DISCUSS WOMEN AS MINISTERS

A Philadelphia Clergyman's Views Opposed at Reformed Church Council.

Pittsburg, Sept. 21—Declaring that the ordination of women as ministers of the gospel would be prejudicial to the best interests of the church and "would increase the occasions for factional scandal and unhappy satanic church quarrelling," Rev. Dr. C. E. Macartney, pastor of the Arch street Presbyterian church of Philadelphia, discussed recognition of women in the church before the General Council of the Alliance of Reformed Churches throughout the world here.

WANTS NEW PROVINCE

Port Arthur, Ont., Sept. 21—Frank H. Keefer, K. C., M. P., for Port Arthur, and Kenora, yesterday said he would accept re-nomination as a supporter of the Meighen government, but not as a straight Conservative candidate.

Dr. Martin Yeast of Lithuania, answering Dr. Macartney, said he hoped the views expressed by the Philadelphia minister were not those of the Presbyterian and Reformed churches. The women also were defended by Dr. S. Lewis Robertson of London of England, and Dr. Arthur J. Brown of New York City.

Detailed Story About Mulatto Paris In McAuley Girl Case

William Humphrey Tells of Two Trips Across River from Carleton and Gives Conversation with Prisoner on Matters of Happening in River-view Park.

Strong evidence in the case of John Paris, a mulatto, held on suspicion in connection with the death of little Sadie McAuley on August 2, was given in the police court this morning by Walter Humphrey. During the whole recital Paris sat in the prisoner's box with his arms folded, a smile on his face and his eyes gleaming. Occasionally he would lean forward and stare intently at the witness and then settle back into his place.

At the conclusion of the evidence the magistrate told him he could ask the witness any questions he wished. He emerged from the box, went over and leaned on the clerk's desk, placed one hand on his hip and stared at the witness while questioning him. He was not represented by counsel this morning, but it is understood that G. H. Vernon, a lawyer in Truro, is coming here to defend him. An interested spectator of proceedings this morning was Corner F. L. Kenney.

The magistrate remarked this morning that in thirty-two years he had never been faced by such an array as presented themselves this morning. Of the four men in the box, three were connected with charges of death and murder, and one a charge of escaping from jail. The magistrate desires if possible to finish the main cases this week as the supreme court meets next Tuesday.

As Hiram Sees It

"What's this I hear about the moose in the woods back of the Settlement?" asked the Times reporter of Mr. Hiram Hornbeam.

"Well, as far as I can find out," said Hiram, "they held an indignation meeting the other night and passed a lot of resolutions."

"How very extraordinary!" said the reporter. "Seems to me there was some talk about a similar occurrence last year."

"I dunno," said Hiram, "I wouldn't be surprised."

"What was the purpose of the latest meeting?" asked the reporter.

"It seems," said Hiram, "that they'd heard about so many men being shot for moose, an' they wanted to send a delegation to that there disarmament conference to see if somethin' couldn't be done to stop it. One old feller said that if nothin' else could be done the moose 'ud hev to give up livin' in the woods an' move into town."

"How very extraordinary," said the reporter.

"Well," said Hiram, "it's time somebody done somethin'—an' I s'pose the moose don't want to get the blame for raisin' the death rate—no, sir."

He didn't remember seeing McNamara selling old horses that day, nor any one else. He told Frank Craft he wanted his boat to row Paris across the river. He had never heard of Stan Cooke or any other names. "No you did not ask me to hang around Jack Sweet's yard. On August 2 I told you I was to get some meat for Walter Cooke's dinner."

To Kill Cooke?

You asked me once and kept after me about it, you asked me to put Walter Cooke out of the road and get the money. You asked me how much insurance was on Walter Cooke's life and I told you $700 or $800. You told me I would hit him out of the way and steal the money and give you $150 and I would get the remainder. You was going to put two pieces of lead into him. I said I would take care of the grub all I am not that kind of a man. I sat there and ate Walter Cooke's grub all I've got on. I saw you in the office of the ferry building and again after we got on the boat. I didn't act as if I hadn't seen you before. I wasn't all dressed up that day. I'm never sporty. It's none of your business what I wore. I went down to the beach on that Sunday when I went back on both mornings. I did not see you there. I had seen you in Walter Cooke's house. I had gone over to town with Walter Cooke. On Saturday night he bought me these clothes he just took me to town and we went to a show. I didn't come down to your house and show the clothes you said I said the damned food had bought me."

I don't remember any conversation about the West India boat of the time Walter Cooke was overseas. I remembered Walter Cooke and a Mr. Golding having some trouble but it was settled out of court. I have never taken you across in the boat since we were lad friends. My brother Stanley was on the wharf on the morning of August 3. It was Britain's wharf but we left Craft's wharf. Joe Vall owns the slip. The nose of the boat was down. The tide was coming up but it was not high water. Stanley was still sitting there when I went back on both mornings. I did not see your boy there on the morning of the second. I don't remember telling you about some colored fellows from Amherst but I saw some in your house one day. I don't know if they stayed overnight or not. The last time I saw you between today and the time you saw Powers was the day I saw you in your house. My two brothers told you not to have me around your house. I remember that. It was about the fourth or fifth when I told you I had seen Powers. I am not staying at Cooke's now. The second day of August was the day before Britain's fire. After I rowed you over I did not see you again until the third. I was not at the fire. I didn't see Dykeman's net and did not tell Dykeman I did.

ORCHARD WAS STRIPPED OF PLUMS

The Times told yesterday of a fine yield of plums in the orchard of Abrahm Day at Public Landing. When that article appeared, however, the plums were no longer there. They had been stolen the night before. Mr. Day was aroused by the barking of his dog, and he found his plum trees stripped, and so badly broken that they will probably not yield for some time, and he brought into the cabinet as solicitor some of the print of a man's and a woman's boot in the ground, and says the thieves must have learned in advance the lay of the land, as they yanked out the best apple trees. He lost about a barrel of plums, besides apples, but the injury to the trees is the worst feature. Gilbert Day, who lives on the adjoining farm, has lost some of his apples and also some of his vegetables. The Times was told today that this stealing is becoming prevalent, and that farmers are now on the lookout for the thieves.

organizations like the Scouts and the Y. M. C. A. It is a commendable movement, however, and is winning the interest of young men in Ottawa. The idea is to develop boy life along the four-fold plan referred to in a verse of scripture where, speaking of the boyhood of Christ, it is written that the boy Jesus waxed strong in mind and body and in favor with God and man. The C. S. E. T., as it is called, has been eminently successful in its work so far.

CITY WATER NOW UNCONTAMINATED

There are ten cases of typhoid in the city of St. John which have been reported to the board of health since the beginning of September. The only other notifiable disease reported since the beginning of the month were four cases of scarlet fever. As regards diphtheria the city shows a clean bill of health. The number of typhoid cases is larger than can be contemplated with serenity but the reports of the city's water supply have been satisfactory for the past few weeks.

Asked yesterday whether the order to boil all water was likely to be lifted soon, Dr. William Warwick, medical health officer said that while the water for the past few weeks had been uncontaminated, as the laboratory tests showed, there was no guarantee that the water of the next day would be equally pure and the board could not take the responsibility of declaring boiling to be an unnecessary precaution. He said that the recent rains might help to purify the water if the source of contamination had been in the lake beds but that if the source of contamination had been upon the shores of the lakes then the rains would add to the danger of infection.

PROTESTANT ORPHANAGE DAILY NEWSLETTER

St. John, N. B., Sept. 2, 1921.

Greetings:—

Our remarks during the last few days have been largely directed to those residing outside of the city, though much of it might well be acted on by those from within to whom we shall address ourselves more particularly today. Here we have a broader field of action, and a much wider range of opportunities for those willing to assist without too much ceremony. The majority of us are loath to, as we call it, "butt in" without a personal invitation from some high potentate. This reluctance on our part under ordinary circumstances is eminently proper, but the present circumstances are somewhat different. In this we all share a common responsibility.

A few men, no more responsible than others of their class, have taken the lead by inviting prominent members of the Protestant fraternal organizations to a conference on the subject of raising money to assist in financing the orphanage institution, something to which Protestants of this province have paid very little attention; and yet what should be considered of more importance than the proper care and training of these helpless little ones of today, so that when the day comes for them to take their place as the men and women of the coming generation they may do so unhampered by the handicap of their early childhood? Others numerically weaker than us are bearing a far greater number of such children than we are, and under far more economic conditions. If we could ever boast of filling the needs of these little ones, be it the cause for drawing such comparison, but, unfortunately, we cannot even plead that as an extenuating circumstance. Now this is something for which we, as Protestants, are all more or less responsible.

The question now is, can we all get together in one united effort, each doing his or her part according as their respective circumstances will permit? More on this tomorrow.

Meeting of general committee (men) in Orange Hall tonight.

Arrangements for the provincial convention in Fredericton next week were also made. Mrs. David Hipwell, the president, was in the chair and led the devotional exercises. are Mrs. R. D. Christie, Mrs. Berglund and Mrs. Seely. There will be other members from St. John present and probably seven or eight members will go with the delegates. Arrangements were made for having the convention speaker, Mrs. Asa Gordon, visit St. John the following week.

A serious motor car collision occurred up the St. John river yesterday between an automobile owned by W. Tremblay of this city, and a Chevrolet, of which all the occupants were women. Mr. Gard's McLaughlin car was badly smashed by the impact, and Thomas McCallough, a passenger, sustained a fracture of one arm and two ribs. He was taken to the Royal Victoria Hospital at Fredericton. The St. John car was on the way to Fredericton at the time of the accident.

