Auspicious Inaugural of Kent's Electric Railroad

MAGNIFICENT NEW ENTERPRISE ENTERS SUCCESSFUL CAREER

Delightful Weather and Enthusiastic Throngs Greet Opening of Regular Locomotion—An Inspiration Which Became a Reality—History of the Project from its Inception.

It is perhaps, particularly appropriate that this Great Home Journal should be one of the first to extend to the enterprising promoters, officers and directors of the Chatham, Wallaceburg & Lake Erie Railroad its heartiest congratulations on the successful inauguration of the completed system yesterday.

then Mayor, Mr. William E. McKeough, the suggestion which has borne fruit in the building of our road." Such was the interesting origin of the mammoth enterprise. On Monday, January 12, 1903, The Planet daily reported the splendid inaugural address of Mayor-elect McKeough, delivered to the aldermen at the in-ly directed my attention to the splendid possibilities of such an electric road," smilingly declared General Manager W. N. Warburton, the man to whose energy and enterprise today's success is so largely due, "came to me one evening nearly three years ago from The Planet. I was sitting in my home at St. Catharines reading my Planet, in the early part of January, 1903, when I saw there, in the report of the inaugural address of the initial morning session of the new Council. The paragraph in its report of Mr. McKeough's address which attracted the attention of Mr. Warburton, reads prophetically and was as follows:— "All that of one mind, that an electric line through the county from Wallaceburg to Mitchell's Bay and thence to Chatham and through Raleigh to the Bay would greatly enhance the value of property in our city, and be of financial advantage to its people, besides being a good investment for the proprietors of such a railway. When the Erie & Huron railway was first organized, many pessimists prophesied that it would never pay running expenses, but it turned out to be one of the best paying railways in Canada, and it was not long before foreign capitalists to build an electric railway through our county. I trust we shall be able to form a local company to undertake this much needed enterprise, which I have no doubt will prove as profitable an investment as the Erie & Huron railway was to its shareholders."

Mr. Warburton is essentially a man of action—prompt, vigorous and businesslike. No sooner had the inspiration come to him than he took steps to bring about its material consummation. A capable, clear-headed railroad man from the ground up, his long and valued association with the Erie & Huron had given him a special knowledge of the district, and he fully realized its possibilities. A visit to Chatham followed, a satisfactory inspection of the territory and a careful testing of the public pulse.

Then Mr. Warburton sought colleagues—and found them tried and true ones. Mayor McKeough, N. H. Stevens, William Ball, D. A. Gordon, George Stephens and others rallied around him and a Dominion charter for the road was secured. These gentlemen, with H. L. Dunn, J. N. McKendry and Frank Dehton, of Toronto, formed the provisional board of directors.

The municipalities of Chatham, Dover and Wallaceburg gave earnest of their interest in the enterprise in the necessary rights of way and franchises. All that remained was to interest enough capital to build the road. This was done largely through the instrumentality of Ald. O'Keefe, who received the co-operation of the well-known oil magnate and banker, George W. Kipp, of Towanda, Pa.

In May of this year the company was formed with the following directors:—G. W. Kipp, Hon. M. E. Lilly, Hon. S. F. Robinson and R. E. Kizer, of Towanda; D. A. Gordon, of Wallaceburg, and N. H. Stevens and Ald. J. T. O'Keefe, of Chatham. The following officers were then elected:—

President—G. W. Kipp.
Vice-President—N. H. Stevens.
Secretary and Solicitor—Edwin Bell, L.L.D.
General Manager—W. N. Warburton.
Auditors—Ward Stanworth and J. W. McKendry.

The work of building and equipping the road was entrusted to Contractor and Engineer Ed. Whalen, and a better could not have been found. The immense contract was performed quickly and efficiently, and no smoother or better roadbed was ever constructed. Mr. Whalen has had some forty years of practical experience in this work and the results are such as pay in themselves the highest tribute to his ability.

Only a few days ago the road was completed and the power turned on from the splendid power house erected on the corner of King and Third Sts. The success of the preliminary tests has already been recorded in The Planet, and it only remained for yesterday's splendid formal opening to complete a most successful inaugural.

The day was ideal—mere like early May than the latter part of November—and the bright, warm sunlight tempted throngs of citizens to attend the auspicious opening. Three of the large and handsomely appointed cars were utilized for the occasion. General Manager Warburton himself took charge of the first car, while Motormen Putnam and Warner handled the remaining two. The starting point was the C. P. R. depot, the cars stopping at the Gunner, the Rankin and the power house en route.

It is estimated that the three cars carried just about 300 ladies and gentlemen, all being thronged. The first car contained 94 passengers, and the others were similarly laden. One car was filled with excursionists from Wallaceburg, the others containing the directors and their families and scores of Chathamites. Among the latter were: Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. O'Keefe, Mr. and Mrs. S. Robinson, and Miss Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. Manson, Campbell, Mrs. Chas. Kellar, Mrs. W. N. Warburton, Mrs. Wm. Blight, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sulman, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Pike and Miss Hewart, Mrs. Mary McKeough, Mrs. A. Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. J. Piggott, Dr. G. W. and Mrs. Cornell,

PRESIDENT KIPP WAS HOST AT DELIGHTFUL BANQUET

Chatham and Towanda Friends of the New Electric Railway were Royally Entertained at Hotel Sanita Last Night—Good Speeches and Music Enliven the Evening

The banquet tendered to the Chatham and Towanda friends of the C. W. & L. E. Electric Road, by the President of the Company, Geo. W. Kipp, was one of the most elaborate affairs ever held in the Maple City. It was given in the splendid banquet hall at Hotel Sanita last evening, and a more fitting place for such an event could not have been selected. Manager Kipp and Mrs.

pany was in a perfect mood to enjoy it. While the guests were partaking of the magnificent spread piano music was furnished by Mr. John Smith, while at the end of each course selections were rendered by the Christ Church Male Quartet—Messrs. Angus, Smith, Smith and Wilson. They were heartily encored after each selection. One pleasant feature of the banquet was the presence of a large number of ladies—wives of the gen-

A GOOD SERMON

Rev. Dr. Battisby gave a very able sermon at the evening service in St. Andrew's church on Sunday. His remarks were addressed chiefly to young people. In the course of his remarks he said that he has heard there are gambling places in Chatham where young clerks go and spend their evenings and nights. He made a strong appeal to the young men and his sermon was one which should prove fruitful in its results.

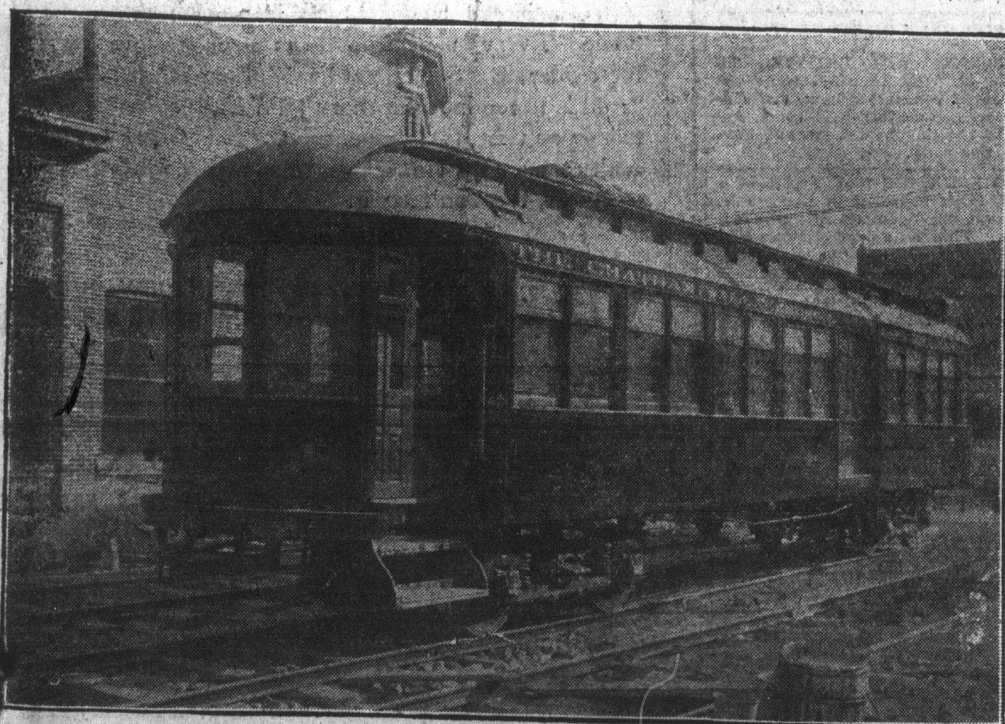

What's ten years on the shoulders of a man who thinks.

