Special Services in the Baltimore Cathedral on Sunday—The Sermon of America's Highest English Speaking Prelate.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 4.-Special services were held at the Baltimore cathedral today in honor of the election of Pope Pius X. Cardinal Gibbons preached the sermon. So dense was the throng that filled every inch of the cathedral that the procession at the conclusion of mass of clergy, seminarians and acolytes was delayed until hundreds of persons cleared the aisles. In addition to being the first sermon delivered at the cathedral by Cardinal Gibbons for three months, it had been announced that he would speak of the conclave which elevated the new pontiff and of general conditions at the vatican. W. S. Watson, the New Theological Professor.

SACKVILLE, Oct. 5 .- Prof. Wate on, who was recently appointed to the hair of systematic theology and Hebrew, delivered tonight his inaugura! address. His subject was the Historical Method in the Study of the Bible. After an outline and criticism of early vays of studying the Bible, in which there was often so dogmatic an assertion of inspiration that the human authorship was forgotten, he passed to a discussion of the modern scholasic method, which tended sometimes to lay too great stress on the human authorship. His view was that the books of the Bible reflected the moralauthor wrote for his own age, not ours, so that the position and life of the author need to be known to appreciate his work. There has been a development of religious conception. All the books are not of equal worth. We look to Genesis not for scientific facts, but for the early and continuous re-Reference was made by President Allison and others to the work and outlook for the year, especially in re-

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Forced to Make Some Important Changes in the Redistribution Bill So Far as It Relates to the Province of Ontario

(Special Cor. of the Sun.) OTTAWA, Sept. 26 .- The house of commons disposed of a lot of business during the past week. The G. T. Pa-chic deal and the redistribution bill have passed through the critical stage in committee, and the latter has been given a third reading. This means of the liberal organs opposed to him that the two most contentious meas-ures introduced by the government been accused of referring to Mr. Povice have practically been disposed of. There remains for consideration the hill to amend the Audit Act, a portion of the main estimates, further supple-mentary estimates, and the railway subsidies. If rumor is to be credited, the estimates and railway subsid will amount to $40,000,000, which will mean that Canada will be saddled with an expenditure for the year 1903-04 of omething like one hundred million dollars. Coming from a government who staked its life on its thorough belief in economy, this will be rather a taggerer to the electorate. "Staggering humanity" seems to be a pastime with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who has hrown into the political arena within the past three months, without consideration, some of the wildest schemes that have ever been broached in this country. The conservative opposition, which has been ridiculed by the liberal press as a weak one, has succeeded in holding up the "strongest business cabinet ever assembled in any country" for a rather embarrassing period. If the liberal press persists in referring to the opn as a weak aggregation, it can hardly hope to impress the electorat with the tremendous debating powers on the government side of the house The Grand Trunk Pacific debate has not strengthened the argument that the ministerial benches are occupied by such renowned debaters that the public have been led to believe, and if Hansard is used on the hustings the vanced in favor of the large government policy is bound to come put at the small end of the board.

The chaces of the opposition in On-tea por holding their large majority at the next election are brighter as a result of the premier's decision. Water-loo under the liberal proposals would have elected a conservative and a lib-eral. It will now return two conserv-atives: Hastings would have atives; Hastings would have gone one liberal and one conservative if the government's proposition had been unchanged. Like Waterloo, it will be strongly conservative in both divisions at the next election. This reduces the effect of the liberal gerrymander by four votes, and it is more than probable, that some of the disgraceful changes which have been made in other ridings will prove a boomerar to those responsible for them. Ontario, judging by the number of protests it has filed against the Grand Trunk Pacific deal, will need something mor than a gerrymander to bring it to sup-port Sir Wilfrid in the next compaign, and Mr. Borden will undoubtedly re-ceive a good "leg-up" to the premiership from the real victim of the pre-sent redistribution bill.

