Canadian Farmers Will be Hard Hit By U.S. Reciprocity

Products of Twelve Other Nations Must Come in Free--Their Doors Remain Shut on Canada--Mr. Borden Drags Admissions from Mr. Fielding--The Hansard Report.

The desperate efforts made by Mr. Fielding in the House recently to avoid giving prominence to the fact that one effect of the Reciprocity agreement with the United States will be to enable no less than twelve foreign countries to have their natural products and manufactured articles come into this country on the same terms as granted to the United States, but with no corresponding reductions in duties to Canada, show that the government when brought to bay realizes the one-sided nature of the bargain.

When questioned on this point, Mr. Fielding indulged in all manner of evasions and subterfuges to escape giving a definite answer. He said only by sharp cross-questioning on the part of Mr. Borden that the truth was finally dragged out. The pages of Hansard have a tendency to be more lamentable examples of quibbling on the part of a minister of the Crown.

The matter was brought up by Mr. Reid who complained that an answer on the subject given by the Finance Minister a few days previously, in reply to a question put by Mr. Sharpe, was indefinite and had a tendency to mix the question up so that people would not understand it. He pointed out that in his answer Mr. Fielding brought in France, Russia, and Canada had a special treaty, thereby confusing the issue.

A Plain Question.
In order to get a definite answer out of Mr. Fielding, Mr. Reid propounded the following question:—"If the proposed arrangement of the tariff with the United States is passed, will the following countries be allowed to import goods into Canada on the same terms as allowed the United States, viz.: Argentina, Republic, Austria, Hungary, Bolivia, Columbia, Denmark, Japan, Norway, Russia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and Venezuela?"

Mr. Fielding replied evasively that this question was covered by the answer given to Mr. Sharpe, and objected to answering it yes or no. Mr. Reid bided his time and on going into Ways and Means returned to the attack. After naming the twelve countries in his question he said, as he understood it, these were the twelve favored nation countries, and as he understood it, every one of these countries would be entitled to ship their farm products into Canada and to compete with our own farmers if the treaty went through.

Hansard's Report.
Mr. Reid continued--Butter from Denmark can come in to Montreal in competition with our Canadian butter, and come in free, butter from Australia can come free into British Columbia and flood the market there, and the same remark applies to every other country I have named. Now, when this deputation of Western farmers was down here last fall, and they were asking for a lower tariff with the United States, we did not hear either the Minister of Finance or the Prime Minister, who really do that deputation, telling them: Gentlemen, if we carry out your wishes, there will be twelve other countries allowed to compete with you, and to compete with yours. If the Minister of Finance, the Prime Minister and the Minister of Customs had stood up then and told us that deputation from the West: If we do this for you, you are going to have the Argentine Republic, you are going to have Russia, slipping their wheat in here free to compete with ours, you are going to have butter, and poultry, and cheese from all these countries coming in here free; I venture to say that if the government had told the Western farmers this, they would have turned round and said: Don't make any such arrangement with the United States.

To Get The Facts.
Now, my object in asking that question was that the farmers of this country, from one end to the other, would understand what the effect of this arrangement would be, and whether it allows twelve other countries besides the United States, and the British colonies to send their goods in here free. There are members of this House who, until a few days ago, did not really understand the whole situation; and why should not the Minister of Finance, when this question is asked him, jump up in irritation and tell the people the exact truth. I VENTURE TO SAY THAT THE MINISTER OF FINANCE DARE NOT GO OUT INTO THE NORTH-WEST TO-DAY AND TELL THE FARMERS THAT ALL THESE COUNTRIES ARE GOING TO IMPORT THEIR STUFF FREE INTO CANADA, EVERY FARMER WITH WHOM I HAVE TALKED TO-YET WHEN HE IS TOLD THAT THERE ARE TWELVE OTHER COUNTRIES GOING TO HAVE THE SAME ADVANTAGE AS THE UNITED STATES, IS OPPOSED TO THIS PROPOSITION.

The whole course of the Minister of Finance shows that he is trying to deceive the people of this Dominion as to the true position of the matter. I want the Minister of Finance to answer that question, yes or no.

Dodging.
Mr. Fielding--I have no right to speak. My hon. friend has asked a question, and I could not answer it in any plainer English than I used in answering the same question more comprehensively put by the hon. member for North Ontario (Mr. Sharpe). I think the hon. member understands it well enough, but it suits his purpose to pretend that he does not.

This continued evasion brought Mr. Borden to his feet and he began a vigorous cross-examination of the Finance Minister. It was "like pulling teeth" as a speaker at the Conservative meeting said in answer after answer was wrung from Mr. Fielding.

Hansard continues:
"Mr. Borden--I do not regard the

SIFTON BONDS OF RECIPROCIITY

The head office of the trust would be the United States, the only remedy would be to get the duty back where it is now and start all over again to build up the local industries. The whole tendency is to induce the farmer to sell his produce to the United States and to do away with by products. It is to break down the system of interlocking industries which makes the present prosperity of Ontario.

Effect in the West.
Then--the prairie provinces. Mr. Sifton boldly grasped with the alleged benefits which the treaty will confer on them. He held out a hint of an educational bonus on poor farmers who would be the United States price down to export level.

General Effect.
From details he passed to the general effect. The treaty puts the farmers on a free trade basis for what they sell and a protective basis for what they buy. They will not stand that. What then? Off with the duties on the manufacturer. What is that? Commercial union. Again Mr. Sifton dwelt on the favored nations which would come in under reduced duties.

Agrees With Mr. Foster.
He fully agreed with Mr. Foster that every day on which Canada adapted herself to United States markets, she strengthened the grasp of the United States on her policy. Unless there is a rupture there, Canada is a rupture of the tariff without pressure from the United States interests and United States lobby. More, this domination of the United States has been a non-issue as Canada won her commercial independence, they shook a club. The Canadian farmer yielded.