The greater our imagination the more trouble we have.

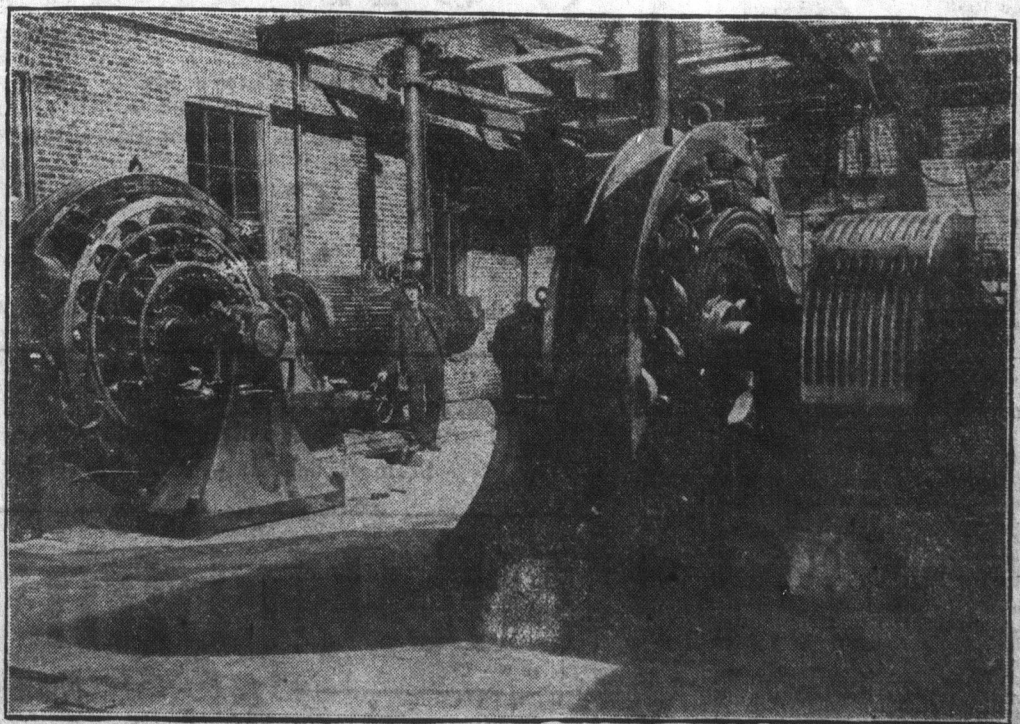

Too much haste has been known to ruin more than one good cause.

Kelsey, of the Sanitarium, deserve great credit for the artistic manner in which the hall was decorated. The Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes were happily blended together and innumerable flags and drapes of bunting perfect of the scene. The room presented a beautiful appearance, and it is safe to say the decorations were perhaps the best ever prepared for a banquet in the Maple City. The hall was filled with guests and a most pleasant social evening was spent. The menu was everything that could be desired and the com-

A SPLENDID ENTERPRISE.

On to-day's memorable occasion of the first operation of an electric railroad in Kent County, The Planet extends hearty congratulations to President Kipp, General Manager Warburton, Contractor Whalen and the Chatham, Wallaceburg & Lake Erie Railroad. Its inaugural yesterday was a most auspicious one, and we feel assured that its future will be an exceedingly bright and prosperous one.

There is no doubt that the people of Chatham and Kent County will extend to the new enterprise such genuine recognition and co-operation as it well merits. An immense amount of money has been invested in supplying our district with its most universally advantageous enterprise. The railroad and the people will find mutual prosperity in working heartily together. A splendid service has been provided and every citizen of Kent can demonstrate his appreciation by booming the road. It is one of the county's best advertisements—and we should all energetically see that it grows and develops.

MISTAKES OF LIQUOR MEN.

Canadian Sportsman.
If those responsible for the management of the Liquor Dealers' Association had been honest guardians of the best and truest interests of their trade, they would have insisted upon the expulsion of every member who failed to strictly observe the provisions of the liquor license law under which he was working. Instead of this, they defended every member, no matter what his offence against the act. Notwithstanding how many times he was charged with violating its provisions or how obnoxious his house became in the estimation of the more respectable portion of the community in which it was located, the same eager desire to defend him by the association's solicitor was displayed as if he were being persecuted instead of legitimately prosecuted.

It has been this line of action that alienated the respect of the people and disgusted a liberal portion of the best men in the business. So much so that large numbers of the latter have at last refused in any way to recognize or support the association.

McFAYDEN-JOHNSTON

Tupperville was the scene of a brilliant and fashionable wedding when Miss Margaret Johnston became the bride of Mr. John Wesley McFayden, of Dresden.

The ceremony was performed by C. E. Moorehouse, pastor of Zion church, in the presence of a large number of guests, many from a distance.

The drawing room was transformed into a veritable home of beauty, being profusely decorated with masses of white flowers, ferns and palms. The bride party entered the room to the strains of "Lohengrin's" wedding march, played by Miss Anna Coulter, who also played voluntaries softly during the service.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked lovely in a white silk dress, gowned with exquisite hand embroidery on skirt and bodice, with point lace bertha and she carried a beautiful bouquet of roses and white carnations. She wore a long tulle veil fastened over a wreath of carnations. The groom's gift was a beautiful ring of diamond and pearls.

The bridesmaid, Miss M. Walker, of Chatham, was charming in a gown of cream crepe de chene over tulle with coronets of white roses in her hair.

The groomsmen were Mr. Harry Simpson, of Lindsayville, Messrs. Jacques Wilson, Victor Green and Lewis Hooper sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the registrar.

After the ceremony a recherche supper was served, followed by a reception.

It would be difficult to describe the beautiful and costly gifts of jewelry, cut glass, china and sterling silver of which Mr. and Mrs. McFayden were the fortunate recipients.

The guests showered the bride and bridegroom with rice as they left on a trip west. Those present from a distance were Dr. and Mrs. Williams, Miss B. Davies, Miss E. Wainmaker, Roland McVean, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wells, Dresden; Mr. and Mrs. Stonehouse, Ed. Cousins, H. Monroe, Wallaceburg; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Logan, Miss M. Walker, Ed. Arnold, Chatham; Jacques Wilson, Misses Horne, H. DeWolf, Keith.

FOOD—

NOT MEDICINE.

If all the treatments for consumption were put in book form it would make a pretty big library. But after all there has been little improvement over the old treatment of rest, fresh air, sunshine, plain, wholesome food and Scott's Emulsion. The latter supplies nourishment that cannot be secured in any other way, and after all, nourishment is what the consumptive needs first.

A gain in weight, however slight, is a long step toward improvement. If there is the least thing to build on Scott's Emulsion will enable the patient to make that gain. People have gained a pound in weight from a bottle of Scott's Emulsion—it's an exception when they don't.

We have seen Scott's Emulsion take hold of a patient and bring about a change for the better inside of a week. It always helps even the most stubborn cases.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Toronto, Ont.

We could all accomplish twice as much if we only would.

NORTHWOOD.

A most successful chicken social was held in the Methodist Church here on Nov. 14th. About $37 was realized.

Cyrus Breaton, of Chatham, visited friends in the vicinity last Sunday. Miss Carrie Osterhout, of Chatham, was home last Sunday.

WATER IN YOUR BLOOD.

Lots of people have thin, watery blood—they eat plenty but don't digest. When digestion is poor, food isn't converted into nourishment—in consequence the body rapidly loses strength. To positively renew blood, nothing equals Ferrozone. It excites sharp appetite—makes the stomach digest, forms life sustaining blood. Abundant strength is sure to follow. If you need more vitality, extra energy, better nerves, then use Ferrozone, the medical triumph of the age. Fifty cents buys a box of fifty chocolate coated Ferrozone tablets.

THAMESVILLE

Nov. 21.—Miss Lola Her, from Ridgetown, spent Sunday the guest of Mrs. Pie.

Mrs. Will De Pencier and Miss Kathryn Stewart are spending the day in Chatham.

A meeting is being held in the town hall to-night for the purpose of furthering the interest for the proposed monument for our town park. This should interest all as we are so near the scene of battle ground. Our worthy members, D. A. Gordon, from Wallaceburg, and Philip Bowyer, from Ridgetown, will address the meeting; also Chief Tobias and Albert Tobias, from Moraviantown.

Miss Devlin spent Saturday and Sunday in Chatham the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Thornton.

The delegation of trustees and principals will wait upon the County Council Dec. 5th to try to re-adjust the grant, as our Public school takes up the continuation work extensively.

