REV. W. J. McKENZIE,

·Lately of Baltimore and Coldsprings.

In the report of the proceedings of the Presbytery of Cobourg will be found a full account of the dealings of that Court with Mr. McKenzie, which ended in his separation from the Church. The only thing of importance not contained in that account is the elaborate statement of certain "great Scriptural principles," which Mr. McK. alleges are ignored by the Canada Presbyterian Church both in theory and practice. Those acquainted with Mr. McK. are fully aware that he has ever been an earnest maintainer of the Establishment principle, and a declared opponent of Voluntaryism; it was also well known that his views in politics were highly Conservative, and that he avowed his opposition to Democracy. How far these long-cherished opinions may have unconsciously swayed Mr. McK. it is impossible to say, but they certainly led him to frequent the society of clergymen and gentlemen of the Church of England who held these opinions, and prevented the cordial interchange of sentiment with brethren who were not so decidedly Conservative. That the dread of the disorganizing and revolutionary tendencies of the Reform principles in the Church should have led Mr. McK., as it did Dr. Newman, to seek for some safeguard against them, is probable. He as much as stated this when he said that he regarded the neglect of the Scriptural ordinance of Prelatic ordination to be the source of very many evils under which the Church is suffering. It would, therefore, not have been surprising had Mr. McK. left this, his com munion, on the ground that the Presbyterian Church is a Sect, guilty of schism by remaining out of the true Church. This result, indeed, he has reached, but by quite a different method.

It is twenty-five years since Messrs. Leach and Ritchie were deposed by the Presbytery of Toronto, and went over to the Episcopal Church. On that occasion Mr. Leach declared: "It was not until lately that I was called to devote any time to the important question of Church government"; and Dr. Scadding, in his Review of the life of the late Bishop Strachan, gives us to understand that he threw off all his Presbyterian convictions and opinions as soon as the Historical argument for Episcopacy was set before him. Both these gentlemen would have us believe that it is mere ignorance of the facts of history and of the arguments regarding Church government that keeps men Presbyterians. Mr. McK., however. could make no such statement. He had many years ago lectured on some of the points involved, while treating of the history of the Culdees, and he had preached on the "good old paths." When, therefore, we find Mr. McK, recanting, and, on account of change in his views, leaving the Church in which he has ministered for eighteen years, we are naturally curious to know what led him to take that step. And here let it be stated once for all, that everything which has transpired forbids the supposition that he has been actuated by unworthy or mercenary motives. However we may regard Mr. McK's, opinions and action, we cannot but express our belief that he has followed the dictates of his conscience, and has acted honor-

The statement of principles, which occupied more than an hour in reading, was intended by Mr. McK. to indicate the way in which he was led to entertain his present opinions, and certainly it throws light on the subject. It is impossible in a few sentences to give these principles as enunciated by Mr. McK., but the gist of them seems to be as follows:-The main question may be stated as this, "Have we now, under the Gospel dispensation, a temple, a priest, sacrifices, or have we not?" There is such a thing now as dedication to God, or relative holiness. something from us still to shew our love. This we set apart, give, dedicate, or sanctify; it thus becomes holy. The mode of dedicating is various, as laying on of hands, washing, sprinkling, anointing, both and marriage (1 Cor. 7, 14), bringing to God's house, the word and prayer (as food), walking round, putting into the treasury, laying on the altar or on the Lord's table. Or holiness may be imparted through the special claim of God (as the Sabbath, Mt. Moriah, &c.), to which man responds: "Such offerings are sacrifices; persons (Rom. 12, 1) are holy people or saints; the Sanctuary is a holy place; the land is holy; houses, fields, lands, money are holy (Phil. 4-18, Heb. 13-15, 16). It is absurd to say that there is no real sacrifice. This property thus become God's, is subject to the rules of justice which obtain between man and man-exclusively God's; consecration is co-extensive with the donor's right in the case of land from surface To use a house of worship for any other purto the centre of the earth. pose is sacrilege. Dedicated persons may not do anything besides the service of God, wholly and forever holy to God. Things and persons may be hallowed temporarily and for a special purpose, so the Burning Bush, the Mount of Transfiguration, Joseph's Sepulchre, the Upper Room, the Nazarite, were holy. The tribe of Levi lost its holiness when the priesthood was changed. Churches when of no use should be destroyed or remain as a beautiful ruin. Holy things may be alienated in cases of necessity, as the Shew-bread given to David and the Sabbath. Some dedicated persons and things may be redeemed by giving to God an equivalent; if not redeemed they are bound to God's service. Persons and things have degrees of holiness in proportion to their nearness to God; e.g. we find a progress from the holy Jew to the holier Levite, and Priest, and the holiest High priest; from the holy Land to the holier City, Temple, Outer courts, Inner court, Holy place and Holy of Holies. So in the New Testament sanc. tified food is holy, but the bread and wine of the Lord's table are holier. The child of Christian parents is born holy, is made holier by Baptism, holier still by the Lord's supper, and if Ordained obtains a still higher degree of This holiness makes no change in the substance of the holy person or thing, only of its relation. Simon Magus, tho' baptised and relatively holy, resisted the grace conveyed in the Sacrament. Judas Iscariot was, and ungodly ministers are, notwithstanding, relatively holy. accepts things thus dedicated if in accordance with his will. If the required condition be wanting, he refuses the gift. The person or thing that consecrates is greater than the person or thing consecrated. Authority to consecrate belongs naturally to the father and descends to the first-born. Patriarchs were the appointed consecrators till the tribe of Levi took the place of the first-born. Job, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Melchisedec are instances The laying on of hands is always the act of a superior; as (Num. 9) where the chiefs or elders of the congregation transferred the paternal authority to the tribe of Levi; Moses consecrated Aaron, and Samuel David. temple which is consecrated is greater than the gift." To employ a holy or consecrated thing for common or secular purposes is a great sin, against which God warns us both by denunciations of wrath and solemn punishments."

Such is a summary of the principles enunciated by Mr. McKenzie. They appeared to him to be new, and to have been completely ignored by the founders of the Presbyterian Church. The fact is, that the New Testament has completely settled the question. There it is affirmed that in these days of a Spiritual Dispensation, not at Jerusalem or on Mount Gerizim is God to be worshipped. Now there is neither Jew nor Greek; both are alike holy if in Christ, and unholy if out of Christ. the ordinances out of the way, nailing them to His cross. There are no holy Symbolic things nor places, but New Testament worship must be "in spirit and in truth"; that is, not outward but spiritual, not by symbols but in The veil is done away in Christ. These holy things were the shadow, which disappears when the substance comes. Mr. McK's. principles are those of the Judaizers, against whom Paul contended, and which the Council of Jerusalem condemned; they are a returning to the weak and beggarly elements of Judaism, a maintaining of carnal ordinances beyond the time for which they were imposed. To one, however, who holds these principles the outward form is essential. The shell becomes, in his view, as important as the kernel. This is the essence of Ritualism, symbolism in worship. According to these principles, Mr.McK. cannot but desiderate some earthly dwelling-place for God, made with hands, where he can be met with; Immanuel is not to him that temple, that mercy-seat, that meetingplace; believers are not the temple of God, in whom he dwells by the Spirit, given by our ascended Lord. There must be an Altar, a fourlegged table to consecrate the money of the offertory, and the elements of bread and wine. The altar of Hebrews XIII., 10 is not sufficient. There must be a Priest in robes to mediate between God and man; the Great High Priest who has passed into the heavens is not near enough. an one does not believe that Christians are made priests in Jesus, and have direct access to God. And must there be a sacrifice? Yes: we are told, a real sacrifice, but bloodless! And what next?

The figment of Apostolic succession we need not re-argue. The chain cannot be established, and if it could, it would be worthless. But it is instructive to observe how, when any one overlooks the Spiritual nature of Gospel worship and Gospel ordinances, he is inevitably borne away with Newman and the Wilberforces by the tide of ceremonial and symbolism. till he is sucked down in the vortex of Popish errors and Formalism. There is no Via Media. Either we must worship "in spirit and reality," without making forms essential (however desirable), and without symbols, or give up the glorious realities of a Finished Atonement and Justification by faith alone; of an ascended high Priest, by whom we draw near to God without a human priesthood; of an in-dwelling Spirit present with the Church, not outwardly and carnally, but inwardly; not by water and bread and wine, but by faith. The question of an order of ministers superior to Presbyters has been long ago settled to the satisfaction of all—even the better class of Episcopalians—who take the Bible alone as their guide. This all true Protestants do. Others who rest on the proof furnished by the Apostolic Fathers to help out God's word, may, if they choose, leave the sunlight of heaven for the gloom of human authority; but they need not be suprised if we refuse to follow them, and smile at the folly and conscious weakness through which they are brought to give up the Bible alone.

