

PEN-AND-INK PORTRAIT.

A Talented Provincial Official and His Work.

How He Manages the Bureau of Statistics and Keeps the Splendid Resources of Ontario Before the World.

One of the noisiest corners in Toronto is that of Queen and Yonge. What with the crowd of people passing, the crowds who want to stand still, the policemen who want to move on, the clamor of the newsboys and the shouting, that corner is a throng of sound, if not of fury. But there is quietness not far off. High above towers the Agricultural Hall. You go in at a side door, climb one flight of stairs and turn along a hall, where, in the row of rooms on each side all appears peace, repose, with people reading, writing or packing books.

Various functionaries inhabit here. It is a busy bee-hive with many cells, but in one spacious apartment towards the center we find, seated at a table covered with books, pamphlets, reports, calculations, memoranda and most other things in the literary line, a square-built gentleman, who rises and greets us civilly as we enter, a thing, by the way, certain officials I have known who are not sufficiently educated to do. This is Mr. A. Blue, the Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, and also manager of the Bureau of Statistics. If you want to know what crops each portion of Ontario grows, how many horses, cows and wheel carriages navigate each field, what money lucky individuals have in hand, what wages other parties obtain, what influence the planets above have had on the crops, or what amount of minerals lie dormant below the surface, why—there you are.

Mr. Blue is a gentleman of education and intelligence—his intellect is many-sided. He has been in the line engaged in educational pursuits, and has occasionally the slightly didactic tone that occupation gives. He has also been in his day a powerful writer for the press, and manifests the general knowledge and readiness of that class; while, in addition, his statistical pursuits for the last few years have made him an authority on the subject of statistics in Ontario matters, one of our best informed men. What strikes you in conversation with him is the solidarity of his method of speaking. Apparently, he gives no opinion until he has a rapid process massed all the facts he has access to in his mind. If he were a lawyer, he would be apt to get up his case remarkably well; if he were a member in a House of Parliament, it would be exceedingly difficult to turn him position, so strongly would he flank himself with the heaviest artillery statistics afford. I do not, however, wish to give my readers the idea of a dry-as-dust man. No man better appreciates wit, or is more readily touched by the fire of genius, nor is he so destitute in time of need of these qualities himself.

New men have done as much as Mr. Blue for the industries of Ontario, and in this connection a word must be said of the Government which furnished him with the means. But to notice what has been done, let us remember that a few years ago farmers had no means of knowing much about the country at large; that is to say, whether farm operations were prospering or the reverse, and the reason why. The farmer in Essex or Vaughan knew little about what was going on in the Guelph district, next to nothing of matters in Essex or Lambton, and the Ottawa region was a blank in his knowledge. Now the whole country is placed under systematic observation, the crops, cattle, buildings, wages, bank deposits, etc., of the whole country, both urban and rural, are registered and tabulated. Mr. Blue's annual reports, and at the close of the year, whether the crops have been utterly ruined or the farmers have all become millionaires, the careful agriculturist is furnished with statistics which will give him every opportunity of guarding against either of these catastrophes in future.

However, one thing should be remarked: Let us look at the inner management of every State or Province of North America, and we will find very few of them possess such a man, and we will find very few of them understand why the Mowat Government retain, in spite of all efforts, its large majority in the country. It is because such a man exists, and it is because of his work so eminently practical, thoughtful and valuable to every citizen of the Province. Let us hope that Mr. Blue will continue to do as good, or if in a higher position, better service to the country.

Shoemaker, the engineer, was instantly killed, John Jacoby was mortally injured, Alvin Jacoby and George Kaiser were seriously injured, and a young lady named Collins, living opposite the mill, was struck by a piece of iron and had her leg broken.

THE FOUR TRADE.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 8.—The Northwest-ern Miller: "The flour output last week was 156,070 barrels. The advance in prices necessitated by the upward movement of wheat has checked business. The majority of the mills have had to add 20 to 30 cents to their quotations. Some domestic sales of bakers are reported at $4.20 to $4.25 per barrel. The export market is quite slow. But about all of the mills are sold ahead on bakers' and low grades."

