GREY ADDRESSES THE COMMONS ON THE MOROCCAN INCIDENT

The British Foreign Secretary Says Germany Departed From Diplomatic Procedure in Disclosing Contents of Conversations —Explains Action Which Almost Led to War.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Nov. 27.—Sir Edward Grey, secretary for foreign affairs, cleared the political atmosphere and poured oil on the turbulent waters of Anglo-German relations in a speech lasting an hour and a half in the House of Commons this afternoon.

The foreign secretary reviewed the whole Moroccan episode from the sudden appearance of the German gunboat Panther in the port of Agadir in Southern Morocco up to the signing of the Franco-German treaty. He unflinchingly upheld the attitude taken by the British Government, but at the same time declared that its action was never antagonistic to Germany or to any settlement she was able to arrange with France, and which did not threaten the rights of Great Britain.

Sir Edward Grey made no secret of the fact that the situation had at one time been very tense, but thought his statements today would prove a sedative to a world which had been indulging in a fit of political alcoholism, and that the time had arrived for it to get and to keep cool and sober.

Grey's Plain Talk.

London, Nov. 27.—Sir Edward Grey delivered his anxiously-awaited speech on the international political situation in the House of Commons this afternoon. He declared that the statement of Herr Von Kiderlen-Waechter, the German foreign secretary, was incomplete, and therefore it was necessary for him to make a fuller statement of the part taken by the British foreign office before the House of Commons.

The House of Commons was crowded when Sir Edward Grey arose. Many distinguished strangers were in the galleries, among them a number of foreign diplomats.

Taken by Surprise.

At the outset Sir Edward Grey told the House that Herr Von Kiderlen-Waechter's disclosure of the conversations, which had taken place between the German ambassador and himself, had taken him by surprise. In diplomatic procedure, it was most unusual to make public any such conversations without consulting the other party, and he knew nothing whatever of what Herr Kiderlen-Waechter's intention until he read the published account.

He did not make any complaint, however, as he understood that the exigencies of the situation in Germany precluded any such consultation.

Herr Von Kiderlen-Waechter's statement was not complete, so that he (Sir Edward Grey) was under no necessity of putting the part taken by the British foreign office before the House of Commons in a fuller manner.

The communication made the British foreign office by the German ambassador, Count Paul Wolff-Metternich, on July 1, in regard to the dispatch of the German gunboat Panther to Agadir in Southern Morocco, and the ambassador's explanation in regard to that matter, continued Sir Edward Grey, made it clear that Germany regarded a return to the status quo in Morocco as impossible, and that Germany's real objective was a definite solution of the whole Moroccan question.

On July 3 Sir Edward Grey informed the German ambassador that the situation created by the dispatch of the Panther to Agadir was so serious and important that it must be discussed at a cabinet council, and on July 4 he told Count Wolff-Metternich that Great Britain was not able to take up a disinterested attitude concerning Morocco, nor to recognize any new arrangement come to without her consent.

A long silence followed, and the next conversation between Sir Edward Grey and Count Wolff-Metternich took place on July 21, when the British foreign secretary told the German ambassador that the British Government adhered to his statement made on July 4.

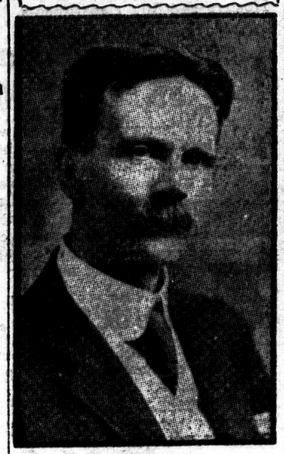

Sir Edward Grey also told Count Wolff-Metternich on that occasion that the British Government knew that a rectification of the Congo frontier was proposed as the basis of settlement between Germany and France, and said he thought the matter might be arranged on such a basis without affecting British interests.

"We shall be very glad if this happens, and in the hope that it would happen we have hitherto stood on one side," Sir Edward Grey said to the ambassador, and continued. "But I had been made anxious by the news regarding the demands which the German Government had made from the French Government, which in effect meant a cession of the French Congo, and which it was obviously impossible for the French Government to concede. I pointed out that the Germans were in the closed port of Agadir, that they were landing and negotiating with the tribes, and for all we know might be acquiring concessions. It might also be that the German flag had been hoisted at Agadir, which is the most suitable port on that coast for a naval battle."

Sir Edward Grey pointed out to Count Wolff-Metternich that in the event of the negotiations with France failing, Great Britain would be obliged to take some steps in order to protect British interests.

The German ambassador was not in a position to impart any information to the British foreign office, but he deprecated the assumption of possible damage to British interests, and said he was sure that his Government had no intention of acquiring commercial monopoly.

An Independent Candidate

MR. HENRY B. ASHPLANT,
It Is Announced That He Will Be in the Local Field for the Ontario Legislature.

EIGHTEEN MADE PRINCES OF CHURCH

Pope Pius Confirms New Appointments to the College of Cardinals.

PONTIFF APPEARS WEAK

One Name Kept Secret To Be Made Public at a Later Consistory—Great Crowd on Piazza.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, Nov. 27.—Besides the new cardinals who received the red hat today, the Pope created another whom he reserved "in pectore," namely, "kept secret," and whose name will be published in a later consistory when the Pope wishes that to be done. In some cases the name of the prelate only becomes known after the death of the Pope.

Rome, Nov. 27.—Obedient to a summons from Pope Pius X., the cardinals in Rome assembled in a secret consistory today and confirmed the papal nomination of eighteen new members in the college of cardinals, the supreme governing body of the Roman Catholic Church.

As he entered the hall of the consistory, where today's ceremony took place, his step was less sure, and the care-worn face of his holiness bore signs of his recent illness, that had come to stay. Nevertheless he withstood the fatigue of the long and trying ordeal bravely, with a smile for each and a word for several in the long procession that passed before the papal throne.

In accordance with the ecclesiastical law a public consistory must be held three days after the private gathering, when the new cardinals, with the exception of those from Spain and Austria, will receive their red hats. The Spanish and Austrian prelates, as is provided in the concordat with these countries, must receive the biretta first from the hands of their temporal sovereign. The public consistory will be held Thursday in the Hall of the Beatification instead of in the sala regia, as at first planned. The former hall is much the larger and was decided upon this morning, because of the great number of applications for admittance.

A Simple Ceremony

The postponed meet of the Liberal Association will be held in Hyman Hall on Saturday night next, Dec. 2.

It is requested that every Liberal in London be present. Keep the date in mind, Saturday, Dec. 2.

TERRIFIC GALE IS SWEEPING ISLAND OF NEWFOUNDLAND

It Is Feared That Many Vessels Have Been Lost With Their Crews and Railway Service in Every Section of the Island Has Been Stalled.

St. Johns, Nfld., Nov. 27.—Railway service in nearly every section of Newfoundland is stalled, and coast steamers have been compelled to seek harbors of refuge as the result of a hurricane which has been raging since Saturday. Reports of damage are slow in coming in, particularly from maritime centres, but it is feared that the toll of the previous storm, which wrecked six vessels, with a loss of a number of men, will be equalled.

At least one victim of the storm among the coasting vessels, was indicated when an unidentified vessel was sighted late last night off the northern coast, with all sails gone and drifting to seaward. There were no signs of the crew, and it is believed that they had been washed overboard.

THE LIBERAL LEADER AGAIN CHALLENGES PREMIER WHITNEY

Mr. Rowell Addresses Two Splendid Meetings in North Oxford in Which He Calls On Sir James to Declare Himself as to Bilingual Schools.

Embro, Nov. 26.—Once again has Mr. Rowell thrown down the gage to Sir James Whitney. Speaking at a very large meeting of West Zorra electors here last night, he said: "I have made these proposals time and again to Sir James Whitney; as yet he has made no answer—I venture to say he dare not answer them! Is he satisfied with the conditions that exist at present in the so-called bilingual schools? If he is, let him say so, and tell his followers to cease this agitation. If he is not satisfied with the administration of the law, let him tell us what measures he has taken to remedy it. Let him state what steps he is prepared to take now to remedy this matter. The people of this province are surely entitled to an answer. If Sir James does not know the condition of affairs, then his administration shows an incompetence that even his strongest Liberal opponents have scarcely charged against him. Sir James may take whichever horn of the dilemma he chooses. But why should we put a Government back in power for another four years without having a definite, clear statement of what it proposes to do?"

At East Nissouri.

East Nissouri and West Zorra were visited by the provincial Liberal leader, Mr. N. W. Rowell, K.C., yesterday, and in each township the electors gave him a fine reception. Although the afternoon was cold and blustery; men drove from eight to ten miles around to the Oddfellows' Hall

STREET RAILWAY EXTENSIONS TO BE CONSIDERED THIS WEEK

City Engineer Wright and Manager King Will Go Over the Proposed Routes With the Special Committee of the City Council.

A meeting of the special committee appointed by the council to deal with the matter of street railway extension will meet some time this week to consider a report from City Engineer Wright as to the routes, etc.

Manager C. B. King, of the street railway, will be present and will go over the proposed routes with the committee, and explain any difficulties that might arise.

When questioned by The Advertiser Mr King would not say whether the north end line proposed at the last meeting of the committee could be successfully operated.

"I have the plans drawn out," he said. "That is as far as I have got as yet. I cannot tell whether or not the line is workable until I go into the plans more thoroughly. You see the arrangement made the other night was tentative. The committee, as I understand it, referred the matter to City Engineer Wright to report on. He was to follow as closely as possible the plan of the deputation interviewing the committee. Now Mr. Wright may discover that the scheme outlined by the citizens in the north end is not the best one, and he would then suggest another. Our work would amount to nothing, and it would have to be done over again. I have the route as proposed laid out, and will look into its feasibility in case the committee decide to adopt it."

Mr. King has done nothing with regard to the four extra cars as demanded by the city council, but will consider them when the new routes are decided on.

"More cars cannot be handled under the present arrangement," said Mr. King. "But the new routes will probably settle any difficulty along this line."

The date of the next meeting of the committee has not yet been decided upon, but will be taken up later.

IOWA MAN IS SEEKING HEIRS TO A FORTUNE OF MILLIONS

Mr. Charles N. Page, of Des Moines, president and manager of the Iowa Seed Company, writes The Advertiser as follows:

"Can you give me any information regarding the descendants of Thomas Page, who formerly lived at Leominster, Mass., but moved to Ontario, or Upper Canada, as it was then called, about 1795? It is supposed that some of his descendants now live in your locality, though possibly those now there are not named Page, but may be Wright, Guernsey, Dunn or some other name which married into the Page family at an early date.

"It appears that owing to the death of other heirs, a large property amounting to several million dollars reverts to this branch of the family, and has been lying dormant in the hands of the trustees and executors for many years past.

"It is supposed that Thomas Page lived until about 1830, but it now becomes important to trace the time and place of his death and names of his descendants.

"Any information you can give me will be greatly appreciated by, Yours very truly, "CHAS. N. PAGE."

COUNTY'S APPEAL DISMISSED MUST PAY BATEMAN $12,500

Strathroy Physician Was Hurt by an Obstruction On the Roadway and the County of Middlesex Was Found Negligent —Appeal Heard in Toronto.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, Nov. 27.—At Osgoode Hall this morning the divisional courts dismissed the appeal of the county of Middlesex from the decision of Justice Riddell awarding Dr. Frank J. Bateman, of Strathroy, $12,500 damages for personal injuries sustained while answering a hurry call in the early morning of Sept. 20, 1910.

An obstruction left on the road by road repairers was crashed into by the doctor's buggy, and he was thrown out and severely injured, on the road between Strathroy and Mount Brydges.

He was awarded $12,500 damages in a suit for $25,000.

The argument was very short, and oral judgment was at once given by Chancellor Boyd, who spoke for the court.

Mr. J. M. McEvoy appeared for Dr. Bateman, and Mr. J. C. Elliott, of Glencoe, for the county.

THREW PEPPER INTO MEETING!

Dastardly Act Perpetrated at King Street Church Meeting Friday Night.

CHILDREN MADE ILL

Investigation Is Being Held and the Guilty Parties Will Be Brought Into Police Court.

While the teachers and children of King Stret Presbyterian Sunday school were practicing for their Christmas cantata on Friday evening in the basement of the church, someone threw a handful of cayenne pepper into the room, which resulted in breaking up the practice and making several of the children seriously ill.

As a result a strict investigation is being conducted to find out the perpetrators of the dastardly deed.

Several of the children who breathed the pepper into their lungs were unable to attend Sunday school yesterday, and Superintendent Snelgrove questioned many of the boys who attended the practice to find out who threw the pepper.

Trick of Outsider.

As far as can be learned, none of the boys of the Sunday school are responsible for the trick, and it is thought that a couple of young lads who were seen hanging around the place at the time, had something to do with it.

The Sunday school room was filled with the pepper yesterday, where it had settled on the floor and ledges.

The place will have to undergo a thorough sweeping and cleaning before the stuff can be gotten rid of, as it is impossible for anyone to stay in the room for any length of time without coughing and choking.

Many of the children got the pepper in their eyes, and suffered considerably as a result.

WILLIAM GRAY CALLS CONVENTION

Announces That the Conservatives Will Meet on Friday Evening Next.

OBJECTS TO CLIQUE WORK

Announced That He Is in the Hands of the People and Will Be Guided by Them.

"I am in the hands of my friends, and my name will certainly go before a convention of the Conservatives of London to be held in the Auditorium on Friday evening next. It is not the right of any clique of men to say whether or not there will be a convention. As president of the association I have the right to assert my prerogative, and I have named that date as the time for holding the convention to nominate a candidate. Make no mistake, there will be a convention, and my name will be one of those submitted to the delegates. It makes no matter who gets the nomination—Adam Beck, William Gray, or John Smith—the meeting will be held."

In the above interview Mr. William Gray, spoken of as an independent Conservative candidate, expressed his views to The Advertiser today. It has been rumored that he would contest the riding regardless of the action of the Conservative convention, but he would merely go so far as to state that he would allow his name to be considered by the delegates.

Mr. Gray Differs.

A report was sent out last week to the effect that the convention had been called for Friday evening, Dec. 1. Last Friday evening, a number of prominent Conservatives on the association

MR. MARSHALL DENIES THAT HE'S ELECTIONEERING

Registrar for Middlesex Says He Is Out of Politics for Good

There has been a rumor in circulation that Mr. Jos. H. Marshall, ex-M. P., now registrar for East and North Middlesex, was taking an active interest in East Middlesex on behalf of Mr. Geo. W. Neeley, ex-M. P. P., and the present Conservative candidate. In conversation with The Advertiser, however, Mr. Marshall denied emphatically that he was taking any part whatever in the campaign.

"I have had nothing whatever to do with politics, since my appointment," said Mr. Marshall. "I am out of the game, and intend to remain out of it. I am not foolish enough to mix up in something that does not concern me. It is absolutely untrue that I am interesting myself in the slightest in the contest in East Middlesex or any other riding."

A NARROW ESCAPE FROM BURNING HOUSE

West London Family Were Awakened Just in Time to Save Lives.

With the partition of their bedroom in flames, H. F. Watson and his wife, 33 Beaufort street, were awakened at 1 o'clock Sunday morning by the smoke and the crackling of the burning wood.

Mr. Watson, although quite affected by the choking smoke, seized his wife, and after considerable effort, dragged her to the fresh air. The fire department was called and extinguished the flames.

They had retired early, and were sleeping soundly when Mr. Watson woke up with a choking sensation. The house was filled with dense smoke, and the partition between their bedroom and the kitchen was burning fiercely. He seized his wife, who was almost overcome, and dragged her to a place of safety.

She was sick nearly all day from the smoke and poisonous gases. The fire brigade were soon on the scene, and in a few minutes had the flames under control. The damage is estimated at $100. The blaze was caused by an overheated pipe, it is thought.

Forgot The Letter For Two Years

It is a well-known fact that if you give a man, a married man in particular, a letter to post, it is a safe bet that he will forget to drop it in the box for at least three days after the letter has been given him. Some men have been known to forget the matter for a week, while a case has been heard of where a man forgot for a whole month to post the letter that "wifey" had given him with strict instructions to drop it into the first mail box.

However, these cases are only mild affairs to that of the man on Queen's avenue, in East London, who recently discovered a letter in his pocket that he was given to post nearly two years and two months ago. The letter was given him by a lady staying at his house at the time, and was addressed to her husband in the West.

Mr. Man was intrusted to post it, and carefully placing it in his pocket, he immediately forgot all about it. The coat was worn out, and laid aside. The letter still reposed in the inside pocket. The lady went away, and returned a year later. The letter was forgotten until only last week, the man had occasion to hunt up his old coat. While searching through the pockets, the unposted letter was discovered. A little later a man stole silently out of the house and made for the nearest letter box. With a guilty look on his face, he dropped the two-year-old epistle in, and breathing a sigh of relief, returned home again.

FRENCH-CANADIANS HOT AFTER FOY

Association Takes Exception to His Recent Remarks on Bi-Lingual Schools.

CALL STATEMENT CRUEL

The Right To Teach French Will Be Insisted Upon to the Limit, Says Mr. Tremblay.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, Nov. 25.—Jules Tremblay, secretary of the French-Canadian Education Association of Ontario, this morning issued a sweeping statement in behalf of that body in reply to the recent remarks of Attorney-General Foy against bilingual schools. After quoting from Hon. Mr. Foy's speech, the association goes on to declare:

"L'Association Canadienne Francaise d'Education d'Ontario (The French-Canadian Educational Association) desires to lose no time in expressing the great surprise of all its members that such a statement, involving as it does, the cruel, arbitrary, unjust and sweeping denial of the elementary natural, as well as constitutional, rights of at least ten per cent. of the people of this province, should emanate from one holding the responsible position of attorney-general of the province.

"The association is as anxious as any body, or individual, that the English language shall be taught to all French-Canadian children of Ontario as thoroughly as possible, but it will, with all the constitutional means at its disposal, and with all the energy and activity it can command, insist upon the exercise of at least those rights that are recognized to the French-Canadians, and which they have enjoyed for many years, with the sanction and co-operation of the department of education in Ontario.

Their Rights.

"The enjoyment of these rights is amply warranted by reason of the position held by the French-Canadians in the Canadian confederation generally, and in this province in particular.

"The association, furthermore, believes that a large portion of the English-speaking population of Ontario would view with alarm the proposal to enact a law that would prevent the teaching of French in the school system of this province, and a large number from taking courses in the higher schools as well as in the universities of Ontario.

"Neither can this association believe that the enlightened section of the people of this province is prepared to have it decreed that this as well as all future Ontario generations shall be condemned to know but one language.

"The statement of the Attorney-General of Ontario is wholly at variance with the policy and practice of the British people all over the world."

FACE WAS LITERALLY COVERED WITH PIMPLES.

Four Different Doctors Did Her No Good.

Two Bottles of BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS Cured Her.

Bad blood is directly the cause of the face breaking out in pimples, and it is impossible to eradicate them unless you put your blood into good shape

Burdock Blood Bitters is compounded from roots, herbs, barks and berries, and is without a doubt the best remedy procurable for the purpose of driving all the blood impurities out of the system.

Mr. Geo. E. Miller, Clavering, Ont., writes:—"Last fall I was very much troubled with pimples. My face was literally covered with them. I went to four different doctors, but they could do me no good. One day a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got two bottles, and before I had taken all the first one, the pimples had nearly all disappeared, and by the time I had taken all the second one the pimples had disappeared completely, thanks to Burdock Blood Bitters. I would advise anybody who is troubled with any blood trouble to use Burdock Blood Bitters.

THE ARABS REPULSED BY BRAVE ITALIANS

Stiffest Battle Yet in the Tripoli Campaign Occurred Yesterday in the Trenches.

Rome, Nov. 27. — There has been sharp fighting at Tripoli and Derna. The result of the former is not stated in the official dispatches, which say it began on Saturday evening by 600 Arabs trying to rush the trenches which were occupied by the Ninety-third Infantry. The Arabs were repulsed with a loss of 40 killed and 100 wounded. General Frugoni today in an effort to clear the oasis of the enemy, ordered the troops to advance and occupy Forts Mesri and El Harmi. The former was occupied. There was lively fighting on the Italian right with Turkish regulars.

