The Trench Nose "Life in the trenches is not conducive to good complexion and attractive noses," says a writer in the London Evening Standard. "Many of the younger men home on leave have been so dreadfully chafed on account of the rosacea hue of the most prominent feature of his face, that they have at last resorted to the beauty specialists and when in France religiously employ a specific for overcoming the defect. I am told it is only used a few days prior to coming home on leave. It was only this week that a beauty specialist showed me a letter from a man at the front asking for a pot of the necessary cream to be sent out to him. I know of a case, too, where a 'dug-out' who is doing as well as he can in spite of his doing has done splendid work in the trenches. The secret leaked out on the occasion of his being taken ill, and now he's sorry he ever did it."

THE CHANCELLOR SPEAKS OF PEACE

In his speech in the Reichstag on Thursday, after reiterating the false statement that the war was forced on Germany, Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg referring to the question of an international league for the preservation of peace, said: "If at the end of the war the world will only become fully conscious of the horrifying destruction of life and property, then through the whole of humanity, there will ring out a cry for peaceful arrangements and understandings which as far as within human power will avoid the return of such a monstrous catastrophe. This cry will be so powerful and so justified that it must lead to some result."

"Germany will honestly co-operate in examination of every endeavor to find a practical solution. Then the principle of justice and the development of peace only of the continent but also on the seas must be made valid." The chancellor said that Lord Grey's ideas in regard to international guarantees of peace seemed to possess peculiar character in that they took into consideration the rights of aggressive nations. The chancellor said it was known on reliable authority that in 1915 Great Britain and France promised to Russia dictatorial domination of Constantinople, the Bosphorus and the west shore of the Dardanelles, with the Hinterland, and that Asia-Minor should be divided among the Entente powers.

"These are the plans of our enemies for annexation, to which must be added Alsace and Lorraine, while I have never designated the annexation of Belgium as our intention when I spoke about the aims of the war."

The first condition for the evolution of international relations by way of arbitration and peaceful compromise of conflicting interests," he said, "ought to be that no more aggressive conditions be formed. Germany is at all times ready to enter a league of peace which will restrain the disturber of peace."

News of Maritime Men In The War

Woodstock Sentinel—Major E. R. Vince, who left here with the first contingent, arrived home Monday. He was in command of the Canadian Engineers and is recovering from a broken ankle, which he sustained when a horse he was riding fell at the station on his arrival, by the reception committee, the 60th Battery and a number of citizens. Major Vince has been in the trenches since his arrival in the trenches for the past two years. He is the possessor of the Military Cross.

Sergeant Gains Peck of Prince Rupert, now a member of the 230th Light Construction Battalion, located at present at Windsor, arrived at Hopeville Hill by Monday's train, to make a brief visit to relatives there. Sergeant Peck is a native of Albert county, but his parents, when a small boy and his former well known resident of that village. He went to the Pacific province with his parents, when a small boy and is making his first visit to his childhood home in thirty years. He is a brother of Major Cyrus Peck, who has been at the front with the 16th Cavalry since his commission in order to get in the Construction Corps. The latter is now some 800 strong.

Man Mussed Up His Shirts "I know a man who wears his shirts in chronological order. That is, if he buys a new shirt he tags it with his initials, numbers and dates it at the bottom of the pile. And no matter how much he likes it, he does not wear it until it comes out at the top of the pile. He went into wordsy detail about the economy of his system—and he added that he arranged his socks and underwear in the same manner."

I told him that he would meet the woman of his dreams some day, and that she would knock the spots out of his system. I told him that she would admire a particular shirt, and ask why he didn't wear it often. And then he would send it to the laundry as soon as it was soiled and wear it as soon as it got back, and he would forget the system.

"Don't you believe it?" he said. "The person doesn't live who could upset my system."

But I met him a few days ago—for the first time in a year. He was hurrying to catch a car, so I had only time to ask him how he was and how things were going. And he didn't have time to explain—he only shouted over his shoulder, jubilantly, "I'm wearing 'em every which way."

And I hadn't ever heard he was married.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WELL DONE While passing in Market Place, west side, yesterday afternoon, the members of the Field Ambulance Train had the opportunity of showing their ability in the whole state by a wide margin. The Democratic vote slumped in all parts of Greater New York, but the slump was but a minor one.

AS TO MARGARINE St. John, Nov. 11, 1916. To the Editor of the Times: Sir—I read an article in last night's Times re the proposed manufacture of margarine for the working man, and it goes to show what some people think of the working man, when they want to give him a substitute for food. This is the stuff they are issuing to prisoners of war in England at the present time, and I have lived on it and can say right here that it is only fit for axle grease.

The too bad, sir, at the present day that people have so little respect for the working man, especially when they form the backbone of our fighting forces; and then they say legislation might well be passed permitting the manufacture of margarine. It is too bad some of the margarine promoters would not get together and pass legislation to reduce the cost of living for the poor families while the father is away at the front.

Then, again, they say it would be a veritable boon to the working man; I think it would be veritable boon to the nation if some of the axle grease promoters were over in France, instead of trying to invent a substitute for food and trying to put the working man on a level with cattle or prisoners of war. Thanking you, sir, for your valuable space. (A WORKING MAN)

LILUOKALANI VERY ILL The Death of Hawaii's Former Queen Is Expected Momentarily. San Francisco, Nov. 10.—Lilukalani, former Queen of Hawaii, is very ill at Honolulu and her death is expected momentarily, according to information received here.

Since the signing of her formal abdication of the throne of Hawaii on Jan. 25, 1895, after her arrest as a participant in the plot to overthrow the republic which had been set up by S. B. Dole, Liluokalani sought for fifteen years to regain her sovereignty. When her dream of restoration was given up at the end of a long, unsuccessful siege at Washington, she petitioned for a million acres of crown lands which had been taken over by the republic.

She never succeeded in this, and finally withdrew from Washington, living thereafter at Honolulu on $4,000 a year voted to her by the Hawaiian legislature. Her house was the resort of royalists, and within her own doors she kept the state of a queen with a small but devoted court. To Americans, however, she is Mrs. Lydia Dominis. She is the author of "Hawaii's Story," a book in which her remarkable intellect was fully displayed. She is a composer of hundreds of Hawaiian songs.

MRS. BOISEVAIN VERY ILL Two Transfusions of Blood Made in Effort to Save Suffering Leader. Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Inca Milholland Boisevain, woman suffrage leader, who collapsed while delivering a political address in Berkeley a short time ago, lies in a critical condition in the Good Samaritan Hospital, having suffered several sinking and fainting spells. Two transfusions of blood have been effected with the purpose of overcoming a serious condition of anemia. The attending physician expresses hope that the treatment will be successful. He said that the transfusion had been accomplished in each case with absolute success.

SIXTEEN DEATHS. Sixteen deaths were reported to the Board of Health for the last week—Marasmus, three; senility, two; premature birth, two; and one each from apoplexy, paralysis, meningitis, endocarditis, typhoid fever, cirrhosis of liver, carcinoma of stomach, tuberculosis meningitis, accidentally smothered.

QUITTS "Didn't you promise never to do it again?" sternly demanded the parent. "Yes, Sir." "And I said I'd whip you if you did, did I, dad, but as I didn't keep my promise I won't hold you to yours."

TALK OF PULP MILL. Newest Advocate—It is stated on good authority that the Donald Fraser Co. intend to erect a pulp mill on one of their numerous properties in New Brunswick and there is some reason to believe that they will choose the Chatham Head site near the end of the Morrissey Bridge. The company's lumber lands on the Miramichi are sufficiently extensive to warrant the erection of a pulp mill, and the site is ideal for that purpose. This would mean an extra population of between 1,000 and 2,000 people, most of whom would live in Newcastle.

BREAK A CHILD'S COLD BY GIVING SYRUP OF FIGS. 'No, sir, I don't believe in war!' cried the little man. 'It means invasion and confiscation and a forcible and brutal alteration of existing boundaries.' The man across the way turned to his companion and asked in a whisper who the little man was. 'He is a map-maker,' the companion whisperingly replied, 'and he's got an immense stock of old maps on hand.'

Cleanses the Little Liver and Bowels and They Get Well Quick. When your child suffers from a cold don't wait; give the little stomach, liver and bowels a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, if breath is bad, stomach sour, give a teaspoonful of 'California Syrup of Figs,' and in a few hours all the clogged-up constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. If your child coughs, snuffles and has caught cold or is feverish or has a sore throat give a good dose of 'California Syrup of Figs,' to evacuate the bowels. No difference what other treatment is given. Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless 'fruit laxative.' Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of 'California Syrup of Figs,' which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits and here! Get the genuine, made by 'California Fig Syrup Company.'

Local Druggists Repair What Famous Surgeons Cannot Touch. Shattered nerves are beyond the reach of the surgeon's knife. What will repair them? Doses of people right here in your home town will bear testimony to this fact that Zoc-tic—the health tonic—has set them on their feet again. This famous combination of glycer-phosphates—the actual element of the human body—God Liver Oil and delicious tonic wine, supply the very elements that worn out nerves require. In a quiet way the action of Zoc-tic is truly marvellous. Without a trace of narcotic it induces sound sleep. And following that, better and better digestion. And following that, final and complete rebuilding of the nervous system drained of vitality. Two weeks' faithful use of it will convince you. Because you have been so often misled, expecting much and receiving little, we offer outright to refund the purchase price of Zoc-tic if at the end of two weeks you cannot report real progress toward better health. Stop trying it today. E. Clinton Brown, Sole Distributing agent.

THE NEGLECTED CHILDREN

That in the first year of its active work, during only half of which it had a Home, the Children's Aid Society of St. John should have over forty children committed to its care is in itself an evidence of the prevalence of conditions which should arouse the citizens to a more general and a deeper interest in social conditions.

That many children of school age have been discovered who have not been at school at all, or are barely able to read and write, is another fact of deep significance; while the number of children who get no religious instruction, and whose parents do not appear to care anything about the welfare of their offspring, cannot but arouse a feeling of anxiety with regard to the future moral standing of the community.

