The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol \rightarrow (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Metropolitan Toronto Reference Library
Baldwin Room

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole \rightarrow signifie "A SUIVRE"; le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

SALUTATORY.

It is with great pleasure we are enabled to present to the people of Prince Edward Island, what may be termed a souvenir of the Provincial celebration of the Jubilee Year of Our beloved Sovereign, Queen Victoria.

It is intended that this little book shall serve not only as a guide to those visiting Charlottetown during the period of general rejoicing incident to the celebration, but also that the epitome of information contained herein, touching prominent events in the history of the Empire during the past fifty years, will be found interesting to those who cherish the institutions of that great country which has ever been foremost in promoting Christianity, Civilization, the Arts and Sciences, True Liberty, and all great enterprises tending to the moral, intellectual, and social advancement of mankind, and over whose interests our noble and illustrious Queen has ruled happily and wisely for so many years.

Complete Programmes will also be found herein of the several Demonstrations, Entertainments and Amusements it is contemplated to hold as part of the celebration, together with an Index to the same and Advertisers' Index at the back; the book will also serve as a guide to those wishing to do business in the City, containing as it does the announcements of our leading business men, through whose patronage we are enabled to place it Free in the hands of all, hoping that it may prove acceptable and useful, and requesting you to give it a careful perusal, and preserve it for future reference.

The Crown of British Joies.

(JUBILEE HYMN).

Written in commemoration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Reign of Her Majesty, VICTORIA, Queen of Great Britain and Empress of India.

THE Joy-bells of an Empire ring,
with heavenly echoes wave,
An anthem loyal millions sing,
their hearts ablaze with love;
With flashing eye and soul aflame,
intrenched in arm of steel,
Great Britain's children—on all shores—
list to its thunder-paul!

There sparkle in each country's crown
gems from Saint George's Cross, Yet in the British Coronet
there may be traced no loss;
For loyal hearts together cling,
though seas and plains divide;
And ties of blood are strong and deep as continents are wide!

The Thistle flames—the Shamrock gleams—beside the glowing Rose,
As benisons to the eyes of friends
as warnings to all foes;
Who is not proud that in his veins
there flows the same brave blood
That fell like rain at Waterloo, or Crimean hosts withstood?

Where'er the Standard of the Crown has found a halting-place Civilization has been sown
to glorify the Race;
And Education's bounteous hand
has blossomed into life
To show the World that Peace hath joys unknown to fields of Strife!

Across the seas are British hands,
and each Colonial gem is linked by chains of hearts into Britannia's diadem;
For whether 'mid Canadian snows—
'neath India's flaming sun,
Or in the wild Australian bush,
ALL BRITISH HEARTS ARE ONE!

The fibres of the British heart
are firm as knotted oak;
When once their love has grown therein—
when words of trust are spoke,
A friendship born of confidence is drawn with every breath,
As homelike as the globe itself—
that only dies with death!

The language of the Motherland is spoken and is sung, Where'er Truth, Faith and Loyalty
are born on human tongue;
It thrills in tones of Majesty,
of Honor, Peace and Right,
And God has willed that Mercy be twin-birth of Britain's Might!

All Hail! The Queen—the faithful Wife—
the Mother great and good, (Most gracious in the subtle charm that crowns sweet Womanhood);
To Her bring laurels of pure love
to grace her brow with bays,
And wish her wealth of happiness and length of golden days!

Boston, Mass., May, 1887. DEXTER SMITH.

AND WHERE TO BUY.

MANUFACTURERS in Great Britain—ever eager to show their regard for Our Gracious Queen—have made this, her Jubilee Year, remarkable by the extremely handsome goods produced for every branch of trade. This is chiefly noticeable in the Dry Goods and Millinery now showing by our leading stores. We have only space to mention a few of the novelties. In addition to the usual lines of Dress Goods, ladies are now shown Victoria Checks, Nans' Yellings—plain and checked, Jubilee Stripes, Tweed Checks, &c. Many of these goods are rich in style and should be seen by everyone desiring acceptable and fashionable dresses. In Hats and Bonnets the Jubilee designs are both pretty and becoming, whilst the variety of trimmings shown is almost bewildering. One of the firms of BEER BROS. visited the British markets with the purpose of securing a large stock of the newest and most attractive goods at lowest prices. The result is, it is almost worth visiting the city to see the many bargains and beautiful novelties shown by them. In many cases the prices are so low as to be astonishing, which means a great deal in these days of keen competition. Special inducements will be offered in order that everyone visiting Charlottetown during the Jubilee celebration may have a pleasant recollection of their visit and carry away with them some substantial souvenir of it. BEER BROS. do not want you to buy what does not suit you, but are anxious to have you for a permanent customer by suiting your taste and purse and giving you in every case "THE CORRECT THING." Do not fail to visit their store when in the city.