THE TRUTH AND THE LIFE.

THE FULNESS OF CHRIST.

"For it pleased the Father that in Him should all fulness dwell." * The truths of revelation may be considered either as these existed in the Divine counsels from eternity; or as they were gradually evolved in the history of redemption from the creation and apostasy of man on to the Incarnation, the Cross and the Resurrection; or lastly, as they are incorporated in the belief, experience and practice of Christians. these methods is essential to the systematic teaching of theology—wherein the truths of revelation are arranged and classified, with a view to the purpose of God's love as the grand underlying truth which gives harmony to the The second method is that best adapted for pulpit ministrations, which takes the truths as they lie in the Word, not in the logical order of a fixed system; and yet not without method and order, but touching at a thousand vital points the whole range of divine truth, and all finding their centre in the love of God in Christ Jesus. The third method is that generally pursued in books which treat of vital godliness or personal religion. It however has this disadvantage, that in treating of a change of heart, consecration to God, and the performance of duties; or in describing the believer's hopes, and fears, and feelings, and determinations, we are apt to lose sight of Him whom to know is life eternal. It is only when the free grace of God in the redemption of our world through our Lord Jesus Christ is kept before our minds, as the beginning and the end of our confidence, that peace is shed into the heart, and the sacred fire is supplied which kindles to purity and love, and which furnishes the strongest motive to holy living. The cross of Calvary not only pours glory on the Divine nature and perfections, but it is the very life of the believer's life—and by bringing it to bear upon every act and duty of ordinary life, it secures not only select moments of communion with God, but sanctifies the homeliest acts of common life, and intensifies and quickens every other motive to a life of exalted piety. Avoiding on the one hand the mere moral essay so much in fashion some half century ago, and on the other the mere stirring appeal, which makes impressions, but falls to give direction, we purpose, however humbly and defectively, to preach the great doctrines of the cross in their bearings on Christian duty—by which we mean sanctity of life and character, and a growing conformity to the image of our Lord Jesus.

It is impossible to express in words the necessities of a single human soul. Being created, we are left in a state of absolute dependence, and must be sustained by a power beyond and above ourselves—nor can the lapse of ages alter this necessary condition of our existence. To this we must add the truth attested by God's word, and conformed by all experience—our sinfulness—our corruption—our alienation from God. Men dream of being rich and increased in goods, but when they awake at the call of Christ, their draam is dispelled, and they find themselves poor, and wretched, and miserable, and blind, and naked. To the sinner in his now awakened sense of deep, urgent need, how gracious the voice of infinite love which proclaims that it hath pleased the Father that in Christ should all fulness dwell.

The object of this Epistle is to warn the church in Colosse against pretentious philosophy and pharasaic Judaism; but in doing this the Apostle dwells with wide and joyous freedom on the Supreme glory and Godhead of the Saviour; he expatiates on his official relations and his glorious work as the Saviour of the sinful and lost. Redemption through the blood of Christ, even the forgiveness of sins according to the riches of Divine grace, and translation from a state of alienation into a state of acceptance in and through Christ are his grand themes. And then he warmly and affectionately exhorts the Colossians to maintain an enlightened and unwavering attachment to their faith, and to watch with holy vigilance lest any man should spoil them through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world and not after Christ. declaration of the text occupies a central position in the doctrinal part of this Epistle-and traces all blessings to the love of the Father as their ultimate source, while it presents Christ in his indissoluble relation to the redeemed, as the immutable fountain and spring of life, in whom according to the Father's good pleasure al! fulness dwells.

In considering this fulness, we call attention first of all to the Deity of the Saviour, the fact of Christ being essentially one with the Father in nature and glory—the very fulness of the Godhead dwells substantially and unchangeably in Him. This is emphatically expressed in the next "In him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily." chapter, (v. 9). This does not express something derived and superadded to a merely human being, it is not a flowing in of the Divine element into the human Jesus is not simply a deified man. All this comes infinitely short of the bodily or substantial fulness of the Godhead. The idea is the union of the Divine and the human in the person of Christ constituting Him both perfect God and perfect man—involving a pre-existent Divine nature, which has taken humanity into mysterious union with itself, and in which is included every property common to our humanity, and every attribute, perfection and excellence which belongs to the one self-existent and This fulness is essential and underived, and therefore eternal God. something of which it cannot be said that "it hath pleased the Father that in Him should all fulness dwell." Yet it is this glorious constitution and character of the Son of God which qualifies Him to be the Head and Fountain of life to His people, and is therefore the proper foundation of the fulness of my text.

Again, there is a fulness in Christ as Mediator, consisting in his perfect titness to accomplish the work, which He came into the world to do. is not only the Son of God in his true and proper Godhead, He is also Son of Man in his true human personality, and in this indissoluble union of the Divine and human consists the completeness of qualification as the His anointing consists in the indwelling of the Spirit ' anointed One. bestowed not by measure—and marks his consecration and endowment for the special service which He came to render in the salvation of His people. Being man He had a body to offer in sacrifice; being a perfectly holy man, He was such an High Priest as became us, holy, harmless, undefiled and separate from sinners. Being God, He received the Spirit without measure, so as to be empowered for the execution of all Divine operations. He who can hold all the Spirit's fulness, must be a partaker of the Spirit's infinitude. In the plenitude of this grace, He finished the work given Him to do for his people, paying to the full the debt due to the justice of God, being a faithful High Priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of his people.

The Spirit was bestowed on Christ without measure, and so having finished the work given Him to do for His people, He obtains the same Spirit in measure for them. God establishes his people in Christ, and anoints them so that they receive from Christ the same anointing according to their capacity and need. Here then is the distributive fulness, which according to the pleasure of the Father dwells in Christ, out of which His people receive grace for grace. Jesus Himself the living One, died in the room of others, that He might communicate to them the life that is in Himself. When to the glorious properties of His person, and the faultless excellencies of His life, and the infinite virtue of His atonement, we add the provision made for the communication of spiritual life to the souls of men in the perfection of Christ's Mediatorial power, we see that there is everything necessary to render Him the Saviour of the lost. The fulness of Christ corresponds to the emptiness of men, and the prerogative is His to apply the benefits of His finished work. The Son quickeneth whom He will, for the Father hath committed all judgment to the Son. It is the prerogative of the risen Saviour to send forth the Holy Spirit by whom the gospel call is made effectual, that is men are made responsive to that call, and participants of the benefits secured for them by Christ's obedience unto death. This was the joy set before Him for which He endured the cross, despising the shame. There is treasured up in Christ infinite fulness of convincing and converting grace, by which souls are gathered into the redeemed family, translated out of the Kingdom of darkness into the Kingdom of God. Of the things of Christ which the Spirit of Christ applies saving purposes, we may mention the following :-

I. Fulness of justifying grace.

Justification is a judicial act of God, springing from grace, by which the sinner is not only acquitted, but accepted, and that on the ground of Christ's righteousness imputed to us of God. This righteousness is the meritorious obedience and satisfaction to the demands of the law rendered by Christ, and which meets all the exigencies of the case. "He was made under the law," that is subject to its claims after we had violated it, that by satisfying these claims "He might redeem us who were under the law." He gave Himself for us that he might redeem us, and the claims of the law are so satisfied, its curse is so exhausted that Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth. This righteousness is called the righteousness of God, and is therefore infinite, possessed especially of this wonderful property, that it is bestowed whole and undivided upon each believer, without in the least affecting its availableness to others. The imputation of this righteousness does not imply the infusion of it, or the transference of it, so that it becomes ours as our own physical or moral qualities are ours; but it is reckoned to our account, and we are dealt with accordingly. It is not that the believer is made in him self innocent, for all have sinned. To condemn is not to make a man guilty, but to declare him guilty; so to justify is just the opposite of this; it is to acquit, to absolve. The Apostle expresses it when he says, "There is no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus;" and again, when he demands "Who shall lay anything to the charge of God's elect." So that believers are completely acquitted, actually released from the guilt and consequences of sin, and admitted to the favour of God as righteous, on the ground of the righteousness of Christ.

It is to to this fulness that pe ishing men must be directed. In vain we tell them to repent, to reform, to pray to God, to give their hearts to God; unless we direct them to the love that God hath to us, to the fulness that there is in Christ as a living and loving Saviour able to save to the uttermost. Here and here only is it to be found the spring and principle of repentance, love, and evangelical obedience.

