We thank Thee, O, Our God! Our views of life are rose-tinted with our belief in the goodness of our Great Father. We believe He gave us the capacity to enjoy, and spread around us the objects of enjoyment, that we might use them and be happy. Therefore, with grateful hearts, we desire We thank thee, oh, our God, who made

The earth so bright ; So full of splendor and of joy, Beauty and light : So many glorious things are here, Noble and right!

We thank thee, too, that thou hast made Joy to abound : So many gentle thoughts and deeds ircling us round, That in the darkest snot on earth.

Some love is found.

But, thou who knowest, Lord, how soon Our weak hear clings. Hast given us joys, tender and true, Yet all with wings,

So that we see gleaming on high, Diviner things ! We thank thee, Lord, that thou hast kept The best in store-

We have enough, yet not too much To long for more : A yearning for a deeper peace, Not known before. We thank thee, Lord, that here our souls, claimed Lily, glancing upward. What should we, indeed I said her mother. Without the sun there would be no color in the flowers; nay, not a single flower would grow-Therefore it is that in the Bible the sun is shown men with hearts like that boy" to be a type, a kind of image of our blessed Savior hi mself. As the sun is made to give beauty and joy and life to nature, so the Lord you remember any verse which speaks of the home.

alone make her appear so lovely and bright.' That rather disappoints me, mamma. thought the moon was an immense lamp in the sky, carrying her own light in herself; I did not think that she borrows it all from the sun Now, when next I see her I shall say, 'Ah, beautiful moon, you have nothing to be proud of. If you look so silvery bright, it is because the sun is smiling upon you.' We may learn something from this, my Lily. The church (that is, all God's true servants) has been compared to the moon. All that is good and lovely in the conduct of Christians comes from the Lord, their Sun of Righteousness. It themselves they are nothing: their light is reflected from him. The best and holiest being on earth has nothing in himself to be proud of. What! not even my own dear papa? He is so good that I always think of him when I hear the verse, ' Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in Heaven.' 'Your father's character shines brightly indeed, my love, but, it is because the Grace of God's Holy Spirit rests upon him, as the sun's beams rest upon the moon.'

' If I prayed very hard for God's grace, would it make my character shine too, mamma?

'Yes it would make my darling gentle, obedient and kind-the joy of her parents' hearts. 'I should like to be as the gentle moon; her light is very beautiful, although it is not her own .- Family Treasure.

Napoleon and the Sailor Boy. In the year 1809 the French flotilia lay at Boulogne, waiting for an opportunity to make a descent upon the southern shores of England. Day after day Napoleon Bonaparte paced the beach, sweeping with his telescope the blue expanse of the Channel, watching the appearance

The plain, natural, common sense way to re duce the gron, is to reduce the culture. Legis lators ought to vote for the plan that will sow the least seed. But instead of doing so, they "Well, you see," said Growler, "cooks are act upon the absurd belief that the grop and the awkward things to hang; you and I might be culture can be separated. Hence they vote for plans that will evidently produce a maximum cultivation, with a confident expectation of "But what," said Growler-" what immediate dition which more than any other is essential to the increase of the liquor traffic, viz.: That it be placed in the hands of men who have some influence, and free access to the people. This condition is indispensable. The liquor business is exposed to prejudices. If you give it to men who have no other occupation, they will have access to but half the people. Hence the necessity of placing it in the hands of men whose occupations give them access to all. This free dom of access, added to an honourable occupa tion, will enable the n to sell twice as many gallons as can be sold by men who sell liquor and sell nothing else. This condition will be attain ed with wonderful completeness by placing the liquor business in the hands of innholders:, vic tuallers, and grocers. They have an honourabl husiness. As a result, they have great per annal influence. They have the freest access t the people. All classes are compelled to hav business intercourse with them. Instead of depossibility popularize it, and sustain its credit They are, moreover, men of wealth, and their selection will enlist in behalf of the liquor business all the vast capital invested in their several occupations. They are every way fitted to sow the seed and raise more than any other men. We beseech our legislators, not to increase the treffic, and virtually recommend it by placing it in the hands of these men. Do not in this manner compel the whole people to come in contact with it. If the cultivation must continue, do not conceal its infamy. Let it be carried on by itself. If you impose no other restriction, we pray you to banish the traffic from inns, groceries, victualing houses, and all other houses and places where other cles are kept for sale.
