

STRATFORD SHOPS ARE WORKING FULL TIME

Business and Industrial Conditions Are Good—Unemployment Negligible.

POPULATION GROWS Merchants Say 1925 Best Selling Year Since End of War.

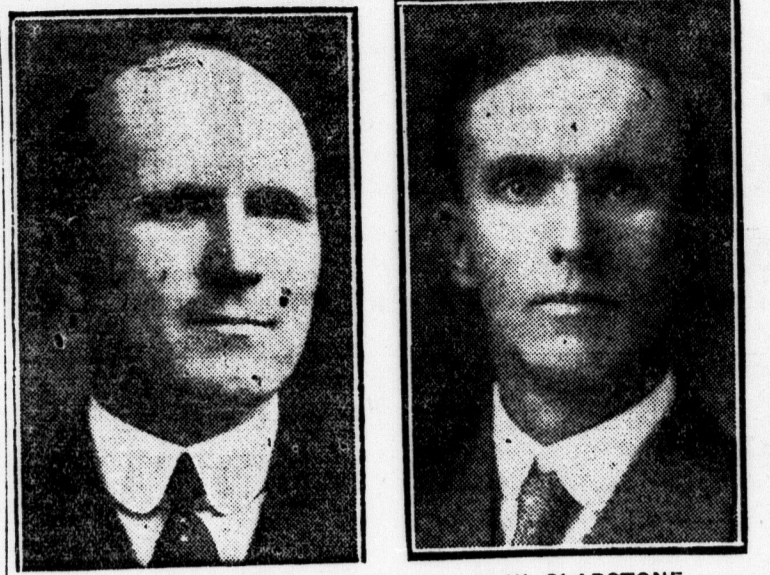

By J. A. HUME. Special to the Advertiser by Staff Reporter. Stratford, Oct. 16.—Business and industrial conditions in Stratford are good, "things are going," and there is a general feeling that even better times are just ahead.

All the factories are working, some of them overtime, and most of them with full staffs and on full time. The volume of retail business is reported to be greater than during the war years, unemployment is negligible, the population is steadily increasing, house-building is active, savings deposits in the banks show an increase over last year, and to sum up, as H. Denroche, city tax collector, put it tersely: "Stratford has nothing to be ashamed of, and we are not making any great noise, but everything is moving along nicely."

Euler and Gladstone Two Liberal Candidates in Rich Industrial Districts.

W. D. EULER. R. W. GLADSTONE. North Waterloo and South Wellington Have Outstanding Liberal Candidates—Rich Industrial and Agricultural Districts in Which Liberalism Has Always Made Strong Appeal.

North Waterloo and South Wellington are similar ridings, in that each has within its boundaries a busy city, bustling towns and a rich agricultural section. Both have great manufacturing interests, and both have big business centers, Guelph and Kitchener.

South Wellington has always been Liberal until Hon. Hugh Guthrie changed his political colors and went from Liberalism to Unionist and from Unionist to Toryism. Mr. Guthrie has represented the seat since 1914. North Waterloo has had much Conservative representation. Premier King breaking the siege in 1908, he was defeated in 1911, but the seat went to William D. Euler in 1917.

LONDON TO HEAR REV. C. W. GORDON

Ralph Connor of Literary Fame Will Deliver Sermons at St. Andrew's.

SERVICES FOR WEEK

Rev. Charles W. Gordon, D.D., St. Stephen's United Church, Winnipeg, better known as Ralph Connor, will be the special preacher at the 81st anniversary services in St. Andrew's United Church on Nov. 15 next.

Dr. Gordon has visited London on two different occasions during the past eighteen months, both times as a speaker on behalf of church union, the first at Ryerson public school and the second in what was then King street Presbyterian church. Dr. Gordon's coming to London for a whole week will afford an opportunity for the hosts of admirers of his stirring books to hear and meet one of the greatest Canadian authors of all time.

MacGregor's pastorate at St. Andrew's church, since coming to London eleven years ago from Toronto, where he held the office of assistant secretary of the social service department of the Presbyterian church in Canada, has been an eminently successful one, and in addition he has found time to accomplish considerable work on behalf of the church throughout the whole of Western Ontario.

I was just tired and miserable always and life just seemed as if it wasn't worth living."

BEAUTY

Gleamy, Thick, Wavy Hair in a Moment.

Girls! Try this! When combing and brushing your hair, just moisten your hair brush with a little "Danderine" and brush it through your hair. The effect is startling. You can dress your hair in a matter of minutes and it will appear twice as thick and heavy, an abundance of gleamy, wavy hair, sparkling with health, incomparably soft, fresh, youthful. Besides beautifying the hair, a 25-cent bottle of refreshing, fragrant "Danderine" from any drug or toilet counter will do wonders, particularly if the hair is dry, thin, brittle, faded or streaked with gray from constant curling and waving which burn the hair and very little from any woman's hair.

"Increase In Tariff Means Increase In Cost of Living"—King In London

GREAT TEST RALLY IN HISTORY OF CITY CHEERS LIBERAL PREMIER OF CANADA AND HIS POLICY OF NATIONAL UNITY

E. S. Little, London's Liberal Candidate, Shares Rousing Welcome With Premier King, Dr. W. J. Stevenson, Col. Clifford Reason and Hon. Charles S. Hyman—Prime Minister Pays Tribute To Little's Ability.

ELECTION DETERMINES UNITY OR DISSENSION Must Follow Course Which Will Help All Provinces or Wreck Confederation, Says King—Shows That High Tariff Means Increased Cost of Living—Outlines Plan of Senate Reform.

It was a great night for Liberalism in London. Four thousand people came to the big arena to hear the Liberal prime minister of Canada discuss the issues of the day, and express his admiration for E. S. Little, London's Liberal candidate. They constituted the greatest public meeting which the city of London has ever seen—more than twice as large as any other political gathering in the city's history, and they demonstrated by their close attention, their repeated cheers, their warmth of friendliness, an endorsement of Liberal policies such as London has not seen for a generation.

TIDE OF ENTHUSIASM AND ACCORD. If there have been different factions in the Liberal party in London in past years, last night swept it away in a tide of enthusiasm and sincerity, which demonstrated better than all words that there is now only unity and accord. The prime minister was introduced by Dr. W. J. Stevenson, who made a stirring and magnificently received appeal to labor circles in the city. Mr. Little was introduced by Col. Clifford Reason in a generous and eloquent address, and over the whole meeting presided the Hon. Charles S. Hyman, to the great pleasure of the crowd. "Charlie" Hyman will ever hold a warm place in London's heart; last night proved it.

Progress, Freedom and Unity. Progress, freedom and unity were the keywords of the premier's address. He reviewed practically every question about which the electors have to think and vote in the elections of Oct. 29 in a masterly oration which appeared to reason and thoughtfulness, rather than to emotion.

"This election will determine whether the country is to be bound in closer unity or the work of confederation largely undone," he exclaimed in dealing with the policies of Mr. Meighen, which would give special benefits to certain parts of Canada at the expense of others. He showed that this was not merely a matter of sentiment, but that Mr. Meighen to the effect that he would help the west and the east pay freight rates by taking them out of the public treasury. He declared that there would not be an all-round increase in the tariff without an all-round increase in the cost of living and in this urban center that declaration was loudly cheered as the prime minister made his appeal in view that he was making a record.

He trusted home his senate reform ideas with this remark: "The time has come, as it came in Britain, when the commonsense of the people is being thwarted." Again a declaration of progress and action was cheered. He showed his action in the Liberalism through and through, showing that the Canadian national debt had been decreased, and that the running expenses of the government by one-quarter of what it was in Mr. Meighen's time.