LIBERAL LEADERS.

The Times comments to its readers the report printed today of the great Liberal meeting in Toronto, and the speeches of Hon. Mackenzie King and Hon. W. S. Fielding. These two outstanding representatives of Liberalism leave no room for doubt as to where the party stands in regard to the tariff. Its policy is tariff for revenue, and for the benefit of producers and consumers, instead of a privileged class.

THE NEW CABINET.

The new Meighen cabinet is announced today. It may be a very keen disappointment to those supporters of the government who had believed the tales told them about the great men who were to be associated with Mr. Meighen, Belley, Monty, Normand, Wilson, Bristol, Stewart, Stevens, Bennett, Baxter, Edwards, Manion—the mere enumeration of the names shows that, so far as any outstanding statesmanship is concerned, the premier might just as well have tossed the names of Conservative members into a hat and picked out the first dozen.

ALONE You have gone and I know: Every passing day shall be Lonely as a single cloud Marooned above an endless sea. Even the sweet sleep of night Will not ease the longing pain; Loneliness shall haunt my dreams Till our two lips are one again. You have gone, yet this I know: In my reveries of thee, From shadows you will come Stealing silently to me— In the darkness find my hand And I, alone, will understand. —George Bancroft Duren.

LIGHTER VEIN. All The Same to Him. Some of these western hotels have a lack of ceremony about them that is absent from our elite east. A pompous Britisher arrived at a remote hostelry by motor and strode up to the desk, requesting a room at once.

Papa's Speed. Attorney General Palmer, discussing his investigation of the clothing profiteers, said at a dinner: "I see by the papers that Lieut. Papa, Italian airman, flew 172 miles an hour the other day; but American papers have to go faster than that if they want to keep ahead of the cost of living."

Now She's A Silent Woman. An old maid who has the reputation of being the fastest talker on record, one day met her match. A pedler had the impudence to ring her door bell. A moment the lady saw who it was. She at once gave him a piece of her mind, and concluded with: "A now you can be off. There's nothing you can sell me that will be of any earthly use to me."

"It's An Ill Wind, Etc." "Yes, Jack and I are engaged," said Doris to her friend, Ethel. "Do you know, our first meeting was quite romantic. I was walking in the park one afternoon when he stepped up and offered me his umbrella."

TIN BOX GAME GETS MONTREALER

Swindled by Confidence Man and Barretti Says He is Out $1,600.

Montreal, Sept. 21.—The loss of $1,600 through a "confidence game" was reported last night by Francesco Barretti of 127 Jolicoeur street. He is the proprietor of a small grocery store. He says he was accosted by a man he remembered to have met a year ago who asked him to join with him in the purchase of a garage. Barretti consented and drew out $1,600 from the bank which his wife carried in a tin box.

THE DAHLIA.

(Raymond H Terry in New York Evening Post.) Nature's tendency to variation when aided and encouraged by man, producing artificial conditions results like those which come from natural and sexual selection, has never been more remarkably demonstrated than in the dahlia. In the last few years, hundreds of examples of these variations in the dahlia may be seen in the Botanical Garden, a few blocks above the Third Avenue elevated terminus at 99th Street. Singular examples are to be seen on the roof of the Pennsylvania Hotel, at the annual exhibition of the American Dahlia Growers' Society, September 26 to 30.

Here is another striking paragraph from the leader's speech: "In the mind of the premier, the tariff may be the issue. In the mind of the people, however, the issue is the premier and what he and his colleagues represent of autocracy and extravagance in the management of public affairs."

One other paragraph goes to the root of the situation in Canada today: "I venture to express the opinion that our country's affairs are not being controlled by the people of Canada through their duly elected representatives in accordance with any true theory of responsible government; but that the existing control is that of a baneful combination of political autocrats and industrial plutocrats who are working together and playing into each other's hands. In the breaking of that combination and a full return to constitutional and responsible government as respects all matters of public administration, lies the first necessary step in the solution of the railway or any other problem with which Canada is faced at the present time."

The personnel of the new cabinet gives no guarantee that it will pursue any less extravagant course, or that it will manifest any greater capacity than that which it succeeds. The plain duty of the country is to send these gentlemen about their business and get a new and stronger government with a policy that will restore public faith in public men.

An appeal has been made to the Ontario government to permit the export of pulpwood to the United States, and a Toronto paper says: "The province is averse to allowing pulpwood that is already cut to be shipped out of the country, but owing to the seriousness of the unemployment situation might permit wood to be cut and shipped out under new contracts. If such contracts are produced the government is prepared to consider the matter." Is there a suggestion here that could be put to some use in New Brunswick next winter?

With the portfolio of public works in Halifax and that of railways in Saskatchewan, where do New Brunswick and the port of St. John fit?

Now for dissolution and the campaign. It is time the Liberals got down to business in every constituency.

Even in announcing a cabinet Mr. Meighen failed to run on schedule time.

Monty and Belley—what do these names signify?

Where is the promised government of all the talents?

Mr. Wigmore's fate is still shrouded in mystery.

HON. T. A. CRERAR.

Sir George Foster made an effort to be facetious in an address to Ontario last week. Why not, he asked, a retail merchants' party? This was, of course, a fling at the farmers' party. Does Sir George forget how much agriculture counts for in this country? A reference to the blue books of which he is so fond will speedily enlighten him. It may be that the farmers as a whole do not desire separate political organization, but if they should desire it they would represent the biggest single interest in the country.

RECENT DEATHS

Mrs. James Young.
A telegram was received yesterday from Buffalo (N. Y.), by Mrs. Charles Robinson containing the sad intelligence of the death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. James Young, which occurred in that city on Monday evening. Mrs. Young was well known in this city, having for the last five or six years spent each summer here. She was on her way to St. John, accompanied by her husband, about three weeks ago when she was taken suddenly ill in Montreal and forced to return to her home in Buffalo where death followed.

Mrs. James Latimer.
The death of Mrs. James Latimer occurred yesterday afternoon at the General Public Hospital after a lingering illness. Mrs. Latimer was well known in the city and her loss will be keenly felt by a wide circle of friends. She is survived by her husband, four sons—David, employed with Farrell Belsie & Co., and Carl, Walter and Earle, at home; three daughters—Mrs. L. F. McGouche, of this city, and Elizabeth and Marion, at home; also one grandson, Percy Latimer, of this city. The funeral will be held from her residence at 30 Leinster street on Thursday afternoon at 2.30. Interment will be in Fernhill.

Patrick Rush.
The death of Patrick Rush occurred yesterday at the home of his sister, 123 Metcalf street, after a short illness. He was a well known resident of Lands End, Kings county, where he spent most of his life. He had just returned a short time ago to this city to make his home with his sisters here when he became ill. His wife was formerly Miss Long, of this city. He is survived by his two sisters, Misses Mary and Hannah, both of the north end.

NEW GIFTS FOR NATURAL HISTORY

The Natural History Society rooms on Union street are piled high with recent gifts which have been presented to them, and the curator is busy listing them, as they have to be classified, arranged and labelled. The gifts are of all kinds, old fabrics, old watches, stuffed birds, native ornaments and curious natural resources. One gift of special interest is a collection of New Brunswick clays, with samples of pottery, brick, and tile made from the clay. The six samples of clay come from the following districts—brick clay from Ryan's brick-

WOMEN MEN ADMIRE

Men admire a pretty face, a good figure, but most of all the happy, healthy, contented woman, as beauty fades and the figure will change. Women who are troubled with backache, headaches, these dreadful dragging sensations, and nervous irritability, cannot hope to be popular, and advancement in either home, business or social life, is impossible. The cause of these troubles, however, yields quickly to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is a natural restorative for such conditions, and dispels effectually all those distressing symptoms.

COMMON COUNCIL

Water Service Connection Reported On—Bond Issue for School Board—J. A. McKee New Salvage Corps Member.

At yesterday's meeting of the common council, the report of the committee of the whole was adopted with the exception of one section dealing with the purchase of a lot in Broad street. On account of the fact that this item involved a bond issue and Commissioner Thornton was absent from the city, the section was laid on the table.
Mr. Jones reported that he had written to the provincial public works department saying that the Manawagonish road would be restored to its original condition just so soon as the laying of the water pipe in that section was completed.
In regard to the request of the local board of health that sewerage be laid in Barker street Mr. Jones said that the by-law wanted compensation for laying the sewer through his land and it is the intention to do nothing in the matter. He also reported that his department was coming to a satisfactory adjustment in regard to the request of Mrs. Murdoch for compensation for a water pipe running through her land.

Water Service Union.
A report from the city engineer was read stating the cost of laying a 12-inch steel pipe under the highway bridge at the falls would amount to $3,460, in round figures. The report said that if a pipe were placed at all it would be better to place one as large as the openings in the bridge would permit. The openings are 20 1/2 inches in diameter. It was moved and carried that the report be received and laid on the table.

A communication was received from the board of school trustees announcing its intention of issuing bonds to the extent of $187,000. It was ordered received and filed.
A communication was received from No. 2 company, salvage corps, announcing that J. A. Kee had been elected a member of that organization.
Mr. Bullock read a letter from the New Brunswick Power Company saying that an automobile had been fitted up for the purpose of clearing the street lights and that work would be started immediately.