George Fowler has been receiving some flattering bouquets from those who have heard him during his speeches on the Grand Trunk Pacific bill: The member for Kings, N. B., has come to the front with a rush during the past few weeks and is ac-knowledged to be one of the best de-baters on the conservative side of the house. Although a hard hitter, Mr Fowler invariably strukes above the been accused of referring to Mr. Davis, the member for Saskatchewan, as one of the representatives of the "greasy west." Mr. Fowler never made such a statement in the commons. No remark is reported by Hansard. Mr. Fowler did ask, in the course of a few innoying interruptions by Mr. Davis, what the member for the "breezy west" was saying. As Mr. Davis has frequently been sat on by his own political friends during the present session, Mr. Fowler may be excused for demanding from that quarter an explanation of an interjection which was not germain to the question. If Mr. Davis' defenders wish to get a fair line on the reputation of that gentleman, it would be well for them to devote a short time to a perusal of the remarks made concerning the repre-sentative of Saskatchewan by Mr. Mc-Creary, the liberal member for Winnipeg. Mr. McCreary knows Mr. Davis, and the epithet "representative of the greasy west," does not cover a hundredth part of the attack made on Mr. Davis by his colleagues.

Sir William Mulock a few weeks ago, ntroduced a bill to provide for an increase in the salaries of certain persons in the civil service. The post-master general selected as the object of his generosity the deputy heads of departments, chief clerks and first-class clerks. The rank and file of the service, who needed additional salries, were given the go-by. Thomas cific scheme has been rather hurled at the public. "Time cannot wait," was the predominating argument offered by underpaid, as a whole, moved an amendment which provided for an increase all round. The government was thus forced to withdraw its original proposal and accept Mr. Birkett's proposition, with this exception that the maximum salaries suggested by him were reduced $100. government will be appreciated. Money is needed to make the wheels go round, and in order to get as much of the wherewithal as possible the house took up non-contentious items over which Mr. Fielding has control. The Intercolonial railway items were allowed to go through without much criticism, partly because the minister of finance is not over familiar with the details of the department of rail-ways and canais, and partly because the winding the whereas the present government was the votes were nearly all intended for improvements along the main line and the second of when the supplementary estimates are submitted at a later stage.

The finance minister and acting minister of railways was in a particularly god humor. It is selden that the government will condescend to make a formal promise that improvements will be carried on in the constituency Truro, better known as the Esplanade, pensed with in the post office dep repaired at the expense of the Intery government employes. Mr. Gourley nsidered that as the I. C. R. practically assumed responsibility for the upkeep of the Esplanade, the manageprobably come at no distant time under the Intercolonial railway an ocean to ocean line instead of one which is compelled to take what it gets in the way of traffic at Montreal.

An interesting and amusing situation was developed by a discussion as

One discordant note was struck wher an item of $1,150 for a circular saw was reached. This is to be charged up to capital account. The opposition protested against this on principle. It seemed to Mr. Barker that the next thing that would appear in capital account would be a charge for a buck saw. Mr. Fielding thought this possible if the bucksaw were new. considers that if the Intercolonial buys a new bucket to put where there had been no bucket previously, capital ac-count should receive the benefit of the item. Then someone suggested that at a station somewhere on the Intercol-onial, for which a chair had been purchased and paid for out of capital ac count, the station master must have been compelled to stand for some years.

If we may take Mr. Fielding's assurrance in re the bucket as sincere, capital account of the interocionial will grow rather rapidly if the finance minister is continued in the department of ailways and canals. That would be unfortunate, because at the presen time capital account is made responsible for too many items which should properly appear in the working expenses column.

