Point, Westmorland, has a curiosity in the way of a patchwork quilt, made by herself. It contains over 4,000 pieces.Dr. Washington the celebrated specialist will be at the Brunswick house next Wednesday and Thursday. He shows a number of good testimonials from well-known people.
See his adv.The Apron and Tie Fair mentioned last week is to be held in Chignecto Hall next Thursday evening. Object, to raise funds for extending the sidewalk to the Station. There is no place where it is more needed.The regular train between Sackville and Baie Verte will remain at Baie Verte next Tuesday night till 10 o'clock, standard time, to give persons from Sackville and along the line an opportunity to attend the grand supper, in aid of the Methodist Church at Baie Verte, and return the same night.Sackville does not propose to be beaten by Baie Verte just yet in the matter of tomatoes. Mr. James Fillmore has brought to this office a tomato of his own raising which weighs 1 lb. and 2 ounces, or 4 ounces more than the Baie Verte champion, and says he could have picked out a bushel of equally large specimens.W. H. H. Murray, better known as Adirondack Murray, delivered one of his celebrated illustrated lectures at Moncton last Friday and Saturday evenings. The lectures are illustrated with fine light views of Canadian scenery, and are spoken of as exceedingly instructive and entertaining, and calculated to do a great amount of good.On Monday the engine of No. 2 train struck a three-year-old heifer, belonging to W. H. Babcock, at Harpers crossing. The animal was thrown from the track and had one of its legs broken so that it had to be killed. About half an hour later a calf belonging to Mr. Babcock was struck by the engine of No. 1 train, near the same crossing, and was thrown several rods, but escaped without apparent injury.Swapping knife-knives is no thing to the industrious trades man by two natives of Sackville of a farm here. A sold it to B. Last year and went to California. Becoming dissatisfied the said B. telegraphed, Arriving home, he concluded he had made a mistake and thereupon offered to sell again to B. The latter accepted and the trade was made and he left again for California. The other day B. was getting in the last of his crop when he was surprised by an order from A. to purchase the farm again, and never refusing a trade, he has sold again.

LOCAL MATTERS.

ASSIGNED.-Mr. John Avar, the well-known cattle dealer, has assigned to Mr. J. Woodford Avar. His liabilities are supposed to be in the vicinity of $10,000; principally to farmers in Botsford.SALEM VS. ATLANTA.-The match which was projected some two months since between the above junior clubs, and which fell through owing to a misunderstanding as to the ground the match was to be played on, is now fixed for the coming Saturday on the grounds of the Tanager club. Wickets to be pitched at 1.30 p. m.SACKVILLE ENTERPRISE.-Messrs.
E. Cogswell & Co., to meet the increasing demand, intend establishing at St. John a depot for the sale of their Oak Stoves, which have already reached a preeminent and leading position amongst the latest designed stoves of United States and Canada.
They have secured a large double shop next the Royal Hotel. Mr.
Alex. Ford, of this place, will take charge.ANNIVERSARY.-Sackville Division No. 40, celebrated its thirty-seventh anniversary on Tuesday evening with a goose supper, speeches and music. The speakers were Messrs.
George Campbell, Alexander Smith, L. C. Harper, Dr. Moore and others. The lady visitors deserve great credit for the excellent music.
Sackville Division is one of the oldest divisions in the Province, is still in a flourishing condition, and is still able to do good work for the cause of Temperance.BODY FOUND.-The body of Capt.
Thomas Carroll of Parrsboro, who was drowned off Minidie about three weeks ago, was found on Tuesday morning in a little creek near O'Brien's shipyard, Macan River.
An inquest was held before Coroner Treman, and the jury returned a verdict of accidental drowning by being knocked overboard by the mainsail of schr. "Nota Bene".Capt. King, of Parrsboro, who saw the accident through the binoculars, is about half a mile gave evidence at the inquest.CRICKET.-The Ladies of the Academy have procured a cricket set and are practicing diligently.
We should like to see a game arranged between an eleven of the Ladies and an eleven from the College, say, the latter using broom-sticks for bats.The papers speak highly of the Atkinson Comedy Co. in their performance of Peck's Bad Boy.Mr. J. Tingley raised fifty skater of the world (who by the way is a son of Mr. Gideon Snowdon, Upper Sackville) was exhibited to his friends the champion's belt, a massive silver article of apparel.Tenders are asked in to-day's issue for the conveyance of mails to Rockport from Sackville, it being the intention of the Dept. to reopen this route.

master, of Jonesport, Me., is loading piling here for New York.The tugboat "Clara E. Rogers," is submerged in the quicksands on Minidie flats. An attempt is to be made to save the rigging.Alex. Henley, of Musquodoboit, while working at the foundation of the Hebert bridge on Saturday last, had the misfortune to break the large bone of his left leg, and is now under surgical treatment.