Easy To Answer.
Mr. Borden--I did not ask the hon. gentleman to make a disquisition on the favored-nation treaty, I was asking a very simple question. We did not expect it from him, going over these countries one by one, but with difficulty, and much reluctance on his part. Now, I ask him this: Whether the goods of Canada enter the United States, some of them on the reduced list, and some upon the reduced list, will we have that same right in respect to the countries which are mentioned? That is a plain question, is it not? And it is a question which the government ought not to be afraid to answer.

Was Not Improbable.
Washington, Feb. 28--The action of the Senate in voting for a vote on the Lorimer question makes it possible that the Canadian reciprocity agreement will come to a vote. Some of the opposition have expressed a wish that it might be passed upon at this session.

Fielding sought to obscure these:
1. THE UNITED STATES.
2. THE BRITISH EMPIRE.
3. TWELVE FOREIGN COUNTRIES: ARGENTINA, AUSTRALIA, HUNGARY, DENMARK, NORWAY, SWEDEN, RUSSIA, SWITZERLAND, SPAIN, JAPAN AND SOME SMALL SOUTHERN AMERICAN COUNTRIES.

Canada gets a new free list and some reductions in duties from--
1. THE UNITED STATES.
2. NOBODY ELSE.

Should this agreement go through twelve foreign countries and the whole British Empire, as well as the United States, are to have the free run of the Canadian farmer's home market; but the Canadian farmer does not get one inch further into the markets of the British Empire, or into the markets of the twelve foreign nations, a truly wonderful example of Reciprocity!

More Government Aid for Farmers

attitudes to send delegates to the meetings of the association, who would take an active interest in the work and attend the sessions. The government had given grants to encourage poultry exhibitions in the various centres and in this way it was felt additional encouragement would be given to the poultry industry. Hon. Dr. Landry explained that the amount would be still greater in 1911.

No Place for Potatoes.
Continuing, Hon. Dr. Landry stated that he did not believe that the construction was the proper place to introduce politics and he did not think it would be productive of good to mark too strongly on the various political questions. The future for agriculture in this province was bright and the present provincial government was prepared to give all the assistance to the farmers in its power. The government had already increased the grant to agriculture and the number of agricultural societies had been almost doubled and would be twice as large within a year as when this government came into power.

Stock Importation.
During his administration of the department of agriculture, importations of cattle, sheep and horses had been made and it was proposed to continue the policy. During the past year the importations had been made at a cost of $3,000. If the full benefits were to be derived from these importations the farmers must have the necessary facilities so as to take concerted action and show what was needed.

Poultry Encouragement.
The St. John winter port afforded a market for poultry and eggs which had been taken advantage of and for that reason a poultry inspector had been appointed, a capable man having been selected to encourage the poultry industry, showing to the people the proper methods of taking advantage of it so that in a short time it would be the value of the property considerably increased thereby. This was the reason he asked for a reduction in his lease. He also asked for a rebate of arrears of $125 at the rate of $30 per year offering to pay $50 instead of $125.

County Vice Presidents.
The reports of the vice presidents for the various counties brought out some interesting facts and recommendations which will be taken up later. Bliss W. Farwell, of the Westmorland County, told of his recent trip to the Canadian West, and said he could unhesitatingly advise the farmers of New Brunswick to remain in their own province. The following were appointed a finance committee--Walter Limerick, York County; George Barber, Victoria County; and George Truman, of Westmorland County.

Tomorrow morning, Prof. Cumming, of Truro, N.S., will conduct judging of dairy cattle, which demonstration in the ring at the market in the basement of the City Hall and in the afternoon beef cattle will be taken up, while dairying will be the principal subject for discussion in the evening.

CUSTOMS REVENUE.
Ottawa, Feb. 28--An increase of $10,816,464.31 is shown in the customs collections of the Dominion for the 11 months of the fiscal year ending today. The collections for the 11 months ending Feb. 28, 1911, are $64,898,391.55 as compared with $54,081,927.24 for the 11 months ending Feb. 28, 1910. Collections in Feb. 1911, total $5,990,083.64 against $5,154,824.16 in Feb. 1910, an increase of $815,259.38.

GREAT TRIALS ON TRANSCONTINENTAL ALPHONSE JONELLE TELLS TALE FILLED WITH HUMAN INTEREST Hardships attending work brought on Kidney Disease which threatened his life—Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him. Chicoutimi Ville, Chicoutimi Co. Que., Feb. 23 (Special)—The trials of those men who push the great railroads through the obstacles Nature thrusts in their way have been proclaimed in many a page of fiction. But no story ever told is of more absorbing interest or teaches a greater moral than the actual experiences of Alphonse Jonelle, foreman on the Transcontinental, and well known here.

"I contracted Kidney Disease working on the Transcontinental, where I am foreman," Mr. Jonelle states. "My skin had a harsh, dry feeling, and it itched and burned at night. I was always tired. Then came the pains of rheumatism, and I finally got so bad I could not attend to my work. For five years I suffered, and in the end Bright's Disease developed. "Then I began to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Six boxes cured me completely. Dodd's Kidney Pills also cured my wife, who was suffering from Kidney Disease. HOUSE BURNED AT UPPER MAUGERVILLE

Federicton, Feb. 28.—A Scotch family named Campbell, who removed to Upper Maugerville, were burned out at that place yesterday afternoon, the house being destroyed with nearly all its contents except some things in the lower flat of the house. The fire caught at noon while Mr. Campbell and his sons were away in the woods. The eldest daughter and five children were home at the time. When the fire broke out the daughter fainted from fright and was with difficulty rescued from the flames. A large number of the men of the neighborhood were in the woods, but those who were nearby did their best at fighting the fire and trying to save the furniture. The fire burned for about two hours, and when Mr. Campbell and his sons returned they found their home in ashes. It is understood that the house was partly covered by insurance, but that the furniture was uninsured.

