3rd—Keeps its correct shape.
4th—Correct in pattern and weight. 5th—Every stick

LORDS VS. COMMONS.

Yesterday we dwelt upon that aspect of the House of Lords which is not often properly emphasized. The House is often looked upon as the legislative hall of the lords of the land. Of course, this is true in a certain measure. The Dukes and many lords of inferior degree own immense tracts of land, and a goodly portion of the soil of England is under their control. Nowadays magnates not only of land but of almost all forms of industry and influence have seats in the House of Lords. There you find the great bankers, shipbuilders, shipowners, brewers, distillers, mine workers, cotton manufacturers, woolen manufacturers. Most men of great wealth or exceptional eminence in medicine, surgery, law, navy, army, administration, science and learning are called to the House of Lords. Although it is called the House of Lords, it is essentially a plutocratic assembly, and it is becoming more and more so each succeeding generation. The House of Lords no longer consists of a handful of privileged men. Its membership has been increased out of all proportion to the increase in population. A few facts will make this clear. Before the Wars of the Roses there were 52 lay peers. After this struggle there were 29. The Tudor Sovereigns strengthened it by adding new men to the old nobility, whom they knit in loyalty to themselves by the grant of confiscated land of the Monasteries which were abolished. In the time of Henry VIII. the greatest number of lay peers was 51; in the time of Elizabeth 59. Great additions were made by the Stuart Kings, but at the end of their time the number stood only at 149. During the reign of Anne, the Lords themselves began to look askance at the increase in the membership of their house. In those days the germs of the present party system were beginning to fructuate. The parties were roughly those who sided with Royalty and those who sided with the big Lords. Many of the political fights took place in the House of Commons, but the members of that House, through rotten boroughs, were little more than nominees of either the King or the great magnates who had seats in the House of Lords. There were, of course, King's friends among the peers, but the majority were not King's friends. As, however, the number of Lords was comparatively small, it was no difficult matter for the King to swamp opposition in the House of Lords by the creation of a small number of new peers. The limit of this exercise of the Royal Prerogative was the risk of a counter-revolution in favour of the Stuarts. The Lords, however, were alive to the danger, and on two occasions, the Whig lords endeavoured to limit by statute the King's prerogative to create new peers. Their object was to prevent the creation of Tory peers who would be King's friends and opponents of the Great Whig lords. At this time there were 178 peers, the Duke of Somerset in 1719, and the Duke of Buckingham introduced bills to restrain the King from increasing the peerage to more than 184. The object was to insure by legislation a permanent Whig majority in the House of Lords. Luckily the attempts failed. If success had attended their attempts, the party system of Government would have been strangled in its infancy. The Tory party in the House of Commons was strong enough to throw out the bill, and this insidious proposal was defeated. It is curious that the whirligig of time has put the boot on the other foot. What threatened the party system then, now threatens the party system to-day. The problem of the day, is how to break the permanent majority of the Tory party in the House of Lords, and how to arrange that the party which is successful at the polls and has a majority in the House of Commons, shall also have a majority in the House of Lords, whether that party be Liberal or Tory. In the reign of George III. Pitt revolutionized the House of Lords, by making it the stronghold not of blood but of property, and since his days this characteristic has become its chief feature. Under Pitt 141 new peers were created. Since the Reform Bills of the Thirties, about 320 peers have been created, and much more than half of them on the recommendation of Liberal ministers.

Reform of the Lords.

In the atmosphere of the House of Lords, the new Liberal peers are soon converted into Tory partisans, and the conversions are so constant, that it may almost be regarded as a political law. Increases in Liberal peers soon furnish overwhelming Tory majorities. Every addition makes the situation more difficult. From this it follows that the Royal Prerogative should not be used to create a majority of peers to pass any ordinary non-constitutional legislation, but should be utilized once for all to bring about such an organic change in the constitution of the House of Lords that will bring it in harmony with the electorate automatically after a General Election. It must insure a majority for a new Government in the House of Lords, so that a new Government may carry out the mandate of the Electorate in the House of Lords as well as in the House of Commons. It must more particularly insure to the House of Commons the sole control of finance. If this is not done, the tremendous influence of a House of the Magnates of Money and Property will inevitably shift the dominating power in Parliament to their own Chamber. At all costs the House of Commons must retain control of the Purse. Otherwise the House of Mammon will have it.

International Record of Justice.

Special to Evening Telegram. WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. State Department officials have received, with much satisfaction, during the past few days, tidings leading them to believe that several of the Powers of Europe are considering favourably Secretary Knox's proposal to invest it with the jurisdiction and functions of a court of arbitration justice, thus securing the adoption of the Court as a Chamber of the prize Court by a single negotiation.

Wedding Next Week.

The marriage of Miss Belle Haddon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Haddon, to Mr. W. A. Strong, of Little Bay Islands, takes place at the residence of the bride's parents the early part of next week, leaving for their future home by the s.s. Prospero.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

A resident of Barter's Hill, drunk and disorderly was fined $5 or 14 days. A young man who was arrested for indecent exposure on Bond Street and for following and annoying a young lady going in Barnes' Road last evening. The judge ordered that a doctor examine him to determine whether he is insane or not.