The Hope For United Canada. The prime minister concluded with an eloquent appeal for Liberalism through and through, showing that we are prepared to go forward in progress, not looking to the darkness but to the light. In that appeal was also contained the hope for a united Canada harmonious in thought, free in religion, education and commerce. He asked for consideration by every section. He showed the impossibility in Canada of a free trade policy or of the creation of high protective tariff. He stated that he did not stand for free trade, and the west would not stand for high protection. The obvious duty of statesmen, therefore, was to find a middle course. These sentiments were cheered and loudly applauded because of their national viewpoint which must be maintained at the building up of a greater Canada.

Little Received With Cheers. Mr. Little was received with great cheers. The unity of Liberalism in London was shown in the fact that all those who were named at the convention were present to give their support to Mr. Little and the King government.

Hon. Charles S. Hyman received tribute from the prime minister and other speakers. In a short address as chairman, he showed the audience by quoting indisputable figures that fundamentally Canada has improved her trade and manufacturing by steady increases in the last four years. Mr. King paid Mr. Hyman thanks for what he had done for him twenty years ago, before he entered the active political arena.

Hon. C. S. Hyman Speaks. Hon. C. S. Hyman, chairman, spoke as follows: "I am very fortunate to be chairman this evening, and welcome the prime minister of Canada to our domain. However hearty that welcome is, we will remember four years ago he came here as leader of the opposition. He comes tonight as leader of the government of Canada. I hope we will be able to wire him on the 29th that London is with the Liberal party." (Cheers.)

"We have met with us tonight, Mr. Little (cheers), candidate of the Liberal party in London. I am quite sure no words of mine could add to the regard held for Mr. Little. I the government is entirely responsible for all progress, but it is desirable we should know the truth, the whole truth, about our industrial situation. If we heard stories from Australia that thousands of factories were being closed and hundreds of thousands of people were leaving the country, we would not want to invest money, nor even trade with that country."

Canada Is Injured. "What then can the opinion of other nations be of Canada after such things are being said of Canada as at present? If we heard stories from Australia that thousands of factories were being closed and hundreds of thousands of people were leaving the country, we would not want to invest money, nor even trade with that country."

Little, His Friend. "I have known Mr. Little for many years. It may surprise you to hear me say that few members of parliament have been more helpful, more frequently, or with more constructive suggestions."

Stand by Confederation. "The issue is whether or not this country will stand together, or the great benefits of confederation shattered. 'The one message I have is that beneath all policies is the great question of unity, and how best it may be obtained. 'I do not share Meighen's view that the tariff question is most important. There are other great questions, such as those relating to railways, trade, taxation, to the pockets of every citizen."

THE PRIME MINISTER OF CANADA. who in London last night, and in Stratford yesterday afternoon, received the greatest demonstrations of goodwill and enthusiasm which Western Ontario has seen for many years.

Reason, "and so it behooves us to see to it that the reins of office are placed in the hands of the right man." Reason said that Mr. Little heads the poll. "Dr. Reason stated everyone had felt hard times, and just as they had felt privations, so too they would experience the good times ahead."

Introduces Premier. Dr. W. J. Stevenson then introduced the prime minister. He declared Dr. Stevenson, "His name is a household name all over Canada," said Dr. Stevenson. "I ask you that my support you may have given me, go to my friend, Mr. Little."

Women Have Power to Elect. "I should like to impress on the ladies that it is in their power to elect the Liberal candidate in this election. The power of the women must vote which is today such a large part of the electorate."

Stools Go Up. "In 1921, Bank of Montreal stock was worth 208. This year it is up to 258. This shows the progress being made by financial institutions during the King regime. Other large banks show reports of similar progress. Nothing depressing in that, is there?"

Little Received With Cheers. Mr. Little was received with great cheers. The unity of Liberalism in London was shown in the fact that all those who were named at the convention were present to give their support to Mr. Little and the King government.

Reason Eulogizes Little. Dr. Reason was called on to introduce London's candidate, Mr. E. S. Little.

Need For High Protection. "I am, as you know, interested in manufacturing to a considerable extent. There is a rather creditable-looking factory building standing across from the Canadian National Railway station (very creditable in comparison), which stands out by day, and which carries an electric sign by night, to indicate one factory which is not in need of Mr. Meighen's proposed high protection to get its share of the country's business. Consider for a moment the manufacturers of the city of London. Think over those who are standing behind the government is entirely responsible for all progress, but it is desirable we should know the truth, the whole truth, about our industrial situation. If we heard stories from Australia that thousands of factories were being closed and hundreds of thousands of people were leaving the country, we would not want to invest money, nor even trade with that country."

power. He declared, "Yes, and I'll do it at once." "We have tried to get wider markets for our exports, and we have benefited the whole empire. We have made preferential trade treaties with Australia and the West Indies. The result has been trading largely with the United States. Now we have that splendid market for Canadian products."

Liberal Candidate in West Middlesex. J. C. ELLIOTT, K.C., who, he gave a cabinet post if elected.

Deserve Equal Rights. "Labor and capital should have equal rights. "When the department of labor was established but a short time, there was a strike on at the Grand Trunk. One condition of settlement was that the men were to have pension rights restored. The company refused to give it then afterwards. Sir Wilfrid Laurier came back, and the G. T. R. wanted seven million dollars to buy the pension rights. If you leave out any of those parts, you will injure them all."

The Tariff Board. Mr. King took a view of Canada showing the smoke clouds of industry over Ontario and Quebec, the golden grain of the prairies, and the woods and mountains of British Columbia.

Policy Snowed Under. "In the last parliament, Mr. Meighen brought forward a high protective tariff. Only 35 of his own followers were there to vote for it. Not a single Liberal, Progressive or Independent member supported it. We want to further the greatest good for the greatest number. We are not a cabinet of supermen, but we can get together men who are experts."

Need World Market. "Mr. Meighen has his eye focused on the home market. What we want today is world markets quite as much as home markets. (Cheers.) He is getting that as we trade with other nations so will they trade with us."

On the Platform. Those on the platform with the premier were: J. C. Fitzgerald, W. E. D. Jarvis, A. T. Little, R. S. Lashbrook, C. H. Elliott, Dr. Clifford Reason, W. S. Manning, R. Somerville, J. F. Nolan, Philip Pock, Sam Stevely, F. G. Rumball, J. M. McEvoy, Hon. C. S. Hyman and Mr. Hyman.

SINCLAIR DENIES WITHDRAWAL TALK
Liberal Candidates Address Rousing Gatherings in North Oxford.
Special to The Advertiser.
Woodstock, Oct. 16.—Liberalism gained added impetus in North Oxford tonight, when two splendid meetings addressed by Dr. D. J. Sinclair, member of the last parliament, and Liberal candidate in the present campaign, aided by W. G. Raymond, M.P., Brantford, and Thomas McClelland, M.P., Toronto, were held at Princeton and Drumbo. The halls at both places were well filled, in spite of a drizzling rain. A splendid reception was accorded the candidate and the other speakers.

Dr. Sinclair took occasion to deny the story that he had withdrawn from the contest, and added that he was gaining more confidence in the result each day. To be an elected follower of Mackenzie King, the greatest of Canadian premiers, was an honor not lightly to be cast aside, he declared, amid cheers.

At Princeton the chief speaker was W. G. Raymond, member of the last house for Brantford. In an address marked by his keen analysis of the issue at stake, and particularly that of the tariff, he held his audience in rapt attention for more than an hour.