An unofficial report says the fighting was stiffer than any which has yet occurred.

The action at Derna took place on Friday. It lasted for eight hours, and the fighting was fierce. At the conclusion of the time mentioned the Turks faded away after having suffered severe losses. The Italians then fell back to Derna. Their losses were 12 killed and 40 wounded.

BLOCK THE STRAITS WITH SUNKEN SHIPS

Turkey Is Preparing to Obstruct the Fairway Through the Dardanelles.

[Canadian Press.]

Constantinople, Nov. 25. — Should Italy attempt to force the Dardanelles the Porte has arranged to sink a number of Turkish ships with the purpose of obstructing the fairway. Turkish military officials are awaiting developments with composure. They declared that an Italian fleet would suffer such losses in forcing the straits that even the numerically weak Turkish squadron would be further to reduce the enemy's effectiveness to such an extent that if it reach Constantinople it would be at the mercy of the Turkish forts.

The Ottoman ministers of war and marine are now in the Dardanelles seeing that the forts are being placed in readiness.

SUFFRAGISTS PLAN BABY AND COOK SHOW

Just to Prove to Ridiculing Men They Are Deserving of the Franchise.

[Canadian Press.]

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 25. — To prove to ridiculing men that suffragists can raise children, as one of their main purposes, members of the Illinois Equal Suffrage Association have planned a "county fair" at one of the leading hotels, at which the main feature will be a baby show.

The women who would vote are also desirous of showing the stronger sex that they are not far astray when it comes to a question of cooking. To show their proficiency in this line, a cooking contest has been arranged for. The men will be asked to partake of pies, bread, puddings, salads and biscuits, all the products of the suffragist cooks.

The "county fair" will last three days, beginning Dec. 7, and speakers who are known to favor "equal justice to all" will be invited to make addresses.

[Canadian Press.]

NO EXECUTIONS.

Juarez, Mexico, Nov. 25.—The reported execution of two Reyistas, near San Lorenzo, on the border east of the city, is strenuously denied by the local military authorities.

"No order to execute prisoners has come from President Madero," says Col. A. Estrada, in command of the Juarez garrison, today, "and any prisoners taken will be amply protected."

TWENTY YEARS.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—Convicted on the testimony of his own sister, the widow of his victim, Arthur Cornwell, a 23-year-old printer, who killed his brother-in-law, James Courtney, here last June, was found guilty of murder in the second degree. He was sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary. The trial had lasted three days.

Cornwell shot Courtney after a trivial quarrel, and his attorneys sought to mitigate the sentence chiefly by dwelling upon testimony that he was intoxicated.

UNITE AGAINST NE TEMERE DECREE

Memorandum on Matter Issued by Committee of Protestant Churches.

UNIFORM MARRIAGE LAW

Suggested That the Question Be Taken Before Privy Council for Settlement.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 25. — "Let us unite as one man against any power that seeks to invade our wholesome marriage laws, to interfere with the sacred status thereunder, and to breed strife and misery where holiness and happiness should reign. May God defend our rights."

So closes the memorandum prepared by a committee appointed by one of the churches to deal with the ne temere decree, and after submission to committees of other religious communions has been approved and adopted on behalf of the following:

The Church of England in Canada.
The Methodist Church in Canada.
The Presbyterian Church in Canada.
The Baptist Church Convention of Ontario and Quebec.
The Congregational Union of Canada.
Canada Yearly Meeting of Friends.
The Evangelical Alliance.

Seven Conclusions.

The compilation was authorized by a representative meeting early last month. It sets forth an historical resume of the law dealing with marriage in Canada, and submits seven conclusions, the chief of which are as follows:

"As 'legal equality among all religious denominations is an admitted principle of colonial legislation,' there is therefore given 'the free exercise and enjoyment of religious profession and worship without discrimination or preference to all his majesty's subjects.'

"A uniform system of laws should be enacted to regulate the procedure whereby the status of marriage should be created and evidenced, bringing as far as possible the laws for the solemnization of marriage of all the provinces into conformity.

"By such enactments every care should be taken to prevent illicit, secret or improper marriages, and to compel by such means as may be legitimately devised that the same should be solemnized openly and publicly.

"That it be declared when such marriage status exists it can only be impeached under any statute that may be enacted by the Dominion of Canada, and that no communion, community or individual can otherwise question the legality of such marriage, discredit the parties to it, the legitimacy of the offspring, or the civil rights flowing from it.

"That if there be any matter of doubt or question of law to be solved, a case raising all such questions be prepared by the Government and submitted at once for the opinion of the Privy Council.

"The question raised under the ne temere decree must not be permitted to degenerate into strife, in which the Protestant citizens of the Dominion, on the one side, are ranged against their Roman Catholic brethren on the other. This would leave no part of our great Dominion untouched by faction contests. It is a matter of civil right, dear to all, and embraces a most solemn contract, in which it is well that all should ask the blessing of the church to which they de facto belong. In order to have this sacramental blessing there must be a binding and open contract, without which there cannot be a valid sacrament of marriage. The civil law must settle the terms of this contract for all, by its statutes. Thereupon each church should add its blessing, but not mar or place impediments in such marriage laws in the enactment of which all should join."

ACCEPT RESIGNATION

Rev. Clarence Richeson, Who Is Charged With Murder, Relieved of Pastorate.

[Canadian Press.]

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 25.—The Immanuel Baptist Church Society last night accepted the resignation of its pastor, Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, under indictment, charged with poisoning his former sweetheart, Avis W. Linnell. The action was taken at the regular monthly meeting of th society after some members had made vigorous but vain objections. A month ago the society voted not to accept the resignation, and the matter came up again last night on the minister's renewed request that he be relieved of the pastorate.

SPENCER GUILTY

Springfield's "Jekyl and Hyde" Must Pay Penalty For Killing of School Teacher.

[Canadian Press.]

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 25.—Bertram G. Spencer, Springfield's "Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde," was found guilty this morning of the murder in the first degree of Miss Martha B. Blackstone, school teacher. Spencer, whose violent outbreaks have been unprecedented in Massachusetts judicial history, received the verdict without emotion.

MARQUIS KOMURA DEAD

Noted Japanese Statesman Victim of Tuberculosis.

Tokio, Nov. 26.—Although the death of Marquis Komura early Saturday came as a great shock to the Japanese people, it was not unexpected.

The marquis was a victim of tuberculosis. He was 55 years old, a Harvard graduate, his country's plenipotentiary in several foreign countries, including the United States, and foreign secretary in the Katsura cabinet during the most momentous period of Japan's diplomatic history. He was one of those who negotiated peace terms with Russia.

BEULAH BINFORD'S PLANS.

New York, Nov. 25.—Beulah Binford, the girl who figured prominently in the Beattie trial, is living in seclusion here preparatory to submitting to an operation for appendicitis, which is to be performed at a New York hospital next Tuesday. Friends say that she has taken another name, and will try to lead a quiet and inconspicuous existence.

COULD NOT SWEEP FLOOR

Was So Terribly Afflicted With Lame Back.

It is hard to do housework with a weak and aching back, and no woman can be strong and healthy unless the kidneys are well.

The weak, lame and aching back comes from sick kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from kidney trouble. Mrs. Harvey W. Brownell, Northport, N.S., writes:—"I now take pleasure in writing you, stating the benefit I received by using Doan's Kidney Pills. About a year ago I was terribly afflicted with lame back, and was so bad at times I could not sweep my own floor. While looking through your B.B.B. Almanac I saw Doan's Kidney Pills were a great remedy, so thought I would try a box or two. After using five boxes I was completely cured, and I am very thankful to have found so speedy a cure."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. In ordering direct specify "Doan's."

R. & O. COMPANY AFTER COLLINGWOOD PLANT

Shipbuilding Concern May Be Absorbed By the Big Lake Steamship Merger.

Montreal, Nov. 26.—When spoken to tonight, Mr. Rodolphe Forget, president of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company, stated that his company was negotiating for the purchase of the Collingwood Shipbuilding Company's plant at Collingwood, Ont.

"We have not yet completed arrangements," he said, "but expect within a few days to be able to announce the purchase."

A meeting was held in Toronto last week of the interests affected by the proposed acquisition of the Shipbuilding Company. The Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company, the Northern Navigation and the Inland Lines, which recently effected an amalgamation, were represented. It is stated that an offer for the Collingwood Shipbuilding Company's plant was made on a cash basis.

PRESS OF GERMANY IS STILL IN A RAGE

But the Official Organs Have Taken On Milder Tone Over Anglo-German Affair.

London, Nov. 26.—Dispatches from special correspondents in Berlin and quotations from the German press show that Germany, especially the Pan-Germans, are still raging against England, but the official and semi-official organs have taken on a milder tone. It almost seems as if the Kaiser himself was the most peaceful man in his dominions.

There has been much wild talk of foreign affairs for the past couple of weeks, and France, Germany and England are waiting on the tiptoe of expectation for Sir Edward Grey's speech on Monday. As this is so near there is no need to speculate on the line which Sir Edward will take, but it will be surprising if any startling revelations are forthcoming. Sir Edward belongs to the school whose tradition is not to share secrets of the foreign office with the man in the street. Amateur statesmen insisted that some dark mystery overhung the "secret clauses" of the Anglo-French agreement in 1904, in spite of Sir Edward Grey's description of them as of subsidiary importance to the main agreement, and their publication in order to dispose of idle rumors and clear the way for Monday showed that there was no particular reason why they should not have been published long ago There is no reason to expect that Sir Edward's speech on Monday will be much more sensational.

SUSPICIOUS OF KAI

Neither Manchu Nor Chinese Trust New Premier at Pekin.

[Canadian Press.]

Peking, Nov. 25. — The position of Premier Yuan-Shi-Kai is becoming more intolerable daily. Neither the Manchus nor the Chinese trust him, and the Manchus are becoming more suspicious all the time.

The moderates do not hesitate to say that if Yuan had remained at Chang Te Fu the court would now be at Jehol, and the rebellion ended.

Many Chinese believe that while Yuan is reassuring foreigners with a view to obtaining a loan, and placating the moderates with pretended pacific measures, he is in reality intent upon sternly crushing out the rebellion with force.

The continued fighting at Hankow, and in the vicinity of Nanking, is taken as lending color to this belief. The imperialists, after an attack upon Hankow that lasted for 36 hours, were repulsed last Thursday, and driven back across the Han River, with great loss.

GENEE DEAD.

New York, Nov. 25.—Cable advices received by theatrical men here announced the death in Germany of Ottilie Genee, one of Germany's famous actresses. She was 77 years old. In 1869 Frau Genee undertook a tour through America, ending at San Francisco, where she founded the first German theatre. She managed this theatre for fifteen years with great success until recalled to Berlin in 1884 by the Kaiser, who desired her to play in the Royal Theatre.

Clearing of 450 Pairs Ladies' and Children's Silk Hose
85c to $2.00 Hose, Sale Price 19c to 75c

In the history of this store we cannot recall a hosiery sale of more importance than this. The prices on every line have been ruthlessly cut, for instance, Children's $1.00 Silk Hose for 19¢ to 50¢ a pair, and Ladies' Spun Silk Hose, regular $1.25 to $2.00, at 50¢ and 75¢ pair. What is the reason? you may ask. The merchandise stream, as we have said before, must be kept clear; stocks will not be allowed to accumulate at this store, and the bigger the store and the greater volume of business done, the more odds and ends accumulate, and the bigger are the bargains when (as the freshets clear the river each season), these sales sweep out all odds and ends and lines that stick at prices that are only a fraction of their value. Some of the hose in the light tints are slightly faded or soiled, but most are perfect goods.

Ladies' $1.25 and $2.00 Silk Hose

Ladies' Spun Silk Hose, plain or lace ankle, spliced feet, heel and toe, in white, tan, cream, sky, pink, cardinal and black; splendid quality and perfect goods. Regular $1.25 line, sale price, pair ..... 75¢

Also Ladies' Gauze Pure Silk Hose, in white, cream, pink, sky and mauve; double feet, heel and toe. A few of these are slightly faded. All are $2.00 quality. Sale price, pair ..... 75¢

At Hosiery Counter—Main Floor.

Sale of $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00 Fancy Ninons
Tuesday, 50c Yard, Come Early For These

Fashion's favorite material for overdresses, tunics and fancy veiled waists, hair-line and solid stripes, also one-piece Persian design. A final clearing of all odd and broken lines. In fact, this sale includes every piece of fancy ninon in silk department. If you have a light silk you would like veiled, this is your opportunity. A new dress at a very small cost for the winter parties. Colors are in two-tone stripes, cerise and white, helio and white, old rose and white, reseda and white, electric and black, and myrtle and black. Also self colors in wide stripes, reseda, helio and nile, and one-piece Persian effect.

We would advise coming in the morning as early as possible for these, as the lengths in most cases are not long. The widths are 42 to 44-inch, and as 4½ to 5 yards is sufficient to veil a dress, the cost is very light at this price. Sale price Tuesday morning, while they last, a yard ..... 50¢

At Silk Counter.

In the Millinery Section---Sale of Large Black and Colored Beaver Hats, $3.98

This is a rare opportunity to secure a genuine best quality beaver shape at a fraction of the regular value. We have these in three different styles, the newest and most up-to-date shapes; amongst them will be found black, navy, gray, green and cardinal, and the fact that a beaver shape will last for many seasons (they reblock so beautifully) is another good reason that must prompt economic buyers to take advantage of this sale. Come quickly as the quantity is limited. Choice of three shapes. Sale price $3.98

Trimmed Felt Hats, $3.50

Many new and pretty hats will be found on the bargain table this week. The price is $3.50, but the values of them run up to as high as $9.75. If you need a second winter hat, look these over. Your choice of the lot for $3.50

A GOOD SIGN

Gilbert Parkers' Sailing Indicates There Is No British Cabinet Crisis.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Nov. 25.—Sir Gilbert Parker is leaving for Canada today by the Campania. This in itself is proof that no ministerial crisis is impending over Sir Edward Grey's speech on foreign relations in the House of Commons on Monday, since so ambitious a party man as Sir Gilbert would not sail if there were any chance of the foreign secretary resigning as a consequence of the strictures on his policy passed by the Radical wing of the Government's supporters, and the more open attacks which have come from the ranks of the Unionists.

STORY WRITER DEAD

[Canadian Press.]

New York, N. Y., Nov. 25. — The death from exhaustion of Miss Avie Smith Jackson, novelist and short story writer, was announced here today. She died yesterday at her home in Madison avenue, after having nursed her mother, who is ill, with pneumonia, day and night, until the crisis of the sickness was safely over.

Although Miss Jackson was a prolific writer and quite successful once, she died penniless, and a charitable organization will have charge of the funeral and will take charge of the mother and sister.

STRIKE AT MONTREAL.

Montreal, Nov. 25.—The boilermakers' strike at the Montreal Locomotive Company's plant, Longue Pointe, was practically ended last night. The company, however, refused to take back several of the strikers, alleging that they had made trouble. They agreed to investigate the charges, and if the men were innocent they would be reinstated.

The men were called out by officers of the international union as a result of trouble in the United States.

It was practically a sympathetic strike here, no demands having been made for more wages.

KINCARDINE PEOPLE SAY THEY WILL SHOOT

And Will Not Pay Taxes Unless Vandalism Ceases.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Kincardine, Nov. 25.—A number of ratepayers have declared that they will not pay their taxes until they are reimbursed for heavy damage to their property done by Boys on Hallowe'en. It is, they say, up to the authorities to furnish protection against such outrages, and if they are perpetrated to hale the offenders into court and make them pay for the damage they have done. A magistrate's court was held yesterday to inquire into the matter, and fifteen youths appeared. One was proven innocent and fourteen pleaded guilty. Five others tried some days ago were fined $1 and costs each, with a likelihood of being ordered to make good the damage they caused.

Those who appeared yesterday had the case adjourned until next Friday, when it is expected more of the miscreants will be gathered in. Many of those whose property has been destroyed have asked for damages. A deputation consisting of Mr. J. Luthhead, constable, and a valuator, have gone to places where they learned that damage had been done, and placed a valuation upon it. This is being brought against the destroyers.

Taxpayers claim that it is up to the council to do something, as every year damage is done. Taxes are collected, they claim, not only for civic improvements, but also for protection of property, and they feel justified in refusing until forced to pay. There is some reason in this contention, for although the city fathers know of this state of affairs, there was only one night watchman on the streets and no street lights.

If this action does not bring the hoped-for protection, some boldly declare that they will shoot to put a mark upon those who destroy or steal; then they cannot prove an alibi, as has been done in some cases.

There have been nearly twenty charges laid, the offenders ranging in age from 12 to 23, and a mixture of various professions, such as bank clerks, high school students, apprentices, loafers and a lot of boys.

HOUSE TO ADJOURN OVER CHRISTMAS

The Recess May Extend From December 7 to January 10.

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—It is not unlikely that the House of Commons may adjourn over the Christmas holidays from Dec. 7 to Jan. 10. The early adjournment will be due to the fact that Friday, Dec. 8, is a holiday, the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, and that the Ontario elections take place on the following Monday, Dec. 11.

MT. FOREST ASSESSOR DIED VERY SUDDENLY

John Robinson Resided There for 20 Years, and Was Prominent in Public Life.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Mount Forest, Nov. 25.—Town Assessor John Robinson died very suddenly at his home here today from heart failure. He was in his 75th year, and had resided in Mount Forest for twenty years, and was well known through Wellington County. He was formerly in the marble business, but retired about eight years ago. In his younger days he was prominent in public life and was once a Liberal candidate for parliamentary honors.

Besides his wife he is survived by two daughters, Miss Robinson and Mrs. George Bateman, and by a son, William, in New York.

LISTOWEL WEDDING

Miss Edythe Landerkin Was Married to Mr. J. Hamilton Black.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Listowel, Nov. 25.—A quiet but very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Landerkin, when their daughter Edythe became the wife of Mr. J. Hamilton Black, of Meyersdale, Pa. The bride, gowned in a becoming travelling suit of brown broadcloth, was unattended. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Avison of Guelph, in the presence of immediate relatives, the wedding march being played by Mrs. Wilson, sister of the bride. During the signing of the register several piano solos were rendered by Mrs. Avison, A. T. C. M., a friend of the bride. After the wedding luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Black left to visit several Canadian cities, and will return to Listowel before leaving to take up their residence in Meyersdale, Pa.

DUNGANNON WEDDING

Miss Irene Maize Becomes Wife of Mr. W. Hasty.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Dungannon, Nov. 25.—A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Maize, of Ashfield, when their only daughter, Miss Irene, was married to Mr. William Hasty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hasty, of Crewe. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. Bartlett, of Dungannon, in the presence of about 100 guests. The happy couple will reside on the groom's farm at Crewe.

THE LIBERAL LEADER

in Kintore, and an audience of nearly two hundred, including quite a few ladies' listened with enthusiastic attention to the address. In the evening the town hall here contained fully three hundred, a large number of ladies occupying the gallery—the biggest political meeting held in Embro in several years, it is stated.

Carries Conviction.

By his intense earnestness of speech, of gesture, of look, and of manner Mr. Rowell carries conviction to his hearers. He gives of his best to every audience. And he is quick to appreciate local color, fitting his appeal to the conditions of the people to whom he speaks. While in Ottawa one of his supporters, the Liberal candidate in East Ottawa, Mr. L. J. Kehoe, added to his address in English a neat little speech in French, which was remarkably well received. In Zorra Mr. Rowell himself paid a graceful tribute to the history of Zorra, which had produced many great men holding prominent places in the religious, political and literary history of Canada and the United States, such as "MacKay of Formosa"; Rev. Dr. R. P. MacKay, the beloved moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly and foreign mission secretary; Ven. Archdeacon H. J. Cody, "probably the most influential clergyman in Toronto," and Rev. Dr. Charles W. Gordon ("Ralph Connor"), one of the most representative Canadian writers. Yet Mr. Rowell's campaign is by no means sectional, vacillating or uncertain, but rings true in every place to the Liberal principles and policy of his platform, is constant and consistent throughout, and so far has nowhere met with any challenge or serious criticism.

The Kintore Meeting.

