Financial Times of Montreal Believes Some Foundation for Report Heard Lately.

The Montreal Financial Times of this week believes that there is some foundation for the report that Sir Adam Beck of the Hydro-Electric Commission is trying to acquire the Dominion Power and Transmission Company of Hamilton, otherwise known as the Cataract. It says:

We have reason to believe that unofficial (so far as the company is concerned) negotiationseen carried on with agents of the Hydro Commission, and we also believe that the question of purchase is entirely one of mutual agreement in regard to price. Sir Adam Beck has all out, gun to bring pressure to bear upstockholders' sentiment.

has officially announced that the price of hydro power for Hamilton will be reduced from $15 in 1915 to $14 in 1916. The price was originally $17.90.

We believe that the price asked for Dominion Transmission is in the neighborhood of $20,000,000, inclusive of brids outstanding.

Much of the success in growing the freezia depends upon the way the plant is started. In the bottom of a six-inch pot but two handfuls of broken manure; fill the remainder to within an inch of the rim with a soil composed of good garden loam, sand and manure in equal parts. Press the bulbs into the soil with the point up until it is at least one-half inch below the surface. These bulbs are small therefore several can be placed in each pot. Space them one inch apart each pot. Space them one inch apart each

After planting give them a good soaking and afterward always keep them damp. Give them all possible sunlight, just as you would give any blooming plant.

Never force freezias too rapidly.

They do very well when grown in a rather cool atmosphere. Perhaps they do not develop so fast, but they are wsually stronger.

When the flower buds are set, give each pot a handful of chicken manure as a filter thru which in the future the plant must be watered.

Develop Extra Bulbs.

Freezias perpetuate themselves very rapidly, each built developing three in one season. If properly cared for the smallest of these builts will flower, but of course the largest will bloom first. After the builts are thru flowering, continue to give them water for a month and then gradually let them dry. Just after flowering is the time the bulbs make their growth, and the object is to leave them just as fine as possible for the next season. It is for this reason that the top dressing of thicken manure is advocated. After the flowers are over and the bulbs are ripened, lay the pot away perfectly dry, soil and all. Keep it in a moderately warm place, then it can be set out next summer for an early made Dec. 17 that ex-Senator Theodore E: Burton of this, who is a candidate for the Republican presidential promination, had decided to tender his resignation as president of the American Peece Society and had communicated that intention to the directors of the society at a meeting in Washington to day.

Mr. Burton is absorbed in politics and in public speaking on economic questions in which he is deeply interested. He has not the time to give to the work of the peace society as its president, but will continue as a member.

Some time ago Mr. Burton announced that he believed in a program of national preparedness and that he did not consider such an attitude as being in consistent with his well known views about peace and the work he has been doing to promote it. He said that in the face of such a situation as confronts the world the United States should increase its army and navy so as to provide an adequate defence.

This announcement was not satisfactory to some of his friends in the peace society. They regretted it and said so. Mr. Burton at the same time let it be known that he thinks the peace society should not go on record at this time against preparedness.

The news that the ex-senator, who

The news that the ex-senator, who has been closely identified with the work of promoting international peace in the United States and in the many international tribunals he has attended as a delegate, had decided to take a firm stand for a national defence program has aroused much interest here.

In an interview today Mr. Burton predicted that the biggest but by ne means the sole issue in the coming presidential campaign will be the tariff.

Just what the other issues will be, however, the Ohio man apparently does no. intend the Democrats shall know for a while. He wouldn't tell. He only hinted at the other issues in declaring that President Wilson was in error in his reputed statement to the Democratic National Committee that the Republicans will have no issue except the tariff.

"There will be other issues—important issues," he insisted.

"Any others as important?" he was asked.

"Any others as important?" he was asked.

"Proper preparedness in the light of the developments of the last year is a national necessity," he said. "It should not be put on a partisan basis. I have found sentiment all over the country, regardless of politics, is growing in favor of preparedness."

What he thought of the administration preparedness program he refused to the particular points of law against which in the particular points of law against which is not a particular points of law against which is not a particular points of law against which is particular points of law against which is the insurance of the United States seems to allude. W. Woods Urges Members to Study Problem in Interest of City.

In explaining the report and plans of the civic rapid transit committe to the members of the board of trade to the members of the board of trade yesterday, Works Commissioner R. C. Harris did not fail to impress upon them the recommendation contained in the report, that the city retain exclusive control and all rights and interests in transportation lines, exclusive of steam roads, within the city limits. He pointed out, however, that in connection with the proposed hydro radials, the civic fathers did not think the accommendation in the best interests of the city, and on this account it was impossible for him to say anything further than was contained in the report.

Woods declared that the members of the board of trade felt that the people were being asked to vote on a question they had not had time to fairly consider. He thought that the influence of the board of trade could either carry or defeat the hydro radial bylaw, and for that reason the members owed it to the citizens of Toronto to learn all they could about the scheme, and if it was a good one they ought to get behind it and if not they should oppose it.

He urged the members to investigae the whole matter carefully, and if in their opinion the hydro radial bylaw was what the people wanted they should go out and help to carry it, but if they did not think it should carry than they should have the courage to say so.

Mayor's inaugural Address.

Commissioner Harris opened his brief explanation of the report and plans by referring to Mayor Church's inaugural address of a year ago, thru which the rapid transit committee had been appointed and the report subsequently prepared.

The report, he said, was prepared having regard to the past, present and future transportation problem of Toronto. With the large plans before him he outlined the growth of the city in the way of annexations from 1834 to the present time; the varying distribution of population during the period from 1879 to 1914. In 1909 the population was $25,300, which in 1914 had increased to 470,100, or 46 per cent, in six years. The average population per acre over the whole per cent. in six years. The average population per acre over the whole city is 24, and in the thickly built-up city.

These population figures were prepared for the purpose of showing what transportation was needed and how the lines should be apportioned to the company of the proposed Indian regiment is being organized in western Ontario.

Other plans were explained, showing the business growth of the city, showing that the greatest growth is not to the north, as generally supposed, but to the east and west. One plan showed the development of property in and around the city, while another showed that the heavy manufacturing busi-ness was along the lines of transportation, and the office and retail busi-ress of the city along the main thoro-knows precious stones from the rough to the polished state. We are the only retail firm in Canada that deals in precious stones exclusively. It is ridiculous to presume that any jeweler who handles a miscellaneous stock can compete with a firm that specializes and confines itself to one line.

This is why we can quote prices for fine diamonds, which are unequalled in America, and which has made our establishment known from coast to coast, because our unequalled values are calculated to make judicious buyers return and buy here again and again. For over a decade we have been selling precious stones in Toronto running into hundreds of thousands of dollars, and the fact that we are the only firm that can deal in precious stones EXCLUSIVELY and still do a large and profitable business should satisfy the most skeptical that there must be MUCH in the firm and its wares to

T. M. C. News. Motorcycle Club will be held Wednesday. Dec. 22. Nominations will close at this meeting so please be on hand and nominate your choice. A full report will also be given re the New Year's Eve run, and from the committee who are looking after the club's interest in connection with the proposed bylaw re pushing motorcycles across intersec-

A large number of riders and spec-ators turned up at the sand hill Sunday last to see the usual fun. A large fire was built to keep the dear ladies warm, the boys keeping warm by run-ning around. A number of slow climbs were made both solo and with side-car, when it was decided to break the mounkipp and H. Scott. W. Morrison, on a Harley Davidson, and H. Scott, on an Excelsior, both piled two passengers on their tanks and drove them safely over the top of the manual in the two passengers. the top of the mountain, the two passengers and driver making three up, which is the record to date. Both machines got ready to try four up, and Morrison, who started first on a Har-ley, had a bad spill about half way up. This was the signal of danger and Scott was not able to secure his pas-sengers to try the machine with four The boys then started for home at about 10 miles per hour, as by the number of white papers floating around Sunday indicated that the number caught for speeding the previous Sunday was very large.

New Year's Eve Run.

By all reports the New Year's Eve run to Hamilton is going to be a great success and the number of riders will be greater than ever before. The com-mittee have been very busy getting prizes and to date have a fine collection. Machines are already being taken down, cleaned and tuned up, ready for the run, and one dealer expects to have at least two teams of three on the road, with some of the city's very best drivers. A small entrance fee will be charged to account the country of the city's very best drivers. be charged to cover expenses, and the committee hopes that every sidecar outfit that can be got ready will take part in the run. Club member or not, you are welcome.

Tampering With Motorcycles. Tampering with other rider's motor cycles seems to be quite a habit with some of the boys around town and one which ought to be stopped, either by the process of law or the force of a good hard fist. A joke is all right in its place so long as it is not carried too far, but the man who will place foreign substance into the vital parts of a motorcycle, with the intention of doing dicates that the striker has worn or that the lever that actuates it has desome harm to the machine, is, in the opinion of the writer, a coward of the meanest type, who has only one friend, and he is receiving free board and lodgand he is receiving free poard and long-ing at 999 Queen west. It is to be hoped that this destructive practice will not become general and the first person non-com at the front reports great sat-isfaction in the use of his Brough motorcycle. ### SUGGESTIONS ON THE CARE OF THE CAR IN WINTER

Many Radiators in a Sorry Plight As Result of Recent Severe Frosts.

That high explosive, that is akin to dynamite, to wit, nitro-glycerine, is in part at fault. You see, glycerine is used in large quantities in the manufacture of high explosaves; consequently it is in great demand. Also, consequently, therefore, its price has gone up approximately four hundred per cent. This all happen ist came to purchase his ingrequents for the most satisfactory anti-freeze mixture advised. Thus, when Mr. Average Motor ist came to purchase his inspecients for the most satisfactory anti-freeze mixture (twenty per cent. wood alcohol, fifty per cent. water-proof against freezing to twenty five degrees below zero), and had the news broken to him suddenly, and bluntity, and cruelly, "Glycerine is eight dollars and — a gallon"—just like that —he stampeded and tentatively joined the ranks of the take-a-chancers, with what disastrous and costly results almost any garage will reveal.

While the lamentable increase in the price of glycerine, there is some comfort in the knowledge that the stabilizing effect of the glycerine on the very volatile alcohol will, by reducing vaporization, alone pay for itself several times over. The glycerine will last the entire winter, without being replenished. Such vaporization as does occur will be about 75 per cent, wood alcohol and 25 per cent. Water. This wasting is to be made good in the three to-one proportion mentioned, if the anti-freezing efficiency of the mixture is to be maintained. A very appreciable saving in the cost of maintenance of the anti-freeze can be made by never allowing the engine to run file or in any other way to unnecessarily become overheated, thereby causing costly evaporation of the cooling solution to no purpose.

Hints on Starting

These are the days when the motorist has the greatest trouble in starbing his engine after it has been standing in the cool of or some time. The fuel does not

65,000 FREIGHT CARS TIED UP IN NEW YORK CITY

HE congestion of freight at New ports, which is greater than any thing ever experienced in the memory of the oldest shipping men in the Uniter States, is growing more serious daily, and is causing great concern to traffic managers of Detroit motor carmanufacturers. manufacturers.

C. J. Shaar, traffic manager of the Packard Motor Car Co. says that the Packard Motor Car Co. says that the shortage of automobile freight cars in Detroit is particularly serious. It is estimated that nearly 65,000 cars are tied up at or near New York City.