For it must be remembered that the Society has thus far dealt chiefly with cases so bad that they came under the eye of the police, and that there must be a great number of cases where families are drifting rapidly toward the point where police action would become necessary.

Every child of school age should be in school, unless the conditions are very exceptional. If there are those not sufficiently well clad, the reason should be learned and action taken. A shocking disregard for marriage relations and the solemn pledges made by husband and wife is one of the causes of the large number of neglected and dependent children in the lowest strata of society.

Husbands desert wives, wives desert husbands, and form new relationships with complete disregard of proprieties or pledges. Not only so, but many parents who do not greatly disagree permit their children to roam the streets, and care nothing about them. The Boys' Club furnishes an illustration. The sixty or seventy boys, and their numbers might be greatly increased if the Club were properly supported, who congregate there night after night are never shocked by the appearance of their parents. The latter might be supposed to take some interest in the Club, but they never pay it a visit. The parents of far greater numbers of boys and girls who roam the streets at night are alike indifferent. We shall but reap that which we sow.

Of course drunkenness is a great cause of the wretchedness of many homes. The Society has had to deal with cases where mothers as well as fathers drank. It is even said, and this matter will be investigated, that one man whose wife is in the Municipal Home and whose children have been cared for by the Society, is supporting another woman. One of the weaknesses of the law is that men who should be made to contribute to the cost of caring for their families can only be placed in jail, and thus another burden added. We need a prison farm.

The reports submitted at the annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society and printed in today's Times, do not tell all that the active members of the Society have learned in their work, or all that the police could tell of conditions as they know them. We are sometimes assured with a smug complacency that St. John is no worse than other cities; but that assurance will not clothe or feed one neglected child or turn one individual out of the path of vice. It is the assurance of the pharisee.

The Children's Aid Society needs a commissioner to handle its cases daily if necessary. It ought to have a trained social worker as its agent. There should be a provincial superintendent of neglected and dependent children, and the whole province should be organized. It was necessary to enlist the active support of all benevolent organizations in the city to get a Children's Protection Act. The sequel shows that the work has only begun. The same organizations should get behind the Society and show that public sentiment calls for further action. There are children today in better homes than they ever knew, who in later years will give the Children's Aid Society for blessing them a fair start in life. What is a boy or a girl—a boy or a girl properly nurtured—worth to this country? What will a neglected child, who develops vicious tendencies, cost this country? It is a practical business question as well as one that should go to the hearts of the people. We shall reap that which we sow.

The government at Ottawa has passed an order in council which a confiding people are assured will greatly aid in preventing an undue increase in the cost of living. We will all believe it when we see the results.

CONCERNING THE ELECTIONS.

The charge is made by one portion of the Conservative press that the Liberals seek to throw the country into the turmoil of an election during war-time. This is a strange charge to be made by supporters of a government which made all arrangements to procure the votes of soldiers at the front. But let us see what the Conservative Montreal Gazette recently said on this subject:—

"The power that created the Parliament of Canada can alter the circumstances of its constitution or extend the terms of service of its members. It cannot, however, give them a mandate from the electors, and a House of Commons without such mandate is an anomaly that should not exist. The two parties in parliament are responsible for the situation that will prevail after the present month. Representatives in each of those parties that with the war on their minds, the people could not do their duty as voters in the serious situation that has existed for over two years. Their action may have made it impracticable to observe the spirit of the constitutional law and at the regular time choose a new body of representatives to take the place of that whose proper term is soon to expire. The conditions are not desirable, however, and the sooner the House of Commons is dissolved and a new one elected the better will it be for parliamentary institutions in Canada. The coming session of what remains of the House of Commons should do only what is required to carry on the great business of the country, and then, as speedily as possible, be dissolved. The serious things that may have to be done by parliament before another twelve months elapse require that the men who constitute the membership of the House of Commons shall unquestionably and fairly represent all the people. The present House of Commons, chosen by constituencies based on the census of 1901, and living beyond its term, does not do that."

What have the other Conservative papers to say in reply to the Montreal Gazette?

THE 180th and 222nd
During their short stay in St. John, N.B., the officers and men of the 180th and 222nd battalions have won the admiration and friendship of the citizens for their soldierly qualities and the admirable discipline observed. They are very fine types of that strong and intelligent Canadian manhood which has asserted itself from coast to coast in the hour of the nation's need. We have admired these brave young men as they marched through our streets, and we have been proud to claim them as Canadians. There is no east or west or north or south in this great crisis in Canadian history. The Canadian born, the British born, the American born, and the foreign born, the French Canadian and the Acadian—all who now claim allegiance to Canada, are one splendid brotherhood in her defence. St. John people have a peculiar interest in the battalions who are going overseas, because a St. John battalion, the 26th, has suffered perhaps as much as any that went from Canada, with the possible exception of some in the First Contingent. We have seen many heroes go who will not return, and we cannot be other than deeply moved when we see these thousands of splendid, keen-eyed fellows marching with head erect, prepared for any sacrifice their country may demand. Our hearts go out to them, for are they not our sons and brothers? This time that tries the souls of men brings us very near to each other.

A CHANGE OF FRONT.
The German Chancellor has declared the willingness of Germany to enter a world union for compelling peace. This is a complete change of front. When the German war-lords believed they could impose their wishes upon the world by force of arms, they had no use whatever for peace compelling leagues. They scorned all suggestions of disarmament, or even a halt in the armament programme. They were determined to dominate the world, and peace was to be for the rest of the nations the peace of submission.

Having now discovered that they cannot dominate the world, and that they are daily getting nearer to defeat, they discover that they really do not want peace as desirable.

It is to be regretted that the Chancellor has not yet reached that frame of mind which would compel him to tell the truth about the cause of the present war; but that is perhaps too much to expect. It has cost the world millions of lives to convince Germany that she should not have brought on this war, and if a league of peace is ever formed the signatories will have full knowledge of the fact that Germany respects a treaty or a pledge only so long as it may seem to be to her interest to do so. The wings of the Prussian eagle must be so effectively clipped that there will be no future danger from that quarter. The Allies will see that this is done before they devote any time to talk of peace and leagues to compel peace.

It seems that the control of the American house of representatives is to be in the hands of three or four men who are not classed as straight Democrats or Republicans. That makes a very interesting situation, and offers the party manipulators an exceptional opportunity to display their peculiar gifts.

WILSON RECEIVED LARGEST POPULAR VOTE EVER GIVEN PRESIDENT IN STATES

Washington, Nov. 10.—Secretary to the president, Tamm, tonight sent the following message to President Wilson at Williamsport (Mass.):
"Election returns conclusively demonstrate that your victory at the polls is clear and decisive. You have carried two-thirds of the states of the union. The four years of your administration have brought you approximately 2,226,614 more votes than when you were first elected in 1912. This is the greatest increase given to an American president for a second term since the Civil War. Your vote last Tuesday was 2,010,106 more than ever previously recorded for a Democratic candidate, and despite character of opposition is the largest vote

A Pleasing Surprise

If you are sore and aching from a sprain, strain, burn, bruise, or muscular inflammation, it is extremely pleasing to learn, after you have secured something advertised to relieve your particular affliction, that not only have you obtained a preparation that is excellent for external use, but also one you can safely and unhesitatingly take inwardly for coughs, colds, sore throat, cramps, chills, etc., if necessary to have its soothing and healing qualities go direct to the seat of an internal trouble. Most liniments, for example, have only one value—external use—but in the case, say, of the well known Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, the double value—internal and external use—is there. This splendid preparation, from the prescription of an erstwhile old family physician, has been humanity's staunch friend for over 100 years, and its great army of users, thankful for its wonderful virtue, feel that Johnson's Anodyne Liniment—the double value liniment—is "an angel in disguise."

TO CURE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can be successfully treated at home by an internal remedy that in many instances has effected a complete cure after all else has failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from their ear.

Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrh, or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them, and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription is made as follows:
Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmitin (Double Strength), about 75c. worth. Take this home, and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. The first dose should begin to relieve the distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat, are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are often entirely overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are said to be directly caused by catarrh, therefore, there must be many people whose hearing can be restored by this simple home treatment. Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial.
Important Note: In ordering Parmitin always specify that you want double strength. Your druggist has it or he can easily get it for you. If not send 75c. postal note or money order to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine St., Montreal, Que., Can., and they will supply you.

A scene from "The Black Feather," to be presented by Albert Brown, and his own English company at the Opera house on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

No actor who visits Canada is more popular than Albert Brown, one of the cleverest living exponents of English roles, and local play-goers will learn with delight that he will be seen at the Opera House on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the coming week.

Mr. Brown is this year presenting "The Black Feather," a sensational comedy from the pen of W. A. Tremayne of Montreal, who wrote several of the leading successes of Robert Mantell and Robert Hilliard in their hey-day as stars. It deals with war diplomacy and is founded on an incident which occurred in London during the Serbian crisis that immediately preceded the present war. It is rich in humor, suspense and surprises. Its story is entirely different from that of "The White Feather" in which Mr. Brown so delighted the public last year, but perpetuates the character of the young British secret service man which he created.

As one leading newspaper has said: "If you love the drama don't fail to see 'The Black Feather,' one of the cleverest comedies ever seen in Canada. Seats for all performances are now on sale."

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 Per Cent In One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses. It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Non-Opto tablet. Drop one Non-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Non-Opto is a very remarkable eye medicine. It is a very safe and reliable eye specialist and wisely prescribed by them. The manufacturer guarantees it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good drug store and is one of the very best preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." Watson, Drug Co. Sole In.

Parade of the Visiting Units

180th and 222nd in United Appearance Here

Western Unit Coming

Preparations Indicate Presence of Cavalry in Future—News of the Soldiers at Home and Abroad

The big military church parade which is to be held tomorrow morning is likely to be the last in which the 180th and 222nd battalions will take part in St. John. It is understood that the two units, as well as the 178th, will be proceeding to Halifax within a few days.

Edmonton Highlanders Next It is rumored in military circles that the 16th Edmonton Highlanders will be the next unit to be quartered in the city. This unit is under the command of Lieut-Col. Craig and is said to be at full strength.