At Kintore Mr. W. J. Dunster was chairman, and at Embro Mr. George Manson; Dr. Andrew MacKay, ex-M. P. P. for North Oxford; Mr. E. W. Nesbitt, M. P. for the same riding, and Mr. J. C. McLevin spoke at both meetings, while at Embro short addresses were also given by Col. Jas. Munro, former M. P. P. for North Oxford, and Mr. D. R. Ross. Col. Munro spoke appreciatively of Mr. Rowell, and earnestly exhorted the Liberals of North Oxford to stand firm, as they had for half a century, for the principles of their cause. Mr. Nesbitt urged every man to go out and vote without waiting to be sent for, and to see that his neighbor went, too.

Speaking of the universal dissatisfaction he found existing throughout the province with reference to the educational system, Mr. Rowell referred to the statement of the chairman of the high school at Sydenham on Friday to the Frontenac County Council, that his school might have to close owing to the inability of many public school pupils to pass the entrance examination, due probably to lack of competent teachers. This, said the speaker, was but one of many concrete examples of the bungling administration of education by the present Government.

"What has made Scotland great will make Canada great," declared Mr. Rowell, after quoting a few lines from Burns' "Cotter's Saturday Night," and added, "the building up of character is the supreme consideration, and should be the object of all legislative effort so far as the government of this country touches intimately the life of the people."

Backward Whitney.

"Sir James does not like our platform on taxation," he remarked, "but some of his followers do. Both candidates at Ottawa are in favor of our proposals. And I am quite willing to accept the description of Sir James given yesterday by the Ottawa Citizen—that good Conservative paper, which certainly ought to know him—that Sir James is striving like an ostrich to hide his head in the sand. I don't think the people of Ontario want as Prime Minister a man who hides his head in the sand when people demand progressive measures in land taxation."

How the "single tax" principle is applied to railway corporations was shown by Mr. Rowell. The Liberal policy proposes to place these great corporations on the same basis as the average, ordinary farmer. The average taxation in Ontario upon railways is $90 per mile, while the Grand Trunk is taxed on its lines in Michigan about $400 a mile, and the Canadian Pacific has to pay $450 per mile on its line passing through Wisconsin. He criticised this great difference in the rates.

That many Conservatives were going around as if they were defeated, rather than victors, Mr. Rowell attributed to their consciousness that the coalition Government, of which Mr. Bourassa was practically the dictator, had sacrificed most of the things Conservatives valued. Liberals who had during the past couple of elections deserted the Liberal standard were coming back, he said, because they saw the Government of Sir James Whitney was not doing what they expected, while some Conservatives recognized that the Government had too large a majority, and wanted to see it reduced. Conservative members of the Legislature protested against Sir James' domineering and overbearing manner of rule. "Have you notice," asked he, "how he, who is there to serve the whole people, treats those who don't agree with him, how he treated the last two temperance deputations, and how he treated the delegation from the north? Why, like Gallio of old, he cared for none of those things,' and 'drove them from the judgment seat.'"

The answer of the people to Sir James' question as to their judgment on his proposal to place the hydro-electric power scheme under a department of Government, ought, in Mr. Rowell's opinion, to be an emphatic "No." In the interests of the municipalities efficient and economical management were all-important. "Is it not a significant thing," he asked, "that Hon. Adam Beck's voice has not been raised for that change. I believe, if Mr. Beck were free to speak his own mind, he would express his desire to have matters remain as they are. What other purpose can be served by the proposed change than that of making it a matter of political influence and control? Why should a great public enterprise be turned into part of the political organization of either party in Parliament?"

LONDON, MONDAY, NOV. 26.

THE BILINGUAL SCHOOL PROBLEM IN ONTARIO.

A special correspondent of the Toronto Star, speaking French and English, has been visiting schools in the districts of Northern and Eastern Ontario, where the French-Canadian element is strong, and has elicited facts which should long ago have been officially made known to the people of this Province. The state of affairs shows why the Government has forced an election before Dr. Merchant's report has been published.

The correspondent quotes a well-informed educationist as saying that in 90 per cent. of the rural schools of the districts of Algoma and Nipissing, French is the real language, the teaching of English being a "side line" to which little attention is paid. Some of the teachers in these schools are wholly incapable of teaching English, because they do not themselves speak it accurately. The trustees, nearly all of whom are French, may advertise for teachers who know both languages, but all the applications, with few exceptions, come from Quebec. There are few English teachers equipped with both languages, and those who are qualified seldom care to go to new and distant parts of the Province for the salaries offered. Even the teachers who know English well devote most of the time to teaching French, with the inspector's acquiescence. As a result, scarcely any of the pupils in the schools have succeeded in passing the high school entrance examination.

The Star correspondent's inquiries have been mainly in the towns and villages. He found that the bilingual school at Sturgeon Falls sent up eleven pupils last year to try the entrance, and only one passed, whereas all the nine pupils sent up by the wholly English school were successful. In North Bay, on the other hand, where the French population has grown from 488 to 2,000 in ten years, the problem has been more satisfactorily attacked. The bilingual school, set up by the French seven years ago, works with the English school. They are practically two sections of the same school. Nearly all the French pupils attend the bilingual classes, but when they reach the senior third class, which usually means four years at school, English alone is taught. In the English section, the correspondent found twelve French, eighteen Italian, two Assyrian and one Greek, not one of whom could speak a word of English in September last, but all of whom are today acquiring English and keeping abreast of the English-speaking children in the same class. "The teachers of North Bay," he says, "have been able to solve the problem of teaching English to a child who knows nothing at all of such a language." The pupils from the French section of the school, however, are well instructed in English, and by the time they leave the junior third class are able to continue their studies in English in the senior third, and the senior fourth, and make a creditable showing at the high school entrance.

The situation in North Bay proves two things. First, it is not necessary that French children be taught in French even in the primary classes, in order to give them an English education. Second, the bilingual school can give French children a good working knowledge of English if the proper methods and qualified teachers are employed. Two reasons are given for the different results in North Bay and Sturgeon Falls. In the latter place, French continues to be taught through the senior third, and through both years of the fourth class, right up to the entrance examinations. In North Bay, English becomes the medium of instruction in the senior third. Sturgeon Falls is also under a French-Canadian inspector, while North Bay is under an English inspector, who sees that the regulations are carried out.

Unfortunately the correspondent's inquiries show that the conditions at Sturgeon Falls are the rule, and those at North Bay the exception. A typical instance is Cache Bay, a New Ontario village of a thousand souls, on the north shore of Lake Nipissing, between North Bay and Sudbury. There are two schools in the village, one wholly English, the other French, established four years ago. In the French school, which is called bilingual, there are 124 pupils, of whom eleven are of English-speaking parents, the rest being French. All these pupils are taught in French, not in the A B C classes alone, but right up to the time they pass the high school entrance or leave school. The inspector, a French-Canadian, insists on French teachers, and on the teaching of French in all grades. In four years only two pupils have passed the entrance. At Cache Creek, two miles distant, the situation is worse. The parents send their children to Cache Bay because they have no opportunity of learning English at the Creek. Many of the French-Canadian farmers speak English, having acquired it in other Ontario counties whence they came, but their children are growing up ignorant of it. The country back of the C. P. R. is almost wholly French. Even the school teachers do not speak English, or speak it very imperfectly. The same conditions probably exist in parts of Western Ontario Bishop Fallon is quoted as saying to Hon. W. J. Hanna that "there are children going to the public schools in certain parts of Essex who are unable to speak English, and this three generations after their ancestors arrived in these districts."

In all there are about 300 so-called bilingual schools in Ontario, though Sir James Whitney denies their existence, and there is evidence that in the majority of these the pupils are not given a working knowledge of English, and that no attempt is made by the education department to enforce its own regulations. The situation is becoming rapidly worse. A French tier of counties is forming like an arch over Ontario, beginning in the east, and working northeast. Already the debates of Prescott and Russell county councils are conducted wholly in French. The English farmers in Eastern Ontario are drifting to the west, and whenever a farm is offered for sale a French-Canadian purchaser is ready with the money, supplied by an organization controlled by the Nationalist party in Quebec. The gradual loss of school facilities is undoubtedly one influence in expelling the English. While the French-Canadians are virtuous and thrifty settlers, and their movement into Ontario follows natural laws, it presents a problem on the educational side which has not been adequately met, and which ought to be met in the interests of the French-Canadians themselves. Any Anglicizing process designed to eradicate their mother tongue would be as futile as unjust, but the state has a duty toward all its citizens, and a working knowledge of English should be regarded as indispensable in a Province and a continent where English is the language of commerce, and is necessary to the intelligent fulfillment of the duties of citizenship. A policy which says that every child shall be given an English education to help him fight the battles of life is one that should give no occasion of racial strife in this Province.

UNJUST TO WESTERN ONTARIO.

Doubtless the weakest of many weak points in the armor of the Whitney Government is its educational policy. One of its most characteristic features is its reactionary conduct of university affairs. "Let it die" is the Government's idea about the Western University agitation, while it pushes on to the last conclusion, without thought for a moment that any modification may be required by changing times and conditions, the centralizing policy which it inherited in more moderate form from the previous government.

Captain Murphy, of the Western University Board of Governors, is doing good service in calling the attention of London and the western counties to the continued neglect of the educational needs of particularly this part of the province. Something should be done by its electors at once, if the Western University is to receive the support to which it is entitled. Its claims are not and ought not to be made a party question. Candidates on both sides in the constituencies of this region, and especially in London, should be questioned and if possible pledged on their attitude in this important and urgent matter. If the electors let the opportunity slip it may mean the indefinite postponement or even the non-realization of a university for London and this region. A strong delegation of members on both sides of the House pledged to give the university its dues or some proportion of them, particularly a member for London itself in earnest on the subject, will assure the Western University. Whoever the premier is to be, he must be convinced that the people of London and Middlesex, St. Thomas, Chatham, Windsor, etc., take their educational disabilities seriously. They have spoken already through a powerful deputation; all that remains is to send a delegation to the Legislature of the same mind.

A fair grant to the Western will make it a university where not only the liberal studies, as at present, may be pursued, but where an engineering school may carry students at least through the second year of the School of Science. Why send the young men and above all the young women, to a crowded and overgrown university a hundred miles or more away? Our taxes ought to be used where they will do the most good; right here at home. Give the workingman's children a chance equal to that enjoyed by Toronto workingmen's children at the expense of London, St. Thomas, Woodstock, Middlesex, and this whole western country.

At least the troubles in the local Conservative camp cannot be blamed on the Liberal party.

The Ottawa Government wishes to bring the present session to a speedy conclusion. The Government is not enjoying itself.

"There are no bilingual schools in Ontario," says Sir James Whitney. We have the beginnings of a navy, but we are not all marines.

Ontario Women Suffragists will ask Sir James Whitney for the ballot. He may be as saucy as usual, but he will not get the last word.

The hygienic institute is another case where the Ontario Government awakened only on the eve of an election—and only because of it.

The Conservative Ottawa Citizen laments that Sir James Whitney's head is "buried in the sands of time." But he'll leave no footprints there.

Our local contemporary takes another sharp curve in coming to the rescue of Hon. Adam Beck. However, it finds no pleasure in the performance.

Mr. Rowell spoke Saturday in Zorra. The Liberal cause would be fairly safe there in any event, but his quotation from Burns' "Cotter's Saturday Night" makes it only a question of majority.

The newest Atlantic liner will have golf links, a cricket field, and a tennis court. A guarantee that every passenger will be in a condition to play cricket, golf, and tennis would be a greater attraction.

ROSA BONHEUR'S MOTHER.

[Philadelphia Bulletin.]

Speaking of her first realization of the tyranny of poverty, Rosa Bonheur describes her mother, worn out by the drudgery of bread-winning, and at the same time caring for four small children, of whom Rosa (ten) was the eldest. She was a hoydenish girl in spite of her artistic temperament; when she fell ill in her tenth year, the overworked mother gave her such devoted care that the neglected frame sunk beneath the burden. Emaciated by work and lack of food, the wife of Raymond Bonheur died just as she was most needed, leaving the girl of ten to "mother" the destitute brood. Rosa makes the melancholy comment: "After being reared as a princess, she hadn't even a tomb; we were forced to lay her in the Potter's Field," So that when, years later, affluence flowed to Rosa Bonheur, she hadn't the melancholy satisfaction of giving her mother sepulture in a shrine where her children could pay filial visits to the grave and decorate it every All-Saints' Day, as is the kindly habitude throughout the patrie. The pitiful death, the still more pitiful years preceding, were not the penance of evil or even the ordinary profligacies of a parent, for Raymond Bonheur, though chargeable with the misery of the mother, was neither a reprobate nor a wastrel.

ONE VIEW OF BONAR LAW.

[London Daily News.]

He (Bonar Law) will make a curious contrast to Mr. Balfour. Able, rather ponderous, and without subtlety or the literary graces, he can hardly be called a national figure. He belongs to the W. H. Smiths rather than to the Disraelis, and he will gain as much from the office as he will add to it. The lifting of a man, who has never held high ministerial office, over the heads of men who have longer years of service, and have held much higher ministerial rank, is always a hazardous experiment. It justifies itself if the man selected has something of the magnetism of genius. That is not Mr. Bonar Law's fortune. He cannot dominate his seniors by sheer force of personality; they know and he knows that he was selected for external reasons, not inherent quality. We shall be doing Mr. Bonar Law no injustice if we regard his leadership as a temporary arrangement to carry the party through the period when passions are still high. What permanent successor will he yield place to? If ambition was the determining factor the answer would be Mr. Austen Chamberlain, but something more convincing is needed to make a leader than the desire to sit in his seat. It would be as well not to forget that Mr. Balfour, though he has retired from the leadership, has not retired from Parliament. He will sit in the House of Commons in the strenuous days that are coming to heighten the contrast between the leadership that is and the leadership that might be. The return from Elba is sometimes thrust by fate even upon those who are happy in retirement.

MISSING YOUTH HAS TURNED UP SAFELY

While Breakfasting, His Train Pulled Out Without Him.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Camlachie, Nov. 27.—After weeks of frantic searching and anxiety the mystery surrounding the disappearance of young Charles Wing, who left to take a carload of goods to Alberta, has been solved. The young man got out of the car one day to get his breakfast at Waincroft, and while he was eating the train pulled out without him. He took a later train, but got carried past his destination and landed in Edmonton without any money. Not desiring to trouble his family to send him money to bring him back Wing thought he would work for a few days and get money himself. In the meantime his parents and railway officials, under the impression that he had fallen from the car and been killed in some lonely spot, have been making a frantic search for him. A dead body was found on the tracks hundreds of miles from where Wing's parents settled in Alberta, and they took the first train to try and identify it. The body proved to be that of a stranger, and the search continued until young Wing ended it by coming home himself. He was quite inconcerned about the affair, and did not know that he had been sought for.

FARTHING REPLIES TO ARCHBISHOP BRUCHESI

Says That the Quebec Prelate Contradicts Himself in Recent Pronouncement.

Montreal Nov. 27.—Bishop Farthing, Anglican Lord Bishop of Montreal, has issued a reply to the recent pronouncement of Archbishop Bruchesi on the Ne Temere decree.

In his statement, Bishop Farthing says it is not correct to say the decree is in force in every country, Germany being the exception.

He declares there is no objection to the decree so long as it is not put into active operation in Canada.

Objection is made to annulment of the marriages when sustained by the civil courts.

Bishop Farthing says Archbishop Bruchesi in his pastoral declared the ne temere decree no new thing in Quebec, while in 1901 he said mix marriages, clandestinely made, which a Protestant minister officiate were to be considered valid.

OBLIGATION TO PREACH THE GOSPEL OF CHRIS.

Rev. S. B. Rohold's Sermon In St. Andrew's Church on Sunday.

Rev. S. B. Rohold, superintendent of the work among the Jews in Canada, conducted by the Canadian Presbyterian Church, preached a very interesting sermon in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Sunday morning. Going back to the history of Judaism, he pointed out the obligation of Christianity to preach the gospel of Christ to the Jews in return for what Christianity owed to Judaism. Recently the attitude of the Jews toward Christ has changed entirely.

No longer do they denounce and abuse him, but rather they respect and admire. Renan, the French agnostic, advised the Jews to make Christ one of their prophets, and this the Reformed Jews have done in recent years.

Rev. Mr. Rohold told of the successful work being accomplished in preaching Christianity to the Jews in the Canadian cities. The Presbyterian Church now has missions in Toronto and Winnipeg, and will shortly establish another in Montreal. The outlook for the work is very favorable.

CHIEF RABBAN SHAW FOR NEW POTENTATE

Mocha Temple Shriners Will Meet in London on December 6.

The programmes for the Shrine meeting to be held in the Masonic Temple on Wednesday evening, Dec. 6, have been issued, and it looks as if the nobles of Mocha Temple are out for a big evening.

A large list of candidates has been presented. Sault Ste. Marie will send down twelve novices, together with a number of other nobles. They will come in a special car, arriving at noon on Wednesday. Chatham and Sarnia are sending up many candidates, with scores from smaller places. As a result the ceremonial session will be more interesting than ever.

The election of officers is on the tapis. Illustrious Potentate C. W. McGuire has completed his term, and he will be succeeded in all probability by Noble Dr. R. W. Shaw, who is at present chief rabban. Other officers will be selected. Three delegates to the imperial council meeting in Los Angeles will be chosen. Among those who have been mentioned for the honor are Dr. R. W. Shaw, Frank D. Millar, R. H. Reid (Ingersoll), A. J. Craig (of Windsor), Past Potentate A. L. Davis and others.

Visitors from Detroit, Buffalo, Grand Rapids and other cities are expected. It promises to be one of the most successful events ever held in connection with Mocha Temple.

REV. DR. GRAHAM PREACHED IN LONDON

Former Pastor Occupied Pulpit of First Methodist Church on Sunday Morning.

Rev. Dr. J. W. Graham, educational secretary of the Methodist Church in Canada, preached twice yesterday in London churches in connection with the observance of educational Sunday. Dr. Graham in the morning occupied the pulpit of the First Methodist Church, of which he is a former pastor.

In the evening he preached in Dundas Centre Methodist Church, and Rev. Dr. Rose, of Sherbourne Street Methodist Church, Toronto, preached the evening sermon in the First Methodist Church. There were large audiences and a favorable response was made to the appeal for increased support of the educational work of the church.

IVAN BANQUET WAS ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

The Baseball Club and Their Friends Held a Big Gathering.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ivan, Nov. 25.—A most enjoyable time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. C. michael, when the members of the Ivan Baseball Club and their friends to the number of about sixty, gathered to hold a banquet to celebrate the success of the season. The banquet was a sumptuous one and was thoroughly enjoyed. At its conclusion a number of speeches were made, Mr. D. L. Carmichael acting as toastmaster. After the speeches the remainder of the evening was devoted to card-playing and dancing. A very pleasant feature of the evening was the presentation to Mr. Carmichael of a handsome pair of gold cuff links and to his wife of a butter dish. The hope was freely expressed that the baseball club will reorganize again as early as possible in the spring, and have another season as successful or more so than the last.

Municipal matters are commencing to warm up in this district, and a great contest for the reeveship is looked for. The names of A. Ferguson and J. McGuigan are most prominently mentioned, but others are expected to be in the field shortly.

Mr. E. T. Caverhill is slated for the office of deputy reeve.

Winter came far too early to suit a majority of the farmers in this district. A great deal of the fall plowing was not finished, and a lot of other work remains undone.

The annual Christmas tree and concert of the Ivan Sunday school will be held on the evening of Friday, Dec. 22, and an exceptionally fine programme is being arranged. Those taking part are busy already getting in shape for the big affair, and a treat is assured.

WOMEN CANDIDATES ARE TO BE NAMED

Ladies Will Make Selections Today For the Board of Education of London.

It is expected that candidates for the board of education will be chosen at the meeting of the various women's societies to be held this afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. building on Dundas street.

The names most prominently mentioned are Mrs. A. T. Edwards and Mrs. E. Spence. The latter ran some years ago, but was defeated by a narrow majority. The ladies are confident that with public sentiment so much in favor of electing women to the board, both their candidates will be successful. Other important business will also be discussed.

After-Supper Talks With Cynthia Grey

WHEN A WOMAN'S SINGLE.

