future success of the small daughter. Since clothes play so important a part in the social life of even the smallest bit of femininity, more and more care is being shown in the designing and making of little garments, especially such as have to do with dress clothes in distinction to those of a more practical and utilitarian character. In response to the demand for garments of the finest quality and of the daintiest workmanship, more hand-made dresses are being put on the market than ever before—infact, in quantities that are their own best commentaries on the growing appreciation of fine materials, exquisite trimmings and charming styles combined to make a frock for the baby girl or a blouse suit for the boy. Nothing in these days seems too good or too costly for the outer adorning of the infant. One very effective style employed pale pink cashmere as its fabric medium. The skirt was gathered very fully and finished with a wide hem and one-inch tuck above that.
There was no belt or ribbon concealing the jointure of skirt and waist, a cord of the cashmere serving as trimming. The waist was cut for a gimp, having a square neck, with bretele pieces slashed at intervals, the edges being embroidered in buttonhole stitch and the intervening pieces having an embroidered motif done in self colors.
The sleeves were a mere cap, gathered slightly into the armhole and thence flaring a little bit. In length it reached half way between the shoulder and the elbow, and the outer side was slashed and embroidered to match the waist. A gimp of the same material and heading was worn with the frock, and the ensemble was altogether dainty and extremely pleasing.

MAINE DOCTORS WAR ON SMALLPOX

Precautions Being Taken to Prevent the Spread of the Disease from New Brunswick.

AUGUSTA, Me., Dec. 7.—At the meeting of the state board of health held at the state house today, one of the principal matters for action was the adoption of measures for the prevention of the introduction of smallpox infection from New Brunswick into this state.

For some time smallpox has been present in the neighborhood of Fred-erickton Junction. The cases have recently been seen by the secretary of the provincial board, and he has pronounced it smallpox.

As the epidemic not only threatens the state of Maine, but the other New England states, the secretary of the board was instructed to apply to the surgeon general of the public health and marine hospital service at Washington to establish an inspection station at the port of Vancouver.

Meanwhile, the state board of health has established a provisional service.
Dr. M. L. Young of Vancouver, who was formerly inspector for both the state board of health and the United States government, is in charge of the situation.

The state board of health has always advocated congressional legislation providing for a governmental control of food supplies. The determination of what action shall be taken by the board in regard to the bill which is to be introduced by Senator Heyburn was left with the special committee of the board appointed about a year ago.

MILLIONS AT LEPREUX SAY IRON CO. DIRECTORS

A meeting of the directors of the New Brunswick Iron Co. was held at the Dufferin hotel last evening. James P. Robertson of St. John and R. N.
Hickson of Montreal were elected to the board of directors. The other directors are C. V. Wetmore, J. S. McLaren, A. O. Wetmore and C. V. Young.
Mr. Wetmore is president and Mr. Mc-Laren vice-president. Peter Clinch is secretary.

J. S. McLaren, C. V. Young and R.
N. Hickson were appointed an executive committee to take charge of the management of the company's affairs and will give their personal attention to the development of the property.
Mr. McLaren, who was formerly a director of the Iron and Steel Co., will act as chairman of the executive committee.

The reports of the engineers who have been for some months exploring the company's property at Lepreux, were most encouraging. They have found the existence of magnetic iron ore of a very high quality, and estimate that the property contains at least 10,000,000 tons of this ore. They have drilled six holes, and will continue at work until the main body is located.

If the hopes of the directors and the expectations of the engineers are realized, shafts will be sunk and a complete equipment of apparatus for mining and hauling the ore will be immediately installed. Blast furnaces and rolling mills will be erected similar to those at Sydney and the Soo.
The directors feel confident that they have a most valuable property, and intend to develop it to the full and expect it to become one of the greatest industries in the country.