SAINT JOHN, WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH 1, 1911

MR. ROBINSON'S TACTICS.

It was a great gathering the local Opposition had at Moncton the other day, when Messrs. Robinson, Copp, Leger and Sweeney enlightened the people of Westmorland as to their attitude on the affairs of the province. A large section of Mr. Robinson's party in the legislature is resident in the county of Westmorland—four of them, the noisy and talkative end of the party, for is not Mr. Copp, the orator of the Opposition, one of them? As usual dead issues only were discussed. There was nothing new brought to light, if we except the statement of that worthy person, Mr. Copp, that the reason Mr. Hazen did not bring on the provincial elections last fall was because of his desire to attend the Coronation as Premier and to return to New Brunswick as Sir Douglas Hazen.

Mr. Copp is no more lacking in imagination than he is in words. What he does not know he can easily imagine and then hurl it forth as if it were fact. Does anyone think for an instant that Mr. Copp's idea is the correct one? What earthly reason could Mr. Hazen have for calling on the elections at the date suggested by Mr. Copp? And again, how in the world could Mr. Copp have conjured up in his mind that local premiers who attend the Coronation of King George will receive knighthood? Governor Tweedie, as Premier of New Brunswick, attended the Coronation of King Edward, but did not return as Sir Lemuel, and still is Hon. L. J. Tweedie. Why should Mr. Copp think that an exception would be made in the case of Premier Hazen?

True we have the somewhat remarkable statement at the same meeting of Mr. Sweeney, who loudly protested to the intelligent electors of Westmorland that his blood was not blue and expressed his thanks to God that he had not been born with a silver spoon in his mouth. His fervor in this matter is probably due to the belief that an iron spoon is more fitting in the mouth of the future wardon of Dorchester Penitentiary than a silver one.

Mr. Robinson's contribution to the feast of reason was an amended reference to the Albert Southern Railway in which his comments on Mr. Hazen were greatly modified as compared with his statements at Hampton a short time before. Mr. Leger, the Acadian representative of the Westmorland Opposition party, was chiefly disturbed about the condition of the roads in the county, and endorsed the attack made on Mr. Morrissy by Mr. Copp, who, he thought, was getting too much salary.

The forgetfulness of the Opposition regarding what they did when in power is amazing. In seven years and five months, Mr. Labilliois, as chief commissioner of public works, drew from the provincial treasury the large sum of $3,595,79, or about $1,200 a year, for traveling expenses, double what Mr. Morrissy has drawn for the same purpose. Any chief commissioner has to do a great deal of travelling, and Mr. Morrissy has been about quite as much as Mr. Labilliois was, if not more, for on taking office he visited every section of the province which Mr. Labilliois did not do. There have been no serious increases in hotel rates throughout the province, and railway fares have not been advanced, yet Mr. Morrissy was able to travel for just half what it cost Mr. Labilliois. Yet Mr. Copp has the hardihood to accuse Mr. Morrissy with being overpaid.

Mr. Leger, whose peace of mind is greatly disturbed by the condition of the roads, possibly because it is no longer possible for highway superintendents to divert public money to themselves and their friends as they did when Mr. Robinson was premier and Mr. Labilliois was chief commissioner, is also alarmed because the Hazen Government has been able to collect so much more revenue from the Public Domain than did his colleague Mr. Sweeney. He figured that the Hazen Government has got just three freight car loads of money more from the people, provided the cars were loaded with 25-cent pieces. Although somewhat indefinite, as the tonnage of the car is not specified, Mr. Leger enlightened the people as to what the amount was by stating that the Hazen Government has spent half a million more than any other government of New Brunswick. The statement is false, but it is interesting as going to show the nature of the Opposition's arguments.

If Mr. Leger had been anxious to pursue his silver-laden freight cars further, he might have asked Mr. Sweeney, who was present on the platform with him, to explain what became of the freight car loaded with quarters which he failed to collect from the lumbermen for lumber cut on Crown lands. What became of this carload of quarters? Was it switched at Moncton, or did it get as far as College Bridge? Mr. Leger is fond of making charges regarding the careless expenditure of public money by his political opponents, but up to date it is not on record that he has ever tried to get at the facts of Mr. Sweeney's administration of the Crown land department and why there has been such an enormous increase in the stumpage.

Perhaps, however, the chief folly of the meeting was committed by Mr. Sweeney who tried to identify Mr. Hazen with the telephone monopoly. If Mr. Sweeney had wanted to be entirely honest in this matter he would have told his hearers that no one in the province benefited more by the telephone monopoly than Mr. C. W. Robinson. That gentleman understood the value of telephone stocks before the amalgamation and was able to straddle a very profitable financial deal by disposing of his interests in the monopoly. Mr. Robinson got in on the ground floor of this deal, and passed out through the parlor door.

Mr. Hazen has never had any speculative interest in the telephone business. He was an investor years ago in the New Brunswick Telephone Company, acquiring his stock in the public market. The attempt of Mr. Sweeney to make it appear that Mr. Hazen was engaged in franchise grabbing is as contemptible as it is untrue. When Mr. Sweeney coupled the name of the Premier with the men who are developing oil shales in Albert and the Grand Falls water power, he knew better than any man in New Brunswick that Mr. Hazen had no financial interest in either. As Surveyor General he knew the names of every man identified with either of these propositions, and had the knowledge that Mr. Hazen had nothing whatever to do with their promotion.