viewed the situation with amusement, interest in it. It is rather painful for Prince Edward Island have all been heard from, and in every case it is the same story. The electors demand that Cox shall wait, despite the fact that "Cox can't wait." The government is requested to inform itself more fully as to the routes through which the G. railway company would obtain before committing itself to such a vast project. If this were done, the credit of Canada would not be pledged for $100,-000,000 for the benefit of private persons until after the next general election. And there is no knowing what might happen if the people were allowed to pronounce on the bargain which Sir Wilfrid Laurier has made with Mr. Hays. tion was developed by a discussion as to the respective salaries of the employes on the senate and con sides of the Parliament buildings, Since the senate has been reformed, it has had associated with it Senator Landerkin, Selator McMullen and others of their stamp, who, when members the house of commons, never lost an opportunity of criticizing the extravagance of the liberal conservative party and calling for retrenchment. They made a dead set on the civil service and declared that hundreds of depart mental employes were overpaid. They not only favored a reduction in the number of officials, but insisted that their pay should be decreased in many instances. With the change in the political makeup of the senate, the officials of that august body have not easy been granted increases far in ex-cess of those extended to the officers of the commons, but there is a move-ment now on foot to deal even more generously with those engaged in the Red Chamber. The opposition in the commons held that if the senate employes are to receive increases, the same treatment should be meted out to those whose services are given to the commons. Hon, W. S. Fislding explained that the action of the senate The petitions against the G. T. P. was due to the increase in dignity which manifested itself on that side of the house during the past session. That this so-called dignity exists, is beyond dispute. There was a time when the ordinary citizen of Canada was allowed to enter the senate by the same doo the liberal majority was assured at the beginning of the present session, a bold sign notified the common people that the main door was good enough for them. Still this does not explain the violent change of the opinions of the liberal party has been unable to observe a single pledge made in the days of opposition.

J. D. McKENNA. OTTAWA, Oct. 1 .- The nations transcontinental bill has been disposed of by the commons. It now remains for the senate to say whether the huge job which is intended to place $100,000,-000 worth of property under the control of Senator George Cox and others shall be consummated. If the senate endorses the deal the final decision will be left to the people, who are vigorously but vainly protesting against the government's policy. Already some 50,000 electors have declared against it, but the liberal party refuses to listen to the still small voice, and it will be at the next election that they must learn that the people and not the people's representiives are real power in Canada. In passing the transcontinental railway bill, without first appealwhen he stated that Sir William is too wealthy to appreciate the trials and tribulations of the ordinary workingman. Time and again during the present session he has absolutely retained to all such autocratic government, and when the polls are next opened it will be the duty of the people of Canada has a project of the magnitude of the Grand Trunk Pacific scheme been put through parliament without first placing it before the country. nothing for the people of Waterloo to complain of. The government was simply remedying the injustice done to that county by the gerrymander of the head of two of the most important departments in the public service.

1882. In regard to Hastings Sir Wilfrid used the same line of argument. But when the independent press of Canada took up the cudgels and demanded fair play for the opposition in those two ridings Sir Wilfrid was forced to substantiate, in a small measure, his promise made on March flist, that the object of the government

> The Grand Trunk Pacific scheme marks an epoch in Canadian history, since it became a government mea-sure, for the first time since confederation a minister of railways resigned his portfolio, rather than accept a policy which was wholly concerned with the development of the railway system of the country Mr. Blair's resignation is now several months old, but the interest in it has not yet subsided. He has left behind him an arraignment of the government which no minister of the crown has been able to answer. The objections raised by Mr. Blair to the policy of constructing a trans-continental railway at the pub lic expense for the benefit of favored exploiters are as sound today as they were when the ex-minister of railways and canals advanced them on August 11th. The scheme is as inde-fensible now as then. There is the same absence of information in regard to the route of the road. The government has not yet consulted its own of which suggests that the country is clamouring for a new railway of the character that Sir Wilfrid Laurier pro poses. The transportation commission which at the opening of the session was to be consulted as to the feasibility of successfully solving the trans ed. Everything is topsy turvy, and yet the prime minister has had the audac-ity to force through the commons a question which has never been pr nounced upon at the polls.

One noticeable change in the arguents in support of the government's railway policy is to be found in the abandonment of the claim that a rail-way line, modern in every respect, can be constructed from Moncton to Por 000,000. It was Hon. W. S. Fielding who first made that remarkable state ment, but so loudly was it ridiculed from one end of the country to the other, that the Rherals became ashamed of it and allowed it to drop into the ackground. In suggesting that 1,800 miles of railway can be built through a wilderness, and that the bonds of another 1,800 miles of road can be guar anteed at a cost of $13,000,000, Mr. Fielding became responsible for an assertion which would hardly do credit Sir William Mulock and others to prove the practicability of the country beof over one hundred million dollars, and the impracticability of Canada shouldering the burdens of an alternative railway system, which has been estimated by competent railway exerts to involve an outlay of les half of the prospective cost of the national trans-continental railway