A short Historical Sketch of the Reign of Queen Victoria.

ALEXANDRINA VICTORIA, Queen of England, and Empress of India, was born May 24th, 1819, began to reign June 20th, 1837, and was crowned June 28th, 1838.

Her Majesty is the daughter of Edward, Duke of Kent, and Victoria Maria Louisa of Saxe-Coburg, and granddaughter of George, the third, after the name, as well as of the Brunswick sovereigns who received the Crown of England through Electress Sophia of Hanover, to whose heirs it was given by the Act of Settlement in 1701.

King William IV, uncle of Her Majesty and her predecessor, died at 2.20 a. m., June 20th. The news was immediately taken to Kensington Palace, where the Princess Victoria resided. She met the Cornet at eleven, after the proclamation was made which declared her "Our only lawful and rightful Heir Lady Victoria, by the Grace of God, Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland," and read her first speech, (part of which we quote) in a voice then and now remarkable for distinctness and sweetness: "The awful responsibility of administering the government of this Empire has come upon me so suddenly, and at so early a period of my life, that I should feel oppressed by the burden were I not sustained by the hope that the Divine Providence which has called me to this work will give me strength for the performance of it, and that I shall find in the purity of my intentions, and in my zeal for the public welfare, that support and these resources which usually belong to a more mature age and to long experience."

The Coronation ceremony was performed according to the old and stately custom in Westminster Abbey, where were assembled all the leaders in Church and State who swore to become "her liege men of life and limb, and of earthly worship." Instead of the customary public banquet at Westminster Hall, a pageant or procession was formed. In it moved the trumpeters, the foreign ambassadors, the Life Guards, the nobility in their splendid equipages, the state coach, in which was seated Her Majesty—the girl Queen: England has never witnessed a gayer sight than that presented then, excepting it be the scene presented on the celebration of the Royal marriage with Albert, Prince of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha. Then again, all England seemed delighted to do honor to their Queen, and anxious to exhibit the love and loyalty it bore her in every way possible.

In 1840, the Princess Royal, (now Princess Frederick William of Prussia) was born, and in the following year Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, the Heir Apparent to the British Throne. There were nine children in the Royal Family of England; the names most familiar to us after those above mentioned are:—Princess Louise, Marchioness of Lorne, who resided in Canada during the successful administration of her husband, the Marquis of Lorne, as Governor General; Prince Arthur, Duke of Connaught, who visited Canada in 1869; the Princess Beatrice, who two years ago was married to Prince Henry of Battenburg.

PROGRESS.

Three great boons were gained for the people in the very earliest part of the Victorian reign; then came the perfection and use of the electric telegraph; then crossed the first steamship from Europe to America; and through the influence of Sir Rowland Hill was introduced the penny post.

REBELLION IN CANADA.

This has not been a reign of peace, although the motto has been "Defence and not Defiance." There was trouble in Canada owing to the hostile feeling that existed between the English and French colonists, a rebellion was raised which, however, was soon quelled, though not without considerable trouble. In 1840 an Act was passed uniting the two Canadas, and thus was formed the nucleus of the great Dominion, of which to-day we form an integral part.

THE CHARTISTS.

There were men in England about this time who by their meetings and noisy demonstrations were attracting great attention; they supposed, as some do now, that much of the existing poverty might be remedied by new legislation. They drew up "The People's Charter," the subscribers to which were called chartists; they demanded six great changes, the most important of which was universal suffrage. They made many riots, the most serious was raised at Wales. The ringleaders were arrested and sentenced to death, but the sentence was commuted to that of transportation. These severe measures restored peace for a while, but the frequent risings through the reign show that though silenced they were not subdued.

WARS.

In 1840 a British army entered Afghanistan to support the claims of the rightful ruler of that State against a usurper and ally of Russia. The war lasted for three years, and although our army was often defeated, in the end it was victorious, and Britain gained the object for which she had been seeking.