Port Elgin.

Old Mr. Chas. Goodwin is to be a candidate in the coming congressional election.The agitators of the Parish of Botsford hold their annual fair here on Saturday 17th inst.Mr. Ford Moore has just finished a very neat sign board for David Murray. The work is artistic and new graces Mr. Murray's shop.The rate payers of Dist. No. 1 held their annual school meeting here on Thursday last. Mr. Chas.
Goodwin was chosen trustee to fill the vacancy. Two hundred dollars were voted for school purposes for the ensuing year. One thousand dollars was also voted for the purpose of erecting a new school room.

Bayfield.

Schr. "Manchester," owned with tank from Coalbrook, for Pictou, arrived on Northern coast, off Cape Jourdain, on Monday night, the 5th inst., and has since broken up and become a total loss of both vessel and cargo."Manchester" was an American oak built vessel, 40 years old, and sold some years ago for infringement of the fisheries act. The captain, Mark Bruen, says she sprang a leak before leaving Coalbrook harbor, which she left about 4 o'clock on Monday afternoon, and the leak continued to grow on them, so that when off the Cape she concluded to beach her, as he did not think it safe to cross Bay Verte, the water being over the cabin floor, and was making for the shore when she took the ground on said reef, about half-past ten the evening of sailing.

Parrsboro.

Our wharves are still crowded with coal and lumber and the river is nearly full of shipping.W. F. T. Jones of this place has commenced operations again in the lumber business this fall. He has lived one year without being in the business and he has now went wild, and now he is a happy man again. He has been a successful lumberman and we hope he may be again.The body of Capt. Thomas Carroll of this place, who was drowned about three weeks ago at the head of Cumberland Bay, was found Tuesday near O'Brien's shipyard, Macan river. Quite a number left here yesterday to see to having it brought to the city, but had not returned at train time. He was universally respected. He was at one time Councilor for No. 11 District, Parrsboro. He was a son of Francis Carroll, Esq., who filled the magisterial bench with credit to himself and the county. A deep gloom rests upon this place on account of his sudden and unexpected death.
He leaves a young wife, three little daughters and three sisters, who deeply mourn this loss.

Pugwash.

Now is the time for trimming grape and strawberry vines and preparing them for next year's crop.The farmers are busy gathering in the last of the summer's crop and they are rejoicing over good returns all round, especially potatoes.Mrs. G. McKinnon, who has been residing at Pugwash clear of the last of the summer's crop, and the U. S. visiting friends, arrived home on Saturday last, much improved in health.Persons interested in Short Line matters are anxiously looking for reports from Ottawa as to the result of negotiation of the French syndicate and American company with the Government.The result of the tea meeting at Wallace Bay on 24th Sept., $240, will place the Methodist mission at Pugwash clear of all debt, and encumbrances in shape of debt and provide for some necessary improvements.Nothing has been reported in the Post from this locality for a week or so, your local correspondent has been absent and nothing special of a local character having transpired during this absence, except that the last ship of the season had left for Europe.There has been considerable strife among the small craft. About 500 tons of hay has been shipped to St. Pierre and Cape Breton. Several cargoes of coal have arrived, so that the wants of the people are pretty well supplied in that article, and now the schr. "Sturgeon," P.
Stewart, has arrived from P. E. Island with oatmeal, cabbage, turnips, oats, &c., which will be disposed of at fair market rates.The old proverb of oil on the troubled waters is now reversed.
A hundred barrels of oil spilled out of the "Ella Maud" on Tuesday morning, and it is reported has been picked up by the industrious and enterprising folk along shore and some of them with an honesty that trifles preclusion of handing it to the proper authorities. As the purchasers of the oil imagine that they have some rights in the premises there is likely to be a little business in the criminal court before winter is over, and perhaps the prospect of an increase in the residents of Mr.
Botsford's popular boarding house at Dorchester.A shipment of five tons of live coal was made a few days ago from Westport, N. S., to Boston.

Dorchester.