R. L. Borden simply riddled this al ready thoroughly exposed fallacy in his closing remarks on the national McMullen et al. Even in the senate trans-continental railway bill. Speaking of his own scheme which involve the extension of the Intercolonial railway to Winnipeg, and in due time to the Pacific coast, the leader of the opposition pointed out that Sir William Mulock fixed the cost of a road from Levis to Moncton at ten million dollars "Let us bear in mind just this," said Mr. Borden. "The whole enterpris the government is to cost $13,000,000: that whole enterprise of the government includes this line, which, according to the postmaster general, is cost $10,000,000 in my proposal; therefore, if you eliminate this ten million dollars you have $3,000,000 left for the construction of all the other lines pro posed by the government. That is fair argument, is it not? This section is included in the estimate of the postmaster general which is to cost $13,-000,000; this section, according to him. is to cost $10,000,000, and therefore there is $3,000,000 left for all the rest of the government's proposal. Let us see what this wonderful government and this wonderful postmaster general are going to do with that $3,000,000. I will give here an estimate, according to the finance minister, of the rest of the pro-according to Mr. Fielding's estimate, will cost $41,000,000, but according to the postmaster general's estimate of $40,000 a mile for a line from Scotia Junction to Sudbury, which I adopt as fairer, it will cost $59,000,000. The loss of rental and interest, according to the inister of finance, would amount to $11,468,030, and according to my estimate it would be $17,176,038. The mountain section, according to the proposa of the minister of finance, and which adopt for this purpose, would cost $2,924,000. The Quebec ing to the proposal of the minister finance, and I accept his figures for the purpose of this part of the argument, would cost $2,000,000. Therefore, you have a total estimate of the cos the balance of the undertaking, according to the estimate of the minister of finance of $57,692,030, and according to my estimate of $81,100,083. This

"But the postmaster general is so much of a born financial gentus that he is going to accomplish all this for $3,000,000. The fairness of his proposal is so obvious, from considerations of that kind, that perhaps I might almost be inclined to leave it here. I might think, however, right honorable friend, the prime minister should ever have occasion to select a new minister of finance, there cannot be the slightest doubt as to where the choice should lie."

This was one silly argument disposed of in masterly fashion by the leader of the opposition.. But it remains for Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who followed Mr. Borden, to adwance one equally absurd and untenable. prime minister ridiculed the proposal to extend the Intercolonial to Georgian Bay, inasmuch as it would necessitate the upkeep by the Canadian government of a line of American steamers This would be necessary because none other than United States bottoms can carry grain from an American port to a Canadian port. As a considerable portion of the wheat carried over the Canada Atlantic comes from Duluth and Chicago, the prime minister insisted that the possible purchase of United States registered shipping with public funds is an insurmountable barrier to government ownership of a railway to the great west. But as there might be some doubt as to Sir Wilfrid ever having made such a preposterous statement, it will be just as well to quote his own words: "You cannot take freight at Duluth, Chicago or Milwaukee or any of the western ports and bring it to Depot Harbor except in American bottoms.' To the mar who knows anything about the laws of navigation, this assertion caps the climax so far as the silly argun vanced in favor of the Grand Trunk Pacific scheme are concerned. Sir Wilfrid had reference to American coasting laws, but he knew so the subject, that he interpreted them as being applicable to international shipping. This much can be said of his line of reasoning that it is sound as any advanced by him during the course of the debate on the Gran Trunk Pacific scheme. Yet it can only encourage the ridicule which ha been heaped upon the government's policy. J. D. McKENNA

FARMERS' MEETING.

KESWICK STATION, York Co., Oct. The farmers' institute speakers,
 Duncan Anderson of Rugby, Ontario, and F. E. Sharp of Midland, Kings Co addressed a well attended meeting in the agricultural hall at this place last ing. The chair was occupied by Geo. J. Taylor, president of the institute. Mr. Sharp spoke on the breeding and feeding of swine; Mr. Anderson on cattle raising, illustrating his remarks on a chart.