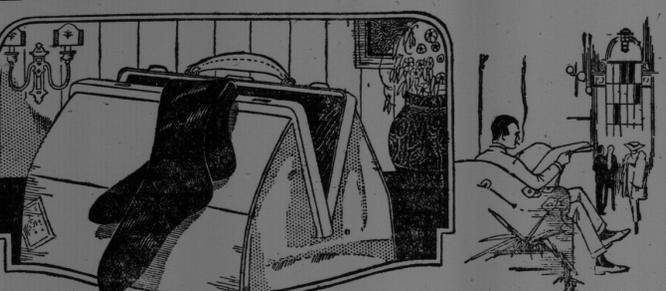

High praise was given the work of the Victorian Order in the city of St. John by Dr. C. W. Morse, K. C., honorary secretary of the order in the Dominion and registrar of the exchequer court at Ottawa, when he met with the local directorate of the V. O. N. at the Carleton street home yesterday afternoon and was made familiar with local conditions. Hon. J. G. Forbes, the president, was in the chair and the other members present were Mrs. J. V. Ellis, Mrs. George F. Smith, Mrs. H. A. Powell, Mrs. S. Elkin, Mrs. R. O'Brien, Mrs. R. J. Hooper, T. H. Bullock, R. T. Hayes, R. E. White.

A Special Display of Nurses' Regulation Uniforms at London House

DANIEL
London House Head of King St.

Dr. Murray MacLaren and L. S. Simms.
The chief matter under consideration was whether the training school for nurses now established in the home should be continued after the completion of the present course, which is the second course held. The Red Cross Society has financed the school and will be responsible for its maintenance until the present course is completed but what the future of the school will be is as yet in doubt. There are four pupils in the training school at present and all are graduate nurses who, when they complete their course, will become district health nurses in the province for at least one year, working under the Red Cross, V. O. N. and the department of health in co-operation. The class will graduate at the end of November.
Growth in St. John.
The work of the order has grown steadily in St. John and is reaching all parts of the city. Through the nurses of the V. O. N. the free milk provided by the St. John Council of Women's milk fund for needy babies is distributed. The average number of babies receiving milk is between twenty-five and thirty but during the last week an unusually large demand has been made on the fund and the names of several more babies have been added to the list.
The work of the well baby clinic conducted twice a week at the V. O. N. home has more than doubled recently. It is now necessary to have three nurses and two doctors on hand to attend to the dictatorial young persons who claim their due portion of attention. On fine Monday and Thursday afternoons the rows of baby carriages parked outside the V. O. N. home attract considerable notice and are something of a sight to

CASE DISMISSED.
Before Chief Justice McKeown yesterday, the matter of the petition of the Derby Lumber Company, asking for an order of bankruptcy against A. Alcorn, of Blackville, was considered. The Derby Lumber Company also alleged that Mr. Alcorn owes them $4,900. After argument, the chief justice dismissed the motion and set aside the petition, with costs to be paid by the Derby Lumber Company.

DIGBY NOMINATION.
The liberals of the polling district of Annapolis-Digby unanimously named Dr. L. J. Lovett, of Bear River as their candidate in the coming election. The convention was largely attended and a strong resolution of confidence in Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King was passed.

YEAR'S RESULTS OF IMMIGRATION DISAPPOINTING

Educational Propaganda Required to Bring Best from Europe.

Winnipeg, Sept. 20.—The fuller settlement of those vast unpeopled areas of the Canadian West has been disappointing this season to those who look for the further stimulus to this part of Canada to come from more complete immigration.

Canada can attract large numbers of agriculturists many of them college-trained, from Central Europe for settlement on western farm lands, if the authorities judiciously employ the right kind of propaganda.

Manitoba is now in a position to offer a further incentive to American farmers to settle here in the fact that fodder corn can now be grown in this province, according to R. J. Stead.

The fact, however, remains that the movement of American farmers into Canada was measurably halted this summer fully bearing out the early intimations in this regard given in this correspondence.

Helpless! "Why, Harry, how much you look like your father," remarked a visitor to a four-year-old.

SIGNAL TOWERS TO CONTROL NEW YORK NIGHT TRAFFIC

New York, Sept. 21.—Again they're tinkering with New York's traffic. The police department long has been unable to dodge the law of physics that two objects can't occupy the same space at the same minute.

But a little while ago it was decided that at night, at hours when most theater-goers were bound up Manhattan to their homes, Broadway between 38th and 57th streets should become a one-way street.

Now that plan has been abandoned. Merchants have complained that the northbound night traffic was diverting to other thoroughfares business which should come to them.

So Special Deputy Police Commissioner Harris has ruled that for a 90-day trial period two-way traffic shall be restored—to be regulated by signal towers such as have been operating for many months in Fifth avenue.

SHE COULD GET A FORTUNE FOR IT

New York Woman Refuses to Sell Property as She Wants Yard Room for Cat.

New York, Sept. 21.—A woman who owns a yard facing 50 feet in Fifth Avenue at 39th street, in the centre of the city's most fashionable shopping district, refuses to sell it because her cat "has to have a place to play in."

The dollars paid on it each year in taxes would, if stacked dollar on dollar, make a hurdle not to be sneered at by anything short of the cow that jumped over the moon.

Other wealthy people have given strange reasons for refusing to sell business district property which was eagerly sought by many buyers. Some time ago a man who owned a building in Broadway just below Times Square, wanted contract stipulations that none of the prospective buyers would lease it to certain businesses.

Just above the Times Square section of Broadway an aged property owner had a vacant five-story building that an automobile sales house wanted to lease. The papers were drawn up, and when the interested parties had gathered to sign it the automobile representative remarked that his concern was going to put "a nice electric sign on the roof."

his building. The deal was not closed until the building remained empty for six years, when the owner died.

QUEEN GREETED BY A STORMY SCENE

(Canadian Press Despatch.) The Hague, Sept. 20.—Parliament was opened by Queen Wilhelmina today amidst scenes of disorder. A demonstration was carried out in the street before the parliament building for the purpose of securing the release of a man named Groenendael, imprisoned for refusing to perform military service.

NFLD. APPEALS TO WASHINGTON

(Canadian Press Despatch.) Washington, Sept. 20.—Sir Richard Anderson Squires, premier of Newfoundland had a conference with Secretary of Commerce Hoover over the prohibitive rates affecting trade between Newfoundland and the United States in the Forney tariff bill.

He pointed out that with only $2,000,000 of Newfoundland fish and other products coming here annually for use in the United States against $20,000,000 worth of manufactured articles going into Newfoundland from the United States it was a mistake for this country to impose prohibitive rates on the fish and fish oil of Newfoundland.

It was definitely learned there is strong sympathy with Sir Richard's view in high administration circles. "If Crabbie ever comes around your place to borrow anything don't you let him have it."

"You've spoken too late. He was around yesterday." "You chump! What did he borrow?" "Trouble. He's in the hospital now."

GREAT MEDICAL COLLEGE OPENED

Erected in Peking by Chinese Medical Board of Rockefeller Foundation.

Peking, Sept. 21.—The great Peking Union Medical College, which has been erected here by the China Medical Board of the Rockefeller Foundation, was dedicated this week and noted scientists and medical men from many countries attended.

The Peking Union Medical college has been in process of erection and construction since 1916. It is the chief agency through which the Rockefeller Foundation aims to promote the progress of western medicine in China. It is an outgrowth of the Union Medical College, which was founded by the joint efforts of six British and American missionary societies in 1906, after the Boxer outbreak. The China Medical Board of the foundation has assumed the full support of the college, which is chartered under the laws of the State of New York.

The purpose of the China Medical Board is to make the college a rallying point for scientific medical training and research not only in China but throughout the Far East. It will maintain constant relations with Europe and North America through a system of visiting professors. Graduate students from her medical colleges are expected to sort to it. Practicing physicians and medical missionaries in China may receive from it stimulation and support.

The campus of the college, which is sited near the heart of Peking and the forbidden city, was formerly the site of the palace and garden of a Chinese prince.

Fourteen hospitals and laboratory buildings have been erected thereon and these have been decorated in the conventional Chinese fashion in bright colors and with the elaborate carvings typical of the palaces and temples. The college plant consists of laboratories of anatomy, physiology and chemistry, a one out-patient department, a hospital with 30 private rooms, quarters for great physicians and interns, a home and plants to supply water, at, electric light and power and fuel.

The buildings are fire-proof and modern in every detail of interior arrangement and equipment and yet are in harmony with the best traditions of Chinese architecture. The cost of the buildings has not been made public but they were constructed during the war, it is understood to have been very low.

Graduation students must successfully complete a five years' course in medicine and, at the present time, English is the medium of instruction but ultimately Chinese may be required. Special prizes in all departments are open to the graduates of all nationalities.

The faculty has been assembled from men of high standing in the United States, Europe and China. Dr. Ary S. Houghton, its director, was formerly professor of tropical medicine at the Harvard Medical School, China. Dr. Ralph B. Seem, acting superintendent of the college hospital, is now director of the Albert Merritt Kings Hospital of the University of Chicago, with a leave of absence for this year.

Others of the college faculty are: William Black, a graduate of the University of Toronto and formerly of Canadian Army Corps; Dr. Ralph G. formerly of the staff of Johns

Invest Your Money in This Modern Heating System

Instead of Wasting It in Needless TONS of High Priced Coal

"HECLA" Pipeless Furnaces in use in thousands of homes have demonstrated beyond contradiction that they will reduce appreciably your year's coal bill; save a good many dollars' installation cost; heat your house better—with less trouble; give you the advantages of a cool cellar free from the usual maze of pipes. The "Hecla" Pipeless has only one register. The whole system can be installed in a day.