Mr. Raymond paid a high tribute to the work of Mr. Sinclair as a member of the commons, and declared that no man had discharged more conscientiously the trust imposed on him by his constituents. "He said he had no lower the commons much—those who do are regarded as a nuisance. The men who did the business of the commons were not his audience, he declared, amid cheers.

The major portion of his address was devoted to the tariff, however; he declared the Tories were afraid to raise the tariff if they were in power. "People have more sense than Conservative politicians give them credit for. Take the prohibition that is being put before us by the Tory party. They say it is a national problem. We should tax ourselves to make ourselves richer. You are asked to raise the tariff to lower the taxes. Tariff is taxation. They are telling you that you must go up, but at the same time you must go down."

Mr. Raymond also spoke, pointing out the practical things that had been accomplished during the past year. He pointed to the changes in the manufacture of ingersol, and declared that if his industry had to be nursed at the expense of the country, a high tariff on the country was better off without it.

BLUE-RUIN CRY HIT BY MANUFACTURER

Daniel Hibner Addresses Enthusiastic Liberal Rally at Elmira.

HURTING CANADA

Special to The Advertiser.
Kitchener, Oct. 16.—Gordon Waldron addressed an enthusiastic Liberal rally in behalf of W. D. Euler in Jackson hall, Elmira, tonight. The hall was filled long before the time for the meeting to begin.
On the platform was Daniel Hibner, former mayor of Kitchener and one of Canada's pioneer furniture manufacturers, who deplored the blue-ruin talk of Mr. Meighen, declaring that it was doing more to injure Canada than any political cry ever raised in any campaign. He endorsed the candidature of Mr. Euler, referring to his independent stand at Ottawa in behalf of North Waterloo and praising the former North Waterloo member for his splendid aggressiveness and his statesman-like grasp of great national issues.
Mr. Euler was given a rousing ovation when he arose. He reiterated his stand for reasonable tariff to protect industries. He declared himself in favor of the amalgamation of the National railways.
The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic of the campaign, and was a tribute to Mr. Euler's record in the house of commons during the past eight years.

S. WATERLOO ACTIVE.

Special to The Advertiser.
Galt, Oct. 16.—One of the best rural meetings that has yet been held by William Elliott, Liberal-Progressive-Labor candidate in South Waterloo, was that in St. Agatha village hall tonight. The hall was well filled. John Harber, one of the leading farmers of the district, was in the chair. Mr. Elliott, in his address, discussed the national debt, the reduction made in taxes, transportation chiefly with regard to ocean rates and the reduction on cattle benefiting the farmers. He expressed himself in favor of senate reform. Mr. Elliott was aided on the platform by C. E. Widdifield, Galt, solicitor, who assailed the cry of protection of the Conservatives.

N. PERTH ENTHUSES.

Special to The Advertiser.
Stratford, Oct. 16.—The village hall in Goshill was comfortably filled this evening when a meeting was held in the interests of the Liberal candidate in North Perth. The gathering was most enthusiastic, even though the candidate was not present, having gone to London to meet Premier King. Stirring addresses were given by Senator Dr. J. P. Rankin, Duncan Ferguson and W. G. Owens.
A meeting is being held at Atwood on Saturday night.

THREE ARE REMANDED ON ASSAULT CHARGES

Fourth Member of Zone Township Quartet Released On $1,000 Bail.

Special to The Advertiser.
Chatham, Oct. 16.—Maximum penalties were urged by Crown Attorney S. D. Smith, K. C., upon two young men and two young married women, the latter sisters, at the close of their trial in county police court today on various charges which were a sequel to a brawl in a Zone township dwelling last Sunday night.