As the winter production of motor cars will be greater than ever before cars will be greater than ever before at the Packard plant, Shaar is using his utmost efforts to find means of getting railroad equipment to handle the Packard product.

An All-Season Model-Hudson Touring Sedan Raise the plate-glass windows and this car becomes a luxurious Sedan. It has all the appointments of an electric brougham. Any member of the family can drive it.

Drop the windows and the sides are clear. Then you have a Touring Car with unobstructed view. No sash, no braces. The open sides are clear. This is one of our efforts to meet the demand for all-year cars. The other is our Cabriolet.

New Art in Bodies

The four bodies shown here set new standards in closed cars. The fame of the Hudson has been won on its chassis—on Howard E. Coffin's wondrous work in designing. Now we are courting equal fame on our bodies. And in the same way-by finer bodies and by lower prices. The man or woman used to costly closed cars will find here more than higher prices bought.

Those who found closed cars too costly will find that drawback ended. And those who want one car for all seasons will find the problem solved.

Go see these artistic creations. Hudson dealers now have them on show. But our output is nearly sold. We could not build enough Hudsons in any style this year.

VICTORY IN 3 DAYS

I drank beer at first, then gradually developed into a drinker of strong liquors. When drinking heavily I wouldn't hesitate to pawn my coat to get spirits. For long periods I would average to drink over a quart of whisky rum or gin daily. Often some mixed drinks and beer, too. I damaged business, health and social opportunities, made family miserable, lost real friends and became a burden upon all except the saloon-keepers, who cheerfully took my money for the poison they kaye me.

Mothers, Wives, Sisters While drifting from bad to worse, as all slaves of Demon Alcohol do, I unexpectedly found something wonderful. It saved my life. My health was quickly restored, I became and am a respectable man, enjoying every benefit of freedom from the accursed alcohol. I speedily and naturally lost all desire for drink. I took less and less. I began to prefer tea, coffee buttermilk and other non-alcoholic liquids, the craving for liquor ceased. I could sleep perfectly, my stomach became well, and I recovered from other allments which were no doubt due to my indulgence in strong drink.

Deadly Drink Habit

It was done in 3 days; if I had relied upon will power or faith I would still be a drunkard, because an alcohol slave has no will power while drinking. I rejoiced so greatly at having found true relief that I decided to help remove the curse from others, and my success has been marvelous. Many are saved from the drink habit (by aid of my book) because they desire to get rid of it forever, and others who do not have any will power left are rescued without their knowledge by loving wives, mothers or friends through ing wives, mothers or friends through secret method explained. Under the law the vagrant was to be whipped, and then forced to take an oath to return to the place where he was born or had last dwelt for three years. The statute did little good, and in 1535 it was supplen ented by an act providing that a vagrant a second time convicted should have the upper part of his right ear cut off, and upon a third conviction was to be branded with the letter "V"

The housekeeper who has a regular amount, decided upon carefully, set aside for house expenses, and does not exceed that amount, but pays cash down, cannot be extravagant in what she spends, but may easily be in how she spends it. If she does not keep a household account book, or at least a list of what she buys, with dates and prices, she does not know the change in prices. Few rousekeepers, or anyone else, can carry mentally the constant variations. So the housekeeper without a list, or an account book, buys an article in ignorance of the fact that it is at that time "away up," and that she should substitute for it something else, which is as near its normal price as possible. Her fixed amount of money will thus have a larger purchasing value. The woman who has a charge account may also get the least value for her money by not keeping reference notes of prices.

Beginning with the beautiful musical trio in G major, by Mozart, played by Jan and Boris Hamoourg, with Lisa Garden at the piano, every one was lured into a felicitous mood at the outset. Jan Hambourg is playing splendidly this season, and in this number especially quite surpass-ed himself in beauty of tone and lightness and delicacy of execution. Boris Hambourg, too, revealed his mastery of all those details that are overlooked by other than artists of fine and sensi-tive calibre. Miss Garden carried the piano part with distinction, giving due attention to all those little ornamentations so frequent in the music of Mozart. Jan Hambourg also played the Handel sonata in D major, and the Tartini-Kreisler fugue in A major. Evelyn Chelew and Madge Williamson, Evelyn Chelew and Madge Williamson, two pupils of Prof. Hambourg, played clean-cut rhythm, clearness of passage work and excellent technique, making

EDISON HAS MADE

The "Talking Machine" a Thing of the Past

TYTHEN Edison invented mechanical sound reproduction 30 years ago, the world marveled at his genius. The "talking machine" was the wonder of the age. But Edison himself was not satisfied. He had not reached his goal. This was not real music but only mechanical approximation.

Others, however, eager for commercial gain, closed their eyes to its imperfections. They adapted Edison's original ideas and exploited them by cleverly turned phrases. Even today, "new" talking machines are announced which are really nothing but adaptations of Edison's thirty-year-old idea.

But meanwhile Edison cherished a higher ambition, one really worthy of his genius. For the last five years he has labored tirelessly and conscientiously, 18 to 20 hours a day, in his search for a true musical standard. He dug deep into the hidden secrets of acoustic science—research of which he alone was capable. He ignored mere mechanics—for the mechanical timbre is the glaring defect of the familiar "talking machine." He aimed at the goal for which every music lover has hoped-

And now he has found it. He opened the doors of his laboratory and revealed a new musical instrument—the New Edison Diamond Disc. Mind you-not an adaptation of old imperfect standardsnot a talking machine—but a real musical instrument that is distinctly new. It has made the "talking machine," which for thirty years people have considered the limit of human possibility, a thing

Now, which will you have in your home? Which will you choose for your Christmas gift? This new musical instrument or the old-fashioned "talking machine"? Do you want the actual tones of the original artist alive with that subtle breath of reality, or --- the cold, metallic tone of the "talking machine" which makes even the greatest music unmusical? Do you want that eternal bother of changing needles, which wear out valuable records, or do you want the permanent rounded diamond cone which eliminates all the fuss and prolongs the life of the record indefinitely? Do you want the fragile record which you must fondle like a costly piece of china, or the unbreakable Edison re-creation disc?

These are things which you must investigate and decide now, and investigate and decide in a way which will enable you to avoid regrets.

Attend Edison Re-creation Concerts

Come in and hear the New Edison Diamond Disc at the special concerts given at each of the dealers listed below. Even if you are not thinking of purchasing, you should attend these concerts. If the familiar mechanical approximation of tone has seemed wonderful to you, then this new gift of the wizard's genius will be a revelation.

Don't let anyone tell you that you can't hear certain artists on the New Edison Diamond Disc. You can. The Edison can be made to play other makes of records. And although the music of these records is not as true to the original tone as Edison's own re-creations, because of his superior method of sound development, they really sound better on the Edison than on the instrument for which they were made.

KIDDIES FOUND FIRST S. AFRICAN DIAMOND

The first diamond discovered in Griqualand, South Africa, was found by the children of a Dutch farmer, who for a time used it as a plaything. The stone was sent to Capetown, where its true nature as a diamond was recoznized, and it was subsequently forwarded to the Paris Exposition, where it was sold for $2500. This valuable discovery soon led to other reseaches, and diamonds were unearthed in various places in Griqualand West, with the result that forty-two years ago, Oct. 27, 1871, the country of the Griquas a mixed race sprung from Dutch settlers and native women, was formally annexed by Great Britain. Diamond hunting was at first confined to the banks of the Vaal River, but in the year of the British occupation mines were opened in the locality known as were opened in the locality known as discovery of the Stewart diamond of the "dry diggings," which has since the "dry diggings," which has since received the name of "Kimberley. # FOOTBALL ORIGINALLY PLAYED WITH SKULLS

Head of Captured Dane Used in Game in England in Tenth Century.

Football is an ancient pastime. The old Teutons are credited with founding the game by playing with the bleached skulls of their enemies. Preliminary practice was first heard of in Chester, Eng., where the old English had sufficiently brutalized the game DANCING--Jardin de Danse isms, fragments of which have survived to the present day.

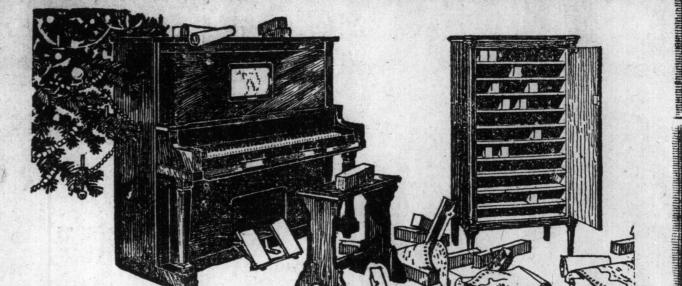

14 KING E.

Legend has it that in 962, during the Danish invasion of England, a good man of Chester captured a Dane beheaded him and knucked his head out into the street to furn'sh sport for the "fel'ows." The game of kick-ing the head around the city streets and even cutside the wal's of the ancient Roman-built city grew in favor. The exercise was indulged in when ver a Chester sport could annex a Danish head. supply of Danish heads gave cut. But the sport had secured a stronghold on the exercise-loving Anglo-Saxons and a "balle of leather called a foot-

balle" was substituted. WOMEN IN BUSINESS

The extent, to which women in the United States are leaving the home to enter the business world is shown by the following figures: 139,077 stenographers, 627,635 teachers and professors, 481,159 in various trades, 770,055 engaged in agricultural pursuits, 7300 physicians and surgeons, 7395 clergy, 2195 journalists, 1037 architects, de-

LISTED STOCKS DULL ON TORONTO MARKET

Except for Some Activity in Mining Shares.

The Toronto stock market closed an absolutely dull week on Saturday without a feature except a certain smount of activity in mining stocks. The payment of accrued dividends of 10 per cent. an Nova Scotia Steel preferred was the only news of interest to the listed stocks during the week, and even this was no immediate stimulant. The Nova Scotia, with other sleel concerns, has been known to be swing a most prosperous period, and the preferred dividend payments were a surprise. A dividend return on the common stock is now looked for, but this is likely some little distance off. The incoming week is not expected to bring any new activity to the listed stocks, but a change is fully expected with the new year. Chambers-Ferland and Peterson Lake were strong or reports of new strikes, and Dome Extension and West Dome were wanted in the Porcupines.

Trading on the Standard Stock Exchange was very active for Saturday with practically the whole list remaining strong. Considerable profit-taking was going on in some stocks but it had little effect on the general strength of the market. Traders in mining stocks, have made such large profits that reactions to buy on are just what they are looking for.

In the Porcupine list, Apex was strong, closing at 6 1-4 bid. A big effort is being made to reorganize this company and put it on a strong financial footing. The prospects are that this effort will be successful. The property is well situated.

Dome Extension was a feature of the Porcupine list, being in strong demand all day. The stock sold up to 38 and closed at the top. A good class of buying has been going on in this stock for some time by people who would

That dancing is not losing its popularity in Toronto is evident in the increasing attendance at Jardin de Danse in connection with the Cafe Royal. Last week's attendance made a new high record, and it is expected that this week's will make another. The new decorations in the dancing floor, by which it is transformed into floor, by which it is transformed into a beautiful grape vine arbor, with soft lights twinkling out from amongst the leaves, certainly makes for an entrancleaves, certainly makes for an entrancing scene. The floor is the finest in the city, while the music by Jackson's String Orchestra is everything that could be wished for. Under those circumstances it is not surprising that it has become the vogue for young people to congregate there, from 8 o'clock to midnight every evening. The management is Joing everything to make Jardin de Danse an ideal dancing rendezvous, adding feature after feature with this end in view. The fact that a light supper can be secured, if wanted, at Cafe Royal on ground floor, is an additional attraction.

cheon in Toronto is always an inter-esting one to business men, and in this connection it is worth while to know that the Cafe Royal is furnishing a business men's function at 35 cents that is unquestionably the best value in Canada. The luncheon is in fact substantial enough to be ranked declines.