Mrs. (Rev.) Freeman entertained a party of young people last night in honor of J. Freeman, Rev. Mr. Freeman's nephew. After games were enjoyed for a couple of hours a dainty luncheon was served. All were well pleased with Mrs. Freeman as a charming hostess. J. Freeman left for his home this morning.

HER SKIN WAS YELLOW.

"I had only to try Dr. Hamilton's Pills to appreciate their merit," writes Miss Annie S. Bryce, of Woodstock. "My system was out of order. My blood was weak and thin. I had a nasty, murky complexion. My skin was hard and dry. The first box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills made a complete change. I felt better at once. Healthy color came into my face. In about three weeks I was cured." Dr. Hamilton's Pills effect an easy cure. Try these good pills, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00 at all dealers.

Money may be a world power, but it can't command the affections.

A PLAY OF MERIT.

"Slaves of the Mine," which is to play at the Grand on Saturday, Nov. 25th, is a much more pretentious drama than the average clap-net plays which form the staple of the intellectual pabulum offered the popular class theatres. Its characters being taken from real life in the anthracite region near Wilkes-Barre, the language being of the kind in use by living beings, and the incidents while strong and exciting, not rising beyond the possibilities of ordinary humanity. In other words, it is a play that in construction and finish is on the level of what are designated the "better class" of comedy dramas. It is brimful of comedy situations that are funny without outraging probability, contains several pretty love romances and has scenes of genuine intensity. The one big effect depicts the wreck of a coal mine by the tremendous explosion of fire damp; and is a wonderful example of the art of the modern stage mechanic. The play was brought out last season at Proctor's Fifty-eighth Street Theatre in New York, and toured to the Pacific Coast and back, meeting favor right along. "Slaves of the Mine" will be produced here with entire special scenery, and a very capable company. It will come as a refreshing variation from the avalanche of freak problem dramas and silly farces which we have had of late. Prices 25, 35 and 50 cents.

MARKS BROS. COMING.

No company travelling to-day has a more enviable reputation than the well known and popular company bearing the name of Marks Bros., who will appear at the Opera House for one week, commencing Monday, Nov. 25th. It is an organization which is accented through the country as a standard of excellence, and the reputation it has acquired during the last few years of unvarying success will be more than sustained during the present season. The company is a large and well balanced one. It is perfectly equipped with all special scenery and electrical effects necessary for a first class performance, each play being presented with perfect scenery and beautiful costumes. The opening play will be "In Old Kentucky." Between the acts there will be moving pictures, including the great train robbery. Illustrated songs and strong specialties. Matinee on Wednesday and Saturday.

The opening play will be "In Old Kentucky." Between the acts there will be moving pictures, including the great train robbery. Illustrated songs and strong specialties. A PLAY OF MERIT.

"Slaves of the Mine," which is to play at the Grand on Saturday, Nov. 25th, is a much more pretentious drama than the average clap-net plays which form the staple of the intellectual pabulum offered the popular class theatres. Its characters being taken from real life in the anthracite region near Wilkes-Barre, the language being of the kind in use by living beings, and the incidents while strong and exciting, not rising beyond the possibilities of ordinary humanity. In other words, it is a play that in construction and finish is on the level of what are designated the "better class" of comedy dramas. It is brimful of comedy situations that are funny without outraging probability, contains several pretty love romances and has scenes of genuine intensity. The one big effect depicts the wreck of a coal mine by the tremendous explosion of fire damp; and is a wonderful example of the art of the modern stage mechanic. The play was brought out last season at Proctor's Fifty-eighth Street Theatre in New York, and toured to the Pacific Coast and back, meeting favor right along. "Slaves of the Mine" will be produced here with entire special scenery, and a very capable company. It will come as a refreshing variation from the avalanche of freak problem dramas and silly farces which we have had of late. Prices 25, 35 and 50 cents.

MARKS BROS. COMING.

Tom's Wife

By A. M. DAVIES OGDEN

Copyright, 1905, by E. C. Parcells

Down in the street a sudden bursting of bombs announced an "extra," and the sick man lying on the bed in the little hotel room stirred wearily and opened his eyes. A touch of "chuchu" had taken strength and vitality, and an intense depression weighed like a stone on body and soul. There could be no news in this South American republic that interested him. The president had probably made a speech; the weekly steamship from England had arrived. At the thought a sob surged up into his throat. England, his country, how far away and how dear! Resting there, motionless, passive, picture after picture began to fit through his brain—the trim little country houses, covered with vines and with trees where the rocks caved eternally; the narrow, honeysuckle hedged lanes. And Tom—dear old Tom. The man's face softened. And Alice. He moved restlessly and strove to think of other things, of his life in the ten years since he had watched the white cliffs of the Needles fading into the distance. Sheep raising, farming, mining, he had tried his hand at them all. And now, ill and forlorn, he lay alone in this room in Buenos Ayres. It was time for his medicine. The doctor had bidden him be particular about it, but Rockhill frowned. What was the use of getting well? he mused listlessly. No body cared; there was nobody to care. The thoughts of England came thronging back, strong, insistent, refusing to be suppressed. Rockhill, weak physically and mentally, let himself drift on the tide. What had become of Tom—Tom, with his brave blue eyes, his glorious voice? He could not remember the time when he and Tom had not been sworn companions, robbing the orchards, whipping the pools together. To Rockhill, a lonely boy living with a stern old uncle, the companionship of the other had been the brilliant web woven against the dull web of home life. And the golden thread worked into the pattern, giving it the final touch of beauty and preciousness—ah, that had been Alice!

Closing his eyes, the man saw again the sweet, girlish face surrounded by its tangle of gold brown hair. How joyously they all had lived and frolicked together until the time when Rockhill, eager and ambitious, had departed for college. The man on the bed shivered, the memory of that return from college was yet so poignant. In one night the hope of a life had been undone. It was then that he had left England. And from that day he had heard no word of those behind. Were they happy, those two? That Alice and Tom were long since married he never doubted. Did they ever speak of him, wonder about his abrupt disappearance? He brooded over it wistfully. Had they eared?

Still drowsing in the grip of old memories, Rockhill lay, as the daylight faded, half dreaming, half awake. When suddenly the sound of a voice in the next room brought him up with a start. A man was singing softly below his breath, but still quite distinguishably. Rockhill, clutching the bedclothes with shaking hands, tried to reason with himself. It was a dream, an illusion conjured up by fancy and fever. But the voice kept steadily on. There was no mistaking those clear, mellow tones. It was Tom's voice. Tom himself was singing in the next room. Rockhill's dry lips tried to form a word. "Tom," he breathed. "Tom." But no sound came. A sudden unreasonable despair seized him. Tom was there, close to him, and he could not call him, could not attract his attention. He would go and Rockhill would be left alone again, this time forever. He must make Tom hear, he must. And then slowly, carefully, his voice breaking on the feeble notes, the man on the bed began to sing. Weak, barely audible, in phrasing and intonation the notes were yet a recognizable imitation of Tom singing his favorite song as he had sung it so often in those old days.

There was a stir in the next room, then the sound of the hasty opening and shutting of a door. The next moment Rockhill's own door flew open and on the threshold stood a man, tall, eager faced, with clear blue eyes. "Tom!" cried Rockhill. "Tom!" And he faintly. When he recovered consciousness Tom, his eyes suspiciously bright, was kneeling by the bedside. He held Rockhill's two wasted hands tightly clasped in his own. "Gilbert, old fellow," he was saying. "Gilbert, where have you kept yourself all these years?" he pursued, and his voice was tenderly reproachful. "How could you run off that way?" Gilbert smiled in pure content at hearing the well known voice. "I—oh, never mind me," he answered. "I was all right till I was taken ill in this confounded hole. But you, Tom— you," as if famished for news—"how did you come here and your wife?" his voice faltering on the word. But Tom did not notice. "Yes, my wife is with me," he said cheerily. "But how did you know that I was married? Oh, guessed," as the other nodded. "You must know, too, then, that I am now a celebrity," with mock seriousness. "No? You hadn't guessed that? Well, at least you were aware that I had taken up singing as my profession. Therefore I let myself be persuaded into coming to South America for a series of concerts. And so here I am," shrugging an amused shoulder. "But now you must tell me about yourself." "Why did you slip off so, Gilbert? Was it kind to leave us all these years without a word?" The sick man hesitated. What he had done suddenly seemed to him small and foolish. But at twenty-one heroics are sometimes strong in their appeal. And he had tried to do his best. It was all over now, though. The truth could do no harm now. He looked up into Tom's face.

