THE advertising merchant is the one who does the business in these days of push and enterprise. There are more newspaper readers today than ever before in the history of the world. The news-paper places your business under the eyes of the buyer. He sees what he wants or the buyer. THE musical Eckhardts gave one of their pleasing entertainments before a crowded house in the Music Hall on Saturday evening. The members of the Co. are musical artists of talent and long experience in entertaining the public, and their selections on a great variety of instruments, as well as the vocal numbers, were worthy of the appreciative applause of the large audience in attendance. As bell ringers they are not equalled by any Co. that has ever appeared here, and the program throughout gave excellent satisfaction. The entertainment was under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church, and the proceeds amounted to about seventy dollars.

THE Grand Trunk is getting its share of special trains this summer. Scarcely a day passes without one or more being handled on the middle division. Early Wednesday morning, a train composed entirely of Pullmans passed through London from Detroit to Niagara Falls. It had on board about 150 Texas bankers and their wives, who are taking a tour that includes visits to several points of interest in Canada. From the Falls the bankers will go to Toronto and Montreal. That the bankers of the Lone Star State should take a journey to Canada is an evidence of the prominence which the Dominion is attaining in all parts of the United States.

WILL INCREASE STOCK. A Prosperous Local Industry That is Rapidly Expanding.

When the Hastings Wagon and Sleigh Co. was organized a little over a year ago it was not thought that the industry would so rapidly develop into its present proportions with a certain prospect of further expansion. With a weekly out-put of a car load of wagons for the wes-tern trade and an unlimited demand for sleighs, the Co. has decided that the present facilities are inadequate for the requirements of their trade. It has been found necessary to curtail local trade to found necessary to curtail local trade to overcome this drawback the Co. propose to increase their paid up stock by a limited amount and a desirable opportunity for investment is afforded anyone looking for satisfactory and profitable returns. THE BAND.

At a meeting of the members of the Silver Band, held on Friday evening, it was decided to disband. The band boysclaim that they have not received the financial support and encouragement from the town necessary to make their organization a success. Also that several of their old members are away, and it would be necessary to break in a number ot new players.

Keeping a band together in a small town is a hard proposition and few places have been able to make it a success. It required time, patience, and self sacrifice, especially on the part of the leader. Music, instruments, uniforms, etc., cost money, and the players have to lose considerable time, both at practice and entertainments.

On the other hand it is claimed that On the other hand it is claimed that the citizens have done what could be fairly expected of them. They have erected a band stand, and contributed liberally towards the purchase of new uniforms and instruments, and the town council has given an annual grant in support of the band, and they have re-ceived their share of the civic holiday excursion proceeds. We understand the Council is favorable to continuing the grant when they are requested to do so.

The Saturday evening concerts were a source of pleasure to all, and attracted many to the town.

It is particularly unfortunate that, this year especially we should be without the

What the Press Does.

The printing press has made pres idents, killed poets, furnished bustles for beauties and supplied genius with sandpaper criticism. It has made the world get up at the roll call every morning, gives the pupil lungs of iron, and a voice of steam. It has set the price of a bushel of wheat, and made the country post office the glimmering goal of the rural scribe. It has curtailed the power of kings and broken trusts, it has converted bankers into paupers, it has educated the homeless, helped the sorrowful and robbed the philosopher of his reason. It smiles and kicks, cries and dies, but it cannot be run to suit every bady, and the editor is a fool if he

Offer Prizes

Many farmers and farm lovers are wealthy enough to encourage the growing of good, clean grain by offer-ing individual prizes for good fields to be awarded at the fall fairs. The closing with the conditions laid down by the department of agriculture for these prizes on the part of so many societies shows the need for such work. Many agricultural fairs will be unable to get a grant for the pur-pose, and here is a chance for big-hearted and progressive men to encourage farmers in the work. A prize offered for this and inserted in the county or township fair prize lists will be a move in the right direction. Toronto World.