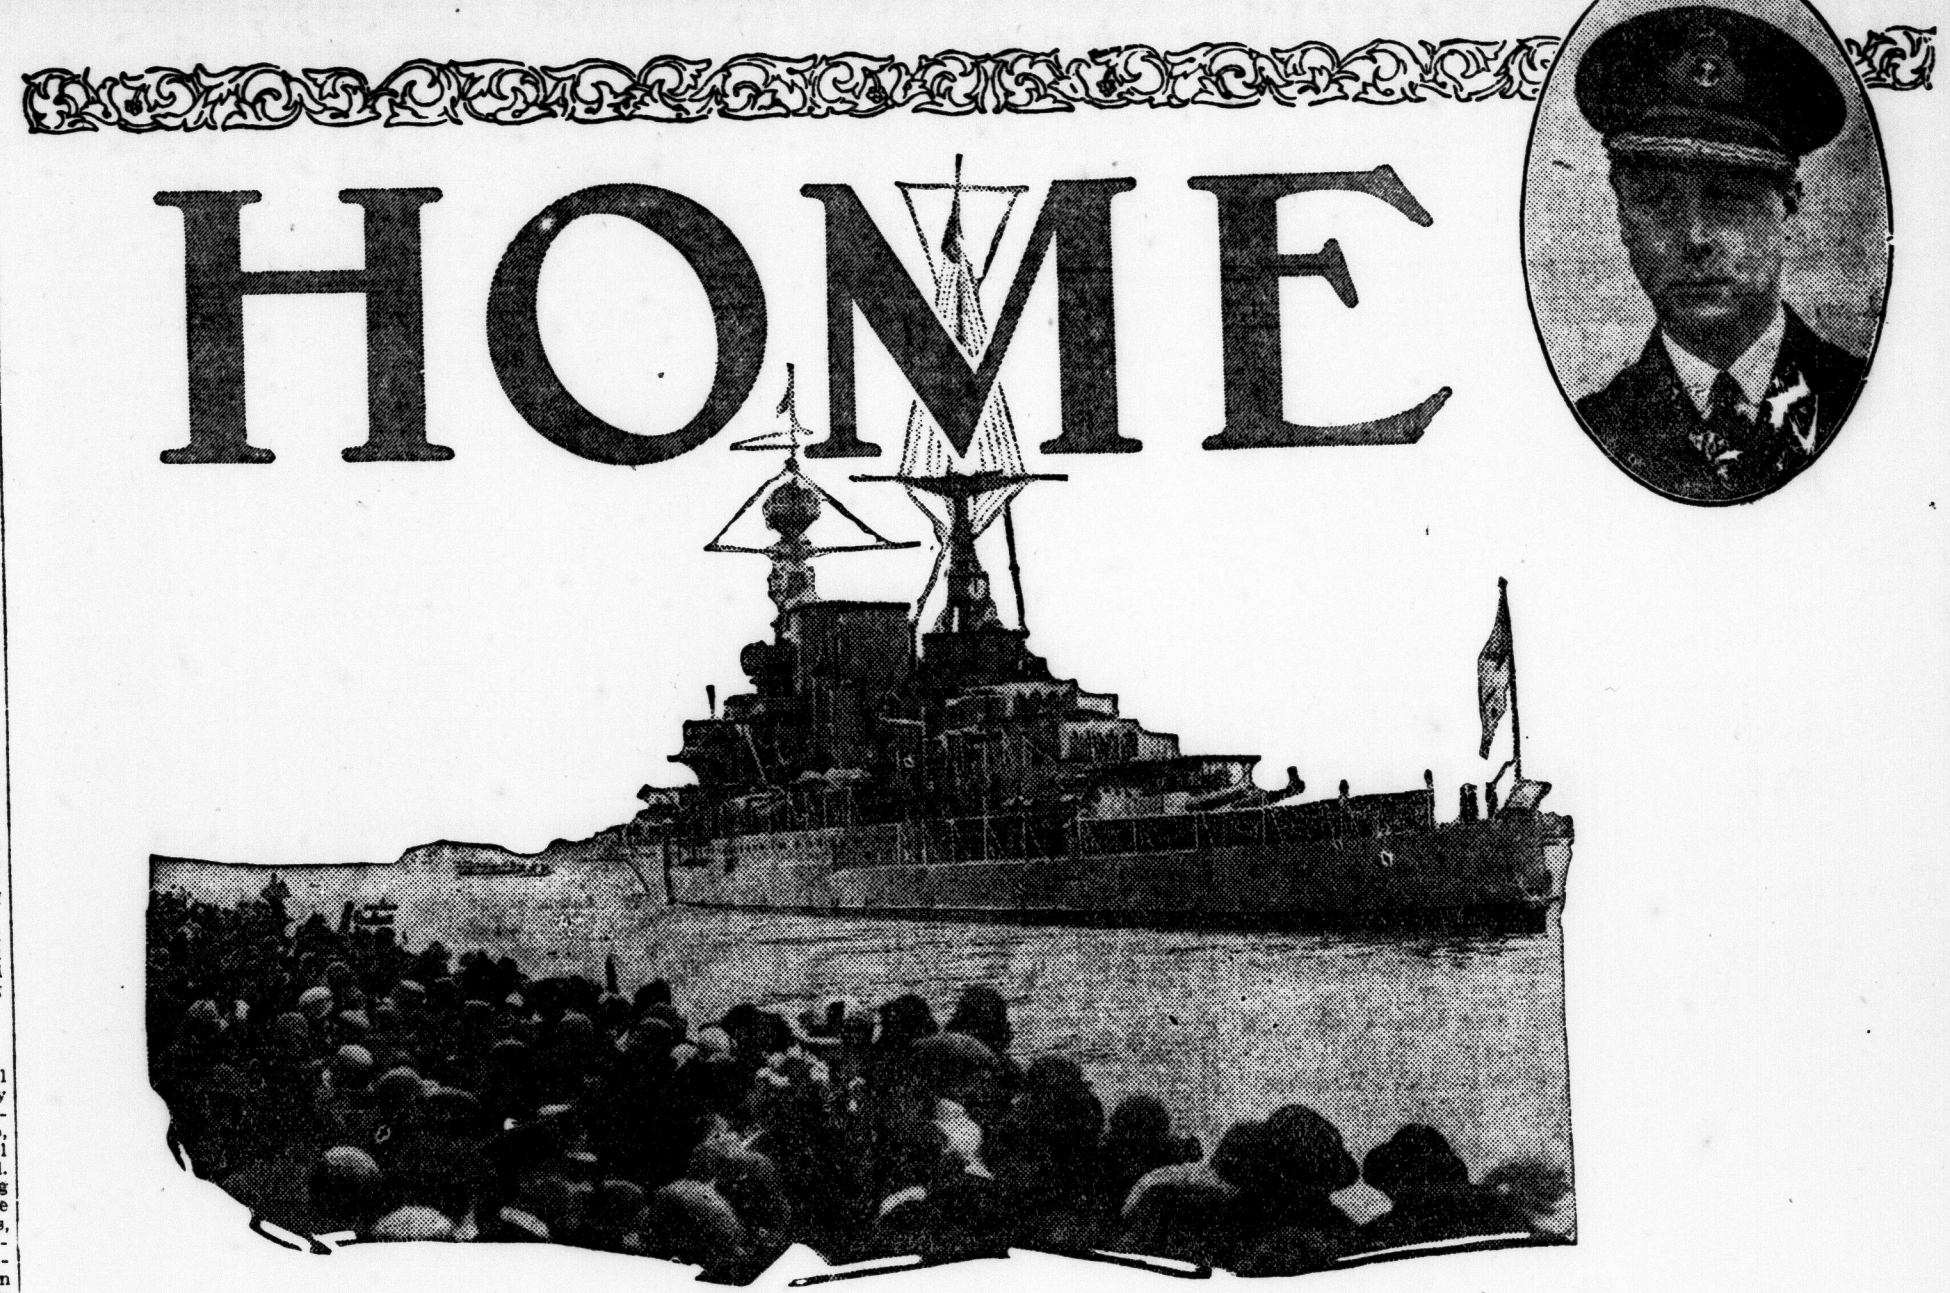

The accused were William Daner of Windsor, Archie Rennie of Walkerville, Mrs. Joyce McCarty, and Mrs. June St. Louis of Pike Creek. They were all charged with violations of the O. E. A. and with assaulting a man causing bodily harm to Norman St. Louis, husband of Mrs. June St. Louis. The two women also faced character charges.
Evidence showed that the quartet visited the St. Louis place, taking with them a supply of beer and whiskey. St. Louis alleged that during a quarrel with his wife, which ensued after he took her to task for being in the company of a strange man, that his sister-in-law, Mrs. McCarty struck him down with a beer bottle, rendering him unconscious.
The charges were denied. Reserving judgment on all charges, the magistrate remanded three to jail for a week, but Rennie, whose wife was reported to be seriously ill, was released on cash bail of $1,000.

Borer Causes Wheat Sowing

HOME!

H.M.S. Repulse Arrives in England after Epoch-Making Cruise

Home is the sailor, home from sea.

Home from the conquests of peace—home with the prize of goodwill—the most popular sailor in all the world is home again in England.

A thousand years and more the little sea-girt isle has sent out its emissaries—some to carry civilization to the uttermost parts of the world, some to negotiate treaties, some to lay the course for commerce, some in the spirit of high adventure, some to fight "for England, home and beauty"—all to carry the flag across the Seven Seas.

Great as have been the maritime glories of days that are gone, none have appealed to the imagination of a wider world than the voyage that has ended at Portsmouth.

The spirit of goodwill accompanied the Repulse wherever it went. It was the outward and visible sign of Great Britain's goodwill to others. And it found a response in the hearts of British Dominions and foreign lands alike.

No other person could have so signally typified that British spirit of goodwill unless it were the King himself. No other person could have magnetized the great world over the seas so effectively as the Sailor Prince.

He conquered the world with a smile.

With royal dignity he combined the sincere desire for brotherhood among the peoples of the world, the faculty of sensing popular feeling and the tact and capacity to crystallize that feeling into goodwill.

Bonds of Empire strengthened—international relations happily established—hope for world peace strengthened—with such a triumph the Prince comes home from sea.

The arrival of H. M. S. Repulse at Portsmouth completes a six and a half months' cruise that sets a new record for royal touring.

Between 25,000 and 30,000 miles were covered on this trip by H. R. H. the Prince of Wales.

While in West and South Africa and South America the peoples he visited varied with each other in entertainment. Aboard the battleship various forms of recreation were arranged, chief among them being the music so dear to the Prince.

Naturally, in music as in everything else, the world's best was provided.

Through the medium of Duo-Art the Prince had available the greatest pianists of modern times, a library of Duo-Art rolls being installed on the Repulse, with a magnificent Duo-Art Reproducing Piano.

Duo-Art re-creates the actual interpretation of the artist. When fancy suggested a Padrewski selection, it was just like summoning that virtuoso to the royal presence—his playing was reproduced with every shade of touch, tempo and tone.

Or if the mood was for lighter airs, as an accompaniment to the Prince's banjo—the Duo-Art library provided a selection as varied as the islands of the Atlantic. And what entrancing dance music, as the Prince "slipt across the summer of the world"! Perhaps never before at the Equator were such dreamy waltzes or perfect jazz heard as on this trip. For only where there's Duo-Art can dance music be reproduced so alluringly.

Duo-Art is the greatest musical triumph of all time. To those who are interested in this wonderful advancement in Music, it is gratifying that a Duo-Art Reproducing Piano and a Duo-Art Library contributed so much to the enjoyment of the royal party.