In reading the speeches of these gentlemen of the Opposition, every person will be struck with the fact that while according to them, individually and collectively, everything is wrong, yet they have no remedy to suggest. No plan by which a change in the interests of the province will be better guarded. For a quarter of a century the political godfathers of the Westmorland aggregation ruled New Brunswick. At the end of that period the Government had become so corrupt and inefficient, and was in such inefficient hands, that the party was swept from power and has not recovered consciousness since. Mistaking tolerance for appreciation the Opposition under Mr. Robinson has fondly imagined that the people favor their return to office. In this, they mistake public opinion. The people of New Brunswick are now convinced that the Hazen Government is giving them more for their money than they ever received from Mr. Robinson and his predecessors.

Then again why should Mr. Robinson expect the people to change their sentiments towards him so quickly? Three years ago they weighed him in the balance and found him wanting. What has he done since? Merely threw mud at the Hazen administration. He has not made even a single suggestion in the House that would lead people to believe him capable of government. He and his party are devoid of a policy except slander, misrepresentation and untruth. These are not the kind of men the people want to govern them. New Brunswick must progress, and to do this must be governed by active and energetic men who have the interests of the whole country at heart, and are willing at times to sacrifice self for country. Mr. Robinson is not of these; neither is Mr. Copp, nor Mr. Sweeney, nor Mr. Leger. They have all evinced a desire to get as close to the public crib as possible.

POTATO GROWERS AND RECIPROCIITY.

The Times, which daily inflicts upon its readers a short—commendably short—instalment of alleged humor, in singing the praises of Reciprocity, sarcastically remarks, "Shall the rich potato warmed in New Brunswick soil, and nourished by the balmy airs and golden sunlight of New Brunswick be saved from the potato bug to make French-fried for a Yankee glutton? Perish the thought!" We must infer from the foregoing that the Times is laboring to convey the impression that Reciprocity in farm products would open up a wider and better market in the States for New Brunswick potatoes. An instance of what is actually happening in the potato market, and what will happen to a much greater extent if the duty is removed, occurred in Charlotte County only last week, and is referred to in the St. Croix Courier. It is worth noting.

"Some Charlotte County people," says the Courier, "have been shipping potatoes to the Montreal market. The tubers have been shipped in bags containing ninety pounds, or a bushel and a half, and last week the price received was $1.10. But Aroostook County in the neighboring state of Maine, also grows 'some potatoes,' for which 'the market of ninety millions' has failed to form a complete outlet. With more potatoes on hand than they could dispose of in all the United States, the Aroostook County dealers had to seek a market elsewhere, and Montreal looked good to them.

"They sent potatoes there, with the result that the market was glutted and the price dropped at once to 90 cents per bag. Reciprocity is not yet in effect and the Aroostook dealers first paid the customs duty of 25 cents per bushel or 37½ cents per bag. This, with other charges deducted, brought the margin of the Maine dealers down to about 25 cents per bushel and the returns to the Maine farmer even below that figure. With the duty removed where would the Charlotte County farmer sell his surplus tubers and how much would he get for them at home or abroad?"

The potato is the largest root crop grown in the province. Protected as at present the farmer reaps the advantage of inter-provincial trade and higher prices. With the duty removed he will discover that the cry of "larger markets" works in favor of growers across the border and to his own very material disadvantage. Instead of providing "French-fried for the Yankee glutton," he will wake up to find that his foreign competitor, with Reciprocity to help him, can serve up an equally tempting dish to New Brunswick's own particular customers.

THE LARGER VIEWPOINT.

(Toronto News.)

In discussing Reciprocity The St. John Standard appeals to the better sense, the higher intelligence and the less selfish instincts of Canadians. One of its editorials in particular should be read from one end of the country to the other. Under the Washington bargain some expect to gain and some to lose. From the purely personal standpoint the former will incline to approve and the latter to denounce the agreement. The tendency will be for those who stand to benefit to forget that others must surely suffer injury.

Selfishness has force and will count largely in the ultimate decision, but it does not represent the highest attitude, and in the end it should not prevail. Society and nationality would be impossible under such conditions. The general good is what must be considered. So that, keeping still to the purely trade consideration, the ultimate judgment should be based on what appears upon the whole to be either a net average gain or a net average loss for all the various interests concerned.

Current Comment

(Toronto World.)

President Taft is bound to jam the Reciprocity deal through—because he made it. Sir Wilfrid Laurier the same. Is it a crime that either Canadians or Americans should ask for time to consider it? These two autocrats say, Yes. Well, is that government by the people for the people? Hardly.

(Hamilton Spectator.)

The Manitoba Free Press, Laurier Government organ, has come out in opposition to the Government on the Reciprocity pact. Before this business is over Sir Wilfrid will know more about loyal Canadian and British sentiment than he ever imagined before.

(Montreal Star.)

The price of lobsters is going up, and there certainly are indications that there are fewer "lobsters" in Canada than President Taft calculated.

(Washington Post.)

For an imaginary line our northern frontier is putting up a pretty good imitation of a stone wall.

PROTECTIONIST FARMERS.

(From the Canadian Century.)

That E. C. Drury, of the Dominion Grange, and the leaders of the Grain Growers' Association are wrong in saying that the farmers of Canada are unitedly in favor of reciprocity with the United States, has been positively proven by a canvass recently made in North Monaghan, Peterborough county, Ontario. The canvass was begun by the present editor of The Canadian Century and continued by Bruce Johnston, a farmer living three miles from Peterborough, who is an enthusiastic protectionist. The Peterborough Review gave valuable support at the inception of the canvass. Every farmer living in the township, extending nine or ten who were absent from home, was questioned as to his opinion, and 189 out of 218, that is over 86 per cent, signed the following declaration:

"The undersigned farmers of North Monaghan Township, in the County of Peterborough, believe that no reciprocity treaty should be agreed upon which will allow American farm products or American manufactured goods to come into Canada more freely than they do at present. We believe that the home market for farm products is better than any foreign market, for the following reasons:

"1. The farther the consumers are from the farmers the more it costs to carry farm products to them, and the more middlemen there are to share the profits.