The delegates report a very successful meeting at Scotch Lake, on the evening of the 29th; also on at Prince William the evening before. They left by train today for Millville where they are to address two meet-ings, one at Upper Hainsville, and the other at Millville proper. Farmers are wise who attend the meetings. They should avail themselves of every pportunity to learn more of their business.

work outside of session time is not so exacting as that of the railway portfolio, the responsibility is always great, and it is at all times a position of great dignity and influence. The British Columbia election of Saturday appears to have been indecisive. It would appear that while the McBride government has falled to obtain a majority the liberal opposition has also failed. The balance of power is probably in the hands of the three independents, but the exact situation will not be clear until final returns are in from scattered districts. The leader of the government is returned with two and probably three of his five colleagues. One minister has been defeated in Victoria city and one in this city, was heaten in Nelson.

MR. BALFOUR AND HIS COL-LEAGUES.

If the Balfour government is riding for a fall, the premier has secured ex-cellent material for that sort of a race His new colleagues are young politi clans who can afford a defeat, but who are not likely to make good the los which the premier has sustained in the recent resignations. More especially is there none to take the place of the MR. BLAIR'S SUCCESSOR.

In discussing the railway estimates last week Mr. Fielding stated that he hoped to make a tour of inspection as in the near. Another election may be necessary before as possible after the close of the session. This neans that in the opinion of the finance minister there is to be no minister of railways appointed for minister of railway suggests the improbability of the west. Mr. W. E. McInnes, son or the former governor, was a minister of railways. For this latter assurance for a short time under Col. Priot. He is now an opposition member and may have probably made the member in the consensus of the same that they appear and may be almost useless for either purpose. Having risked so much it would probably have been wiser to have risked all and some the whole length of the course with Mr. Chamberlain, who has chosen the wiser part. Lord Lansdowne, who will naturally succeed to the leadership of the house lords, may have a somewhat difficult task, but he is a capable man, notwithstanding the war office record. Mr. Balfour must stand or fall by the decision of the democracy, and the action of the house of lords will not now be of great consequence

The transfer of Mr. Brodrick, who is one of Mr. Balfour's strongest col- the councils of the state. leagues, from the war office to the India department seems to indicate that the India office is considered the more important of the two. Or perhaps it means that Mr. Arnold-Forster is regarded as one of the coming men. He is a liberal unionist not yet fifty years old, and adopted son of the late Sir W. E. Forster. He has been ten years in parliament as a representative of Belfast, and has written a great umber of books on history, and on cial, political and military questions His official service has so far been mostly in the admiralty department f Mr. Balfour expected his ministry to have a long life it might be a rash experiment to place this new cabinet minister in charge of the war office but as a minister for an election campaign he may be all that is required, for he is no doubt a good public

The promotion of Mr. Austen Chamberlain from the post office to the exchequer is a safer proceeding, and one that was rather expected. Hardly forty years old, this son of Joseph Chamberlain has been a lord of the admiralty, financial secretary to the treasury and postmaster general. He hood, and inherits the capacity for administration. Perhaps he does not so so far as his father on the trade ques-tion, but more likely he is waiting for public opinion to justify the government in taking the longer step.

Most surprising of all is the announcement of the name of Mr. Chem. beriain's successor. Hop, Aifred killed it Lyttleton is not familiar to colonial wife. Though arising from a variety of causes, headache is almost invariably associated with stomach troublest irritability by delegates the processed spirits and other symptoms of nervous exhaustion.

The person who has become subject to repeated attacks of nervous, sick headache may well have dark forebodings of the future lest he outcome may be nervous prostration, paralysis or insanity.

Such relief as may be obtained from the use of powders, tablets or wafers, which almost immediately stop pain, is only temporary, and the shock to the nervous system is not only harmful but positively dangerous.