Railroad, now under construction. His family will remain in Stratford.

As Andrew Scott, wife and child, of Glenworth, were returning from church last night, while crossing the track, a freight train came dashing along, unobserved until within a few yards. Mr.
Scott pulled the horse and wife to the side of the track, but the train struck the horse and child, and he was killed.

Woodstock Sentinel-Review: Contrary to general custom, the list of jurors for the coming session will not be selected until near the time of trial as the law will allow.
It is understood that the Crown has given instructions that the list, when halloated, shall not be given to anyone, the object being doubtless to remove the possibility of any of the jurors being tampered with.

A serious accident befell Jeremiah Edwards at Kewwood on Friday last while brushing some cars out of J. A. Richardson's brick sheds. Edwards was coupling two cars when they came together and caught his right hand, smashing it in a frightful manner. Medical aid was summoned at once, when it was found necessary to take off the two first fingers and part of the thumb and third finger.

Licenses Inspector Palmer, of Sarnia, is on the look-out for the "green". The License Commissioners of West Lambton sanction a regulation which the Inspector insists on carrying out. The latter selects a window in every licensed bar-room, which window must be kept without shutters, blinds or screens, in order that the Inspector may inspect the premises from the outside whether the law is broken or not.

The record of a thunder storm did much damage in Paramount. It killed a young colt for Alex. McDiarmid, piercing a hole through the neck of the animal. On the 10th con. of Ashfield it burned a barn belonging to Alex. McLean; on the 2nd con. of Huron it burned a barn belonging to McNair; in both cases all the crop of hay was lost. It also burned hay belonging to Wm. McLean, which was gathered up in his field on the 2nd con. of Huron, and split some telephone poles on No. 15 sideline.

Mrs. McIntyre, of Glencoe, wife of Dr.
McIntyre, has two magnificent specimens of the night-blooming cereus, which came out in flower on Saturday and Monday last year, being 3 years old, and to flower again this year is thought very extraordinary. The incident caused great interest in Glencoe, and the hundreds went to see the plant, which is the special favorite of Mrs. McIntyre, who is an enthusiastic horticulturist, stands seven feet in height, and is described as a glorious object of interest, as the buds are developing rapidly, only to flourish for an hour or two and then decay. While the pure white flower lasts it gives out a delicate perfume.

Mrs. Dykeman, of Galt, whose son was killed at the G. T. R. crossing last fall, received from the G. T. R. company's solicitor last week a check for $100, with a promise of another $100 next year.

Miss Bertie Jones, who has been visiting for some three weeks at her uncle's, Rev. P.
W. Jones, has returned home.

Rev. Jas. Huser is holidaying for a few weeks at the family home near here. He is to preach in the Methodist Church on Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Misses Katie and Flora, daughters of Hon. G. W. Ross, are at present visiting with their uncle, R. B. Borton, and their aunt, Mrs. Scott, near this village.

STAFFORD.

The remains of the late Mrs. O'Donnell, widow of the late Simon O'Donnell, of North Essex, were interred in the Roman Catholic Cemetery here on Wednesday.

Dan Coughlin, cattle dealer, shipped 55 head of fine "stockers" for the European market from here on Monday last. Mr.
Coughlin does a large business in cattle shipping from this place and vicinity.

The county attorney, Mr. Edington, was charged before the Police Magistrate with using abusive language to a citizen. The case is not yet settled.

Mr. A. Robb, health inspector, is giving good satisfaction in the discharge of his duties. Mrs. A. Robb and child are visiting at her father's home, in Osborne township.

J. H. Killer, of the City Hotel, has many of his old friends from Galt's Hill and vicinity calling upon him.

The intended garden party at this place was converted into an indoor gathering owing to the rain, the residence being that of Jas. James, J.P. An enjoyable time was spent. Five reversed gentlemen were present, viz., Messrs. Harrison, Galloway, Moore, Ahearn and Thomas. The Dorchester land were on hand. Proceeds $20.