While this was going on, Egypt and Turkey were at war; this caused the stoppage of the Black-Sea trade. England and other powers in the interest of the commerce of Europe interfered, and the war was brought to a close.

The result of the Chinese war, which was caused by the arrest of the British Commissioner at China during the dispute about the opium trade, was the opening of three fine seaports to foreign trade, which were until then closed by Chinese law.

REFORM.

Amidst all this dissension and strife laws were being made in the Home Parliament; the enforcing of which led to the amelioration of all classes throughout the Empire; the most important of these were: An Act introduced by the Premier, Sir Robert Peel, which prevented women and girls from working in mines and collieries; the Factory Act, which made it no longer lawful for children of tender age to be employed in factories; the Act to repeal the Corn Laws, in response to the demands of the Anti-Corn Law League, whose leading men were John Bright and Richard Cobden.

EXHIBITIONS.

The Prince Consort projected the scheme for holding the Great Exhibition of the Industry of all nations. He was met by a storm of opposition that would have discouraged a less earnest and enthusiastic seeker after the "greatest good of the greatest number." However, he was ably assisted by Sir Robert Peel, and the Exhibition was held in 1851, in Crystal Palace, constructed for the purpose in Hyde Park. Its success was undoubted, and great and lasting good resulted from it.

The first city in Europe to follow the example of London in holding an Exhibition, was Dublin. Her Majesty visited Ireland for the second time in 1853, for the purpose of seeing it. She was enthusiastically received, and expressed herself as being highly delighted with all she saw.

CANADIAN PROGRESS.

We have mentioned the union of the two Canadas which took place in 1840; Lord Sydenham was the first Governor General of the provinces thus joined. The first united Parliament was opened with imposing ceremonies at Kingston, Upper Canada, in June, 1841. During that session the foundation of many of our civil institutions was laid. The administration of Lord Elgin from 1847-54 was a very eventful one. The rate of postage was lowered, the Upper Canada Normal School was erected, and the Reciprocity Treaty with the United States was concluded. Then too, the Great Western and Grand Trunk Railways (projected chiefly by Sir Allan McNab and Hon. Francis Hincks) were commenced.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

Great progress, too, has been made from the accession to the present time by our sister Maritime Provinces—New Brunswick and Nova Scotland, but our object now is to refer particularly to the leading events in the history of our own Prince Edward Island. Sir Charles Augustus Fitzroy received the Governorship of this Province June 27th, 1837. During his administration further impetus was given to the cause of education. In 1836 the Central Academy had been opened in Charlottetown, and now a Visitor, Mr. John McNelli, was appointed to inspect the public schools of the whole Island, which then numbered fifty-one.

The Executive Council, consisting of nine members, was formed in 1839. The subjects of greatest interest discussed were the Fishery Question and the propositions for a settlement of the land. At this time many emigrants came from the British Islands to our shores, some of whose descendants now occupy leading places in the land. The steamers Cape Breton and Pocahontas then plied between the Island and the mainland regularly.

In 1841 Sir Henry Vere Huntley was appointed Governor. He also took a great interest in education and furthered its interests by causing the improvement of the Central Academy. He laid the corner stone of the Colonial Building on the 10th of May, 1843. In 1846 a geographical survey of the Island was made. Governor Huntley having retired, Sir Donald Campbell was appointed in 1847. In that year the House of Assembly passed an address to Her Majesty, asking for responsible government. This was not granted, however, until 1851. In 1852 a Public Schools Act, framed by the late Hon. George Coles, was passed. It provided a free education for all. The Parliamentary session of 1853 was marked by three important Acts, viz: The Land Purchase Act, Universal Suffrage Act, and the Act to establish a Gas Company in Charlottetown. In the following year provision was made for the incorporation of Charlottetown, incorporation of the Bank of P. E. Island, and for the building of the Normal School. In August 1855, the election of the first Mayor and Council for the City of Charlottetown took place; the late Robert Hutchinson, Esq., was the first to occupy the civic chair. In this year Prince Edward Island, with the British Colonies all over the world, contributed largely to the patriotic fund for the relief of the sufferers by the Crimean war, of which we are about to write.

In 1860, H. R. II. the Prince of Wales visited the colonies in British North America, and nowhere was he received more royally than in Charlottetown. At night the harbor was illuminated with fireworks, and the town was literally filled with people, many of whom came miles from their country homes for the purpose of seeing and doing honor to England's future King.