Added to this is the entertainment feature, the Argentine String Orchestra, the only one of its kind in Toronto, furnishing me gentine String Orchestra, the only one of its kind in Toronto, furnishing music from 12 to 2 o'clock. As the Cafe Royal is the largest restaurant in Canada, it is in a position to buy the best treasonble prices and give the pub. at reasonble prices and give the pub-lic a first-class luncheon at a low

Dome Extension was a feature of the Porcupine list, being in strong demand all day. The stock sold up to 38 and closed at the top. A good class of buying has been going on in this stock for some time by people who would not buy such large quantities if they did not feel sure of the future of the company.

Hollinger held strong at $28.50 bid.

Jupiter was in demand at 18½. There Jupiter was in demand at 18½. There was less activity in this issue.

McIntyre was somewhat quieter, but remained very strong, selling up to 109 and then back to 106. It closed at 107. There was a bid of 106 made for practically any reasonable quantity of stock. Word was received from Porcupine today that the ore in the recent find on the 700-foot level is coming in richer, the deeper they go in on the vein. A very excellent class of buying continues in this stock and a great deal of it is taken entirely off the market. McIntyre Extension was active between 30½ and 31. the market. McIntyre Extension was active between 30½ and 31.

Porcupine Vipond was again reactionary, selling down to 63. Somebody is evidently interested in putting the price of this stock down, but the buying power in the market will someday carry it higher, no matter what amount of selling is being done. Preston held steady around 6½ to 6 5-8. West Dome was in some demand between 16 1-4 and 17.

The Cobalt list was characterized by Chambers-Ferland, which stock at times had the field almost entirely to itself. It opened at 27, sold up to 32 times had the field almost entirely to itself. It opened at 27, sold up to 32 and closed at 31. Very large buying orders came into the market all day from the north country, where they persist in saying that the Big Nipissing vein has been struck on this property. Enquiries fail to confirm this, but traders believe the strike has been made.

been made.

Crown Reserve was slightly easier, selling down to 60 and closing stronger at 61 bid. Peterson Lake was very strong, selling up to 39½, going back to 33 and closing firmly at 38½. The pool operating in this stock seemed to have been active and evidently took are positive. some profits. There was a good active demand, however, for the stock on the London Paper Criticizes Government - Says Von Papen and Boy-Ed Should Be Held.

Post today makes a bitter editorial complaint over what it terms the com-plaisance of the British Government in granting safe conduct to Capts you Papen and Boy-Ed, respectively the German military and naval at-taches at Washington, who have been recalled from their posts at the re-quest of the United States. The newspaper contrasts the case with the seizure of Col. H. D. Napier, former British military attache a Sofia, and Capt. Arthur Stanley Wil sen, another British officer, on the Greek steamer Spezia, recently by a German submarine off Messina, and centends that the government ought to refuse the German officers safe conduct, and if they embark they should be arrested and held as hostages for Col. Napier and Capt. Wilson.

MORE DREADNOUGHTS FOR FLEET OF BRITAIN

Having Subdued Submarine, Admiralty Begins Increasing of Striking Force.

JELLICOE A DICTATOR

More Ships Added to Navy in Year Than in Whole Fleet of United States.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16. — Com-mender Powers Symington, the American naval attache at London, who was ordered to Washington to lay before the general board the information which he has gathered concerning the British navy, has reported to the navy department.

Officers of the navy are greatly in terested in the Symington report and it is likely to be used extensively in the forthcoming legislation for the de-velopment of the fleet. As naval atache at London, Commander Symington has kept as closely as possible in touch with the movements and de-yelopments of the British navy during the last 16 months.

Commander Symington's report may be summarized in the following man-Admiral Jellicoe is virtually dictator of the navy and the entire organization has absolute faith in him. His activities are shrouded in mystery, but the navy is satisfied that when the test comes he will be prepared to ob-literate the German fleet.

Every available yard in the British clock in turning out ships at an un-precedented rate. Great Britain has laid down or completed more vessels since the war began than the entire tonnage in the American navy. This means that within a year the British navy will be about 300 per cent. strong-er than America's, unless Germany destroys a section of the fleet.

The navy is satisfied that the submarine issue has been salved, as far as offensive operations are concerned. Hundreds of small craft have virtually driven the German submarines from the vicinity of England, while a net of steel, with aeroplanes operating overhead, has established a permanent lane across the channel, so that traf-fic between France and England is carried on without interruption.

The admiralty has enough small ressels to handle the submarines and it now is bending all its efforts to the construction of dreadnoughts and battle cruisers.

The dreadnoughts are being structed along kines which are virtually identical with the plans prepared for the latest American vessels of the first line. The battle cruisers, with slight deviations, are built on the kines of the Queen Elizabeth, which has been in operations against the Dardanelles.

Commander Symington's report will not be made public. The substance will be given to a few members of the senate and house committees on naval affairs for their guidance in handling the new navy program. The facts presented in the report have convinced the ranking officers of the American navy that the lessons learned from the British navy have confirmed the theories which they have incorporated into the administration's general plan. It developed today that Secretary Daniels' plan for his five-year pro-gram may be delayed for at least one year, and probably longer, unless congress immediately provides increased appropriations for the draughting offices of the navy department.

The navy department considers it inadvisable to attempt to draw the details of the new dreadnoughts until congress has approved them. As congress is not expected to pass the naval bills until late in the spring or summer the plans cannot be prepared until next fall, which would mean keels cannot be laid down

GENERAL DE CASTELNAU ENJOYS JOFFRE'S FAVOR

Report That Appointment Was Unacceptable a Malicious Fabrication.

Joffre Motored Far to Congratulate New Commander in France.

PARIS, Dec. 16.—The Figaro, remarking that "certain mean-minded persons for several days have been spreading a report that a general ad-joint had been imposed on Gen. Joffre, who accepted the situation because he was forced to do so," tells the story of how the news of the appointment of Gen. de Castelnau, the new commander of the armies in France under Gen. Joffre, reached the appointee. The Figaro adds that it tells the story "in order to drive another nail into the le" that Gen. Joffre was displaced the that Gen. Joffre was displeased at ne appointment.

"On Friday, after receiving a telephone message from Paris announcing the appointment of Gen. de Castelnau." The Figaro says, "Gen. Joffre ordered his chauffeur, his orderly and an officer of his staff to get ready to start for the headquarters of Gen. de Castelnau, 125 miles from Gen. Joffre's headquarters.

News of this sudden start was circulated in Gen. Joffre's headquarters to the effect that Gen. de Castelnau, whose nomination to the newly-created post had been a common prophecy at headquarters for days, evidently had not been appointed, and that Gen.

Joffre presumably was going to his old friend to break the news.

HILDREN'S hour in Toronto is generally somewhere between 10 and 11.30 on Saturday morning. There are other hours which belong tirely to the children, when, between heal and and 7 o'clock, little ones growd into the pleasant reading room and pore silently over books, pictures, fairy tales and adventures, and the more ambitious ones dip into history or those wonderful books which are labelled. In London some years ago, when a certain popular and talented actress, noted for her love of children, announced that she would tell stories to neunced that she would tell stories to the little ones in one of the poor east-end districts, the idea was acclaimed and taken up by London society, as a most hovel way of entertaining, and "story teas for children" (which were just as heartly enjoyed by many of the grown-ups) were immediately the

THE CANADIAN National Exhibition sent a delegation to San Francisco to get suggestions for the appearance of our own big Exhibition, and even go so far as to say that we could show the Friscoites a few things about running fairs and such like. Getting hints from a $50,000,000 production for the improvement of an production for the improvement of an annual fair is rather a delicate proposition, for in San Francisco money was so lavishly expended that Mr. Rogers and Mr. Oliver shake in their shoes at the idea of even suggesting some of the changes that might be made in the general conduct of the "Ex."

Surprises in Store

Surprises in store for visitars to the Canadian National next year, that will increase considerably the pleasure of the patrons, and will not run away with very much money. Among other problems that Mr. Oliver set out to solve was that of transportation around now owns a big strip of land at the eastern end of the grounds that may wait for the grounds to grow any big-ger. He had heard hundreds of tired men and women complain of swollen but it may do more good if left in feet and decided to act quickly.

An Exhibition Railway

Next year, all being well, you will be able to jump on a little trackless train and be whirled off at twelve miles an hour to any part of the grounds and it will cost you but five cents; no passes, everyone must have a ticket.

The train will be pulled by a little motor tractor and each car will seat sixteen people. Two or three cars will make up a train and it will take at least two trains to carry the crowds. If the proposition pays, Mr. Oliver may consider applying for a perpetual franchise for his little trains, but it will be in the name of the C.N.E. The will be in the name of the C.N.E. Come Young Lads First

C ERGEANT goes a-walking Wi' ribbons in his cap: "Ho-ho," says he, "his majesty Wants just another chap, An' as 'tis plain, for married men He no mare cares a rap, Come young lads first!"

AN ORDER TO PETIRE

Wherefore the bairn I suckled Goes now in khaki drest; So young is he that he med be Still cosey from my breast; But he marches with his chin up, An' his chest out, like the rest. Come young lads first!

Old Squire says, "Oh, yes, oh, yes, "Twill do him world's of good"; An' parson says that losing bairns, if rightly understood, th' King to shed your blood— Come young lade first!

"Abram," he says, "gave Isaac,
As writ in Holy Word,
An' Mary broke the precious box
At the feet of our dear Lord;
So you must give your boy," he says,
"To carry England's sword,
Come young lads first!"

They speak you fair, do gentlemen,
But not more fair or free
Than my young son, who's just the of His father used to be;
And when I said he med get killed,
He angers up at me,
"Come young lads first."

For he's no lad that hides his mind,
An' he's no lad that felgns;
An' while he spoke my heart came ba
As easy of its pains
As when his father courted me
Along the scented lanes—
Come young lads first!

A woman has her love (it is Her glory and her crown),
Which many waters cannot quench,
An' the great floods cannot drown;
But men have that which passes love
When they hear the bugles blown—
Come young lads first!

An' so the bairn I suckled An' so the bairn I suckled

JUST A LITTLE GINGER

BY ARNOLD ABBOTT

WOULD YOU EMPLOY YOU IF YOU WERE YOUR EMPLOYER?

Would you? I wonder! Think a moment. When the street car conductor does not see your signal in time to stop the car for you, do you condemn him for inattention and incompetence? When the postman gives a letter you've been waiting for anxiously to the wrong person, do you "fume" at and about him? When the soda clerk gives you strawberry when you asked for chocolate, do you threaten to "report" him? Do you voice your indignation when a waiter brings you soup instead of a sandwich?

How do you suppose your employer feels when you spell reversible with an "a" instead of an "i"? Or when you telephone a man to meet him on Tuesday instead of Wednesday? Or when you make a costly error in figuring, or displease a customer and lose her trade? Self-criticism is worth more to you than all the fault-finding you can do with regard to the service of others. The only benefit your criticism of others can be to you is to put you on guard against faults in your own work? You have perhaps more than once said, "That person ought to be fired." Possibly your employer has thought the same thing with regard to you several times.