"Thelma."

Carpenters, scenic artists and electricians are busy at The People's Theatre getting ready for the production of "Thelma," which the Robinson-Allworth Dramatic Co. are to present to-night. The management will introduce a spectacle that of the burning of the ship "Falcon" at sea. All those who are familiar with the story will readily call to mind this stirring incident, and this little piece of stagecraft should have a great effect as the finishing touch to one of the most interesting stories ever dramatized. The presenting of this piece by the Robinson-Allworth Dramatic Co. has created a great deal of interest among the dramatic loving patrons of the People's Theatre, and a very critical audience is expected. The piece abounds in stirring situations, and the heart interest is well followed. This organization should be able to bring out new beauties heretofore undeveloped. There will be three specialties between the acts by the Crowleys, Miss Ardis Allworth and Mr. Jess Sydney, who will repeat his very clever, Italian character song, "My Brud Sylvest." Taking all in all, this is one of the best bills yet produced by the company, and is deserving of capacity audiences.

JOINED THE FORCE.

John Colford, of Carbonar, has joined the police force, and will be stationed in the East End.

FIND OUT The Kind of Food that Will Keep You Well.

The true way is to find out what is best to eat and drink, and then cultivate a taste for those things instead of poisoning ourselves with improper, indigestible food, etc. A conservative Mass. woman writes: "I have used Grape-Nuts 5 years for the young and for the aged; in sickness and in health; at first following directions carefully, later in a variety of ways as my taste and judgment suggested. "But its most special, personal benefit has been as a substitute for meat, and served dry with cream when rheumatic troubles made it important for me to change diet. "Served in this way with the addition of a cup of hot Postum and a little fruit it has been used at my morning meal for six months, during which time my health has much improved, nerves have grown sturdier, and a gradual decrease in my excessive weight adds greatly to my comfort." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason." Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

This is the Wonderful New Flour that has made such a sensation throughout Western Canada. Made of highest grade Saskatchewan wheat, in the newest, best-equipped, largest mill on the prairies. Housewives throughout all the West admit that Robin Hood Flour gives all this. Therefore, Madam, it is the flour for you. This flour cannot be described in an advertisement. We use this paper merely to give the introduction—to say: "Let us make you acquainted with Robin Hood Flour." It is the guaranteed flour. If you are not satisfied with it after two fair trials, ask your grocer for your money back. He will give it to you. Add more water than usual when using Robin Hood Flour. Made of such hard, dry wheat, it absorbs more moisture—producing a larger, whiter loaf. The difference between Robin Hood Flour and other flours you have to find out for yourself. That there is a difference every woman who now uses Robin Hood admits. SASKATCHEWAN FLOUR MILLS CO. LIMITED Moose Jaw, Sask.

Ogilvie Flour Mills.

In a recent interview, Mr. F. W. Thompson, the Manager of The Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., the millers of that very popular flour Royal Household, thus outlined the proposed expansion of the Company, which is already the largest milling concern in the Empire.

"The Ogilvie Flour Mills," answered Mr. Thompson, in reply to further inquiries of mine, "require the output of 300 elevators, each of 30,000 bushels' capacity, a total of 9,000,000 bushels. At present we own only 125 elevators, the largest number now owned by any milling company in the world. But it is the policy of our Company eventually to own all our own elevators. By the next harvest we shall have 50 more new elevators, making a total of 175. These 50 new elevators, as well as our 3,000 barrel mill, shall build out of our accumulated assets, without any new issue of stocks or bonds. We shall then be using and paying for only 125 elevators that are the property of other people. But by the harvest of 1911 we hope that we shall have built at least 50 additional new elevators of our own, and we shall build them also, not by new issues, but out of our accumulated assets."

"The Ogilvie milling capacity is now 15,000 barrels per day. Very soon it will be 25,000 barrels per day. This expansion and development of the Ogilvie Flour Mills which coincides exactly with the expansion and development of Canada, is the result of our efforts to meet and supply the food needs of the people of Canada, and of many of the people of other countries to which the Ogilvie flour is shipped, including England, Ireland and Scotland."

Your Daughter's Health

HER BURDEN—YOUR BURDEN

This is true—sickness not only wrings the heart, but adds burdens that in most families bear upon the minds and comforts of each member of the family.

"My daughter," writes Mrs. H. B. Sudder, "grew into weakness instead of that full measure of strength that is the desire of every parent's heart. Clever at school, she loved study, yet her strength was too slight. Because she was ambitious, she was always tired. She never ate heartily, was pale, thin and except when striving for school honors was listless of the interests and feelings natural to young girls. The burdens of ill-health she carried were my burdens, too, because I fretted lest some serious malady might seize her and take her from me."

"Ferrozone brought to her and me the first gleam of satisfaction. How that girl did enjoy her food after the first week she used Ferrozone. Her pale thin cheeks began to show a glimpse of red, and her strength improved. I think she could have gained more, but I was afraid that she might over-do. The more she did the stronger and ruddier she got, for Ferrozone renewed her blood and gave her muscle, flesh, strength and nerves."