WARS.

The great war with Russia, known as the Crimean war, because most of its battles were fought in the Crimea, began in 1854. The cause of it is universally known; France first joined with England, and towards the close of the war, Sardinia joined the alliance. The great battles of Alma and Inkermann; the resistance offered to the Russians at Balaklava; the brave, but useless charge of the Light Brigade; and the fall of Sebastopol, were the great events of the war—they will be remembered as long as the English language is spoken, for they have been immortalized in song. A treaty of peace, between Russia and England, was signed at Paris in 1856.

In the same year, occurred the mutiny in India, when the natives endeavoured to shake off the British yoke. The full narration of the story of the rebellion belongs to the historian; we only recall the Massacre of Cawnpore, the Siege of Delhi, the relief of Lucknow, as among the many heart-thrilling events of that and time. The names of Sir Henry Havelock, Sir Colin Campbell, Sir John Inglis and General Williams, have been enrolled among the names of England's heroes, for their services to their countrymen in the time of their great need. This shows that he spoke truth, who said that "not once or twice in our fair Island-story, the path of duty was the way to glory."

DEATH OF PRINCE CONSORT.

The mother, to whom our Queen owed so much for the early training which helped to make her the noble woman she is, died in March, 1861. In December of the same year, H. R. H. Albert, the Prince Consort, died of typhoid fever. Alfred Tennyson, the poet-laureate, voiced the sentiments of the hearts of the British people towards the dead husband of their Queen, when he said:—

"The shadow of his loss drew like eclipse, Darkening the world. We have lost him: he is gone.

We know him now: all narrow jealousies
Are silent; and we see him as he moved,
How modest, kindly, all-accomplished, wise,
With what sublime repression of himself,
And in what limits, and how tenderly;
Not swaying to this faction or to that;
Not making his high place the lawless perch
Of winged ambitions, nor a vantage-ground
For pleasure; but thro' all this tract of years
Wearing the white flower of a blameless life.

Dear to thy land and ours, a Prince indeed,
Beyond all titles, and a household name,
Hereafter, thro' all times, Albert the Good."

MARRIAGE OF PRINCE OF WALES.

In 1863, the Prince of Wales married Princess Alexandra of Denmark. Her Royal Highness has won the love of all classes in her adopted home, by her genuineness of character, and her unswerving loyalty to the right.

AMERICAN CIVIL WAR.

Civil war raged in the United States from 1860-65. The question at issue was the abolition of the slave-trade in the southern States. All eyes were turned on that deadly struggle between brothers "speaking the same dear mother tongue, and invoking the aid of the same God;" and when the victory lay now with the Federals, as the Northerners were called, and then with the Southerners or Confederates, none but the All-wise dared to say which of the two would win. But when all in sympathy with the Federals knew by the surrender of the leading cities of the south, that the cause of right had triumphed and were rejoiced that the dreadful war was about to close, they were rendered doubly sorrowful by learning of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, who had done so much "to keep the Union whole, to destroy slavery, and to maintain the constitution." He was shot in Ford's Theatre by Wilkes Booth, who spoke the words "Sic semper tyranni, the South is avenged," did his deadly work, and escaped from the building. Many Canadians fought in the American war; the effect of this war was, while it was severely felt all through British North America, occasioned greater distress in the Mother Country than anywhere else. The cotton trade of the South was of course stopped; this injured the great manufacturing interests of Lancashire, which depended on the South for raw cotton supplies. Factories were shut down, and many were thrown out of employment.

CONFEDERATION.

Let us now turn to what must ever be an important event in Canadian history—the Confederation of the Provinces. Statesmen had long been of the opinion that it would be beneficial to the Provinces that they should be united under a Federal Government. Very decided steps however, were taken in 1864, meetings attended by delegates from all the Provinces were held in Charlottetown, Quebec, and Halifax. After long debates in the several parliaments, Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia, were united in Confederation in 1867, and named the Dominion of Canada. In 1871 British Columbia and Manitoba were admitted; and in 1873, Prince Edward Island, after long indecision, having received many inducements, among which were the promises made by the Dominion Government to buy up the land owned by foreign landlords, to give communication with the mainland in winter, and to complete the railroad, east in its lot with Canada. And now our great Dominion, with the stormy Atlantic on the east, the blue Pacific on the west, with common hopes and common interests, is we hope, about to fulfil the brilliant destiny prophesied for it in its infancy; and let us hope in this jubilee year that the little Province, on whose crest are inscribed the words "Fides sub laqueo" will aid in accomplishing the grand end of the union, and thus make Canada the "proudest gem of the British Crown."