Spray the Orchards.

The inestimable loss that accrues yearly to the farmers of our province the low quality of it and poor arrangement for distribution. cries loud for redress. To all appearance Ontario is going to have a bumper crop of apples and smaller fruits. Nature has cut off many a promising crop, but the carelessness of man has lost more to the economic world than ever came about by wind and rain. There is plenty for all if the yield is well cared for. "Unless a man will work, neither shall he eat."

This is a law of nature. Constant attention brings success. Just now it is all important to spray well. The hundred and one enemies of the orchard are thus held in check and the quality of the fruit enhanced greatly. The next spraying should be done as soon as the blossoms fall. Use the Bordeaux mixture. In case of apple trees some insecticide as paris green or arsenite of lead should be used with

Buy Hair at Auction?

The Rural Telephone.

That the rural telephone is bound to come seems reasonably certain. Across the line the farm telephone is being looked upon almost as a necessity, and in many places business men are offering the inducements of installing a phone free, to the per sons dealing with them for a stated amount. These things show what way the wind is blowing and, like all in novations in the march of progress, they are met with opposition in the very quarters that help would be expected. Men destroyed machinery upon its introduction in England. Mobs broke the printing press and the spinning jenny. Yet wages were never higher and labor more in demand than today. It is a strange fact of human frailty that progressive movements appear to many men at first sight to be monsters of wrong. progress cannot be stayed. It is as irresistible as the sea Slowly but surely, despite the petty jealousies of man, the farm telephone will be developed to a wider area of this country. In a few years, cheap useful phones will be found everywhere Some day, not far distant, extortinate rates will cease and the farm home will be the pleasantest four walls to be found in the world.

Chances Good as Ever. You can have anything you like in this life if you are ready to pay the price. There are a lot of whiners who go about complaining of luck being against them and with the other fellow. These white livered loafars have not pluck enough to take hold of a roposition, and if they do they give it only one or two tugs and quit. If you want to make your business a success you must take time from other pursuits, you must put brains into it, and above all you must with brains and hands do with your might what both find to do. There are people who expect heaven to rain down opportunities and then help them gather them into their basket. When you find a man bemoaning his fate or pointing to a successful man as a "lucky dog" put it down that he is no good. There are many chances today good. in this world for the man who is willing to pay the price, whether it be in art, literature, politics, religion or business, as ever there were.—Star.

BLOOD POISON THROUGH STOCK-ING DYE.

Curious Case at Kingston.

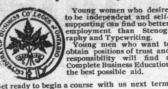

While attending to her household duties Mrs. A. Harrison, Place-de-Armes, Kingston, (Ont.), struck her ankle against a projection which inflicted a cut. She paid little attention to the wound at the time, but in a few days it became swollen and very painful. A medical man was consulted, and it was then found that the dive from her stocking had got that the dye from her stocking had got into the wound and set up blood poison. Then began a trying period of pain, which, had it not been for Zam-Buk, might not even yet have been ended.

Mrs. Harrison says: "The doctor ordered certain treatment, which I followed ed certain treatment, which I followed out; but the wound got no better, and refused to heal. It was most painful, and sometimes I could hardly bear to walk. I was almost in despair when a friend advised ime to try Zam-Buk. It soon reduced the swelling and inflammation, and the pain—so acute before—got less and less until the ankle was quite easy. Then the wound began to heal, and a little more perseverance resulted in a complete cure." Zam-Buk draws the pain and the poison from a wound at the same time. It heals from a wound at the same time. It heals from a wound at the same time. It heals ulcers, chafing sores, sore feet, bad legs, and varicose ulcers. It cures insect stings, sun-burn, summer rashes, and heat spots; while as a cure for chronic wounds, eczema, prairie itch, ringworm, scalp sores, and sores due to blood poison, it is absolutely without equal. All stores and druggists sell at fifty cents, or postfree from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price,

The Chosen Friends.

