You Will Agree With The President

VISITOR to Kirkman's Soap Factory asked the President why it was necessary to make such good soap for household and laundry purposes, when he could make more money by using certain inferior materials.

"The average woman wouldn't know it, anyway," the visitor said.

"Possibly the average woman wouldn't," replied the President. "We cater, however, to the intelligent women of America, and our 86 years of success have taught us that thinking women want the best. Of course it's much easier to make poor soap, but until thinking women demand it, we won't consider it.'

VOU will agree with the President-who insists not only on the absolute purity of every ingredient, but that no starch, talcum powder, water glass or any other adulteration shall ever be used in Kirkman's Soap

Remember always, there can be no better soap than Kirkman's for your household and laundry work. It is made of the purest and finest materials obtainable, and contains no lye to redden and coarsen the hands.

Without Question or Argument

Kirkman's Soap is sold to you with the distinct understanding that it satisfies YOU in every way. Your grocer will return your money without question or argument, if you are not pleased with results. You alone are the judge.

Irish Vote Assures Stable Government.

Overwhelming Victory for Ministers Sanctions Free State Rule.

(By Stephen Gwynn, in The New York Times.)

Dublin, Sept. 1 .- The Irish Government skillfully fixed the date of their general election so that the candidates were nominated just before the anniversary of Arthur Griffith's death and the polling took place immediately after the day on which Michael Collins was shot a year ago. The unveiling of the cenotaph, which commemorates the two, and the memorial processions of troops through the capital undoubtedly helped to remind the public of its duty to the cause for which they died.

President Cosgrave and his colleagues are their living representatives: they carry on the work in which Griffith and Collins were checked by sudden death, and beyond a yea or a nay the country has given them personally an emphatic vote of support. This was plain so soon as the first results came through.

Cosgrave himself, Kevin O'Higgins, General Mulcahy and Ernest Blythe were the Ministers most in the public eye and on them chiefly had fallen the hateful task of justifying the executions and the wholesale imprisonments of their opponents. Yet each of these was returned by staggering majorities, their votes being double, treble, and that of Mr. O'Higgins even less because he ran in double harness with Mr. O'Higgins.

Mr. Fitzgerald had less responsibilvoters gave their first support to the Minister who actually advised the criticised, and the fact that the actually cast. The Dublin electorate many as were needed to put him in.

Cameronia, and upon arrival was detained for three weeks at Ellis Island. The conditions Dologo Cologo as to bedding and feeding were very had. Huddled among 2,000 people mostly foreigners, and all promiscuously intermixed, she and others were forced to sleep within caged recesses like prisoners. Bad though they were, these circumstances might have been endured, but the attention and sanitary conditions were so very bad that words could scarcely describe the sufferings. The beds were entirely without mattresses or coverings, and for three weeks this young woman hever had her clothes off. The food was so had and nauseating that she you're rightfully an autocrat?