THE ZULU AND OTHER WARS.

The Zulus had made frequent raids on the British settlements at Natal, and Cetawayo their king would make no reparations. They were met in battle by the British soldiers, in whose ranks the Prince Imperial, son of Louis Napoleon of France, lost his life. The Queen erected a monument to his memory, which the conquered Zulus swore not to desecrate.

We must merely mention the war in Egypt, in 1882, in which Sir Garnet Wolseley and others won laurels for themselves and for Britain; the war in Soudan, in which General Charles George Gordon proved that when the "Iron Duke" was buried, "the last great Englishman was not laid low." The story of his heroic fortitude and death is too familiar to be again recounted.

IRELAND.

Through all this reign there have been many endeavors made in Ireland to accomplish the repeal of the union, and these endeavors are still being made. We will hope that affairs will soon be settled amicably, and that Ireland no longer torn by internal strife and slinging sadly of the "days of old," will be able to look around at evidence of present and peaceful prosperity.

THE INDIAN AND COLONIAL EXHIBITION

held at London last year was attended by thousands from all parts of the globe. It was opened by the Prince of Wales and was as successful as the first planned and opened by his lamented father.

TERRITORY ACQUIRED.

In this reign Britain has greatly extended the bounds of her empire. The largest acquired was the Punjab, added in 1849; Aden in Arabia, in 1839; Hong Kong in 1842; Labuan ceded by Turkey in 1866; Serawan, a district of Borneo, taken in the same year; Cyprus ceded to England by the Congress held at Berlin in 1878; and New Zealand first acknowledged as British territory in 1841; have all been acquired since the accession of the present Sovereign, who is Queen of three millions and a half of square miles of American territory, one million in Africa, one and a half in Asia, and a half in Australia. Indeed Her Majesty rules over one-seventh of the surface of the globe, and one-fourth of its population.

DISCOVERIES.

In addition to the Electric Telegraph already mentioned as being first used in this reign, we now mention the successful submerging of the Atlantic Cable in 1868. Iron steamships were now first used. Dr. Livingstone, Henry M. Stanley, Sir Samuel Baker and others, made

It beats all competitors in growth of New Business.

The following Circle tells the Story:

It will be seen that the New York Life is ahead of all competitors, because no other life companies but those referred to in any degree approach to the business of the New York Life. It has doubled its record of 1885, when the company made a gain of $7,026,000 in new insurance issue, while in 1886 the new risks assumed aggregated $85,178,904, a gain over the preceding year of $16,656,842. For forty-two years this progressive company has been steadily growing in prosperity and implanting itself more and more firmly in public confidence. On the first of January, this year, the New York Life had assets of $75,421,453, and a surplus of $15,540,310 by the New York Standard. These figures show a gain for the year of $8,557,132 in assets and $2,334,273 in surplus. The total income for the year was $19,230,408, an increase of $3,109,236.

many useful discoveries in Africa, the interior of which was until their time unknown to Europeans. Mr. Layard then, too, made his wonderful discoveries concerning ancient Nineveh.

REFORM.

Many laws of reform have been made besides those before named, which have resulted in greater happiness to the people. The principal of these are the laws referring to popular education, and the abolishing of imprisonment for debt.

GREAT MEN.

We do not think this sketch would be complete without mention of the names of the great authors of the reign whose writings, by the perfected use of the "Art preservative of all Arts," have been placed in the hands of the laborer for a few cents. Before this period, savings of weary weeks would have to be expended in the purchase of a single book. The great historians, Macaulay, Hallam, and Kinglake, belong to this reign, and the poets, Tennyson, Browning, Southey, Wordsworth, Moore and Campbell, sang many of their sweetest songs since 1837—"the year of happy memory." Great statesmen have lived in this era. Commencing with the first and coming to Beaconsfield and Gladstone, all will acknowledge that for the most part the helm of State has been steered wisely.

CONCLUSION.