Toronto, June 6.—The Canadian Order of Chosen Friends wound up its annual convention today by the election of the following officers: Grand councillor, E. T. Essery, London, re-elected; grand vice-councillor, Alexander Morris, Hamilton: grand registrar W. F. Montague service was led by the President, Miss F. B. Rawlings, Forest.

At 2.30 reports were read by the representatives of the year's work.

Then Miss Jennie Smith, of Forest, gave a very inferesting address on Mission Work in the Northwest. Following this Miss Grintop, of Embro, spoke on "A Model Auxiliary," discussing pledged work as compared to special work.

The evening session opened at 8 o'clock Rev. J. P. Gerrie presiding. Miss Caunon, of London, gave a most interesting address on the Young People's Forward Movement. Rev. W. D. Spence, of Embro, and D. S Hamilton, of London, gave animated addresses on the Northwest pointing out the opportunities that

"I tell you, Sir, I know Bu-Ju' will cure you."

"I have seen hundreds of cases treated by 'Bu-Ju' and CURED-after all other treatment had been a complete failure.

I know of acute attacks of Bright's Disease, successfully overcome by 'Bu-Ju'-and the diseased kidneys completely

I am acquainted with men, who were all crippled up with Rheumatism and suffered agony with the pain. To-day, they are well and happy—thanks to 'Bu-Ju.'

I know of women-whose kidneys were weakened by childbirth-who regained their former robust health with no other medicine than 'Bu-Ju.'

I know that 'Bu-Ju' will do you good-will make you feel better-and will cure you of Kidney and Bladder Troubleand Rheumatism.

If your hands and feet are swollen-if there is a constant desire to urinate-if there is pain in the back and through the hips-if the bowels are constipated-stomach upset-I tell you right now to take 'Bu-Ju.'

They are guaranteed to cure you. If they don't, you can get your money back."

Jacques' Body Found.

At the time of the wreck of the steamer Monarch on Isle Royale last December, one member of the crew, James Jacques, watchman, was drowned by losing his hold on the rope while trying to pass from the vessel to the shore, and the body was not recovered. Last week the refrom the vessel to the shore, and the body was not recovered. Last week the remains of the drowned man were found on the beach of Isle Royale about two miles from the scene of the wreck at Black Point. The body had evidently been frozen in the ice all winter. The remains were buried at Isle Royale. Jacques was an unmarried man, and his family live in the Township of Dawn, near Oil Springs.

When I began giving him the Tablets he was so thin and wasted that he looked like a skeleton. His digestion was poor; he was constipated and cried day and night. I got a box of Baby's Own Tablets and from the first they did him a great deal of good. His food digested better; his bowels worked regularly; his sleep was natural; he stopped crying and began to grow fat. I got another box and am happy to say before they were all used he was in perfect health and is now a plump rugged child. I always keep a box of Tablets in the house and would advise other mothers to do the same." Ontario Wheat.

About the poorest economy our farmers can practice is to give up raising their own wheat, and to spend their money for Manitoba flour. It is downright extravagant, for they lose money both ways. In the first place, there is a steadily growing demand for blended flours, which are milled of Ontario wheat and Manitoba wheat.

No flour, milled of a single kind of wheat can be as good as a blended flour. For instance, Ontario wheat lacks strength, although it makes very fine, white bread and light pastry. Manitoba wheat makes a big loat that is very nutritious, but the bread is coarse and yellow. But a blended flour—containing both Ontario and Manitoba wheat—supplies what each single kind of wheat lacks, and contains the good qualities of both.

Then look at it another way. If our ties of both.

Then, look at it another way. If our own farmers buy Manitoba flour, they are making another province rich at the expense of our own. The money which they earn in Ontario, is turned over to the farmers and millere of Manitoba.