For Cavalry? Captain G. Simms, officer of the barracks, at headquarters of military district No. 6, was in the city yesterday making arrangements for the erection of the exhibition building which will be asked permission to allow the military authorities to build on their grounds.

The 16th battalion took the longest route march yesterday that they have since arriving in the city, going as far as Spruce Lake and return.

Recruits Three recruits were secured yesterday afternoon at the recruiting office: James A. Sibly, Digby, Field, Ambulance; Fred Myles, St. John, Canadian Engineers; Elsie Belliveau, St. Marys, Canadian Engineers. This made a total of five recruits during the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Harrison of Gouda Point, have received the sad news from Ottawa that their son, Melvin Collier, died in a hospital in France as a result of cancer. He was a telegraph operator and at the time he enlisted he was stationed near Calgary and joined the 3rd C. M. R. Besides his parents he is survived by four brothers, Ralph and Allan at home; Sergeant Roy of the 1st C. M. R., and Budd of Pass, Alta., and a company of the 222nd played the Siege Battery boys and when the game was called the score stood fifteen to one in favor of the 222nd.

It is understood that the military authorities will endeavor to secure from the city a piece of the land on the Manawagonish road for the purpose of trench building.

Arrangements were made yesterday by the military authorities here for the transfer of Miss Hegarty's private hospital at the corner of Pitt and Leinster streets to them for the accommodation of patients.

It is also understood that a wing will be built on the Evangeline Home, to further increase the hospital accommodations.

Shock for Soldier A delightful story is told in the first birthday number of the Gazette of the 8th London General Hospital, Wandsworth, regarding a newly-arrived patient with a bullet wound in the arm who was examined by one of the most distinguished ornaments of the medical staff. "That's all right," said the doctor, "I'll have you well again soon."

"Thank you," replied the patient, "but I was going to ask permission to go out and see a specialist about it." Given permission, the patient proceeded to town with his purse stuffed with banknotes to consult the best surgeon in England—and was ushered into the presence of the very gentleman whom he rashly scorned at Wandsworth!

FOR THE KIDNEYS WHAT THE KIDNEYS ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR

The function of the kidneys is to purify the blood. Every three minutes, the entire blood stream passes through the kidneys and is relieved of its impurities by these busy organs. When the kidneys fail in their work, poison accumulates in the blood—poison that falls in the back, the head aches, the urinary system is deranged, the joints and ankles are apt to swell and there is grave danger of rheumatism, sciatica, and lamboago.

British Plantation Rubber Is Saving Canada Millions

Low Prices of Rubbers and Overshoes Due to Britain's Control of Situation

Here in Canada many of us have fallen into the truly Anglo-Saxon habit of considering the "Mother of Parliaments" slow and a bit behind the times. The present price of rubber, when its cause is revealed, affords one of the many proofs that such an opinion is away off the mark.

Thanks to great rubber plantations established in the face of criticism and ridicule, many years before in her tropical Dominions, Great Britain at the outbreak of the war held a firm and tightening grip on the world's supply of raw rubber—a grip reinforced by her dominating navy. From 60% in 1914, the production of these plantations has grown this year to 75% of the whole world's output, leaving only about half the requirements of the United States alone to come from all other sources.

The result has been that the needs of the Allies, enormous though they are, have been plentifully supplied, while Germany has been reduced to registered mails and the "Deutschland" in desperate attempts to mitigate her rubber famine. Neutrals have been allowed all the rubber they want, at prices actually lower than before the war, so long as they prevent any of it from reaching the enemy, while Canada and other parts of the Empire have an abundant supply at equally favorable Government-regulated prices.

In this foresight and generosity of the British Government lies the reason why rubbers and overshoes, has not gone up in price—why rubbers and overshoes, in spite of increased cost of fabric, chemicals and labor, are as inexpensive as ever, while almost any coating several dollars a pair more. Wearing rubbers or overshoes through this winter to protect these expensive shoes is more than practical—it is patriotic, for in thus saving leather we make it easier for the Government to secure the absolutely necessary supplies of this alarmingly scarce material for our soldiers.

Both Thrift and Patriotism Point to Rubbers!

Canadian Drew Plans For Tank

Idea Sent to War Office, by Pte. Hughes Cuddy

Was Just Too Late in Field

May Receive Commission as a Result of Engineering Skill. Demonstrated in Invention

London, Oct. 28.—The Battle of Loos in September of last year, was what inspired a Canadian hospital assistant with an idea for the invention of the "tank" in warfare. On every side claims are being set up that so-and-so invented these wonderful, but cumbersome machines of warfare, but although Private T. Hughes Cuddy, of Winnipeg, cannot claim to be the inventor, he certainly satisfied The Mail and Empire correspondent that he conceived the idea in principle and drew up plans for a tank as far back as October, 1915. Private Cuddy is an engineer who has already met with success in the sale of the "Cuddy self-steering device for gas tractors," which is manufactured by the Western Steel and Iron Company, Limited, of Winnipeg. Notwithstanding that, however, he took up the study of medicine, being at the end of his first year when he came over eighteen months with medical reinforcements. He was sent to No. 2 Canadian General Hospital at Le Touquet, on the coast of Normandy, of which Lieut.-Col. Kenneth Cameron is now in charge, and with the aid of Capt. J. D. Morgan of Montreal, Private Cuddy installed the X-ray apparatus, for which he became engineer-in-charge.

When the first big push by the British forces took place on the 27th of September of last year, No. 2 General Hospital received a crowd of wounded men. These men talked rather bitterly about the needless way in which, when they went over the parapet in waves, they were cut down by the German machine guns. "That suggested to my mind a moving fort," said Cuddy, "something which could go forward and at the same time afford complete protection for those operating."

The idea was worked out on paper, and the diagram which Cuddy drew up, convinced him that it was a very practical first edition of a "tank." Judging by sketches given me by officers from the front who have seen the tanks, I should say the "tank" invented by Cuddy differed only in two details—the absence of the gun turrets, and the extension of the "tread" all round the machine.

Like many an inventor who has been ahead of his day, Cuddy was the subject of chaff and laughter. "Cuddy's moving fort" became a household joke in the hospital. Capt. J. D. Morgan, however, proved a good friend, and with his assistance correspondence with the War Office was entered into as early as October last. The War Office accorded more attention than is sometimes given in such cases, and as one letter was signed by Major-General Hickman, that fact indicated that the subject was dealt with by someone in authority. The upshot was that in January of this year Cuddy was informed that his letters "relative to an armored car for destroying operations" had been carefully considered by a committee of the advisory panel of scientific and technical experts in the department, who stated that experiments had already been made on the lines suggested, and that his proposals did not materially add to the information already at their disposal. To put it briefly, Cuddy was just a little too late in the field, though it was clear that his invention was entirely original.

On this latter ground the War Office authorities have been gracious enough to suggest that he is deserving of some merit, and it is likely that he may be recommended for a commission and given rank in connection with the "tanks." When I asked him why he switched off from engineering to medicine, he answered that there was a close connection between the two. Engineering is the science of understanding the mechanism of an inanimate frame, he said, while medicine is the art of understanding the most delicate mechanism of the divinely-made organism. The young man who could take such an ennobled view of the relationship of his two professions seemed to me to be worthy of doing something better than the duties of an orderly such as he has been doing in hospital, especially as he abandoned earnings as high as $8,000 a year to come over here to do his bit.

777 HUMPHREYS' Seventy-seven For Grip, Influenza COLDS

The Diagnosis of a Cold If a person subject to Catarrh or Influenza finds himself sneezing and sniffing, he has taken Cold, though he cannot tell how. If a person liable to Bronchitis, has roughness, scraping or dryness in the throat, he has taken Cold. If a person subject to Quinsy finds his tonsils swollen and painful swallowing, he has taken Cold. A Cold, however slight, should never be left to "get well" of itself, but should always be helped away. This is first and not alone very easy, but a very simple matter, because these early symptoms are all caused by congestion and inflammation. To get the best results and help the Cold away take "Seventy-seven" at the first sign of a Cold. Price, 25c. at all Drug Stores.

Fear Iron Scarcity

The principal cause of the rapid and wild advance in pig iron is probably a fear that it will not be possible to produce as much as will be required. Hitherto the "thin neck" of the bottle has been the steel producing unit, there being a sufficient supply of pig iron with which to make the steel and a plentiful supply of rolling capacity to finish the steel, once cast into ingots, with the one exception that there has not been enough slabbing and plate mill capacity. The rolling capacity advanced to record levels and finished steel products in close keeping, except that plates advanced far beyond their normal rate of iron advanced only very moderately. Prices are now higher by say $1 a ton all around for pig iron than quoted last week's market. The rapid and excited advance suggests that there are fears of a famine in pig iron.

New Paper Stock Issue

Announcements of new paper mill activities are coming forward daily. Apart from the enlargements planned by the Bromont Co., it was announced yesterday that the Howard Smith Paper Company would shortly offer $600,000 new stock to its shareholders at 80, the proceeds of the issue to be used for the purchase of the Edwin Crabtree Co.'s new mill. The mill will be taken over in January. It was designed, as a newspaper mill, but will be converted into a bond and writing paper mill in keeping with the character of the company's paper-making activities. It is the company's claim that its business in bond and writing paper is not dependent on war conditions; that it is highly rated in trade circles, has signed a contract below American prices and by so doing is strengthening its hold on Canadian trade in normal times.

Estimate Earnings

Estimates of paper mills' earnings for 1917 would be classed as fanciful if some of the estimates did not come from responsible sources. The head of one large mill not so long ago refused to make any estimate, on the ground that what he said would not be believed. The manager of the Bromont enterprise, who is highly rated in trade circles, has signed a statement that the company's earnings will amount in 1917 to 28% per cent. on common stock of so substantial an amount as $7,000,000—against 5% per cent. this year. The Howard Smith Co., which will present complete payments, all within a short period, of 21 per cent. on its preferred stock, dividends until now, is said to expect earnings at the rate of 40 per cent. on $1,000,000 common next year.