There is no tonic that will uplift, vitalize, strengthen and rebuild young girls and women like Ferrozone; thousands say so—try it—the benefit it will do you in many ways is beyond telling. All dealers, 50c. per box, six boxes for $2.50, or The Catarrhous Co., Kingston, Canada.

Workman Injured.

Joseph Royal, working with the R. N. Electric Light Co., fell from a pole at the foot of Theatre Hill last evening about six o'clock and was nearly killed. He was up about 20 feet from the ground and was on the cross bar; adjusting the arc light when he missed his hold and fell to the hard ground below, striking first on his head. People who were passing saw the accident and ran to his assistance. He was lying unconscious and blood was coming from his mouth and nose. A sleigh was procured and the man was taken to the surgery of Dr. Tait, who found the jaw bone was broken and three severe contusions on the head. After having dressed the wounds Dr. Tait sent him to the Hospital, where he is lying very weak to-day.

M. C. L. I. Debate.

The subject of debate at the M. C. L. I. last night, "Was the House of Lords justified in the rejection of the Budget?" received very able treatment at the hands of Messrs. I. C. Morris, R. Header and R. A. Squires for the affirmative, and Rev. M. Fenwick, M. King and J. S. Currie for the negative. After the speakers all had their say a vote was taken, when it was found that the negative side had won by a majority of four votes.

Concert, Tea and Dance

The annual tea and dance held by the C. L. B. Warrant and Non-Com. officers at the British Hall last night was a grand success both socially and financially. There were about 500 present, amongst whom were Rev. J. Brinton, Lieut.-Col. Rendell and the other officers of the Corps. A concert was given at 8.15, followed by the farce, "Borrowed Plumes," which was a great success. Those who took part in the concert were: Messrs. H. LeMessurier, Geo. Adams, F. Snow, J. O'Reilly, Foster, S. Cake; Misses Carter, Chafe and McKinley. In the farce, Messrs. B. Dicks, W. Edwards and Adams played with great success. Miss Ewing and Misses Edwards (2) scored highly and played the roles in a very talented manner. Rev. J. Brinton occupied the chair and delivered a short address of congratulation in the course of which he praised the excellent work done by the Non-Com's for the Brigade. He also thanked the audience for their kind patronage. Refreshments having been served the dance programme was taken up and continued till an early hour this morning. The committee in charge of the arrangements deserve to be congratulated on their success.

Backache Means Dirty Kidneys.

A few doses will clean and regulate the Kidneys and Bladder and you feel fine.

No man or woman here whose kidneys are out-of-order, or who suffers from backache or bladder misery, can afford to leave Pape's Diuretic untried. After taking several doses, all pains in the back, sides or loins, rheumatic twinges, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, dizziness, tired or worn-out feeling and other symptoms of clogged, sluggish kidneys simply vanish.

Uncontrollable urination (especially at night), smarting, discolored water and all bladder misery ends.

The moment you suspect the slightest kidney or bladder disorder, or feel rheumatic pains, don't continue to be miserable or worried, but get a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic from your druggist and start taking as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which is so harmless or so effective, so thorough and prompt a cure.

This unusual preparation goes direct to the cause of the trouble, distributing its cleansing, healing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected and completes the cure before you realize it.

A few days' treatment of Pape's Diuretic means clean, healthy, active kidneys, bladder and urinary organs—and you feel fine.

The Great Campaign.

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, Jan. 12.

A big scheme of unemployment insurance will be the work of the new Liberal Government if returned to power. Winston S. Churchill outlined the scheme in the course of a speech at Glasgow to-night when he addressed two huge meetings. Mr. Churchill announced that the details of the scheme had already been worked out by the Board of Trade, and he said that if the people granted the money, the House of Commons would pass a compulsory and contributory employment insurance bill which would deal with the affairs of upwards of two million two hundred and fifty thousand adult workers, skilled and unskilled alike. The shipbuilding, engineering and allied trades would first come under consideration, while side by side with the scheme facilities would be given for voluntary insurances aided by the state. The new plan would be carried on in conjunction with one hundred and fifty labor exchanges, which are to be opened throughout the Kingdom. These exchanges, Mr. Churchill said, would give labor a scientific market and the advantages which modern civilization had conferred on all the classes. The insurance plan would improve and standardize labor and would equally benefit the employer and artisan. With an eye to the possibility of the Nationalists holding the balance of power in the new Parliament, A. J. Balfour, speaking at York, glided gently to fire powder salutes in honor of the event. He died 12 hours after having suffered terrible agony. A doctor was called up from Burn but was unable to save the poor fellow's life.

within two days of the election, it was left in darkness concerning Mr. Balfour's views on Tariff Reform. The feature of the campaign is the great attention devoted in the newspapers of the rival parties to the comparative cost of living in Great Britain, Germany and the United States. Columns of figures and statistics are given daily for the purpose of supporting or denouncing, as the case may be, the policy of Tariff Reform. Election meetings still are the scenes of considerable disorder. One at Brentwood to-night developed into a riot in which many persons were injured.

Will Contest Election.