What all our farmers and what all our housewives, should do, is to get together on this flour question. Every farmer in Ontario should raise winter wheat—as big a crop as his farm will justify. He should not only raise Ontario wheat, but he should also make it a point to buy a blended flour, not only raise Ontario wheat, but he should also make it a point to buy a blended flour, made of this same home-grown wheat.

The money is made here—the money should be spent here and kept here.

Our women-folk can help this cause along by using a blended flour for all their baking. The more they use, the greater will be the demand for Ontario wheat. As this increases, naturally the farmers will go in more for wheat. Everybody will thus share in the rejuvenation of a failing industry, and rejoice in the greater prosperity of our farming population.

Doleful Days.

"it is the last time this year that I am going to change my heavy shirt, thinking that the fine weather has come," said Professor Charles Hunt, the fence builder up the way of Cherry's Creek, in York Township. It seems that Mr. Hunt has on at least three occasions got into lighter clothing for bis winter outfit. He did it on Sunday, and started out on Monday, but the east wind blew all day and he had to wear his mits part of the time as he worked the posthole auger; and yesterday he wore his winter cap at the same job.

"Never was there such another spring of cold weather, the crops held back, and the little children going to school in June (ou the 11th) in their red darned toques." An Irishman to whom this remark was made replied: "All I can say is that last year everything was far farder forrader than this one."

"You can put this down for this season," said the mayor of Wexford, "that no one said the mayor of Wextord, 'that no one has got a head of anyone else in early potatoes. Everyone's even; the man that planted three weeks ago is as far ahead as the man who planted five or six weeks ago all of them are just coming through the ground at about the same time. The backward season has given every son of a gun the same deal." "And everyone the sciatics and rhenmatism," said Mr. Hunt.

All over the country the stoves in the houses are burning these nights to keep the immates warm; everyone sleeps under heavy blankets. Each day sees the farmer survey the outlook with growing gloom.
There is an altogether un Canadian and uncanny look to things, and great bare spots abound in the clayed field. There is no sign of hay—only grass, at best, in lhe meadows; and the lilacs that tried to bloom meadows; and the lilass that tried to bloom have given up the effort. Only the apple trees are in a glorious bloom.

"Then perhaps it will be a good year for cider," said the mayor of Wexford, who always takes a hopeful view of things.

"I'd wear my mitts all summer if I thought there'd be lots of hard cider next winter," was the closing reply of Professor Hunt.—World.

LACROSSE.

The first lacrosse match ever witnessed in Watford was played on the Driving Park Monday evening, between Petrolia and the recently organized local team. A fair crowd took in the game. Considering their inexperience and lack of practice the Watford twelve made a creditable showing against the Petrolea team, one of the oldest and strongest in the west. As the season advances they will improve. The crowd appeared to enjoy the game and it is likely to become popular.

Several of the players showed lack of retaining, exhausting their supply of ozone early in the game. The last half saw some fast plays, and clever passing. Strathroy is billed to play here this (Thursday) evening.

The line-up:
Watford—Chatterson, goal; Willoughby, point; L. Dodds, cover point; L. Dodds, serond home; Perguson, third home; W. Johnston, centre; P. Dodds, first defence; Anderson, second defence; Taylor, third defence; A. Johnston, outside home; Stapleford, inside home.

The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it "is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation."

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly re-edited in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future as in the past it will be the source of constant reference.

Fifty Years In The Ministry.

"The grand old man" of London Methodist conference is Dr. Alex, Langford, of Stratford, who a few months ago celebrated the fiftieth annitersary of his entry into the work of the ministry, and who now retires to the position of a sup-erannuated minister, crowned with years, of successful toil and atanding high in the esteem of his colleagues

Dr. Langford is a man who has defeated prophecy. When he went on his first circuit at Belmont a few miles from Loncircuit at Belmont a few miles from London, in the year 1856, it was a rather general opinion that if he lived more than three or four years he would do well. At the end of a year he was put on what was known as the Warwick mission, which comprised about twenty preaching points and extended over half of the County of Lambton. Over this Dr. Langford rode on horseback through the woods and muddy roads—for Lambton still has a reputation for mud, and perhaps it was the very hardship—at any rate, he didn't die, as friends predicted, but, if anything, grew stronger.