It would seem as if the majority of women were never satisfied with their lot in life. Many of the single women wish they were wedded, and, alack and alas! there's a goodly number of married women sighing to be single again.

The single woman always has hope of a roseate future. The married woman who has perchance missed happiness believes that the door of hope is closed and barred against her.

When this state of feelings exists who shall say that the single woman has not the best of it?

The single woman takes a world of interest in her personal appearance. She is a joy and an inspiration to those about her. The happily married woman, while neat and charming in her attire, leaves off the furbelows, which cost money that can be spent in more useful directions. The woman who marries unhappily sinks into the slough of despair and is apt to grow untidy in her dress, if not slovenly, unless she is on her guard continually against this state of affairs. There is no one to care, she says to herself. She turns madly to books, or whatever is nearest at hand that will bring her oblivion from care.

It is the women of this kind whom the artist loves to paint in his pictures of before and after marriage. He would do better were he to print beneath his picture a little story as to what caused the mishap.

Single women always have an attraction which there is no gainsaying. They are not embittered against the world as the years go by. On the contrary, their sympathies grow broader and their natures grow sweeter. They are able to adapt themselves to all sorts of people and conditions in life. The married woman has reached the goal of her ambition and happiness by marriage.

The single woman strives to fill her life with the accomplishment of deeds which make the world better for having lived in it. Women who have achieved the most success in the world of literature, art and music in the majority of cases have been single women. The woman who has a mission in life can usually accomplish it with more satisfactory results if she gives it her undivided attention.

There are women who are born to be just wives and mothers—undeniably a splendid mission. There are other women born under fame's star, who could never attain the heights intended for them to climb if hampered perchance by husbands who are pulling against them, dragging them by main force two steps backward for every one they make forward. The single woman may seek her fortune where she will; may invest the money she has earned as seems best and proper for her. There is no one to come to grief if she errs in her judgment.

The PRODIGAL JUDGE

The Famous Novel by

VAUGHAN KESTER

Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company

The booming thunder, first only the sullen menace of the approaching storm, rolled nearer and nearer, and the fierce light came in blinding sheets of flame. A ceaseless, pauseless murmur sprang up out of the distance, and the trees rocked with a mighty crashing of branches, while here and there a big drop of rain fell. Then the murmur swelled into a roar as the low clouds disgorged themselves. Drenched to the skin on the instant, the two men and the boy stumbled forward through the gray wake of the storm.

"What's come of our trail now?" shouted the judge, but the sound of his voice was lost in the rush of the hurrying winds and the roar of the airy cascades that fell about them.

An hour passed. There was light under the trees, faint, impalpable, without visible cause, but they caught the first sparkle of the raindrops on leaf and branch; they saw the silvery rivulets coursing down the mossy trunks of old trees; last of all, through a narrow rift in the clouds, the sun showed them its golden rim, and day broke in the steaming woods. With the sun, with a final rush of the hurrying wind, a final torrent, the storm spent itself, and there was only a drip from bought and leaf, or pearly opalescent points of moisture on the drenched black trunks of maple and oak; a sapphire sky, high arched, remote overhead; and the June day all about.

"What's come of the trail now?" cried the judge again. "He'll be a good dog that follows it through these woods."

They had paused on a thickly-wooded hillside.

"We've come eight or ten miles if we have come a rod, Price," said Mahaffy, "and I am in favor of lying by for the day. When it comes dark we can go on again."

The judge readily acquiesced in this, and they presently found a deep thicket which they cautiously entered. Reaching the centre of the tangled growth, they beat down the briers and bushes, or cut them away with their knives, until they had a little cleared space where they could build a fire. Then from the pack which Mahaffy carried, the rudiments of a simple but filling meal were produced.

"Your parents took no chances when they named you Solomon," said the judge approvingly.

CHAPTER XIV.

Belle Plain.

"Now, Tom," said Betty, with a bustling little air of excitement, as she rose from the breakfast table that first morning at Belle Plain, "I am ready if you are. I want you to show me everything.

"I reckon you'll notice some changes," remarked Tom.

He went from the room and down the hall a step or two in advance of her. On the wide porch Betty paused, breathing deep. The house stood on an eminence; directly before it at the bottom of the slight descent was a small bayou, beyond this the forest stretched away in one unbroken mass to the Mississippi. Here and there, gleaming in the brilliant morning light, some great bend of the river was visible through the trees, while the Arkansas coast, blue and distant, piled up against the far horizon.

"What is it you want to see, anyhow, Betty?" Tom demanded, turning on her.

"Everything—the place, Tom—Belle Plain! Oh, isn't it beautiful! I had no idea how lovely it was!" cried Betty, as with her eyes still fixed on the distant panorama of woods and water she went down the steps, Tom at her heels—he bet she'd be sick of it all soon enough, that was one comfort!

"Why, Tom! Why does the lawn look like this?"

"Like what?" inquired Tom.

"Why, this—all weeds and briers, and the paths overgrown?" and as Betty surveyed the unkempt waste that had once been a lawn, a little frown fixed itself on her smooth brow.

Mr. Ware rubbed his chin reflectively with the back of his hand.

"That sort of thing looked all right, Bet," he said, "but it kept five or six of the best hands out of the fields right at the busiest time of the year."

"Haven't I slaves enough?" she asked. The dull color crept into Ware's cheeks. He hated her for that "I." So she was going to come that on him, was she? And he'd worked himself like a horse to bring in more land. Why, he'd doubled the acreage in cotton and corn in the last four years! He smothered his sense of hurt and indignation.

"Don't you want to see the crops, Bet? Let me order a team and show you about, as you couldn't walk over the place in a week!" he urged.

The girl shook her head and moved swiftly down the path that led from terrace to terrace to the margin of the bayou. At the first terrace she paused. All below was a wilderness of tangled vines and brush. She faced Tom rather piteously. What had been lost was more than he could possibly understand. Her father had planned these grounds, which he was allowing a riotous second growth to swallow up.

"It's positively squalid!" cried Betty, with a little stamp of her foot.

Ware glanced about with dull eyes. The air of neglect and decay which was everywhere visible, and which was such a shock to Betty, had not been reached in a season; he was really convinced that the place looked pretty much as it had always looked.

"I'll tell you, Betty, I'm busy this morning; you poke about and see what you want done, and we'll do it," he said, and made a hasty retreat to his office, a little brick building at the other side of the house.

Betty returned to the porch, and, seating herself on the top step with her elbows on her knees and her chin sunk in the palms of her hands, gazed about her miserably enough. She was still seated there when half an hour later Charley Norton galloped up the drive from the high road. Catching sight of her on the porch, he sprang from the saddle, and, throwing the reins to a black boy, hurried to her side.

"Inspecting your domain, Betty?" he asked, as he took his place near her on the step.

"Why didn't you tell me, Charley—or at least prepare me for this?" she asked, almost tearfully.

"How was I to know, Betty? I haven't been here since you went away, dear—what was there to bring me? Old Tom would make a cow pasture out of the Garden of Eden, wouldn't he—a beautiful, practical, sordid soul he is!"

"What am I going to do, Charley?"

"Keep after him until you get what you want; it's the only way to manage Tom that I know of."

"It's horrid to have to assert one's self!"

"You'll have to with Tom—you must, Betty—he won't understand anything else." Then he added: "Let's look around and see what's needed; a season or two of care will remedy the most of this neglect. Just make Tom put a lot of hands in here with brush-hooks and axes, and soon you'll not know the place!"

Norton spent the day at Belle Plain, and though he was there on his good behavior, as the result of an agreement they had reached on board the Naiad, he proposed twice.

"My intentions are all right, Betty," he assured her in extenuation. "But I've the worst memory imaginable. Oh, yes, the lower terrace is badly gullied, but it's no great matter—it can be fixed with a little work."

It was soon plain to Betty that Tom's ideals, if he possessed any, had not let him in the direction of what he termed display. His social impulse had suffered atrophy. The house was utterly disorganized; there was a dearth of suitable servants. Those she had known were gone—sold, she learned. Tom explained that there had been no need for them, since he had lived pretty much in his office; what was the use in keeping darkies standing about doing nothing? He had got rid of those show niggers and put their price in husky field hands, who could be made to do a day's work and not feel they were abused.

But Tom was mistaken in his supposition that Betty would soon tire of Belle Plain. She demanded men and teams, and began on the lawns. This interested and fascinated her. She was out at sunup to direct her laborers. She had the advantage of Charley Norton's presence and advice for the greater part of each day in the week, and on Sundays he came to look over what had been accomplished, and, as Tom firmly believed, to put that little fool up to fresh nonsense. He could have booted him!

As the grounds took shape before her delighted eyes, Betty found leisure to institute a thorough reformation indoors. A number of house servants were rescued from the quarters and she began to instruct them in their new duties.

Tom was sick at heart. The little fool would cripple the place. It gave him acute nausea to see the gangs at work about the lawns; it made him sicker to pass through the house. There were five or six women in the kitchen now—he was d—— if he could see what they found to do—there was a butler and a page. Betty had levied on the stables for one of the best teams to draw the family carriage, which had not been in use since her mother's death; there was a coachman for that, and another little monkey to ride on the rumble and hop down and open gates. This came of sending girls away to school—they only learned foolishness.

Correspondence

Edited by Cynthia Grey

Dear Miss Grey: Do you think it essential that a girl marry a man older than herself? Would two years' difference either way affect their future happiness? N, M. B.

A.—Not if they are congenial, and their love is founded upon admiration and respect.

What to Say.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. When a man and a girl go to church together, should the girl contribute to the collection also? 2. When at a dance the man leaves his partner and says, "I thank you," what should she say in reply? ANXIOUS.

A.—1. If she likes, but it is not necessary. 2. Merely smile and bow the head, or say "I enjoyed the dance very much."

FURNISHING A GIRL'S ROOM

A girl who was not blessed with this world's goods, but who longed to have a room that suggested daintiness and originality, that had, moreover, what she called a "rose du Barry atmosphere," sent for a carpenter and enlisted his help.

The walls had been hung with pink plain paper, but as it was perfectly clean she left it there as it was. The ceiling looked white and fresh, and wanted no treatment. But a frieze was a necessity.

The girl sought until she found a lovely clear chintz with a white ground, patterned over with wild roses and that had a stripe of green leaves at each edge. This she had placed over the walls as a frieze.

The woodwork in the room was finished in gray, and the floor painted two shades or so darker.

Rugs of the most unobstrusive green were placed here and there upon the floor.

Then the carpenter took an old kitchen table and scrubbed it as white as driven snow, and he fitted both sides with shallow boxes and painted the whole gray. The boxes were covered with chintz, and had little loops of ribbon attached as "pulls." Over the table the girl placed a piece of rose-covered chintz, and on top another piece, this time of transparent muslin that showed the flowers through with misty effect. When she had disposed her looking glass and toilet set upon the table she was delighted with the effect.

A couch was the next thought. An old one was found, which, was covered with the chintz, and the cushions were chintz ones, covered with white muslin.

As for the bed, the woodwork was painted gray, the bedspread was of chintz seen through muslin, like the toilet table cover, and the pillow slips were as dainty as could be.

Book shelf and chairs the handy man painted the same soft gray as the other pieces of furniture, and even the books the girl put into dainty and appropriate covers.

The window curtains were of the wild rose chintz and muslin, and green flower boxes were set on the sill, and filled in the winter with pink and white geraniums.

BLOOD-POISONING RESULTS FROM DIGGING OUT CORNS

To really make a corn go away, to remove it for all time, there is just one way. Paint on Putnam's Painless Corn and Wart Extractor, a soothing, helpful remedy that separates the corn from the good flesh, lifts it out root and branch—does it quickly and without pain. The name tells the story—Putnam's Painless Corn and Wart Extractor, price 25c. Look out for dangerous substitutes for "Putnam's," which is sold by druggists.

Home Made Dress Box

There are shirtwaist boxes galore, innumerable dress chests and many improvised receptacles for use in the woman's room, but the latest novelty is the result of an ingenious brain, which conceived the possibilities of having a dress box, full length, to match the hardwood floor in her room.

A cheap frame was constructed of pine, lined throughout with white oilcloth, the edge glued on the outside. This was covered with linoleum, a clever imitation of oak, in two shades. It was glued to the outside and the raw edges were covered with tan leather strips, held in place with brass studs. The hinges and lock were of brass. Two stout straps were tacked to the inside of the lid, making a good receptacle for holding two parasols. Ball-bearing casters completed the dress box, and the owner paid much less for this treasure than a fancy one would cost at any store.

WORLDLY WISDOM

Laziness inspires many to seek a political job.

No matter how many aprons a woman has she always needs one more.

No man is expected to shine as a talker when his wife is present.

What a saving it would be if women could wear wrappers that come around soap.

If a girl has a figure like a clothespin she imagines she is slender and graceful.

Treat a man like a dog and it will make him mad—even if he doesn't develop hydrophobia.

Some women know things by instinct and some others get next by having husbands who talk in their sleep.

Fads of Fashion

Woolen embroidery and crocheted roses of wool are exceptionally strong on all types of gowns. This form of ornamentation is used on evening wraps, blouses and hats also.

The new fringed neck bows are made of soft satin, often of two contrasting colors, as purple, green or cerise, with black and edged with a black fringer, half an inch in width.

Bohemian lace is one of the latest acquisitions in the making of elaborate costumes. It is made of the same linen thread as Cluny, but in an irregular, craquele design, much like the bold Russian laces.

The new changeable taffetas come in double width and are most advantageous for cutting. Many exquisite combinations for blouses can be had—a popular one being gold and the new hydrangea blue.

The fancy for wool embroidery is increasing to such an extent that it is in danger of becoming common. The newest wool embroideries are now being shown enriched with semi-precious jewelry and imitation pearls.

Coiffures are distinctly simple in effect. A favorite style is to part the hair down the middle from the forehead to the neck, and braid it at each side over the ears, with two flat placques in imitation of the Dutch style.

LEISURELY BURGLAR CHLOROFORMS 'EM

Then Goes Through Homes and Collects Jewelry—Detectives on His Trail.

New York, Nov. 27.—Forty detectives in Harmel have been sent to catch a burglar who has been chloroforming flat dwellers in their sleep and robbing them of money and jewelry. Within the past two weeks a dozen families in the neighborhood of Lenox avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street have suffered from the visits of a cunning and soft-footed thief. Ten persons were chloroformed early last Monday morning in an apartment at 119 West One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street. They are the families of Chas. A. Rickseker and Douglass Tomkins. The Rickseckers and the Tompinses the positive they were chloroformed, and doctors who attended their children last Monday agree with them. Mr. Ricksecker was robbed of $80 and a gold watch, and the burglar got $90, two gold watches and chains and two five-dollar gold pieces used as watch charms from Mr. Tomkins.

Detectives who were sent from the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street station last Monday, after the robbery was reported, said complaints have been numerous lately of robberies where chloroform figured. The robberies were evidently the work of one man, and his methods were invariably the same, entrance through an unfastened window and a leisurely collection of cash and jewelry.

HAS LA FOLLETTE APPROACHED ROOSEVELT

Colonel Says a Certain Senator Wants Him to Run for President.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Nov. 25.—According to a special to the World from Oyster Bay, Theodore Roosevelt, when asked regarding the report that he may again be a candidate for president, told a World correspondent that a statement might be made as follows:

"Colonel Roosevelt finds it difficult to understand the comment," the statement reads, "that has followed upon his article in the Outlook regarding national laws and business interests. He has said exactly the same thing many times before. He cannot see why it should be assumed that this article indicates that he is ready to take any personal part in the coming campaign.

"It can be stated that Colonel Roosevelt has received many letters, indicating the willingness of the writers to give him political support, if such is desired.

It can be stated that Colonel Roosevelt today received a letter from a certain United Stats senator, offering the full political support of the senator in case Colonel Roosevelt should wish to be a candidate in the national campaign. To this letter Colonel Roosevelt has stated that he earnestly hopes that the senator will not only refrain from any action looking to the nomination of Colonel Roosevelt, but also will prevent his friends from taking any such steps."

No comment would be made by Colonel Roosevelt upon this announcement, which, he insisted, should be made in the third person. He would not name the senator to whom he referred.

A NEW VISION OF CHRISTIANITY

Rev. R. J. Campbell, of England, Addresses Large Audience at Toronto.

DEMOCRACY AWAKENED

He Believes New Forces Will Relegate War and Purify Social Depravity.

Toronto, Nov. 25.—Rev. R. J. Campbell, of the famous City Temple, London, England, enunciated his new theology, "Liberal Christianity," at the Bond Street Congregational Church last night. As he stood in the pulpit, a trim, graceful figure in black, with spare, ascetic face, dominated by flashing dark eyes and crowned by silver-white hair, speaking his message in a voice, cultured and unaffected and with a kindly wistful note, the young apostle of Christ brought 1,500 people, who crowded the auditorium, under the magic spell of his personality and unfolded a new vision of Christianity. They hung on his words and broke in with frequent outbursts of applause.

After delivering his lecture on "Liberal Christianity and the Social Movement," Mr. Campbell preached a sermon which formed the spiritual correlative of his address.

Liberal Christianity.

"Liberal Christianity stands for four things," the speaker said, in opening: "the humanity of God and the Divinity of Man; the thorough and fearless application of the scientific method to religion regardless of dogmatic pre-suppositions; the recognition of the solidarity of all human life and the consistent application of that principle to all their relations; and above all things, the proclamation of the good tidings of the Kingdom of God."

He traced the origin of the term, "the Kingdom of God," to the early Jewish belief that Jehovah was their divine sovereign only and they were His only people. Isaiah, in 800 B. C., had purified this pathetic belief, in his vision of the union of the Assyrian and Egyptian in a common brotherhood with Israel, under the divine sovereignty of God. Then the speaker referred to the frequent use which Christ made of the words, "Kingdom of God," showing that Christianity and membership in the Kingdom of God was not an outward state, but rather a new spirit in men. Christ, he said, had put no faith in any institution which had not behind it the formed spiritual consciousness of the people who were to benefit by it.

Must Think Internationally.

And therein was the solution of their problems today. Brute force was still the main force to be reckoned with in international relations today. The grim spectre of war always lurked behind all their diplomatic courtesies. England and France joined together in an entente cordiale because they both feared Germany. The continuance of the present naval policy of the British Government would mean a tremendous increased taxation during the next ten years. What the upshot would be, nobody knew. The increasing population of Germany needed an outlet, and naturally they looked upon some of the fine British possessions as suitable for occupation. Great Britain could not make any high moral rebuke, since she held one-fifth of the area of the globe. Her brigandage was done before Germany had had a chance to get in. In the United States, Mr. Campbell said he had asked the Yankees to let bygones be bygones and come under the British flag, but the nearest they seemed to want to get to it was to take Canada under the Stars and Stripes. The imperial revenue, which this year would amount to about $1,000,000,000, would be expended mainly in paying the debts of past wars and in preparing for any future wars. Why one spot called Germany should plan aggression against another spot called France, and vice-versa, when the attitude of the individual in those countries was peaceable the one toward the other, he could not tell. What needed to be changed was the spirit of statesmanship. What had become the general level of the individual conscience was far higher than what found expression in the courts and chanceries. The law of the jungle still obtained in international politics. Years ago Mr. Joseph Chamberlain had exhorted the Britishers to think imperially. If he could speak with the authority of Mr. Chamberlain's voice, he would enjoin them to think internationally. A new spirit was animating democracy and statesmanship in Great Britain at all events, which would ultimately make war impossible. (Applause.) He did not mean The Hague or ministerial peace deputations, but the force back of both with which statesmanship had to reckon. He meant the awakening of the social conscience among the toilers. "That's what is going to make war impossible," he said, amid applause. It only needed that the flame of religious faith should be kindled within to make it an irresistible movement which would bring about the kingdom of God on earth.

Situation in Great Britain.

Mr. Campbell then turned to the new movement in the old country. In Mr. Lloyd George and those associated with him, he said that they had obtained what ten years ago would have seemed impossible. One-seventh of the population of the United Kingdom owned far more than the accumulated wealth of more than half the population; 175,000 land-owners owned ten-elevenths of the land of the United Kingdom. More than half the land is owned by 2,500 people, and more than one-third of the annual income was enjoyed only by one-thirtieth of the people. Again, out of every 1,000 persons in the United Kingdom, 940, in case of death, would have nothing to leave. More than one-third of the population lived on five dollars per week per family. Campbell Bannerman had described this as the margin of starvation, and it was the literal truth. Such people could not hope to do much more than scramble for food.