"2. Many kinds of farm products command the best prices when they are fresh. If they are shipped to distant markets, they lose their freshness before they reach the consumers, and consequently the farmer gets a lower price for them than he would get if he could sell them while fresh in a market near at hand. Some kinds of farm products are so perishable that they cannot be profitably shipped to distant markets.

"3. A workman employed in a city of the United States, or any other foreign country, consumes only a few cents worth of Canadian farm products in a year. Workmen employed in British factories consume much more of Canadian farm products than those of any foreign country do, but even British workmen buy a very small proportion of what they eat from Canadian farmers. Workmen employed in Canadian towns and cities, will, under a proper system of tariff protection, buy nearly everything they eat from Canadian farmers. At present, owing to the low Canadian tariff on farm products, large quantities of American farm products come into Canada.

"The undersigned farmers believe that the Canadian tariff should be raised high enough to shut out such American farm products and preserve the home market for Canadian farmers.

"Great quantities of manufactured goods also come into Canada from the United States because the Canadian tariff is not high enough to keep them out. The working men employed in making those goods are fed by American farmers. The undersigned farmers of Peterborough County believe that the Canadian tariff should be so framed as to cause the manufacture of such goods in Canadian towns and cities by workmen who will be fed by Canadian farmers.

"We believe that the principle expressed in the following motto is a good one: 'Keep your money in circulation at home by buying goods made in Canada. When you can't get what you want in Canada, buy with the Canadian dollar.'

"If American manufacturers wish to sell their goods to the Canadian people they should build branch factories in Canada. The Canadian tariff should be high enough to make them do so.

"The undersigned farmers favour a policy of thorough protection for the products of Canadian farms, mines, and factories, with reciprocal preference arrangements between Canada and the other countries of the British Empire.

Every farmer was asked to read the declaration carefully, and was told that if he did not entirely agree with it he did not want his signature. It was found that a large proportion of the farmers of both political parties were hotly opposed to reciprocity with the United States. Even among the Conservative party, a number of men who expressed approval of the declaration against reciprocity, but said they made it a rule never to sign anything.

One farmer said: "I agree with every word on that paper, but I won't sign it because I believe you are a Conservative and working for the Conservative party."

He was assured that the canvass was not being made in the interest of any political party. Both political parties were well represented on the list of signatures.

On January 19 Mr. Bruce Johnston met at Ottawa the deputation of protectionist farmers led by Mr. David Jackson, and read the declaration to Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

There was not time to canvass the farmers in a large area, but we think that if a similar canvass were made throughout Eastern Canada it would be found that a majority of the farmers are protectionists and opposed to reciprocity with the United States.

CULMINATION OF PRETTY ROMANCE

Young Car Inspector from Revelstoke, B. C., Weds Girl of His Heart Here, After Waiting Seven Years.

A pretty romance was brought to a fitting climax in the West Side Monday evening at 7.30 o'clock, when Miss Caroline Balle, a passenger on the Corcoran, was married to Christian Mitchell, who came from British Columbia to meet his bride. Seven years ago young Mitchell came to Canada and entering the employ of the C. P. R. at last attained the position of car inspector at Revelstoke, British Columbia.

IN THE COURTS

No Bill Against Wm. McArthur For Escaping From Custody, But True Bill Against Stanton and Stone For Burglary.

The February term of the County Court opened yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, with Judge Forbes presiding. C. J. Coster, K. C., appeared for the Crown.

Both the civil and criminal dockets are light, there being but one criminal case to try and no civil jury cases. The grand jury had two cases to deal with the case of the King vs. William McArthur and the case of the King vs. Stone and Stanton. After being out for nearly an hour and a half, they returned no bill against McArthur and a true bill against Stone and Stanton. Stone is out on bail and neither the prisoner nor the bail were present in court.

Shortly after the court opened, his honor delivered his charge to the grand jury. In charging the grand jury, his honor referred to the absence of serious crime in the community. The first case presented was the King vs. William McArthur, charged with escaping from the chain gang. His honor thought that the deposition disclosed sufficient evidence to put the accused on his trial. The next case presented was that against Stone and Stanton, the facts having been published during the preliminary examination. Judge Forbes termed this case as tragic, as whoever committed the crime against Emerson and Fisher's store, actually loaded rifles to protect them if molested in their criminal act.

His honor referred to the large number of insanity cases which have come before him, and said that very young boys were being sent to the reform school to mix with boys of criminal inclinations. Judge Forbes called upon the government to erect a separate reform school, where truants might be sent.

At 11.30 o'clock the grand jury retired and at 12.50 returned. W. H. Harrison presented the following 18 naturalization papers, which were ordered filed: Philip Goldstein, Benjamin Lavaine, Alexander Shane, Jacob Warren, Abraham Greshkin, Samuel Le Vine, David Cherny, Henry Gard, Lewis Hurwitz, Myer Perchakov, Lewis Brant, Leonard Shane, Laver Belinkoff, Jacob Kenett, Monis Fine, Aaron Paul, Samuel Goldfarb, Russians, and Harry Gilkstein, an Austrian.