2. Fulness of grace and life for the renewal of the soul in the Divine image.

Jesus Christ in receiving gifts for men, received the Holy Spirit, by whose agency His people are sanctified. The believer is not only legally acquitted—provision is made for a real, inward, and entire change, for the expulsion and destruction of the dire root of evil-sin. At conversion the Divine Spirit touches the human Spirit, and the touch is almighty A divine and spiritual vitality is breathed into the soul, which evinces its presence by corresponding spiritual actings, and this good work is carried on by the same almighty power till the day of redemption. To leave the work unfinished would be to mar the glory of Christ. To the operations of the Spirit in the soul are to be ascribed all the gifts and graces which distinguish the character, and adorn the life of the believer. True there is now the infusion of holiness, and these graces are the believer's in possession and exercise; but as to efficacious working they are the Spirit's.

The must be borne in mind that there is no promise of the sanctifying Spirit apart from Christ. The Spirit is sent by Christ, and he takes of Christ's and shews it unto men. The Spirit breathes divine life in human death, but Christ is the life according to his promise, "Because I live, ye shall live also." The believer is "An babitation of God through the Spirit," but it is Christ in the believer the hope of glory.

3. Fulness of provision for the guidance, defence and preservation of

His people.

From the moment of their believing upon Christ, sinners are translated into the Kingdom of God's dear Son, and Christ the King has all power given him in Heaven and in earth for the Church. Christ sits upon the throne in the same character in which he trod the earth and hung upon the cross. His love to us is unchanged; and all his attributes, resources and royal prerogatives are pledged to the present protection and the final glorification of His people.

4. Fulness of provision for the glory and happiness of His people.

His will is that those whom the Father has given Him, may be with Him where He is, that they may behold his glory. He is the resurrection and the life. He is alike the communicator and consummation of His people's blessedness. As here the cross is the one grand basis of our faith and hope, so in heaven we shall ever turn to the throne; and in Him, who occupies the seat of supremacy and glory, we shall joyfully and gratefully recognise the source of all blessedness the centre of all light and love.

These truths are not doctrinal abs.ractions and barren theories. They form not a theory about the way of salvation, but declare the way itself. Take them away and you leave only a Christless Christianity—a body without a soul. There is a tendency in our day to give up these great distinguishing doctrines, or to assent to them with a dreamy listlessness that robs them of all their power as the weapons of our warfare, and the impelling motives to christien activity. Nothing but the truth as it is in Jesus can touch the deadly evil of sin at its root. The free grace of God in Christ Jesus—and this only—gives rest to the soul. In the believing experience of Christ's fulness, the Spirit of adoption casts out the spirit of bondage, holy confidence takes the place of misgiving and doubts; a divine energy is diffused, a loving alacrity, a marked conformity to the image of Christ, living words and actions bear witness to the living power reigns through righteousness unto eternal life, by Jesus Christ our Lord.

The Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named, grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by His Spirit in the inner man, that Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all saints, what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height; and to know the love of Christ which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fulness of God.

MISSIONS OF THE IRISH PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

India.—The following letter from the Rev. Mr. Wallace, missionary, at Surat, shows that in various ways the work is advancing:—

Surat, November 27, 1867.

Since I last wrote, another adult has been added to the church at this station. A few weeks ago, a Roman Catholic woman sought admission among us, and was received on renouncing her connection with Romanism, and professing her faith in the leading doctrines of the Gospel, in the presence of the congregation. We have every reason to be satisfied, as to the purity of her motives and the sincerity of her faith, in connection with the step she has taken. For some time previously she was in the habit of attending the services in the church very regularly; and after she sought admission to membership, I had several interviews with her, and was much pleased both with the clear views of Gospel truth and the devotional feeling which she manifested. Her faith in the doctrines of the Romish Church had been shaken for a length of time, but it was not till lately when visited with a severe and dangerous illness, that she was brought to present, as a servant in the house of one of the native Christians, and is feel the duty of separating from that communion. She is living, at thus in favourable circumstances for growing in Christian knowledge.

In this connexion I may refer to another female member of the church here, who was baptized a few years ago. She was even then an old woman-she and her grandson, almost fully grown, having been baptized at the same time. She had recently such a severe illness that her recovery was not anticipated. In the prespect of death she was able to entertain a good hope through grace · but was often in great distress at the thought of her past sins; and what specially grieved her was that so much of her life had been spent in idolatry instead of the service of her God and I felt both surprised and cheered at the state of her mind, as it is generally observed that Native Christians do not usually manifest such deep convictions of the evil of idolatry, or other sins, as we should like to There is, I trust, some growth in spirituality among the Christians here, though we have reason to lament that many still require to be fed with milk instead of strong meat. I believe, however, that sufficient allowance is often not made for the circumstances of converts in this land. They are expected by many to manifest at once the ripened graces of the Christian character: but such an expectation is quite unwarranted. must bear in mind the vileness of the systems from which they have been separated, and the evil influences by which they are surrounded, in order to estimate aright what grace has to do in their spiritual elevation. How different their circumstances from those who from childhood have enjoyed the benefit of Christian training and a holy example in the family circle!

The printing of the new edition of the Gujurati New Testament, to which reference has been made on previous communications, is now The whole expense has been born by the Bible Society. completed. Since I came to Surat, I have devoted a large share of time to the revision of the translation and the correction of sheets as they passed through the press; and in this work I received valuable help from Mr. Taylor. Up till the time of Mr. Montgomery's return home, the principal labour devolved on him. As this addition is printed in large type and without joined letters, it will prove acceptable to the village population and aged readers. May a large blessing accompany its circulation. We must not, however, think the work is done when the printed Word is put into circulation. To the mass of the people Gospel language is almost as an unknown tongue, so foreign is it to the religious ideas with which their minds are filled. If possible, therefore, the printed word should be accompanied with the voice of the living evangelist; and our prayer and our effort should be that many may be raised up among the native Christians of this land for this important work.

Mr. Dixon is absent from Surat at present on a missionary tour. in conjunction with Mr. Wells. On his return I hope to get out for some time in company with Mr. Beatty. We shall probably revisit the village which were embraced in last year's tour.

PROGRESS OF PROTESTANT CHRISTIANITY.

Notwithstanding the intolerant legislation which still prevails in the Papal States, in Spain, and in some of the republics of South America, Protestantism is rooting itself in every Roman Catholic country of the world. The fiercest persecution in Spain has not been able to reduce the number of the native converts who continue to meet secretly for divine worship. The English residents in Spain obtained permission from the Government to receive a pastoral visit from one of the English bishops. The efforts for giving to young Spaniards an evangelical education are actively continued in Switzerland and Southern France, and some progress toward organizing Protestant Spanish congregations has been made in Algeria and in the United States. The last census of the Papal States shows a Protestant population of about 1000. In Latin America, regular services in the Spanish and Portuguese languages are now held in Chili, the Argentine Republic, Brazil, and the United States of Columbia, and the formation of native churches makes satisfactory progress. In con-sequence of the steady immigration of Protestants from Europe and America, the Protestant population of Latin America is already considerable, being estimated, in 1867, at about 120,000. In Portugal, a Protestant congregation has been organized in the Azores, and another, consisting of 60 members, in Lisbon. They cannot yet meet openly; but public opinion seems to become favorable to religious toleration. In Italy, all the large cities have now Protestant congregations. In Austria, the principal grievances of the Protestants have been redressed.

In the Pagan countries, the numerous Protestant missionary societies labor with unflagging zeal and with cheering success. There are now, as far as known, 86 different Protestant societies, which sustain missionaries in non-Christian countries. In China, the Government continues to protect the Christians; and several remarkable awakenings have largely added to the number of converts. In 1867, the 26 missionary societies which labor in China had together 97 ordained, 14 lay, and 93 female—in all, 204 missionaries, 202 native assistants, 508 communicants, and 3142 members in the congregations. On India, we have the important testimony of Miss Carpenter, who made the influence of missionaries upon the education of the natives the subject of a very careful study, and who reports, as the result of her observations, that the progress of Christian education is remarkable. Twenty five Protestant missionary societies labor in India, of which 3 are in Scotland, 8 in England, 1 in Ireland, 4 on the continent of Europe, and 9 in America. There are also 7 societies for literature and education.

The societies maintain over 550 missionaries, and, with the Bible and Tract Societies, expend about £250,000. In India, Government expends on secular education over £700,000 annually. There are in British India, including Burmah and Ceylon, upwards of 190 native missionaries, 1800 native catechists, 1550 native churches, 50,000 native communicants, and probably 100,000 boys and girls receiving Christian instruction. present number of church members connected with all the missions in Burmah is 15,923. The operations in Japan have still to be secret; but the missionaries report that the results which have been obtained are most The opening of two more ports in January, 1868, will increase the influence of the Christian nations upon Japan, and thus, indirectly, the influence of Christianity. Turkey has now two Protestant colleges in successful operation; and the American missionaries have begun to train the native congregations in the principle of self-support. In Madagascur there are 4374 persons in church-fellowship, who represent a total Christian population, old and young, of more than 16,000. This island continues to be one of the most promising missionary fields of the Protestant churches .- New York Methodist.