As in all diseases of the nervous system, the real cause is a deficiency in the quality or quantity of the blood, and cure can come only when the richness and life-sustaining powers are restored to the blood by such a preparation as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

This great food cure cures headache, just as it does other symptoms of an exhausted condition of the nervous system, by actually forming new, rich,

Though this upbuilding process is of necessity slow and natural, the results are certain and lasting. Headaches, as well as all other aches and pains, disappear, and through the medium of the nervous system every organ in the body is quickened to new and regular action. The appetite is sharpened, digestion improves and all the weaknesses and irregularities of the vital organs which usually accompany nervous exhaustion are overcome. By noting your increase in weight while using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food you can prove beyond dispute that new, firm flesh and tissue is being added to the body. Mrs. A. Lobb, 204 Rectory St., London, Ont., states:—'Il was troubled to a great extent with sick Hendsche, and in fact I was so bad that I became very nervous and unable to rest or sleep. I had not used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food long before I noticed that my sleep was better and the headaches less severe. I can say now that I am as well as I ever was, and give all the credit to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

Some time ago I heard of the good results accomplished by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and began to use it. Since I have been taking this medicine a great change has come over me, the headaches have disappeared, my nerves have been strengthened, and I do not have any more of the dizzy spells. I have nothing but Br. Chase's Nerve Feed to thank for this cure."

One of them said the return trips are now on in full blast, and every day sees a trainload of fermers bound east from the wheat acids. The harvest this year was a big one and is now about all in, except in those districts nipped by the snow storms and frosts of last month. The move several pieces of the structure and destroy the animal in order to remove the obstruction to regular traffic. There have been many complaints regarding the condition of this bridge during the past summer. The owners of the animal feel their loss keenly and it is just possible that those caring for the safety of the highways may be called upon to make good the loss of the animal, as well as compensating them for the delay caused by the removal of the obstruction to traffic. in those districts hipped by the show storms and frosts of last month. The men have no complaints to make about the way in which they were treated, and many of them said they intended going back to help lay in next fall's GOD.

CHATHAM, N. B., Sept. 29.- The first exhibition upon the new grounds of the Northumberland Agricultural Association was opened this evening at 130 by Lt. Gov. Snowball, in the presence of a large gathering from surrounding districts. A guard of honor was provided by the 73rd Regiment, and was in command of Captain Mo-Naughton. Many officers of the regiment were present in uniform and the scene was enlivened by the town band, which discoursed appropriate music. The members of the local gov-

The body of young Stephen Hood-Bowan was found Firday morn-ning just above Purdy's Point by J. D. Eurdy of this by J. D. Purdy of this city. Mr. Purdy and his brothers W. O. and Geo. Purdy, have a summer camp on the river w considerable distance below Watters' wharf. a summer camp on the river, a considerable distance below Watters wharf, and in the morning Mr. Purdy, in company with his brother George, had put out from shore in a small boat to board the Hampstead on her down trip. At this part of the river the point runs out and obstructs the rises of the upper portion of the river, and in order to catch sight of the steamer it is usual to round this point and wait in the cove above. Mr. Purdy and his brother had hardly turned in towards the cove when they both noticed a dark object floating in the water about half way along the crescent-shaped beach and quite close to it. They rowed to the spot at once and saw that the object quite close to it.

Working the body to the shore they d down the edges with sand to protec the body from crows. By this time the news of the finding had spread and when the Hampstead came along Mr. Purdy continued his trip to St. John. On the way down the Hampstead passed the Majestic on her Fredericton trip with alex. M. Rowan, relative of the decayed. the deceased, as a passenger, and he was at once notified. Mr. Rowan proceeded as far as Craig's Point, where he left the boat and crossed to Purdy's, where the body was left.

The body was brought down yesterday afternoon and was taken to Report 1.

Brennan's undertaking rooms, and later will be interred in the old Church of England burying ground.

Purdy's Point is a mile below where the David Weston disaster took place, and on the opposite side of the river. Mr. Purdy thinks that the northwesterly wind which has been blowing for the past few days, brought the body across the river to the spot where it was found.

The young herring, or as the older fishermen and citizens would call them
"sprats," have made the harber of St. John their home during the past menth. The fishermen along the shore route, keenly alive to that fact, like the Indian in ancient New Brunswick history, have followed on the trail of these members of the finny tribe. Their efforts have been rewarded as the schools have been logated here in St.
John harbor and many successful hauls