Docket. Criminal: The King vs. Harry Stone and George Stanton. Civil—Non Jury: Louis F. Dufresne vs. Amalie Guilford et al, Dr. W. B. Wallace, K. C., Oscar D. Hanson vs. John Rochicaud, H. J. Smith. The court arose at 1 o'clock until 10 o'clock Friday morning, when the case against Stone and Stanton will be taken up. Mr. Coster will prosecute and J. B. M. Baxter, K. C., and G. Earle Logan, will appear for Stone and E. S. Ritchie, for Stanton.

DIVORCE COURT. The February term of the divorce court opened at Fredericton yesterday with Judge McKewen presiding. The case of Maud Katherine Evans vs. William Herbert Evans was first taken up. S. A. M. Skinner with C. C. Teed, K. C., as counsel, appeared for the plaintiff. The case was undefended. A. J. Gregory, K. C., who had filed an appearance, announcing to the court that he had received instruction to withdraw from the case. Mrs. Evans, the first witness, a strikingly pretty woman, told of her marriage to the defendant, and described her married life in detail, telling of her husband's frequent intoxication and acts of cruelty. Louis Garrel, private detective, Montreal, occupied the stand up to the time of adjournment. His evidence went to show improper conduct on the part of the husband. The plaintiff formerly lived at Bathurst, where she was married to the defendant, who conducts a coal business at Montreal, where they resided until she left him and returned to Bathurst. When the court opened in the afternoon the case was resumed. Mr. Teed offered in evidence copies of the marriage certificate as well as the marriage license. Douglas Bishop and Samuel Bishop brother and father of the plaintiff, gave evidence to the effect that Evans treated his wife in a cruel manner and neglected her. They also stated that they had witnessed the marriage of the plaintiff to W. H. Evans, on October, 1899, and that the ceremony was performed by Rev. T. W. Street, who was then rector of Bathurst. Mr. Teed argued in support of judgment in favor of his client. Judge McKewen announced that he would deliver judgment in the case at an early date.

The young woman stenographer who is mentioned as co-respondent in the case, is one Laura Moore, of Montreal who was employed by Evans at an office which he conducted in connection with his coal business. The case is not defended.

BOOBY TRAPS LOOP CAR CASE

Chairman Recommends That Electrically Heated Car be Put on Route as Test-Formal Argument Tuesday.

The Public Utilities Commission met yesterday and heard evidence with regard to the complaints about the loop car in the West End. At the hearing witnesses the commissioners stated that in their opinion the loop car service was not as good as the people had a right to expect, and requested the street railway to put an electrically heated car on the route for a week in order to determine whether it would give a satisfactory service.

"We are not making an order," said the chairman, "and will not until we have heard argument. We merely request you to do this." H. M. Hopper said the company had experimented with an electrically heated car, and found that owing to the low voltage an electric heater would not keep the car sufficiently warm. The company, however, would comply with the request and put on an electrically-heated car for three or four days.

All the commissioners were present. F. R. Taylor and H. M. Hopper represented the street railway, while G. S. Mayes conducted the case for the complainants. Morning Session. At the morning session Recorder Baxter testified that the loop car, which was heated by a stove was not reasonably warm in cold weather. He said that the summer car was leaky. Col. Vine—I think you will find that the commission does not favor such cars anywhere.

In reply to Mr. Taylor, the Recorder said that he could not state definitely that the rain which wet the seats in the summer had not come through the ventilators, but his belief was that it was due to the leaky roof. He had complained to Mr. Hopper at various times regarding these conditions. In answer to Mr. Oty, the witness said that he did not agree that an open car was a necessity during the summer. There were nights when the closed cars were more comfortable.

S. M. Wetmore gave evidence to the same effect as that of the Recorder. Cars Very Cold. Capt. J. H. Crossley, sworn, stated that he frequently rode on the loop car and in winter found the car too cold. He knew of at least one occasion when the fire was out. The conductor had said that the stove held the heat in and that the stove was not hot. It did not heat the whole car. Rev. G. F. Scovill was next called and described the condition of the car as it was when he rode on it. He knew the seats to be too wet for use. In cold weather he and others had frequently walked because of the men waiting for the electrically heated car because the other was too cold.

Witness thought that on account of the company having the use of the public square in the West End, the West Side people were entitled to at least a consideration. He had known for some time that the people were much dissatisfied. In reply to Mr. Taylor the witness said that he could not say that the moisture on the seats had not come from the ventilators. The attention of the conductors had been drawn to the matter and they had replied that they were doing their best.

The commission then adjourned and proceeded to Carleton to inspect the loop car. Company Officials. At the afternoon session J. F. Brown, chief electrician of the Street Railway Company, F. D. Vaughan of the Vaughan Electric Company, and C. S. Holder were examined. Their evidence disclosed the fact that the loop car was about 16 years old, while many on the other lines were less than two years old. The suggestion of Mr. Mayes that one of the new cars be put on the loop was greeted with some laughter.

The electricians testified that as the maximum power available on the loop service was only 500 volts, satisfactory results could not be obtained for an electric heater in the loop car as the majority of the other cars were climbing hills. A heater set to 300 volts would not provide sufficient warmth, and was liable to be ruined when the full current of 500 volts was on. He did not think satisfactory service could be secured from a heater in the car unless a sub-station was built on the West Side, or the whole line equipped with copper wires. He estimated that it would cost between $25,000 and $30,000 to build a sub-station or install copper wire.

After the evidence had been taken the commissioners announced that they were ready to hear argument. Mr. Mayes said he was ready to proceed, but Mr. Taylor said he did not think he could do justice to his client's case unless he had a transcript of the stenographer's notes of the evidence. Service Not Good. The commissioners then announced through their opinion the evidence showed that the public were not getting as good a service on the loop route as they had a right to expect. This was not a final judgment. They merely wished to indicate their position at the present time. Council for the company would probably save time if he confirmed his arguments to the point as to whether or not it was practicable for the company to run an electrically heated car on the loop. If it was shown conclusively that the company would have to expend $25,000 to remedy the loop, then the commission would have to give very serious consideration to the question involved. It was not disposed to be unreasonable, but it felt something should be done if possible, to give the public a better service.