"Those were days of hardship," he says, "of a very real kind, but in all my fifty years I have had no years which brought so much into my life as those on the Warwick mission."

When a man has labored for fifty years most people would concede that he has

When a man has labored for fifty years most people would concede that he has done well, and in Dr. Langford's case this will be universally admitted. That the years yet remainins to him may be as happy as any in the past will be the hearty wish of not only the members of London conference, but of the thousands throughout Western Ontario who know the man, his work and his worth.

FOR BETTER TEACHERS.

Old Third Class Certificates to be Abolished-Summer Schools and Institutes.

The Provincial Government proposes to establish in every county a Teachers' Institute, which will meet for a few days in September of each year. All teachers will be asked to attend these institutes, which will be conducted on professional lines by professional men from the staffs of the new Normal Schools.

Third-class certificates are to be abandoned and teachers holding these qualifications are to be given opportunity to secure advanced certificates by an examination divided into four annual parts.

Such was the pronouncement of Dr. John Seath, speaking officially on behalf of the Minister of Education, to the of the Minister of Education, to the gathering of York county teachers in the Normal School auditorium.

"The aim of the Department is to increase the salary and improve the condition of the teacher, particuiarly the public school teacher," said Dr. Seath, "It is felt that for the past ten or fifteen years this subject has not had sufficient attention. We desire to improve the qualification and the salary. The compulsory feature of the minimum salary has been abandoned for inducement, and has been abandoned for inducement, and I may tell you that the Minister has fur-ther in contemplation special recognition to schools who are paying their teachers well.

"Summer schools are to be held from time to time," continued the Superintendent, "and following the establishment of the new Normal Schools, it is proposed to establish Teachers' Institutes in every county in which professional work will be conducted by men of experience. Provision will be made for the teachers to attend these institutes for some days in Septembe."

CHECKS IT HAS RECEIVED AT THE HANDS OF THE COMMONS.

The Long Parliament Put the Peers Out of Business Altogether For a Number of Years - Bolingbroke' Way With the Noble Lords.

There is an idea in the minds of very many persons that the British house o lords is supreme and can do pretty well what it pleases. This, however, is a mistake. On several notable occusions their noble lordships have been paralyzed and have got very much the worst of it in stormy arguments with the gentlemen of the house of com-

The first occasion on which this happened was when the peers ventured to differ with the long parliament, which was at the time engaged in a life and death struggle with Charles I. The commons on this occasion wasted no waluable time in talking, but promptly abolished the lords altogether and turned them, archbishops, dukes, belted earls and all the rest of the gorgeous coroneted crowd. into the street. The gilded chamber was vacant.

For half a dozen years or so the country got on without any house of

All the checks the house of lords have received have not been of such a drastic nature as this, of course.

Various ministries, finding that the peers were unwilling to pass their proposed bills, have resorted to the threat to create enough new peers to swamp the house of lords. These new peers would, of course, have been pledged beforehand to vote for the ministry

To effect this purpose he had drawn up the treaty of Utrecht. It was neces-sary at that time that lords and commons should agree to a treaty before at would become valid. The commons assented to the treaty, but the lords declared that they would have none of it and that the war must go on, whereupon Bolingbroke coolly but firmly informed them that, rather than see himself defied by them, he would create a whole army of new peers to wote for the treaty.

The story goes that he had a regiment of the Life guards paraded under the windows of the house of lords and threatened to make every trooper into a noble lord if driven to it. He did make twelve new peers, and then the lords gave in.