Thos. Keillor, Esq., is again seriously ill.The stone workers at the penitentiary were discharged on Saturday, the new wing being about completed.Mr. Howard, of the Colonial Copper Co., returned on Friday from Boston. The works will be kept open this winter.The convention of Liberals on Tuesday evolved a strong policy.
It was to make war on the Conservatives in the County Council and turn them out. Who shall now say the Liberals have not a policy?In the evening a grand rally took place. The orators were Messrs.
Robinson, Emmerson, Pickard, W.
B. Chandler and A. J. Chapman.
Mr. Robinson is a nice looking man and a fluent speaker. It is a pity he does not know something about politics. Mr. Emmerson showed up as Bombastes Furioso. He shouts well, and this time he outdid himself. One piece of information to which he treated the audience with an air of great importance, is the only thing that deserves mentioning.
It was that of two Mr. McLeod's (the Grit candidate for St. John) friends are in the Penitentiary, and that their relatives in St. John have been pardoned by Mr. Everett to vote for him, in consideration of the Government granting them a pardon, and after the election they are to be released! This piece of news exhibits the open gullibility of the young aspirant for political honors.
Who has been stuffing him? Mr.
Pickard's was the amusing speech of the day. He was very facetious, and launched shafts of sarcasm at Mr. Pope, Minister of Railways.
Pope and Pickard! Pickard and Pope! A. J. Chandler, Esq., says comprehensible he is in the eyes of Mr. Pickard all his successes as one of the foremost and most successful business men of Canada would sink into nothingness in his and his own self abasement and unless he was informed that Mr.
Pickard's sources of information were somewhat limited; that the Wesleyan says nothing about him, and the Moncton Transcript nothing is said. Messrs. Chapman and Chandler's speeches were very well for beginners, still the backwoods is the best place for young men to practice the art of speaking.

Amherst.

Atkinson's Comedy Co. appear at Music Hall on Saturday evening in "Peck's Bad Boy."A. P. Bradley, Esq., Secy. of the Department of Railways and Canals, was in town last week.The Methodist folk advertise for Wednesday evening next, the 21st inst., at the rink. Object: to raise funds to pay the balance of the church debt.The Amherst Cricket Club propose making some extensive improvements to their grounds here this fall, and will probably ask the public to attend a concert to be given by them before winter is over, the object of which will be to raise the "wherewithal."The October term of the Supreme Court opened on Tuesday.
Judge James presiding. In addition to the grand jury, twenty of whom answered to their names-the Judge called attention to Cumberland's need of a new Court House, referred to the fine buildings in other towns of the province, and trusted this county would soon erect a building that could stand comparison with the new public building.
There were no criminals for trial, and the Sheriff, in accordance with the custom, presented the Judge with a pair of white gloves. He congratulated the county on the absence of crime, and referred generally to the morality of Nova Scotia, as compared with other places.
The grand jury, after some consultation, presented a recommendation that a more suitable building be provided for Court purposes, which His Lordship directed the Prothonotary to transmit to the clerk of the Municipality, with the cordial endorsement of the Court.The Civil Docket contains some nineteen causes, of which thirteen are marked for trial.
At the time of writing the only cause that has been heard is George R. Rushton vs. John W. Schurman and Frederick Harper. It is an action for malicious prosecution, and is the only one in which a jury will be called. The facts of the case seem to have been briefly these: Rushton, who was running a mill at Newcastle, got his supplies from defendants Trebleman, Philp, and In January, '84, a settlement was made, showing a large balance in defendants' favor, for which they asked security before giving any further supplies. Rushton agreed to it and gave them a bill of sale of his mill property, and received afterwards some $400 in supplies. The defendants, some time afterwards, discovered that a bill of sale to other parties covered the most important part of what was also their property, and the property was sold under it. What was left was of small value, and realized but little.
The defendants then laid an information before a J. P. against Rushton for obtaining goods under false pretences, and the J. P. sent him to Supreme Court for trial, and the grand jury found no bill. Rushton shortly after brought this action for malicious prosecution. The case is not yet quite completed.Mr. John Magee, a well-known and much esteemed St. John merchant, died Monday night, aged fifty-six years.Mr. Magee was well-known in this section in connection with the development of Spring Hill Mines, of which he was a director for a number of years previous to the sale of the property to the present owners.And now it appears that J. A. Cogwell, whose death by drowning was published in all the Provincial papers, is not dead at all. His many friends are pleased to hear it.

GENERAL NEWS.

During the past two weeks about 7,000 head of Montana cattle, via Maple Creek, passed through Winnipeg destined to eastern markets.An extensive sale of timber lands, covering 1190 square miles, mostly on mon, Fever Sores, Ulcers, &c., are soon healed. It will cure the Itch in a few days.There is no one article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.For Invalids and convalescents, Baird's Beef Broth and Wine is invaluable.