The supreme chief ranger, Dr. Orinhy-tekh, and the supreme secretary, John A. McMillan, Q.C., are attending the High Court of New York, which is now in session at New York. The High Court of Ontario will meet next Tuesday in Guelph, when about 400 delegates will be present.

The Provincial High Court of Quebec will meet in Quebec city on Wednesday, the 20th inst., for their annual gathering.
Fifty delegates from all parts of the Province are expected. They will be accompanied by Court Stacey, No. 224, of that city.

SONS OF CANADA.

Organizer McLean will institute a lodge of the above progressive order in London West in the course of a few days. A number of prominent men of London have already signed the charter list and appearances indicate that a strong lodge will be formed.

In South London a strong lodge was instituted on Friday evening, the member list showing a total enrollment of 33.
The following officers were duly installed by Supreme Organizer McLean: President, Past president, John Ferguson; president, James Lear; first vice-president, W. J.
Brazier; second vice-president, H. N. C.
Colquhoun; recording secretary, J. A. J.
Judd; financial secretary, D. R. Spence; treasurer, Duncan Ferguson; chaplain, W.
Peacock; first steward, H. E. Bates; second steward, J. M. Lear; first waiter, P. T. Todd; physician, Dr. Ferguson. Visiting members were in attendance at the organization services.

Organizer McLean was in St. Thomas yesterday, and no doubt the result of his visit will be the opening of a strong lodge there.

ANCIENT ORDER FORESTERS.

The High Chief Ranger of the A. O. F. of England the other day announced that the total membership of the order was 700,000.
He also made a statement of the financial condition of the order, showing that the total amount of funds in the various territories amounted to $4,500,000.

The Bylaws Committee of the Toronto celebrary have got the new set of bylaws out, and they are already in the printers' hands.
They will in all probability be distributed at an early date.

At almost every meeting of Court Forest City the members are favored with several visiting brethren. Among the visitors last visiting night were: Messrs. P. C. B. Rossiter, in the course of a few remarks, threw out the suggestion that all the courts of the city and suburbs should join in getting the order in this locality.

Others thought that such an affair could be made an unbounded success by the united efforts of the large numbers which constitute the order in this locality.

The East End Foresters, embracing Courts Forest City and Stride, of the East Circle and Juvenile Branch, No. 10, will hold their annual picnic at Port Stanley next Monday.

P. C. R. Bro. Adams was presented by Court Forest City on Tuesday evening last with the customary honor upon retiring from the C. R. chair—A. C. R.'s regalia and certificate. The presentation was made by D. C. R. Bro. Barrett. Bro. Adams suitably acknowledged the gift.

Since the union of the ancient and modern grand lodges of Masachusetts in 1922 there have been only eleven record-making secretaries.

When lodges meet regularly in old London it is computed that 230 Masonic meetings are held during the week.

A Royal Arch Chapter, to be worked in the French language, has been warranted in London.

The Lodge of Antiquity (Montreal) is the oldest in Canada, having been founded in 1752 with a traveling warrant obtained from the Grand Lodge of Quebec.

Masons in the old Forty ninth regiment, the new United Grand Lodge of Victoria, Australia, in adopting its constitution declared "pure, ancient Masonry to consist of the entered apprentice, the fellow craft, the master Mason, the master Mason, and the Supreme Order of the Holy Royal Arch."

Freemasonry is an institution of such antiquity that its origin and earliest history are enveloped in a date of doubt. Modern research among its archives has failed to definitely determine the date of the organization of the craft, there being a difference of many centuries between several periods during which it has been thought by various students to have been established.

Some declare that the Masons engaged in building Solomon's temple formed an order from which the present fraternity is descended; others claim still greater antiquity for it, and advance arguments tending to show that the Pyramids of Egypt were raised by the fathers of Freemasonry.
Well authenticated manuscripts show that the fraternity existed in England in the old city of York formerly called by the Romans Eboracum, as long ago as the tenth century, and it is recorded that the Saxon King Athelstan granted a charter to Masons, empowering them to hold the assembly once a year.—[Illustrated American.]