The Liberal government of 1832, with Earl Grey as prime minister, used the same threat. They wished to pass the first reform bill. The lords hated this bill bitterly. Until then they had been practically an oligarchy, with all the real power in their hands. The franchise had been so limited that only rich men, and gen erally only the nominee of some great nobleman, could get into parliament. The reform bill altered that. It gave the smaller men a chance. The lords expressed their deliberate intention of wrecking the bill.

Earl Grey retorted by extorting from King William IV.-who dida't like reform bills, but dared not oppose the wish of the nation for fear of a revolution-permission to call up to the house of lords as many new peers as should be necessary to carry his bill.

The mere threat was enough for the fords. They had no wish to see their order made cheap and ridiculous, as would have been the case had peers become as plentiful as blackberries.

It used to be the custom in the Brit-ish army for all officers' commissions to be purchased. That is, an officer, instead of getting into the army by means of a competitive examination and rising by merit, came straight from school, without knowing anything of the new duties he was about to assume, and had a commission bought for him. After that, instead of being promoted as a reward for his services, he used to buy each promotion.

If he had no money his chances of being promoted were about a thousand to one. The result was that officers who had grown gray in the service and fought in many battles remained subordinates all their lives, while the sons of wealthy families who had not seen a quarter of their service jumped over their heads by having their way pur-chased up for them to be colonels and generals.

Mr. Gladstone decided to do away with this purchase system. The lords did not wish it to be abolished. Consequently, when Mr. Gladstone introduced a bill to abolish purchase in the army the house of lords was not disposed to give it a kind reception.

They threw out the bill and imagined that they had won a glorious victory. But Mr. Gladstone found that Queen Victoria had the power to abolish purchase in the army by her own act if she pleased. He induced the queen to do this by means of a royal warrant.

And the house of lords could no more interfere with a royal warrant than they could knock the dome off St. Paul's by throwing their coronets at it. -Pearson's London Weekly.

Man and Woman.

"Man, composed of clay, is silent and ponderous," preached Jean Raulin in the fifteenth century, "but woman gives evidence of her osseous origin by the rattle she keeps up. Move a sack of earth and it makes no noise; touch a bag of bones and you are deafened with the clitter clatter." - London

mous Institution. The Almanach de Gotha is more than an almanac. It is an institution. Bravely arrayed in red and gold, it lies on the table of every diplomatist, is in constant request in the newspaper offices of all countries and makes a wider and more international appeal than any other annual of reference in the world. It is to Europe what Burke and De-brett and the other peerages are to the British isles, and it is also the lineal ancestor and model of such topical encyclopedias as our Whittaker, our Hazell and our Statesman's Yearbook. A political and social history of the world for the last 150 years could be written from its back numbers if these were readily accessible to students. But they are not. The Almanach de Gotha began to appear in 1763, but the purchasers did not file it for reference. The earliest numbers in the British museum are those for 1774 and 1783, and a complete set can be rial office in Friedrich's Allee in the little Thuringian capital. Probably not one in ten thousand of those who currently use the almanac has any knowledge of its interesting history.

It had of course its predecessors. The bibliographies of almanacs are ponderous tomes, and the middle of the eighteenth century was the golden age of this kind of literature. In Paris alone as many as seventy-three almanacs were published in the year 1760, including a royal almanac, an almanac for merchants, an almanac for Freemasons, an almanac of beasts, an almanac of badinage, etc. The city of Gotha itself had its own almanac from a still earlier date in the shape of an "improved Gotha genealogical and writing calendar," the origin of which is lost in the mist of antiquity, though a copy dated 1740 survives .- Francis

THE BEST ADVICE IS FREE

Of all the diseases known, with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal, and statistics show that this disease is on the increase and is the only medicine especially prepared for this purpose.

Unless early and correct treatment is applied the patient seldom survives when once the disease is fastened upon her. We believe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most efficient treatment for chronic kidney troubles of women, and is the only medicine especially prepared for this purpose.