Col. Vine then requested the company to put an electrically heated car on the loop for a week or two, and after that time Mr. Hopper agreed to make a test for a few days, though he said it would be necessary to take the car off in event of a snow-storm. The commission then adjourned till

MRS. SMITH'S LECTURE HEARTILY ENJOYED

Large Audience Appreciate Descriptive Trip Through Historic London—Proceeds go Towards Seamen's Mission

In spite of counter attractions last evening the spacious hall of St. David's church was packed with citizens of St. John who had gathered to hear Mrs. E. A. Smith deliver her interesting lecture on Historic London, illustrated by slides made from photos taken by herself. In the absence of Mayor Frink, ex-Mayor T. H. Bullock occupied the chair. In introducing the lecturer he said Mrs. Smith was a woman of great ability and strong public spirit, who had always been ready to devote her fine gifts to the benefit of the city, especially to the charities of the city.

At the close of the lecture which was much appreciated, W. E. Earle moved a vote of thanks to the lecturer. In doing so he said that he had learned more about London during the evening than he had ever done during the course of his travels in the big metropolis. When he felt the benefit of the night of London he thought he would do well to present the cost of the trip to the Seamen's Institute and ask Mrs. Smith to deliver another lecture. He assured those who had never been to London that Mrs. Smith's lantern excursion was as interesting as the trip itself could be.

Rev. R. A. Kuhring, in seconding the motion paid some eloquent tributes to Mrs. Smith's ability as a lecturer, and said it would be a great thing if the citizens of St. John could have the benefit of more lectures of the same character. Mr. Bullock presented the vote of thanks to Mrs. Smith amid the enthusiastic applause of the large audience which was present. The Seamen's Institute and other representatives of all denominations.

The proceeds of the lecture, which were considerable, will go to the Seamen's Mission. OBITUARY. Mrs. Mary J. Harrington. Mrs. Mary J. KINGS REPRESENTATIVES ATTEND TO BRIDGE

Hear Delegates at Hampton Friday as to Relative Advantages of Two Possible Sites for Kennelcassis Span.

Hampton, Feb. 25.—The local members of the Kings' Society, A. Murray, George B. Jones and Fred M. Sprout were here yesterday and met Major O. W. Wetmore, Wright Flewelling, J. S. Armstrong, E. E. and other delegates in Mr. Sprout's office at the court house, to hear their views on the location of the new bridge across the Kennelcassis to replace that at Perry Point, destroyed two years ago. The relative advantages of having it at Perry Point or at Read's Point was talked over, and a free discussion was held in regard to the matter. The visitors were assured that every attention would be given to the facts set forth, and were also told that the question in all its bearings had already been laid before the provincial government and that the provincial government would rest upon the reports of the engineers as to the most suitable location, and the cost.

The visitors were thanked for their attendance, and they expressed their gratification at the reception they had received and the consideration promised to the matters presented.

Amusements. Opera House Tonight. One of the standard and high class productions to be presented by the Myrtle-Harder Company at the Opera House tonight is the incident in Hamlet, which has never before been presented outside of the great cities of New York and Chicago.

It is by its special arrangements with the Shubert's grand opera company, that Mr. Harder is able to present this most powerful drama at popular prices. The story of the play is such as to interest the keenest interest of the audience and depicts a tremendous struggle between capital and labor at the Chicago stock yards where the scenes of the play are enacted. The great John Ganton's intense desire to accumulate millions through his slavery to business, the drastic exposure of the methods of labor leaders and agitators whose greed for money by means of blackmail and bribery overshadows their honest desire to the welfare of their union, and the very pretty love story that winds its way through the play are only a few of the incidents that combine to make this production one of the great, if not the greatest of modern dramas now before the public. Because of the proper staging and the play contributes in no small measure to its assured success, Mr. Harder has equipped The Great John Ganton with a wealth of realistic scenic environments and electrical effects, making it most complete in every detail. There will be no advance in prices when the Myrtle-Harder Company presents this great drama. At the matinee today the company will repeat its Last Dollar, which was played to a capacity house last evening.

Three New Plays At The Nickel. The change of bill at the Nickel for today and Thursday has been tried out by the management and is given that it is one of the best for a long time. Indeed, the Nickel's 9 reels of all new pictures per week is being greatly appreciated by the public. There is a certainty of not seeing any "repeats" or old film. The first feature will be a Vitagraph social comedy-drama of the seaside in which Florence Turner, Leo Delaney and Jean, the college dork, play the leading roles. The Kalem Stock with Gene Gauntier in the first player's part, has a sweet story of the west, devoid of sensationalism under the name The Sheriff's Sister, really a delightful innovation on film-stories. The third and final picture is a laugh of laughs. It is by the Esanmy's western aggregation and called The Cowboys And The Count, an ludicrous yarn of a French dandy who went west to buy mining stock and his adventures with the cowboys. Arriving there Feb. 5, she sailed from the latter port a few days later for Ivesa to load sail for here. The Philae was built in 1898 by J. Blumer and Co. Sunderland, Eng. CLOSING STOCK LETTER.

By direct private wires to J. C. Mackintosh & Co.

The excitement following the announcement of the Interstate Commerce Commission decision appeared to have completely subsided this morning.

Not only that, but the financial community was disposed to take a decidedly more cheerful view of things.

As a result of this more normal state of mind there was further short covering and a fair volume of new business in the general market.

Which showed a further rally. The leaders were strong and fairly active and while the remainder of the standard list languished from time to time for want of interest this was compensated for by sharp upward movement in various specialties.