Because of the many special features of this furnace, which have been combined in its construction with the pipeless idea, owners of "Hecla" Pipeless Furnaces report savings averaging over 30 per cent on their fuel bills. The Steel-Ribbed Firepot—which gives three times the heat radiating surfaces; the Patented Fused Joints—which do away with all gas and dust; the big Circular Waterpan—which ensures healthful moisture in every room—makes an important saving in fuel; the fact that there is no heat in the cellar or no cluttering pipes;

Hopkins Medical School; Dr. Franklin C. McLean, formerly of the faculty of the University of Chicago; Dr. Adrian S. Taylor, formerly of Johns Hopkins Medical School, and Dr. J. Preston Maxwell, formerly medical missionary in China.

There are fifty-four Americans and Europeans and thirty-seven Chinese on the hospital and teaching staff of the college and the nurses' training school.

Lecturers from various parts of the world will visit the college to stimulate its scientific work, which is to include not only training for hospital work but medical research.

Among the members of the board of trustees are John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller Foundation.

In connection with the ceremonies of dedication, addresses were delivered by Mr. Rockefeller, Jr., Dr. Vincent, Dr. S. S. Goldwater, of New York City; Dr. Richard M. Pearce, of the Rockefeller Foundation, and by Dr. William H. Welch, of Baltimore, Md. Brief addresses of welcome were made by Chinese government officials and representatives of medical societies in China.

Fredericton Exhibition Big Success

Fredericton, Sept. 20.—The Fredericton exhibition had a most successful second day today with the attendance keeping up to expectations and everybody pleased with the excellence and variety of the show. The middle of the week generally provides the largest attendance, so Wednesday or Thursday are expected to show the record.

Judging in all departments is well along tonight. It will take longer than usual, however, on account of the large number of entries in all departments.

The bench show of the Fredericton Kennel Club got away to a start today. Entries in this show have surpassed anything in eastern Canada this year in point of quality. The Irish terrier class is particularly good with keen competition. All the maritime provinces are represented, also the United States, Ontario and Quebec.

MAY SATISFY U. S. CLAIMS

(Canadian Press Despatch.) Geneva, Sept. 20.—Lord Robert Cecil, representing South Africa, after plainly indicating to the political commission of the assembly of the League of Nations today that he thought the United States claims respecting mandates could be satisfied, withdrew his demand that the terms of the A and B mandates be fixed at once.

After Mr. Fisher, Great Britain, M. Raynal, France, and M. Boulet, Belgium, had assured the commission that their governments would give the mandates commission every facility for scrutinizing the administration of the territories under mandate, Lord Robert withdrew his resolution and the committee adopted the recommendation that the assembly ask the council to insist that the powers push the negotiations with the United States and reach an agreement at the earliest possible moment.

The relations between the council and the assembly, which remained rather vague after the first efforts of the popular body of the league to qualify them last year, took an unexpected development today. The council referred to the assembly the Vilna dispute between Poland and Lithuania, which it had been considering for more than a year without reaching a conclusion.

Milestones

THE dear little girl of "yesteryear" is a bride-to-day. Her misty veil, her guard of a hundred fragrant roses, the exquisite purity of her wedding garments make her bewilderingly lovely, but unreal. Even her shining eyes hold something of mystery to-day, as, in silver slippers, she steps from girlhood to womanhood. A little ache of regret tugs at your heart, until suddenly she sees you—you who remember her very first uncertain step on two wobbly little feet long, long ago.

"You darling old thing!" and, regardless of propriety and posies, two round young arms are flung about your neck while you become hopelessly entangled with an elusive veil that should not be disarranged, a train that is not to be trodden on, flowers that must not be crushed, and a girl who demands to be kissed. The same dear, impulsive girl of short-frock days, radiantly happy, telling you that she loves the Elgin Watch you sent her, the very best of all, while triumphantly the slender wrist is held up for your inspection.

A shower was held at the home of Mrs. R. Rushton last evening in honor of Miss Katie Delucy. She was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts, among them being sterling silver, cut glass, and linen. Miss Delucy will be one of the principals in an interesting event next Wednesday.

Eric King, 132 St. James street west, brought to the Times yesterday four dahlias growing on a single stem, the four of them being about the size of a single dahlia, just below the four another shoot had produced three in one and the whole was surmounted by the single dahlia. Mr. King said he had seen five and in one case six small dahlias growing from a single stem and all united.

ST. JOHN PICTURES.
Recent issues of the Canadian Music Trades Journal and the Phonograph Journal of Canada, published by the Fullerton Publishing Company of Toronto, contain illustrations of St. John, the cuts for which were forwarded by the local board of trade at the request of the publishers. Among the pictures are the bridge at the falls, ships loading at the West Side piers, Rockwood Park and Queen square.

NO CHANGE THIS YEAR.
In reply to an inquiry from the St. John Board of Trade as to whether any change was contemplated in the method of shipment of molasses to Canada, the Barbadoes Chamber of Commerce, in a letter dated September 5, states that the present stock of puncheons in that island is very large and sufficient for the season of 1922, therefore it would be impossible for any change to be made before 1923. Most of the importers in Canada, says the letter, prefer puncheons to barrels, therefore they do not see why any change should be made.

MACDONALD-ROSS
A pretty wedding was solemnized at seven o'clock this morning in St. Mary's church, when Rev. R. Taylor McKim united in marriage Miss Tillet, Eleanor Ross, daughter of Mrs. Agnes Ross, 12 Waterloo street, to Aubrey Heath Macdonald, of Roxbury, Mass. The bride looked charming in a navy blue traveling suit with contrasting hat and veil. She carried a bouquet of Killarney roses. She was attended by Miss Margaret Earl and Frank Ross, brother of the bride, was groomsmen. Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald left this morning for their home in Roxbury.

AT EAST ST. JOHN.
A social was held in the Edith Avenue Hall, East St. John, last evening. A short programme was rendered and refreshments served. A business meeting also was held. The finance committee reported a small balance in the treasury. A new finance committee was chosen, consisting of one member from each denomination represented. The members appointed were O. J. Lawson, J. W. Flewelling, G. P. Elliott and W. Morrison. A vote of thanks was extended to G. M. Henry, who has conducted services at the hall this summer. The trustees were authorized to procure a speaker for the winter months, as it was felt that the attendance at the meetings this summer has been so good that they ought to be continued.

PAPER ON THE PORT OF ST. JOHN
A Meeting of World Port Authorities in Seattle Next Month.

The Daily Traffic Letter issued on September 19, by the Shipper and Carrier Press, Inc., of New York, contains among other matters the programme of the international meeting of world port authorities at Seattle, October 11-14, under the auspices of the American Association of Port Authorities. The programme covers the presentation of a paper or address by the secretary of the St. John Board of Trade on "The Port of St. John, Canada's First Winter Port." Included in the programme will be addresses on the ports of Glasgow, Charleston, S. C., New York, Liverpool, Mobile, Ala.; Portland, Me.; Houston, Texas; Baltimore, San Diego, Chicago, Boston and Los Angeles, besides a series of papers on other matters connected with world ports.

The Traffic Letter further says, "Word has reached Seattle that the foreign relations committee of the senate has favorably reported on resolution authorizing President Harding to ask foreign nations to send official delegates to the convention. This will add tremendously to the significance of the conclave, which will consider port development and cargo handling topics."

It has not yet been decided whether St. John will send a representative to the convention or not. It is understood that Halifax has arranged to send a delegate. Montreal will be represented by M. P. Pennell, secretary of the harbor commission, who is also secretary of the Ports Association.

LIVES OF HYDRO MEN ENDANGERED
Several complaints have been received recently regarding the great amount of shooting which is being done along the transmission line from the hydro-electric station at Musquash to the city. Several workmen are engaged in the erection of this line, and it is said that on some occasions their lives have been endangered. A warning has been issued to all hunters in this vicinity to use extreme caution in firing in the direction of the transmission line route and to make sure that any supposed animal aimed at is not in reality one of the men at work on the job.

SETTLEMENT WITH OWNERS IN MILL STREET

Exchequer Court Proceedings in Matter of Expropriation of Property for New Depot.

At a sitting of the Exchequer Court this morning Mr. Justice Audette of Ottawa presiding, settlements were arranged in connection with the matter of expropriation by the dominion government of properties in Mill street and near the Island Yard for the proposed new union depot. In each case a tender had been made by the crown but had not been accepted and the case was set for trial. On trial being reached this morning counsel reported a satisfactory adjustment and the figures presented to the court were confirmed.

In the case of four leaseholders the crown abandoned expropriation allowing it to apply only as to the freehold interest. These were in the matter of John Chamberlain estate, T. P. Kelly, M. Marcus, and N. S. Springer. Settlements were made with the following freeholders:—Bank of Nova Scotia, Mrs. J. R. Street and the S. E. Hazen estate and with the following leaseholders:—Mrs. Mary A. Quinn, Mrs. M. E. Walsh and Miss A. F. O'Neill, as well as in the two Island Yard properties, the D. O'Connell estate and the R. G. Murray estate.

THE BISHOP OF FREDERICTON ILL

Right Rev. Dr. Richardson Wires That He May Escape Operation.

Fredericton, N. B., Sept. 21—Very Rev. Scovil Neale, dean of Christ Church Cathedral, has received a telegram from River Du Loup, Que., sent by Right Rev. Dr. J. A. Richardson, Bishop of Fredericton, who was then en route to Montreal stating that he had recovered from an acute attack with which he was seized at Bathurst, N. B., on Sunday, and that it might not be necessary for him to undergo an operation, for which he had been ordered to Montreal. It has also been learned that the physician who attended His Lordship at Bathurst diagnosed his case as gallstones.

