The sound of thunder rolled down the threatening arch of sky,
Echoed from hill to hill till the valley rang with the roar,
And a few great drops of rain on a sudden guest swept by,
To fall like a bullet spent on the highway's dusty floor.

Then a mighty wind arose and blew the cunset land, Blew till the tall trees bent like the slender blades of grain;
Vildly their tingled boughs were tossed by the tempest's hand That smote the cowering fields with the dashing drifts of rain.

But the wrath of the storm-king died, and silence came like a boon; The far horizon glowed with gold-edged amethyst bars; And up the seas of night came sailing the mystical moon. mystical moon. Her sapphire pathway strewn with the blossoming silvern stars.

STEEL FURNACE

Is the cheapest and best heating apparatus for country dwellings Being cased with brick it does not damage roots in cellar, the heat being carried up steadily into rooms during the night even after the fuel has burned low. This Furnace being made of PLATE STEEL is most durable, and being simple in construction does not permit of smoke or gas escaping, while it has a great advantage over more complicated Furnaces, by the interior being kept free from soot. This is the reason why it will radiate as much heat after being used for some time as it will when first set up. There is great economy in fuel, and much labor saved in cutting the wood; in fact, it will burn wood that cannot

Could Roger have been transported at that moment to the Hall, he would have seen a sight to overjoy him. A girl down on her knees in the utter abandonment of grief, with a letter spread open before her upon a big arm-chair, now reading a line, and now indulging in a fresh burst of tears.

"So that was what he meant. Oh dear! and how could I know it? I thought he meant, did I accept his invitation to dinner. Why did the stupid postnan overlook just that one letter? Oh dear! And I flew into a passion. And he meant would I marry him, and I did now know it. And he will never, never come near me again. And there is no one as nice as he is. And I said that I would rather dine on the door step than sit down at the same table with him whereas I would black him.

"Could Roger have been transported at that moment to the Hall, he would to this sort of remark; but Mr. Capel sorted with rage.