The fertilizer stocks maintained their bullish undertone, with the U.S. Rubber shares showing further gains on reiteration of rumors that the common stock was soon to be placed up for a dividend.

CLOSING COTTON LETTER.

By direct private wires to J. C. Mackintosh & Co.

New York, Feb. 28.—In spite of an absence of specific stimulating news, today's cotton market reflected continued aggressive support on all overactions and before the day was over the market advanced practically 1/4 per cent.

The early opposition to a further advance was no doubt a factor in the late rally, as the strength seemed due as a whole to short covering. The impression seemed to be that the resistance of the local market to bear pressure would favorably affect the spot markets.

Southern advances were bullish of tone, some of these claiming that spinning grades of the staple were scarce and that spinners would turn to the New York market as being the cheapest market on this side.

Port and interior receipts are beginning to fulfill bullish predictions of a contracted movement and if this tendency should persist it would be easier to maintain the advance established. The weight of sentiment here is now bullish and any further advance would likely meet a considerable volume of cotton for both accounts.

The bulls argue with some reason that such a contingency would strengthen the local position of the market, but with a liberal yield assured, and with the new crop prospect promising, we would prefer, for the time being, to sell on all particularly strong spots.

JUDSON & CO. CANADIAN NEWS NOTES. By direct private wires to J. C. Mackintosh & Co.

Montreal, Feb. 28.—(London, England, Feb. 28)—As it is to be made here during March of about £1,000,000 of the 5 per cent. mortgage gold bonds of the Mexican Northern Power Co., Ltd., the company will carry on business in the state of Chiapas, Mexico, in the centre of a very large power consuming district.

This confirms a report which has been current here for some time and which has caused a stir in Mexican Northern stock. The paid up capital is $12,000,000.

The directors of the Quebec Railway will meet on March 10th, and discuss the dividend. It is likely that one per cent will be declared.

ANGLO-AMERICAN ALLIANCE DESIRABLE

Dr. Alward Delivers Interesting Address Before Natural History Society Last Evening Review of Foreign Affairs.

Dr. Elias Alward addressed a large audience in the Natural History Society last evening, on An Anglo-American Alliance.
It had only been in the last quarter of a century or so that a better understanding had sprung up between the United States and Great Britain. Gradually these great English-speaking races were drawing closer and closer. An Anglo-American alliance had been growing in favor until now the people of Great Britain and the United States and Canada are realizing that they are one people. The celebration next year that will mark one hundred years of peace between the British Empire and the United States will cement still further this friendly feeling between the nations, he said.

Dr. Alward's address throughout was a brilliant effort, patriotic in tone, and showing a wide information of historic and present-day subjects. Dr. G. F. Matthew presided, and at the close a hearty vote of thanks moved by Dr. G. U. Hay, seconded by T. H. Estabrooks was presented to Dr. Alward.

CAPE BRETON "DEAD AGAINST RECIPROcity"

Attitude of Coal Interests so Described by North Sydney Hotel Man Passing Through City.

J. J. Pallen, of the Belmont Hotel, North Sydney, was in the city yesterday on his way to Boston and New York, where he will visit friends.

"How do the coal districts regard the proposed reciprocity treaty?" he was asked.
"Cape Breton is dead against reciprocity," he replied, "and it is going to put up a howl that will make the government sit up and take notice. We don't need reciprocity, and we don't want it. Any candidate who stood up for reciprocity in Cape Breton would be snowed under so deep that a thousand miners would not be able to dig him out in a lifetime."
"My opinion is that the reciprocity scheme won't go through, if it is not defeated by the United States senate, it will be killed in this country."

PEOPLE SHUT OUT OF CITIZEN'S COMMITTEE

Dissatisfaction Expressed with Methods Adopted by Advocates of Commission—Should Welcome Citizens.

Some dissatisfaction exists in regard to the way the Citizens' Committee is carrying on its campaign on behalf of the commission form of government. It is said that all meetings of the general committee should be open to the public and that instead of restricting the number of men on the committee, it should be made as large as possible.
Some critics say that the meetings should not only be open to the public, but that anybody should have a right to get up and express his opinions on any matter under discussion. In this way the committee meeting would tend to approximate in character the old Teutonic folk-meet or town meeting, and ensure the greatest measure of public confidence.

NOVEL FEATURES AT ST. JUDE'S REUNION

Collection of Curios Closely Inspected and Admired—Girls in Costume Preside at Gift Tables.

The congregational reunion held in St. Jude's church Sunday school room last evening proved very entertaining. It was also most successful as there was a large attendance present. A novel feature of the entertainment was a large table laden with ancient and foreign curios of value and rarity. These were closely inspected by the guests and provided much entertainment.

There were also gift tables with gifts for the guests. These were presided over by young ladies representing the Canadian girl, the Dutch girl, and the Japanese girl, and each gift was accompanied by an original poem. The reading and comparing of these also furnished much amusement. Taken in all the entertainment was one of the most enjoyable yet given in St. Jude's. A pleasing feature last evening was a solo by John Olive.

HAVE YOUR EYES EXAMINED EARLY IN THE MORNING

You would not think of working hard all day, and then in the evening when you were tired, enter a competition with the expectation that you would be able to do as well as if you were to enter the same kind of a contest in the morning when you were rested and in good condition.

Neither should you expect that a test of your vision made late in the day, would give as good results as if made early in the morning, as soon as possible after the night's rest. All the time you are awake your eyes are at work. They get no rest. It is not only when you are reading or at near work that your eyes are under strain, but, if there is any defect whatever in them, the strain is continuous during your waking hours.
If your eyes are troubling you in any way, come in and let us test them for you, but come early in the morning when the test will be most satisfactory.