"MR. ZERO" MAY HELP JOBLESS
"Slave Auction," However, is Barred in New York—Night Sticks in Use Again.

New York, Sept. 21—Urban Ledoux whose activities in behalf of New York's unemployed have been combatted by the police announced early today that he and the police had arrived at a complete compromise. He has promised, he said, to abandon plans for holding a modern "slave auction" here and the police have agreed to aid his efforts to feed the jobless.

Ledoux appeared in Bryant Park this morning with a police escort and began distribution of tickets good for breakfast in nearby restaurants. He announced that he would open a bread line at St. Marks in the Bowery on Monday and that lodging also will be provided and an employment bureau operated.

Late last evening police chased a group of men who had gathered around members of the Sunset Club in Bryant Park to receive boxes of food. Members of the club, which is made up of elderly women, declared the police exercised unwarranted brutality in the use of their night sticks. Several of the women were knocked down by men fleeing from the policemen.

The police got in a bit of propaganda for their side of the case by arresting ten jobless men in Bryant Park on charges of shooting craps. Seven men went to jail to work out their fines while three paid and were released. Ten others, arrested on charges of vagrancy, supported the contention of the local authorities that many of the jobless are "floaters" by giving home addresses other than New York.

QUEBEC LIQUOR COMMISSIONER IS ATTACKED

Montreal, Sept. 21—Referring to the Quebec liquor commission as the most autocratic body that ever existed in a democratic community and contending that it cared more for revenue than for human souls, Rev. Mr. Gaukroger of Greenfield Park, delivered a scathing address at the Methodist district meeting in St. James Methodist church on the action of the commission in granting a license in his municipality in the face of a largely signed petition asking that the license be refused.

The speakers then offered a resolution to the effect that in future no license should be granted in a municipality when the majority of electors are opposed, even if the council does not oppose it. The motion, however, was finally withdrawn, but a resolution of general sympathy with the Greenfield signatories and pledging support on the general principle was adopted.

A disturbance of considerable intensity was reported north of Minnesota on Lake Superior. The storm is moving eastward.

My Friend the Prince

Tracy Mathewson, Yankee Photographer, Tells How His Highness of Wales Broke All the Rules to Get Him Past the Flunkies, the Camera and All.

The Yankee Camera Man Had to Pass This Giant Sentry to Get Inside the Yard.

By Tracy Mathewson

SOME years ago I was shipmates with a half-caste Guatemalan on a tramp steamer plying between Rio de Janeiro and Charleston, S. C. He was the unsightliest human being I ever saw outside of one blue-gummed negro from Mineral Wells, Texas. He was covered from head to foot with grime and clinkers and his nose had been mashed in with a marlinpike. They called him The Prince, because, I presume, that's the last thing you'd ever mistake him for.

But such as he was, he was the only Prince I had ever met, before I was brought in contact, professionally, with the Prince of Wales when he was on his Canadian tour year before last. I may be excused, therefore, if in my latest meeting with the Prince in London, I showed an ignorance of what princes were supposed to do and say. I am quite sure that nothing I had ever read and nothing I had learned from my friend, Prince Luis de Perez, the Guatemalan deckhand, prepared me for the sort of person the Prince of Wales turned out to be.

As I have already stated, my relations with the Prince on his Canadian trip were strictly professional. He asked me once if it would be possible to show him the motion pictures I was making of him before I shipped them to New York. I made arrangements to do this. We rigged up a projecting room on the Prince's private car and while the pictures were being shown the Prince asked me to sit by him. He asked me lots of questions about the technical phases of moving picture work and seemed very much interested.

However, I had no reason to believe that I had caught his imagination or fixed myself in his memory.

Real Yankee Flippancy

A few weeks ago I went to London to make some commercial pictures. I was strolling along Piccadilly a couple of days following my arrival when I met Mr. Gilbert Nigel, a government official who had been one of the Prince's equerries on his Canadian trip. After we had talked for a few minutes he asked me:

"Does the Prince know you're in town?"

I thought that this was merely an eruption of British humor.

"No," I answered. "The Prince has been remarkably unenthusiastic about my presence in London."

I thought no more about it until the next day at noon, when I found a note at the Piccadilly Hotel, where I was staying, directing me to call Regent 1414. I'll never forget that number. I and the girl, put me through, as we London lads say, and was surprised to get my number in less than five minutes. It usually takes fifteen in London.

"What place is this?" I asked.

"St. James Palace," came the answer.

The name had a familiar ring, but I was preoccupied with the idea that some roughneck friend of mine had learned I was in town and was trying to get me. I guess I must have thought that St. James Palace was a moving picture theatre or some two-bit hotel with a flutini name.

"Well, is there anybody there wants to talk to Tracy Mathewson?"

There was a long silence. After a while a man's voice was heard.

It was Sir Godfrey Thomas, the Prince of Wales's private secretary.

"The Prince," he said, "would like to see you tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock, if it's convenient. But don't bring your camera. No cinema man has ever been inside the palace."

At 5 o'clock the next day I was outside the walls of the palace wondering where the front gate was. There were two soldiers wearing fur hats—shakos, I think you call them—who stood around with their legs apart and looked at me coldly. I was wondering what to do next when a grocery wagon came along and the gates swung open. I followed it in. One of the porters, soldiers, guards, gendarmes or whatever they were called, stepped up and wanted to know my business.

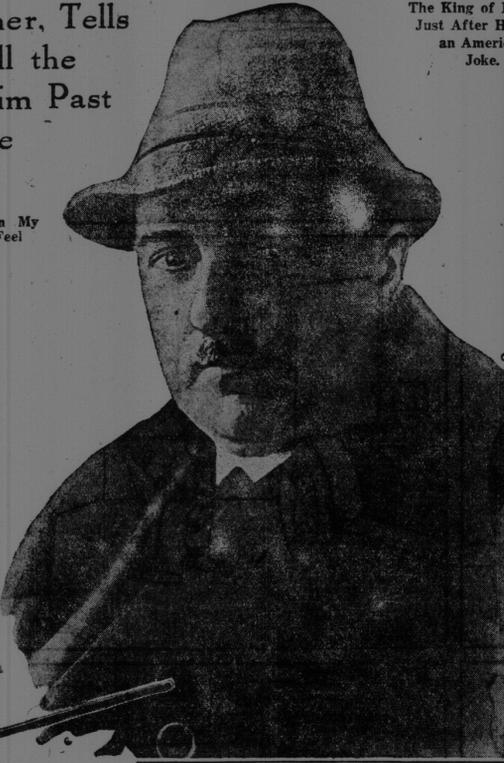

"That's all right, buddy," I said. "I've got a date with the Prince."

He immediately stepped back and I walked on a flight of stairs and rang the nearest bell.

"With This Chewing Wax in My Mouth," Said the Prince, "I Feel Like a Regular Guy."

The King of England Just After Hearing an American Joke.

At Left—Tracy Mathewson, the American Photographer Who Made Moving Pictures in St. James Palace for the First Time in History.

The door flew open and there stood my old friend—I forget what his name is—who was the Prince's chief attendant and cocktail shaker in Canada. He was all dressed up like a taxi starter at the Hotel Biltmore, but I recognized him and held out my hand. He looked all around nervously, but not seeing anybody grabbed my hand and shook it heartily.

"They're expecting you," he said. He led me into a big room to the right of the entrance hall, where I found Sir Godfrey Thomas. In the adjoining room I saw Admiral Halsey, the head of the Prince's household, and we swapped a few stories before Sir Godfrey told me the Prince was ready to see me.

I walked up a long flight of stairs and turning to the left entered a spacious room with a very high ceiling. The Prince was seated at a desk at the far end, but as soon as I came in he got up and walked toward me with his hand outstretched.

"I am certainly glad to see you," he said. "How long have you been in London?"

I told him.

"I'm sorry you couldn't have been here a few weeks ago for the stepphase. We had a jolly time. Let me show you some of the pictures."

The pictures were of the Guards' race in which the Prince came out the winner, the others falling by the way.

house down in Atlanta, Ga., and I'd certainly be glad for you to pay me a visit."

"Why, I wouldn't think of going to the States without calling on you," he replied. At that moment I happened to think of Luis de Perez, not to mention Willie Elias, Cal Rountree and a few other friends of mine back in Hawk's Gulley, Mott street and a few other places. I wondered what they would think of that.

A Coveted Privilege Granted

Seeing the Prince was in such a good humor I asked him if it wouldn't be possible for me to make some motion pictures of him inside the palace.

"Sure," he answered. "Any time you're passing here drop in and make them."

As I didn't quite feel up to dropping in on the Prince as I would drop in on Romany Marie, I asked for a special engagement. He told me when I returned he would autograph it. All in all we talked for about twenty-five minutes and he had planned on seeing me only five. By this I don't mean that I displayed such brilliant mental qualities and such persuasive charm of manner that he couldn't bear to have me go. As a matter of fact he did most of the talking and the conversation was largely about America. I think he was too careful of my feelings to rush me off abruptly.

I spoke to Sir Godfrey as I went out. He was greatly surprised that the Prince had consented to allow pictures to be made in the palace.

"It will be the first time a cinema man was ever in this palace," he said.

The next morning I went to Southampton and after completing some work I sent my equipment back to London and started to ride through the country to Epsom Downs to see the Derby, or as we bloomers British toffs would say, the "Derby."

I had no idea of making pictures of any sort. It was the merest accident that I happened to have a small still camera containing one plate.

When I got to Epsom Downs the air was thick with mist and the skies were dark. I pushed my way out on the track to take a look around and some track guards, seeing my camera, started to push me back. Just about that time someone stepped through the crowd and grabbed me by the arm. It was the Prince.