We have taken a cursory glance over the last fifty years of British history. Of necessity many important points have been omitted, but we have endeavored to mention the facts most interesting to Canadian readers and especially to Prince Edward Islanders. If by so doing we have increased the pride of our readers in their glorious institutions, their loyalty to themselves, their Queen and their native land, our object has been accomplished. Let us instead of fearing for the future of our country, say with the poet-laureate:

"May statesmen at her council meet
Who know the seasons when to take Occasion by the hand, and make
The bounds of freedom wider yet,
By shaping some august decree
Which may keep the throne unshaken still,
Broad based upon the people's will
And compassed by the inviolate sea."

The Opening of the Great Indian and Colonial Exhibition of 1886.

SERIES of Exhibitions have been held in London since 1883. The first of the series was the Fisheries Exhibition, at which all kinds of things belonging to the fishing industry were gathered together; the fisherwomen of France, the Netherlands and the North of England were there in their picturesque dresses, boats of all kinds and from all nations, fishing tackle, preserved fish, etc., were there to be seen by the thousands daily assembled. This Exhibition was opened by the Prince of Wales on behalf of the Queen.

In 1884 the Health Exhibition was opened, where everything useful for the improvement or preserving of the health was shown, and in 1885, the Inventions Exhibition was held, where might be seen all the latest inventions and modern improvements. In 1886, the great Indian and Colonial Exhibition was held, the account of which is perhaps too fresh in the memories of all to be again given here. However, perhaps it would not be out of place in this Souvenir to recall some of the interesting events of the opening at least. We quote from an authentic record: "Her Majesty was accompanied by her eldest daughter, the Crown Princess of Germany, Prince and Princess Henry of Battenburg, and other royal personages. The royal carriage drove to the principal entrance, and the Queen was received by the Prince of Wales, the President of the Executive Committee, and the other members of the royal family. The Executive Commissioners of the Colonies and of India were presented by the Prince to the Queen, then the heralds and officials took their places in the procession, there was a fanfare from the silver trumpets, and the Queen moved on through the Colonial portion, the Indian Hall and down the Indian Court. Her Majesty was dressed in black, covered with beaded lace. The dressed procession, the officers in full uniform, the beautiful ladies, the stately and dignified Sovereign, looked very splendid as they advanced between rows of her Indian subjects bent in lowly and reverent salams, which their Ruler acknowledged by gracious smiles and bows. Passing through all the courts, the Queen at length went into the Conservatory, from which she entered into the Albert Hall. Here she took her place in front of the throne on the platform with the Prince of Wales on her right hand. The following ode written by Alfred, Lord Tennyson, was then sung:—

'Welcome, welcome with one voice
In your welfare we rejoice,
Sons and brothers that have sent,
From isle and cape and continent,
Produce of your field and flood,
Mount and mine and primal wood ;
Work of subtle brain and hand
And splendors of the morning land,
Gifts from every British son,
Britons, hold your own.

Britain fought her sons of yore,
Britains failed ; and nevermore
Careless of our growing kin
Shall we sin our father's sin,
Men that in a narrower day—
Unprophetic rulers they—
Drove from out the mother's nest
That young eagle of the West
To forage for herself alone ;
Britains, hold your own.

Sharers of our glorious past
Brothers, must we part at last ?
Shall we not thro' good and ill
Cleave to one another still ?
Britain's myriad voices call,
Sons, be welded each and all
Into one Imperial whole,
One with Britain, heart and soul !
One life, one flag, one fleet, one throne,
Britons, hold your own.'

"After this was sung to music composed by Sir Arthur Sullivan—one of the leading English musicians of the reign—the address was read by the Prince of Wales, and the reply by the Queen. The Lord Chamberlain, then, by Her Majesty's command, declared the Exhibition opened. The Archbishop of Canterbury offered an appropriate prayer, and the great choir sang the 'Hallelujah Chorus,' and after a brief pause 'Home, Sweet Home.'"

So opened the second great Exhibition, which was visited daily by thousands from all parts of the great Empire. Many Canadians joined the great company of spectators, and among them some from Prince Edward Island. We have heard them express themselves concerning this visit in terms of great delight, and we have no doubt that the trip across the Atlantic in 1886, the sights they witnessed signifying the wonderful advancement made by the great Anglo-Saxon race to which they belong, will ever be one of the brightest memories of the past, and will do much to inspire with hope for the future. The Prince of Wales was the leading spirit of this Exhibition, and thus followed the example so nobly set him by his lamented father.