The factory system, the overcrowding of great cities for the sheer necessity of getting man around machinery, had resulted in this appalling situation. More than this, ignorance, recklessness, animalism and brutality were the terrible concomitants of this poverty. Gen. Booth had once said that it was impossible to save a man with cold feet, and he had spoken wisely.

The new movement aimed not merely at providing earthly things, but at the development of the soul and making of men good, wise and loving. This could never be accomplished while the struggle for a living existence was what it is. It kept many at the brute stage who had the capacity for greater things. This was the great day, the day of the Church's opportunity.

SCRIPTURAL CANTATA

Unique Musical Event at First Methodist Church.

A musical event of rare and unique interest was presented in the First Methodist Church Friday night in the form of the Scriptural cantata, "Under the Palms." The programme included 48 numbers and some 300 people took part. It was under the direction of Mr. A. D. Jordan, organist, and Mr. J. A. Magee, to whom credit is due for the excellent training of the members of the Sunday school, who with the choir of the church, participated in the production. The soloists were Mrs. Wyatt, Mrs. May, Mrs. Brown, Miss Lamont, Miss Elsie Green, Miss Irene Wonnacott, Mrs. Chown, Mrs. Baker, Mr. John Chapman and Mr. Arthur Greenslade. Those taking part in the trios and quartettes were Miss Winetta Cox, Miss Margaret Wilson, Miss Darch, Mr Heaps, Mr. A. Gorman and Mr. Magee.

The choruses by Mrs. Gregsten's class of "Busy Bees," which included sixty tiny tots, were a feature of the cantata.

Maurice Poure's orchestra added greatly to the success and enjoyment of the evening.

All the numbers were excellently rendered, and the church decorated appropriately with palms, together with the white costumes of the singers, presented a very beautiful appearance. There was a large attendance.

DEPUTATION RETURNS

London Secured Much Information About Industrial Education.

The deputation that went to Hamilton Friday afternoon to inspect the industrial school there, arrived home late last night, and report that much valuable information was received. A report will be prepared, and submitted to the Industrial board shortly.

"We were given every facility for looking over the work done there," said Mr. W. W. Gammage, chairman of the committee. "The members of the board of education did all they could to make our visit pleasant.

"They have a fine school, with 155 pupils attending the night classes. They are enthusiastic over it, although it has not quite reached their expectations. It is claimed that the manufacturers have not come to the assistance of the board as was expected. I told them that our situation was different, that the manufacturers in London were urging the opening of a school, and were rallying to our srpport. We obtained programmes, stationery, etc. We will make use of the latter in arranging our school."

Those who visited Hamilton were W. W. Gammage, M. F. Irwin, L. H. Martyn and H. B. Beal, the newly-elected principal of the school.

NEAR WAR RUMORS

Stated That Almost Whole Regular Army Was Slated for Continent.

London, Nov. 26.—From a cloud of revelations and rumors certain facts seem to be established — that Britain and France had arranged a definite plan for a joint campaign, which included the dispatching of 150,000 British soldiers to the continent—almost the whole regular army—leaving the defence of the country to the Territorials; that several generals of the French staff visited England for a conference, and that the Government stopped the railway strike by confiding to the directors and strikers that the country was on the verge of war and appealing to their patriotism.

GOMPERS RE-ELECTED.

Atlanta, Nov. 25.—President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor was unanimously re-elected at today's session of the convention.

A Reasonable Plea For The Stomach

If Your Stomach Is Lacking In Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work—Especially When It Costs Nothing to Try?

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach? Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest, it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain nothing but these natural elements necessary to digestion, and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestines, supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and are found to contain nothing but natural digestives.

I have analyzed most carefully a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets (which I bought myself at a city chemist's shop for the purpose), manufactured by the F. A. Stuart Company, 86 Clerkenwell road, London E. C., and have to report that I cannot find any trace of vegetable or mineral poisons. Knowing the ingredients of the tablets, I am of opinion that they are admirably adaptable for the purpose for which they are intended. (Signed)

John R. Brooke, F.I.C., F.C.S.

There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is commonly known among physicians, as is shown by the recommendations of 40,000 licensed physicians in the United States and Canada. They are the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water brash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from improper dissolution and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are at once a safe and a powerful remedy, one grain of these tablets being strong enough (by test) to digest 3,000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.

CATHOLIC CLERGY DENY A STORY ABOUT LENT

No Truth in the Rumor That It Is To Be Abolished in Canada.

Quebec, Nov. 24.—A rumor is current here that a papal decree has been issued from Rome, and will be read soon in all the Catholic Churches of Canada to the effect that Lent will be abolished in Canada, and also that two feasts of obligation, the Immaculate Conception, on the 8th of December, and New Year's Day will be abolished.

The above dispatch, sent out from Quebec, was shown to several priests of this city today, but is declared to be without foundation in its entirety. Certain official papers published at Rome, and authorized by the Holy See, are received here regularly, and contain news of all such orders, but as yet no mention has been made of the changes spoken of.

The abolition of Lent and of the observance of the two holy days named is diametrically opposed to the principles of the Catholic Church, and it is not thought that any such decree will be enforced in this country. However, it is thought possible that some new order has reached Quebec, and has been grossly exaggerated.

Lent is one of the oldest institutions of the Catholic Church, and as such will probably be observed for many a day, according to local members of the church.

TORONTO AD CLUB COMING TO LONDON

Address To Be Given by Herbert N. Casson on Monday, Dec. 4, at Luncheon.

It has been definitely decided by the Toronto Ad. Club to hold a luncheon-dinner in London on the evening of Monday, Dec. 4, at 8 o'clock, when an address will be given by Mr. Herbert N. Casson, of New York.

Mr. Casson is a Canadian. He was born near Seaforth, and was a school chum of Mr. Warren Thomson, formerly of this city, but now of Toronto. He has ben a contributor on business subjects to some of the American magazines. He is a very forceful and magnetic speaker, and the Toronto Ad. Club have been fortunate in obtaining such an excellent orator for the occasion.

A large number of letters were sent to the merchants and manufacturers of this city and vicinity asking them if they would like to attend such a meeting and hear an address on the subject of advertising. The secretary of the Toronto Ad. Club writes that a number of local firms have replied that they would like to attend the meeting. An invitation is extended to members of any firms, either wholesale or retail, in London and vicinity.

The Advertiser will be pleased to have the names of those wishing to attend. Further information will be given next week through the columns of the local papers.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Stratford, Nov. 25.—Stratford will vote on license reduction at the coming elections as a result of petitions being sufficiently signed and passed by the finance committee. The temperance people, however, are confident that the hotels will be reduced from sixteen to ten.

"I'm Goin' to be a Man like Dad"

THE chances are that Dad was raised on porridge.

There is no food more helpful in making strong, well-developed men out of boys than prepared oats.

There is no other way of preparing oats, to make them palatable, digestible and nourishing, so good as the rolling and pan-drying process.

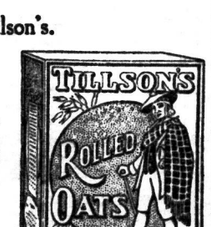

There are no other rolled, pan-dried oats in which this process has been carried to such perfection as in Tillson's Rolled Oats.

Each flake of Tillson's is rolled to extreme thinness, and all the flakes are as uniform in size as careful grading can make them. That's why Tillson's Rolled Oats are cooked perfectly in 15 minutes—no more.

Another thing, Tillson's Oats are dried in pans enclosed in kilns, not open ones; thus retaining all the natural flavor and aroma.

Be sure to ask for Tillson's.

ARGONAUTS LOSE TO VARSITY 14-7

Students' Speed Wears Down Oarmen and Take Canadian Championship.

LAWSON A MARKED MAN

Winners Kept After Crack Sculler and Restricted His Efforts—Field in Fair Shape.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—The third Dominion rugby football championship in three years was won on Saturday by the University of Toronto, Intercollegiate champions, who beat the Argonauts of this city, Interprovincial champions, by 14 to 7 in the final game for the national honors. The game was played at the 'Varsity Stadium in the presence of approximately sixteen thousand people. The seating accommodation was all occupied and thousands stood around the gridiron.

The coating of straw, which had been removed the day before the game left the turf firm and dry. A ten-ton steam roller flattened out the uneven surface, and did not finish its work until the teams came upon the field. The ground was frozen, but smooth. The light flurries of snow which fell intermittently throughout the day made the field slippery, and interfered more or less with the running of the players. The condition of the turf did not materially favor one side or the other.

Speed Beat Argos.

A matter of speed stood between the Argonauts and the Dominion championship. The superiority of the blue and white in that respect was the chief factor in their victory.

Better games of football have been seen here this season, and more exciting ones. The actual play Saturday was not to be compared to the University of Toronto-Ottawa College struggle in point of interest. The latter was close until the third quarter, and the danger of defeat which stared the 'Varsity team and supporters in the face until three-quarter time made the contest much more thrilling than Saturday's final.

Argos did not confine themselves to straight football and close formations, but used more trick plays than usual. 'Varsity opened up the play behind their line with long passes and combination runs. They: committed several costly fumbles, but the Argos failed to make full use of the students' mistakes. In spite of the fumbles by the 'Varsity halves they played a brilliant passing, running game for repeated gains. Some of the passes and catches looked more like the work of a baseball infield than football. That was where speed told on the Argos.

Scullers' Back Field Best

Both Mallett and Binkley kicked well and perhaps the Scullers' backfield was superior to the Varsity back division as a whole, but the speed with which the Blue and White wings bore down under punts was amazing. And when they got there they grassed their men with hard, clean tackles. Argos tackled poorly, failing to take their men low enough and frequently missing the runner altogether. Murray and Smith of the double blue were as good as anybody on the field in this department, but there were not enough of their kind on the Interprovincial team. Arnoldi did not tackle as in the Hamilton Alert game. Varsity's backfield's mistakes, had they had a faster team to contend with, might have cost them the game.

Argo Wings Held.

The Argo wing line demonstrated superiority on defence, but both succeeded in making substantial gains through the other, although Argos held well until the last quarter. A noticeable feature of Varsity's bucks was that they were almost invariably directed straight at the Argos' wing line, while the Scullers were prone to drive the ball-carrier at the student wings at acute angles. Varsity, too, got under the Argonaut bucks effectively.

The Argos again failed to get a touchdown. They have made only two or three all season, which would indicate that a team becoming Canadian finalists by the single point route must have had a sturdy line affording ample protection to a backfield of capable punters.

Wind Not a Factor.

The wind was not strong and it was a crossfield breeze from the west which favored nobody, but kept the play pretty well toward the bleacher side of the field. Campbell passed beautifully, and Billy Foulds, now the honorary coach of the Argos, who made his reputation at Varsity in this department, was never better than the Peterboro boy. Once Campbell passed the ball out to where Green should have been, but the halfback was confused in the signals and was not on the spot to take the ball. The Varsity specialty of drawing the tackle before passing the ball worked to a nicety, and there were always wearers of the blue and white in close attendance to take the pass and get away for a run. All of the Varsity backfield were guilty of fumbles, but they more than atoned for this remissness. Green, Maynard and Campbell all kicked well and all ran the ball back effectively, Green's work being especially noticeable with that of Ramsay. The latter sustained a deep cut over his left eye in which two stitches were taken at half time.

Lawson Was Marked.

Lawson was a marked man from beginning to end. He contributed some of his famous gallops after getting the ball on long passes, and should have been intrusted with it more frequently. Most of his bucks and runs were stopped by the determined tackling of Dr. Wright's team.

Referee McKenzie and Umpire Robbins, like all officials, made mistakes, but they handled the game well, and neither side found fault. Not a man of either team was ruled off, which is perhaps a record in games in which the national title has been at stake.

RUGBY RESULTS.

The following were the Rugby results on Saturday:

Senior Canadian Final.
Varsity 14, Argonauts 7.
Intermediate Semi-Final.
R. M. C. 25, Montreal 5.
Junior Semi-Final.
R. M. C. 17, Montreal 16.

CANADIAN LEAGUE CANNOT BREAK IN

President M'Caffery, of Toronto, Gives Reasons to Delegate.

OTTAWA MAN ANXIOUS

Frank Shaughnessy, of Capital, is Working to Extend the New Circuit.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—A deputation of Canadian League men visited Toronto on Saturday and appointed Frank Shaughnessy, of Ottawa, to interview President McCaffery, of the Toronto club, relative to the placing of a Canadian League team in Toronto. Shaughnessy was manager of the Roanoke team of the Virginia State League, last season.

President McCaffery advanced several reasons why the outlook for a Canadian League team in Toronto is not bright. In fact, the representative of the new league was given no encouragement, and the Berlin franchise will probably be transferred to some other Ontario city.

McCaffery's Reasons.

Mr. McCaffery had evidently given the matter careful consideration, and he gave the Ottawa men three reasons why the scheme would not work, as follows:

First—The Eastern League would oppose it.

Second—It would be a death-blow to the city amateur clubs.

Third—A club that would draw in Toronto would be too strong for the other cities in the league, with the result it would have a tempestuous career.

CHAPIN TO OPPOSE RE-ELECTION OF BARROW

Rochester Man, Who Was Mulcted $1,300 by League President is on the Warpath Now.

New York, Nov. 26.—The proposition to elect Edward Grant Barrow president of the Eastern Baseball League, to hold office for a five-year term, which will be taken up at the annual meeting of the league, to be held in New York the week of Dec. 11, will be vigorously opposed by Charles T. Chapin, owner of the Rochester club, champions for the past two seasons. Chapin has announced his opposition to Barrow's five-year term. He has not stopped at that, but is out against the continuation of Barrow as the head of the league for even a second term of one year. This promises an interesting scrap at the league meeting.

Chapin, never a warm friend of Barrow, has become a bitter enemy of the league executive within the past two months. The cause of this enmity is said to have been Barrow's course in the imposing of a fine of $1,300 on Chapin's Rochester club because of the fiasco in the post-season series between Rochester and the league's All-Stars, a team composed of the best men of the other clubs in the league.

Cause of the Trouble.

The series was to have been the best four out of seven games to settle the question of supremacy, but it broke up after three games had been played, because Chapin refused to open the gates of his park for the fourth game, claiming that it should be played in Buffalo. This, too, after Chapin's manager, John Ganzel, Barrow and Jack Dunn, who handled the All-Stars, had agreed upon Rochester as the place for the contest.

Chapin then went further, and, taking the proceeds of the series, which had been deposited in a Rochester bank in his name, paid the Rochester players, turning the balance over to the other team. This latter was far short of making the 60 per cent due them, which they had won by forfeit. A fine of $1,300 was then imposed by the league directors at Barrow's instigation.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—President J. G. Merrick, of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, was re-elected on Saturday night to continue the direction of this organization, which now has achieved a development and permanent establishment that proves the general agreement of need for a national governing body. The annual meeting was held at the King Edward Hotel on Saturday night, the delegates having spent the afternoon at the football match as the guests of the Canadian Rugby Union.

GOULDING BREAKS RECORDS AT GOTHAM

Canuck Walker Pedals Off Miles to Tune of National Anthem.

SOME FAST MOVING

Three Miles in 20 Minutes 59 3-5 Seconds, Smashes Mark in Existence Since 1883.

New York, Nov. 26.—While the band was ripping out "The Maple Leaf Forever," last night in the Twenty-third Regiment Armory, Brooklyn, George Goulding, the crack Toronto walker, was shattering American records in the three-mile walk. Though not well equipped for a cracking performance, as he wore ordinary rubber-soled shoes, the Canadian showed wonderful speed, and succeeded in covering the three miles in 20 minutes 59 3-5 seconds. This beat the outdoor mark of 21 minutes 9 1-5 seconds, made by Frank Murray at the Manhattan Athletic Club in 1883.

On his way to the goal Goulding went whizzing by the two-mile post in 13 minutes 45 seconds, which is a fifth of a second faster than the old mark made by himself at Brooklyn last March.

Record-Smashing.

Goulding did the one and one-fourth miles in 8 minutes 29 3-5 seconds, and the one and one-half miles in 10 minutes 17 2-5 seconds. The two and one-half miles was reached in 17 minutes 29 2-5 seconds, and all these are new American records.

The record-holder, Murray, was one of the judges, and he declared that he never saw a fairer walker than Goulding. Tom Sherman, the ex-champion, was the other judge, and he whooped the Canuck up as a wonder. Second to Goulding was Tim Carroll, the ex-Irish champion, and he carried his years well.

KINGSTON CADETS WIN BOTH MONTREAL GAMES

Second Battle Between Intermediates Played in Ten Minute Quarters Before Darkness.

Montreal, Nov. 25.—The Royal Military College, Kingston, scored a double victory over the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association this afternoon when the Cadets first and second football teams defeated the "Winged Wheel" intermediate and junior fourteens respectively, in semi-final games for the Canadian championship title.

The local juniors were beaten by a single point in the second period of the ten minutes overtime, 17 to 16.

The local intermediates were altogether outclassed, however, and the final score stood 26 to 5 against them.

The playing conditions were about as bad as possible, the bround being frozen hard, and in many places coated with ice.

The second game—R. M. C. vs. Intermediates—was played with ten-minute periods, to allow the game to finish before dusk.

PETROLEA TO MEET MORE HAMILTONIANS

Ambitious City Teams Will Decide the Championship of Junior Interprovincial on Wednesday.

Hamilton, Nov. 26.—The semi-final games in the Junior Inter-provincial series were played at the Cricket grounds Saturday afternoon, the winners being the Wanderers and Y. M. C. A. The first-named team scored an easy win over the I. H. Co. aggregation, the final score being 22 to 0, while the Y. M. C. A. had trouble in disposing of Dundas Y. M. C. A., the final score being 6-5. The latter game was exciting all the way, but neither team showed much class. Dundas almost nosed out a victory in the last moment by dribbling the ball over the line. The locals saved, however, by booting to the dead line. The Wanderers will play the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday afternoon, and the winners will meet Petrolea in this city next Saturday.

Baseball Gossip From the Snowball Circuit

Umpire Billy Evans says both Marquard and Murray were the real hard luck players of the world's series, Baker and Bender were the good luck men.

"I think the fellow who fooled me the most since I have been in baseball," says Harry Davis, "was Russ Ford. The first game he pitched in the big league was against the Philadelphia club, and I never saw a ball break like it did that particular day. I fanned four times, which is a record for me. Every time I swung at the ball it took a dip one way or the other. I would then look around at Billy Evans and say: 'My God, Bill, what is that he is throwing up there?' Right after that game Evans predicted that Ford would be a great pitcher."

Vean Gregg is on the All-American League team named by manager and players, and Manager McGraw, of the Giants, picks the Nap southpaw for an All-American team.

Manager Dale Gear, of the Topeka Western League team has signed two brothers from the Las Vegas, N. M., Cactus circuit. They are said to be Indians. One is a catcher, and is reputed to have hit .600 against all kinds of pitching at Las Vegas this past season. Lockhart is another Cactus Leaguer signed by Gear.

Buddy Ryan says an odd-shaped bat he used was largely responsible for his hitting. Ryan, who will be a Nap in 1912, was one of the leading sluggers of the Pacific Coast League last season. He will have his bat when he reports to the Naps.

Cleveland figures on Jack Stansbury, secured from Louisville, being the regular Nap third sacker next season. He is said to be one of the most reliable hitters that the association has turned out, and has a lot of speed.

Connie Mack and Charley Dooin have agreed to start the Philadelphia championship series next year on Saturday, March 30, and play every day except Sunday until the one before the opening of the league season.

Terry Turner, the tow-headed veteran of the Cleveland Naps, who had it all his own way around third last summer, will have to fight to hold his job next year, for Harry Davis has a swarm of young blood coming that looks very good.

JUNIOR TITLE WON BY PETROLEA CREW

AN EXCITING STRUGGLE

Desperate and Spectacular Contest—Anybody's Till Finish, Marks Concluding Session.