Special to Evening Telegram.
BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 12.
Although former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald is apparently elected chief executive of the city for four years under the new city charter by a plurality of 1,415, James J. Storrow, the runner up in the contest, proposes to put up a stiff fight for the office. Mr. Storrow's campaign managers will ask for a recount. They claim that their figures show Fitzgerald's lead to be 139 instead of 1,415. The new City Council will be composed of seven citizens, Municipal League candidates and two Fitzgerald men. When he takes office Boston's new Mayor will have placed in his hand by the new charter power far beyond what any of his predecessors ever had. His authority can be compared only with the authority exercised by the boards that govern cities where the commission system of government prevails.

The Garden of Eden.

Special to Evening Telegram.
NEW YORK, Jan. 12.
A cable despatch from Constantinople says: According to the Journal de Stamboul, Sir William Willecks, the British adviser to the Minister of Public Works, thinks he has determined the exact site of the Garden of Eden. He places it at Hairap, a flourishing oasis, some 250 kilometers northwest of Bagdad. Through this site the Euphrates runs and is divided into four arms, representing the four rivers of Eden. Sir William suggests that the Deluge was merely the flooding of the entire plain between the Euphrates and Tigris, owing to these rivers breaking down the irrigation dikes which had been built by the pastoral dwellers on the plain.

Trouble at Carbonear Six Men Arrested.

While the 150 men engaged to go to Sydney to work at the coal mines were waiting at the railway station at Carbonear last evening a row arose between two of the men, who were under the influence of liquor, and in about a minute there was a general melee which the Carbonear police force was not able to quell. Judge Panney wired to Harbor Grace for assistance. Meantime the row became more furious, and more than half the men present were taking a hand in it. Head Constable Newhook and his men had a hard time and were roughly handled. They finally succeeded in arresting six of those who they believed to be the cause of the riot. They were taken before Judge Panney later and four of them were sentenced to six weeks' imprisonment with hard labor in the Harbor Grace jail. The crowd, in angry mood, hung around the station till a late hour.

Annual Sociable.

The annual sociable of George St. Young Men's Association held at the Presbyterian Hall last night was very successful, except in point of attendance. The audience was very small. Mr. C. P. Ayre, Hon. V. P. of the Association occupied the chair. The programme included an excellent concert in which Messrs. H. Tuff and J. O'Reilly sang solos, also Misses Storey, Strang and Ayre. After the concert refreshments were served. All present were well pleased with the entertainment. The money taken will be used for the Library Fund.

She left the latter port two weeks ago to-day, and the former port on the Saturday following. The ship had terrific weather all through with hurricanes from the westward, and a sea which time and again swept her decks but did no damage strange to say. On the 9th inst. the vessel was hoisted to and fro and sleet was the experience. Her daily runs were—190, 249, 248, 137, 179, 202, 173, 20, 45, 197 and 155. She has 600 tons of freight for this port and the same complement for Halifax and Philadelphia, respectively. Her passengers for here are:—Miss Withers, Mr. and Mrs. R. Watson, child and J. E. Angell, Miss Robinson, Bryan Dunfield, one second cabin and one in steerage. ### OBITUARY.

LEWIS MILLER, ESQ.

We record with regret to-day the death of Mr. Lewis Miller, of the firm of Callahan, Glass & Co., who passed away this morning at his late residence, Power Street, after a tedious and painful illness. His health had been falling for the past year or two, and since last November he declined more rapidly and had been obliged to stay at home from his place of business most of the time during the past two months. Deceased was born at Thillicoultry, in Scotland, 58 years ago. He came to Newfoundland when only 19 years of age and worked for several years as an employee in the dry good business of Messrs. J. W. Stewart. About 28 years ago the firm of Callahan, Glass & Co., furniture dealers was organized, and the big factory on Duckworth Street was erected. Mr. Miller was the guiding spirit in this undertaking and remained a partner in the firm up to the time of his death, helping by his ability and industry to build up the splendid business now existing. Mr. Miller was a very far seeing and astute business man, and was square and honest in all his dealings. He had a large circle in the city and country, who will regret to learn of his demise. He leaves a widow and one son and two daughters. Mrs. Miller is the sister of Hon. D. Morrison. The Telegram extends its sympathy.

Rare Royal Signatures

No sovereign in Europe is more chary about signing his name or writes it so rarely as the King of Spain, Alfonso XIII. Some time ago when an address was sent to him from an English Society, which had just completed, at considerable expense the restoration of Waltham Cross erected by King Edward I. in memory of his Spanish consort, Queen Eleanor of Castile, the committee expressed the hope that His Most Catholic Majesty would accept the office of patron and would send his signature, to be enrolled among the records of the society.

The King, however, in acknowledging the address, and consenting to the use of his name as patron, caused his private secretary to state: "His Majesty regrets not to be able to make an exception to his strict rule of never bestowing his autograph on any but relatives and close personal friends." For, unlike the other rulers of Europe who are compelled to sign their names to hundreds of documents every day of the year, Alfonso subscribes every paper requiring the sign manual of the sovereign, not with his name, but with the proud words, "I, the King, Yo el Rey."—The Metropolitan Magazine.