The Royal Family of England.

PRINCESS VICTORIA ALBERTA, better known as the Princess Royal, being the eldest of the royal family, was born in November, 1840. H. R. H. was highly educated and accomplished, had all her parents' fondness for music and the fine arts. When she was but fifteen years of age she painted a picture and sent it to a collection of paintings by amateurs. It was sold for a magnificent sum of money, which she gave to a fund in aid of the widows of those who fell in the Crimean war, thus showing the kind heart as well as the practiced eye and hand. H. R. H. was but eighteen years of age when she was married to the Crown Prince of Germany, and although but a child when she left her English home, had endeared herself to English people. The House of Commons voted her a dowry of £40,000 annually. This Princess is the mother of nine children, six of whom are still living, and five grandchildren.

Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, was born November 9th, 1841, and was married to Princess Alexandra of Denmark, in 1862. Before his marriage he made a tour of Canada and the colonies of British North America; everywhere he won the admiration and respect of his future subjects by his gentle courtesy and princely bearing. In 1871, H. R. H. had typhoid fever, it was then known that he had the love of the people; great fears were entertained for his recovery, especially when the great havoc made ten years before by the same dread malady was remembered. Many prayers were offered by people speaking many different languages for his recovery, and these prayers, offered sincerely, were answered.

"And London rolled one tide of joy thro' all Her trebled millions and loud leagues of man."

The Prince and Princess of Wales have five children, the oldest of whom is Albert Victor, the Heir Apparent to the throne.

Alce Maud Mary, the well-beloved and third child of the Queen, was born in 1843. This Princess was possessed of rare intellect and of widest sympathies, and is said to have been the favorite child of the Prince Consort. It was she who was with him continually in his last illness, who sang his favorite hymn the last time for him, and who, by the great self control she had, was enabled to be her Royal mother's solace in the darkest hour of her life. ND FINANCIAL MENTAL COE.

Princess Alice was married to Prince Louis of Hesse; her life in Germany was a most busy and exemplary life in every way. The care of her children, the pursuit of knowledge ever dear to her, and the oversight of many charities were for her the "common deeds of the common day." In the autumn of 1878, H. R. H. was in England, when the loss in the Thames of the ship bearing her name took place. Later in the year diphtheria broke out in Darmstadt, and invaded the happy home of Princess Alice, which had some time previously been deprived of one of its loved inmates by an accident. Sir William Jenner, one of the Queen's physicians, was sent over from England, he warned the Princess of the dire infectiousness of the disease, but she obeyed the impulses of her great motherly heart, and forgetting all danger, kissed her suffering child. She was seized with the terrible disease shortly afterwards, and after an illness of one week, on the 14th of December,—the anniversary of Prince Albert's death—passed to meet her father and loved children "where beyond these voices there is peace."

In 1879 the Queen erected at Balmoral a beautiful cross to her memory, the inscription of which is:—

To the dear memory of

ALICE, GRAND DUCHESS OF HESSE,
Princess of Great Britain and Ireland,
Born April 25, 1843, died Dec. 1878.

This is erected

By her sorrowing mother,
QUEEN VICTORIA.

"Her name shall live though now she is no more."

We have written at length of Princess Alice, because, on account of her great affection, her sorrows and her early and sad death, her memory seems dear to the great heart of the people. Five children and one grandchild survive her.

Alfred, Duke of Edinburgh, the second son of the Queen, was born in 1845. Early in life he chose the navy as his profession and received a thorough training for his life work. In 1860 he went on a voyage to Cape of Good Hope by way of Rio Janeiro. He was married in 1874 to the Grand Duchess Marie Alexandrovna, only daughter of the Emperor and Empress of Russia. The marriage was celebrated at St. Petersburg both by the service of the Greek Church and that of the English. It was hoped that this marriage would bring about more friendly relations between Russia and England. H. R. H. has five children.

Helena Augusta Victoria, Duchess of Orleana, was born 25th May, 1846, and was married to Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, in 1866.

Louise Caroline Alberta, was born in 1847, and was married in 1871 to the Marquis of Lorne, eldest son of the Duke of Argyll. In 1878 the Marquis was appointed Governor General of the Dominion of Canada. He and his royal wife lauded at Halifax, and were enthusiastically received by all. The administration of Lord Lorne was a very successful one, and although the health of the Princess prevented her staying during the five years of their appointment in Canada, she remained long enough to show that she was the worthy daughter of her noble mother.