Would you employ you if you were your employer?

Canada and U.S. Benefitting Because of European Conditions.

MANY TRACKS OPENING

Some Splendid Herses Have Been Brought to This Continent Lately.

BY CHARLES D. OLIVER. 71TH the curtailment of the sport both in England and France owing to the unsettled condiions due to the war, horse racing since its revival, has come back with a vengance in the United States. And that it is going further ahead both in the States and Canada is quite evident by the increase during the past two years in the number of tracks operating

In the States numerous old courses have been reopened, while in eastern Canada several new tracks have been built. Racing in western Canada was ended last year by legislation. This ruling put an end to lengthy meetings in this country, and forced many owners to the eastern half-mile circuits.

For the coming season the prospects are very bright from the horse fans' viewpoint. There have been many desirable sportsmen attracted to the game, and the various acquisitions by American owners at the thorobred sales in France and England this month will have a most beneficial effect on racing in both countries; in fact, not alone on racing, but on the breeding industry as well.

Sportsmen Returning

Among the many veteran race-horse owners—those who raced pretentious stables some years ago—who have anstables some years ago—who have an-nounced their return to the "Sport of Kings," is Grant Hugh Browne, one of the largest purchasers at the recent December sales in England, Mr. formers under the nom de cours the Browniee Park stable, and it is his present intention to race an extensive string over the Canadian circuit. INETY million pounds of vegetables for British and French soldiers in the trenches!

This is the contract, issued by the French Government to the Graham company, Limited, of Belleville, Ont., Ontario Joseph E. United States, requires the expenditure of thousands of dollars, for, in addition to paying the cost of the ninety million pounds of raw vegetables, the Canadian company is financing the actual work of drying which, in the operation of a single dryhouse in Rochester, costs between 35 and $100 a day.

Most of the potatoes and turnips were available in Canada, but the other vegetables could not be procured within a convenient distance of evaporating plants in the Dominion, and as a result agents of the Graham Company were sent to the United States to contract with proprietors for the use of their dryhouses. Charles Whitney, an experienced drier, of Canada, and J. R. Finkle, a return to the United States to contract with proprietors for the use of their dryhouses. drier, of Canada, and J. R. Finkle, a retired drier, of Los Angeles, a former partner of R. J. Graham, are superintending the work in Rochester, where two evaporators are in daily operation drying the vegetables at the rate of between 40 and 50 tons a day. Other plants are in operation in Fairport, Union Hill and Webster, within a score of miles of the western New York City.

Absolute Cleanliness for the 1916 season

To meet the needs of the contractors, special machinery has been installed in the various dryhouses, where the proprietors have been engaged to personal-After the first of the year there will prietors have been engaged to personally supervise the drying process. In executing this immense order, absolute cleanliness is insisted upon, one of the orders isued by the head of the Canadian firm being:

"See that everything is done with such care and cleanliness that is, the proprietors of the plants were requested.

"See that everything is done with such care and cleanliness that is, the proprietors of the plants were requested. The produce they are sending to the soldiers. No smoking or chewing of tobacco will be allowed in the plants working on this contract, and floors must be kept spotless."

Of the 90 000.000 pounds of raw produce, only one-tenth is available after the drying process has been completed. The potatoes and turnips are silced and diried, while the celery, carots and cabbage are shredded. All the water is extracted by the drying process and then the dried material is sent to Belleville where it is packed in tins and other airtight packages and shipped to France. "Soldiers need vegetables to keep away scurvy," said Mr. Whitney, commenting on the contract. "and it would be manifestly impossible to supply them fresh vegetables, so we do the next best thing. There is no danger of freezing or decay in sending the dried product, which will keep indefinitely."

Just one more evidence of how racing is coming back. It would not be at all surprising to see one of the tracks of the old California circuit, near San Francisco, reopen. This, indeed, would mean a great deal to racing and breeding thruout Canada and the United States.

There is a larger number of horses wintering at Louisville; this year than ever before. Harry P. Whitney, leading winning owner of the American turf this year, and captor of the Kentucky Derby this year with the good filly, Regret, has 24 head quartered there in charge of Albert Simons. Corrigan and McKinney have 18 highly bred yearlings. Adair and Baker 30 head. George J. Long 16, and John E. Madden stable are credited with the best trials shown at Louisville this season. On Dec. 4 these colts worked three-eighths of a mile in 35 flat. They act and look like stake candidates.

THE ROMANCE OF ELAINE

"The Wireless Detective"

MARCUS DEL MAR, a foreign emissary engaged in mining our country's harbors, has established wireless station close to his submar the base. Elaine Dodge, whose sweet-heart, Craig Kennedy, has mysteriously disappeared disguises herself to inves-tigate the strange things that have been happening in the neighborhood of her summer home. Disguised as a man, she comes by accident upon the entrance to Del Mar's secret cave. This entrance is concealed by a waterfall whose flood is controlled by a lever. She stands before the mouth of the cave, not knowing that the man has also seen her. The wily confederate of Del Mar looses the flood gates by a secret spring and Elaine is deluged secret spring and Elaine is deluged with water and swept into the current. She canot battle with the current and is almost drowned, when Jameson, who has gone for a stroll by the water's edge, sees her struggles, and diving 'edge, sees her struggles, and diving into the stream, makes a sensational

Fort Dale, Lieutenant Woodward and his friend, Professor Arnold, re-ceive a note from the radio department at Washington: "Radio station using illegal length in your vicinity. Investigate and report."

Arnold offers the wireless apparatus on his yacht and together they start to make their investigation. Aboard his yacht they intercept a message from one of Del Mar's agents to his chief. The message reads, "Bar Harbor successfully mined." They discover the house receiving messages. It is located in the woods about a half mile off short. Woodward sends for a troop of the short. on his yacht and together they start to short. Woodward sends for a troop of cavalry to help in their raid. Del Mar. inside the house, gets word thru his valet that the soldiers are coming. He dismantles his wireless station, and, slipping on a mask, makes his escape from the house to his cave by the water's edge. Arnold and Woodward pursue him. Inside the cave he is confronted by Elaine and Jameson finds his escape from the rear of the cave blocked. With Lieutenant Wood-ward and Professor Arnold on the out-side, Jameson and Elaine on the inside, and a troop of cavalry stationed around, his chance of escape seems almost nil. But he does escape, and in a way that will cause you to gasp with wonder at his intrepid daring.

LOIS MEREDITH IN "AN ENEMY TO SOCIETY"

One of the real treats to which local picture lovers should look forward is the big Metro production, "An Enemy

Beautiful, exquisitely dainty, charming on stage and screen—and every inch an artist—Lois Meredith has that most valuable of professional assets— Youth!—And it is glorious youth— vigorous, energetic and full of life, with all the out-of-door accomplish-ments imaginable—the poise that is instinctive in a true gentlewoman, and the assurance which only successful

Last of all, you will see something that will do your heart good. It shows you the wonderful spirit of the French people and how they worship their soldiers. It's a battalion or two marching out after a week or so in the trenches. Mud-stained, many of them limping and with the unmistakable look of weariness on their faces-the weariness that comes from the incessant courage and daredeviltry, the darlings lack of sleep with no chance to eat, of the French army and, therefore, and all the other hardships of trench work, but they step out as if it was iun. And how the women, the children and the old men welcome them, marching along beside them, kissing their hands, cheering them, giving them fruit and cigarets. Their devotion orings a lump into your throat.

HE inimitable ever-green comedian, Billy B. Van, assisted by those two laugh-producers, Nellie and Rose Beaumont, headline a bright, attractive bill at Shea's this week. Billy Van. the merriest of all comedians, has not been seen here in several seasons and, with the Beaumont Sisters, will be featured in the one-act comedy satire, "Spooks." The scene of the comedy is laid in a palmistry emporium with Rose Beaumont as the Madame, Nellie Beaumont as the washlady's daughter and Billy Van as the original Steve Gall and Billy Van as the original Steve Gall looking for work and praying that he doesn't find any. The dainty, little English comedience, Josie Heather, featuring her especially written English songs, will be the special extra attraction of the bill. Miss Heather won her way into the hearts of American and two works are seen and two countries. The seen are seen as traction this week at Loew's Yonge street theatre. Hippodrome

THE famous Ching Ling Lee Troupe of Chinese entertainers, a company of talented Orientals who defy the laws of gravity will present the best of all vaudeville's athletic and equilibristic offerings as the headline attraction of a splendid bill at the Hippodrome this week. The Chinese have developed the art of body and muscle control to such an extent that they perform feats seemingly impossible to the ordinary man. Both in the air, suspended on strands of steel, and in various formations on the ground, together with stunts performed on the lying rings they excel in every department of the game. It is claimed beyond all questions of a doubt that the Ching Ling Lee Troupe is today the great company of living athletes. In Foster, Winehill and Jennings the management nas provided a trio of singing comedians who will prove immensely entertaining. Direct from a successful New York tour the three will present the newest and best of the season's song hits, while they punctuate their songs with some clever eccentric dancing. It is universally admitted that the feature serial, "Neal of the Navy," is the best picture of its kind that has ever been "screened" in Toronto. The scenes have been wonderfully realistic, the acting of the principals splendid, while the photography and scenic investiture almost perfect. Next week will be the last week of the picture. The tangles are straightened secures the lost island, her enemies are confounded, and "Neal" comes into his own again. "The Widow's Secret," an equally gripping and intensely ling complete photoplay, with the big-gest stars in the "movie" world in the central character roles, will be a feaure of next week's good bill. Thomas Keough and Ruth Francis are two vell known artists who have been as-ociated with many notable producons. "THE THIEF," AT THE STRAND.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week the feature photoplay at the Strand Theatre will be Henri Benstein's, "The Thief," in the magnificent acts, and with Mary Donnelly, creator of the part of 'Madama X' in the title role. The play deals cogently and convincingly with the lengths to which a woman may so in lengths to which a woman may go in her craving for personal adornment. The heroine steals large sums of money from her friends wherewith to buy heautiful clothes. Her peculations are discovered and attributed to a young man who, knowing the truth, bears the burden of shame in order to shield her. The knowledge of his love for her however, so ennobles the girl and strengthens her character that in the wonderfully fine dramatic climax she confesses her guilt. The production is a William Fox one.

HELD A CLOSED SESSION

Those Who Crossed Border Said to Represent Seven Nations.

GENEVA, Dec. 18.—The peace con-gress at Berne has been postponed until spring, only half of the delegates able to attend. France has refused to send representatives.

BERNE, Dec, 18 .- After many vicissitudes in getting across the frontier, enough delegates to the international congress to study the basis of a dur able peace, arrived today to permit of a meeting of the executive council. A long session was held behind closed cors, the purpose being to give out a statement later. Seven nations were of the dolegates and the countries they represent are being withheld for the gresent, owing to the embarrassments and dangers resulting from participation in peace meetings.

Officials of the council maintain, however, that they are not conducting prace propaganda, and are not seeking to influence propositions toward that end, but are preparing solely for the International social and economic conitions which will result after the belligerents make peace.

The orange growers of California are learning a lesson from the hen men. Time was when people just "kept hens." They handed out the feed and took in the eggs, but they left it to the hen's conscience handed out the feed and took in the eggs, but they left it to the hen's conscience to give them their money's worth.