"How are you this time?" he said.

"I'm a bit rushed," I said.

He laughed. By that time the gang had fallen back and left me alone.

"Come over here," he said. "I'd like you to make a picture of my sister, the Princess Mary."

I had only one plate. It was a dark day—but there was nothing else for me to do. I saw him go over and speak to the Princess, who was standing with Admiral Halsey and her other two brothers, the Duke of York and Prince Albert. The next moment he had lined them up and told me to go ahead.

I tried to time the picture, but my hand was shaking and I snapped it out of focus. I never admitted this to him though. After I snapped this one plate, he came over and started talking about the races. I was still thinking about the bum picture I had just made and nervously pulled a stick of chewing gum out of my pocket. When I realized what I was doing I tried to stuff back, but the Prince had seen it.

"Give it to me if you don't want it," he said, laughing. He took the stick, unwrapped it and stuck it in his mouth.

"With this chewing wax in my mouth," said the Prince, "I feel like a regular guy."

The next day when I was ushered into his office with my camera the first thing the Prince asked me was whether I had got a good picture.

"Fine!" I said. "Wonderful!"

It was one of the worst I had ever taken in my life.

"My sister didn't want to pose at first," he continued, "but when I explained to her that you were a friend of mine, it was all right."

After we had made some pictures both inside and out in the yard, the Prince put me through a long series of questions about photography, the United States, race horses, cattle, and the pretty girls in America which he discussed with intelligence and good taste.

I would like to repeat some of the things he said about several American girls, but perhaps it wouldn't be advisable. But the American girls needn't be fearful. He's strongly prejudiced in their favor.

All in all the Prince has as much personality and as fine an intelligence as any man I ever met. I say that without regard to his position. If he were Bill Smith's son I, or anybody else, would say the same thing. They say he gets his character from his mother. As I was talking to him, I noticed her picture hung on the wall just over his shoulder. The likeness was striking.

"When are you coming back to England?" he asked when I had made everything I could see that looked like a picture.

"I expect to get back next year some time," I told him.

"Well, drop in and see me whenever you're in London."

How Automobile Racing "Poisons" a Man

WHEN Gaston Chevrolet climbed from his little green racing car after winning the 500-mile international sweepstakes automobile race at Indianapolis recently, after having driven steadily for nearly six hours at the average speed of 88.16 miles per hour, his eyes were almost lifeless. In medical phraseology they were "dead." His face was haggard and drawn. The muscles of his legs and forearms were cramped and knotted. His head dropped and his steps faltered.

In fact he looked like a man who had just taken a dose of poison. And that is exactly what happened, as a writer of the Scientific American explains.

The strain of clutching the wheel of his car for more than 5 hours and 40 minutes, never once relaxing his hold or taking his eyes off the dizzy white stretch of brick pavement always ahead of his speeding machine, had caused physical fatigue equivalent to poison, for fatigue is defined as poison by prominent medical authorities. And fatigue poison is just as effective in its action as arsenic or carbolic acid. An overdose of either would be fatal.

Two photographs of Chevrolet, one taken before and the other immediately after the race, tell the story of the racer's complete exhaustion. One shows him, fresh, alert, smiling and full of energy, ready for the grueling 500-mile race. The other shows him, gaunt, and haggard of face, with colorless eye, drooping head, sagging body and cramped muscles, as attendants helped him from his car after the race.

"The extreme exhaustion suffered by Chevrolet from physical exertion and severe strain of driving 500 miles without a stop at the terrific speed he maintained," declares Dr. Clyde Leeper, a medical expert of Akron, O., "caused certain chemical changes to create poisonous decomposition in the muscles of his body—in other words the production and accumulation of waste substances such as carbon dioxide and lactic acid. In large quantities these are typical fatigue poisons."

"Chevrolet after the race had the 'dead' eye which we found so often among wounded men overseas, among men who had endured long suffering from wounds and exhaustion and men who had become shell-shock victims. Chevrolet's extreme fatigue was equivalent to a severe shock of the complete nervous system—almost the same as if he had been hurled 40 or 50 feet in an explosion, and severely stunned. Bicycle riders, marathon runners and long-distance swimmers suffer similar fatigue. They all have that 'dead' eye after the acid test of endurance."

MILLION ENGLISH FARMERS TO GO TO AUSTRALIA

Scheme to Cost $150,000,000, Half of Which Will be Raised by Britain.

Sydney, Sept. 21.—Australians are interestedly discussing a scheme proposed by Sir Joseph Carruthers, Australian publicist and financier, for the settlement of 1,000,000 English tillers of the soil upon 1,000,000 farms in Australia, through the creation of a fund of $150,000,000 to be raised in equal proportion by Australia and Great Britain. He argues that the scheme would permit the emigration to Australia of a large number of the unemployed service men of the kingdom to some of the richest land in the world, which as yet has never felt a plowshare. Sir Joseph stressed the value to Great Britain of the man power brought to Australia by the undertaking. He declared that it would be better for the United Kingdom to support such a scheme than to build warships in contemplation of Australia's danger, should the Pacific become a war zone.

SECOND CYRENE VENUS FOUND IN A PERFECT STATE

Rome, Sept. 21.—What enthusiastic archaeologists describe as the most perfect Venus to light has just been discovered in the Thermal or Baths of Cyrene, where extensive excavations are being carried on under the direction of Prof. Ghislanzoni.

The statue, somewhat larger than life-size, is in a perfect state of preservation; the lovely head and arms untouched by time, and belongs to the Greek-Roman period, bearing a striking resemblance to the Venus of the Capitol. It will be remembered that another magnificent statue of Venus, unfortunately headless, was discovered a few years ago at Cyrene, and is now one of the

When Prof. Ghislanzoni saw the beautiful work of art emerging from the soil like Venus from the waves, he became so excited that he shouted to the Arab workmen to put up their spades, lest they might injure the statue in the slightest detail, and with eager hands proceeded to remove the millennial earth reverently, as if unveiling a goddess. Unfortunately, he sustained some abrasions of the skin of the hands, which became infected, and for some time it was feared that he would succumb to blood poisoning.

Latest advices from Bengasi, however, announce that the professor is out of danger and will shortly have the satisfaction of personally escorting the most beautiful Venus in the world to Rome.

GREAT NEED OF CARE OF THE FEEBLE-MINDED

"One thing which has struck me very forcibly while travelling through this great Canadian country is the number of large asylums which one finds scattered all over and giving the impression that there must be a great deal of mental trouble in the country," said Lady Byng at the "Ladies' Tea" given by the president and directors of the Central Canada Exhibition in Ottawa, and following a speech by Mrs. J. Charlotte Hanington on the nursing service in Canada.
"There is a great deal of mental deficiency in England," continued Lady Byng, who stated that during her three years on the Board of Guardians there passing through their hands had a mentally defective mother. Her Excellency suggested that strong steps should be taken in regard to these cases as a great deal of harm came from allowing them to roam at liberty through the country.

GERMANY READY TO REOPEN EMBASSY

Clerical Force May Leave for Washington Within a Few Weeks.

Berlin, Sept. 21.—The German Government has given tentative orders to the clerical force which is to reopen the Embassy at Washington to be ready to sail in four weeks.
This delegation will be followed almost immediately by Counselor of the Embassy Horstmann and Secretary of the Legation Dr. Riesser. Horstmann is to have the rank, but not of Charge d'Affaires until the appointment and arrival of the Ambassador. He is the son-in-law of S. C. Wabscher, Germany's richest banker.
One reason for his appointment is that he can afford to pay out of his private monies the deficit between his salary of a thousand dollars and the cost of living in Washington.
Horstmann is a lavish entertainer, Riesser is the popular young son of a Reichstag deputy.

WOULD PROBE CORAL GROWTH

Michigan University Professor to Make Trip to South Sea Islands—Said to Hold Age Old Secret.

Tokio, Sept. 21.—The question as to whether a coral island begins at the bottom and grows up or starts at the top and grows down, is taking Professor William Herbert Hobbs, head of the department of geology of the University of Michigan, to a little island in the South Sea. Professor Hobbs arrived in Japan recently, and after conference with a number of prominent Japanese and foreigners, left for the Caroline Islands.

The controversy over the manner of the growth of coral islands was once settled, as was the question of the origin of man, by the distinguished scientist, Charles Darwin. Darwin's theory, unscientifically stated, is that ages ago the marine polyps which secrete the substance which forms coral began work about a mountain which rose from the sea. As the mountain sank gradually into the sea the coral was built up, leaving a string of coral islands in the form of the atoll seen now in the South Seas. Recently Professor James T. Daley of Harvard controverted this accepted theory and contended that the coral-producing polyps began at the surface and worked down.

Professor Hobbs has come all the way from the United States in the hope of settling the question and finding the facts as to the origin of the peculiar islands. He believes, as a result of long investigation, that a little island in the Caroline group, called Ani Island, five miles south of Pohnpe, holds the secret.

"CANNED DOG" BARKS TO SCARE THIEVES

Fruit Grower Uses a Talking Machine to Protect Orchard.

Billah, Wash., Sept. 21.—An old-fashioned talking machine, rigged in a beehive, with records of violent barking by two tormented collie dogs, is the police protection Edward Delle uses in his orchard and vineyard here.

The record is operated by an electric attachment, and if an automobile is heard to slow down where the orchard touches the highway the canned dog music is turned loose. It has never failed to discourage prospective purloiners of fruit.