Bronchitis More Than a Cold

Often develops rapidly into pneumonia—cure is found in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.
Any cold is serious enough when its dreadful possibilities are considered, but when there is soreness or tightness in the chest and a dry hard cough you can look for bronchitis, which is often confused with an ordinary cold. It is usually known by aching limbs and body pains, chilly feelings, weakness and weakness, pain in the chest and a tight, tearing cough. Fever, dry skin, thirst, coated tongue and constipation are other symptoms.
Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine seems almost like a specific for bronchitis because it is so successful in loosening up the cough, aiding expectoration and preventing the inflammation from reaching the lungs.
Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is so prompt in affording relief and so thorough and far-reaching in action that it succeeds when ordinary cough medicines have no influence. 25 cts. a bottle, at all dealers, of Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

How An Actress Snubbed the Kaiser.

Mme. Jeanne Granier is full of her interview with the Emperor of Germany. They talked of all kinds of things, among others of the many times that His Majesty had seen the actress on the stage.
"I have followed your career with so much interest," said the Emperor. "I believe I could tell your age within a year or two." Mme. Granier chuckled and wrinkled her eyes up in a way she has when there is an epigram coming.
"With all respect, I should not advise your Majesty to try the experiment," she said.
"Why not?" said the Kaiser. "I am rather a good hand at guessing ladies' ages."
"Does your Majesty think so?" said Mme. Granier. "The other day when you were guessing the age of a pretty woman you were more than three centuries out in your reckoning."
She referred, of course, to the famous Leonardo-Lucas but controversy, in which the Kaiser took Dr. Bode's side so emphatically.

How He Won The V. C.

There are only three Victoria Crosses, commissioned or on the lower deck, on active service in the British Navy at present. One of them is Admiral Sir Arthur Knyvet Wilson, whose appointment as First Sea Lord a succession to Lord Fisher of Kilverstone has been officially confirmed. How the gallant Admiral won the coveted decoration makes thrilling reading. At the battle of El Teb in the Soudan, in 1884, the corner of the square where Wilson was in command of the Naval Brigade's Gardner gun was broken.
Sword in hand, Wilson fought single-handed and steamed the ugly rush. Then his blade broke, whereupon he fought with his fists, the sword hilt making a most formidable knuckle-duster which sent many a dervish to the ground.
Wilson's splendid stand enabled a detachment of the York and Lancaster to rush into the breach with the bayonet and so save the situation.

Race War.

Deadly Fight Between British and Italian Miners.
Grand Forks, B.C., Jan. 5.—Reports heretofore carefully guarded and hushed up, have reached here and been confirmed that a fight between two sections of miners at Phoenix on New Year's Eve was a most serious affair. At least seventy men were on each side in the fight, which took place near one of the hotels. And it was Welsh and English against Italians. Three men are reported dead and fifteen in the hospital as a result. The row began in a small way, but some bad blood that had been rising for some time between the miners of different nationalities caused a general battle.

A Prelate's Lottery.

Archbishop of Canterbury Once Ran a Big Drawing.
A lottery ran by an Archbishop of Canterbury is unthinkable at the present day, and yet in the reign of George II. the greatest lottery ever known in Britain was run by the Primate, the Lord Chancellor, and the Speaker of the House of Commons. The splendid library which that noted doctor and art collector, Sir Hans Sloane, had gathered during his lifetime—Sloane street and Sloane square still keep his memory green—was offered by his executors to the nation for the nominal sum of £20,000. But the Treasury, as usual, pleaded poverty, and pretended it could not find that large sum. So the Archbishop of Canterbury, in conjunction with the two gentlemen named above, organized a state lottery, with the sanction of Parliament, in order to raise the required money.
A hundred thousand tickets at £3 each were issued, and no less than £200,000 was to be distributed in prizes to the lucky winners of the numbers drawn, the first being £10,000 and the lowest a £10 note. So successful was the venture that all the tickets were eagerly purchased by the public, and there was more than £100,000 left in the hands of the Archbishop, the Lord Chancellor, and the Speaker to dispose of. They made most excellent use of this money for the benefit of the nation, as the record of their expenditure easily proves. They built the first portion of the British Museum with it; they bought the Sloane collection mentioned above; they purchased those priceless treasures, the Harleian and Cottonian manuscripts, and they put up a godly sum as an endowment fund for the new museum.

Rude Returns For Hospitality.

An Irishman, Nursed In Italian Count's Home, Elopes With the Countess.
Rome, January, 5.—Countess Pasolini, an American, has eloped from her husband's house here with a young Irishman named Coles, it is reported. The Countess was Miss Mildred Montague, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; where she was married to the heir of an ancient Bolognese family in 1907.
The story goes that Coles, a handsome fellow, educated at Eton, came to Rome for the hunting season, and being crippled by a fall in the hunting field was carried to Count Pasolini's house. There he was carefully nursed and hospitably entertained until restored to health.
Rumor says that the Countess, a beautiful woman, fond of admiration, was courted by Coles, and returned his passion.