"Do you remember the night after my return from college?" he began slowly—"how we sat in your room and talked? I had come home feeling that at last I had accomplished something; that my eyes had been set since I could remember seeing anything. And then—" he paused again—"that night you told me of your love for Alice," he said quietly. "And at that moment I renounced my dream. Oh, don't mind," he added hastily as the other started. "It is all ended long ago. I should not tell you it now, lying manfully. I have long since left that behind. But, then, I felt that there was nothing for me but flight. And so—" "And you sacrificed yourself for her?" cried Tom, deeply moved. "Oh, Gilbert!" But Gilbert stretched out a remonstrant hand. "Dear old boy," he said tenderly, "was there ever anything that I could not have done for you? You loved her."

"Yes," said Tom musingly. "I loved her. But now—you are sure that you have quite, quite forgotten"—with a sudden eagerness. "Sure," returned the other with loyal lips. "I can meet her without a pang. And—anyway I am going to die," he added faintly. "Die!" shouted Tom. "Die! Not much. We will see what Mabel has to say about that." "Mabel?" questioned Rockhill. "Why, yes, my wife," laughed Tom. "Oh, of course, I forgot she was only a child when you went away. She is Alice's little sister." "Alice's sister?" gasped Rockhill. Tom's face altered suddenly. "Why—you didn't think—did you believe that I had married Alice?" he demanded. "You did?" He stopped. "Alice refused me," he went on a moment later. "She has never married. I think she never has cared but for one man," he said with slow significance. "Yet—if you have forgotten?"

The sick man, stirred by a sudden energy, sat up in bed. "Give me my medicine, please," he said concisely. "I am going to get well. Where is Mabel?" The Change in Disraeli's Name. In the year 1872 the printing plant and effects of the late John Grundy (a successor in the business of Vine Hall, author of "The Sinner's Friend" and father of the late Rev. Newman Hall) of Bank Street, Maidstone, were sold by auction, and after the sale, as an apprentice to John Grundy, I was employed in the clearing up process, during which I came across file and other copies of Conservative literature printed at that establishment in connection with the election by which Disraeli was returned one of the two members of parliament for Maidstone. Some of the roll of a dozen to a score of copies of an election address bore the printed signature "Disraeli." I asked the overseer (Highgate), who was then elderly and had been continuously in employment in that establishment since boyhood days) for an explanation, and he said that when Disraeli came to examine a proof of his election address somebody suggested (the overseer's belief being that it came from Vine Hall) that the name would look more English-like if the apostrophe were taken out. Disraeli assented, and it came out, and in further printing work a like omission was observed—John H. Burrows in Athenaeum.

The Man With the Toothache.
A man with the toothache doesn't care about anything else. The glories of the world pass on his taste, the wonders of creation seem as naught. The tooth becomes a volcano of belching fury and the rest of life hidden in a cloud of its billowing smoke. You can't borrow anything from a man with the toothache. You can't instruct and improve him. You tell him that the world travels at the rate of 1,000 miles a minute and it doesn't startle him in the least. He simply groans. You say to him, "My friend, there are stars so far off that their light has not yet reached this world," but he doesn't mind it. He only howls. You tell him that some of the sun spots are 100,000 miles in diameter, and that one of them would take a Jupiter at one mouthful, but it is nothing to him. The toothache is neglectful of scientific truths.—London Tit-Bits.

A Case of Prognosis.
Tommy Mulligan of the seventh grade was absent from the class room for one entire day. It would appear that he had played truant, for, unknown to Tommy, his teacher had spied him trudging homeward with pockets bulging suspiciously when she, too, was homeward bound that afternoon. But Tommy brought a note of excuse the next morning, which, of course, would prove that he had been detained at home legitimately. The writing was hardly that of a feminine hand, and the note appeared to have been written laboriously and with much blotting. Furthermore, the penmanship seemed to be strangely familiar to his teacher. The note read as follows: "Dear teacher—Please excuse Tommy for not coming to school yesterday, he couldn't come. I love my pants.—Mrs. Mulligan.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

TIME.

Its Divisibility and Its Relation to the Speed of the Planets.
Napoleon, who knew the value of time, remarked that it was the quarter hours that won battle. The value of minutes has been often recognized, and any person watching a railway clerk handing out tickets and change during the last few minutes available must have been struck with how much could be done in those short portions of time. At the appointed hour the train starts and by and by is carrying passengers at the rate of sixty miles an hour. In a second you are carried twenty-nine yards. In one twenty-ninth of a second you pass over one yard. Now, one yard is quite an appreciable distance, but one twenty-ninth of a second is a period which cannot be appreciated. Yet it is when we come to planetary and stellar motions that the notion of the infinite divisibility of time dawns upon us in a new light. It would seem that no portion of time, however microscopic, is unavailable. Nature can perform prodigies not certainly in less than no time, but in portions of it so minute as to be altogether inconceivable. The earth revolves on her axis in twenty-four hours. At the equator her circumference is 25,000 miles; hence in that part of the earth a person is being carried eastward at the rate of 500 yards per second—that is, he is moving over a yard, whose length is conceivable in the period of one five-hundred-and-ninth part of a second, of which we can have no conception at all. But more, the orbital motion of the earth around the sun causes the former to perform a revolution of nearly 600,000,000 miles in a year, or somewhat less than 70,000 miles an hour, which is more than 1,000 miles a minute. Here, then, our second carries us the long distance of about nineteen miles. The mighty ball thus flies about a mile in the nineteenth part of a second.

The House work for the mother or the housekeeper is often beyond her strength. It may be lightened in some way or other. Very often the worries and cares are much greater than the actual physical labor, but the feeling that this or that cleaning, sewing, etc., must be done, fatigues the mind more than the physical labor actually tires the body. No wonder the tendency of our times is for the young women to prefer work in office or factory rather than doing house drudgery. If the woman of the family is run down with drains and pains at irregular periods, she should give instant care to those organs which are so important for womanly health. Dr. R. V. Pierce, the specialist in woman's diseases and founder of the Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo, N. Y., has put up a remedy made entirely of roots and herbs, without alcohol, that puts the womanly health in proper condition. The catarrhs are cured, and in consequence backache, dizziness, fainting spells are dispelled. "I suffered for five years with terrible pains, especially at the time of menstruation, and did not know what the trouble was until the doctor pronounced it inflammation of the ovaries, and proposed an operation. I felt so weak and sick, and was sure that I would not survive such an ordeal, and decided that I would not undergo an operation. I read of your Favorite Prescription, I determined to try it. Great was my joy to find that I was actually cured after taking two bottles. Within eleven weeks from the time I took the first dose, I was well. I have gained weight, and am in excellent health, and seem like one risen from the dead. I am surely deserving great success and you have my best wishes."

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Capital punishment is when a man is sentenced to take a thirty days' vacation on full pay.

A woman with winning ways is a great favorite unless you happen to be sitting in a card game with her.

A man has a mighty good memory if he does not forget that he has any religion when he is in a musing camp.

Let us rejoice that no trust can corner the milk of human kindness.

When a girl says that she means to be an old maid she always has her fingers crossed.

As to whether the pen is mightier than the sword depends altogether on who is manipulating that cunning instrument.

A man often wishes his wife would make her own hats until he sees one of her make.

It isn't right to judge a woman by the company she keeps. She may have a commission to reform him.

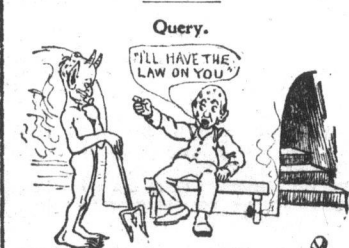

Imitation may be the sincerest flattery, but we like the straight kind the best.

A man never forgets his wedding day even though he might not be able to tell you the date of it.

He Sets Us Back.
We slave and save and hoard our store From our own wages meager And try to live on high to pile up more, For greater holdings eager, And just when dust is falling so The grand world we may banish The gold brick man comes round, and, lo, On wings our riches vanish!

The things we need we do not buy; We pass up wine and honey And goods which at stores come high To save our tainted money. And when we have a modest pile Fenced in with fields of clover The gold brick man comes with a smile, And we start in all over.

Just Like Them.
"Pa, what's an old maid?"
"There are none."
"Why not?"
"Because, with the contrariety of the eternal feminine, soon as they found that they were serving some useful purpose in the home of some married relative they struck out for themselves and became vain and useless bachelors."

Query.
"I'll have the law on you!"
What kind of a home do they think that you boast When into the wilds you roam And are chucked in a place where you sizzle and roast With "all of the comforts of home?"

Wrong Remedy.
"The doctor says that Mrs. Knoquer needs a course in physical culture."
"That is a wrong steer."
"Perhaps you know more than the doctor."