Then somebody devised the trap nest and kept a record of the bird's lay. If she scored 150 eggs a year great was her glory, but if she thought a hundred eggs enough offset for a year's board—then t' ax. Result, the 200-egg hen and a record lay of 288.

The California grower became interested. If hens have to be treated by efficiency methods, then why not orange trees? So he "trap nested" his trees. Instead of merely harvesting his crops and adding up the profits, he is beginning to record the performance of each individual tree—the grove—so much fruit of such and such quality.

But the unprofitable orange tree does not go to the chopping block. Instead the grower takes off its limbs and "top works" it with buds from the best fruiters; the prunings of the best trees are grafted to the worst.

All this has been carefully worked out by the first authority on the California orange, A. D. Shamel of the United States Department of Agriculture. Six years of study has shown that there are at least reven different types of the navel orange alone, all growing side by side in the even different types of the navel orange alone, all growing side by side in the proves. Yet under precisely the same cultivation some yield much more and better fruit than others—and every bul out of each one has all the characteristics of its parent.

Here, then, is one more case of the principle of "breeding for performance."

The up-to-date farmer is buying seed corn, eggs, calves or fruit trees on the strength of the performance report of strength of the performance record their parents. It is business efficiency the non-human world, eugenics applied to animals and plants.

WEDDINGS

LAING-MACWATT.

The marriage took place very nietly in St. Philip's Church of Miss Mary Brodie MacWatt, daughter of Judge MacWatt, Sarnia, to Mr. John Melville Laing, barrister-at-law, son of the late Mr. John Burnett Laing. The ceremony was performed by the Lord Bishop of Toronto, assisted by Rev. J. Hampton Teney. The church was decorated with white chrysanthenums, and only the immediate relaions were present.

The bride, who was given away by er father, wore her traveling gown of navy blue, with large black hat, sable furs and a corsage bouquet of roses and lily-of-the-valley. There was no bridesmaid, but Mr. G. S. Laing, brother of the groom, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Laung left by the afternoon train for New York. On their return they will live in Crescent

FRENCH-HARPER.

A wedding took place at the house of Mr. and Mrs. John French, 68 Pape avenue, on Wednesday evening, when their eldest daughter, Alta May, was married to Mr. Leslie James Harper in the presence of the immediate re-lations. The ceremony was performed intions. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. J. A. MacKenzle, assisted by Mr. D. C. Soules, B.A., cousin of the bride. The bride looked very pretty in white crepe de chene with a wreath of orange blossom and a tulle veil, and carried a snower of white roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Lillian French, who wore white net and carried pink roses. The wedding music was played by the bride's sister, Miss Irene French, who wore shell pink. The groom was attended by Mr. J. H. Summerfeldt (Union-wille). The groom sgift to the bride was a pair of gold drop earrings, to the bridesmaid, set ring and to the pianist a sardonyx ring, and to the best man a watch fob.

ANDERSON-BETHUNE.

ANDERSON—BETHUNE.

The wedding took place Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock in old St. Andrew's Church, of Beatrice (Buddie), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Bethune, to Major Thomas Walter Anderson, 1st. C.E.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Anderson. The pretty old church was arranged very effectively with tall paims, which were massed against the org.in, reaching up over the golden pipes, three tailstandard vases of mauve and white chrysanthemums below, standards at the alsle of the same beautiful flowers and heavy white cords marked the pews reserved for the small number of guests bidden to the wedding. The Rev. Hobelt Law officiated and Mr. Tatiersall played the magnificent organ as Miss Joy Denton sang "Still as the Night" during the signing of the register. The bride, who was brought in by her father, wore a very smart short gown of white satin, draped with pearl embroidered nett the long court train commenced at the shoulders, was divided with straps of real lace until it reached the wais, and from there flowed out; the corsage was almost wholly of the beautiful lace, fastened with a diamond and pearl pin set in platinum, the gift of the groom. She wore a very transparent tulle veil, fastened gear the face with two tiny posies of orange blossom; she carried a very large and lovely shower bouquet of Illies and mauve orchids (which was caught by Miss Clare Corsan). Mrs. W. T. Willison, of orange blossom; she carried a very large and lovely shower bouquet of lilies and mauve orchids (which was caught by Miss Clare Corsan). Mrs. W. T. Willison, the matron of honor, wore a charming quaint gown of chameleon green taffeta, with transparent hem, and a hat of sliver lace and black velvet and carried an armful of sunset roses. Miss Pearl Forsyth, a young cousin of the bride, was the bridesmaid in a pink French frock and a pink and white hat with strings tied under her chin. She carried a basket of pink sweet peas. Capt. Victor Nordhelmer, R.C.D., was best man, and the ushers were Me or MacCormack, C.E.F.; Mr. W. T. Willison, C.E.F., and Mr. Melville Massey, C.E.F. After the ceremony Mrs. Bethune held a reception at her house in St. George street, where the rooms were filled with pink roses and chrysanthemums. Mrs. Bethune wore a handsome gown of silk and Georgette crepe in ashes of roses shade, trimmed with sealskin, a black hat with Paradise nlume and carmums. Mrs. Bethune wore a hallosine gown of silk and Georgette crepe in ashes of roses shade, trimmed with sealskin, a black hat with Paradise plume and carried an old-fashioned bounuet of violets and pink roses. Mrs. Anderson, the groom's mother, looked very handsome in a lovely gown of pearl gray satin and brocade, with beautiful scarf of antique Limerick lace, diamond ornaments and a gray-plumed hat with black velvet brim and a corsage bouguet of lilies of the valley. Mr. Anderson was also present and Mr. and Mrs. Moray Anderson, the latter looking extremely pretty in mauve, with a becoming hat of brown velvet and beaver, with gold crown and large osprey of brown tulie; she brought two pretty little girls with her. After speeches from Rev. Robert Law, the bridegroom and the best man, Capt. Victor Nordheimer, the bride cut the cake and went upstairs to change her gown for the blue serge tallormade with white fox, in which she traveled. After a short trip Major and Mrs. Anderson will return for Christmas and will be at The Selby for a time.

HARDING CARRUTHERS.

A member of a family which was established in York in 1810 was married on Tuesday. Dec. 14, when Chemotte Isabel youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carruthers, Downsview, was married to Mr. Thomas Henry Harding, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harding, Milliken. The bride, who was gowned in cream silk, trimmed with pearls, wore a wreath and veil and an amethyst pendant, the gift of the groom, was given away by her father. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lify of the valley and was attended by her cousin, Miss Marguerite Smithson, Weston in pale creen orene de chine, trimmed with fur, and carried pink roses.

SAYS RECRUITERS SHOULDN'T SHOUT "LIARS, COWARDS"

Correspondent Objects to Indiscriminate and Crude Tactics of "Fresh Soldiers" -Moral Conscription?

The following is a letter received by The Sunday World regarding the present system of recruiting in Toronto. Perhaps stiff and harsh procedure is necessary in what has been termed a campaign of "cumulative propulsion" of men to the firing line, but in England, while millions or men were being appealed to successfully "white feather" ideas were speedily frowned down. The letter reads:

Editor Sunday World: Should a man who has two brothers at the front at home to look after his mother? Should a man who has a wife and two children enlist?

Should a man who has been termed "medically unfit" try again because of the campaign that is being carried on

The London Morning Post a paragraph from a New Zealand soldier, a sergeant-major, who had been thru two fights and was about to leave for Egypt to take fresh chances with life and death. The letter was to a young daughter of a working woman, who had been knitting socks for soldiers of the dominions. when Kitchener's army was being raised. I saw the recruiting sergeants at work over there, and I saw no unfair treatment meted out by one of them. I saw men, hundreds of men, tackled on the street—I was often approached myself—and no man was called a slacker or yellow. Knowing the best way to obtain a recruit was to be fair to him, the recruiting sergeant treated him in a friendly way, pointed out the necessity of enlisting and spoke of a good battalion that he could place the civilian in. There were no wordy scraps, as you sometimes see on Toronto streets between a soldier and civilian. Besides, the matter of going to war is too serious and sacred a thing to be the cause of a man being tenued 'yellow,' coward' and so forth.

NE of the things that English women are attacking with rewomen are attacking with re-newed vigor is the study of the French language. It is said that this is not confined to the leisure or even the literary part of the commu-nty, but that it is taken up with a wiew to the practical things of life. Special classes have been formed for London waitresses in the Lyons' shops and the idea of course is to give them a working knowledge of the language, which is likely to become more and more a desideratum as interchange becomes an everyday occurrence between the people of the allies. It is not received an impetus among our-selves, when a knowledge of the French tongue would be of such value, not alone to our nurses and soldiers, not alone to our nurses and someon but to any who may have busines or other connection with the countries in Europe in which for the most part French is the current coin of spe In the matter of language study Canda has never been advanced. LAVE you noticed the references lately to what is known as "trench feet"? It is something that the men on the fighting line seem to dread more even than bullets and shrapnel that come to them as the fiercest of messengers borne on the air. Those who suffer from it say it is worse than frost bite or frozen feet, and it comes of course from the dreadful conditions which prevail in the trenches during wet or damp weather. One of the great helpers in the way of at least lessening the miseries to the feet, caused by trench conditions, is the possession of dry, fresh socks. Women everywhere are working, we know, in this direction, but where thousands of pairs are the aggregate attained, it may be said that the need reaches the millions.

To encourage those who are working, and to stimulate others who have as yet got no further than the consideration of the matter, we reproduce from The London Morning Post a paragraph from a New Zealand soldier, a sergeant-major, who had been thru two fights and was about to leave for a gray that duty directs. But the the present struggle was to be so final that impossibility of a gray the present struggle was to be so final that impossibility of a renewal must be a taing so certain that it will maintain, if not forever, for a century at least. The other member who has given that which is as a fear to her as life itself is Mrs. Seamon, who has just parted with her youngest son, a tall lad, who was attended to the matter, we reproduce from the London Morning Post a paragraph from a New Zealand soldier, a sergeant-major, who had been thru two fights and was about to leave for its who have as youngest son, a tall lad, who was a specific part of the heart of a man in the slight frame of a youth has gone off to do both of these levits and way that duty directs. admiration of other women goes out in measure full and unstinted.

Either one of these statements would be sufficient to arouse a desire to better conditions in the very stoniest feart, and both classes concerned—the nurses and the sailors—are amongst those who are the strongest workers in the herculean tasks of the cay. To quote the letter spoken of in another part of this column, the nurse to the man who needs him is just an argel, and the sailor is in very truth the saviour of his country, yet for either there is not the return of the common decencies and comforts of life. common decencies and comforts of life.