BRITISH CAPITAL UNION POSSE

A visitor in Montreal recently met Mr. William Anstruther, an English capitalist who is on his way to British Columbia on business. Mr. Anstruther greatly interested C.P. officials by his enthusiastic description of the new mono-rail cars invented by Mr. Louis Brennan, the inventor of the gyroscope. Mr. Anstruther was present at the trial trip of these cars at Gillingham in Kent a couple of weeks ago, and he declares that the success which attended that trial makes it a matter beyond all doubt that the mono-rail system of railways will in the not very distant future revolutionize transportation.
"This great invention," said Mr. Anstruther, "has far greater significance for Canada than any one here has any idea of, for not only will it effect an immense saving in the cost of transportation, but it will bring the most inaccessible portions of the Dominion within easy reach of the traveler. For instance, I understand that many parts of Labrador are immensely rich in minerals, but that the development of these rich mineral areas is absolutely prohibited by lack of transportation. To build ordinary railways into these regions would be a ridiculous waste of capital that no one would think of undertaking. With the mono-rail system, however, the cost would be insignificant. There would be no need to grade a track at all, for the mono-rail car will run uphill and down dale with perfect ease. Ties, too, would be unnecessary, for there are not two rails to be kept rigid and absolutely parallel. A sin-

BRITISH CAPITALIST SAYS DOMINION WILL SOON POSSESS ONE.

A visitor in Montreal recently was Mr. William Anstruthers, an English capitalist who is on his way to British Columbia on business. Mr. Anstruthers greatly interested C.P.R. officials by his enthusiastic description of the new mono-rail cars just brought into practical use in England by Mr. Louis Brennan, the inventor of the gyroscopic car. Mr. Anstruthers was present at the trial trip of these cars at Gillingham in Kent a couple of weeks ago, and he declares that the success which attended that trip makes it a matter beyond all doubt that the mono-rail system of railways will in the not very distant future revolutionize transportation.

"This great invention," said Mr. Anstruthers, "has far greater significance for Canada than any one here has any idea of, for not only will it effect an immense saving in the cost of transportation, but it will bring the most inaccessible portions of the Dominion within easy reach of the traveler. For instance, I understand that many parts of Labrador are immensely rich in minerals, but the development of these rich mineral areas is absolutely prohibited by lack of transportation. To build ordinary railways into these regions would be a ridiculous waste of capital that no one would think of undertaking. With the mono-rail system, however, the cost would be insignificant. There would be no need to grade a track at all, for the mono-rail car will run uphill and down-dale with perfect ease. Ties, too, would be unnecessary for there are not two rails to be kept rigid and absolutely parallel. A single rail can be mounted on wood, rock, iron or concrete blocks, and can be run through forests and across muskegs. Hilly or mountainous country presents no obstacles at all, for the mono-rail can climb gradients of one in six and a half. The great cost of bridge building will also be done away with, because the gyroscopic cars can cross rivers if need be on a steel cable, or light steel lattice. Then again the car will take the sharpest curves with the greatest ease, so that the lines may be as winding as a river in following the route of least resistance, and may be built at any kind of grade. Cars may also be built of any width. In fact, Mr. Brennan himself told me that railway trains of the future can be as large as hotels and climb up the mountain side, and that they will take all curves as a skilled cyclist does a corner. As to speed, from 150 to 200 miles an hour can be attained with greater safety and comfort than at 60 miles an hour on the present systems.

"You mark my words. You will soon be seeing the mono-rail system being constructed in Canada, for it is the one great means of transportation for which civilization has been waiting, and in a country of such far-flung distances as Canada it will have an immense vogue. That the British Government believe in it is shown by the fact that it has already paid Mr. Brennan through the War Office $75,000 for his experiments and already an order has been given for the construction of a mono-rail system in India."

Meeting of the Nomenclature Board.

A meeting of the Nomenclature Board, appointed by the Governor in Council under Chapter XXIII, of the Postal Act, of 1902, took place in the Postmaster General's Office at 4 o'clock last evening, for the purpose of further considering matters standing over from previous meeting, and the despatch of new business. Archbishop Howley presided, and besides His Grace there were present Rev. Dr. Curtis, Hon. H. J. B. Woods, and Messrs. E. M. Jackman and A. A. Parsons. Rev. Canon Smith wrote to say that "unavoidable circumstances prevented him from attending."

A letter from Rev. Canon Pilot was received and read. The reverend gentleman informed the Board that, owing to frequent indispositions, he felt compelled to resign his membership. This announcement was received with much regret, and on motion of Mr. Jackman, seconded by the Archbishop, the Secretary, Mr. Parsons, was requested to convey to Canon Pilot the heartfelt sympathy of the Board in his present illness, and their sincere thanks for the valuable services rendered by him during the past six years as chairman and otherwise.

In deference to the wishes of the people of Toad's Cove, Ferryland District, the name of that settlement will henceforth be known as Tox's Cove. The Board also decided to drop the terminus in Belle Island, Conception Bay, and spell it in future with only four letters—Bell Island. This, besides, being the correct spelling, will also distinguish it from Belle Island in the Straits.

A petition from residents of Sweet Bay was received and read by the Secretary, asking that the name of that place be changed to "Winterbrook." The reasons assigned by the petitioners were not, however, of such a nature as to warrant the Board in complying with their request, and it was decided to retain the old name. There is nothing objectionable in it, and the Board do not wish to make arbitrary changes at the suggestion of individual members of communities.