When a woman is troubled with pain or weight in loins, backache, frequent, painful or scalding urination, swelling of limbs or feet, swelling under the eyes, an uneasy, tired feeling in the region of the kidneys or notices a sediment in the urine, she should lose no time in commencing treatment with I wide E. For proof, read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs.

Sawyer.

"I cannot express the terrible suffering 1 had to endure. A derangement of the female organs developed nervous prostration and a serious kidney trouble. The doctor attended me for a year, but I kept getting worse, until I was unable to do anything, and I made up my mind I could not live. I finally decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a last resort, and I am to-day a well woman. I cannot praise it too highly, and I tell every suffering woman about my case." Mrs. Emma Sawyer, Conyers, Ga.

"As is known" to many of the Star readers, Mr. Harris that recovered from a long and severe lithess, and is now quite able to attend his issuar duties. From this long, illness, many predicted Mr. Harris would never recover, and the fact that he is once more able to go around very nearly as spry, as he did, before he was attacked is little less than marvelious to them.

In reply to our reporters Mr. Harris related the early stages of the attack and subsequent suffering subject he experienced, and while he did not, ours, publicity, decided that in the public interest, he would relate the circumstances of this wonderful circ. LAMBTON COUNTY COUNCIL.

Next to a long spell of sickness there is nothing a county councillor likes bet-ter than spending money. When His Honor, Judge McWatt bought a type-writer and the county council had to pay writer and the county council had to pay for it the payment was made the subject of the most exciting debate of the year. The idea of spending over a hundred dol-lars for one little new-fangled writing machine was incomprehensible. This session there is another disputed payment. A farmer named Campbell lives just at the edge of Lambton County and the rood which forms the boundary and the road which forms the boundary between Middlesex and Lambton crosses a creek and finally ends at his farm. He wants a bridge built across the creek and he wants it paid for by the county council of Lambton, and the county council of Middlesex. The county council of Middlesex. The county councillors naturally hate to see nearly two thousand dollars spent on a bridge to serve one solitary farmer but being on the county line, the farmer has all the law in Canada on his side and he wants the bridge, The county councillors interviewed the solicitor and were told that the bridge would have to be built if Campbell said so. They interviewed Campbell and he emphatically said so, very much so. They pointed out that he had a good road by going back through his own farm; and that the new bridge would cost almost as much as his whole outfit was worth; they and the road which forms the boundary offered to buy his entire farm it necessary.

But Campbell knows his rights, and sticks out for the bridge, the whole bridge and nothing but the bridge, and it will be among the appropriations reluctantly recommended at the meeting of the county council now in session.

commended at the meeting of the county council now in session.

The June session commenced on Monday, with no very important business on the slate. Some of the county officials dreasking for an increase of salary, and some new bridges have to be built; a lot of routine business must be done, but settling sensational need be looked for of routine business must be done, but nothing sensational need be looked for. There is some talk of making Saruia pay a larger share of the county taxes, on account of her large asseasment, but it is not likely that anything will be done just Next Thursday all the members will go on their annual excursion to Detroit, which is an annual feature with the county council.-Canadian.

General Sessions.

The June sittings of the County Court and General Sessions were held at the Court House on Tuesday before Judge McWatt, opening at one o'clock. There being no jury cases, the Sheriff had, according to the statute in that behalf, notified the members of the juries not to attend: but of the forty-nine jurymen on the panels of the Grand and Petit Juries, three appeared and answered to their names. There was only one County Court case, Webb vs. Webb, an action for damages for alleged breach of lease of a tarm; in Enniskillen, and this was by consent of both parties enlarged until Wednesday, 26th, inst., at 10 o'clock at the Court House, before Judge McWatt, Several aliens were naturalized, and the constables appointed in chambers during the half year were confirmed by the Court, which closed the business of the session. The sittings established a record in the way of quick despatch. The in the way of quick despatch. The whole proceedings were over and the Court had risen inside of twenty minutes from the time of opening.