China Looms Up As New Ally For Germany

German intrigue is marking the world with its slimy trail. In almost every land German spies and plotters are at work in the high places and among the lowly. On kings and humble workers the stamp of the Hohenzollern has been set. Now it is China's government that is becoming Germanized thru Yuan Shi-

Kai's Teutonic leanings. It is only a few days ago since Sir Edward Grey in the British parliament expressed grave concern over the situation that has arisen in China. The foreign minister, who is noted for his extreme reserve, gave utterance to the importance of the German intrigue, and his habitual reticence strongly emphasized the gravity of affairs in the far east. F. Cunliffe-Owen, writing in The New York Sun, goes deeply into this subject. The details he gives assist us in the belief that the situation is really a source of "considerable anxiety" to the British government. Yuan, the president and dictator of China, a week ago accepted the throne and title of Emperor, and one of his first regal acts was to engage a very large number of reserve officers of the German army for the training and instruction of the ever-increasing military forces upon which he relies above everything else for the main-At the outbreak of war the treaty ports of China were crowded with German merchants, managers, agents, salesmen and clerks. It is estimated that fully sixty per cent. of these were holders of commissions in the German reserves, and all had completed military courses, for no man may leave Germany without a certificate that declares he has finished his term of military training and service. Unable to return to their own country, because of the blockade by sea and land, they had no recourse but to remain in China and be of every assistance possible to the Chinese imperial government. And no doubt the intriguers in the highest court circles made it easy for them to offer and give their aid. Then, too, there is no doubt that hundreds of the large body of German officers who were residents in the United States at the outbreak of the war and who were unable to get across the Atlantic were able to make their way on Pacific boats to China, where they found themselves eagerly welcomed. From the very best sources it can be confirmed that the dictator of China now has at his command a very large group of Germans who, in addition to being highly skilled in military matters, are trained business men and executives. It can be readily seen, notes, Mr. Cunliffe-Owen, that the assignment of all these men, not only to the training of the Chinese army, but to various administrative departments, will influence the Chinese government more and more in the direction of Germany, and in the course of things, in hostility to the powers of the Entente, and in a commercial sense, antagonize them to the United States. Knowing what we do now of the results of German espionage it is not difficult to imagine the trouble that is bound to ensue with German officials in such Chinese departments as foreign customs and internal revenue, public works, railways and mines, agriculture, education, commerce, industry, the interior and

In former times Yuan Shi-Kai showed so marked a perdilection for everything English that many will wonder at his change of attitude. The reason is not hard to find; it lies in Japan's siding with the "Allies." Yuan has always abhorred the Japanese and in turn they detest no man more cordially than he. This mutual hatred dates back to 1883 when he was sent to maintain and consolidate China's suzeranity in Korea at a time when the Japanese were attempting to gain foothold there. They met in sharp conflict, which was kept hot for many years, and probably precipitated the war between China and Japan in 1894, which culminated in the surrendering by China of all her claims to sovereignty over Korea. forth Yuan has always sought to play off the European powers and the United States against Japan, and much of the yellow journalistic effort in the States to promote ill-feeling against our Oriental ally could probably be traced back to the machinations of Yuan and his Teutonic schemer. Yuan is admitted to be one of the master intriguists of the present day. The danger in the situation is that the dictator and the Chinese people may be encouraged by their friendship to the kaiser and by their association with what they have been taught to believe is a victorious Germany, to embark upon such a campaign of intolerable provocation toward Japan, politically and commercially, that our ally will have no other recourse than to arms. Already Japan has been forced to suffer insults and commercial losses that try the patience of the people to the breaking point. And there is, therefore, a considerable danger that some day we may waken to learn of a declaration of war between China and Japan. It would deeply involve Russia, Great Britain, and France, for all three have territories bordering China. country has four hundred million inhabitants; the field for German scheming is fertile and unlimited. How far they have progressed with It, and how strong from a military standpoint they have made the country can only be conjectured, but we do know that the Germans are completely in control of Chinese news channels and have flooded the country with news of eyery German victory and have suppressed information of The prediction made at the beginning of the war that before it was thru every nation of the world would be involved, was based on a surprising knowledge of fact if one considers the Germanized-. . .

A Girl Who Represents the Spirit of France

Individual acts of extreme bravery are usually lost in the fearful turmoil of this war, but the performance of Mile. Emilienne Moreau looms large out of the fog of war This girl of seventeen has just been awarded the War Cross. She was living at Loos with her parents when war broke out. The Germans occupied the village in October, 1914, and remained there until the British drove them out in the big drive in September During the enemy's occupation the father of the girl died from privation, and with her own hands she made his coffin and dug his One day in last September the rumor spread thru Loos that the British were going to attack the village. Terrific shelling followed the rumor. For many days and nights the girl lay on the garret floor of her home, watching shells falling all about and buildings torn to Then the cries of the wounded were drowned by the shouts of the Highlanders. Three who hid in a cellar and who refused to come out at the behest of the woman were destroyed by throwing a hand grenade thru a window, and two others she killed at point blank range with an officer's revolver as they advanced towards her with bayonets fixed. tries. A Hindu editor has come forward with the naive suggestion that Europe adopt polygamy after the war as a cure for the lack of men that then will exist. We read: "Necessity knows no law. The Biblical injunction is that no man should marry more than one wife. The Koran is more reasonable in this respect; it allows four legitimate wives to a man. But for this provision in the Koran, the Mussulmans would not have multiplied so fast. In order to recoup the lost manhood of Europe the people of that Continent have thus no option but to resort to one of these courses either to accept the Koranic doctrine or to legalize illegitimacy. And is polygamy really such a horrid thing as it is represented to be?

"Both the man and the woman derive certain advantages from it. It is advantageous to the man, as he receives the combined care of everal, instead of one, devoted woman. The polygamist, unlike the monogamist, has also, for obvious reasons, very little chance of being henpecked, or standing trembling before an irate wife. Indeed, being the master of several, he can keep them all under his thumb and extort due obeisance from each by following the policy of divide and rule. "Polygamy will also prove beneficial to woman, as the trials and difficulties will not be confined to one, but will be shared by several. BUCKSHOT

Dominion Politics

The semi-official announcement that Sir James Aikins will not again contest Brandon lends color to the surmise that the government will not insist upon the return of the former representatives from Brandon, Lisgar, Carlton and Kings, N.S., at the bye-elections. Sir James may become the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba and Mr. Sharpe go into the senate. The government would then be free to name any candidates it saw fit for the Manitoba vacancies and the Liberals could not object to their being returned by acclamation As to Messrs Garland and Foster the government retires from a false position. No glory could be gained by insisting upon their triumphal return to Ottawa.

We may, therefore, anticipate eight uncontested bye-elections. Perhaps there will be ten in case Mr. Blain of Peel and Mr. Broder of Dundas follow Hon. Dr. Sproule to the senate. The next business will be to get an agreement respecting an extension of the parliamentary term. There would be no great difficulty about that because the government is now willing to take one year which was the compromise long ago suggested by the Opposition.

No doubt the house will aim to prorogue at Easter. This would mean a three-months' session and would give ample time to dispose of the business that will be pre sented by the government. Just how far the Opposition may go in the way of investigating graft scandals and a lot of miscellaneout charges flying about in a somewhat reckless manner remains to It certainly must be admitted that the government has turned the corner and is gaining strength in the country. will be better this winter than last.

Making Us Feel Better

For a long time the hygienic experts had the nervous among us scared to death with their harrowing tales respecting the malignity and ubiquity of the germs that go about infecting everybody they meet with consumption. cancer, typhoid or lockjaw. There was no dodging the pesky things. They honeycombed your toothbrush; they multplied by millions in your glass of ice-water; they were on every piece of money you handled; they turned every book you took from a public library into a deadly weapon. So hopeless was it to escape the germs that a good many people simply laughed at the doctors and went on their

Still the anti-germ agitation did some good. No doubt more care is taken than formerly about cleanliness in groceries and butchers' shops. The railway trains have largely done away with the comtary fountain has invaded Toronto And now, perhaps wisely enough, the hygienic experts are telling us that the risk of infection has been greatly exaggerated. They think you can handle money without hastening your end, and the danger of infection from using public library books is said to be negligible. The germs have no literary taste and go out of business if long interned in a book. They also freeze to death like other people, so as a rule are quite harmless in your ice-water. Still they are cunning fellows and will bear watching. We feel more at ease when they are chased to cover by zero weather.

The Philippine Situation

In their anxiety to get as far away as possible from the European war and issues growing out of it the two great political parties in the United States are threatening to make an issue in the next presidential campaign of the President Taft has perhaps unwittingly aided their purpose. He was for many years Governor-Genera' of the Philippines and revisited the Archipelago while secretary of war. He took a sincere in terest in his little brown brothers and obtained for them free trade with the United States when he became president. Anything he has to say upon the Philippine situation must always command attention and respect.

A Good Year's Work

Sir Sam Hughes has probably accomplished as much for Canada in the commercial field as in the military field during the past year. He was the first to suggest that Canada should have a share of the munition business. The story of how he got the business going and the wonderful way in which has developed since reads like a romance. But there is no romance about his statements, which are well established facts now

Today, with 321 factories turning out munitions and giving employment to 100,000 men, it is difficult to realize that the country had to be scoured in the fall of 1914 to find three or four manufacturers willing to engage in the manufacture of shells and other war munitions. They believed at the time that they would be entirely dependent upon the United States for their raw material. It was impossible, they said, to use the basic steel Canada, but the Napoleon Canada soon convinced them that "impossible" was bad English. Experiments made in New Glasgow, N.S., demonstrated that the Canadian steel was all right.

Since then we have established great copper, zinc and lead industries in Canada, and if Gener al Sam has his way Canadians will cease being hewers of wood and drawers of water for the Nickel Trust of the United States. Having brought Canadian manufacturers munition orders amounting to $350,000,000 Sir Sam might consider that he has a good year's work to his credit. We seem to have had a first-clas minister of munitions without knowing it.

The Second War

M. Jean Richepin of the French academy frankly advocates what he calls "The Second War." That is he would have the Allies bring Germany a second time to her knees by a trade war after the fighting in the field is over. streaty of peace which we hope soon to sign at Berlin, Mr. Jean Richepin would treat as a mere truce to military operations and he would still have the Allies united in an offensive and defensive alliance against the enemy.

Our own Mr. Rogers of the Dominion government is a disciple of M. Jean Richepin. In a carefully prepared speech delivered a few weeks ago at Winnipeg, the minister of public works advocated a zollverein to include the United Kingdom, Canada, Australasia, France, Russia, Servia and Italy, If anything like free trade were to exist between the members of such a zollverein, the advantage would be altogether with England. No amount of dexterous phrasing can ever get away from the fact that our Canadian manufacturers would be practically helpless against British competition. We are neither acclaiming nor condemning the proposed second war with Germany. Possibly, however, it might be well to clean up the present trouble before starting another conflagration. Germans, of course, will suffer from the prejudice against them for many years to come, but the Hebrews have demonstrated how a race condemned can arrive at commercial success. A tariff law to our mind should be framed on business lines for self-protection. We want to keep our Canadian workmen employed, supply our own needs and find customers for our products in every corner of Robert W. The one thing that is wholly inadequate about real poetry is criticism. The est criticism is a good anthology, or rather half a dozen good anthologies, for no one man is able to select all the best things. If you cannot feel the quality of good poetry, you cannot respond to those especial excellencies which distinguish it and they are as various as the hue and the shapes of the flowers in botanical garden, it can never be driven into you. I grant that hav ing a taste for poetry it can be culvated and improved. But lacking I doubt whether it can ever be implanted. Meeking Draws Down Big Remuneration for Services-Hockey Gossip.

Gordon Meeking has gone and done it. The former Victoria player closed with the Ottawa Club on Friday night and will get one of the largest salaries paid in the N. H. A. The Ottawa Club has contracted to pay the great little centre player $1200 for the season.

It will be remembered that Meeking has appeared on five champion O.H.A. teams. He was a big factor in the Victorias' victory over St. Michaels for the senior O.H.A. honors last year. He was with T.R.A.A. before that and was on the Eaton team of all-star players that captured the premier O.H.A.