CLAREMONT AND ERSKINE CHURCH, PICKERING.—On the occasion of the retirement of the Rev. John Baird, M.A., from his pastoral charge, a largely attended meeting of the Claremont congregation was held, when a handsomely filled purse was presented by Mr Waddell, the oldest member of Session, in name of the congregation and of friends belonging to other denominations. An address was read by Mr. Birrell expressive of the deep regret of the congregation at parting with Mr. Baird, on account of ill health, and of their high respect for him, and their deep gratitude for all his past services. Reference was made in the address to the great concord and unity which had happily prevailed in the session and congregation. Mr. Baird made an appropriate reply to the address.

The occasion of Mr. Baird's leaving also called forth the liberality of the Erskine Church congregation, notwithstanding former gifts not publicly acknowledged.

ENGLISH SETTLEMENT AND PROOF LINE.—The congregations of English Settlement and Proof Line, in the Presbytery of London, over which the Rev. George McMilligan was recently settled, have been manifesting most commendable energy and liberality. They paid the Minister's salary half a year in advance; they have built a manse costing about $1800 (this was done by the English Settlement congregation alone); and have in various other ways contributed most liberally for the comfort of the Pastor. othre respects also the Pastor is encouraged in his work. The churches are well filled with most attentive audiences, while the week-evening meetings are attended by about 200. We trust the spiritual life of the congregation may be in proportion to the outward prosperity.

Peterboro'.-- A deputation of the ladies of the congregation lately waited on the Rev. John M. Roger, and presented him with a handsome mahogany cabinet, richly stocked with valuable table plate and cutlery. The cabinet bears the following inscription:-"Presented to the Rev. John M. their respect and esteem."

INNISFIL. -At a meeting of the Elders and Deacons of the Central and Lefroy sections of Innisfil Pastoral charge, along with the Minister, held in the Central Church, on the 22nd of April, 1868, for the purpose of receiving from the Treasurer, Richard Boyes, Esq., the books, &c., that may be in his hands, as he is about to leave for Scotland. It was agreed to put on record the following minute, viz:-

The Minister, Elders and Deacons now mot, feel that they cannot part with their friend, Mr. Boyes, who has held the office of Deacon and Treasurer in this congregation for several years, without giving expression to their high appreciation of the deep interest which he uniformly took in the welfare of the congregation, and their sincere regret at losing his valuable assistance in the management of its pecuniary and general affairs. He and his partner in life leave us with the best wishes of the Pastor, office-bearers and people generally, and with the sincere desire and prayer that the God of Providence and of all Grace may vouchsafe to them his protection in their journeying, and his enriching blessing wherever they may dwell.

HOWICK, ONT.—A new church has been built during last year, at the Town Plot of Howick, called Lissadel Church. This station is in connection with the Wroxeter congregation. The members are few, but they have shown a laudable zeal for the erection of their church, while contributing liberally themselves they were aided by friends in Wrosceter neighborhood. Rev. Mr. Smith, Darlington, and his people, sent $85, also some kind friends in and around Ayr, sent over $50. With the proceeds of a Soiree, they have been enabled to finish the church very nearly at a cost of $700, with no debt remaining. The Minister, Elders and congregation would most gratefully acknowledge their obligation to God for his goodness, and for the generous help of many kind friends.

MUSKOKA.—We have received a communication from Rev. W. Wright, now laboring as a Missionary in the Muskoka district. Mr. Wright's communication shall appear in a future number. In the mean time we may state that Mr. Wright earnestly calls for contributions, either of money or books suitable for congregational or Sabbath School use. The field is wide and necessitous, and the people in general unable to do much for church buildings or for ordinances themselves.

DEATH OF REV. J. HUBBERT, M. A., PH.D.—We regret to hear of the death of Rev. J. Hubbert, late Professor in St. Francis College, Richmond, Qu. Dr. Hubbert had gone to Florida on account of his health, and died at Lake City, on the 30th of April. We hope in a future number to insert a short sketch of the life of the deceased.

PRESBYTERY OF COBOURG.

The Presbytery met at Cobourg on the 5th May. There were present fourteen ministers and six elders. Some routine business having been transacted, the following paper from the Rev. W. Jas, McKenzie was read:—

"To the Rev the Moderator and Members of the Presbytehy of Cobourg,

"I beg leave to resign the pastoral charge of the congregations of Baltimore and Coldsprings, and my connection with the Canada Presbyterian Church.

"It is with sincere sorrow that I feel constrained to separate myself thus from "two congregations with whom I have lived so long and so happily up to the "present moment in Christian fellowship; and to sever myself from brethren in "the Ministry of the Canada Presbyterian Church, among whom I number some of my most esteemed friends, whose friendship I still fondly hope to enjoy.

"This very solemn step I now take,—not because there is any want of "harmony between my own views and those of the Canada Presbyterian "Church in reference to what we term 'the Doctrines of Grace and Salvation,' "but chiefly because I am now convinced that the Canada Presbyterian Church "ignores, buth in theory and practice, certain great Scriptural principles, which "should be fully recognized and acted on in the worship of God and in the "government of the Church.

(Signed,) "W. J. McKENZIE."

It was moved by Mr. MacWilliam seconded by Mr. J. W. Smith, and carried, that the Presbytery proceed now to consider Mr. McKenzie's paper.

The Presbytery proceeded to hear Mr. McKenzie, who read a full statement of his views. It was then moved by Mr. Waters and duly seconded, that the Presbyt-ry resolve itself into Committee of the Whole in order to confer with Mr. McKenzie, and ascertain his views as to the application of the principles enunciated by him in the paper read before the Presbytery. The motion was carried unanimously. The Presbytery then resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, Mr. Laing in the chair.

The Committee having arisen, the Moderator took the chair. The Committee then reported progress, and the report was ordered to be kept "in retentis." The Report was as follows :-

CANADA PRES. CHURCH, COBOURG, 5th May, 1868.

The Presbytery having resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, with Mr. Laing in the chair the Clerk was appointed to not as Secretary.

At the request of the Chairman, the Rev. Mr. Roger engaged in prayer.

Mr. McKenzie stated that he was willing to answer any reasonable question which he might have considered.

Mr. McK. stated that he takes exception to the clause in the Appendix to the Directory for Public Worship, beginning with the words, "As no place is capable of any holiness, under any pretence of whatsoever dedication or consecration."

The following questions were then put and answered :-

1. Ques.—What is your application of relative holiness to persons, particularly to Ministers? In other words, what is it that makes a Minister a (relatively) holy person?

Ans.—I maintain that a man who is dedicated to the Ministry would be guilty of sacrilege in robbing God of his services, unless through necessity.

2. Ques.—Is it the laying on of hands that constitutes this dedication or consecration to God?

Ans.—It is the laying on of hands of the Presbytery that constitutes a man a Minister Where the laying on of hands is not practised I do not consider a man a Minister. Between the publication of the first and second Books of Principles, the laying on of hands was not practised, and it is questionable whether, as Presbyters, they had afterwards the right to lay on hands, not having been ordained themselves.

8. Ques.—Does Mr. McK. consider the ordination of the Canada Presbyterian Church valid?

Ans.-Mr. McK. declines to give any answer

Ques — Did Mr. McK. administer the ordinance of Baptism last Lord's day?
 Ans.—Yes.

Ques.—Does Mr. McK. consider that a Minister not duly ordained has a right to do so?

Ans.—No.

Mr. McK. desired it to be noted that there are ordinations that may be considered regular, and others that are irregular, and that such irregular ordinations may be considered in a sense valid

6. Ques.—Does he consider Church officers, commonly called Elders in the reformed churches, to be ordained, and in that sense holy persons?

Ans.—Such a class of men I cannot find either in the New Testament or in Church history until the 16th century; and inasmuch as they are ordained without imposition of hands, they are not holy persons.

7. Ques.—Supposing that lay elders are ordained by the laying on of hands, then do you consider them to be ordained persons?

Ans.—Yes: in the same sense as the ministers, and would they be bound, like the ministers to devote themselves exclusively to God's service.

8. Ques.—Does Mr. McK. consider that it would be wrong for men who are not set apart by the laying on of the hands of the Presbytery to occupy the pulpit in the house of God as preachers of the Gospel?

Ans.-Yes: I consider it to be a desecration of the sacred office.

9. Ques.—What does Mr. McK. consider us necessary to constitute an ordination regular, and thus in every sense valid.

Aus-I consider a regular ordination to be an ordination by a man who has received authority from his predecessors to ordain.