Course taken by Repulse from Portsmouth to Africa, across Atlantic to South America and home.

In Canada, the DUO-ART is installed exclusively in the Mason & Risch—"The Piano with a Soul."

ASSERTS HIGH TAX REWARD OF TARIFF

Mayor Sloggett and Hon. James Murdock Address St. Thomas Liberal Gathering.

THROTTLE BLUE CRIES

Special to The Advertiser by Staff Reporters.

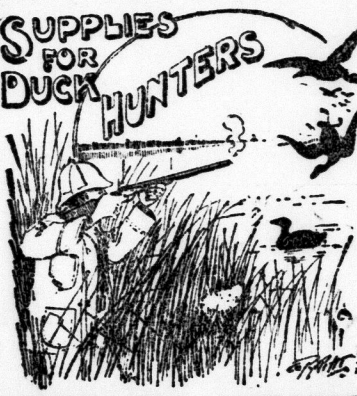

St. Thomas, Oct. 16.—One thousand people crowded into the engineers' hall tonight to attend a meeting in the interests of George Sloggett, the local Liberal candidate, although many Liberals went to London to hear Mackenzie King. It was one of the most enthusiastic receptions ever tendered a Liberal candidate in the city. The meeting was free from heckling, and was most sympathetic to the speakers.

Speaking of the C. N. R. system, George Sloggett, the candidate, stated that when the King government came into power there were three distinct railway systems, the Intercolonial, the C. T. R., and the Canadian National. Following the premier's efforts, these roads were joined into one enormous system, with the result that operating deficits were turned into operating surpluses. In regard to the tariff it must be remembered that the tariff is a tax, Mr. Sloggett stated. To raise the tariff is to raise the tax. "I believe the Hon. Mr. King's idea of a tariff commission to suit the tariff requirements of all parts of the country is a good one."

Put Dollar on Par.

The raising of the Canadian dollar to par was another achievement of the King government.

Warning to beware of the old cry, raised in 1921 by the Meighen government, the Hon. James Murdock said: "At that time the billboards were plastered with the poster 'Canada needs Meighen.' What was the result? Six provinces repudiated this

PIG-SKIN PETERS HAS BEEN RETAINED BY ALL THREE PARTIES TO HANDLE THE HECKLERS

Business is Business by Gregory Clark

"WHAT we need," said Marrigat, "is a stick of dynamite about twenty feet long."

"Or," said Sir John Hawkins, "a derrick and one of these 'ere 'ooks."

"A keg of stumping powder," added Beaubien. "Well, why not make a stick of dynamite twenty feet long?" asked Brown. "Take a piece of one-inch pipe, iron pipe, and fill her full of ammonal and a fuse to her—bingo."

Marrigat got up and said: "Come on. That's done already."

These four, Marrigat's gang, had been notified to stand by for a raid, an identification raid. The major had discovered Marrigat's gang in the midst of his company at Vimy, where these four inseparables, who marched abreast, bunked together, ate together, played together and shared all, had performed at least half a dozen miracles; outflanked a pair of machine guns, cut the main cable of the enemy telephone system, catapulted red ground flares an enormous distance so that the enemy guns, thinking this to be the new British line, shelled short and destroyed their own last line of defense; and that four, volunteering as crew to a Stokes gun sergeant, induced him to fire air-bursts at a low-flying aeroplane that was trying to solve the riddle of the ground flares. It was those air bursts, fuses cut down to three seconds, that took the major over to the gun and to the discovery of Marrigat's gang in the innocent midst of his own command.

"Who the blazes?" demanded the major, kneeling on the rim of the large shell hole where the Stokes was uplifting its stove-pipe snout.

"Whuff!" coughed the Stokes, as Marrigat himself leaned smartly away from the gun. A whiskey-bottle shell leaped soaring into the sky; the German machine, hastening now, roared over, and the short-fused shell, dangerously short, burst with a grey smash to one side of the banking Hun.

Marrigat, watching, turned a happy face to the major.

"What's the idea?" said the major, in his party manner. "Are you aware that you are likely to get your bloody head blown off? Get back to your platoon. Are you the sergeant of this gun?"

"Yessir. I lost my crew. These men came and offered to run it, if I would show them."

Marrigat said: "The Hun has went home."

All looked, and the machine was speeding away into the east.

"Well," said the major, "Marrigat, you stay here with these three and serve the gun until the sergeant gets his own relief for you. But don't tinker with fuses, you hear? Stokes guns are not Archies."

The major was slightly elated as he scuttled

Around the bend came a German bayonet, thick broad and gleaming.

back to the trench where his company lay. "I've got to use those boys."

That was how Marrigat's gang was discovered. Vimy won Marrigat and Sir John Hawkins the military medal. A raid five weeks later placed the same decoration on the tunics of Beaubien and Brown.

They were excused duty, in and out of the line. They were designated as raiders. The time they had on their hands was left to them to think up new ways of distressing the enemy.

"A little raid," said the major, "an identification raid. Brigade wants only one identification, still in good condition if possible, still able to speak. Now, let me know to-night what you would like to do. Take a look at the lay of the land. Have a talk with the scouts."

With the scout sergeant they made a tour of No Man's Land at dark and found a place where the wire was only twenty feet across, good and thick, matted. And beyond the wire they heard a German with a bad cold.

Beaubien, when they got in, said: "Now, if he has got a bad cough, likely the whole platoon has got a bad cold, eh?"

"In effect, yes," said Sir John.

"That's where we go in, then," said Beaubien. Here Marrigat said: "What we need is a stick of dynamite, twenty feet long."

So, with Brownie's suggestion of a pipe full of ammonal, the Mills bomb explosive and a very pretty one, the four went back to a ruined village to find a piece of pipe.

They had not long to look. In the best house in the village they found a length of inch pipe about thirty feet long, and they carried it back to the support trench where bomb stores were.

With an enormous pull-through and emery paper they wiped the rusty pipe clean, poured it full of explosive, bored a small hole in a lead plug, for the fuse, and plugged her tight.

With this strange weapon they crawled out, at nine o'clock, dark, sliding it with them as they crawled. It took them an hour and a half to insert the awkward length of pipe under the matted, tangled barb wire. It met obstruction time after time, but at last they thrust it home—all the way.

Unclogging the fuse, they withdrew forty feet, and sent Brown back to tell the major to get ready for a bang.

Brown came back and whispered "O.K."

Sir John Hawkins, the derrick worker, accustomed to mines and quarries, fired the fuse with the major's cigaret butt that Brown had brought out from the trench, reversed, in his mouth.

The instantaneous fuse hissed, and forty feet away a huge flame and roar leaped up. Marrigat and his gang lay with eyes tight shut, face to the ground. While the debris was still falling the four scrambled up, charged the spot of the explosion and found, as they had expected, a large lane torn in the belt of tangled barb wire.

Marrigat in front, pistol in hand, slid into the splendidly planked German trench. Brown behind him had a large iron nut slid on to the armpits and dragged him back to where the lane in the wire was. Sir John, his long arm flailing, began to lob his bombs in both directions.

Then Marrigat removed from his side pockets two bombs that looked like black tins of salmon. With a match he lit them and threw one to the left and one to the right. Dense clouds of white smoke rose up and spread before them. The lane screened against the green calcium glare of the flares, the party, a leg and an arm apiece, hauled their identification up out of the trench, and through the lane.

The white smoke billowed and eddied around them, choking them. But they reached a deep hole and lay in it.