Uniforms of Many Colors

I should think the French soldier beats all the allies in variety of uniform. One would need to be a marvel of memory and precision (writes a Frenchman revisiting his own country after nearly two years' absence), to remember the thousand-and-one varieties of color, cloth and style that adorn the French soldier at home. From the coarsest green corduroy to the finest cloth of light blue shade, all colors and stuffs seem to have contributed to the general outfit of the French troops here. After many vain attempts to find out the cause of such a state of things, I was told that it was due to the fact that owing to the total lack of anything like what was wanted in the beginning of the war, the government had commandeered all the stocks available (irrespective of color or make) in the various warehouses, and turned these stocks into military uniforms.

St. John Man's Story. Charles F. Crandall, formerly editor of the Montreal Star, is at the front in the interests of his paper, and in a recent communication gives a graphic description of what he saw in the Somme region. He had some thrilling experiences dodging shells. The "white heat of confidence" shown by the soldiers in the trenches was the deepest impression he brought away with him.

HARMONY GLEE CLUB

Owing to the fact that many of the local singers were attending choir practices last evening the attendance at the meeting called for the purpose of reorganizing the Harmony Male Glee Club for the season was so small that no business was taken up. Instead, it was decided to call another meeting for Monday evening. It is understood that, if the club is reorganized, it may have an opportunity to assist in carrying out some very interesting musical plans which now are under consideration.

INFORMATION WANTED

John B. Jones, registrar of births and marriages, has received a request for a birth certificate for Maxwell Dundlop, a native of this city who is now a widow and applying for a pension. It is believed that she was born either in Spar Cove road or in Waterloo street. Owing to the fact that no proper provincial records were kept here prior to 1868 it is impossible for Mr. Jones to furnish the certificate required, but any person having information on the subject might advise him.

THE RETREAT

The Eucharistic retreat being carried on in the Cathedral for men was continued last evening at this morning. Last night Rev. Francis Walker recited the rosary and Rev. Patrick Casey, S.J., gave a strong sermon on hell. It was one of the best missionary sermons on this subject ever heard in the Cathedral. Father Casey painted a vivid and powerful picture of the sufferings there. Benediction of the most Blessed Sacrament closed the evening exercises. There was a large number in attendance this morning at the early mass.

ANOTHER LEAVES POLICE FORCE

Third Resignation in a Week is That of Policeman Lindsay

The third resignation for this week from the local police force was registered this morning when Robert O. Lindsay tendered his resignation to Chief Simons. No reason was given in the resignation, but it is believed attributed to the matter of the pay. Policemen Winter and Rankine severed their connection with the force earlier in the week. There are now three vacancies on the force.

CURTAIN SERVICES ON DUTCH RAILWAYS AS COAL SUPPLY SHORT

BOY IN SHORT TROUSERS BEFORE COURT AS DRUNK

A boy in short trousers, giving his age as 17, was arrested last night at 11:45 o'clock on drunkenness charge. When brought to the police station by Policeman Lindsay last evening one of the officials said he was "crazed with liquor." This morning the police court, the magistrate sent the boy below in an attempt to find out who supplied liquor to a lad of such years, for he is believed to be much younger than the age he gave. The boy said that he had seen a bottle drop out of a man's pocket in Brunswick street and when he picked it up he found it was whiskey.

CORNER STONE OF NEW SCHOOL LAID TODAY

Interesting Ceremonies at the New King George in Bentley Street

The corner stone of the new King George school in Bentley street was laid this afternoon at three o'clock with appropriate ceremonies. The Grand Lodge of New Brunswick, F. & A. M., were in charge of the arrangements and the grand master, Dr. H. V. B. Bridges, of Fredericton, officiated.

The members of the grand lodge and other members of the Masonic fraternity met at two-thirty and marched to the site of the school, headed by the band of the 165th Battalion. Others who gathered for the occasion were the mayor and city commissioners, the chief superintendent of education, Chief Justice McKeown and other prominent citizens, including members of the school board, headed by Chairman Emerson.

A copper box containing records regarding the new school and the building which it supersedes, and other matters of historical importance, was placed. The silver trowel which was used by Dr. Bridges bore an inscription as follows:

"Presented to Herby V. B. Bridges, Esq., LL. D., Grand Master Free and Accepted Masons of New Brunswick, by the Board of School Trustees on the laying of the corner stone of the King George school, St. John, N. B., November 11, 1916."

The new building shows a distinct advance in public school construction in this city. One of the most interesting features is the location of the assembly hall on the ground floor, where it will be easier of access for visitors or for use for other than school purposes and where the fire risk will be reduced to a minimum. The other arrangements are equally modern and the new school will be a credit to the city.

The architect is E. Neil Brodie and the contractors are B. Mooney & Sons, masonry; E. W. Green, carpentry; George Blake, plumbing; Hiram Webb one of the best electricians and H. H. Pullen, painting.

The contractors are endeavoring to have the building pressed before the snow flies and every effort is being made to have it ready for use as soon as possible.

TWELFTH ANNIVERSARY OF THORNE LODGE CELEBRATED

In That Time More Than 500 Initiated — A Pleasing and Varied Programme

A crowded house enjoyed the twelfth anniversary celebration of Thorne Lodge held in their hall last night. E. N. Stockford, G.C.T., gave an interesting history of the lodge since its inception, calling attention to the fact that during its life more than 500 had been initiated. Sunday afternoon temperance meetings carried on and a hall built. The juvenile branch of the lodge has carried on a good work and contributed more than $200 to the building and other funds. It is now enjoying an average attendance of thirty.

Other addresses were given by Michael Kelly, E. S. Hennigar, A. H. Patterson, John Frost and Rev. W. G. Lane. Solos were sung by John McCourt of Lorneville, John McEachern and Henry McEachern. Thorne lodge quartette, consisting of John, Henry and Charles McEachern and P. M. Butler gave selections. J. Barry Allan of Fredericton gave several recitations and a sketch "Pillcody" was presented by Mrs. J. K. McKennie, Miss Sadie Dunn, Mrs. A. A. Cooke, Geo. H. Gordon and H. V. Capp. The sketch was greatly enjoyed.

After the programme, refreshments were served by lodge. Mrs. R. D. Cogan was accompanied during the evening. The hall was very beautifully decorated, Messrs. McLean and Charlton supplying many plants for the occasion. The meeting closed with the national anthem.

POLICE COURT

William Moore was in the police court this morning charged with loitering around the streets and suspected of supplying liquor to soldiers. He pleaded guilty to the first charge and not guilty to the second. The magistrate remanded him until this afternoon.

John Matteson, given in charge by the captain of the bark Soliken on charges of drunkenness and raising a disturbance on the ship, was sent back to the vessel with orders that he be not allowed ashore before the bark sails.

Two others were before the court today on the charge of not giving a satisfactory account of themselves to Policeman McAulish at about 9 o'clock this morning. One left a deposit and escaped, the other was fined $8.

PLUMS AND CUCUMBERS; AND THIS NOVEMBER.

Evidently Patville is not to be outdone in the matter of garden products this fall as they have just come to hand a dozen fine plums, sweet and juicy, picked yesterday in the garden of Mrs. Harry Selton, Manawagush road. Another oddity from the same well kept garden was a full grown cucumber, usually one of the earliest vegetables. The November cucumber was eaten yesterday and proved equal to any of the earlier varieties as far as flavor was concerned.

Three Sons in Uniform
Mrs. Strachan of 46 Middle street, West St. John, can well be termed a patriotic mother. She has given her all to the Canadian Expeditionary Force. Her three sons, all of whom are in the king's uniform, two in khaki and one in the blue of the navy.

gent William Strachan, once of the Black Watch Imperial service, served twenty-five years in that unit. Of the three sons who are now serving, one is Sergeant James Strachan, with the 14th Battalion, another, Private Alexander is a drummer with the same unit and the third son, William W., left a day or so ago for Halifax to join the Canadian naval service.

Startling Conditions in St. John Uncovered by the Work of the Children's Aid Society

Cases of More Than 500 Neglected Children Already Dealt With

Only Fringe of Work as Yet Touched on—Provincial Superintendent, Local Commissioner and Local Agent Necessary—The Report in Detail

That cases of more than five hundred neglected children had been enquired into; that forty-four of these had been committed by the courts to the care of the Children's Aid Society; that conditions of a most serious character in relation to schooling and religious instruction had been discovered; that only the fringe of the work had been touched in this first year; that the conditions revealed ought to startle the citizens of St. John, were features of the reports at the first annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society, at the Children's Home in Elliott row Thursday evening. The report of the president, A. M. Belding, was as follows:

President's Report
The real work of the Children's Aid Society of the city and county of St. John did not begin until the Children's Home in Elliott row was established early last summer. Preliminary work had been done, some children placed in foster homes and some in institutions, and many families had been visited and conditions improved; but the last six months have witnessed an activity and an intelligent prosecution of the work which have produced results and revealed conditions which cannot fall to arrest the attention and startle the minds of the citizens.

Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine a mother can give her little ones. They regulate the bowels; sweeten the stomach; banish constipation and indigestion; relieve teething and simple fevers; and make teething easy.

We have only touched the fringe of the problem in our work to date.

To Warden McLaughlin and the members of the municipal council our thanks are due for their prompt and generous response to our appeal for a grant for this year's work, and for expressions of sympathy which we are sure will be deepened when they study the secretary's report. Attorney-General Baxter has also shown a very practical sympathy with any of our problems. Indeed the society is very fortunate in the official support it has received from the beginning.

We have also to acknowledge with sincere appreciation the co-operation of Father Duke and the supervisors of the Roman Catholic institutions of the city, who have always been ready to do all in their power to assist in caring for children, regardless of creed.

At the close of my term of office I desire to thank the members of the society for the most harmonious and helpful co-operation, and I feel that we ought to be more than grateful with the result of the work done, especially the work of the last six months. As still greater tasks lie before us, we should tonight dedicate ourselves anew to what we must feel to be a work of paramount importance to the community in which we live.

Secretary's Report
In his report to the annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society on last Thursday evening, Rev. W. R. Robinson, secretary, said in greater part as follows:

In submitting the first annual report of the above named society, I beg leave to call your attention to some of the salient features of the work we are engaged in. This society is but in its infancy, the initial stages have not been passed, yet we have an experience that will serve to direct our future endeavors.