10. Ques—Does Mr. McK consent to the statement in the 13th page of the Book of Forms, viz: The official equality of the Presbyters without any officers in the Church superior to the said Presbyters, is founded on and agreeable to the Word of God?

Ass.-I do not think that there is any such equality found in the Word of God.

11. Ques — Does Mr. McK. think that the Apostles have successors in the Church,—not as Apostles, but as rulers in the Church and over other Presbyters, and with the exclusive right of ordination?

Ans.—Yes.

12. Ques.—Does Mr. McK. consider ordination by Presbyters alone and without a Prelatic bishop as regular and valid?

Ans.—Mr. McK. considers he has already answered the question.

THE SACRAMENTS.

13 Ques - Will Mr. McK. tell us when baptism is properly dispensed.

Ans —When it is dispensed by one who has authority to do it.

14. Ques.—Does any change take place in the child when the ordinance is dispensed by one properly authorised?

Ans.—Yes: the change of relative holines.

15 Ques.—Does Mr McK think that when a child has been baptized he is by that form devoted or consecrated to Christ?

Aus.—Mr. McK. states that he holds the doctrine of the Westminister standard on that point.

16. Ques — Are we to understand that Mr. McK's views are in any way altered from the Standards of our Church both in doctrine and practice as to the Lord's Supper?

Ans—No: I am not aware that there is a departure in my mind from the doctrine of the Lord's Supper, as laid down in the Confession of Faith. But I think our Church is wrong in denying the Lord's Supper to poor, sick, bedridden members of the Church who are unable to get to the public administration of the Supper.

17 Ques — Mr. McK. states that he brought the minister of another Church to administer the Communion to a dying woman. Was that woman a member of the Church? and does Mr McK consider it in consistency with his vows, not to attempt, directly or indirectly, to subvert the practice of this Church?

Ans.—I consider it was a laudable inconsistency.

DEGREES OF HOLINESS.

18. Ques.—Does Mr McK. consider that the statement of the Confession regarding sacred or holy places, beginning with the words, in Chap. XXI, Sec. 6: "Neither prayer nor any other part of religions worship is now, under the Gospel, either tied unto, or made more acceptable by any place in which it is performed or towards which it is directed," is consistent with the views expressed by him of degrees of holiness?

Ans.—If the Jews might expect more especially to meet with God in His temple, where the ordinances were dispensed, then we might expect to meet with God more especially where the New Testament ordinances are now dispensed.

19. Ques.—Is there anything symbolical in the places of worship under the Christian dispensation.

Ans -Yes: of Christ's dwelling with the Church on earth.

It was then moved by Mr. Roger, seconded by Mr. Laing and carried, that a Committee be appointed to confer with Mr. McKenzie in reference to this matter under consideration, and to report.

Messrs. Roger, Laing, McWilliam, and Alexander Fraser were appointed, in terms of the preceeding motion, a Committee to confer with Mr. McKenzie, Mr. Laing Convener. The Committee then obtained leave to withdraw.

The Committee appointed to confer with Mr. Mckenzie reported as follows:—
"The Committee beg to report that in conference with Mr. Mckenzie—in which they were met by him in a most brotherly spirit—they find that there are other things connected with the worship in the Church such as the want of forms of prayer for various occasions, in which he regards the practice of this Church as unsatisfactory; that he has read conscientiously and prayerfully works on both sides of the various questions involved, and examined the teachings of Scripture on the subject; that his mind is now made up so far that with his convictions as to what constitutes a valid ministry, and particularly as regards a higher grade in the Christian ministry than Presbyters, he cannot regard his ordination as regular, or remain any longer in connection with this Church.

"With sincere sorrow the Committee cannot but recommend that the case be brought to an issue without further dealings with Mr. McKenzie.

"JOHN LAING, Convener."

It was moved, seconded, and carried that the report be received and approved. Mr. Laing moved, seconded by Mr. Roger, in the terms following:—
The Presbytery having fully considered the papers laid before them by Mr.

McKenzie, and his statements in explanation, also the report of the Committee appointed to deal with him, find :--

1. That the opinions which Mr. McKenzie has expressed regarding the existence of an order in the Ministry of the Christian Church superior to that of Presbyters, to whom belongs exclusively the function of ordaining; regarding the Scriptural authority for, and ordination of, other Church governments commonly called Elders; and regarding the irregularity of the ordination practised in this Church,—are not in accordance with the stardards of the Canada Presbyterian Church.

2. That the conduct of Mr. McK. in taking a minister of another denomination to administer the Communion to a member of this Church, when sick, is inconsistent with the obligations under which Ministers of this Church come at their ordination, and is censurable.

Being satisfied that Mr. McK. holds these convictions, and acted in the manner above indicated conscientiously, and after careful examination

Resolved,—1. To accept the resignation tendered by Mr. McKenzie of the Resolved,—1. To accept the resignation tendered by Mr. McKenzie of the charge of Baltimore and Coldsprings, and of his connection with this Church.

2. To declare him no longer a Minister of this Church.

3. To appoint Mr. ——— to preach at Baltimore and Coldsprings next Lord's day, and declare the pulpit vacant.

4. The Presbytery further resolve to record their esteem and regard for Mr. McK. on account of the many estimable qualities which he possesses, and their sincere sorrow at the dissolution of a connection with this Presbytery and Church, which has continued with unbroken harmony for the long period of eighteen years,

The motion being put was carried unanimously.

It was then moved by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Roger, that the blank in the preceding motion be filled up with the name of Mr. Laing. Carried.

The Moderator then intimated in suitable terms the decision of the Presbytery to Mr. McKenzie, who expressed his concurrence in a spirit of Christian kindness.

The Presbytery then received and read extract minutes of the Session of Lakefield in reference to a petition and complaint of Alexander Preston against a decision of the Session at Lakefield, in suspending him from the membership of the Church. There were also read papers from Mr. Preston. The Rev. Mr. Thom and Mr. Brodie were heard on behalf of the Session. Mr Preston was heard on his own behalf. Question having been asked and answered, the parties were removed.

It was then moved by Mr. Laing, seconded by Mr. Waters,—The Presbytery having considered the case fully, find that Mr. Preston was to blame in not having met with the Session when called upon to do so, and does not seem to have acted in a proper spirit of conciliation and peace.

That the Presbytery cannot approve of the suspension of Mr. Preston in the first place, nor of its continuance inasmuch as it was done in the first place without Mr. Preston having made an appearance, and on the second occasion without his having been charged with or convicted of any full. Resolve to dismiss the petition and complaint, and exhort Mr. Preston either to submit himself to the Session or seek for the things that make peace, or withdraw from his connection with the congregation at Lakefield.

Moved in amendment by Mr. Ewing, seconded by Mr. J. Sanderson,—Sustain the action of the Session at Lakefield and dismiss the petition and complaint.

The vote being taken the motion was carried.

It was then moved by Mr. Waters, seconded by Alexander Fraser, Esq... That should Mr. Preston demand a certificate, the Session be empowered to grant the same upon Mr. Preston expressing regret for not having met the Session when called upon to do so. Carried.

There was read a protest and appeal from John Sawers, against the decision of the Session at Lakefield, in refusing to admit the said Mr John Sawers to the membership of the church, although holding a certificate of full communion from the Kirk Session of the congregation at Peterboro', in connection with the Canada Presbyterian Church

The parties having been heard, were removed from the bar, and the Presbytery proceeded to consider the case.

It was then moved by Mr. Waters, seconded by Alex. Fraser, Esq . . That inasmuch as the Synod at its last meeting refused, by a majority of 8; to 36, to make the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors a term of communion, the Presbytery sustain the protest and appeal, and reverse the action of the Session at Lakefield.

Moved in amendment by Mr. Ewing, seconded by Mr. Best, - Dismiss the protest and appeal, and sustain the action of the Session.

The vote being taken the motion was carried.

The decision being announced to the parties, Mr. Thom, on behalf of the Session, protested and appealed, craved extracts, and took instruments in the hands of the clerk, for reasons to be given in,

The key. Dr. Ormiston being present, was asked to sit as a corresponding member of the Presbytery.

Reports were received from Missionary deputations, and Mr. Paterson addressed the court on the subject of vital religion, concerning which he had given notice at the last meeting of Presbytery.

Read a patition from the congregation of North Smith, praying for the services of Mr. Thom on the afternoon of every Sabbath, and also a letter to the Clerk, from Mr. Wm Wood, of the Township of Harvey, praying that no change be made in the present arrangements. After consideration the Presbytery decided that they see no cause for making any change at present in existing arrangements.