Knew the Touch.
"Did you ever feel the touch of an unseen hand?" asked the poetic young lady.
"Yes, indeed," replied the reformed sport. "It was the touch of the unseen hand that was held by the other fellow that drove me out of the business."

Only One Luxury.
"He is carrying heavy life insurance."
"For the benefit of his family?"
"No; he isn't married. He can't support a wife and keep up the premiums."

Keeping It Up.
"He takes his wife to the theater just as he did before they were married."
"Considerate of him."
"Yes, but he courted her in the country, where there were no theaters."

The Afterlap.
He owns an automobile, so An ancient suit he wears, For all the money that he gets He blows in for repairs.

A Curiosity.
"Did you notice how critically the milkman examined that cow that went by?"
"Perhaps it was the first one he had ever seen."

Short Cut.
"It seems to be hard for Willie to learn dates."
"He doesn't try. He says when he grows up he is going to buy a date farm."

HANDS CRACKED AND PEELED

Suffered for One Year—Water Caused Agony, Heat Intense Pain—Grew Worse Under Doctors—Could Not Do Any Housework.

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE BY CUTICURA

"About a year ago my hands began to crack and peel. I tried many remedies, but they grew worse all the time. At last they became so sore that it was impossible for me to do my housework. If I put my hands in water, I was in agony for hours; and if I tried to cook over the stove, the heat caused intense pain. I consulted a doctor, but his prescriptions were utterly useless, and I tried another, but without the least satisfaction. I got my first relief when I purchased Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using them for a week, I found my great delight that my hands were beginning to feel much better, the deep cracks began to heal up and stop running, and in six weeks my hands were entirely well, one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment making a complete cure.—Mrs. M. Drew, 18 Dana St., Roxbury, Mass."

ONE NIGHT TREATMENT For Sore Hands and Feet with Cuticura.

Soak the hands or feet on retiring in a strong, hot, creamy lather of Cuticura Soap. Dry and anoint freely with Cuticura Ointment, the great skin cure. Wear on the hands during the night, old, loose gloves, or bandage the feet lightly in old, soft cotton or linen. For red, rough and chapped hands, dry, fissured, itching, feverish palms, with brittle, shapeless nails and painful finger ends, and for itching, burning, and scaling eczemas, rashes, inflammations, and chafings, this treatment is simply wonderful. Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27, Chatterhouse St.; Paris, 2, Rue de la Paix; Australia, 11, Town & Co., Sydney. Foster Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, Sole Proprietors. Send for "How to Cure Itching, Scaly Humours."

Old Time Football.
Football has never been a very gentle game, to judge from what Master Stubbs says about it in his "Anatomy of Abuses," published in 1583: "For, as concerning football playing, I protest unto you it may rather be called a friendly kind of fight than a play of recreation, a bloody and murdering practice than a sport or pastime for doth not every one lye in wait for his adversary, seeking to overthrow him and to picke him on his nose, though it be on hard stones, so that by this means sometimes their necks are broke, sometimes their backs, sometimes their legs, sometimes their arms, sometimes one part thrust out of joint, sometimes another; sometimes the noses gush out with blood; sometimes their eyes start out."

All Wabbling in Their Walk.
"Nobody in New York walks straight," said the gray headed citizen of the metropolis. "Watch a score of pedestrians on the sidewalk, and not one of them sticks to a straight path. Those deviations are not always due to the crowded condition of the pavement either. During the rush hours a man is supposed to dodge this way and that in his efforts to make progress, but when given a clear road there is no excuse for so much sidetracking. Yet no matter how favorable the conditions the New Yorker zigzags just the same. He might have a stretch of sidewalk a block long all to himself and be perfectly sober, yet in that distance he would veer from curb to stoop line and back again several times."

RAILWAY COMMISSION

Mayor Cowan Receives a Telegram Announcing Their Session Here

Several Matters will be Argued Out—Head Street Spur Question May Come Up

Mayor Cowan received the following telegram at noon to-day from A. D. Cartwright, Secretary of the Railway Commission:

"The Board of Railway Commissioners will hold sittings in Chatham Thursday, December 7th. Would greatly oblige if you could arrange for suitable room in civic building for meeting."

"A. D. CARTWRIGHT, Secretary."

It is understood that several matters will be brought before this Commission during their session here. The complainants will have an opportunity to present their views before this body and their cases will be argued out before them.

There may be some matters of interest to the city brought before the Commission. Mayor Cowan has received from Mr. Fullerton, of Toronto, the opinion which he asked for some time ago in reference to the dispute existing between the Pere Marquette and the city over the Head street spur. This matter may be brought before the Commission and argued out and if this is decided upon the contents of Mr. Fullerton's opinion may not be made public until after the sitting of the Commission.

In answer to the above telegram Mayor Cowan replied that the Commission may have the use of the City Council Chambers during their session here.

TARIFF REVISION

The following telegram has been received by the Board of Trade, Secretary Board of Trade, Chatham:

Tariff Commission will hold session, Chatham, Thursday, twenty-third inst. Kindly receive applications and make necessary arrangements therefor. I understand farmers of the district wish to present their views. Have them placed on the program.

JOHN BAIN, Secretary Tariff Commission.

In connection with the above, arrangements have been made to hold the session in the City Council Chambers, Harrison Hall, from 9.30 in the morning until noon. The Commission will leave for Wallaceburg after luncheon.

The time being short, it is important that all cases should be carefully prepared and arrangements as to their presentation to the Commission must be made by Wednesday evening, the 22nd, with W. A. Hadley, of the S. Hadley Lumber Company, or W. R. Landon, of the Chatham-Wagon Company.

No further intimation of this meeting can be given than through the press.

Central School Pupils to Enjoy the Initial Excursion on the New Electric Railway

It is peculiarly fitting and appropriate, as President Kipp happily put it, that the first excursion over the new electric railroad should be handed over to the children. For such has been decreed. The lucky boys and girls will be escorted over the fine line, through our prosperous country to the thriving town of Wallaceburg, where they are to enjoy the kindly hospitality of David A. Gordon, the parliamentary representative for East Kent.

Mr. Gordon was in the city yesterday and issued the generous invitation to Principal J. W. Plewes to give the pupils of the Central school a day's outing—their third annual excursion—to be devoted to a visit to Wallaceburg with an "open sesame" to the big glass and sugar factories.

Principal Plewes and Mr. Gordon at once took up the matter with the electric road officials and found hearty and kindly support awaiting them from General Manager Warburton. A series of special electric cars, suitably adorned for the occasion, will be placed at the disposal of the Central school and the initial excursion will be run the beginning of next week. The boys and girls will wear their Central school emblems and will be accompanied by the teaching staff.

A LUCKY FIND?

Still there are lucky finds other than horse shoes. For instance, the man who has found this clothing establishment, and has learned to come here for his overcoats, his suits, his trousers, his hats, shirts, underwear, neck wear and all his toggery is certainly a lucky man.

Had he not found us, he would, perhaps, be wearing poorer clothes and paying perhaps as much or more for them than we ask for our garments of excellence.

In deed, our patrons are lucky and they appreciate the fact. Have you found us.

CALLED AWAY

The Late Henry Taylor Was Esteemed and Respected by Everyone Who Knew Him

There is probably no death which has occurred in Chatham in years which has caused more universal sorrow and regret than that of the late Henry J. F. Taylor, who passed away at his home on Queen street on Monday. He was a man who was very popular in Chatham and throughout Western Ontario, where he conducted business as a commercial traveller. There was probably no other man on the road who was so highly esteemed and respected by everyone. His death is the result of a long and serious illness. He was a great sufferer and underwent many serious and critical operations, but through it all he was ever cheerful and hopeful of his recovery. Some weeks ago it was thought he would recover his former health. He was able to leave his home and was well enough to take a short trip to Toronto, where he visited his firm, with whom he expected to resume his business relations. He suffered a relapse, however, and was again confined to his bed. The last illness proved too severe for his already weakened system and he was unable to withstand the severity of the renewed attack. The news of his death spread quickly over the city and everywhere it was received with regret and sadness.

Harry Taylor, as deceased was more popularly known by his friends, came to Chatham when he was a young boy and he has remained here ever since. He was born in Quebec on Dec. 4, 1848, the eldest son of the late Captain Taylor, who was a retired army officer. He came to Chatham with his father first to bothwell, when the latter was appointed manager of the bothwell property of the late Hon. George Brown. Harry, then a young boy, soon afterwards came to Chatham, where he received a position in George Ross' general provision store. He rose very rapidly in the world of commerce, being a bright and intelligent young man, and after also serving some time in Heyward's grocery he accepted a position as travelling representative for the Christie Brown Biscuit Company, of Toronto, which position he held up to the time of his death. He was in all employed by this company for about 21 years.