Historically
For some years a number of determined and deeply interested individuals, in the future welfare of a large but sadly neglected portion of our future citizens, began an agitation for the moral, social, physical and intellectual improvement of their lot. In order that permanency may mark each step taken to bring about this much desired end, and that their efforts may be intelligently and intelligently directed, a committee was appointed to draft a measure, for submission to the provincial legislature, giving legal authority to deal with such cases of neglect, delinquency and dependency as may be found in the childhood life of our province. An act known now as "The Children's Protection Act of 1910" was passed.

Agent and Matron
In the earlier life of the society an agent was employed on opening the Home, 110 Elliott row, a matron was appointed. They held office until July, 1916, when the agent and matron severed their connection with the society. Since then the police department, aided by Chief Simpson, and faithfully supported by Police Matron Miss C. Ross, physical and public constables, have been doing the work of an agent. While for matron the services of Mrs. Milligan, a graduate of Symonds College, Harvard, has been secured, and through her aid and valuable suggestions, the needed changes have been made in the government of the home, for the betterment of the children.

Physical Care of the Children
Coming, as they do to us, from abodes of neglect, filth, ignorance and malnutrition, it is but natural to expect that these children would require careful attention. Hence we have taken to those who are diseased, crippled and vermin-

ous, and who call for medical, surgical and dental attention. To Drs. Hogan, Morrison, Roberts, Crawford, Bishop, Dunlop, Curran, Melvin and Smith, we are greatly indebted for their professional services willingly and freely given. We have had as the result of our wholesome and other ailments among the children in the home, to employ a graduate nurse for a considerable period. Comfort and Entertainment

In the matter of furnishing the home, providing food and clothing, the various committees in charge, ably aided by Mrs. Milligan, the matron, have ever kept in view the wants of our little charges. Games, books, candies and fruit have been provided from time to time by kind and generous friends. The use of a large yard clean and provided with swings, sand piles, etc., enable the little ones to enjoy and benefit from outdoor life.

Instruction of the Children
In this particular care is taken to teach the children how to behave themselves in the presence of others; to teach correct standards of living in point of keeping the body clean and table manners. The intellectual part of their education is being cared for through the kindness of the Misses Foster, Denham, Milligan, Hea, Wilkins and Peters, members of the city teaching staff, who are giving three evenings a week free to this very necessary and important work.

The children of the neglected and dependent class when brought into the home have to be provided with clothes, as the garments on them are so ragged, dirty and verminous, that they go to the furnace. This involves considerable outlay of money. In a small way contributions from individuals and church organizations have helped very materially to reduce this part of our expenses. We hope soon to have this demand met entirely by the churches of St. John.

The appended report setting forth a synopsis of each case dealt with, will give some slight idea of the magnitude of the work done, the conditions encountered, and the remedies applied. It is not possible to present details of actual conditions as they are totally unfit for publication, yet while known to some, they simply beggar description in point of downright immoralities, abuse of childhood, suffering and neglect. The housing accommodations, neglect of education, abuse of health laws, disregard of moral and religious instruction, lack of food, and clothing, calls for immediate redress on the part of the right thinking people of this province.

The total number of families dealt with, 199, involving 108 fathers, 144 mothers, 7 guardians, or a total of 255 persons. The number of children in these families whose lot in life has been bettered, total 611.

Of the total number of children under our care, the following facts are interesting and instructive:
Males, 238; females, 278. Total, 511.
Ages of males under 1 year, 7; under 1 year, 15; under 2 years, 8; under 2 years, 9; under 4 years, 12; under 5 years, 19; under 6 years, 23; under 7 years, 21; under 8 years, 21; under 9 years, 15; under 10 years, 15; under 11 years, 18; under 12 years, 14; under 13 years, 14; under 14 years, 11; under 15 years, 9; under 16 years, 8; under 17 years, 3; under 18 years, 0; under 19 years, 2; under 20 years, 1; under 21 years, 1; under 22 years, 1. Over 22, Total 228.

of their parents; by prodding certain offenders instead of sending them to prison; by sending some to school, and procuring employment for others.

Attending Neglected Parents
When deliberate neglect has been shown on the part of parents your secretary has issued a warning, the notice that legal action would follow if conditions were not remedied immediately has always had the desired effect. Except in this city where some of the parents have been brought before the court, work of this nature called for action in Queens, Albert, Restigouche, Northumberland, Kings, Westmorland and St. John city and county.

Habits of Parents
The parents who have neglected their children belong to the following classes: Drunkards; diseased; immoral; criminal; obscene; lazy; profane; street-walkers; fathers have deserted; mothers have deserted; husbands separated from wives; wives separated from husbands; mentally weak fathers; mentally weak mothers; prostitutes, physically incapacitated; filthy house-keepers; husbands non-supporters of family; no control over their children; unable to read or write.

Punishment
Our society has co-operated with the authorities in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia in sending five men to the penitentiary for crimes against children.

Appeals from Outside
Frequent appeals came to this office from outside quarters in behalf of neglected children—in all cases I have directed the parties by letter how to proceed. In this is involved a large amount of labor and anxiety, because of the legal questions involved, and my absence from the scene of operations. However, so far no complications have arisen.

A Sad Fact
Personally I have found homes devoid of all the common principles of civilization, but the saddest incidents of some were the vicious teachings of certain parents to their children. In one home I found, on inquiry, that out of five children they each claimed to belong to five different churches—investigation revealed the fact that their religious endeavors consisted in attending church and Sunday school two Sabbaths previous to Christmas in order to get a basket of food to take home—thus the Episcopalian, Roman Catholic, Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches were imposed upon at the instance of degraded parents to the injury of the moral life of their children. Truly we need getting together here, so that the heathen conditions of St. John city and county may receive at least equal consideration with that of China, Japan or India. The social conditions of this province demand immediate attention. This is no romance, but unfortunate fact as the statistics of this report demonstrate. We need more and larger shelters, officers, and above all, a juvenile court to care for our unfortunate young men and women of the future. The county districts of New Brunswick (Continued on page 15, second column.)

Brain Blood-Supply Must Be Good
The importance of having pure blood is perhaps never more deeply impressed on us than when we are told by physiologists that if the brain is supplied with impure blood, nervous and bilious headache, confusion of ideas, loss of memory, mental and physical dimness of vision, and dullness of hearing, are experienced, and in time the brain becomes disorganized and the brittle thread of life is broken.

The more we learn of the usefulness of the great blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla, the more grateful we are for this old and successful family medicine, which has accomplished so much in removing scrofula, rheumatism and catarrh from the system, and in correcting run-down conditions of the system. If you need a blood purifier, get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Still Shell for Shell in West

METAL OF MEN IS TEST

Soldiers Seem to Have Performed the Impossible in Storming Some of the Elaborate Defences

British General Headquarters, Sept. 30.—We have just passed through the tumbled ruins of Fricourt. The twisted tree trunks of the Mametz Wood stand out naked against the sky line, stripped of their branches and foliage. The bark is gashed, showing many gaping wounds. The white heart of the wood, bared to the fierce sun's glare, is a palpable image of patient suffering. Along the roads leading southward, great dust columns rise in spirals heavenward, hiding the slow-moving horse transports. Further on broad eddies of dust rise on the passing heat currents scattering across the fields like spent smoke. The landscape is of a leaden grey, buried under this heavy mantle of dust. Ashen gray are the tunic, the rifle barrels, even the faces of a column of men who have just come in from the first line trenches. Their eyes are rimmed around with dust. Their steel helmets, of darkened green, have taken on the dull-hued patina of a Greek bronze. The water carts, the field kitchens, the heavy batteries which are being moved forward, the great lorries in long, serpentine lines, extending mile upon mile, all wear this pall of dust. As far as the eye can see are low, rolling hills, bare and treeless save for small patches of woodland here and there. The fields are thick grown with thistles, nettles and luscious weeds which are waist high. Can this be the land of France? Can these fields be the same which two years ago stood rich with golden grain? The Bar Lands of the Dakotas, the wastes of the Sahara, the dust-swept deserts of Gobi, seem fair in comparison with this region of the Somme. My throat is parched, my eyes seem to be bleeding though I have been walking but half an hour. I pick my way through shell craters and upturned soil, jumping across abandoned German trenches, through a terrain littered with unexploded shells of all calibres and kinds. Here lies an innocent-looking little "Mills" bomb, not much larger than a duck's egg. The man who threw it forgot to pull out the cotter-pin, so that it did not go off. Here it lies, apparently harmless, yet it has the potential strength to blow half a platoon in to "Kingdom Come." Next to it lies what looks like a giant's dumb-bell. The great iron balls at each end are larger than a man's head. I spurt forward instinctively as I trip against the connecting bar of the bomb. Nothing happens. Yet this mighty engine of war can wipe out a company. Shooting Down Balloons. As I advanced the dust grows deeper, underfoot, thicker in the air, the sun's rays more intense, more relentless. Over-

HIS NERVES WEAK
Poor Memory, Lacked Vigor, Lost Employment

Proof That You Quickly Get Bracing Health From Ferrazone
There's a real reason why Ferrazone cures. It's a true nerve tonic—not a stimulant—it feeds the nerves with nourishment—gives them vital activity. No other tonic in the world like Ferrazone, nothing else is so quick and lasting in its effects on a run-down, nervous system. "I used enough medicine to appreciate an honest one," writes J. B. Beattie, from his home in Newcastle. "From babyhood I was not overly strong and was great, restless, power against power. I was never able to get a job, and on the whole my habits were good. My trouble first began with a shortening of the hours of sleep. I would awaken too early, my appetite was poor, and to wit it up I used highly spiced and sweet foods. First thing I knew I had palpitation on going to a little chest work, and then an awful tiredness came upon me, and a strange feeling of dread—almost of fear myself. My power of memory weakened and I lost my position. Then I read about Ferrazone. Say, it's awfully good to get a medicine that helps you right. I don't mind telling you I was badly scared, and every dose was almost like sunshine. At once I began to feel better, and permanently better. I really was, for less than a dozen boxes made me a well man. Now I can do my work with any man and I am grateful to Ferrazone."
Ferrazone corrects all enfeebled conditions of the system, builds up and gives the body great restorative power against disease. To use Ferrazone assures lasting, robust health. 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers. Try Ferrazone, do it today.