For fifteen minutes the flares leaped and lobbed, the machine guns raved, back and forward. From the Canadian trench, not a sound. The German field guns that had opened up died away. In a moment of darkness, Marrigat's gang and the identification scrambled up and on. Flare! Down they dropped at the tell-tale pop. In three minutes the major and ten men found them, took their burden from them and scuttled into the trench.

"Very neat," said the major. "Is he all right?"

"I just tapped him," said Brown. "Just a little tap." He bent down and felt the German's head. "Yep! It's swelling. He's all right."

They poured cold water on the German's head and wrists, patted his wrists as if he had fainted, pillowed his head on Marrigat's lap.

He stirred, raised a hand to his brow.

They heaved him to his feet and led and pushed him, in dumb bewilderment, down towards the major's dugout. In the candle-lit chamber, they sat him down on a bench, and the four stood smiling at him, while the major took the phone and told headquarters they had got a feldwebel for an identification. "Two seven seventh Bavarians," said he.

Rum was handed around. The German got his first. The four, in turn, held their granite cup of rum up to him.

"Good luck," said Marrigat.

"The war's over," toasted tall Sir John.

"Hoch der Kaiser," said Beaubien.

"Gesundheit!" greeted Brown, who had cracked him.

The four saluted the major; he, helmetless, smiled upon them. Up into the chill night they went, back the trenches to the dugout and the soiled cribbage board.

One of Those Foreign Pups

THE tourist was a sporting man. When he alighted from his train at a small country station, he enquired of the solitary porter as to a suitable hotel. Getting a satisfactory reply, he said:

"And now, will you take charge of my gun, my bag, and my dog, etcetera?"

The porter hesitated, and scratched his head in a puzzled manner. Then, as the tourist was hurrying off the platform, he rushed forward and touched him on the arm.

"Beg pardon, sir," he said, "but does Etcetra bite?"

THEATRE ATTRACTIONS for the COMING WEEK

STOLEN SWEETS COMING TO GRAND

Top Notch Burlesque Starring Margie Pennetti Opens Here Next Thursday Afternoon.

Lavishly presented and with a wealth of smart and beautiful costumes and handsome scenic and electrical effects, Stolen Sweets will open the fall and winter burlesque attractions at the Grand next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with popular matinees each afternoon at which the ladies will be admitted for 25 cents.

This is what the Detroit Free Press had to say regarding Stolen Sweets, which is playing in that city this week:

"Margie Pennetti, the Gilda Grey of Burlesque, is back in Detroit, featuring a new edition of Stolen Sweets. Miss Pennetti gained a plunge from her first appearance in My Man, a song and dance number. Two others, the shapely Miss Marion La Mar, billed as Irigence, and the little soubrette, Miss Rose Le Anse, who starred in several song numbers, also gained popularity.

"Charles (Red) Marshall and Morrie Le Vine, comedians, provide the humor. Marshall is exceedingly funny.

"Slapstick comedy is furnished by Fred Reese, acting the part of a ticket taker in a show, and Le Vine and Miss Pennetti as an Italian couple, who try to gain admission gratis.

"Jack Ford, juvenile, executes a neat little bit of footwork which reaches across the footlights.

"The chorus of pretty girls is gorgeously costumed.

"London burlesque fans, and they are legion, were more than pleased at the announcement made last week by Manager J. R. Minihnick of the Grand that the city's most popular theatre would play burlesque the last three days of every week, commencing Thursday, Oct. 22.

The policy of the Grand has always been that the best attractions were none too good for the London public and with this in mind, the management has gone out and secured absolutely the best in road shows and burlesque for the entire season.

The opening burlesque attraction brings the famous Miss Margie Pennetti and her Stolen Sweets to the Grand the latter half of next week. Heralded as one of the best burlesque shows on the circuit, Margie and her chorus of "twenty sweets" will attract bumper houses at every performance.

London ladies will not have forgotten those bargain matinees when the price of admission to the Grand for the ladies was but 25 cents, with a choice of any seat, doors open for matinees at 1:30 and evenings 7:30.

Mr. Minihnick states that burlesque fans can reserve the same seats for each show throughout the season, by making arrangements at the box office.

French Matinee is the next show coming Oct. 23, 30, 31.

Here she is, Margie Pennetti, the Gilda Grey of burlesque, who heads the cast of Stolen Sweets, which takes the lid off the burlesque season at the Grand next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with popular matinee each day at 2:15. Special price of 25 cents, ladies, at matinee.

Innes Is Attacked On Council Issue

Tory Speakers Inject Personalities Into Contest.

Special to The Advertiser.

Woodstock, Oct. 15.—The injection of personalities of an unpleasant nature into the South Oxford election caused somewhat of a sensation at a Conservative meeting held in Norwich last night, when Reeve Johnston of South Norwich was speaking on behalf of Donald Sutherland, the Conservative candidate. Speaking of Warden Innes, the Liberal candidate, Mr. Johnston said: "I've got a skunk in the hole, but I'm going to dig him out if there is any digging to him, I challenge him to meet me on any platform and am ready to meet him, but he is too much of a coward to meet me. He's the most gigantic bungler I have ever come across." The cause of Reeve Johnston's outburst was the fact that in county council Warden Innes had moved an increase of two dollars an acre in the equalized assessment of South Norwich township.

Special to The Advertiser.

Up in the North Woods the boys are already bringing in their game. In the district north of the main line of the Canadian National Railway between Quebec and Winnipeg the grouse and deer season opened Sept. 15 and will continue until Nov. 15. Throughout this district, which covers millions of acres, big game is abundant, very plentiful, and every hunter who goes north is almost sure of bringing back his full complement.

Special to The Advertiser.

and Mattawa rivers the open season for deer and moose is from Oct. 25 to Nov. 30, both dates inclusive, while in the territory yet further south, i.e., south of the French, Pickering and Mattawa rivers, the open season is from Nov. 5 to 20.

The district adjacent to the French, Pickering and Mattawa rivers is easy of access, and is one of the famous and popular hunting grounds of Ontario. Keen, dyed-in-the-wool hunters go up to this country of trail, river and lake every year, and are always successful.

There can be no better vacation than one spent in these northern Ontario woods. Clean your gut, assemble your kit, and get ready for a real he-man holiday. Any Canadian National Railway agent will gladly supply you with full hunting information and particulars of special and regular train service.

Printed leaflets with details of this service and general information of interest to hunters may be had on application.—Adv't.

LOEW'S PRESENTS BIG NOVELTY ACT

Myers and Hanford Will Present Something New in Vaudeville Feature.

A little over a year ago, Ziegfeld Follies announced that a new act was to be brought from somewhere in the wide, open spaces of these United States to their New York debut. Two "blacks," so-called, from the farm, rubes that proved a sensation from their opening act.

The team of Myers and Hanford, playing at Loew's on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, are the two out-of-town visitors that taught the big town something about dancing melody and how to play a saw.

A month ago they appeared at the Palace in New York and stopped the show. Metropolitan critics waxing to the boiling point in their worthy enthusiasm of the act.

All along the Loew's circuit these two Arkansas Valentinos have created a sensation that rivals any other vaudeville triumphant tour of a specialty act.

MEIGHEN TO STAY CLEAR OF QUEBEC

Conservative Leader's Itinerary Examined at Ottawa With Keen Interest.

PLANNED MEETING

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—Mr. Meighen's Ontario itinerary, as announced from Toronto, was examined with interest, for the reason that previously there had been no intimation as to whether or not the Conservative leader would go into Quebec at all on his return from the west. The program now disclosed shows that he will not set foot in that province.