Meeking was the most tricky centre player in the amateur ranks, and it remains to be seen if he will show as much in pro company. The pro players are past masters in the art of stopping a man close in and Meeking may not find it so easy to slap to pess to centre into the net in fast com-

Thru War's Smoky Murk Shines Bethlehem's Star

NDER the bright stariit firmament of an Eastern night, little over two thousand years ago, while the world was still young, three wise men hastened like shadows across the sleeping landscape of Palestine on a royal mission. Above and before them a great sempiternal star guided their course. Beneath it in a manger lay a babe bearing the keys of Heaven. Today, the teeming populace of a timestained universe bows in homage about the same humble manger, and

THE Christmas of 1915 will be a singular one, even on the records of eternity. Surely to a waiting world never came in the anniversary of such a glorious advent, under such sad portentous circumstance. The hands of the nations are at each other's throats. The tion. Pestilence walketh in darkness and destruction wasteth at noonday. The whisper of peace seems a mockery.

And yet to the British Empire the season never came more finely savored with the Divine spirit which inspired the song of the angels above Judean fields. The "peace on earth and good will to men," which they sang from the gates of Heaven can come only when the last spasm of lust for domination has passed, and oppression, savagery and the thousand kindred evils of brute ambition have been purged from existence. Christ came to break oppression, and his disciples among the nations are striving to work out His commission.

HE Christmas Eve of 1915 cannot be seen as others of the past. The frolics and pranks which decorate this annual occasion will lack much of the usual spontaneity. What joy there is will be that which survives tribulation. In all the stretch of Empire there are homes which thrill with new and poignant memories. Firesides there are with vacant chairs; tables set with empty places. Ears will quicken for footsteps delayed or never coming.

But in the far-flung miles of trench on the field of Flanders the bugles will sing the customary truce. To a million war-worn spirits the Yule log will glow in the handful of coals beneath the brazier. Hearts will warm and eyes will glisten at the thought of those who, beyond the grey seas, are gathering in about the festive board. The head upon cot and knapsack will dream of home. And thru rifts in the murky battle-smoke the Bethlehem star will twinkle as of yore.

The Christmas message in its essence has always been one of service for others. It breathes the spirit of kindness and consideration. It glorifies the gentle virtues. Even this year it is well and good that stockings should hang, and that all those quaint observances, hallowed by antiquity, should still be honored. The young Cratchits should have their goose, and the cold hearts of Scrooges should soften with brotherly kindness.

Festivities may be tempered with the reflection that to thousands the season brings the bitterness of happy days gone forever. It has been said that the first Christmas after a sorrow is particularly keen and cold. But the joy and gladness of this gala day, modified the it may be, will not be repressed. Already the skies which rim the universe of all humanity are lightening, and the better days of Messianic prophecy

W HEN the last curl of battle smoke lifts and flees and the mutter of the last gun dies sway sares the the steady light which glows from the Bethlehem manger will bathe the world with a serener refulgence than has yet illumined history.

Towards that bright day the minds of civilized nations are turning. Perhaps when another birthday of the Christ child is recorded, the dawn

TRENCHES, DEAD RISE TO FIGHT

Lieutenant's Story Is One of the Strangest Physchological Experiences of the War.

The Germans had swarmed into a French trench and broken down the resistance of the defenders, whose bodies covered the ground. Suddenly a man rose, and seizing a sack of grenades, shouted, "Up with you, dead men!" At this summons the wounded in the trench staggered to their feet and drove the enemy out.

HE hero of this episode was Lieut. Pericard, a man of 38, whose hair is already white, and his story, forming one of the strangest psychobetween breaths, "Yes, and when I get logical experiences of the war, is told my breath I'm going to run some more!"—Geo. capable of attaining the ends she set out for. The idea has entirely died out of reaching London. Nobody now discusses it except a few rabid Chauvinists. A frequent forecast I have heard is that 'there will be two winners, Germany and Great Britain."

The explanation of this apparent paradox is the hope that Germany will retain the north of France, incorporate Belgium in the German Empire, and make Poland a province of Prussia. A large indemnity is expected from both France and Russia, but nothing is hoped for from Great Britain beyond restoration of the German colonies and the "freedom of the seas," that great German objective which no German I have met is able to define or explain. Italy is believed to be fighting only for the Trentino, and the German public is amiably inclined to let her have it at Austria's expense. It is common theory that when the death of the Austrian Emporer occurs, Austria will become part of the German customs union, retaining only her autonomy. It will be noted that the German public allot to their ally no spoils of the war. It is my impression, gained in several weeks' recent travel, that the present heartfelt wish of the majority of the German people is for peace, but not for peace at any price. They are still in the mood stubbornly to endure rather than forfeit compensation for their efforts and losses. The German nation entered upon another winter campaign with the greatest reluctance but the cry is still "Hold on," the bope is still that the allies will coliapse before Germany comes to the end of her resources and has shot her last bolt. The psychology of the mod-ern German has never been tested in defeat. It is my personal belief that should victory turn full tide against his arms, there would be a revulsion of feeling culminating in revolution. At heart the nation knows that the war was forced by their military party. The war has not altered the most Socialistic people in Europe, nor is for-gotten that bitter proverb of the Germen people, "Der Mensch fangt beim Leutnant an" ("The human being commences with the lieutenant").

But, despite all these expectations, the German people are depressed. Many have admitted to me that, whatachieved, very quickly. It is admitted that the war has become a contest of mics, money and material reserves. If

"TAISEZ-VOUS" IS PARIS WATCHWORD

BY HENRI FERRER.

DARIS.-We see it everywhere we go, that warning to Parisians which M. Millerand ordered to be distributed the day he held office as minister of war. It stares us in the face in tramways, on heardings, in cafes, everywhere: "Taisez-yous! Mefies-vous! Des orcilles ennemies vous ecoutent!" (Hold your tongue! Be on your guard! There is no doubt that Paris swarms with spies. It could not be otherwise. We hear all the time from soldiers back on permission of this or that pleasant person who travelled in the train with them, offered them cicargets, and was very sympathetically anxious to know where they had been fighting, and how things were going. "Oh, un homme charmant, but with a slight accent. Tooeagerly polite to be an Englishman. Probably a Boche spy!"
But the brave fellows were too eager to get home to worry about such small matters. It is strange, however, that since the war began there has not been a trial of a single spy in Paris. In a cafe in the Latin quarter the other evening there was a great row and shouting. We crowded round, and found an excited French soldier shake ing his fists in front of a stolid-looking, heavy-browed individual and calling him "Sale Boche! Espion!!" and other phrases forcible, but not polite. The lookers-on murmured, and made as it to throw the presumed spy into the street. He stood very quiet, tho, evidently he did not like the looks of things. "I am not a German," he said; "I am a Greek!" "A Greek, oh, la, la!" the soldier retorted. "Worse and worse. We have not much use for Greeks in France. Get out!" He took him by the collar and helped by kicks and blows from the now excited erowd, ran him to the door.

The Modern Scourge and How to Meet it.

The speed at which we live, the hustle now so necessary for success have unfortunately a very adverse effect on the nervous and digestive systems of Canadians. The baneful results, increased lately to an alarming degree, often lay the seeds of more deadly trouble, but it will be satisfactory to learn of the ever-increasing popularity in the Dominion, of the Great British Remedy, Dr. Cassell's Tablets.

Dr. Ramsay Colles, J.P. of the City of Dublin, a man of high eminence in the scientific world, says:—"I have great pleasure in expressing my satisfaction as to the curative effect of Dr. Cassell's Tablets in cases of nerve troubles. From several cases which have lately come under my notice I am able to form the opinion that Dr. Cassell's Tablets constitute a safe and reliable family remedy, and appear to be specially effective for nerve and bodily weakness."

Dr. Cassell's Tablets are Nutritive, Restorative, Alterative, and Anti-Spasmodic, and of great therapeutic value in all derangements. The Nerve, Digestive, and Functional Systems in old or young. They are the recognised modern home remedy for Dyspepsia, Nervous Breakdown, Stomach Catarrh, Kidney Disease, Nerve and Paralysis, Infantile Paralysis, Rickets, St. Vitus' Dance, Anæmia, Sleeplessness, Brain Fag, Headache, Palpitation, Wasting Diseases, Vital Exhaustion, Loss of Flesh, and Premature Decay. OU have read much concerning the care of the eyes, how they may be kept in a healthy conaction, but little has been said of now their expression can be improved.

The off-quoted poetic sentiment that the eyes are the windows of the soul is absolutely true. Poets are more prone to get at truths than we orthogogive them.

Of greatest importance are the brows. If they are not snaped properly, or have a shaggy, ill-kept appearance, they are apt to proclaim you to the world as a grouch. The perfectly snaped brow has a long, slender, sweeping line like a swadow's wing, and the hair should be short and thick, without being coarse.

Then the eyebrows meet, the weather a sinister expression to even the most guileless of faces. I advise you, therefore, to have the superfuous hairs removed with an electric needle.

Care of Eyebrows

The eyebrows should be brushed night and morning Little came, shair eyebrow brushes are obtainingle at any shop where toiled articles are sold. At night they should be brushed to stimulate their growth, and in the morning they should be neatly brushed into place for the sake of beauty. Begin, of course, at the nose, and draw the brush toward the temple. There is nothing more unlovely than scraggy eyebrows or lashes. They have somewhat the apppearance of a mothesten piece of fur, and if the expression of the eyes is to be improved, you will have to begin a treatment that will increase the growth of both brows and lashes. I know of no better remedy for

And wary heads, made fine by art's refining.

Each night before retiring dip a small camel's hair brush into heated clive oil or vaseline, and apply it to the brows. Then rub this well into the roots with the fingers. For scant lashes, apply the oil or vaseline to the edge of the eyelids.

Occasionally you will notice that an abcceasionary you will notice that an abnormally long hair mars the symmetry of the eyebrow. This may be clipped off with the scissors.

Crowsfeet about the eyes give a peevish, disagreeable expression, and you should lose no time in massaging them away.

The expression of the eyes adds so much to the beauty of your face that no sane, sensible woman will be udge the little time it takes to give the brows and cashes the proper attention.

tend to be open and above board in your relations with the family. People are not often angry unless there is cause, and you would be happier any way to find out where you stand. Annie Lauric Nerves That Have Been Cut

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A.B., M.A., M.D. (Johns Hopkins University).

TAVE you ever thought of the spider and its web? There you see illustrated many twice-told but unheeded tales. The spider may be at the farthermost corner of the web; he may be off on a distant mission -hanging, as the novelists say of their heroes-"by a thread," yet the appearance of a fly in his parfor at any instant anywhere, sees the spider dart with the precision of an arrow for its target, straight at the spot where its prey rests.

The accurate information brought to the spider along the complicated threads of its web may be likened to the flashes of wireless impulses moved toward the distant DR. HIBSHBERG The nerves more to the spinning of the web, there is an analogy. When an accident, a knife, a bullet, a blow or what-not severs a nerve, the inside, central or main portion "spins" out a fresh one to grow down into the distant, decayed or useless part.