EXPECT AT LEAST TO HEAR MORE OF THE FEELING IN ENGLAND

Enlarged Report of General Robertson's Statement
Soldier's Expect to Invade Germany Before the End of Hostilities—'On Enemy Like Corrosive Acid'

London, Oct. 15 (Correspondence)—"You will have to ask Germany," This was the answer of a distinguished English officer recently back from the front, when the familiar query was put to him: "When will the war end?" "We know what we can give them," he continued, "but we do not know what they are prepared to stand, or are willing to stand. In the meantime we will increase the pressure more and more until the German conscience is brought to the point of collapse." With the turning of the tide on the western battlefields, there was naturally a disposition here to feel that the end of the war was not far off. The officers and men of the army do not share these views, however, and are constantly cautioning the people at home against the idea that the issue will be settled within the next few months. From conversations with scores of officers who believe there are two more years of fighting before the Allied nations win, "Fight to a Finish is the Order."
"We have got a long way to go," said Gen. Sir William Robertson, Kitchener's successor, a few days ago. "And we must be ready to go all the way," he added. "Fight to a finish is the order. There must be no slackening off. On the contrary, there must be a great tightening up."
"We must be prepared to go on for a period of time which it is impossible to estimate," said Sir William Robertson, who expresses the opinion of the army. There may be various influences at work which will shorten the war, but there is the constant talk heard here of internal troubles in Germany, but the army officer only looks at the map. He still believes that before the victory he has in mind can become a reality."
The military defeat of Germany, and that is the only defeat the army looks forward to, means an invasion of the German Empire. Gen. Sir O'Moore Creagh, the distinguished Irish V. C., says that the only way to win is to never ride through the Brandenburg gates, but the end of the war will not come until it is possible for them to do so.
"Things are going so well at the western front that it is difficult even for me to think of anything that would prevent the defeat of Germany," says a high official of the Ministry of War. "The enemy is no longer fighting to retain territory, but is fighting to escape the slaughter of the war, but is rather struggling to hold 'as much as possible' until the end of the hostilities. The 'shortening of the western line,' which Londoners confidently look for from day to day."
"On Them Like a Corrosive Acid"
On the other hand, is the statement of a British officer who says that the man who declares the Germans are so tightly held in the West it is impossible for them to either advance or to retreat in the East is a man who is not a soldier. "We are on them," he said, "like a corrosive acid." We have eaten into their ranks, and they are falling off. You cannot always see acid at work, but the disintegrating process is going on all the time."
Recent Allied advances have been bought with ammunition rather than with blood. This has led George Querl, the German critic, to write in the Berliner Tageblatt: "The shelling behind the German lines is just as intense as it is in front. The expenditure of English shells is not less than that of the Germans, the military critics here all agree, and the artillery activity has brought about a distinct new phase in the fighting. It has driven the once closely locked trenches farther and farther apart. It has solved the problem of dealing with a 'dug-in' enemy."
It has been discovered that the way to successfully take a trench is to obliterate it, to flatten it out with shells. Recent Allied advances have been bought with ammunition rather than with blood. This has led George Querl, the German critic, to write in the Berliner Tageblatt: "The shelling behind the German lines is just as intense as it is in front. The expenditure of English shells is not less than that of the Germans, the military critics here all agree, and the artillery activity has brought about a distinct new phase in the fighting. It has driven the once closely locked trenches farther and farther apart. It has solved the problem of dealing with a 'dug-in' enemy."
Those officers who believe that the war will go on for two years longer say it has taken two years to put Germany really on the defensive and they anticipate it will take two more years to make her acknowledge the defeat which the Allies believe is inevitable. The German army takes it into consideration only as to its effect upon the morale of the fighting forces. It is undeniable that great sacrifices are being demanded of the civilian population in Germany and it is contended no army long remains wholly superior to home influences.
Those who believe in an earlier ending of the war base their belief—on perhaps their hope—upon the military assumption that an army cannot offer the same resistance in third or fourth or fifth line trenches that it did in the first line. They declare that when the French and the English were retreating at the beginning of the war it was a retreat of unpreparedness. The German retreat, they assert, is a retreat of exhaustion. These, they say, are the vital

BRITAIN INCREASES EXPORTS

Customs Report Shows She is Sending States More Cotton Goods

(New York Times).
Mobilization of the British textile industries, efforts to regain trade lost temporarily as a result of the war and to gain new markets among those formerly held by Germany, is the chief feature at New York in increasing importations of cotton goods, especially as shown in the latest report issued by the customs covering the week ended Oct. 28.
The report showed, for example, that cotton cloth dyed in the piece had been received from Great Britain to the value of $7,892, with smaller amounts from Scotland and Ireland. The increase in the value of cotton goods from the United Kingdom were classified under the headings of unbleached, bleached, printed, colored cloth, besides cotton handkerchiefs, embroideries, laces, nets and netting, curtains, cotton plushes, velvets, etc. The value of these goods, all with a value of several hundred thousand dollars.
The improved position of Great Britain as an exporter of cotton goods to this country is shown in the government statistics for the eight months of the present calendar year ending in August. In that period total imports of cotton cloth amounted to $7,546,427, of which the United Kingdom sent $6,500,273 worth. The gain made by the United Kingdom over the corresponding eight months of 1915, was considerably more than $3,000,000 and nearly $2,000,000 in excess of the same period in 1914.
According to the customs house report, the week's imports of merchandise of all kinds, valued at $23,115,000, Goods withdrawn from bonded warehouses in this customs district had a value of $4,702,861, while merchandise entered for the warehouses amounted to $2,450,188.

"Ship for Ship" Demand Grows

Head of British Navy League Vigorous in His Support

Germany's Future Aims

London, Nov. 9.—Robert Yerburgh, president of the British Navy League, which has been foremost in the conduct of agitation for full payment by Germany the dominant position as competitor for the ocean-going trade of the world after the war, said Mr. Yerburgh: "I would be equivalent to an act of national suicide if the allies should allow Germany to retain her merchant shipping intact after peace is declared in the fact of the unlawful, indiscriminate destruction of Allied ships for which Germany is responsible. In torpedoing all Allied merchant ships in sight she hopes to destroy the strength of the Allied merchant marine as to enable her immediately to jump into the leading place of the world's carrying commerce."
"The only basis of compensation which could conceivably give satisfaction to the Allies is that Germany must hand over from her merchant marine ship for ship, ton for ton, of equivalent value to those sunk by her vessels against the laws of war. This means that Germany must agree before any possibility of talking peace terms that she deliver her own ships to the Allies until every one illegally sunk is replaced by a German ship."
"It will not be enough for Germany to declare her willingness to pay for the torpedoed ships. It is handing over sufficient ships to make up for Allied losses that we demand. Nothing short of that will do. The demand of the Navy League, supported by every sphere of commercial life, is that the government shall refuse to consider any negotiations for peace until Germany's undertaking to replace all destroyed vessels is given."
"At the same time, it must be distinctly understood and made part of the basis for peace negotiations that the ton for ton exactation must not preclude legitimate claims of ship owners for losses of their cargoes and loss of the earning power of their ships since they were destroyed."
"To put it succinctly, take the instance of the Lusitania. Great Britain would demand that Germany give one of her own ships of equal size of the Lusitania, besides which she must pay the full loss of her cargo, which runs into millions of dollars. Also, the profit of the Lusitania, as a merchant ship, would have earned for her owners if she had stayed in service for the period of the war. The payment of loss to the owners will be an entirely different matter from replacing the ship. Up to now Great Britain has lost approximately two million tons of shipping through the illegal torpedoing of her ships. This must be replaced in actual tonnage, together with any further losses that may occur, besides reimbursing every ship owner for what the ship would have earned and giving an indemnity for the lost cargo."
"If this is not done by the allied governments they will simply be playing into the hands of Germany by handing over to her world commercial supremacy. This matter is of vital importance to the Allies and to neutrals. It is important to the United States; for Germany gets the upper hand of the shipping of European commerce, the United States with fewer ships will be at the mercy of Germany. It would mean that Germany, owning a superior mercantile marine, would be able to dominate the whole situation; it would mean that Atlantic shipping rates would be governed entirely from Hamburg without New York, Buenos Ayres or London having a word to say. The feeling in Great Britain is that in taking this attitude the British government would be doing a service of incalculable value, not only to the Allies, but for a neutral in protecting the rights of shipping on the high seas.

"Since the earliest manifestation of German submarine activity against merchant ships the navy league has strenuously maintained that the German method of warfare were outrageous violations of the laws of nations. We have stoutly opposed Germany's intolerable pretensions that submarines should be treated as ordinary vessels of war, and we insist that they ought not to be recognized by the allied nations as legitimate standpoints as surface fighting war craft. We have supported the reason for fourth in the memorandum recently issued by the Allies to neutral governments respecting submarines, namely, that the consequences of the alleged sinking of merchant ships are on their own head. The British government must force the issue and let it voice be heard now."

Yukon to Send River Experts

Navigators From Far North Probably Will Assist on the Tigris—Commissions and Good Pay Await

Dawson, Nov. 9.—Some of the navigators of the Far North soon may be plying waters flowing past the site of ancient Babylon after fighting the Turks. Several Yukon River men have received offers to go into the British service with commissions, and are expected to get away before long.

Capt. J. O. Williams, master of the steamer Casca, on which the Yukon company is traveling to Whitehorse, received a cablegram through Capt. Scharschmidt, former superintendent of the White Pass steamers, now captain of a company of pioneers at the front, asking him to enlist some men. The message asked for three Yukon River navigators or masters, to include himself and two others, and four engineers and four mates. The skippers will receive commissions as first lieutenants, and all will receive good pay. They are wanted for service in the Mesopotamia, on the Tigris, where the British are battling against the Turks.