Read and approved reports of Missionary labor within the bounds of the Presbytery.

Received and read a circular letter from the Clerk of the Presbytery at Brockville, anent the admission of the Rev. W H. Heude Bourck.

The Presbytery proceeded to take up and consider the overture anent instrumental music, sent down by last Synod to Sessions and Presbyteries.

There were read extract minutes from the Sessions of Cobourg, Peterboro', Keene and Port Hope, anent the same.

After consideration, it was moved by Mr. Laing, and duly seconded, - The Presbytery having considered the overture transmitted by the Synod and the returns from four Sessions within the bounds, resolve that in the opinion of this Presbytery :-

1st. The use of instrumental music as an aid in the service of praise is not inconsistent with Scripture, nor the standards of this church.

2nd It is desirable not to interfere needlessly with the liberty which belongs to every christian assembly in conducting the worship of God.

3rd. Having regard to the unseemly contention and unchristian feeling which might thereby be engendered in our congregations, it is most expedient to agitate the introduction of organs into our churches generally.

4th. At the same time having regard to the desire of many Presbyterians in this country, who may have been accustomed to the use of instrumental music and cannot see any objection to the practice, it is desirable that the Synod should give Sessions liberty to introduce an instrument subject to such limitations and under such regulations as will maintain harmony in congregations, and prevent such abuse of instrumental or vocal music as may detract from the spirituality or simplicity of public worship.

It was moved in amendment by Mr. Young, seconded by Mr. Alexander, -Thet although there is nothing unscriptural in the introduction of instrumental music in the public worship of God, yet for the sake of peace in the church, it would be inexpedient in present circumstances to grant leave to congregations to introduce organs or any other instrument of music in their places of worship The vote being taken, the original motion was carried.

A report was received and approved, from Mr. Peter Scott, regarding his labors in Chandos and Anstruther.

The next regular meeting of Presbytery was appointed to be held at Port Hope, on the second Tuesday of August, at the hour of 11 o'clock in the forc-

The business on the docket being finished, the minutes of the present meeting of Presbyterry were then read and sustained.

D. WATERS, Presbytery Clerk.

PRESBYTERY OF STRATFORD. - The presbytery of Stratford met at St. Mary's on the 5th day of May. The Rev. Robert Hamilton Moderator. There were eight Ministers and ten Elders present A report was received respecting the call from the Widder Street Church, St Mary's, to the Rev. Edward Graham from which it appears that Mr Graham had left the matter of his translation with the Presbytery of Guelph, and that the Presbytery agreed not to translate Mr. Graham. A call from the congregations of Wests' Corners and Gamble Settlement to Mr. Peter Musgrave signed by 128 members and 63 adherents, was sustained and presented to Mr. Musgrave and he acceped the same, and his ordination trials having been previously presented were heard, and his ordination and induction appointed to take place at West's on the 20th day of May Mr John L. Murray, Licentiate of the Presbytery of New Brunswick, New Jersey, applied to be received as a probationer of the Church, and presented his credentials which were and the Presbytery agreed to apply to the Synod for leave to receive Mr Mulray as a probationer of the Church. The Rev. Alexander Topp, MA, Knox Church, Toronto, was nominated as Moderator of Synod, and the Rev. Robert Hamilton and Mr David Barton were appointed as members of the Synod's committee of bills and overtures.

The Rev. Robert Hall obtained leave of absence for four months to recruit his health.

The committee on Sabbath Schools gave in an interim report, as they had not received all the returns to their circulars to complete their report.

WILLIAM DOAK, Presbytery Clerk.

PRESBYTERY OF TORONTO.

A meeting of this Presbytery was held in Knox Church, Toronto, on the 5th of May, attended by fifteen ministers and elders.

A letter was received from Mr. R. Moodie, declaring his acceptance of the call from Tecumseth; but arrangements for his induction were necessarily delayed in consequence of appointments in the church which he required to fulfil the meeting of the Presbytery, another letter has been received from him; and, as he has now been relieved from some of his appointments, his induction will probably have taken place before the issue of this number of the Record.

A petition was read from 33 members and 53 adherents to our church, and meeting for worship in Cheltenham, praying the Presbytery to take the necessary steps for having them formed into a congregation, and also for having elders elected and ordained over the same. Mr Peter Cornigil was heard in support of the petition, and it was agreed to grant the prayer thereof, and appoint Messrs Pringle, Alexander and McFaul in terms of the same. Mr. Pringle to be Convener

Mr Fletcher and the Hon. John McMurrich were appointed members of the Committee on bills and overtures.

Intimation was made by Mr. Milligan that, in consequence of the great extremes of climate in this country, which he had found detrimental to his health, he was under the necessity of tendering the resignation of his pastoral charge, intending soon to return to the father-land. The Presbytery expressed regret at the thought of losing the services of Mr. Milligan, but at the same time agreed to notify the above to his congregation, and to require them to appear for their interests at the next regular meeting.

The trials for ordination of Mr. R. M. Croll and of Mr. J. Aull, was afterwards heard, all of which proved satisfactory, and it was agreed to ordain Mr. Croll in the 1st church, Chinguacousy, on the 19th of May; Mr. Meikle to preach, Mr. Pringle to preside and give the charge, and Mr. McFaul to address the congregation. Also, that Mr. Aull's ordination should take place at Malton, on the 20th day of May; Mr. Alexander to preach, Principal Willis to preside and give the charge, and Mr. Ewing to address the congregation.

R. MONTEATH, Presbytery Clerk.

PRESBYTERY OF PARIS.

The Presbytery of Paris met pursuant to adjournment in Knox Church, Woodstock, on Tuesday, the 5th day of May. There was a large attendance of Ministers and Elders. The business before the Court was chiefly of a routine character, of which the following is an abstract:-Commissions were handed in from the various Kirk Sessions within the bounds in favor of their representative elders at Synod and Presbytery. Kirk Session Records were examined and attested in due form. Mr. Straith, of Ingersoll, was elected Moderator for the ensuing twelve months. Mr. Lowry and Mr. Chisholm, Elder, were appointed on the Synod's Committee on bills and overtures. Mr. Robertson, the Presbytery Treasurer, reported money received or promised in aid of Beachville debt, to the amount of $340. The amount promised by the Presbytery was Had all the congregations given, the amount realized would have been still greater. The Treasurer's books an I accounts were audited and found correct. Mr. W. Robertson reported the organization of a Church at New Hamburg, consisting of 22 members. Financial returns were read, and on the whole found satisfactory. No arrears of stipend within the bounds The Presbytery unanimously agreed to ask the Home Mission Committee for a grant of $100 per annum for the St. George's congregation, the Clerk to explain the nature of the case. Presbytery then adjourned to meet within Zion Church, Brantford, on the first Tuesday of August next, at 2 o'clock, p.m.

WILLIAM COCHRANE, Presbytery Clerk.

OSTARIO PRESBYTERY.--This Presbytery held an ordinary meeting at Whitby on Tuesday, the 5th day of May. Rev W. C. Windel, Moderator. With him there were eleven Ministers and eight Elders. The principal items of business before the Court are as follows:--

Read a letter from the Rev. Alex. Dawson, B.A., declining the call addressed to him by the Congregation at Ashburn and Utica. E. deall was, therefore, set aside, and notice of that was, through the elder from Ashburn, sent to the congregation. The Presbytery then entered on the consideration of the resignation of the Rev. John Baird M.A., laid on the table at last meeting. Mr. Baird stated that his reasons for the step he had taken were connected with the state of his health alone,—that, though his indisposition was not of the most serious character, yet it was of such a nature, according to medical testimony, as to require repose for a time from all mental and physical exertion. He intimated his regret at having to leave his present charge and the Presbytery, in both of which he had enjoyed much pleasure. Commissioners from the two parts of his charge were heard, who finding that no arrangement could be made by which Mr. Baird's services could be retained, stated that they regretted that their pastor's health was such as to lead him to resign his charge, but that they could not throw any obstacles in the way of his demission being accepted. In these circumstances the Presbytery accepted of Mr. Baird's resignation, and declared the pastoral connection between him and his flock dissolved.

The following minute, it relation to their brother, was ordered to be engrossed on the records of the Court :-

The Presbytery, in accepting of Mr. Baird's demission of his charge, avail themselves of the occas on to express sincere regret that Mr. Bard's state of labor, and, for a season, from all public duties. They entertain a hope that, by the Divine blassing he may soon be enabled to resume his work as a Minister of the Gospel. In parting with their esteemed brother, the Presbytery cannot do so without expressing their bigh respect for him as a very valuable member of Gourt and an able Minister of the Church.

The Rev. R. H Thornton, D.D., was appointed to preach and declare the congregations vacant.