In answer to correspondence requesting that the name of Fox Cove, B.B., be changed to Summerville, the Board could not comply with the wishes of those who desired this change, as the latter name had already been given to Indian Arm, B. B.

Touching the matter of changing the name of Crabbe's Station to Nellburn, letters received from Rev. Mr. McNeil, Mr. Downey, M. H. A., and others were read urging the adoption of the latter name. It was thought best, however, to again consult Bishop McNeil of St. George's, before taking any definite action thereon. This His Grace the Archbishop promised to do at an early date and acquaint the Board with the result at its next meeting.

(3) that no substantial reason has been assigned for re-naming the place. The request that King's Cove, Trinity Bay, be changed to Milton, will not be considered by the Board till the views of residents there are ascertained. The Postmaster General, who has already had some correspondence on the matter, will make further inquiry and report to the Board.

On motion of His Grace the Archbishop, it was resolved that Botwoodville should in future be called Botwood. The reasons given for this change were satisfactory to the Board.

The idea of changing the name of The Goules, Port de Grave District, to Riverville has never been seriously entertained by the Board. Therefore the largely signed petition sent in against the change in question is altogether unnecessary.

As there are two other places called Holyrood, one in Conception Bay, and the other in St. Mary's Bay, it was suggested that, to obviate confusion in mail matters, the latter be called Holy Cross, but, after some discussion, the matter was left undecided.

A lengthy petition (accompanied by a letter of approval from Hon. Robert Watson, Colonial Secretary) was received from the people of Ship Cove and Robin Hood, Trinity Bay, setting forth that their interests would be greatly enhanced by the union of these two villages under the single name of "Port Rexton." The reasons stated by petitioners were: "The name of Ship Cove and Robin Hood is not only a source of confusion, but it is also a source of embarrassment to the community. The name of Ship Cove and Robin Hood is not only a source of confusion, but it is also a source of embarrassment to the community. The name of Ship Cove and Robin Hood is not only a source of confusion, but it is also a source of embarrassment to the community."

Several minor matters were then discussed, after which, on motion of the Archbishop, the meeting adjourned sine die.

The following is the council: T. McNeil, Jas. Channing, R. G. MacDonal, W. H. Butt, D. G. Fraser, T. Kavanagh, H. C. Miller and G. J. Brocklehurst. As several of the members had to leave to open their drug stores at 10.30, the meeting adjourned before all the business was finalized.

Commercial Cable Co.

Semi-Jubilee Celebrations. Probably one of the most gigantic achievements in the telegraph world during the last twenty-five years has been the growth of the cable and telegraph system, now known as the Mackay Companies. With the object of celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Commercial Cable Company, the parent company of this system, and the base upon which the whole system has been built, the president, Mr. Clarence H. Mackay, invited the officers and employees of the Commercial Cable Company to dine at various centres in Europe and America, as nearly as possible at the same hour, yesterday.

The centre chosen for the North of England representatives was the Hotel, last evening, representatives of Liverpool, Manchester, Bradford and Newcastle-on-Tyne met to do honour to the occasion, under the chairmanship of Mr. Joseph Furze, the Liverpool superintendent of the company.

In proposing the health of Mr. Clarence H. Mackay, which was received with great enthusiasm, the Chairman said that the late John W. Mackay (the founder of the Commercial Cable Company) and his son (the present president) had done not a little to help forward the trade interests of the world. Not only had they and those associated with them doubled the cable capacity between Great Britain and America, but they had, for the first time in the world's history, joined America and Asia by cable across the Pacific Ocean. The companies now presided over by Mr. Mackay had had the honour of forging the link by which the world became literally joined by cable, and now it was possible not only to reach the great nations of Asia by the normal Eastern route of the Eastern Telegraph Company, but also by the Western route established by the Mackay companies through America, via the Pacific Ocean. During the twenty-five years of the Commercial Cable Company's existence, and other cable interests under the Mackay companies' control had made arrangements for cable expansion with no fewer than seven of the great nations of the world; the result of which to international trade could not be over-estimated.

Mr. J. Wilkinson, in proposing the health of the other officers of the Commercial Cable Company, especially mentioning its vice-president and general manager (Mr. George G. Ward), spoke of its rapid development under Mr. Ward's able management. Commencing with two cables across the Atlantic in December, 1884, the company had now five between Great Britain and the United States, and altogether the Mackay Companies now owned the whole or part of the capital stock of 102 prosperous cable, telegraph and telephone companies in the United States, Canada and Europe. The policy pursued throughout these years had been a constructive one, so that where anything had been acquired it had injured no one but benefited all.—EX.

A Strange Record of the Life of a Clever Swindler.

Once Posed as Courier of Khedive of Egypt—Wife Clung to Him Loyal.

One of the most daring and accomplished adventurers in the world has just died in Nevada, America. A convict, soldier of fortune, newspaper editor, naval officer, Ross Raymond, had been chosen to go straight, might have made an enviable position for himself, for that he was a man of remarkable ability there is no doubt. He was known practically all over the world. In England he had served ten years in Portland Prison for impersonating a nobleman. In Paris he was remembered for the feat of pretending to be a courier of the Khedive, and in this character making off with a collection of the rarest gems. In India he travelled as a rajah with a retinue of over a hundred servants and many elephants.