What Nerves Look Like

Occasionally, it is suspected, if the distant or skin portion of a nerve is not too far gone, the tissues and fluids round about feed it enough to grow inward to meet the onsprouting other thread, much as both ends of a cutworm regenerate a new worm, or both ends of a broken bone make new bone stuff. Commonly enough, the main unit of nourishment of a nerve fibre is the so-called "cell-stuff." In other words, a whitish nerve, as you know it, is only the terminal of a thinly drawn out part of a gray tissue unit, much as the thin spicules of taffy are drawn out from the mass of sticky taffy.

It must be plain from all this that in most instances a nerve, when cut.

repairs itself by regeneration from above where the nerve tissue units or "cells" are located. These, to be sure, are in the gray matter of the brain, spinal cord and ganglions or bunches of nerve "cells," and independent of the brain, me-and ganglions or bunches of nerve cons, and independent of dulla oblongata and spinal cord.

It is known by zoologists, biologists, experimental behaviorists and scientists other than some doctors—who will learn about it a generation or two hence—that the gray matter does not think, feel, perceive, imagine or judge any more than the skin does. In fine, the brain is no more the reason than is the much laughed at pineal gland.

When a leg or arm is amputated, the nerves and other tissues are cut in twain. Soon, however, the skin, then the subcutaneous, then the other tissues heal. Finally, the nerves begin to grow like the roots of green bay trees. They send their shoots in all directions, seeking what they may, especially some distant relative or nerve scabbard—nerve fibres are covered with a protective sheath as a sword is with a scabbard-in order to get in touch with their for-

Briefly, what then happens is a growth of nerve threads into the obstruction of the amputated, scarred part. Under the microscope these ends can be seen stubbed clubbed or curied up. It is such irritated nerve stumps that keep sending false messages, literal memories of wriggling toes, walking feet and other old sensations, which superstitious and misled folk think due to worms enting the supposedly buried stump, which really has long ago been burned up in some fire.

Piecce of nerve thread have been proved able to grow, whether associated with the "cell body" in the gray matter or not, Prof. Ross G. Harrison of New Haven, Ct., whose discourses inspired Dr. Alexis Carrel and all others since, was the first to make nerve fibres grow away from living creatures. Yes, a nerve in laboratories like the cutting from a rose or late the fresh air and sunlight. Take a tablespoonful of milk of magnesia and tablespoonful of milk of magnesia a

At the end of four weeks, such a cutting has hundreds of newly generated fibres. Indeed, nerves cut a year before and kept in cold storage will regenerate, if then placed under apropriate conditions for nourishment and growth.

If a child with infantile paralysis, a condition in which microbes and their poisons destroy the nerves to certain muscles, is taken to a skilled surgeon, it is often possible for him to sever, cross and reunite the palsied, flaccid, relaxed and useless muscle with another nerve. No matter what the previous particular faculty of this nerve may be, in the course of months or even years, it becomes re-educated to perform its new duties and loses its memory for its past

Associated movements of the tongue and shoulders, face and arm have resulted from such nerve splicing of nearby nerves. These persist as habit-spasms and "tics." unless months and months of attention is given to the readjustment of the habits, education and uses of the affected parts. Finally, the surgeon may graft upon nerves crushed or mashed lengthwise, portions of other nerves. The diseased or injured nerves are separated lengthwise and segments of sound nerves are made to intermingle with them and thus heal the breach.

WHY NOT HAVE AN "ALL-WHITE" CHRISTMAS TREE?

BY MRS. CHRISTINE FREDERICK. A LTHO the typical Christmas tree with its garish varied colorings and ornaments is always festive, still a change may be welcome this year, and a good suggestion is the all-white Christmas tree. This kind of a tree has been decorated successfully and has its own peculiar attractive beauty.

Either the regular fir tree or a small tree like a cherry sapling, sassafras, or young maple, can be used. If the latter, the tree and its branches are first entirely wrapped in white cotton batting. The tree should be set up in the usual way and the following articles are needed for its decoration: Four to six packages of silver thread insel, two to three dozen glass "ici-des," one large package artificial snow-dust, two or three dozen silver balls and ornaments of walnut size, one dozen large silver balls and ornaments, one large silver paper star and a 10vard piece of the double-brush tinsel

The decoration should be started by fastening the silver star in place at the with the regular wire fasteners. If can-dles are desired, of course white candles must be used, and they should be fastened on the large tips above the large balls. After every ball, ornament and icicle is fastened on, begin at the star with two strands of double tinsel rope. Pass the rope from the star to the next lower tip at each side, then let it drop to the next tip and so on, thus outlining and increasing the size of the tree.

color, nor any typical tarleton ornaments or others of the usual type. Its whole beauty lies in its silver-white restraint, a tree of the north, of fairyland and of snow. It is really one of the least expensive trees to decorate, as its ornaments cost less than the more gaundy kind. Its pure silver-whiteness seems to bring the idea of the Bethlehem star, the Christmas night and sacredness more close and real. For

KAISER'S GREEK CASTLE.

The kaiser recently offered King Constantine a special guard of the German police force, for the kaiser's castle at Corfu, in case the Greek coast was threatened by the entente powers. King Constantine declined the offer, stating that the coast was not endangered, and that the Greek fleet would meet with any emergency.

But the hot biscuits certainly do add a "different" and especially pleasent "extra" to dinner. There's something so cheery and hospitable, it seems to me, in the piping hot platter of mufflins journeying to table directly from the steaming oven.

As I plan my menus a few days ahead always, I generally manage to start my biscuit preparations in the morning—that is, prepare everything as much as possible so that when I get ready to serve dinner late in the day, there isn't too much fussing at the last minute. Of course, the one inconvenience about hot muffins of and kind is that in order to serve them right you really must be "on the cooking job" almost up to the last minute before dinner.

I find that keeping them hot after they're finished does not produce nearly so perfect a biscuit as the delicious first serving immedia.ely the pan of biscuit is ready. But I've found a few recipes that simplify this considerably, because most of the work can be done earlier in

HELP AT CHRISTMAS

O not make the mistake of giving ate in that time was a large bunch your child a "ready-made" Christmas. Some philosopher or other said long ago that we do not appreciate that which we do not work hard to obtain, and that we love more the people whom we do for than we love the people finger The attitude of giving, of service, is the one most necessary for children to learn, as they are all too often taught only. "What is Santa Claus going to bring me?" and, not so often. "What am I going to give mana, or sister, or auntie?" Nothing could be worse, ethically, than to allow children to buy every gift, and to do nothing toward the decoration of gifts on the tree. It will be ever so much more "their" tree if they see on it ornaments which they have made to help Santa Claus out. One of the most beautiful instances happened last year with a little boy who lives in the country, where many small cedar trees grow wild. Altho he believed in Santa Claus, and knew he would bring him a tree and decorate it, this little boy cut down and dragged in his own tree, "in order to make less work for Santa, and so he could have more time to take the trees around for the boys in the city!"

Ballad of French Rivers

Says Marne: "My poplar fringes
Have feit the Prussian tread,
The blood of brave men tinges
My banks with lasting red;
Let others ask due credit.
But France has me to thank;
Yon Kluck himself has said it:
I turned the Boche's flank!"

No glory on the stage. Save that, in the beginning, I strove to save Liege.

Alas that Frankish rivers Should share such shame as mine— In spite of all endeavors I flow to join the Rhine!"

Says Aisne: "My silver shallows
Are salver than the sea.
The woe of Rheims still hallows
My endless tragedy.
Of rivers rich in story
That run thru green Champagne,
In agony and glory,
The chief am I, the Aisne!"

Now there are other waters
That Frenchmen all hold dear—
The Rhone, with many daughters,
That runs so icy clear;
There's Moselle, deep and winy,
There's Loire, Garonne, and Seine,
But, oh, the vallant, tiny
Marne and Meuse and Aisne!

Great Team That Won World's Firestones Showing Form in the Title Is to Remain

KRAUSMANN'S GRILL

Athenaeum A League -Brokers Were the Goats.

BOSTON. Mass. Dec. 18.—Notwithstanding the many rumors afloat as to startling changes to come in the Boston Red Sox lineup, of sweeping reductions in salaries and possible trades or sales, the local fans can put it down as absolutely certain that the great team that fought its way to the top of the American League last summer and won the world's title is the some onifit that will carry team that fought its way to the top of the American League last summer and won the world's title is the some onifit that will carry team that fought its way to the top of the American League last summer and won the world's title is the some onifit that will carry the bigness of Boston fandom thruout the 1978 campaign.

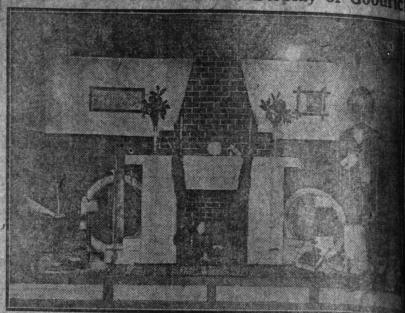

If there are to be any changes at call in the personnel of the team such changes will be but triding and will not affect any one of the men who were mainly responsible for bringing the big honops to this city.

From Philadelphia. New York. Washington, Cleveland, and even Chicago. come rumors of important trades and deals, but it can be set down right here that the Boston club will not be a factor in the trading.

Already the alarmists have sent out stories to the effect that the great. This Speaker has found fault with the terms offered him and that the activated that the Texan is alleged to have assumed, may lead to wholesale jumps and desertions from the team, Yet such stories are groundless and when the time comes Speaker, as well as every other man whom President Lannin is keen on signing up again, will be in line. Retrenchment and a wave of economy may overtake the Boston Red Sox team later on but it will hardly affect the team this coming year.

In the first place, even if President Lannin face on the year, and one big obstacle in the start of the president Lannin face on the year, and one big obstacle in the year, and one big obstacle in the year, and one by dealing and year of two first plant of the president Lannin face on the year, and one by obstacle in the year of the plant of the year of the year of th

RESOLVED THAT THIS SHOWS THAT IT IS MORE BLESSED TO GIVE THAN TO RECEIVE. THE DEAR OLD LADY
AND THE KIND OLD GENTLEMAN BOTH WENT AWAY
HAPPY THINKING THEY HAD GIVEN HELP TO A POOR
OLD WOMAN. OF COURSE IT WASN'T A WOMAN, BUT THE PLEASURE OF GIVING MADE THEM VERY HAPPY. THEN SEE THE LOAFER WHO WANTED TO STEAL THE ALMS FROM AN OLD WOMAN. OF COURSE.
IT WAS N'T AN OLD WOMAN, BUT HIS INTENTION WAS THE SAME AND SEE WHAT HAPPENED TO HIM, HE WAS BITTEN AND KICKED AND CUFFED
AND NOW HE'S MISERABLE. YOU CANT BE HAPPY WITH DISHONEST MONEY. DON'T FOOL YOURSELF.
ANY BODY WHO WOULD ACCEPT OR TAKE OR GET DISHONEST MONEY CAN'T BE HAPPY. IT HAS GERMS OF DISEASE AND OF UNHAPPINESS AND FAILURE IN IT AND IT DOES N'T STAY WITH YOU.
LET'S GET HONEST HAPPY MONEY AND PUT IT IN THE BANK FOR A RAINY DAY.

It is a fine and fitting thing that the Christmas cards chosen as tokens of remembrance by the Empire's King and Queen should portray the respective parts of the man and woman in the war. It is true that the pictures are of a bygone day, and it is a far cry from the ancient frigate to the modern dreadnought and battle cruiser, as it is from the brocaded glories of knighthood to the woolen socks of "Tommy." The spirit of the Empire is