The Prestytery took up the remit of Synod on the Reception of Ministers and Licentiates, and passed the following resolution therean nt:—"The Presbytery recommend to the Synod a thorough review of the existing resolutions regarding the reception of Ministers, to prevent them from coming into collision with the specifications of such persons as are eligible to a call in the Canada Presbyteriau Church.

Those congregations reporting arrears of Stipend were under consideration. It was agreed to hold the regular meeting at Columbus, on the first Tacaday in July, at 11 o'clock a m.

GEORGE RIDDELL, Presbytery Clerk.

Communications.

THE ORGAN QUESTION.

(In inserting the following communication, we beg to inform our correst pondent that he has been under a mis-apprehension as to the columns of the Record being closed against communications on the subject of the organ. At the close of a communication in the December number of the Record, in reply to certain resolutions passed at a congregational meeting of Knox's Church, Montreal, we stated: "This matter must be regarded as sufficiently discussed in the pages of the Record." This matter of course, was the controversy or discussion which had arisen in regard to the proceedings of the congregation referred to. We never meant that the pages of the Record were closed against all articles on the general subject of the organ. Of course, we cannot publish everything that may be sent to us, on this or any other subject. We may have to decline, as we already have done, communications on both sides. But we never intended to intimate that nothing more on the subject of instrumental music would be admitted. And we are willing to allow our correspondent, who is, we are sure, quite conscientious in his views, to state these views, without holding ourselves responsible for them. - Editor.

Sir,—Whatever the "Chief Priests and Elders" may have thought, I know that many of the "common people" believed that your columns were not only closed, but hermetically sealed, against coparte extracts and communications on the Church Organ Question, pending adjourned synodical action. Such, however, seems not to be the case, and therefore, I take the liberty of requesting space, in your next number, for the following remarks. Will you please prepare them with the same note with which you introduced "The Standards and Praise" in your March number.

The writer is just as conscientious as "A. W."

You published a short "selected extract"—I think in the January number—showing what Spurgeon's views on church organs were? from which it would appear that he is opposed to the introduction of any instrument (organ) into the tabernacle, other than his own trumpet.

This extract may have been inserted in good or bad taste, on this—"doctors differ," and certainly I, who am no doctor, question its orthodoxy, viewing it with the aid of church standard spectacles—which clearly teach that PREACHING, is only one, of many means of grace.

I know well, and ain willing to admit, that preaching is supposed to include, as adjunct, praise, reading the word and prayer, but the letter of the extract referred to, excludes everything but preaching; from a "thread even to a shoe latchet" is ignored, lest, forsooth, the preacher—Samson like—should be "shorn of his locks"! Besides, admitting that Spurgeon is sound, may I not ask—without fear of giving offence—not are there any? I know there are—but are there many Spurgeons in the Canada Presbyterian Church? I think not.

As to the "STANDARDS AND PRAISE," I am quite willing to admit that "A. W." faithfully explains the practice that obtained the sanction of the great Reformers in covenanting times in Scotland; but it would bring the argument down to a simpler point, were The Bible acknowledged to be a safe guide, "without note or comment." Rome denies this in theory, let not the C. P. C. deny it in practice.

The organ question seems to be a "hard nut" for the church courts to "crack;" but, it has been cracked already, it was cracked in the Synod last year, and the kernel let out then; now, all we have to do is to examine what is contained in the broken shell!

We all stand up for the psalms of David,—none more tenaciously than our Highland friends. I would be sorry indeed to see the psalms superseded, in the public services of the church; even supplementing them, with hymns, I long resisted as unscriptural. Well do I remember, when a mere lad, thinking, aye and saying too-I was always outspoken—that such psalms as the 98th (a psalm of praise for Jew and Gentile) "Sing unto the Lord with the harp; and the voice of a psalm" were surely more suitable for churches that had accompaniments of instrumental music, than for the Seceeders—to which sect I belonged. But I was so reasoned (?) out of that opinion, that for many years—more than a quarter of a century—principle I thought then, but now I fear it was little more than prejudice, made me strongly oppose every innovation; and the introduction of the U. P. hymn-book, a number of years ago-with the prospect of the organ following soon after—were, to my mind, the most objectionable of all.

But I have learned to believe that the use of hymns, and instrumental music, say organs (which combine many kinds of wind and strong instruments in the highest perfection) in the public worship of God, are not contrary, but agreeable to His written word.

This is the kernel to which I alluded; and now let us see what is contained in the broken shell? Using my own eyes, all I can see is expediency! Nothing more.

The pews may say it is expedient, and the pulpit it is not or vice versa. Who is to judge between them? I think a majority of the members of the church; let it be a large majority if you will, I think it should be. Besides it is reasonable, it is just, that in non-essential matter, the minority should yield to the majority. To reverse this, were tyranny, not rule; and we all know from history and observation, in church and state, that tyranny leads to resistance; and the ultimate up-lifting of the oppressed, at the expense of the oppressor!

The Apostolic Church, in Syned assembled,—or rather a portion of it—tried to bind the conscience of Gentile Christians in a rigid adherence to the right of circumcision. After due deliberation the court give the following finding:—"For it seemed good to the Holy Ghost, and to us, to lay upon you no greater burden than these necessary things; that ye abstain from meats offered to idols, and from blood, and from things strangled, and from fornication, from which, if ye keep yourselves, ye shall do well, fare ye well." Would it not be wise to test the organ question in a similar spirit?

I might speak of the power of music on savage and civilized alike, and how desirable it is that the church should use—it need not aluse that power, but here blind prejudice has to be met; prejudice, that if it does not falsify the tongue,—certainly does, too often, pervent the judgment. The Paris Presbytery finding on this question seems to be a wise one. In the hope that the decision of the Synod may be honoring to the great head of the church, and blessed to the ingathering of souls—and that all good Presbyterians may bow to that decision.

I remain yours very faithfully,

Montreal, 12th March, 1868.

DEATH OF AN ELDER.

MR. JOHN GIBSON OF WROXETER.

Another of our useful and much respected Elders of the C. P. Church has passed from our midst. Mr. John Gibson of the Wroxeter congregation, died suddenly on the 10th April, leaving behind a sorrowing and bereaved family. He was fer some years a respected Elder in the Free Church Congregation of Greenlaw, Scotland. Coming to this country about elevel years ago, he soon gained the confidence and esteem of the Presbyterian community, and was at once inducted to the office of Elder in their congregation. His usefulness as an Elder and S. S. Teacher, with the benefit of his consistent Christian character and unrightness in all Lis dealings in business, will be long felt as a scrious loss, not only to his family and the church, but to a large circle of esteemed friends. May the mantle of consecrated piety and zeal full on all the Elders of our church in Canada, to cheer the heart and streng, hen the hands of both Minister and people in building up, and extending the cause of Christ in our land.

THE TEACHER'S TEXT BOOK.

By Alex. Forrester, D.D., Halifax, Nova Scotia; pp. 621.—A. and W. Mackinlay.

Dr. Forrester, the author of this very valuable work, has been long known throughout British America, as well as in the neighboring Republic, and Great Britain, as an enlightened and enthusiastic educationist. By his indefatigable efforts, for the last dozen years, in Nova Scotia, he has succeeded in effecting a complete revolution in the state of education in that province. He has traversed the country; entering into every nook and corner where there was a child to be educated, or where a school could be planted—and has, by personal observation, ascertained the moral condition and wants of the country He has studied the different systems, recommended by the prominent educationists of the mother country, the continent of Europe, and the United States; visiting and inspecting very many of the leading educational institutions of each. And he has consequently been able to adapt the most advanced views on the subject, to the circumstances of the Province, in the interests of which he has so long laboured. The volume before us is the fruit of all this observation, experience, and thought.

It would be impossible to give, within the limited space at our disposal, anything more than a slight analysis of this interesting volume. The author discusses his subject, in both its scientific and practical aspects, laying in the theoretic department of his volume the foundations upon which he bases his system, when he proceeds to treat of the subject as an art. feature is one of the most interesting and remarkable which characterises the work; running, as it does, throughout its every department and detail. It is the principle which gives unity to the whole, -"the grand, leading, all-pervading principle which moulds, and fashions, and blends all the parts, according to their relative value, into one harmonious whole;

one reigning system."

After giving a historical and critical review of the prominent systems of education, advanced or adopted, at different times, on both sides of the Atlantic, the author expresses his unqualified preference for the ."training system" of Stow, giving at considerable length, and with some minuteness of detail, his reasons for the choice. It is upon this system, consequently, as elaborated and applied by him, that the work is founded; as it is upon it, that his work in the Province, where he has so long and so successfully laboured, has been conducted. Into the working of this system he maintains, all that is good in any of the others may be introduced. But he believes, and as appears to us gives satisfactory ground for the belief, that taking it as a whole, it is the only one which provides for the complete education of the human individual, in all the parts of his composite constitution.