Deceased always took a lively interest in anything which pertained to the Maple City's good. He was for a number of years a member of the Excelsior Fire Department and later an enthusiastic member of the Veterans' Firemen's Association. He was a valued and respected member of the First Presbyterian church and for a number of years sang in the choir. During his early life he was a bass of considerable talent and much towards building up the musical portion of religious services in the First church. He was also a member of the Travellers' Association, the Sons of Scotland and the I. O. O. F.

In 1872 deceased was married to Miss Ellen McGee, daughter of the late William McGee, of Raleigh. Besides his widow one daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) James W. Rutherford, of this city, is left to mourn his loss. John Taylor, of Denver, Col., Judge Taylor, of White Horse, Yukon, Will Taylor, of Portland, Ore., are brothers, and Mrs. G. L. Bingham, of Idaho Springs, Col., and Mrs. Frank Rosebrough, of Bothwell, sisters of deceased.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 from his late residence, Queen street, to the Maple Leaf cemetery. The Veterans' Firemen will attend in a body.

Miss Hillman has prevailed upon Frank S. Welsman, of Toronto, to give another of his delightful piano recitals in this city on Friday, Dec. 1st, and he will be accompanied by W. Francis Firth, a baritone of high reputation. Those who attended his last recital will remember it with pleasure, and it is to be hoped they will attend and bring some of their friends.

PRESIDENT KIPP WAS HOST

the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."
Since Mr. Kipp came to Chatham, a few months ago, he has made innumerable friends who all look upon him as a business man of more than ordinary ability and a jolly good fellow.

The toast to the host was responded to by Guy Davies, of Harrisburg, Judge Clark, of Towanda, Mr. Jennings, of West Virginia, E. B. McKee, of Towanda, editor of Towanda Daily News, and Reporter Journal, Dr. Johnson, Mr. P. E. T. Kizer, and Geo. Hill, of Towanda.

Other short speeches were given by E. Whelan, "the man who built the road," Mr. Babcock, W. N. Warburton, the general manager of the road.
All of the speakers expressed their delight with their visit to Chatham and the splendid electric road they found here. Some also spoke of the good relations existing between Canada and the United States. One speaker hoped that it would not be long before Canada and the United States would be one country and one people under one flag.

"I presume you mean this one," laughingly rejoined Tom Masterson, pointing to a large Union Jack.

The speech of the evening was given by Judge Clark. The judge is an orator of exceptional ability. "We are here," said he, "as good friends—people from two of the best governments on earth. I was very pleased to visit your thriving city, to see its fine stores, broad streets, good buildings, splendid farming district and your excellent climate, and the beauty and grace of your ladies, which is only equalled by the beauty and grace of the ladies of Towanda."

The judge went on to pay an eloquent tribute to Mr. Kipp and proposed unlimited prosperity for the new electric road. He closed with a touching reference to the late General Hill, who had planned to be present at the opening of the road.

The evening broke up shortly after midnight.

IT WAS NOT A FAITH CURE

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Mrs. Adams' Bright Disease

She Did Not Believe in Them, But To-day She is Strong and Well. Collingwood, Ont., Nov. 20.—(Special).—Mrs. Thos. Adams, who moved here about two years ago from Burke's Falls, is one of the many Canadians who once had Bright's Disease and are now strong and well. Like all the others she was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I was eight months an invalid," says Mrs. Adams, "and no one could tell what I suffered. My doctor said I had Bright's Disease and Sciatica, but I got no relief from anything he gave me. At last a friend of my husband induced me to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. I had no faith in them, for I thought I never would get better, but after taking three boxes of them I was able to do my work. I have had good health ever since I used Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Love at first sight often proves to have been due to an oversight.

RIVAL CLAIMS TO TECUMSEH

Thamesville Citizens Also Press for Location of Proposed Monument

Mr. Bowyer's Position—Desires to See Kent United—Will Communicate with Chatham

Thamesville, Nov. 21.—A meeting of the citizens of Thamesville was held in the town hall to-night to make clear that Thamesville is the correct spot for the Tecumseh monument. Originally Thamesville was called Tecumseh. The battlefield of the Thames, where Tecumseh fell, is only three miles east of here. The spot where the battle took place is on the Longwoods road, which is the main road from London to Windsor, and many think the monument should be placed there.

The meeting was largely attended by the most influential citizens. D. A. Gordon, M. P., wired his regrets at being unable to be here, but assured the committee of his support. Thos. Syer, Reeve, of the county. Very interesting addresses were made by many citizens.

Chief Tobias and ex-Chief Albert Tobias, of Moraviantown Reserve, which is across the river opposite the battlefield, also put forth the plea: "A second monument should also be made which would be the restoration of the franchise to the Indians."

The following committee were elected to take steps to put Thamesville in first place: D. A. Gordon, M. P., P. H. Bowyer, M. P. P. Reeve Syer, Dr. Fraser, Dr. Stewart, Dr. Beckett, D. W. Newcomb, G. A. Fraser, T. W. Sims, John Coats, Wm. Sherman, ex-Chief Albert Tobias, Chief Walter Tobias, H. A. French and S. P. Sturges, County Commissioner.

P. H. Bowyer, M. P., stated his position very frankly and squarely. He said that after Premier Whitney had intimated that the Tecumseh monument should be erected in Queen's Park, Toronto, the Chatham people and the people of Chatham had energetically put forth the Maple City's claims. Eager to see the monument secured for Kent County he had promised his support and intimated to the Premier the strength of his claims. Finding, however, that Thamesville had strong claims, he felt himself in duty bound to give his support to his own constituency in so far as his influence went.

Mr. Bowyer, however, greatly feared the rival claimants. In view of the Premier's position he was afraid that at that event, the monument would likely remain in Toronto. He would earnestly like to see the people of the County united on one side in Kent. He would at once communicate with the Chatham committee and he felt confident they would release him under the circumstances. He did not want to be on either side in question to ride two horses. At the same time he hoped the County could unite on one location and secure the monument.

WINS DERBY

Bothwell Dog Wins Feature of International Field Trials Tuesday

Ruthven, Ont., Nov. 21.—The Derby event at the International Field trials was finished to-day.

First prize was won by Harper, by Prince Rodney, out of Countess Beatrice, owned by John Fuddicombe, of Bothwell, Ont., and handled by Allen. Second prize was won by Atlanta, by Prime Minister, out of Louisa Danstone, owned by Dr. Campeau, of Harrow, Ont., and handled by Antoine Pilon. Third prize was won by Lady Gay Rodfield, by Fair-out of King Bowswick, owned by R. Bangham, Windsor, against Peke; English setter, by Snowball, out of Belle, owned by Thomas A. Duff, Toronto. Second heat—Trim of Kent, pointer, by Prince, out of Fly Ant, owned by E. M. Graydon, London, against Selkirk Soulas, setter, by Selkirk Whyte, out of Selkirk Tana, owned by W. B. Wells, Chatham. Third heat—Selkirk setter, by Selkirk Dan, out of Selkirk Tessa, owned by W. B. Wells, Chatham, against Phyllis, setter, by Sam T. H., out of Maud S., owned by James Douglas, Toronto. Fourth heat—Sutton Boy, setter, by Selkirk Dan, out of Molly Gladstone, owned by H. H. Wootton, Montreal, a bye.

Birds seemed hard to find and no bird work was done except by the pointer, Sir Royal Spot, but he has not been enough to suit the judges, who judged the stake on speed, range and style.

The extra heat to decide first and second prize in the members' stake was run this morning before the Derby, but the judges were unable to agree on a decision, which has not yet been given.

The all-aged stake will be started to-morrow morning. The draw resulted as follows: First heat—Duke of Vassar, pointer, by Hal Pointer, out of King Bowswick, owned by R. Bangham, Windsor, against Peke; English setter, by Snowball, out of Belle, owned by Thomas A. Duff, Toronto. Second heat—Trim of Kent, pointer, by Prince, out of Fly Ant, owned by E. M. Graydon, London, against Selkirk Soulas, setter, by Selkirk Whyte, out of Selkirk Tana, owned by W. B. Wells, Chatham. Third heat—Selkirk setter, by Selkirk Dan, out of Selkirk Tessa, owned by W. B. THE ROOT OF NEURALGIC HEADACHE

Is an irritable condition of the nerves caused by cold. Relieve it quickly from Nerviline, the great pain reliever of to-day. "I consider Nerviline a magical remedy for neuralgia," writes Mrs. E. G. Harris of Baltimore. "But I never worry if Nerviline is in the house. A few applications never yet failed to kill the pain. I can also recommend Nerviline for stiffness, rheumatism and muscular pains." In use nearly fifty years; try Nerviline yourself.

STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private life to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years.
 You can talk freely to a woman when it is revolting to relate your private troubles to a man—besides a man does not understand simply because he is a man.
 Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probably examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.
 Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has drawn from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me."
 "I dropped my watch today, and it has been gaining ten minutes an hour," said a man, at the same time handing the watch to a New York jeweler. The jeweler stuck a glass in the eye, looked into the interior of the watch, poked something with a small instrument, set the watch by a regulator and, handing it back, said, "It's all right now, and I've set it by the correct time." "How much?" said the customer, relieved. "Nothing," was the answer. "But I can't let you work for me without pay." "We never charge any one for such a service. Why should we charge you? The hair-spring was doubled, and that made the watch run fast. A single touch set it right."

Fixing a Watch.

NO POISON IN CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

From Napier, New Zealand, Herald: Two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of all the cough medicines that were sold in that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poisons. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine Company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. When taken in time it prevents pneumonia. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

The Luster of Opals.
 Many gems often without any apparent cause and become cracked and seamed, the damage being beyond repair. Opals, known as the unluckiest stones, are so sensitive that their beauty is frequently destroyed by their wearer's proximity to an open fire. The luster of this stone is caused by the presence of myriads of little fissures, which deflect the light into the characteristic prismatic color of the gem. The tiniest of these fissures is likely at any moment to destroy the stone.

PROVED IN MOUNT FOREST.
 Every dealer in this town tried his best to relieve Mrs. J. Witham of Asthma, not one succeeded. "For years, she stated, 'I was a dreadful sufferer; nothing gave relief. At times I found it necessary to have all the doors and windows open to get my breath. When in despair I heard of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I used it and now I am perfectly cured.' This proves beyond doubt that any case of Asthma is curable with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. No remedy so pleasant, none so absolutely certain to thoroughly cure, try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, it's guaranteed."

It is impossible to gauge the good there is in others by the way they talk.

SORE THROAT AND COUGHS.
 A simple, effective and safe remedy for all throat irritations is found in Chamberlain's Antiseptic Tablets. They combine the germicidal values of creosote and salicylic acid with the property of slippery elm and licorice.

INQUIRY INTO INSURANCE.

Senator Domville Announces His Intention to Re-Canada Business.
 Montreal, Nov. 21.—Senator Domville yesterday morning announced here that at the next session of Parliament he would formally demand thorough parliamentary investigation into Canadian insurance matters, and will make particular reference to the standing and security offered by American companies doing business in Canada.

Senator Domville states that he tried to bring this matter up at last session, but it was set aside through a hitch in the proceedings.

At this time, however, he states that he is determined to force it through to a finish, as in view of the revelations in the States public opinion demands that the standing of insurance companies in Canada should be thoroughly sifted.

WANT WORK, NOT CHARITY.

Poverty Parades on Thames Embankment Display Red Flags.
 London, Nov. 21.—There was another "poverty parade" in the streets of London yesterday. Five or six thousand unemployed men and a sprinkling of women marched along the Thames embankment to Hyde Park, where they listened to speeches and adopted resolutions condemning charity as a cure for lack of employment and demanding the summoning of Parliament to initiate work of national utility.

Red flags were seen, and banners bearing such devices as "Curse your charity, we want work!" and "There is a limit to human endurance!" indicated the temper of the processionists. The march, however, was quite orderly, and the strong force of police on duty had little to do.

Military Training In Schools.
 Ottawa, Nov. 21.—The Ministers of Education for the various provinces will be invited, within a very short time, to come to Ottawa and discuss the introduction of some sort of military instruction for the schools. It is said the instruction to be given is not likely to go beyond simple drills, setting up exercises and in some cases target practice.

Arrivals From Foreign Shores.
 Ottawa, Nov. 21.—Immigrant arrivals from Great Britain were 349 less for the month of October than they were for the same month last year, whereas the arrivals from the United States increased by 752. The figures are: United States, 2,042; Great Britain, 3,738. Less than twelve months ago the British arrivals exceeded those from the United States by 616.

LET YOUR STOMACH HAVE ITS OWN WAY

Do Not Try to Drive and Force it to Work When it is Not Able or You Will Suffer All The More.

You cannot treat your stomach as some men treat a balky horse; force, drive or even starve it into doing work at which it rebels. The stomach is a patient and faithful servant and will stand much abuse and ill treatment before it "balks," but when it does you can better go slow with it and not attempt to make it work. Some people have the mistaken idea that they can make their stomach work by starving themselves. They might cure the stomach that way, but it would take so long that they would have no use for a stomach when they got through. The sensible way out of the difficulty is to let the stomach rest just as you did when you were a healthy boy or girl.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do the work of your stomach for you and digest your food just as your stomach would do it. You can prove this by putting your food in a glass jar with one of the tablets and sufficient water and you will see the food digested in just the same time as it takes your stomach to do it. That will satisfy your mind. Now, to satisfy both your mind and body take one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating—eat all and what you want—and you will feel in your mind that your food is being digested because you will feel no disturbance or weight in your stomach, in fact, you will forget all about having a stomach just as you did when you were a healthy boy or girl.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act in a natural way because they contain only the natural elements of the gastric juices and other digestive fluids of the stomach. It makes no difference what condition the stomach is in, they go right ahead of their own accord and do their work. They move their business and routine conditions do not influence them in the least. They thus relieve the weak stomach of all its burdens and give it its much needed rest and permit it to become strong and healthy.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. They are so well known and their popularity is so great that a druggist, we shall require $150.00 in gold, and we believe it will be every rouble available by the month of August next. (This was written in May). As for now, we have ten million dollars in gold, and we believe it will be every rouble available by the month of August next. (This was written in May). As for now, we have ten million dollars in gold, and we believe it will be every rouble available by the month of August next. (This was written in May).

The Moon and the Weather.

An old jingle on this topic runs—
 The moon and the weather
 May change together;
 But change not as reason
 Does not change; the weather.
 If we had no moon at all,
 And that may seem strange,
 We still would have the weather
 That's subject to change.

But does anyone suppose that the moon's changes affect the weather? No doubt some people will pressage from the moon's appearance if the next day is going to be fine or wet; but a barometer, too, will foretell that. Yet we do not barometer at all—and it doesn't seem strange—we still would have weather that's subject to change.

A WORD TO WOMEN.

Any sick woman is invited to consult with Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. In an active practice of more than thirty years, assisted by a staff of nearly a score of associate physicians, Dr. Pierce has treated and cured over half a million women. All diseases peculiar to women are treated with success. This consultation by letter is absolutely free. Every letter is treated as strictly private and is answered promptly giving the best of medical advice. All answers are sent in plain envelopes bearing no reference to printing of any kind. Write without fear and without fee to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Official Dress in Burma.

Burma is stirred by the question of official dress. The Rangoon Gazette says that the younger generation of native officials, many of them educated in England, are wondering whether native or European costume is the better for their career. If a young Burmese official adopts the European costume he is practically absolved from the obligation of showing respect to his superiors in the national fashion. You can hardly expect a young man in correct western attire to take off his shoes, kneel down on the floor or keep the open palms of his hands clasped on his stomach.

The fellow who stops to explain everything to everybody will never reach the end of his journey.

JOUBERT'S PROPHECY.

Foretold Recent Uprising of Russian People—Revolutionists Well Organized and With Plenty of Money.

Some months ago a correspondent of The Daily Telegraph had an interview with Mr. Carl Joubert. The date of the conversation was just after the destruction of the Baltic fleet in the Sea of Japan, and for the most part had reference to Mr. Joubert's remarkable prophecy, which was fulfilled to the letter, as to the action and fate of the Russian fleet. Incidentally, Mr. Joubert talked with our representative of what he termed the approaching revolution in Russia. It is interesting, at the present stage of events in the Czar's dominion, to give publicly to some of the statements made by Mr. Joubert in May last.

Mr. Joubert said:—"The revolutionists do not desire the death of the Czar. We wish him to be the constitutional Sovereign of Russia. The Anarchists and terrorists, filled with a mad lust to revenge all the outrages to which the Russian people have been subjected, desire his blood and that of every member of the Russian royal family. We are fighting the Anarchists and trying to save the Czar. We hope to save him, and to see him one day at the head of a reformed and constitutional Russia. Very soon the time will be ripe for us to show our hand. We are the means by which you propose to attain your ends."
 "Our methods will be bloodless, if possible. It is no part of our plan to compass the death of a single Russian. If our ends can be accomplished without it, we wish and pray for a bloodless revolution, but if that cannot be attained, then we shall put into operation a scheme the extent and methods of which will amaze the world."