There is already a stiffening; certain sizes are off the market; others have been marked up in the United States, notably 2 by 8. This is especially true of rough lumber, also of doors and trim. TRADE COMMENT
British and American Commerce is Recovering from Lowest Levels—Import and Export Figures for August Indicate Situation is Improving.
(New York Evening Post)

GERMAN COMPETITION.
(Financial Post)
Just how far German competition is to be a factor in world trade cannot yet be determined, but the fact remains that the influence is being felt. Germany is undoubtedly making greater strides industrially than perhaps any other belligerent country, and this is due to the fact that wages are down to pre-war levels, and her people are living economically. Just recently Cuban interests called for tenders on an order of several hundred tons of steel rails. While bids were submitted by a number of firms of several countries the contract was awarded to a German company. The German producer was able to underbid his rivals because, with German labor prices at a far less percentage of the making up of a far less percentage of the total cost, he was able to quote a substantially lower figure than other contenders.

THIS YEAR'S BIG WESTERN CROP
Must Accept Less Money—Buying Power Affected—Looking for Reduction in Carrying.
(Financial Post)
The purchasing power of western Canada is a direct reflection of the value of the crop. The yield and the market price have therefore a direct bearing upon the business situation. Not to mention the cost of production, transportation charges, etc. A year ago the Manitoba Free Press placed the value of the grain crops at $1,000,000,000. This year on the basis of as good a yield the figure is put at about $750,000,000. The following comparative figures indicate what has happened to the market to bring about this change:

A STUDY IN BROWN
An Incident in the Life of a New York Policeman.
New York, Sept. 21.—One hundred and fifty dollars was spent by Herman Schwartz, a furrier, who lives in a Turkish bath establishment at 208 East Tenth street, for a clothing store. Before going to bed he packed away his brown derby hat worth $7, brown suit worth $85, brown shoes worth $1, and other pieces of apparel that were studies in brown. Also he left $20 and his army discharge papers in a coat pocket, but he sank like lead when he beheld in place of his clothes a sorry brown derby, a pair of shoes with holes in the soles, and a pair of worn brown socks. His money and army discharge papers were gone. Only his brown-striped silk shirt was there.

Grand Circuit

Columbus, Sept. 21—Grand Circuit racing, halted by a downpour of rain yesterday afternoon, will be started a little after noon today if the track dries out sufficiently. A time trial by Peter Manning against his own record of 1:58 will be offered late in the afternoon if the track conditions permit.

Rain fell on the grand circuit track yesterday at Columbus, Ohio, after three heats were contested and the biggest card of the present circuit meeting in which $20,000 was to have been distributed among winners came to grief. One heat of the 2:05 class, the Capital City purse of $3,000, was won by Piscoope and Guardian Trust won the first heat of the three-year-old trot, the horse view futurity purse of $6,000. The time of both these heats was 2:04 1-4. Guardian Trust's mile in that time was the fastest trotted anywhere this year in a race by a performer of his age.

Worth Watching

Ottawa, Sept. 21—The race of the century as far as Canada is concerned has been arranged to take place on next Thursday, Sept. 22, over the half mile track at Chesterville, Ont., between the champion race pacer Single G. and Romals, 2:03, the season's champion half mile track pacer, owned by Jas. Stewart, now a resident of Ottawa.

Breaks a Record

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 21—Single G., world's champion pacer, broke the local track record, held by Directum J., at 2:04 1-4, in the free-for-all on the first card of the light harness race at the Eastern States Exposition Monday. The time for the three heats were 2:04, 2:04 and 2:03 1-2. The average time for the three heats made by Single G. came within three quarters of a second of equalling the world's record for three heats over a half mile track held by the gelding.

A Fatal Bout

Bangor, Me., Sept. 20—Edward F. Front, of Hampden, two-one years of age, fell dead after receiving a blow on the jaw in the fourth round of a boxing bout with George Langley, of Waterville, here last night. Doctors pronounced death due to heart failure, but Langley was arrested.

Gibbons Wins

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 20—Tommy Gibbons, of St. Paul, knocked out Joe Burte, of Detroit, in the second round of a scheduled ten round bout tonight.

Toronto Knock-Out

Toronto, Sept. 21—After getting to the tenth round of his bout with Kid Lewis of England at the Army and Navy Veterans show at the Arena last night, Ernie Barriac, Canadian heavyweight champion, was knocked out. Four times in that round he was sent to the canvas, three times for the count of nine, but on the fourth occasion he did not rise and Lewis was declared the winner. Barriac was somewhat overmatched but even those who know his work best and admit it most were not prepared for the really excellent bout he boxed against the former world's champion.

A French Wonder

Paris, Sept. 21—The meteoric rise in the billiard world of Roger Conti, French cue marvel, has attracted as much attention in Europe as Willie Hoppe's spectacular performances in America some 12 years ago. Conti is away to the United States to represent France in the world's billiard championship tournament, to be held in Chicago in November.

Born in Toulouse in 1901, young Conti began to wield a cue in his father's billiard parlors when the top of his head was hardly visible above the tables. He used a stool to make some of the more difficult shots. In his early teens, he defeated many of the ablest players in Europe at ballline. Recently he gave Doulet, one of the 10 best French players, 150 points, and beat him in a 500-point game, running out in five innings. He is weak on masse shots, but this fault is overcome by marvelous position play and muzzing.

WRESTLING

Accepts Challenge.
C. T. Dean, manager of Walter O'Toole, the local wrestler, visited this office yesterday afternoon and announced that he was prepared to accept the challenge on behalf of his man to wrestle Jack Carr, the Belgian wrestler. He said that any arrangements, which were necessary, could be completed at once if Carr's manager would communicate with him at 292 Duke street, west side. The challenge appeared in this paper on Saturday.

MEDICAL WORK IN OUR SCHOOLS

Annual Report of Medical Superintendent to Board of Health

Urges Provision of Clinics For Pupils With Defective Sight and Teeth—Special Classes For Mental Defectives—Need of More Sleep.

The report for the medical inspection of the city schools during the whole of the past year was recently submitted by the medical inspector, Dr. Mabel Hanington, to the sub-district board of health. It contains in small compass the records of the beneficial work accomplished in the detection of ailments and the isolation of infectious troubles and in drawing attention to undesirable or unhealthy conditions in the schools. The report points out what further steps may be taken to bring the standard of health of the pupils up to a still higher level. The report is as follows:

The work of medical inspection in the schools is covered in the following manner:
(a) A quick survey of all the 8,000 scholars at the opening of every term for the detection of any communicable ailments, and presence at the office three weeks for reference of any such cases by the teachers, and for issuance of remittance certificates, etc.
(b) A thorough examination of every Grade II scholar for detection of any chronic defect; 987 pupils examined this year.
(c) An examination of all scholars in all other grades, reported by the teachers, or noticed by the medical inspector, or the nurse in the term survey, etc., as suffering from any defect, vision, hearing, throat affection, general poor condition, etc.

There were found 469 cases of enlarged and diseased tonsils, etc.; 156 cases of defective vision; 46 of defective hearing; 220 cases of anaemia or poor general condition; 247 cases of markedly defective teeth, and 93 cases where care was needed for incipient or developed flat foot; besides a number of less usual but serious ailments. Some, of course, of these cases had been notified previously. The year has seen a number of cases long unremediated treated satisfactorily, on notification that the parents were liable to prosecution for neglect, in respect of compulsory letters sent by your board.

350 Throat Operations
"No less than 350 cases were operated upon during the year for throat conditions of various kinds, and some of these were treated many other surgical and medical cases. The percentage of action taken is difficult to estimate in any one year, but in some schools runs as high as seventy-five per cent. for all acute serious cases, while in a few it is probably only three or four per cent. The advice given is followed by so large a proportion, and then only by strenuous efforts to follow up the cases. A great number of successful operations upon individual teachers. Some of them are of great assistance, others none at all.

"The nurse has covered each school twice a week with the clinical work, beside assisting in the other work, listing scholars for examination and occasionally visiting homes to gain the cooperation of parents, etc. She made eighty-nine calls during the year, including fifty-seven in the latter part of June. You will I trust, appreciate the fact that 865 parents were present at the examination of Grade II scholars, thirty-seven per cent. those invited, which is a great source of satisfaction as concerning a greater measure of understanding, and appreciation and co-operation, and regard as of the greatest value in thorough systems elsewhere.

"During the year several V. A. D. workers in training were given a morning's instruction in the schools, and the V. A. D. nurses in training were given a course of eight lectures on Saturday morning, and four days each in the schools, preparatory to their work elsewhere in the province.
"Three great needs are still apparent in connection with the work—(1), a clinic for refraction work for pupils with defective sight, whose parents are unable to undertake the expense; (2), a clinic for pupils similarly situated, with markedly defective teeth, interfering so often, with general health in every way; and (3), special classes for the several scores of children in our schools who are mentally defective. This latter need, has, I know, the earnest attention of your board at the present time. Every year a dozen or more cases probably leave our schools from Grades I, II, III and IV, and the need of provision to retain and develop them along possible lines making for self-support and protection of themselves and the community, is increasingly apparent on study of the results obtained elsewhere.

"I cannot close without a reference to the deplorable condition that exists regarding the bed hour of the average school child in this city. Hundreds are being over-strained, exhausted and made prematurely old by nothing else than loss of their proper sleeping time. It occurs in the homes of the well-to-do as well as the poor, and the negligence of the parents in this vital matter is nothing less than criminal. Many small children will return to school in the autumn, worn, haggard, irritable, as they did last year, probably sixty per cent. of them the worse for their holiday time rather than better, owing to this pernicious and increasingly prevalent habit of 'staying up till dark'—unless the community awakes to this evil, resultant upon it, uses more common-sense, and remembers that the whole duty of the parent is not to give the child a 'good time'."
Yours faithfully,
MABEL L. HANINGTON,
Medical Inspector of Schools.

