Re-examined by Corkhill—In my opinion, at the time I knew him the prisoner was perfectly competent to distinguish between right and wrong.

J. M. Justice, a lawyer of Logansport, Ind., met the prisoner in 1878. The prisoner was selling a little book of the life of Moody.

During the examination of this witness Guiteau called him a liar.

Rev. Rush Shipper, pastor of All Souls' church, Washington, boarded in the same house and occupied a seat at the same table with the prisoner from April last until the day before the murder of the president, when he disappeared from the house. Witness had frequent conversations with the prisoner. Both had lived in Chicago, and that formed the basis of their conversations, which led to quite a familiar acquaintanceship. Prisoner was chatty and polite, a little quick or nervous in utterance, but not sufficiently so to indicate a marked peculiarity. Witness never detected anything to indicate insanity and never entertained the slightest suspicion of it in connection with the prisoner. Canadian talent, whether theological, mechanical, journalistic, or financial, is more in demand everywhere than at home. The cities of the United States swarm with Canadian mechanics and journalists who could find no proper appecia tion in their own country-we beg pardon province is the word. And it is this very provincialism, this unmanly dependence upon transatlantic thought, example and nethod, that narrows our field, dwarfs our intellect, and either crushes individuality or sends it forth to swell the forces of our rivals. Of these truths our politicians and their organs never speak. The Globe had the hardihood to deplore the comparative parrenness of the Toronto pulpit, but not the courage to indicate the real causes of the effect. The retort that its own columns displayed a similar intellectual sterility was as merited as it was well-founded. The Sun says that Dr. Carmichael will probably go to New York. The Hamilton pectator says that he will not. The Episcopalians of the ambitious city can ill spare him, and should show their gratitude for his levalty to them in a becoming character. One day we agonize over the sins, of our politicians. The next day religious revival strikes the town, and we groan over our own iniquities. To-day the ocial evil occupies our attention, although vesterday our sole object in life was the suppression of the drink evil. It is to be feared that these are evils

This new industry is a great triumpl for Sir Leonard Tilley and the national policy. Thanks to the duty on sugar that article has become so plentiful that the woods are full of it. All the honest farmer has got to do is to his axe and go out into a maple or fir bush and chop down cords of sugar. Glory to the N. P. and Sir Samuel?

Take notice that the above is not a for keeps in carnest paragraph. It is sarcasm. This is an ironical way of treating a wooden subject. We are only joking. We do so enjoy seeing jokes in the free trade papers that we make jests just for the purpose of seeing them smuggled by the free traders.

A joke in the Globe, for instance, would look like a rosebud on a cypress tree.

THE MANAGEMENT of the Toronto custom house is a proper subject for criticism i criticised in a proper spirit. But this spirit the Mail and the Globe are incapable of displaying. They would detect party politics in the Lord's prayer, if repeated by an opponent, and extract political capital from a proposition in Euclid if demonstrated by a candidate for office. The Globe must drag the personality of Mr. Patton and his assistant, Mr. Douglas, into the coal embroglio, and the tory organ must retort in kind. These personal issues are all irrelevant, and these personal criticisms purely gratuitous. The onus of any wrong that may have been done must rest upon the aw and the men responsible for the existonce of that law. Mr. Patton had no voice in the legislation complained of, and has no power to relax its requirements. Such reief must be sought at Ottawa. Mr. Patton may be more scrupulous than wise, bu being clearly within the demands of his superiors the latter are the proper parties to reckon with. It is high time that public

Of course we can understand that it is a nice thing for the holders of the real estate. WE HAVEN'T ANY SYMPATHY with the little clique of lawyer's apprentices who have formed themselves into brother Boultbee's band of hope but we believe in fair play, and when the London Advertiser insinuates that they had sense enough to vote down the assinine resolution proposed by the bumptious Ridout, on its merits, we must protest. The nursing statesmen did not have gumption enough to see that the only effect of the passage of the wordy nothing would be to set people laughing at because it was offered by a crank.

According to the vivacious Hamilton Times the people of Europe are fleeing from "sterile soil, robbery by protection tariffs that of the U.S., as we have no standing army, and as our tariff is not nearly so protective as theirs, will the Times please tell us why these fleeing people don't come here in preference to the republic ?

HISTORY!

The ETNA INSURANCE COMPANY was fully chartered May 26, 1820, to do a Fire and Life insurance business, and opened offices the same year in Montreal, and in all the leading cities of the continent, but only commenced the life insurance feature in 1850.

The ETNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY was set apart from the parent body by an Ast passed May 28, 1833, and with a specially trained corps of life body by an Ast passed May 28, 1833, and with a specially trained corps of life industriers in charge, soon took the prominent place which it holds to-day in the front rank of existing life insurance companies.

In July, 1861, was established the present MUTUAL DEPARTMENT, affording to the public all the Ennefits of Purelly MUTUAL INSURANCE without the dangers attending mutual contracts.

In February, 1866, its non-forfeitable Policies were first introduced into Canada, thus doing away with the fear of losing all the money paid if unable to keep up the policy, after two or three, or more payments made in August, 1863, the sum of $143,000 was deposited with the Dominion Government as alloge of good faith with its Canadan members.

In July, 1877, it resolved to avail itself of the new Insurance Act and annually increase this deposit, keeping always in Government hands at Ottawa enough funds to fully provide for every Canadian policy issued subsequent to March 31st, 1878, and $100,000 ever. Its Deposit is now $225,000 and about $100,000 more will be added in 1882, and more in 1883, affording such security to its Canadian patrons as few companies farmish, in any country.

4 In January 1878, the undivided surplus carned in the stock department has security to its Canadian patrons as few companies farmish, in any country.

4 In January, 1878, the undivided surplus carned in the stock department whose of the Mutual department—was found to have grown in the 23 years to 853,000. Instead of dividing this among the *tock holders to whom it belonged, the Directors resolved to add $60,000 of it to the capital, raising it to 100,000 of the merits.

In January, 1879, the assets of the Company had passed the Quarter of a Million—no, the Quarter of A Hundred Millions of Boliars! Ten years previously, in 1869, they had passed into the Ten Million space. Fifteen Millions increase in ten years shows SOLID PROGRESS.

In Becember, 1880, the Assets had grown to $26,403,440 68, notwith standing the disbursement, during the year, of $1,165,774 63 in Desth Claims upon 665 policies, and $771,468 65 in matured Endowments, and over half a million dollars in Dividends to the holders of policies in the Mutual Department.