It not only acts as a food, but is a stimulant, but it enriches the blood and dried feelings give place to buoyancy.About 600 persons attended the 10-cent walking contest at the Exhibition sioner, the St. John pedestrian, took first place, finishing a very close second and Harrington third.Advice to mothers. Many children suffer and die from no other cause than an excess of Worms in the Stomach and Intestines, to avoid this give Dr. McLeod's Vermifuge Worm Syrup, any child will take it.There is no pain, no matter how severe, nor what the cause, that cannot be partly or wholly relieved by Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, used internally and externally. It is the most powerful remedy known to medical men.The immense wholesale stationary and printing establishment of H. S. Crooker & Co., at San Francisco, was burned on Thursday. Four men were hurt in the ruins. The loss on the building and stock is $500,000; insured for $150,000.Last week 125,500 yards of grey cotton were shipped from the Gibson cotton mill, Marysville, to Montreal. One hundred additional spindles are about to be placed in the mill, which will make a total of 375 spindles. A machine for the manufacture of cotton hannels is expected to arrive shortly. The mill, it is understood, will be lighted by electricity.John A. Morrison's big saw-mill, near Fredericton, together with twelve tenement houses, a large boarding house, a pit containing a million feet of timber, and eleven cars loaded with lumber, was totally destroyed by fire Monday night.

The loss is estimated at nearly $100,000, and there was about $20,000 insurance.

Ripon sank back among the cushions on the sofa, took a long breath and began again: "I had advertised for a governess for Lucy and Elaine, as you perhaps know; and this morning, when I was dressing, I was quite prepared for the announcement that a lady had inquired for me on business. I was dressing, as I said before, and my toilet table was scattered over with jewels and trinkets, my diamonds among the rest, but I never dreamed of any danger, and had the stranger shown directly to my room. In the handsome, high-bred looking, well dressed woman who presented herself before me I could scarcely imagine an applicant for the post of governess to my children, but such was the errand."

"A handsome governess is often a dangerous acquisition in a house; hold; but I need not offer such a suggestion to you," said Felix, meditatively.

"But not quite like her looks, although she had recommendations from friends of mine; so I told her I would let her know my decision by letter on the following day. At that instant I heard a child cry in the street below, and thinking it sounded like Lucy's voice, I flew to the window and looked out, but finding that no accident had happened I came back to bid my visitor adieu. She took her departure gracefully, as she had entered, and I was more than ever struck by her beauty. Madame de Konarski, however, had not been brought me, and I mentally set her down as a Pole, of good family but uncertain."

"Although a suspicious character, I should say that description of women usually has higher aspirations than to touch A. B. and C. and how do the little busy bee to a pair of cherubs in holland pinafores."

"You are right, and I was the weakest of dupes. Half an hour after the would-be governess had gone I missed my diamonds; and I felt that the creature had taken them out of the case and closed it again while I was standing in the window."

"That is a serious accusation to make, Mrs. Ripon. Are you quite sure there is no mistake?"

"I am quite sure, Felix; I had noticed the ear rings particularly, having moved them to catch a ray of sunlight five minutes before this woman came, and no one else entered the room after her until I raised the alarm. I wish with all my heart there was a chance of a mistake."

"It is the most daring robbery I ever heard of. But we must lose no time in handing the matter over to the police."

"I sent word directly to the watchman in the street below; but he told me what happened; but in that unlucky half hour Madame de Konarski had time to escape as she came and went in a cab."

"Mr. Wyatt's next errand was to the nearest police bureau, where he might seek advice as to the most hopeful way of recovering Mrs. Ripon's property."

"Your description tallies with that of a woman we have long been in search of," replied the functionary before whom Felix presented himself and made his statement. "She was known under the name of Madame de la Tuile, and is the cleverest and most daring thief of the day, and many a tradesman and hotel keeper has a doleful tale to tell of her depredations. I can give you a photograph of her, which you can show to the lady who has been robbed. If she recognizes it as the supposed thief, I can give it to a detective whom I can highly recommend and trust to his powers of finding this light-fingered lady. She is described as being tall and handsome, with dark eyes, heavy brow and light hair; her age is apparently thirty, and she is usually richly dressed. You will note the description, sir, and convey it to the detective if you decide to employ him, and should you succeed in gisting this woman you will confer a great benefit on society."

"Mr. Wyatt took the photograph, which depicted a suave, bold face, with big, dark eyes and full lips, at once attractive and repellent, and put it between the leaves of his pocket-book. He then again betook himself to the Sophisternasse, and Mrs. Ripon's exclamation of "that is the woman to the life! I begin to cherish a faint hope that I shall see my diamonds again," gave him full authority to proceed with his plan, and putting the photograph away among his memoranda, he set forth in search of Herr Gaspey, the detective. He was a shrunken, undersized man, slow and deliberate in movement and speech, but with a world of quick observation in his small, sparkling eyes. Mr. Wyatt's interview with this individual was of necessity short, as he could not go away without a "good-bye" to Doris, and his train would leave within an hour.

"But, Mr. Wyatt you are forgetting the all-important photograph," suggested Herr Gaspey, as Felix was leaving the office.

"By Jove, so I was!" Felix fumbled hastily in the dusk among the papers in his pocket-book, and putting the photograph away among his memoranda, he set forth in search of Herr Gaspey, the detective.