Disturbed His Own Funeral.
A drunken man fell asleep by the roadside at Delagoa Bay. A patrol coming along thought he was dead, and as burial in that part of the world follows straight on the heels of death, he was speedily taken to the cemetery, where there are always some open graves. The lowering into the grave aroused the toper, who made such a commotion that he was released. He was immediately fined twenty-five dollars for creating a disturbance at a funeral.

Annual Report of Medical Superintendent to Board of Health

Urges Provision of Clinics For Pupils With Defective Sight and Teeth—Special Classes For Mental Defectives—Need of More Sleep.

The report for the medical inspection of the city schools during the whole of the past year was recently submitted by the medical inspector, Dr. Mabel Hanington, to the sub-district board of health. It contains in small compass the records of the beneficial work accomplished in the detection of ailments and the isolation of infectious troubles and in drawing attention to undesirable or unhealthy conditions in the schools. The report points out what further steps may be taken to bring the standard of health of the pupils up to a still higher level. The report is as follows:

The work of medical inspection in the schools is covered in the following manner:
(a) A quick survey of all the 8,000 scholars at the opening of every term for the detection of any communicable ailments, and presence at the office three weeks for reference of any such cases by the teachers, and for issuance of remittance certificates, etc.
(b) A thorough examination of every Grade II scholar for detection of any chronic defect; 987 pupils examined this year.
(c) An examination of all scholars in all other grades, reported by the teachers, or noticed by the medical inspector, or the nurse in the term survey, etc., as suffering from any defect, vision, hearing, throat affection, general poor condition, etc.

There were found 469 cases of enlarged and diseased tonsils, etc.; 156 cases of defective vision; 46 of defective hearing; 220 cases of anaemia or poor general condition; 247 cases of markedly defective teeth, and 93 cases where care was needed for incipient or developed flat foot; besides a number of less usual but serious ailments. Some, of course, of these cases had been notified previously. The year has seen a number of cases long unremediated treated satisfactorily, on notification that the parents were liable to prosecution for neglect, in respect of compulsory letters sent by your board.

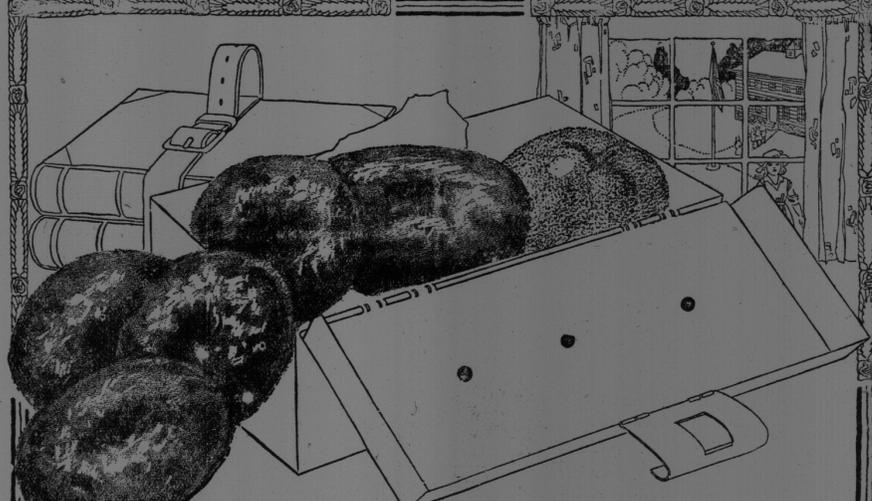

350 Throat Operations
"No less than 350 cases were operated upon during the year for throat conditions of various kinds, and some of these were treated many other surgical and medical cases. The percentage of action taken is difficult to estimate in any one year, but in some schools runs as high as seventy-five per cent. for all acute serious cases, while in a few it is probably only three or four per cent. The advice given is followed by so large a proportion, and then only by strenuous efforts to follow up the cases. A great number of successful operations upon individual teachers. Some of them are of great assistance, others none at all.

"The nurse has covered each school twice a week with the clinical work, beside assisting in the other work, listing scholars for examination and occasionally visiting homes to gain the cooperation of parents, etc. She made eighty-nine calls during the year, including fifty-seven in the latter part of June. You will I trust, appreciate the fact that 865 parents were present at the examination of Grade II scholars, thirty-seven per cent. those invited, which is a great source of satisfaction as concerning a greater measure of understanding, and appreciation and co-operation, and regard as of the greatest value in thorough systems elsewhere.

"During the year several V. A. D. workers in training were given a morning's instruction in the schools, and the V. A. D. nurses in training were given a course of eight lectures on Saturday morning, and four days each in the schools, preparatory to their work elsewhere in the province.
"Three great needs are still apparent in connection with the work—(1), a clinic for refraction work for pupils with defective sight, whose parents are unable to undertake the expense; (2), a clinic for pupils similarly situated, with markedly defective teeth, interfering so often, with general health in every way; and (3), special classes for the several scores of children in our schools who are mentally defective. This latter need, has, I know, the earnest attention of your board at the present time. Every year a dozen or more cases probably leave our schools from Grades I, II, III and IV, and the need of provision to retain and develop them along possible lines making for self-support and protection of themselves and the community, is increasingly apparent on study of the results obtained elsewhere.

"I cannot close without a reference to the deplorable condition that exists regarding the bed hour of the average school child in this city. Hundreds are being over-strained, exhausted and made prematurely old by nothing else than loss of their proper sleeping time. It occurs in the homes of the well-to-do as well as the poor, and the negligence of the parents in this vital matter is nothing less than criminal. Many small children will return to school in the autumn, worn, haggard, irritable, as they did last year, probably sixty per cent. of them the worse for their holiday time rather than better, owing to this pernicious and increasingly prevalent habit of 'staying up till dark'—unless the community awakes to this evil, resultant upon it, uses more common-sense, and remembers that the whole duty of the parent is not to give the child a 'good time'."
Yours faithfully,
MABEL L. HANINGTON,
Medical Inspector of Schools.

Disturbed His Own Funeral.
A drunken man fell asleep by the roadside at Delagoa Bay. A patrol coming along thought he was dead, and as burial in that part of the world follows straight on the heels of death, he was speedily taken to the cemetery, where there are always some open graves. The lowering into the grave aroused the toper, who made such a commotion that he was released. He was immediately fined twenty-five dollars for creating a disturbance at a funeral.

Golden, Crusty Coats
Tender, Digestible Centres
YOU can taste them again in memory—those mother-made doughnuts that crowned the old School Lunch. Crisp rings of crackling gold, yielding and porous to the eager bite, nutlike, wholesome, satisfying.
But their goodness is real to-day—for the doughnuts and crullers you make with FIVE ROSES flour are crisper, plumper, tenderer than those of childhood memory. FIVE ROSES makes fried cakes not only delightful, but delightfully wholesome. It is so sturdy and glutinous that it resists the absorption of fat. Bobbing deliciously in the deep sizzling fat, the well-cut cakes crisp at once sealing the dough against penetration with the crustiest brown coat imaginable, while the spicy centre bakes to a porous texture without greasiness or sogginess.
Just use your favourite recipe and leave the rest to FIVE ROSES.

J. D. O'CONNELL
AGAIN IN CITY
J. D. O'Connell arrived in the city yesterday on the completion of his tour through the maritime provinces at various centres of which he had been entertaining the orphans with his own pianic. Mr. O'Connell said last evening that it had been his intention to go through to Bangor, where he had intended to give a picnic on Saturday, but he had been asked to give his efforts in the coming campaign for the prohibition of the importation of liquor into this province. He had not arrived at a definite decision last evening, but intimated that he would probably accept the invitation to work in the interests of prohibition.

LANNING FOR TWO RUGBY TEAMS HERE The first senior football practice of the season will be held this afternoon beginning so soon after five o'clock as possible on the East End grounds. It was decided at a meeting of players held in the Y. M. C. I. last evening. Last night's meeting was not large but a considerable invitation was extended to all who wish to play to put in an appearance at the East End grounds this afternoon, so that it may be ascertained whether a team can be formed here.

Further details in connection with the team will be worked out so soon as it can be ascertained whether it will be possible to put a team in the field.

P. J. Legge said last evening that the St. George's A. C. were going to promote the game on the west side and that he thought a team made up exclusively of players from that side of the city would be made up. St. George's are just giving the game a start but it is not yet known whether the team will play under the colors of that association or be simply a Carleton fifteen. A meeting has been called for Thursday evening. Should both sides of the harbor succeed in getting together representative teams the foundations of a successful season will have been laid. The prospects of getting suitable grounds are beginning to look brighter and games may be played with outside fixtures.

Canada is shown by a report covering 1920 just issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The number of fur farms throughout Canada was 528, of which more than a half were in Prince Edward Island. Of the total number 573 were fox farms, six mink, two raccoon and one Karahule sheep. The total value of fur of fur-bearing animals on these farms at the end of last year was $4,622,005. Silver fox raising was the prime interest, some 13,405 of these animals being shown, with a value of $4,446,117, or $331 each. During the year, 9,219 silver foxes were born in captivity. The selling price of the pelts ranged all the way from $10 to $1,100 each. The fur farms are now found in all the nine provinces, and there are also 14 in the Yukon territory. Manitoba and Saskatchewan have only two each.