Arthur William Patrick Albert, Duke of Connaught, was born in 1850, on May 1st, the anniversary of the birth of Arthur, Duke of Wellington, who was chosen his godfather, and for whom he was named. He was married in 1879 to Louise Margaret, a Prussian Princess. Prince Arthur chose a military career, in which he has seen much service. "The Brigade of Grenadier Guards under the command of the Duke of Connaught, were stationed in the round line of the British army during the attack on Tel-El-Kebir. The Brigade was bravely led to the attack by its leader." Prince Arthur is deservedly a great favorite with the people.

Leopold George Duncan Albert, was born April 7th, 1853. "He was always very delicate in health, and it is said that the Queen from the very first of her widowhood had to bestow great care on him. He was educated at Oxford University. Of the Queen's sons he was said most to resemble the Prince Consort." He was married on the 27th April, 1882, to Princess Helen, fourth child of the Prince and Princess of Waldeck-Pyrmont. He died at Cannes, March 27th, 1884.

Princess Beatrice, the youngest child of Her Majesty, was born in 1858, and was married to Prince Henry of Battenburg, the third son of Prince Alexander of Hesse.

We attempt no eulogy of our beloved Sovereign; but after having borne so heroically more sorrow than has fallen to the lot of many, and performed at the same time so conscientiously the duties of her high office, we believe that all will say,—

"A thousand claims to reverence close
In her as Mother, Wife and Queen."

Tommy to the rescue. Question of beauty. Sandy and the widow. Love is blind. We are human after all. Hearts and Hand. The love of honest hearts. Will you be my wife. The lady of the Forks. Good night, good night. Sandy and the Parson. Perfect real. The secret. The discovery. A whisper might betray me. Forgotten love. The shadow again appears. Don't lie, Widow. Will you marry me? Man without a beard. Again the shadow comes. The Parson and his dog. Billy and the Widow. Heaven help you. Please Parson may I pray?

ACT IV. SANDY'S CABIN.

Green eyed monster jealousy. Tim and Bunker Hill. Spliced to-morrow. Sandy's courtship. Love in the Sierras. The Angels smile. Poor Little Billy Piper. A burden too great to bear. Sandy's love for Nancy Williams. A child of the Sierras. Save me, Sandy, save me. I'll protect you with my life. Captain Tommy on her muscle. A bald headed mule. Bunker I'm a waiting for you. The Judge's flight of Oratory. Little Half a Pint. The Parson has a fit. Good bye, old pard. Heaven bless you both. Billy Piper again. Out in the storm. An appeal to Heaven. Hiding, Thnking, Praying. An unhappy secret. What does this mean. Kill, but hear me. Heaven bless and keep you forever.

ACT V. THE GOLDEN GULCH. BILLY PIPER'S CABIN.

Again the shadow passes. To you, to all, to him. A mother's memory. A woman in armor. Billy's dying wish. God bless you Sandy, God bless you. Sandy's promises. You can shoot, can't you? The Danites on the trail. Run him out. Hang him, boys, hang him. A ray of sunshine. Tears of joy. Happiness at last. Nancy Williams. The Danites vengeance. Quick, Sandy, quick. Closing with a powerfully realistic scene.

Doors open at 7.15. To commence at 8.

... of the Three, and it is by possibility of celebration that VICTORIA of the most powerful nation on the face of the and of the greatest kingdom the world has ever seen is the noblest of her sex. Fifty years a monarch the oldest is the best.

The undersigned desires to inform the multitudes who throng the metropolis to celebrate Her Majesty's Jubilee, that he is the oldest in business in Charlottetown and acknowledges no superior. That he employs the largest and most efficient staff in the Province, and the amount of work annually turned out of hand is larger than that of all other houses in the trade combined. As a consequence, he is able to sell at figures which defy competition. Anticipating a rush of visitors anxious to view

MERCHANT TAILOR

"One of the sights of the Capital,"

he has made arrangements to bestow special attention upon all favoring him with a call, and he engages to show them the largest, best and most varied assortment of

AGENTS FURNISHINGS

ever exhibited on Prince Edward Island.

Everything at Jubilee Prices—low down.

Leave your measure and get your Suit before you go out of Town.