Capt. Williams says that he is going and is confident of getting the others. He is an old Nova Scotia deep water mariner, and has been a master on the Yukon River since 1898, and is one of the best that ever turned a wheel. He hopes to get Capt. Billy Cowley, who left recently for the outside, and is now in London, to be one of the party.

Wants Women to Make Munitions

Sir George Foster, at Toronto Meeting, Appeals for Larger Service

Toronto, Nov. 9.—Telling of the wonderful work the women of the Motherland are doing in producing munitions for the men at the front, Sir George E. Foster, addressing the members of Ward Four Liberal-Conservative Association, appealed to the women of Canada to simulate them in freeing men for the firing line.

"My appeal tonight," he said, "is to the women in the homes of this country, to the idle women, to the women who might put their hands to more work than they do, to the women who are anxious to do their part in this struggle; I make my appeal to these women to cast about them and see how they may give their time and their work to the accomplishment of what is now more necessary than at any other period of the war, the production of munitions and equipment. I have no doubt that as the women of Canada are coming up to this duty they will more and more continue to come up to it as the calls of war become more insistent.

"The time has come when the women of Canada should be thinking more and more of taking the place of the women of Great Britain," he said. "The British people today, as when I was there, are fully alive to the task they have taken upon themselves and as fully determined to see that task fulfilled to the uttermost letter.

"We in Canada, I think, have done our part fairly well—we might have done it better, we will yet do it better, but we must admit that what Canada and Canadians have done and are doing cannot be compared with what the old country has done and is doing."

Sir George told of his visit to the firing line, and spoke of the wonderful heroism and devotion of the French people. In conclusion he described his visit to the grand fleet, standing upon the deck of one of the newest British destroyers that drives through the water at a speed of forty-five miles an hour.

try, I visited the great munition factories, I saw the men and women at work in these great factories, I saw the directors of these great munition establishments doing their work, drew in the breath which animated them, and the spirit which animated them; and I come back to tell you that the British people today, as when I was there, are fully alive to the task they have taken upon themselves and as fully determined to see that task fulfilled to the uttermost letter.

WOMEN OF CHICAGO FOUND IT THRILLING

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Characterizing their experience as "thrilling" and "thrilling," the women of the city for the first time in the history of Illinois voted for president of the United States.

Governor and Mrs. Dunne, with their daughter, Miss Mona Dunne, went early to a polling place and Miss Dunne marked her first political ballot of any kind and Mrs. Dunne her first ballot for the presidency. Both Mrs. Dunne and her daughter were in the booth less than a minute. The governor took considerably longer.

It was Miss Harriet E. Vittum's first opportunity to cast her vote for the presidency, and she cast it for Hughes. "I never felt my responsibility as a citizen more than when I cast that ballot," said Miss Vittum. "The act of voting for president makes women, as never before, an actual part of their country."

"It was indeed a thrilling and impressive experience to be voting for president," declared Miss Jane Addams after she had cast her vote for Wilson. "I believe that every voting woman in Chicago is feeling moved and thrilled by the experience, which is one of deep significance."

According to declarations of Mrs. Robins as she cast her vote for Hughes, the big vote which women in Illinois will cast will show to politicians of other states without suffrage as yet the keen interest women are taking in politics and will prompt them to aid in the passage of such legislation in their own states.

HOLIDAY PERIOD EXTENDED

U. S. Government Clerks to Have Saturday Afternoon Off the Year 'Round

Washington, Nov. 9.—The long agitation to increase the holiday privileges of government clerks has resulted in the decision to issue an executive order allowing the Saturday afternoon holiday during the entire year. For many years the clerks in the Washington departments have enjoyed the Saturday afternoon holiday from June 1 to September 15. Recently this privilege has been extended to employees in the navy yard and in a few other instances.

This year, soon after the end of the summer period in which the half holiday was allowed, the agitation was begun for a continuance of the privilege during the entire year. It was urged that government clerks, as a class, work under severe strain, that they had to be especially competent for tasks of great responsibility and in conditions of overwork, where physical and nervous strength was exhausted; the half holiday would therefore serve to rest and recuperate them and in the end result in greater efficiency and a saving to the government in the cost of work performed.

Government clerks are provided by law with thirty days' vacation every year and are also allowed thirty days of sick leave without any withholding of pay. The Saturday half holiday is purely an executive matter, Congress not having recognized it in appropriation bills. It has been made possible to grant the half holiday by extending the hours of work daily a half hour, so that clerks work until half-past four o'clock in the afternoon, whereas before the half holiday was granted their day ended at four. It is understood that all clerks will receive the half holiday will be required to work from half-past eight in the morning until five o'clock in the afternoon.

Nuxated Iron to Make New Age of Beautiful Women and Vigorous Iron Men

Say Physicians—Quickly Puts Roses Into the Cheeks of Women and Most Astonishing Youthful Power Into the Veins of Men—It Often Increases the Strength and Endurance of Delicate, Nervous, "Run-down" Folks 200 Per Cent in Two Weeks' Time.

A Wonderful Discovery Which Promises to Mark a New Era in Medical Science.

New York, N. Y.—Since the remarkable discovery of organic iron, Nuxated Iron, as the French call it, has taken the country by storm. It is conservatively estimated that over five million persons daily are taking it in this country alone. Most astonishing results are reported from its use by both physicians and laymen. So much so that well-known doctors predict that we shall soon have a new age of far more beautiful, rosy-cheeked women and vigorous men.

Dr. King, a well-known New York physician and author, when interviewed on the subject, said: "There can be no vigorous iron men without iron. Pallor means anemia. Anemia means iron deficiency. The skin of anemic men and women is pale. The flesh flabby. The muscles lack tone; the brain fags and the memory fails and often they become weak, nervous, irritable, despondent and melancholy. When the iron goes from the blood of women, the roses go from their cheeks.

"The most common foods of America—the starches, sugars, table syrups, candies, polished rice, white bread, soda crackers, biscuits, macaroni, spaghetti, tapioca, sago, farina, degenerated cornmeal, no longer is iron to be found. Refining processes have removed the iron of Mother Earth from these impoverished foods, and silly methods of some cookery, by throwing down the waste pipe the water in which our vegetables are cooked, are responsible for another grave iron loss.

"Therefore, if you wish to preserve your youthful vim and vigor to a ripe old age, you must supply the iron deficiency in your food by using some form of organic iron, just as you would use salt, when your food has not enough salt."

Dr. Sauer, who has studied abroad in great European medical institutions, said: "As I have said a hundred times over, organic iron is the greatest of all strength builders. If people would only throw away patent medicines and nauseous concoctions and take simple nuxated iron, I am convinced that the lives of thousands of persons might be saved who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, consumption, kidney, liver, heart trouble, etc. The real and true cause which started their disease was nothing more than useless. Many an athlete and prize-fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the arena; while many another has gone down in inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron."

Dr. Schuyler C. Jacques, another New York physician, said: "I have never before given out any medical information or advice for publication, as I ordinarily do not believe in it. But in the case of Nuxated Iron I feel I would be remiss in my duty not to mention it. I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising and satisfactory results. And those who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it a most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy."

NOTE—Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians in such a great variety of cases, is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well known to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were all the while doing their strength and endurance and entirely rid themselves of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this, after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate, or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. The iron

Six enemy machines were sent down. As the result of other fights, nine more hostile machines were driven down in a damaged condition, and at least three of them destroyed. West Side Fires. The West St. John fire department had three calls yesterday afternoon. The most serious was the one in Harry Crowley's carpenter shop in Rodney street. The damage done was about $500. It is understood that there is about $600 insurance. The damage done by some shavings being set on fire in front of E. C. Clark's work shop, in Wiggins' wharf, amounted to $50. While this fire was burning another had broken out underneath the woodshed in the house adjoining the No. 6 fire hall. There was practically no damage.

Best Nerve Specialist In England Was Consulted

But Nervous System Failed to Respond to Treatment Prescribed. Nervous disorders frequently result from injury to the nerves in accidents or because of the shock to the system. The writer of this letter was injured in a mishap with some colts, remained unconscious for three weeks, and in spite of continued treatment in hospital could not obtain restoration of the internal nerves which control the action of the digestive and other vital organs. He traveled to Europe and consulted England's greatest nerve specialist. Relief was only temporary, in spite of many treatments used. His letter gives the facts briefly and tells how he was finally cured by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Can you imagine any more severe test of this great Nerve Food? Mr. Henry F. Venn, Cefu Ranch, Malakwa, B.C., writes: "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has restored my nervous system and given me new health. Having met with a severe accident seven years ago, from which I was unconscious and which left my nerves in a very sore plight, I was treated by doctors galore and consulted one of the greatest nerve specialists in England, but nothing seemed to do me much good. Hypophosphites and, in fact, all and every kind of nerve mixture in almost every form was used, but never with more than temporary benefit. "But Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has acted very differently, for it has built up my nervous system until I feel like my old self again. If this medicine will do for others what it has done for me, I shall not regret having written this letter. I have recommended the Nerve Food personally to many, and shall always esteem its great restorative value." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edman, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

THE DOOR TO HEALTH

Is Through the Rich, Red Blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Actually Make. The blood is responsible for the health of the body. If it is good, disease cannot exist. If it is bad, the door is shut against good health, disease is bound to appear in one form or another. One person may be seized with rheumatism or sciatica, another with anaemia, indigestion, heart palpitation, headaches or backaches, unstrung nerves, or any of the many other forms of ailment of that comes when the blood is weak and watery. There is just one certain, speedy cure—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They make new, rich, blood, and this good blood strengthens the whole system and brings good health and happiness. Thousands owe their present good health, some, life itself, to the pills. Miss Devina Laliberti, St. Jerome, Que., says:—"Last year I seemed gradually to grow weak and run down. I did not sleep, I had a poor appetite, and grew pale and generally languid. I consulted a doctor who told me I was anaemic, and gave me a tonic. This I took faithfully for some time, but it did not help me, and I appeared to be growing worse, and finally I was hardly able to go about the house and almost wholly incapacitated for work. While in this condition a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I got several boxes. It was not long after I began their use when I could see an improvement, which just manifested itself in an improved appetite and better rest at night. From this on the improvement was rapid and I was not long in regaining perfect health. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a real blessing for all weak girls." You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

RETURN OF THE PAISLEY SHAWL

Madame Jenny and others of the Paris couturiers hit upon the idea of the Paisley shawl as a trimming or an entire garment, in this season of myriad colorings, and the feminine world has accepted it with alacrity. Shawls that for years have graced some attic chest are being hastily rearranged and their wonderful designs arranged in a manner suitable for scarfs, hats, evening wraps and even frocks.