Hamilton Alerts and Petrolea offered a desperate, and, to a certain extent, spectacular battle, at Tecumseh Park on Saturday afternoon, in the play-off for the junior championship of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, and at the conclusion of play the Oil Town men carried away the title with a 12 to 10 victory.

The Petroleans did not forget the ill-treatment which they claim was accorded them in Hamilton a year ago, and for that reason they took a peculiar delight in trimming the folk from the Ambitious City.

Both crews ran special trains, and brought large clubs of rooters, but the red and grey were hopelessly in the minority, and were forced to stand for the demonstration of glee offered by the victors. As usual, London failed to take a very great interest in the pigskin chasers, and practically no local money went to swell the gate.

The field was covered with six inches of stiff snow, but despite this the men had very fair footing for a final session. Punting was the order, Petrolea alone making any material gains through the bucking game. The lighter forces from Hamilton found it next to impossible to hold back the heavyweights, but at that were never at a serious disadvantage in the scoring, and until the finish it was anybody's title.

No Running Attempted.

There was no sprinter on either team who could get away in the going, and for that reason there was nothing noteworthy in the running game. The weather man provided a rather calm day, a gentle breeze from the south failing to make itself apparent during the pounding of the booters.

McLeod was the star of the day at kicking, and usually was something ahead in the exchange of punts. The boys fought hard from the kick-off till the final whistle, but during the last five minutes, when a try would have meant either victory for the Hamilton men or a draw, the green and white remained on the defensive and permitted their opponents to add slowly to their total by punting over for three rouges.

They were almost equally matched in ground-gaining ability, the bucking powers of Capt. Webb and his forces being more than offset by McLeod's punting. Neither hard luck nor poor judgment figured in the result to any appreciable extent, excepting in that Hamilton lost about half an hour in penalties, while the winners were but ten minutes to the bad. Spence, of the Alerts, was the chief offender, and had the distinction of being the first and last man on the lines.

A Little Rough Work.

While there were no open demonstrations among the players, considerable rough work was in evidence, and Clemance, a lightweight on the Hamilton squad, who did some really sensational work, felt a pair of knees in the pit of his stomach on a couple of occasions.

It was straight, hard football all the way, both teams resorting to the two bucks and a kick method of yards gaining, and no passing was attempted with the slippery ball during the proceedings. The winners owned Petrolea on Saturday night, and are promised a real reception within a few days by the home folk.

The oil men are always good football players, and for some years have taken advantage of London, Sarnia, and surrounding places as sources of material for practice until the time for the championship struggles.

The officials gave satisfaction to both parties, and London had no further interest in the matter.

How It Happened.

The Alerts kicked twenty-five yards against the wind, but the ball was returned and the teams scrimmaged at centre field. Captain Webb, of Petrolea, worked the bucking game to a nicety and carried the lighter Hamiltonians back several yards. Alerts, however, gained possession and, after going after the yards on the two bucks and a kick principle, lost out on an offside.

McMullen helped greatly in Petrolea's ramming, and the oil town folk went through to the Alerts' line. They failed to force their opponents over, however, and when the Alerts obtained possession a moment later, McLeod punted the pigskin out of danger. Petrolea lost possession on Stokes' fumble, but regained it again when Clemance was hurt in a heavy tackle.

Caffrey, of Hamilton, got into the heap and sprained his ankle. He left the game, and Graham was substituted. McLeod was punting beautifully and exchanged kicks with Billings, neither gaining any material advantage. Petrolea carried the play to the fifteen-yard line, but the referee called them back. Alerts forced the fighting and the ball went to within fifteen yards of their opponents' goal.

Stokes, however, got away for a great run, winding up in midfield. The leather was kicked over into the Alerts territory, and Muirhead caught but fumbled before making the return. McLeod and Billings engaged in another exchange, a lively row breaking up the punting exhibition thirty yards out on the playing field. Spence and McGowan were picked out and sent to the sidelines for first penalties. McLeod then renewed his efforts and Billings was forced to rogue. Alerts 1, Petrolea 0. The quarter whistle blew a moment later.

A Close Battle.

Play commenced twelve yards from centre in Petrolea territory. Alerts kicked over, but Stokes caught and ran out a couple of yards before being pulled down. McLeod added another to the Alerts' score when he forced Billings to rogue again, duplicating the method of counting the lone tally of the initial period. Alerts 2, Petrolea 0.

Crapper faked a kick and ran twenty yards, winding up in a row with Spence. Both men were penalized. Stokes carried the ball back to centre, Alerts returning on a punt. McLeod kicked, and the teams scrimmaged on the goal line, Alerts having possession. Play was carried to centre field, but Petrolea worked back to the fifteen-yard line at the Alerts' end. The oil men bucked for yards, but lost possession, and the half ended with play in midfield and the Hamiltonians leading by 2 to 0.

The Petroleans stood the gaff well, and their opponents also appeared to be in good shape despite the slippery condition of the field. The Hamilton men continued the punting game, however, while the crew of the green and white found it possible to buck through repeatedly.

The First Try.

The first try was scored a couple of minutes after play resumed. McLeod found himself in a tight position about fifteen yards out and attempted to punt the leather back to midfield. The ball, however, struck one of the contestants and rebounded behind him. He recovered quickly and punted again, but McGowan blocked and Crapper fell on it. The Petrolean squirmed across, shoved along by his comrades, and the green and white took the lead with a 5 to 2 count. They were unable to convert from a difficult angle.

The possibility of defeat appeared to put ginger into the Alerts, who fought back every inch of the way, and within a minute resumed the leadership. McLeod punted over into touch, and before Stokes could rouge Synder beat him to it for a touchdown. The Hamilton booter also failed to convert. Alerts 7, Petrolea 5.

The Alerts again had difficulty in holding the Petrolea bucks, and the ball was carried into the Hamilton territory. Pollard kicked into touch, but as no Petrolean was near enough to be dangerous it was allowed to roll over the dead line.

Anybody's Game.

Alerts 7, Petrolea 6. Clemance got through for a nice run, but wound it up in a manner that failed to please the referee. He went to the sidelines with Spence for a long term. Up to this time the Alerts had lost 28 minutes in penalties and Petrolea 3. Another booting contest ensued, Crapper finally taking the ball out for a run to within twenty yards of the Alerts' line.

The Petroleans forced the fighting, and finally succeeded in bucking over for a try. The heap of men swayed backward and forward for a moment before the green and white ended the work six inches inside the line. Smith held the ball, but Thomas helped him over for the counters. Petrolea failed to convert. Petrolea 12, Alerts 7. Alerts were in possession as the quarter whistle blew.

As the final session commenced, Clemance, who was given rough handling and who possibly retaliated, went off again. The Alerts failed to make their yards, but quickly recovered and punted for a gain of thirty yards, which was increased on a decision by the referee. McLeod booted the ball into touch, but Billings quickly returned. Another attempt by the Hamiltonian compelled Deacon to rouge. Petrolea 12, Alerts 8.

After a couple of minutes' play, in which neither side gained to any extent, the Alerts obtained the ball on a kick in the scrimmage and punted into touch. Billings carried the leather out, but was dragged down two yards out.

Out of a Hole.

The oil men bucked twice and finished the yards by a kick. An Alert wing caught nicely and attempted a run, but lost his footing before getting away. Another kick into Petrolea's territory followed.

Billings dropped the ball and Clemance made for it, but was beaten by Deacon, who saved the situation by rouging. Petrolea 12, Alerts 9. Crapper was kicked in the head when the battle was resumed, and for a time it was feared that he had been seriously injured. He came around all right, however, and finished the game. McLeod also went down and left the battle with a bad leg. McKelvey replacing him. Although but a few minutes remained, the Hamilton men fought strenuously to overcome the short lead of their opponents.

They blocked the Petrolea crew repeatedly, but occasionally the green and white broke through for substantial gains. Deacon pulled down a kick and ran it out ten yards, a punt widening the breach between the Alerts and the goal. They forced the play back, however, and crowded in several times.

Billings helped matters by running the ball out, but with thirty seconds to play the last count of the junior final was added to the string of the men from the Ambitious City when Stokes rouged to save a heavier loss. Final score, Petrolea 12, Alerts 10. Petrolea had possession of the ball at midfield as the whistle blew.

AD WOLGAST IN SHAPE FOR WELSH

Lightweight Champion Puts Sparring Partners to Rout at Training Camp.

[Canadian Press.]

Los Angeles, Nov. 27.—Ad Wolgast, champion lightweight, who is to meet Freddy Welsh here next Thursday, put four of his sparring partners to rout in short order yesterday, before a large audience. Wolgast says he weighs less than 132 pounds, and that he is in perfect condition. The champion is a strong favorite, the odds ranging from 10 to 7 to 2 to 1. Both men have practically finished training.

WELCH TO REFEREE LIGHTWEIGHT BOUT

Ad Wolgast and Freddie Welsh Have Agreed On an Arbiter.

Packey Is Picked to Beat Harlem Tommy Murphy — News of the Fighting.

JACK WELCH will referee the 20-round battle between Ad Wolgast and Freddie Welsh, the former English lightweight champion, at Vernon, Cal., on Thanksgiving Day. The Briton has accepted Welch, who has promised to enforce the Queensberry rules to the letter. The referee has been warned by some of the California critics that he must not allow Wolgast to 'hold and hit," a clear violation. Wolgast has agreed to break clean from clinches when so ordered and to make a square, standup fight. Welch says he is satisfied with this arrangement and is confident that he can win on points if it is carried out. The men have agreed to make 133 pounds at the ringside and have waived the side bet. Wolgast will receive a guarantee of more than $12,000 and Welsh will take a percentage. The men can wear light bandages over the knuckles and will box with five ounce gloves. The title of world's lightweight champion will go with the decision. Wolgast is favorite at 10 to 7 among sporting men on the coast, as they do not believe Welsh can stay the limit under the champion's heavy assaults. The battle will begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

IN FRISCO, where Packy McFarland and Harlem Tommy Murphy meet in a 20-round bout on the same day, betting men are offering 3 to 1 that McFarland will get the decision and even money that he will knock Murphy out. McFarland has sent word to friends in this city that he will win as quickly as possible in order to force Wolgast to accept terms for a championship mill on New Year's Day, if not sooner. McFarland is meeting Murphy at 135 pounds, scaling at 10 o'clock in the morning, or four hours before ring time. When they boxed ten rounds at New York last spring the weight was 135 at 3, and McFarland won under restraint. Murphy is far from being the clever boxer of two years ago and has lost favor here. But in California, where he got a decision over Owen Moran two years ago, he is highly regarded. It is believed that McFarland will stop Murphy in about twelve rounds.

ABE ATTELL received $700 for defeating Willie Jones at the Olympic A. C. Monday night. He got $800 for his victory over Young Cohen last week. His bout with Jimmy Carroll at the Madison A. C. Friday night may net a larger sum. The featherweight champion, always a drawing card, is arranging many bouts of this kind with the idea of amassing a bank roll by degrees. He will receive $7,000 if Johnny Kilbane agrees to box him at Vernon, Ind., New Year's Day, but so far Kilbane has not accepted Promoter McCarey's offer. If Kilbane remains obdurate Attell may renew his efforts to secure a match with K. O. Brown at one of the local clubs.

WHEN MATT WELLS, the English lightweight champion, arrived in London recently he announced that both Wolgast and McFarland had refused to meet him here. He said that K. O. Brown was a second-class lightweight and that he didn't overexert himself when he beat the East Side Dutchman. Wells also declared that he had the easiest kind of a time with Attell. The English champion praised American sporting men for the liberal way in which they received him and stated that he would return next month to renew negotiations for matches with Wolgast and McFarland.

REV. FATHER GNAM DENIES ALLEGATIONS

Wyoming Pastor Replies to Assertions in Printed Letters and Defends Himself.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

In your issue of Nov. 13, you give an account of the suit of Bishop Fallon against me, which is calculated to do me great injustice, owing to the statements of Bishop Fallon, to which you unintentionally, I am sure, give prominence.

The coupling of these statements with Judge MacWatt's decision would lead the public to believe that the judge had found me guilty of the misdeeds attributed to me in Bishop Fallon's printed letters, whereas he only adjudicated that I am an overholding tenant, and should yield possession of the parish rectory; in other words, he decided merely that the Roman Catholic Episcopal Corporation is the owner of the church property, which nobody denies.

The judge did not decide that the bishop justly removed me from my parish, and that he proceeded according to the canon law of the Catholic Church. I never appeared before any investigating committee of priests or bishops, nor had I any chance whatever to defend myself. The accusations against me as contained in the published letter are utterly false. Ninety-five per cent of my people of Wyoming, Petrolea and Oil Springs have signed a statement that they are not in any way averse to me. This certificate may be seen at my attorney's office, and certainly proves the contrary to accusations in abovementioned letters. I have had during the past twenty-five years of my pastorate here to avail myself of the accommodation of hotels for meals and lodging, there being no priest's house in the two outside missions I had in charge, but no truthful person and without malice could accuse me of being under the influence of intoxicants. In fact, I am a total abstainer and have been for years. Some priests in this diocese in charge of parishes have been and are now living in hotels. Are they to be dismissed for frequenting hotels? I have always most scrupulously attended to my parochial duties, as my works give proof, and my reputation was never attacked except by some few sympathizers of a justly dismissed organist of the church here, until the article against me containing letters appeared in your paper. BEATTIE STAGED MODERN NOVEL

Rev. H. H. Bingham Declares the Novel Is Cause of Wrecking of Homes.

THE NE TEMERE DECREE

Church Has Right to Make Laws for Its Own, But State Should Make All Clergymen Equal.

Talbot Street Baptist Church was crowded to the doors Sunday evening when the pastor, Rev. H. H. Bingham, preached a very powerful sermon on "Mixed Marriages." The point of Mr. Bingham's address was that the marriage ceremony needed more of the religious in it, and that unless there is unity of religion between husband and wife, there cannot be complete happiness in the home.

In opening, Mr. Bingham stated that for some months it had been impressed upon him that some word should be spoken from the platform about mixed marriages, but that he had been very reluctant to speak it. Mr. Bingham divided his subject into two heads, viz.: The relation of the state to marriage, and the relation of the church to marriage.

Sanctity of Marriage.

He stated that the sanctity of marriage is a most vital theme, and one that concerns us all. Marriage is an outgrowth of society. Its laws must rest on needs of human life. The marriage ceremony was performed in the garden of Eden by God himself. The state must have primal authority in the matter of marriage. The church pronounces the man and wife as one under the direction of the state. The marriage laws are made by the state, and the state is compelled to guard those laws.

Must Recognize Religion.

The state must recognize the matter of religion in the matter of marriage. We have been facing a great problem in our country lately, but we pray that it may be harmoniously settled. It seems now that the ne temere decree is a dogma of the church, which the Roman Catholics have a perfect right to hold, but which the state had a perfect right not to acknowledge. A church has a perfect right to discipline its own people should it desire, but the state has to look after the interests of all its people. The state should recognize the matter of equality, and a Protestant pastor should stand in equality with the Catholic priest in regard to performing the marriage ceremony.

The state must acknowledge the equality of pastors as well as the laity. One religion must be equal to another.

What Might Occur.

"It has been asserted that if two Protestants are married, and one should feel it his duty to go over to the Catholic faith, it makes invalid the vows taken at the marriage altar," Mr. Bingham stated, "but, let us hope that it is not true. There must be an equality of religion in the marriage ceremony. The state must ever guard the sanctity of marriage."

In dealing with the relation of the church to marriage, Mr. Bingham stated that the church owes to itself and society at large to see that the laws of marriage are carried out.

"If the Christin conscience of the country is low," he continued, "the laws are low. Divorce is not a legislative evil, but a moral evil. Thank God, divorce is uncommon in this Canada of ours; may it be ever so. The Christian conscience of this country is wide-awake spiritually and mentally, and as long as we do not degenerate we need have no fear of divorce being common in this country. I admire our Catholic friends for standing out against divorce."

Divorced Persons.

"I would hate to marry anyone that had been divorced. The Bible says, 'What God has joined, let no man put asunder,' and what right has man, after two people have been joined in the sight of God, to declare them divorced. I am not going to say that divorce is no great evil. Sometimes it is the lesser of two evils, but a Christian minister has no right to marry anyone who has been divorced.

Paid a Compliment.

"I feel it tonight that the Catholic people have paid a compliment to this country by the ne temere decree, for I think that the Protestant pastors have been getting a little lose in regard to the marriage laws. I believe that marriage licenses are issued too freely and loosely today. Are these questions, 'Who is your father?' 'What is your occupation?' and 'When were you born?' the most vital questions that settle a union which has its effects morally and physically on the whole country? Would any insurance company insure a man's life on any such list of questions? No, I think not.

Difference in Insurance.

"They inquire as to your physical and mental fitness, and unless these are right you cannot be insured. Why do they not ask these questions on a marriage license? Is there not a mental, moral and physical fitness for the building up of the home? This country will wake up to the fact one of these days that it is necessary to ask these questions. The Christian conscience of the country should demand more legislation of the marriage laws.

The Modern Novel.

"The modern novel is responsible for the wrecking of many homes. The old novel began with love and ended with marriage. The modern novel begins with marriage. The heroine is a married woman full of domestic troubles, whose husband's love has been stolen by an insipid, pretty, senseless, cruel young woman. We have the modern novel acted out in the life of Henry Clay Beattie, whose life has just ended. The modern novel is full of sordid untruths, and we also find them in the moving picture shows, and ofttimes the theatre. The Christian Church should rise in its wrath against these contaminations of the marriage ties.

The Marriage Tie.

"I again appreciate the stand of the Catholic and Anglican churches in surrounding the marriage ceremony with religious environment. It is the most sacred moment in a person's life, with the exception of conversion. The pastors who pronounce freakish marriage ceremonies are a blot on our Protestant faith. Performing marriage ceremonies in balloons, taxicabs, express trains, and in store windows, in order that some merchant might gain a little advertising, is robbing the marriage ceremony of its religious environment, and is a sacrilege. The Protestant church should demand that the ceremony be distinctly a religious one."

Smart Set Marriages.

In concluding, Rev. Mr. Bingham stated his blood boils whenever he reads of the marriages among the so-called smart set. He referred to John Jacob Astor, who recently married Miss Madeline Force, as a criminal who, like Stanford White, lives on his millions, strutting around in the satanic conceptions of life and preying upon the good and pure. These people should not be allowed to cover their sins with their silks.

Mr. Bingham emphasized the necessity of man and wife discussing the matter of religion before marrying. It should not be hidden until afterward, and then brought up to bring unhappiness into the home. Unity of religion in the home would bring happiness, but where there is no unity there could be no true happiness.

PRINCES OF CHURCH

atively simple, was carried out with a stately dignity and form that has characterized the institution from the earliest days. The consistory was set for 9 o'clock, and early in the day great crowds gathered in the piazza of St. Peter's, and around the basilica to witness the arrival of the cardinals and other dignitaries.

Soon after 8 o'clock a procession of carriages was entering the Porta Della Zecca, and passing through the court of San Damez, from which their occupants found entrance to the palace.

The New Cardinals.

These cardinals were created: Francis Bourne, Archbishop of Westminster, England; Guiseppe Maria Cos Y Machio, Archbishop of Valladoli, Spain; Antonio Vico, papal nuncio to Spain, an Italian Gennaro Granito Di Belmont, Archbishop of Edessa, Italian; Francis Bauer, Archbishop of Obrutz, Austrian; Leone Adolfe Amette, Archbishop of Paris, Francis Virgilio Dubillard, Archbishop of Chambery, France; Francis Nagl, Archbishop of Vienna; Mgr. John M. Farley, Archbishop of New York; Mgr William O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston; Mgr. Diomede Falconio, apostolic delegate at Washington; Francis Maria Roverie De Cabrieres, Bishop of Montpellier, France; Gaetano Bisleti, papal major domo, Italian; Giovanni Battista Lugari, assessor of the congregation of the holy office, Italian; Basilio Pompili, secretary of the congregation of the council, Italian; Ludovico Billot, French Jesuit; Guglielmo Van Rossum, of the Fathers of the Resurrection, Dutch and Enriquez Almaras Y. Santos.

The Pope lamented the impunity which was granted to the enemies of the religion in Rome, especially the iniquitous body, as he refers to them, which opposed the existence of God and the Christian order.