Education, in the widest sense in which we use the term, continues throughout the whole life of the individual, and may be said to be the effect of the various influences to which he is subjected. These influences affect all the parts of his complex nature, the physical, intellectual, emotional, moral, and spiritual. It is, however, in youth, that he is most susceptible as the subject of these influences, and it is accordingly the province of the educator then, to initiate and direct the system of training, by special means suited to the necessities of the case, by which his character is to be formed; not failing to take into account all the elements of the complex nature, intended to be impressed and moulded. As it is the complete man, including all the parts of his material and spiritual constitution, who is to act and move in after life, in the performance of all his individual and relative duties; it is, therefore, in this aspect of his nature that the educator must regard him, in applying that process of training, by which he is to be fitted for the performance of those duties.

From this point of view, Dr. Forrester discusses his subject, following The First Book of his volume treats of in the footsteps of David Stow. the object and importance of education in its relation to the "harmonious growth" and "right direction" of all the parts of the child's nature, and "the benefit," derived from it to the individual, the State, and the Church

tion is, dividing it into several departments, corresponding to the different elements of our nature. Under the head of "Physical Education," we have such subjects discussed, as, the school and its furniture in relation to the comfort, health, and efficiency of the pupils, and regulation of their studies in connection therewith. "Intellectual Education" includes instruction and education proper; the former, referring to the "food administered" to use the words of the author; and the latter, the mode of administering it. Under this head are considered the different intellectual powers, and the training necessary for the proper development of each. In the same way, the will, the emotions, taste, and the moral feelings are treated of scriatim, and the instrumentality by which each is to be cultivated and strengthened for their development in the life of the individual.

Under this head also, we have various other characteristics discussed; as, for instance, the union and the interdependence of the several parts of our constitution; diversity of mental endowment in children; different epochs of development in the minds of children; diversity of attainment; sympathy of numbers; and impressibility of the young mind; each receiving a thoroughness of treatment, which the reader can understand only by reference to the volume itself.

The Third Book is devoted to the Art of Education; and will be considered by the majority of those interested in the subject as the most important part of the volume. This includes a consideration of the branches taught; the method of teaching; and the instrumentalities employed; namely, the school-house and premises, and the Teacher.

The Fourth Book discusses the duty of the Church and the State to Education; dwelling particularly, and at length, on the desirableness of a national system in every country, secured by direct taxation, so that all may avail themselves of its benefits.

It would be impossible to give, in this place, any adequate idea of the comprehensive and captivating manner in which these various topics are treated. t is enough to say, that it is the work of a practical man, who has tried by, actual experiment, the value of the system he recommends. He founds his theory, as did the originator of the system before him, in the composite nature of man. The requirements, which human nature in its relation to the world and to life suggests, form the basis upon which "There is scarcely," says the author the superstructure is erected. himself, "a recommendation made on any one of the topics discussed that has not been tested experimentally, and found not only practicable and satisfactory, but eminently successful, in the accomplishment of the object contemplated." And again, in treating of the Art of Education, he says, "It has been, at least, our aim and endeavour, with what success, others must decide, to advance, not even one practical position, but what naturally flows from some principle, embodied and illustrated either in the first or second book; and that practical position, not as conjectural statements or plainly deduced logical inferences merely, but as the result of oft-repeated, severe and successful experiment."

We can, with confidence, recommend this volume to the careful porusal and study of all interested in the subject. Teachers will find in it a thorough treatment of almost every detail of their profession; while educationists and politicians, whether or not they may agree with the leading principles of the system, cannot fail to meet with much that will prove eminently suggestive to them, in connection with the subject, regarded from a more general point of view. In its literary aspect, the volume is highly attractive; the style is simple, perspicuous, and pointed; and the views which the author invariably takes of the subject, are broad and philosophical; and prove him to have studied it, from the higher as well as the more ordinary points of view.

Need we add, that the pious author is anything but an advocate of that modern materialistic system, which excludes Jehovah and his revealed will from the range of those educational processes which have to do with creatures destined for immortality.

Expository Discourses on the First Epistle of Peter. In 3 vols., crown 8vo. Third edition.

The Resurrection of Life, an Exposition of 1st Corinthians, xv. Crown 819. Second edition.

An Exposition of our Lord's Intercessory Prayer, John xvii. Crown 8vo. Second edition.

These five volumes are recent instalments of new editions of the expository works of the late John Brown, D.D., Professor of Exegetical Theology to the United Presbyterian Church in Scotland, and it is very desirable that they should be followed by similar issues of his other highly valuable Scripture expositions. While the volumes before us are beautiful in paper and printing, they are considerably cheaper than the former issues. We particularly wish to recommend them to the ministers and people of our church. They are the mature, well-ripened fruits of Dr. Brown's careful studies for many years, aided by his uncommonly extensive acquaintance with exegetical literature, bearing on the Scriptures, both in English and other languages, ancient and modern. In this respect he was among the foremost men in Britain; and yet, in his expositions he makes no parade of the kind of learning, but only gives a judicious digest of it in few words. Scholars will see and appreciate this in the foot notes and appendices.

In pointing out to ministers and students for the ministry the particular character of Dr. Brown's expositions, we will do this best by giving a quotation from the preface to his work on the first epistle of Peter. "The work now laid before the public is substantially a commentary, though in a form somewhat peculiar. It is not a continuous comment on words and clauses, nor does it consist of scholia or annotations, nor of lectures in the sense in which the word is ordinarily employed in this country, nor of sermons, either on select passages, or on the successive verses of the Sacred Book which is its subject. The Epistle is divided into paragraphs, according to the sense-of course varying considerably in length. Each of these paragraphs, embodying one leading thought, forms the subject of a separate discourse, in which an attempt is made to explain whatever is difficult in the phraseology, and to illustrate the doctrinal or practical principles which it contains; the object being not to discuss, in a general and abstract manner, the subjects which the text may suggest, but to bring clearly out the apostle's statements and their design; and to show how the statements are fitted to gain the objects for which they are made. If the author has been able in any good measure to realise his own idea, grammatical and logical interpretation have been combined; and the exposition will be found at once exegetical, doctrinal, and practical."

Such is the plan on which the Exposition of 1st Peter is admirably carried out, and on which all the other expository volumes of Dr. Brown are constructed. The execution of this plan, we need hardly say, is admirable.

SYNOD OF ENGLISH PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.-The Synod of this church has just been held. The matter of chief interest was the appointment of a Professor of Divinity in place of Dr. McCrie, who had resigned. After a spirited discussion, Dr. Chalmers, of London, was appointed. The death of Dr. Hamilton, so long intimately connected with the Synod, called forth many a tribute of affection and sorrow.

SYNOD OF UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH. - By latest intelligence, the Synod of the United Presbyterian Church was in session. Dr. Burns and Mr King, of Toronto, were to be heard as representatives of the Canada

Presbyterian Church.

FREE CHURCH THEOLOGICAL CHAIRS. - By the death of Dr. Bannerman, and the resignation of Dr. James Buchanan, there are two vacancies in the New College, Edinburgh. The names of several ministers have been proposed as candidates, among these may be mentioned, Dr. Blaikie, of Edinburgh, Dr. McGilvray, of Aberdeen, Mr. Kennedy, of Dingwall, Mr. McGregor and Mr. Dods. The last mentioned Minister, it is said, has requested his friends to withdraw his name.

successor to Dr. McLean, having declined the office.

IRISH CHURCH QUESTION.—In Ireland, as well as in England and Scotland, the Church question is being vigorously discussed. The friends of the Established Church are rallying; and those in favor of Mr. Gladstone's measures are making known their views also. In Ireland the Presbyteries are considering the subject. At the ensuing assembly no doubt this question will be the subject of lively discussion. In the meantime, Mr. Gladstone has carried his resolutions with a steady majority. one seems to know what Mr. Disraeli will do.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC IN THE IRISH PREBYTERIAN CHURCH. -- We observe that the question has come before the Courts of the Irish Presbyterian Church, in connection with the use of an instrument in Enniskillen Presbyterian Church. The matter was discussed in the Synod of Armagh and Monaghan, and referred to the assembly.

PROPOSED DAY OF THANKS-GIVING .- We observe that on the motion of Dr. Candlish, at a meeting of the Presbytery of Edinburgh, it was resolved to present an address to Her Majesty with reference to the attempt to assassinate the Duke of Edinburgh, and the success of the Abyssinian Expedition, and also to memorialise the Government to set apart a day for public Thanksgiving and humiliation in connection with those events.