Raymond was employed in 1876 as a reporter on a Chicago paper, says the Daily Mail. He was a handsome young man, very intelligent, and did his work in a satisfactory way for a few months. Then he resigned and disappeared. At the moment his salary account was somewhat overdrawn.

"After meeting with some ups and downs," said the newspaper manager who employed him, "I received a cable message one day from Cairo advising me that a battle had been fought; that he, Raymond, had been my eye-witness, and asking if I desired a report. I replied at once that I did, and he sent me an excellent description of the battle of Telet-Kebir—very truthful and very graphic. For this service he refused any compensation, pleading that he was my debtor and was glad to do me a service.

"He returned to America, and encountered in Chicago Mr. Calhoun, who within the next few days has been appointed American Minister to China. Mr. Calhoun identified Raymond as a former acquaintance whose name was not Raymond. It seems that he was the son of a president of a university in Western Pennsylvania. Posed as Orchid Farmer.

"On one occasion he appeared in Birmingham, called on Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, and announced himself as an orchid farmer of New Jersey. Then he went to Stratford-on-Avon, to which city Mr. George W. Childs, the American philanthropist, had given a public fountain. There he announced himself as a nephew of Mr. Childs and, after inspecting the fountain with great care, passed a number of bogus cheques and obtained several hundred pounds of the money.

"Subsequently he appeared in Paris, called at the Hotel Bristol, and described himself as the courier of the Khedive of Egypt, who was to arrive that evening. He took an expensive suite, told the manager that it was the Khedive's birthday, and that he desired to arrange a dinner in His Highness' honor. Elaborate preparations for a dinner of twenty-four covers were made.

"Finally Raymond announced that on the Khedive's birthday it was customary for each member of his suite to make him a small gift of jewellery, and asked the manager to send for an assortment of articles appropriate to the occasion. Jewels of considerable value were brought to his room. He selected a number, and asked that they might be deposited in the hotel safe.

"When he had established confidence he requested that the jewels be sent to his room. This having been done, he gathered them together, walked out of the hotel, and took train for England. The jewels were valued at £3,000.

"In 1890 he again ventured into Birmingham and palmed off a forged bill, ostensibly signed by George Augustus Sala. He was traced to Lincolnshire and captured. On leaving jail he returned to the United States, and because of his extraordinary capacity he was appointed editor of a Philadelphia paper. In a few months, however, he was at his old tricks again.

"I Shall See Him As He Is." "He appeared in Milwaukee and Wisconsin, described himself as a colonel in the British Army and acted the part to perfection. He was taken into a leading club and feted for a week. Then it was discovered he had secured funds from almost all his newly-made acquaintances on forged checks. He was arrested and incarcerated for a month.

"A year or two later he turned up in New York, and called upon the president of Columbia University, pretending to be the professor of English literature from Oxford University. After obtaining money he called upon the president of one of the leading banks, impersonated a partner in a London banking house, talked most intelligently upon economics, and secured more cash. As a result of this adventure he was taken into custody.

"I was appealed to by his friends to see him in jail. I did so, and suggested that the only possible plea for him was one of insanity. I believed then, and I believe now, that all his have been the proper one. To my amazement he rose and was about to strike me. 'Never,' he said, 'will I leave a stigma of that kind upon my family.'

"He was convicted and imprisoned for another term, during which he served in most extraordinary fashion as the editor of the prison newspaper, writing editorials of astonishing worth. After he was liberated his health broke down, and he was finally sent to Nevada, where he died."

Raymond was attended on his deathbed by his wife. Some months ago the wife, in an interview, said, "Why have I clung to Ross all these thirty years? Because I love him. Some day, in another world, when all this insanity of sin has passed away, I shall see him as he is, a grand, big-hearted man of genius, now temporarily lost in darkness and shame."

Raymond always claimed that he was an Englishman, and the son of an army officer, living in Sussex, but his real birthplace appears to have been Beaver, Pennsylvania.

RINKS OPEN.—The Prince's Rink and the Parade Rink were both open last night, the ice was in good condition and both places were well patronized. The ice at the Curling Rink will soon be O. K.

Elizabeth. It was the first state lottery to take place in this country, and it was arranged at the express desire of the statue Queen herself for a most noble purpose. Her order ran as follows: "Her Majesty wisheth it to be intended that such profits as may arise upon the charges borne, may be converted towards the repairs of havens and ships and strength of the Realm, and such other public good works."

Rude Returns For Hospitality.

An Irishman, nursed in Italian Count's Home, Elopes With the Countess.
 Rome, January 5.—Countess Pasolini, an American, has eloped from her husband's home here with a young Irishman named Coles. It is reported, the Countess was Miss Mildred Monague, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; where she was married to the heir of an ancient Bohemian family in 1907.

The story goes that Coles, a handsome fellow, educated at Eton, came to Rome for the hunting season, and being credited by a fall in the hunting field was carried to Count Pasolini's house. There he was carefully nursed and hospitably entertained until restored to health.

Rumor says that the Countess, a beautiful woman, fond of admiration, was charmed by Coles, and returned his passion.