It was the intention some time ago that Mr. Meighen should go to Quebec city toward the end of the campaign for one meeting, with a view to offsetting the impression created by his having avoided the province hitherto. Those who are in control of the Patenaude campaign, however, have insisted that he stay away. They are afraid that his appearance for even one meeting would undo anything that Patenaude has been able to accomplish. They insist also on maintaining to the last the separation and independence of Patenaude from Meighen.

Mr. Patenaude everywhere in the province has declared that he was absolutely independent of the federal Conservative leader, and it is on that basis alone that he hopes to secure any following. Mr. Meighen's name is still not being mentioned within the province from any Conservative platform.

Following is the itinerary: Monday, 19th, at Sudbury; Tuesday, 20th, Tillsonburg in the afternoon; Woodstock in the evening; Wednesday, 21st, St. Marys in the afternoon, Stratford in the evening; Thursday, 22nd, Niagara Falls in the afternoon, Dunnville in the evening; Friday, 23rd, at Quebec in the evening; Saturday, 24th, Lindsay in the afternoon and Peterboro in the evening; Monday, 25th, Oshawa in the early evening, after which he will motor to Toronto.

THE CIRCLE WILL SHOW AT LOEW'S

Big Production Features Eleanor Boardman in Wonderful Character Role.

Just a few of the Stolen Sweets, with Margie Pennetti, who pry off the burlesque lid in London next Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Grand, with matinee each day at 2:15 and evening 8:15. Special bargain matinees for ladies, 25 cents.

At Loew's

Today—Lon Chaney, the star of The Unholy Three, and Norma Shearer in Selma Lagerloef's novel that won the world prize, "The Tower of Lies." Loew's premier comedy, Loew's Kinogram News, Aesop's Fables and three acts of Loew's supreme vaudeville.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday—Eleanor Boardman in W. Somerset Maugham's story that held Broadway spellbound for two years. The Circle, Loew's premier comedy, Sherlock's Sleuth, featuring Wm. Stone, Loew's News of Current Events. In vaudeville—Myers and Hanford, late stars of the Ziegfeld Follies and Victor record artists, known as "The Arkansas Valentinos," and two other big acts.

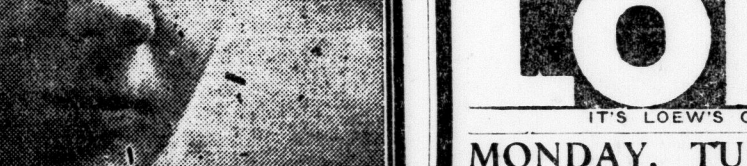

Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday—Nita Naldi, Lewis Stone and Virginia Valli in The Lady Who Lied, Loew's premier comedy, Aesop's Fables and three acts of vaudeville.

ARGENTINA PLACES BAN ON MUNITIONS IMPORTS

Associated Press Despatch.

Buenos Aires, Oct. 16.—The Argentine government has signed a decree prohibiting the private importation of armaments and munitions of war into Argentina without special permission from the war department, in which case they are only allowed to enter through the port of Buenos Aires.

The decree defines these prohibited imports as those which the nation imports for its own defense and also those used by other countries for war purposes.

GREAT MAGICIAN RICHARDS COMING

Will Present Program of Amazing Wonders at the Grand, October 26, 27, 28.

Richards, America's greatest magician, and his big show of amazing wonders, comes to the Grand on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 26, 27 and 28, with special bargain matinee on Wednesday, the 28th.

Unquestionably the world's most beautiful and costly mystery production, Richards brings to London for the first time a massive stage production in three parts and twelve big scenes of gorgeous splendor.

Heralded as the wonder show of the century, Richards brings to his audience an abundance of beauty, thrills, music, mystery and novelty, splendor unsurpassed by any of the famous and world-renowned magicians.

The production carries two employes of special scenery with 100 dazzling wonders and a special orchestra.

Evening prices are from 10 cents to $1, while prices for the bargain matinee on Oct. 28 are 25 and 50 cents.

Best Way to Loosen Stubborn Cough

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick relief. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness, phlegm, hoarseness, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual cold and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get 16 ounces—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

CORNS AND CALLUSES

Lift Off with Fingers

FAMOUS STALLION SOLD.

Associated Press Despatch.

Berlin, Sept. 16.—The famous French stallion, Nicos, has been sold to a German stud for 260,000 marks. Agents refused to divulge the name of the purchaser. Nicos was foaled in 1920 and is a product of the stud of Baron M. de Rothschild. During three years' racing the stallion was the winner of more than 500,000 francs.

Doesn't hurt a bit. Drop a little "Freezone" on any aching corn, callus, or "hardskin" on bottom of feet. Instantly it stops burning, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the foot calluses, without soreness or irritation.—Adv't.

"Why I Should Vote Conservative"

Give Our People Work in Canada Operate Our Factories Full Time

Canada cannot hope to attract immigrants so long as her own people are leaving her in thousands, and going to the United States!

She cannot possibly compete for immigration with the United States so long as her manufacturers are denied the protection that would enable them to pay good wages, and still hold their own against importations from low-wage countries!

By steadily lowering her tariffs, Canada has been forcing her manufacturers into a position where they are between the devil and the deep blue sea. They must pay substantially United States wages or lose their skilled help. Yet when they do, without a tariff that protects them, they cannot control their home market against European goods that have been produced by sweat shop and child labor, and from countries where minimum wage laws are unknown.

If Canada wants immigrants, it must have healthy industries. And if it is to have healthy industries, it must protect them!

The best immigration policy is a tariff which ensures every worker a full time job at good wages.

We will get the immigrants we must have the capital we must have to make Canada prosperous!

TEXAN MINISTER WARNS AGAINST RED DOCTRINES

Canadian Press Despatch, Hamilton, Oct. 15.—Delivering a warning against "the insidious teaching of modernists and evolutionists" before the meeting of the Baptist Bible Union of North America here today, Rev. Frank Norris, of Fort Worth, Texas, declared that the present was an age in which Christianity was being assailed on all sides.

In a review of world conditions, Dr. Norris cited how the iron hand of the czars of Russia had long been condemned. Yet in Russia, today an east side Jew held more power than the late czar ever did. The people of America were asleep, while the agents of soviet Russia cast the seeds of communism in both Canada and the United States.

SAYS McMULLIN'S SPRIT HAUNTS JANISSE JAIL CELL

Special to The Advertiser. Windsor, Oct. 16.—Alienist testimony that the spirit of Clayton McMullin of Windsor, who was shot and killed Aug. 2 last by Mrs. Ruth A. Janisse, stalks in the early hours of the morning through the gloomy corridors of the Essex county jail, saying, she told the witness, and she was saying the "most dreadful things." She heard one person before the Sandwich supreme court late yesterday afternoon as an example of her supposed "hallucinations" to indicate her unbalanced mind.

REURNS NEARLY BY DEPUTIES HELP

Biggar Replies to Press in Request of Assistance To Secure Quick Results. Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, Oct. 16.—In reply to a request that he should assist the Canadian Press in securing as promptly as possible complete and accurate returns of the vote on election day, Col. O. M. Biggar, K.C., the chief electoral officer, said: "The returns do not reach me until long after polling day and even returning officers only receive them by mail; they may not have them for several days after the poll. Every deputy returning officer and poll clerk, however, do what he can to furnish to Canadian Press agencies, newspapers and particularly every deputy returning officer, as early in the evening as possible, accurate statements of the result of the vote at every polling station."