"But Russia is strong, and huge armies and vast sums of money will be required."

"We have both," replied Mr. Joubert. "The whole scheme is prepared and ready, and we only wait our time."
 "Would not the present be the most favorable opportunity, while Russia, or rather Czarism, as you prefer to term it, is engaged in war with Japan?"

"We will not move a finger until peace is made between Czarism and Japan. We do not want it said that our success has been due to the Japanese. We will wait until peace has been established; then we will move. You asked about our men and means. At this moment we have £61,000,000 in cash, most of it in English banks, but we have a large amount also banked in America. We shall require £150,000,000 in gold, and we believe it will be every rouble available by the month of August next. (This was written in May). As for now, we have ten million dollars in gold, and we believe it will be every rouble available by the month of August next. (This was written in May).

Treed By Wolves.

If the story of Edouard Leduc, shantymen, who has just returned to Ottawa from Des Joachim, is correct, he had a narrow escape from falling the victim of a pack of wolves. The shanty to which Leduc was attached is located ten miles north of Des Joachim, and he went out one day recently to shoot partridge. About sundown he started back for camp again, when he heard a patter and saw the forms of four-footed beasts all around him. Leduc's gun was a light weapon of one barrel and he took to a tall tree in preference to risking the continuance of his journey. There he remained all night, and for hours, he says, could see the grey shadows stealthily moving about, their green eyes flashing. Once or twice he fired at some of the pack, who ventured nearer than the others. Just before the day broke the animals disappeared and he, hungry and stiff, climbed down from his perch.

A WOMAN'S BACK IS THE MAINSPRING OF HER PHYSICAL SYSTEM.

The Slightest Backache, if Neglected, is Liable to Cause Years of Terrible Suffering.

No woman can be strong and healthy unless the kidneys are well, and regular in their action. When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the kidneys control the blood as it is filtered out of the blood are left in the system. The female constitution is naturally more subject to kidney disease than man's; and what is more, a woman's work is never done—her whole life is one continuous strain.

How many women have you heard say: "My, how my back aches!" Do you know that backache is one of the first signs of kidney trouble? It is, and should be attended to immediately. Other symptoms are frequent thirst, scanty, thick, cloudy or highly colored urine, burning sensation when urinating, frequent urination, puffing under the eyes, swelling of the feet and ankles, floating specks before the eyes, etc. These symptoms if not taken in time and cured at once, will cause years of terrible kidney suffering. INCENDIARY ENDANGERS LIVES.

Barrie Baker is Accused of a Very Serious Offence.

Barrie, Nov. 22.—Alfred S. Carscadon, a baker and restaurant keeper, is under arrest on a charge of incendiarism. Yesterday morning fire was discovered in his shop, but luckily was extinguished before it had got any headway.

Had the fire got a good start the loss would have been heavy and perhaps attended by loss of life, as the store is on the Queen's Hotel block and the hotel was crowded with guests.

Justice Teetzel, who was presiding Monday at the non-jury sittings, occupied a room on the first floor, immediately over the burning store. Carscadon a few years ago was a farmer on Oro Township, and had been in business in Barrie only a year, coming there from Orillia.

He was arraigned before Police Magistrate Radenhorst yesterday, pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by jury.

Colonization Congress Opens.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—A special from St. Jerome, Que., says: The colonization convention opened here yesterday with a large attendance of delegates from every part of the province. Among those present on the platform were Hon. Dr. Reaume, Hon. Mr. Tessier, Senator Casgrain and Senator Levesque. The congress was opened by Hon. Mr. Prevost, Minister of Colonization for the province.

Longshoremen Won't Work.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 22.—There was absolutely no change yesterday in the longshoremen's strike situation. The Parisian, which arrived Monday night, is the first boat of the winter season, and on her the laborers refused to work unless the new schedule of wages was paid. The owners refused to accede to this demand and the cargo was discharged by the ship's crew.

Subscribed to Political Fund by the Equitable Company.

Mutual Life Paid the Same Sum Frequently and New York Life a Smaller Amount But Only Occasionally—Senator Platt's Evidence Before the Insurance Committee—Dewey's "Cantankerous Friend" Unearthed.

New York, Nov. 22.—The identity of Senator Dewey's "cantankerous friend from up the river" was disclosed in the session of the Armstrong committee insurance investigation yesterday, by the testimony of John A. Nichols, a lawyer under retainer by the Equitable Life. Mr. Nichols had written Senator Dewey a letter referring to an individual in the above terms, which letter was read at the session of the committee Friday, when Dewey was on the stand. The senator said he was unable to recall who was meant, but yesterday Nichols disclosed a series of payments to V. S. Manning of Albany, a former actuary connected with the investigation of insurance companies in 1877. Nichols detailed the payment of sums of money over a period of time to Manning as an inducement to give up his business as actuary, in which capacity he believed Manning was a menace to the Equitable. Nichols said he was paid a retainer from the Mutual and the New York Life for the same duties, that of "taking care of Mr. Manning," as Mr. Hughes characterized it. The payments by the Equitable for Manning were made to Nichols and Nichols said was done to protect Manning.

Senator Platt a Witness.

Aside from this testimony, the feature was the appearance of Senator Thomas C. Platt, who was carried up stairs in a chair. He told of the contributions of the insurance companies to the campaign fund of the Republican state committee. The Equitable, the Mutual Life and the New York Life were the only insurance companies that made such contributions, he said. The Equitable Life contributed regularly $10,000, the Mutual Life the same sum frequently, and the New York Life a sum not as large, and only occasionally. These moneys always were delivered in cash to Senator Platt's office by messenger, and he turned them over to the state committee. The senator said he supposed he was expected to influence legislation favorably to the insurance companies.

An Assemblyman's Story.

Assemblyman James K. Aggar of Westchester was called to explain the finding of his cards with the words "Mr. Hyde says to pay him," attached to a voucher for $1,000 which the Equitable paid Thos. C. Platt. The voucher bore Husted's endorsement. Aggar said he knew nothing about the money, nor did he know how his card came to be used for such a purpose. He knew A. C. Fields, but never knew of his receiving money for political purposes. Fields was politically active in Westchester, where he also lived, Aggar said, and generally elected where he set out elect. Aggar talked with Fields in Albany while a member of the insurance commission, and had called on Fields socially in the house maintained by the latter. Aggar said his relations were somewhat strained with Thos. D. Husted, and as the latter is dead, he asked to be excused from going into an explanation of the matter.

Bavarian's Pilot Suspended.

Quebec, Nov. 22.—The court which investigated the cause of the running ashore of the Allan steamer Bavarian thirty miles below Quebec on the 3rd inst., rendered judgment yesterday morning. Pilot Paul Leclanche is held solely responsible for the accident, but the court taking into consideration his previous good record dealt leniently with him and only suspended his certificate for the space of two years. The captain and officers of the ship are completely exonerated from blame.

Montreal Trolleys Collide.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—Two St. Denis street cars were damaged in a collision yesterday, and five people sent to the hospital to have wounds dressed. A baker's cart was struck by one car which stopped suddenly and caused the following car to run into its rear.

Charged With Burglary.

Niagara Falls, Nov. 22.—Freeman Clark, G. T. R. baggage man, was arrested by Detective Greenwood, N. Y. police, who have a charge of burglary against him.

Burglars Secure $80.

Port Hope, Nov. 22.—The residence of N. Pethick was entered at 2 a. m. yesterday and over $80 secured from the trousers of two gentlemen visitors. Five dollars was taken from the purse of Mrs. Pethick, which hung in the clothes closet downstairs. No trace of the parties has been found.

Young Man Missing.

St. Johns, Que., Nov. 22.—Hector Brosseau, 18 years of age, is missing. A hard felt hat, such as worn by the missing young man, has just been found in the river, and it is feared he went to the wharf and accidentally fell in the river and was drowned.

Two Years For Illegal Voting.

New York, Nov. 22.—For illegal voting at New York's recent election, Edward Meade was yesterday sentenced to Sing Sing Prison for not less than two years nor more than three years and six months. He pleaded guilty to voting twice.

Soldiers Under Suspicion.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—An enquiry has been going on here relating to charges of irregularities against two officers of the 13th Sweetbush Dragoons. The finding will be reported to Ottawa. The amount involved is $150.

Cabled $2,000.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—The sum of $2,000 was cabled yesterday morning by the president of the Baron de Hirsch Institute for the relief of Russian Jews. This is approximately the amount subscribed to this time.