Plus X. then dealt with the position of the church in Portugal, expressing the hope that the Portuguese nation, boasting of centuries of attachment to the church would turn against her enemy.

The evils of modernism and naturalism were counterbalanced, the Pope continued, everywhere by the love of the holy eucharist, as was proved by the congresses held in Cologne, London, Montreal and Madrid. Spain especially, had, he said, demonstrated her true religious sentiment, and he ended with the hope that God would preserve her from the evil threatening her peace and happiness.

The creation of the cardinals and the confirmation by his holiness of the archbishops already appointed by brief followed. In all instances the procedure was the same. The name of each chosen for honor was read, the Pope inquiring of the cardinals in turn whether they approved the nomination. Assent was given by raising their red skull caps.

A surprise came when it was made known that the Pope had created still another cardinal "in pectore"—that is, "in his breast"—the identity of the one so honored not being revealed. This makes an addition of nineteen to the cardinalate.

A Marvel of Healing

SALT RHEUM OF TEN YEARS' STANDING HEALED AS IF BY MAGIC.

HANDS CRACKED, SO COULD NOT WORK—CURES EFFECTED BY

Dr. Chase's Ointment

It does not take long for Dr. Chase's Ointment to prove its magic healing power. A single night is often sufficient to produce the most startling results.

Internal treatment for skin diseases is nearly always disappointing. By applying Dr. Chase's Ointment to the diseased parts relief is obtained almost immediately, and gradually the sores heal up and disappear. Here are two letters which will interest you:

Mrs. Chas. Gilbert, Haystack, Placentia Bay, Nfld., writes: "I was a sufferer from Salt Rheum for ten years, and had about despaired of ever being cured, so many treatments had failed. Reading of the wonderful cures effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment, I commenced using it, and was entirely cured by eight boxes. I want to express my gratitude for Dr. Chase's Ointment, and to recommend it to all sufferers."

Mr. Stanley Merrill, Delaware, Ont., writes: "For years I was troubled with my hands cracking, often becoming so sore that I could hardly do any work. I got some of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and happily find that one or two applications of same to the affected parts make them well. I have had no trouble since using the ointment for sore hands."

GRAY CALLS CONVENTION

executive, got together, and decided that there would be no convention.

Mr. Gray, however, insists that there will be a convention, and that he will preside. He will allow his name to stand also.

What the attitude of Hon. Adam Beck will be is not clearly defined. The Minister of Power has not returned from the New York Horse Show, where he has been exhibiting his string. It was expected that he would be in London today, but word was received that he would not come to London until Tuesday or Wednesday, as he intended remaining in Toronto for a day or two, clearing up some business.

A close friend of Mr. Beck's stated to The Advertiser that he would not contest the convention against Mr. Gray, and that he would run independently. After all that Mr. Beck claims that he has done for the party, not only in London, but elsewhere, it would be humiliating to contest a convention with Mr. Gray, who is only seeking to gratify a grudge against Mr. Beck, he asserted.

An Interesting Meeting.

The convention will be open, and, if the statements of delegates are to be relied on, the session will be very interesting, in view of the frankness with which men and issues will be discussed.

The decision of Mr. Gray to contest the convention is the culmination of a six years' quarrel between him and Mr. Beck.

In 1905 Mr. Gray was the candidate for the Conservatives against Hon. C. S. Hyman. Mr. Beck did not come to the support of Mr. Gray, as the latter thought he should, and a decided estrangement ensued. Mr. Gray thought that Mr. Beck was endeavoring to "throw him down" and resented it.

Mr. Beck did appear on one of Mr. Gray's platforms at the end of the campaign, but this late change of heart did not satisfy the Conservative candidate, and he has not forgiven Mr. Beck to this day.

A Declaration of War.

On several occasions since then, there were rumors that open warfare would be declared, but the leaders of the party have always managed to heal the breach, and prevent any outward split.

This time, however, there does not seem to be any way of preventing a declaration of war, and the contest will not be a pink tea in any respect.

The situation is full of interest, and speculation is rife as to the actual outcome of the trouble.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

LOCAL MARKET PRICES PRACTICALLY UNCHANGED

Offerings of Produce Were Rather Light on Square Today.

Market prices today were practically unchanged from last week, except in the case of live hogs. Hay sold at from $16 to $17 50 per ton, at unusually steady prices. Oats brought all the way from $1 40 to $1 46 per cwt. Wheat still brings 87c per bu.

Not a great deal of produce in any line was on sale. Live hogs were $6 25 per cwt. Dressed hogs range from $8 to $9 per cwt.

Dressed poultry, in anticipation of the Christmas market, is going up still higher. Turkeys are difficult to obtain for less than 20c or 21c per lb retail.

Geese are worth 12c to 13c per lb dressed. Ducks bring 14c to 15c, and chickens 14c to 15c retail.

Butter and eggs are in extraordinary demand. Eggs occasionally jump up from steady prices at 35c and 40c per dozen, as high as 45c. Butter is firm, at 30c per lb retail.

Live hogs are going down in price. The highest quotation made today was $6 per cwt. One buyer who had quoted $6 25 per cwt on Saturday paid that price this morning for one or two loads. He declared, however, that $5 90 would be nearer the true value of hogs on the present market. The price is going down rather than up.

The London Market.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Money was firm, but discount rates were easy today. There was no foreign demand for the $5,000,000 new gold offered in the open market, and the entire amount was taken by the Bank of England. The general settlement commenced on the stock exchange. Carry-over charges for Americans were 4½ per cent. New business was fair and advances were general, with Copper shares and Mexican Rails the features. Home Rails hardened, and Consols advanced 3-16 on the favorable statement from Sir Edward Grey in the House of Commons. Japanese bonds closed weak. American securities opened steady and Africans higher. Prices advanced on good buying until the late trading, when the market eased off and closed quiet.

Wall Street, Noon.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—Wall street, noon.—An increase of speculative interest characterized the beginning of the week in the stock market, and with a larger demand for the long account, prices were up generally. The market showed some signs of wavering, owing to the effects of profit-taking when the advance was well under way, but soon demonstrated its underlying strength by rallying. Higher prices in the London market and more cheerful sentiment abroad influenced trading favorably. Purchase by Amalgamated Copper of other property helped the Copper group. The market advanced again in more moderate fashion after the raction. United States Steel assumed the leadership of the list, and touched 65⅞. Much of the buying of this stock was based on reputed better conditions in the trade, aside from the usual speculative operations in the shares. St. Paul gave another good demonstration of its recuperative powers, rallying feebly from 109⅞ to 111⅞ as soon as the pressure ceased. The Harriman group and Lehigh Valley failed to get back to their high prices of the first hour, but the general tone of the market was strong, and there was a constant diversion of speculative interest into new quarters. Bonds were firm.

INGERSOLL.

Ingersoll, Nov. 27.—In the Methodist Church last evening, the pastor, Rev. H. B. Christie, preached an excellent sermon on the subject "The Healing of Blind Bartiameus," in which the love and mercy of the Saviour was emphasized in a most impressive manner. The congregation was very large.

There was a slight falling off in market attendance Saturday. This was undoubtedly due to the changeable weather and the fact that farmers were at a loss to know whether to use sleighs and cutters or wheeled vehicles. Prices on the whole were about the same as on the preceding Saturday.

President Jos. Gibson, of the Dominion Alliance, took part in a field day at Toronto yesterday, addressing meetings in the Yonge Street Methodist Church in the morning, in the Salvation Army Temple in the afternoon and the Metropolitan Church in the evening.

Mrs. Jos. McKinnon, of Collingwood, is visiting relatives and friends in town.

Miss Roberts, of Brantford, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. F. Robertson, Merritt street, returned to her home on Saturday.

The bazaar held by the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church, in the Charles Street Church, was a most successful undertaking. The attendance was large and the patronage all that could be desired. At a number of nicely-arranged and very attractive booths, home-made articles, such as candy, cooking, aprons, handkerchiefs, etc., were offered for sale. These met with a keen demand, and the proceeds of the sale will add a substantial sum to the exchequer of the society.

POLICE WILL UNRAVEL MYSTERY

Attempt to Destroy Strathroy Pumping Plant Is Being Investigated.

SOME UNDER SUSPICION

Chief Wilson Says There Will Be Developments Shortly—Feeling Is Running High.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Strathroy, Nov. 27.—The sensational attempt to destroy the waterworks plant here on Saturday afternoon is being thoroughly investigated, but no arrests have yet been made.

Chief Wilson is busily engaged following several clues, and is confident of being able to round up the guilty parties before long.

"We have several people under suspicion," said Chief Wilson to The Advertiser. "We have not yet made any arrests, but we expect that something will happen in a very short time. There has been a lot of troubles about the waterworks, and it may be that some of those connected with this former disturbance are guilty now. However, I have nothing further to say at this time."

A number of rumors are in circulation here, and feeling runs high over the incident.

GRAND JURY FOR THE DECEMBER SESSIONS

Seven Men Charged With Various Offenses Will Appear for Trial.

The grand jury for the December sessions of the county court, which are to be held at the court house commencing Monday next, will be composed of the following gentlemen:

Richard J. Avery, manufacturer, Strathroy; William R. Jarman, laundryman, London; Thomas H. Janes, grocer, London; A. A. Langford, merchant, London; John McCallum, farmer, East Williams; David O'Brien, gentleman, McGillivray; Richard Southam, publisher, London; Joseph Woods, farmer, North Dorchester; David Wilson, farmer, Adelaide Township; Edgar M. Zavitz, farmer, Lobo; Fred Zappe, molder, Parkhill.

Seven men charged with assault, theft and housebreaking, will appear for trial. These are from different parts of the county, and are prisoners who demanded trial by jury when committed for trial before the county judges at different times.

A number of civil actions are also to be heard, but as yet none have been entered for trial.

INTERESTING APPEAL IN THE RISPIN CASE

A Number of People Are Very Greatly Interested in the Matter.

An interesting appeal is being argued at Osgoode Hall in Toronto today in connection with the Rispin estate in South London, and judgment is expected shortly.

This is in connection with the death of Luke Rispin, a year ago, when it was found that he had left several $5,000 bequests to neighbors, and a certain amount to different charities, including the Byron Sanatorium.

The story dates back to 1895, when Richard Rispin, who had lived for many years near the cove ranges, died having willed his property to Dean Davis, of St. James' Church, South London, in trust for his son Luke. The will was rather extraordinary, in that it empowered Dean Davis, the executor, to give so much of the income or corpus of the personal estate to Luke, as he might choose, or he might withhold it altogether. The real estate had been conveyed absolutely to Luke.

The will, however, mentioned no other person who should receive any benefit from the funds in trust with Dean Davis.

During his life Luke received sums of money from his father's estate as he needed them, and shortly before his death a year ago, he made his will, taking for granted he had the right to dispose of the estate left by his father, as well as his own property, which he had in his possession. At that time the estate of his father was valued at about $14,000, and his own at half that amount.

Asked for Direction.

Shortly after Luke's death the executor under Richard's will made application to the courts for direction as to what should be done with the undisposed of funds of Richard Rispin, claiming that as to those funds he had not exercised his discretion to give them to Luke. The matter came before Chancellor Boyd, who decided that the executor had not exercised his discretion with respect to that portion of the estate which had not been paid over, and the undisposed of funds were ordered to revert to the next of kin of Richard Rispin.

Luke's executors have appealed to the court of appeal at Toronto against that decision. The case came on to be heard on Friday and is to be concluded today.

If the chancellor's decision is upheld and the next of kin are ascertained, as at the time of Richard's death, Luke's executors will undoubtedly receive in any event a considerable portion of Richard's estate, because of the fact that Luke will be one of the next of kin. However, the others, if any, would have to be ascertained At present, however, only one man, a nephew named Roe, is known of, and he has note been heard of for some years.

The bequests made by Luke would be fulfilled as far as is possible with the funds obtainable, but it is probable that there would be some reductions. All would be paid over, however, in the same ratio. Macpherson & Perrin, of this city, are acting for the executors of Luke's will.

A quiet wedding was performed in the Talbot Street Baptist Church parsonage on Saturday, when Thomas Edward Biggs was united in marriage to Miss Clara Cavanagh, both of this city. The ceremony was perfomed by Rev. H. H. Bingham. Mr. and Mrs. Biggs will reside in London.

—Evangelist Belcher preached in York Street Mission Sunday night on the parable of the sower, to a large congregation.

—The local police department report that there is nothing new in the Elm street robbery in which Mr. M. F. Roberts claimed she was chloroformed by a tramp who later ransacked the house.

Canadian Club Tuesday.

Mr. McLeod Stewart, ex-mayor of Ottawa, will be the guest of honor at the Canadian Club luncheon to be held at the Tecumseh House on Tuesday at noon. He will speak on the Georgian Bay Canal, and will illustrate his lecture by means of maps.

No Truth in It.

There was a rumor in circulation today that Lew Dockstader's minstrel troupe disbanded here. Some of the members were discharged here and went back to Detroit, and that was the cause of the report that the company had gone to pieces. They went to Saginaw from London.

Appeal Being Argued.

The appeal of the County of Middlesex from the judgment for $12,000 damages awarded Dr. Bateman, of Strathroy, here some months ago, for injuries sustained on a road undergoing repairs in Caradoc Township, is being argued today before the divisional court in Toronto. Mr. J. M. McEvoy, of this city, is acting for Dr. Bateman, and Mr. J. C. Elliot, of Glencoe, for the county.

Officers Elected.

At a meeting the other evening of the choir members of the First Methodist Church, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Honorary president, Dr. Eccles; honorary vice-president, Mr. George McCormick; president, Mr. A. E. Barbour; vice-president, Mr. Ed Smith; secretary, Major G. M. Hayes.

A Former Executioner.

James Berry, for ten years public executioner for Great Britain, will be in London on Dec. 9, and will speak under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. He is making a special evangelistic tour through Canada and the United States. Berry lost his position through drunkenness, and is now lecturing in support of the temperance movement.

New St. James' Church.

The first of a series of monthly song services was held last evening in New St. James' Presbyterian Church, and was very largely attended. The choir, under the leadership of Dr. Pearce, rendered excellent music, and Rev. T. H. Mitchell, B.A., preached, taking as his subject the old favorite hymn of Horatius Bonar, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say." The choir has already made a great advance under Dr. Pearce, and a song service will be given every month.

A Western Visitor.

Mr. George B. Campbell, who at one time represented the township of Ekfrid in the Middlesex County Council, and who is now located at Strathcona, Alberta, was a visitor at the county buildings this morning. Mr. Campbell, who was warden of Middlesix in 1903, has gone into provincial politics in the west, and contested for the seat at Strathcona at the last elections to the local House there. He represented the Conservatives and was defeated.

BORDEN APPOINTS WATERWAYS COMMISSION

Messrs. C. A. Magrath, Chase Casgrain and H. A. Powell Selected For the Board.

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—Information has been received from England of the appointment of the Canadian section of the International Waterways Commission. Messrs. C. A. Magrath, T. Chase Casgrain and H. A. Powell are the new commissioners. Mr. Magrath represented Medicine Hat in the last Parliament, and was defeated for reelection last September. Mr. Powell sat in the House for some years as the Conservative member for Westmoreland, and was the Conservative candidate against Hon. William Pugsley in St. John, N. B., at the last election.

Mr. Casgrain is also a former member of Parliament, and was prominently mentioned for a cabinet portfolio. These gentlemen supersede Sir Geo. C. Gibbons and the other commissioners who were recently appointed by his majesty's Government on the recommendation of the Laurier Government.

By some misunderstanding of the treaty and the Canadian statute implementing the same, Mr. Thos. Cote was appointed secretary of the commission.

It is now understood that the appointing power is in the commission itself, and the newly-appointed commissioners will select a successor to Mr. Cote.

LONDON OFFERS VERY MANY ADVANTAGES

Rev. Mr. Stevens Pointed Them Out to the Young Men of His Congregation.

Yesterday was the most successful Sunday in the history of Egerton Street Baptist Church. Last night the church was crowded to overflowing, and in the Sunday school in the afternoon there was an attendance of 338. The pastor's Bible class had over 50 members present.

Last night Rev. W. L. Steeves preached a special sermon to young men from the text, I. John xl., 14: "I write unto you young men because you are strong." Referring to the advantages of possessing a strong physique, he declared, that John L. Sullivan would have made a splendid preacher or theological professor had he had the right training. But the mere physical development of man served only to make him a monster. Physical development should be accompanied by a corresponding mental and spiritual development.

Rev. Mr. Steeves dwelt upon the advantages offered to young men by this city. He spoke very favorably of the work of the Y. M. C. A., the public library and the churches of the city. Reference was made to the importance of London as a lyceum and musical centre, where the best musicians and speakers of the world could be heard, including lecturers like William Jennings Bryan, Robert Speer and Sir Andrew Fraser.

London had all the cultural advantages of most cities, but much less vice than others. The Baraca and organized Bible classes of London were widely known and were doing a great work.

The religious side of man is his best side, and it remains with the churches to look after this.

He implored young men to do something for themselves, and not to take satisfaction from what their relatives or ancestors have accomplished. He advised them to strike out for themselves.

BOTTRELL GIVEN MONTH IN JAIL

P. M. Judd Found Many Suspicious Facts in Case of Chivas' Money.

INDIAN ALSO GIVEN TERM

Red Man Stole Clothes From Workmen at London Electric Power House Who Had Helped Him.

Delbert Bottrell was sentenced to one month in Castle Carter this morning by Police Magistrate Judd. Bottrell was charged by William Chivas with robbing him of a sum of money in the Bank Hotel. The case was heard last Wednesday, but the evidence was not enough to prove that Bottrell had taken the money. Bottrell's record, however, was a bad one, and the magistrate reserved judgment until today.

In sentencing him, his worship told the prisoner that the fact that Chivas had lost a sum of money, and that he had it with him shortly before the two met was an important point to consider, and although the evidence did not show that Bottrell had really taken the cash, the facts surrounding the affair were suspicious. He then gave him a month in jail.

A Month for Indian.

Frederick Small, the Indian who was charged a week ago with stealing some clothes from the employees of the London Electric Company, was also given a month in jail. Small told the magistrate that he was drunk, and that he did not realize what he was doing, and this was the view that his worship took of the matter. Before passing the sentence upon him, Magistrate Judd told the prisoner that he did not look like a thief, and that as far as could be learned he had always been a good Indian except for an occasional drunk. However, the offence could not be overlooked, and the sentence would serve as a reminder to do better in the future.

Given a Chance.

Mrs. Rose Freeman, who was remanded until today from last Thursday, was dischargd on condition that she keep away from her daughter and husband.

"There are lots of people who will give you work if you will only take it," said Magistrate Judd before letting her go.

"Col. and Mrs. Chandler, of the Salvation Army," he continued, "are willing to help you. You will have to keep away from your daughter's house, and if you do not, it will mean a term in the Mercer. The best thing you can do is to leave drink alone, and accept the offers of the people who are willing to help you."

SAT HOUR IN SCHOOL WITH A BROKEN ARM

Young Alex. McBurney, of High Street, Had Painful Experience.

Alex. McBurney, the 11-year-old son of Mr. J. McBurney, High street, had his arm badly broken at the Grand avenue school on Friday afternoon. He and another lad named Will Brooks were scuffling in the schoolyard at recess, when they both fell. McBurney's arm doubled under him, and snapped at the elbow. He was painfully hurt, but went back to the schoolroom, where he remained from 3 o'clock until school closed. The pain was so intense then that several of the boys almost carried him home. A physician was summoned, and it was discovered that a very bad fracture of the bones at the elbow had occurred. McBurney was placed under the influence of chloroform while the bones were set. He will be out of school for some weeks.

LATE SIR JOHN CARLING

Senator Coffey's Touching References to the Deceased Statesman.

In the Senate at Ottawa kindly references were made to the memory of the late Sir John Carling by several of the senators. Amongst others who spoke was Senator Coffey, who said:

I would ask the indulgence of the House to pay a tribute to my late confrere from London. I knew Sir John Carling as a public man for the last fifty years and had intimate acquaintance with him in all spheres of activity. I must candidly say, that while there were those who differed from him on political questions, no man in the country stood higher as a citizen in the estimation of all. I knew of him in his home life also, and no man in his native city commanded to a greater degree the respect and love and admiration of everyone. He was a gentleman in every sense of the word. Never in his whole life have I known him to unnecessarily wound the feelings of another, and now that he has left us I will freely say, and I conscientiously believe what I say is the simple truth, that Sir John Carling's life, take it all in all, in his political career, in his home life and as a businessman, has set an example to the rising generation of the Dominion.