RESULTS ACCURATE

On the completion of the count at the polling station, the deputy is required to complete several statements of the result. It is the duty of the returning officer in the ballot box, and constitutes the primary official record of the vote at the poll in question, but the deputy is not to reach me until long after polling day and even returning officers only receive them by mail; they may not have them for several days after the poll. Every deputy returning officer and poll clerk, however, do what he can to furnish to Canadian Press agencies, newspapers and particularly every deputy returning officer, as early in the evening as possible, accurate statements of the result of the vote at every polling station."

CRUSHED TO DEATH BY STEAM ROLLER

Lorne Ratz, Aged 5 Years, Killed While Playing On Street at Mitchell. Mitchell, Oct. 16.—Lorne Ratz, five years of age, was crushed to death this afternoon under the rear wheel of the eight-ton steam road roller being operated on St. George street by R. B. Turner. His head was crushed to a pulp.

FATHER-IN-LAW FORCED HIM TO LEAVE STATES, DECLARES MINER.

Associated Press Despatch. New York, Oct. 16.—For nine months a board headpiece bearing the inscription "Frederick H. Turner, Died January 17, 1925," has marked a mound in a hillside graveyard in the Kentucky mining county of Pike.

Weekly Farm Notes

Weather Conditions For Outdoor Work on Farm Have Been Unfavorable For Last Three Weeks—Apple Prices Have Fallen Slightly—Corn Borer Continues Its Devastation.

Weather for outdoor work on the farm has continued unfavorable, with few days of sunshine. Storms have been severe and frequent, particularly in the extreme eastern section of Ontario, where considerable damage is reported to apple orchards and some grain still out in the stook. The ground has been too soft to get the corn binder into many fields, and in consequence silo filling has been delayed a week to three weeks beyond the normal time. Generally speaking, however, most of the threshing and silo filling will have been completed by today. Pastures have been excellent for the past six weeks, which fact is reflected by the extra large milk flow for this season of the year. Fall wheat has made an excellent start. About the normal acreage of fall plowing is reported, and unless the freeze-up comes unusually early more soil will have been turned under than usual.

Wet weather has also delayed work in the west. Snow and rain storms have been common, especially in Alberta. On the whole about 65 per cent of the threshing has been completed. This work is almost finished in Manitoba but only nicely started in the usually "sunny" province. Some damage to the grade of wheat has been caused by the incessant rains, bringing the average down to about No. 2 hard. Late crops promise excellent returns. Potatoes are turning out better than expected, while corn is excellent. The sugar beet venture in Southern Alberta has proved very successful, many farmers expecting to make the price of their farm off this year's crop. Pastures are in great shape, and other cattle feed is abundant. Labor is scarce in some parts of Alberta because threshing has been strung out to interfere with beet harvesting.

INTEREST IN HORSE BREEDING.
After ten years of steady decline, indications now definitely point to a revival of interest in heavy horse breeding. For the first time since 1915, the stallion enrollment board of Ontario reports an increase in the number of stud horses. In their report to the minister of agriculture, published this week, the total number of stallions is given as 1,269, or an increase of 22 over those in service a year ago. Even at that the total number today is less than half that of 1915, but the steady decrease has been gradually brought to a halt, and the pendulum has slowly commenced the other way. The change may be too late, however, to avert a temporary shortage of heavy work horses. Since the war boom, when the cost of production has again become a factor, more heavy horses have been used in city dray work. To get these animals all the surplus in the country was used up and the average age of the work horse has been getting dangerously near to the maximum efficiency. It takes from five to seven years to produce a good work horse, so that the real influence of the new stallions in the province today will not be felt for some time. In the meantime dray horses of a ton weight are becoming scarcer.

MARKET SHOWS POPULAR.
The special market lamb and swine fairs inaugurated by the Dominion and provincial governments three years ago, are meeting with great success. At these shows the animals are shown on a commercial basis only, the various breeds not being recognized. Entries run from 200 to 400 animals and the number of spectators is large. Judges place the animals according to the amount of money they would bring on the stockyards, and where possible the commercial classes are shipped to the nearest stockyard after the show. In this way the value of quality is brought home to the exhibitor.

Prices have fallen somewhat from their high beginning of the British market. In the first place, home-grown supplies are coming forward heavily, and in the second, shipments from the United States are being received in quantity. As a large proportion of the latter fruit is arriving in poor condition, it is dragging down the general level of the market. The Dominion fruit branch is advising exporters to hold back shipments of green varieties, and not to forward No. 3's at all.

Although the total apple crop for the U. S. is below that of last year, commercial apples will be available for market in about the same quantity. The B. C. crop is turning out more heavily than was expected, and is the cleanest in years. Nova Scotian prospects remain unchanged. The Canadian Aberdeen Angus association announces a temporary suspension of the regulations regarding registration of purebred animals over two years of age. For one year such animals may be registered under the same fees and conditions as for those between one and two years.

The beef cattle business is looking up, according to Secretary F. W. Crawford. "The cattle market is showing steady improvement. The demand for bulls exceeds the supply, and for that reason it is certain that more satisfactory prices will be offered in the near future."

BORER BUSY IN U. S.
Firmly established over 3,350 square miles in Ohio, 1,500 in Pennsylvania, and 2,250 in Michigan, as well as in parts of New York and Massachusetts, the corn borer is now beginning to cause some alarm in the United States. Corn growers in the great producing states have been comforting themselves with the belief that the borer would not prove effective against their large, lustily growing Dent varieties, but experience is creating disillusion. To add to the difficulty, the borer is showing marked appetite for certain truck crops, and under experimental conditions has severely damaged the cotton plant. A number of leading U. S. Agricultural authorities recently visited Kent and Essex counties in order to observe conditions and methods there.

Although grain farming, in the nature of things, is bound to continue of prime importance in the Canadian west for years to come, there is a very definite shift observable toward mixed and dairy farming. Significant recent announcements are that Saskatchewan's hog population has risen by 200,000 during the past year, and that creamery butter production in Alberta is now practically certain to pass the 25,000,000 mark this year. Even in the Peace River district the change is noticeable. Grain farmers have found that it is often impossible, under the existing transportation condition, to ship out grain at a paying price, but that better live hogs or pork are more easily transported.

A NEW INGREDIENT.
Old definitions of a balanced ration are rapidly going into the discard. Not so long ago agricultural chemists were a bit inclined to be dogmatic about the virtues of protein, carbohydrates and fats. Then they rather grudgingly admitted the need for minerals. Then came vitamins. And now experimentalists have shown that light, especially the ultra-violet rays, is an essential part of the "ration." The results at the Wisconsin station are typical. Pigs receiving ultra-violet rays laid more eggs, especially in winter, and the eggs showed a higher percentage of hatchability. A machine is now being manufactured at a cost of about $100 which it is hoped will prove an economical producer of these rays for commercial use in large poultry plants.

MOVE TO FLINT.
Dorchester, Oct. 16.—Mrs. Clifford Ward and two children, Harold and Howard, left recently to join Mr. Ward, who has taken a position with the Buick automobile people at Flint, Mich.

To-day I saw

Apple Blossoms! Amid whose bloom was perched a bird—a bird which sang and made the Autumn's day as joyous as the Spring.
The bird was from Paris and only mechanical, the blossoms were artificial but who would have believed it? And as I looked about me I saw nasturtiums, those colorful flowers, strange pretty flowers called Japanese lanterns, marigolds and drooping yellow poppies. While across the department small yellow bells nodded a friendly greeting. The Gift Shop was a veritable fairland of flowers.
With such exquisite artificial flowers, why should our rooms lack color, why should not a bit of Spring be in our homes all winter? And as I saw these I thought of all the people who would like to know of them too and so I have said enough and you can see for yourselves in the Gift Department, Fourth Floor. Judith