One shop displays some very attractive sets, the scarfs, muff and hat of Paisley edged with seal. Evening wraps have been made of our grandmother's shawls for many years, but this season promises to see them more the vogue than ever. The sleeves in these wraps are often but mere slashes in the material and the slash outlined in fur. With a huge collar of fur, few wraps will be handsomer for evening wraps.

"I owned one of those shawls once," a smartly gowned woman was overheard to remark as she and her companion looked at an attractive display of apparel made from Paisley. "But, to save my life I couldn't tell you what ever became of it. I'm afraid, the last time we moved it." The rest of the conversation was lost, but I know she was lamenting the fact that she had not priced her shawl sufficiently.

The history of the Paisley in the west is quite interesting. Napoleon took several savants and scientists with him when he embarked on his Egyptian and Assyrian campaign in 1798. These men were to study the arts and sciences of the Orient and bring back the best they had to offer. Napoleon's eye was attracted by the beauty of the shawls the Turkish women of the nobility wore and he sent several home to Paris.

These shawls immediately became the rage and the industrial centres of Europe began to manufacture them. Vienna, Paris, Lyons, and Paisley, a Scotch city, were soon the leaders in this industry. Because most of the American trade was with England, the shawls in America soon became known as Paisley, after the Scotch city where they were purchased. They tell us that in the height of their popularity, Paisley alone manufactured $5,000,000 worth of shawls a year.

The best specimens of the original Cashmere shawl were made of a fine undergrowth on the body of the Tibetan goat. This wool was spun and hand dyed. The technique of the shawls made in Cashmere distinguished them from all other factory made imitations, no matter how artistic. They were a sort of embroidery, as the ornamental designs were on a foundation composed of warp and weft. The ornamentation of these Cashmere shawls was executed, however, as the weaving proceeded, and not after the foundation was woven. The various colored threads which form the designs are interlaced with each other in a manner which keeps them together, even when the warp threads are broken. This is accomplished by interlacing the threads which form the designs, along the edges of the pattern, in the same way it is done in tapestry making. This technique produces a shawl which is alike on both sides, and has considerable body.

The shawls made in Paris and Paisley in imitation of the Indian shawls are regular broads. They are not alike on both sides and have less body than the original. When the threads catch in anything they will pull out readily, while the genuine Cashmere shawl is free from this defect.

Both the French and English shawls are a copy of the Oriental idea as far as design is concerned. The French shawl is considered the superior of the two, and was fully 30 per cent. more expensive than the English. The body of the shawl was usually Turkish red or black, and occasionally pale cream. The border ran along only two of the edges in some shawls, while others had the four edges embroidered in the well-known Indian motifs, and the most expensive specimens had the Indian design scattered over the surface.

After being medically rejected six times a Foleshill, Warwickshire, Eng., man has now been passed for general service.

RING
Gibbons vs. Dillon
St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 10.—Mike Gibbons, of Indianapolis, in a ten-round no-decision contest here tonight, Gibbons led in six rounds. Three sessions were given to Dillon, and the other was even. At 3 p. m. today Gibbons weighed in at 159-2 and Dillon at 152, the latter one pound under the agreed weight.

During the entire fight Gibbons used his left to great advantage and this, combined with his clever foot work, was the chief factor in his victory. Dillon's rounds were the fifth, sixth and tenth, and during these he fought like a tiger. He apparently endeavored to wear down his opponent, but Gibbons was too clever for him and refused to be caught. Dillon frequently made terrific swings at Gibbons' head, but the latter would duck and slide out of every tight place. He worked his left like a piston and landed as many as seven blows on Dillon's face in one round. In the closing round Dillon had Gibbons covering as he forced the pace from the top of the going.

Won on Food
Lawrence, Mass., Nov. 9.—Mel Coogan of Brooklyn won on a foul from Harry Carlson of Brockton, New England lightweight champion, in the third round of the main bout at the Unity Club tonight. Coogan fell to the floor in agony after the blow was struck and Referee Jack Sheehan gave him the fight. Coogan far outclassed Carlson as far as the fight went.

Kid Thomas of this city and Kid Lee of Chelsea fought a main event in the semifinal and Jimmy Creeley of this city won from Young Dell of Haverhill.

AMERICAN ATHLETES MADE GOOD RECORD
New York, Nov. 8.—The showing of the American five-man track and field team in the recent meets held throughout Scandinavia demonstrated that the United States athlete is still able to compete successfully against the leading performers of Europe. During the contests abroad the team selected by the Amateur Athletic Union took part in seven events, entering one or more men in each. Without a single exception the American athletes finished among the first three.

Fred Murray of the Olympic Club of San Francisco, took part in 18 events, including hurdles, sprints, jumps and shotput, in addition to running on the relay team, and his record shows that he won three firsts, six seconds and three thirds. Joe Loomis, of the Chicago A. A., specialized in the sprints and jumps, winning five firsts, one second and one third in seven starts. Robert Simpson of the Missouri Agricultural College track team, completed 11 times in the hurdles, sprints and broad jumps, and was first four times, second four times and third three times.

Ted Meredith, formerly of the University of Pennsylvania, started in seven middle distance races, winning two, being second in three and finishing third in one. Andy Ward, of the Chicago A. A., started four times and wound up with a record of two firsts, one second and one third. The relay team, consisting of Loomis, Murray, Simpson and Ward, won every one of the seven races in which it competed. The record of the athletes follows:

Name	Events	1st	2nd	3rd
Loomis	7	5	1	1
Simpson	11	4	4	3
Murray	18	8	6	4
Meredith	7	2	3	2
Ward	4	2	1	1
Relay Team	7	7	0	0

Was Anaemic For Over a Year
Anemia, or blood turning to water, is caused by the heart becoming deranged, and if the heart becomes weakened it cannot pump the blood as it should. As a result the blood becomes impoverished, and it loses its nourishing qualities. The face becomes pale and thin, and the lips bloodless. There is a weakness, tiredness and loss of weight.

When those suffering from this or watery blood start taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills they can see a change from the outset.

Every dose introduces into the blood those vital elements necessary to make it rich and red. The pale cheeks take on the rosy hue of health, the weight increases, and the whole being thrills with a new life.

Mrs. R. J. Grey, Fredericton, N. B., writes: "When I was a girl working at general house work I overtook my strength and became completely run down. For over a year I was very bad with anemia. A friend told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills so I got a box and when it was done I felt and looked so much better I decided to get six more. When I had taken them I had gained not only in strength, but in flesh and color, and best of all was good health."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box; three boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

These pictures, while they show the grim realities of modern war, show more of heroism than horror. They are an object lesson both for those who stay home and for those who are training for the front. "See that these pictures reach everybody," said Mr. Lloyd George, and millions saw them in Great Britain.

See these wonderful pictures, as in no other way can you form a conception upon which to base adequate "honor and glory of the living and the dead."

"Herald the deeds of our brave men to the ends of the earth," said Lloyd George. "This is your duty."

UTAH HAS MORE HIGH JUMPING CHAMPIONS

New York, Nov. 9.—They grow some great leapers out Utau way. That was the county that produced Alva Richards, one of the greatest high jumpers the world ever knew and the man who won in the Olympic games of 1912 in Stockholm with a leap of 6 feet 4 inches. But they have more jumpers at the Utah, who threaten to become even greater men than Richards was over the Penn. games, did 6 feet 5 inches. E. L. Roberts, coach of the institution, tells about a couple of new specimens he has and who will be ready before long for the "eastern market," which is supposed to be the biggest.

Roberts is the young man who developed Richards into what he became—a real champion. He came from Southern Utah and was something of a freak in build, standing 6 feet 2 inches in height and weighing him of 210 pounds. When Roberts first saw him fooling around the athletic field at Provo he realized at once that he had a good man, but for some time was at a loss to know what to do with him. He was for making a heavy weight of him, but Richards didn't care for that end of the programme and said he preferred high jumping.

Richards wasn't getting the results with the style he had, and in order to have him take full advantage of his height Roberts had to change his entire style of working. This took time, but finally Richards was able to show a little better than 6 feet 1 inch in trials.

Then came the call for trials for the Olympic games. Richards wanted to become a member of the American team, and Roberts wrote to the late James E. Sullivan about getting him his trials in Chicago, this for the reason that there were two Pacific Coast jumpers who were going close to 6-4, and Roberts feared his man might be swamped in the face of that surprising talent.

Coch Stag of Chicago took an interest in Richards and helped him make the team, despite the fact that his trial here in May was only 6 feet 1 inch. Richards won in Stockholm, and later, at the Penn. games, did 6 feet 5 inches. "I think I have got two of them now that are even better than Richards," Roberts told me. "They are Clinton Larson, who has done 6 feet 4 inches for a Far Western record and beat Richards twice, and McDonald, who has shown me 6 feet 8 inches."

OTTAWA ATHLETE KILLED IN THE WAR

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—Word was received here last night of the death in action in France of "Eddie" McDonald, one of the greatest all-round athletes that Ottawa has produced in many years. McDonald went to the front with the 77th Battalion last June and was drafted to one of the English battalions. He had been in France a few weeks only when he was killed. He was twenty-eight years of age, and unmarried.

McDonald played centre half for the Ottawa College football team when they won the championship of the Intercollegiate Union in 1907. He was a great line plunger and Father Stanton regarded him as the best all-round man in the game at that time. Later McDonald turned professional and was for several years a fixture on the Capital Lacrosse Club. McDonald was also an oarsman, paddler and a sprinter. He was an Ottawa College graduate and was employed at the outbreak of the war in the Marine Department.

A stick of macaroni will serve in place of a glass tube for a patient who cannot sit up to drink, or will induce a child to drink its milk when otherwise it would not.