MR. GRAY IS MODEST REGARDING NOMINATION

"They Say They Are Going to Give It to Me," He Says.

Toronto News (Conservative): Hon. Adam Beck may be opposed at the Conservative convention in London next Friday night. It is understood that at least three other names will go before the delegates for nomination, including Mr. Wm. Gray, Mr. E. T. Essery and Mr. Fred Darch. Mr. Gray, when seen by the News Saturday morning, said it was true that there was talk of opposition to Hon. Mr. Beck.

"It is not my wish, but is the wish of the people there. They say there are going to give me the nomination, and it all rests with them," said Mr. Gray.

Mr. E. T. Essery, one of the others mentioned for the nomination, is prominent in Chosen Friends' circles, while Mr. Darch is ex-chairman of the water commission.

POISON HEARING IS AROUSING INTEREST

Provincial Officer Has Been Working On Lucknow Druggist's Case.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Goderich, Nov. 27.—The greatest interest all through this district centres on the case of J. G. Armstrong, of Lucknow, the druggist, who will appear before Judge Doyle here on Dec. 12, on a charge of criminal negligence in the handling of drugs. A large number of very important witnesses have been subpoenaed in connection with the case among whom is Dr. Milne, of Blyth. The trial is the result of the death in Detroit of a young woman named Morrison, who, while visiting friends in Lucknow, was taken ill with severe headaches. She sent out for some powders, which, it is alleged, were obtained at the store of Mr. J. G. Armstrong. After taking the powders, it is alleged that she was taken violently ill, and in spite of all that the attending physician could do she died in three days. Mr. Armstrong appeared in Goderich court in connection with the matter, and was released on heavy bail.

In the meantime the crown attorney has had the case in hand, and detailed Provincial Officer George Phippen, of Wingham, to make an investigation. The results of his inquiry will be made known at the hearing.

FATHER OF THE BOY WILL NOW BE SUED

Breach of Promise Case Beaul vs. Banghart Takes on a New Turn.

The intelocutory judgment for damages for breach of promise of marriage obtained some days ago against George Banghart, a local railwayman, by Miss F. M. Beaul, of Horton street, has been displaced by order of Judge Elliott.

No defence was offered by Banghart when the action for $5,000 damages was brought, and the judgment was given the court to fix the amount later.

However the father of the defendant filed notice that his son is under age and he is, therefore, made guardian. The action will now be commenced again, this time against Banghart, senior.

Coulter and Dell. The negative received the decision on points, and the affirmative in oratory. The school journal, read by Miss Bottomly, created a good deal of amusement.

A Presentation.

A presentation of a handsome silk umbrella was made to Mr. Cal. Hodgins by the choir of St. James' Anglican Church at a social evening held in the church Friday. Mr. Hodgins is leaving London for Montreal, where he has been transferred to the head offices of the C. P. R. Company. About 45 were present, and after a social hour and refreshments, Dean Davis called the meeting to order and personally expressed hi sappreciation of Mr. Hodgins' work in the choir and church. Mr. Hodgins had always been most willing to assist in the work of the church, and Dean Davis wished him every success in his new home, while regretting his removal from London. The dean also expressed his appreciation of the work of the choir and congregation in co-operating with him to make the church a success. The organist, Mr. Chas. Percy, was then asked to speak, and expressed the appreciation of the choir for Mr. Hodgins' assistance and help. On behalf the choir, Mr. Percy presented Mr. Hodgins with a silk umbrella.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT FOR SPANISH RIVER PULP

Big Mills in Operation Are Showing Splendid Results—6,000 Square Miles of Territory.

One of the greatest natural resources of Ontario is the great pulpwood area in the northern section of the province, and it is not surprising that Canadians are beginning to realize the lucrative field for investments to be found in the manufacture of pulpwood products.

When interviewed last night, G. P. Grant, of Toronto, told of the progress of one of the Dominion's greatest pulp industries known as the Spanish River Pulp and Paper Mills, of which company he is a director.

A pulp mill is now nearing completion situated at Espanola, Ont., and Mr. G. P. Grant stated last night that improvements were now under way which would involve the expenditure of one million dollars.

A paper mill is now nearing completion which when finished will have a capaciay of 100 tons of news paper per day, and provision has been made so that this capacity can be doubled when the ever-increasing demand for the company's product warrants such a step.

The output of the company's pulp mill is also steadily increasing to such an extent that it is feared that in the future the present facilities will be found inadequate, and Mr. Grant said that the general manager is preparing plans for the extension of the present plant. This mill has a capacity of 140 tons (dry) pulp per day, the quality of which is the very finest.

Mr. Grant believed that his company had the finest pulpwood limits in Canada, amounting to some 6,000 square miles. The territory, he said, was easily workable by means of the numerous rivers and streams which ran through it. The cost of operations was, he said, reduced to a minimum, owing to the company owning its electric power plant, which produced some 11,000-horsepower. Added to this, the company owns its employees' dwelling-houses, the general store, the water supply and the sewer system.

Quite naturally, Mr. Grant was optimistic over the great possibilities of the company. He believed that in the future great progress would be made since the demand for the products of the industry necessitated a much larger output.—Toronto World.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING AT ORILLIA, ONT.

300 to 400 Boys Will Hold Session to Exchange Ideas.

S. S. A GREAT FACTOR

Some Facts Regarding a Most Important Convention To Be Held Dec. 29, 30 and 31.

The following circular has been issued in regard to the second annual Sunday School and Y. M. C. A. Convention for Ontario, which is to be held at Orillia on Dec. 29, 30 and 31, each Sunday school to have two representatives.

Last year London sent 14 out of the 420 delegates to the conference held at Ottawa. This year it is hoped to send a larger and more representative delegation. The importance of this conference to the Sunday school work of Ontario cannot be over-emphasized when one thinks of the great progress the Sunday school is making. Less than one hundred years ago the Sunday school was subject to greater criticism than Darwin's evolutionary theory, and all efforts along this line were crushed by the heads of the churches. The Sunday school, which was expected to be a perverter of the truth, has proven to be one of the great factors in the life of the church. The church knows the benefit of conventions, such as has just been held in London, and the Sunday school and Y. M. C. A. has just come to realize the importance of a convention where older boys, superintendents, teachers and Y. M. C. A. workers are gathered together to discuss the work of the Sunday school and the Y. M. C. A. by boys for boys.

The Speakers.

Great good must come when 300 or 400 boys assemble from all over the province to exchange ideas and hear such men as:

Albert E. Roberts, New York, county work secretary International Com. Y. M. C. A.

E. W. Halpenny, Toronto, secretary Ontario Sunday School Association.

F. A. Crosby, Chicago, city boys' work director, Chicago Y. M. C. A.

Frank Yeigh, Toronto, writer, lecturer and Sunday school worker.

H. G. Hammond, Toronto, Ontario provincial secretary Canadian Baden-Powell Boy Scouts.

G. A. Warburton, Toronto, general secretary Toronto Y. M. C. A.

R. G. Dingman, Toronto, honorary president High School Clubs of Toronto.

C. T. Atkinson, Toronto, founder of Broadview Boys' Institute.

Mrs. Jean Blewett, Toronto, writer, lecturer and Sunday school worker.

J. P. Hagerman, Toronto, county work secretary.

Some of the results of last year's conference: 48 reconsecrated their lives, 36 decided to do personal work, 21 decided to render better service, 11 decided to give up bad language, 33 decided to give up the practice of impurity, 13 accepted Christ, 8 decided to unite with the church, 3 decided to teach Bible class, 1 decided to attend church more regularly, 1 decided to give up bad company, 1 decided to give up the habit of procrastination, 3 decided to give up the habit of smoking and drinking, 11 decided to be more regular in daily Bible reading and prayer, 3 decided to consecrate their lives to the ministry, 4 decided to consecrate their lives to the association secretaryship, 2 decided upon Christian service as a life work. Specials—1 decided to be an architect, 2 decided to be doctors, 3 decided to get over their dislike to go to Sunday school, 56 forward steps taken but not designated, a total of 261.

Can any Sunday school afford to be out of a great movement like this?

The superintendents will select two delegates from their Sunday school; one at least to be an older boy to represent them.

The delegates will be entertained by the churches of Orillia.

Side Attractions.

Side attractions on this trip are: A visit to Woodstock Baptist College, Brantford Y. M. C. A., Hamilton's new $75,000 building for boys alone, Toronto Broadview Institute, Toronto University buildings and normal school with its fine museum.

Another important reason why London should be represented is to consider the advisability of inviting this conference to London next year. It will be left with delegates and representatives of London to extend an invitation to this conference.

Music and Drama

Dockstader's Minstrels.

Lou Dockstader, the oldtime favorite, appeared at the Grand Saturday afternoon and evening with his minstrel show, before fairly large audiences. Lou was there as usual with some real jokes and some counterfeits, the daffydills being especially off color. At night, Manuel Romaine, who was to have sung, was under the weather, and did not put in an appearance. "The Vikings," sung by Don Ferrandi, was perhaps the best musical number on the bill.

Neil O'Brien's black face skit on the police force in the second part made a tremendous hit. It was funny all the way through. O'Brien sang a couple of songs which made him solid with the audience, too.

"The Old Homestead" Tomorrow.

The present season is the 26th of Denman Thompson's "Old Homestead," which comes to the Grand tomorrow night. The play is still as eagerly looked forward to by theatregoers wherever it is announced for production. The exceptionally long life of "The Old Homestead" is a striking tribute to its power to entertain playgoers, who find in its homely sentiment, its lovable characters and rural atmosphere a refreshing change from the conventional. It is beyond question the most perfect picture of simple country life that has ever been presented on any stage. The bone-bred love of home, of justice, of right living, tempered with sunny wit and kindly humor, finds its best exponent in this delightful play. Its story is so familiar as to make any iteration of it now altogether unnecessary and unwarranted.

May Robson.

This is Miss Robson's fifth season as Aunt Mary. This was possible with the extraordinary genius of May Robson for developing old women and making the character distinct, impressive and very, very funny, yet human, and not a stage character, and one is apt to forget May Robson and see only the eccentric old maid, with her smiles and tears, her odd expressions and big-heartedness. Miss Robson will appear as Aunt Mary at the Grand on Wednesday evening. On Thursday night she will produce her new play, "A Night Out." From criticisms given this play in other Canadian cities, it is equal, if not better, than "Aunt Mary." Grannum, as presented by May Robson, stands out as clear and defined as a clean-cut cameo. As a comedienne she captures her audience at the outset, and holds it as if under a spell. They shriek with laughter at one moment, and in the next sit in silent absorption of dramatic intensity, and sometimes the silent acting of Miss Robson is more effective than the spoken word.

"Madame" X.

"Madame X," the powerful melodrama, continues to be the dramatic sensation of the time. No play in recollection has so swept the playgoers of New York, while in Paris, whence it came, it played for an entire season—an unprecedented record for the French metropolis. Henry W. Savage has made a wonderful record of success also as a chooser of theatrical material, as he has hitherto produced such triumphs, in other field, as "The Merry Widow," or his other notable hits. In New York "Madame X" has been seen by 400,000 playgors, who achievement absolutely without parallel in the modern history of the drama. "Madame X" will be seen at the Grand Saturday, matinee and night.

"Pinafore."

That favorite comic opera of "Pinafore" will be sure of a big house on Monday night next. Already many requests have been made for seats. As an example of the difference in the staging of plays thirty years ago and today, the "prop" of "Pinafore" is a good illustration. Instead of the usual long list of properties that the Grand Opera House is called upon to furnish for the usual musical show, the house property man was surprised and delighted to learn that the only thing needed for the performance outside of the matter carried by the company, was "one bass drum." This is used to give the signal of the approach of Sir Joseph Porter in the first act.

THERE'S NO NEED TO FEAR CHANGE

Rev. Dr. S. Lyle's Sermon In the First Presbyterian Church.

VOTES FOR THE WOMEN

Ladies Will Get the Franchise If They Go the Right Way About It, Says the Doctor.

Anniversary services were held Sunday in the First Presbyterian Church, Rev. Dr. S. Lyle, of Hamilton, being the preacher of the occasion. Large congregations were present at both services. In the evening Dr. Lyle preached on the portion of the seventh verse of the fifth chapter of II. Corinthians: "Behold all things are new."

The thought of today, he stated, was drifting in two directions. The one class explained that everything is fixed, and find no change anywhere. The others revive the old Greek philosophy that all is in a change of flux, that the continents are slowly making way for the continents to be. The sun was burning out, the moon was but a graveyard, and the earth itself was wearing away.

In the spirit and thought world changes were also being wrought. Some are fearful of new forms of faith. Where there is life there is change, and there must be growth and development in faith. There was no need to fear change. Christ changed the order of things when He came to the world, and His life will change it more and more.

The Advent of Christ.

When Christ came He gave mankind a new idea of personality. The greatest thing in the world was personality. In the old Aryan days, a person was a man who had "a wife, children and other cattle." The Jewish conception was a little higher, but far from good. If Abraham had any idea of personality, he never would have thought of offering his son Isaac on the altar because a voice told him to do so. When Christ came, He changed things. Every woman, every child, every slave was a person. Wherever Christianity came it gave liberty to the captive, and placed the women and the children on an equal footing with the man.

Christ renewed the family life. The nearest approach to heaven is the Christian family. In the old days God winked at the dark spots in the family life, but when Christ came that was all changed. There is to be no fast and loose living in the family now. Polygamy and all its forms have been done away with.

Renewing the State.

Christ is renewing the state. Dr. Lyle deplored the bitterness of political struggles, and declared that these should be mollified in some manner. The civic life should be as sacred as any other life. The mayor of a city should be as righteous as the bishop of the diocese, and the prime minister of the country as holy as any preacher of the gospel. Politics were dirty, but the citizens generally made them so. A man can be a statesman and politician without trying to circumvent God. All decent men should be allowed to vote.

"The rights of every decent man in the state should be recognized if the French revolution is not to be repeated," said Dr. Lyle.

Votes for Women.

The speaker took a strong stand on the demand of the women for votes.

"The modern suffragist has right on her side, and will get the ballot if she goes the right way about it," declared Dr. Lyle. "We give the vote to men who are often little better than criminals, but deny the woman, who is always on the side of right, on the side of the family, of the child and all philanthropic work. She is taxed but has not a vote. She is on the right principle, and will obtain her rights, if foolish methods do not destroy her influence. Christ placed woman side by side with her husband in the family, and will place her side by side with him in politics. It is merely a question of time, and is bound to come."

Christ was making changes in the church. A new idea of the doctrine of place had been given to the people. Not here nor in Jerusalem shall men worship, but anywhere. A new idea of time was given. The Sabbath in the old days was tied, but Christ loosened it. The Sabbath had become burdensome, but Christ made it, not a day of bondage, but of light and liberty.

Changes For the Good.

The system of giving a tithe was done away with, and Christians were to give, not one-tenth, but as God had prospered them. Other changes were taking place, and all were for the good of the people.

Special music was given by the choir under the direction of Mr. Vivian Reeve.

GERMANY DEMANDED CHANCELLOR'S HEAD

How Lloyd-George's Speech Almost Brought On a Great War.

AVERTED BY BANKERS

No Definite Alliance Between Britain and France Shown by Publication of Agreement's Secret Clause.

London, Nov. 27.—The publication Saturday of the secret clauses in the Anglo-French agreement of 1904 relating to Egypt and Morocco, and by which, it was alleged, Great Britain was heavily committed to the military support of France in certain eventualities, but which turned out to be of minor importance, has dispelled the idea that Great Britain and France have a definite military alliance. An uncomfortable feature of the situation is that the foreign secretary is bound to justify the Government's course in Monday's speech, but if his account of the negotiations contradicts Herr Von Kiderlen-Waechter's on important points Anglo-German hostility and recriminations are certain to break out again.

Sir Edward Grey will move "That the foreign policy of his majesty's Government shall be considered," and will then begin a debate which will likely occupy two days and take a wide range.

Mr. Keir Hardie, Socialist and Independent Labor, will propose the amendment: "Particularly in relation to the presence in Persia of bodies of Russian and British soldiers, and the danger thus set up to Persian independence, which we have bound ourselves to maintain."

Bankers Averted War.

The Pall Mall Gazette repeats explicitly, what has heretofore been only rumored, that Germany demanded the dismissal of Mr. Lloyd George from the cabinet after his famous speech, as she did the dismissal of M. Delcasse in 1903. The paper adds that the foreign secretary absolutely declined to consider such a suggestion and also declares that Germany stayed her hand from war at the last moment through the influence of the financiers.

An officer of the home fleet writes to the Outlook corroborating Lord Charles Beresford's charges that the crisis found the fleet insufficiently coaled, undermanned and lacking the necessary reserves of ammunition and big guns.

Opinions in the best-informed

When we recommend Vinol for all weak and run-down people, and those who have stubborn coughs, lack of appetite, sleeplessness and nervous conditions, we do so because we are absolutely convinced that it is just what they need. Then if Vinol does not satisfy them perfectly we give back the money. You ought to try Vinol if you wish to be strong and well, for you take no risk at all.

DID WHAT SHE HOPED

It is a real pleasure to find that something you have bought is just as good as you hoped it would be, and Mrs. Charles Proper, of West Scranton, Pa., writes a letter to tell others her experience. She says:

"I was all run down and very weak, and had been so for three years. I am sure that Vinol has helped me very much, for four bottles of it have brought back my strength, which is just what I was told it would do."

quarters are most hopeful that the debate today will open an era of better understanding between Germany and Great Britain.

No blue book of the dispatches relating to the events in question has yet been published. Therefore the British foreign secretary is liable to throw a deal of new light on the subject. It is fully expected, however, that he will deliver a peaceful and friendly speech dealing more with the future than the past.

The leader of the Opposition, Andrew Bonar Law, will follow Sir Edward in the details, and it is expected he will give reasonable support to the Government's foreign policy.

The best part of the day is the evening, when the whole family is gathered together around the lamp.

The old days of the smoky fireplace and flickering candle are gone forever. In their place have come the convenient oil stove and the indispensable Rayo Lamp.

There are to-day, in the United States alone, more than 3,000,000 of these Rayo lamps, giving their clear, white light to more than 3,000,000 homes.

Other lamps cost more, but you cannot get a better light than the low-priced Rayo gives. It has become so popular we may almost call it "the official lamp of the American family."

Toronto Pastor's Sermon In the Askin Street Church on Sunday.

Rev. Dr. S. P. Rose, pastor of Sherbourne Street Methodist Church, Toronto, preached in Askin Street Methodist Church Sunday morning on the subject of "Our Uncrowned King." Educational Sunday was observed in all the Methodist Churches of the city.

"Today is the day of the reign of the common people," said Dr. Rose. "They are the king who holds the destinies of nations in his hands, who is influential in politics, in art, in literature, and language. The morals of the nation are in his keeping, and he is influential in the church. The king of today is the average man.

"To rebel against this great king would be dangerous, but it is our duty to educate him, to a better and higher development. We must impress upon him the need of the harmonious development of the physical, mental and moral man. We must remind him that there will be heirs to his throne, and that he must give to these their bodies that will be strong. And we must lay emphasis upon the education of his moral nature.

"His social life and his environment must be attended to. The church must remember that he is a social being. We must be alive to our responsibility and to our opportunity. Great suns may go down in darkness, but the commonplace stars must shine on or the world is doomed."

Referring to the educational work of the Methodist Church, Dr. Rose pointed out the necessity of adequate provision for the training of the ministry. Never before was there a time when the need was so great as it is now. It was very urgent that trained men should be forthcoming. Better to leave the pulpits unfilled than have men who are not properly equipped.

In appealing for increased support for the educational work of the church, Dr. Rose paid a glowing tribute to Rev. Dr. Graham, formerly pastor of the First Methodist Church, of this city, and now educational secretary of the Methodist Church in Canada.