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

At the last regular meeting of Prospect Lodge, No.
10, two equires were given their spurs of knighthood and two applications were received and referred to the proper committees. At the next regular meeting five candidates will receive the spurs of knighthood.

Mizpah Lodge decided at its last meeting to remove to the hall formerly occupied by them at the corner of Dundas and Adelaide streets, and held the first meeting there on the last Friday in the present month.

The members of the local lodges will picnic on Port Stanley on Friday next.

I. O. G. T.

At the last regular meeting of Hammond Lodge, No.
7, held on Wednesday evening, in London West, the Lodge Deputy installed the following officers: Bro.
C. F. Sister.

RETURNED FIJI MISSIONARIES FOR TORONTO.

If sectarian rancor is carried much further in Toronto it may be necessary to withdraw a few natives missionaries from Fiji to send to the "Queen City." However proud we may be of Toronto's growth and enterprise, we would not like the capital of Ontario to be taken as in all things representative of the whole Province. A blatant individual is before the P. M. at present whose oratorical pastime in the Queen's Park on Sunday afternoons it is to indulge in all sorts of violent and incendiary utterances against the Roman Catholics. The fellow is as much a cause of shame to Protestants as of offense to those attacked.

The case is a difficult one. On the one hand, it seems like suppressing the right of free speech to stop alleged preaching of any kind on an open square, and the person so stopped, however foolish and feather-headed, would be pretty sure to be glorified by a lot of people as foolish and feather-headed as himself as a martyr.

On the other hand, the parks were clearly not intended for the creation of ill-feeling and ill-feeling so pronounced as to become the probable precursor of riot. Still, it is a rather serious thing to give the right of suppressing free speech into the hands of any dogberry of the day or moment. Some time might be used to limit the right of criticizing the political party happening to be in power. On the whole, there is probably no help for it but to allow the talkers to talk on, the authorities taking precautions for the prompt restoration of peace if it be broken.

Toronto is also troubled by gangs of hoodlums who march out to jeer at their hereditary adversaries by means of banners and musical selections known to be offensive. On Wednesday, during the celebration of the O'Connell anniversary, half-dozen little riots occurred in different parts of the city from the cause indicated. The principal city of the Province will gain no credit from these occurrences. But exactly the wisest thing to be done is not clear. It is disagreeable, no doubt, to have processions formed and tunes played with the unbecoming object of creating a breach of the peace. But shall all processions and all street music be prohibited? If not all, on what principle shall discrimination be made?

Here, again, there appears nothing for it but for all sides to cultivate magnanimity and good temper, and learn to endure with composure things which are disaste-ful. The authorities will probably have to decide to allow the marchings and music to keep right on, but have all their arrangements made to quell a riot, big or little, at a moment's notice, as firemen quell a fire.

Of course, the Christian way out would be to do unto others as you would that others should do unto you; and perhaps, when the returned native missionaries from Fiji have time to get in their work, some spirit may settle these little unpleasant aspects in the capital of the Province.

PRISON REFORM.

Wednesday recently in a general way with the subject of prison reform, and indicated what in our opinion is the most desirable of all reforms, viz., compensation for the prisoner's labor. There are objections to this plan, of course, and we do not deny that they are reasonable objections. But in considering any scheme it is not enough to know what its weak points are. It needs to be looked at from every side, and having as far as possible discovered its merits and demerits to balance the one against the other.

There are few subjects with which legislators have to deal of which it can be said that they have no other side. Even the prohibition of the use of intoxicating liquors is doubtless as a scheme of reform, although many of the old objections against it have been out-reasoned and silenced. Thirty years ago men were so strongly divided on the question of negro slavery that they could fight upon it, and we know that on this continent it was settled by the greatest civil war in the history of nations. While the institution existed it was believed in by many as of divine origin, and therefore not to be interfered with, much less to be abolished. Ministers of the Gospel sought to prove out of the Bible that God had decreed the negro race to a condition of perpetual slavery, and they upheld it as they would any other of the divine decrees. But now that the negro is a freeman, and that by the constitution of the United States he is declared and made free, no one is heard to argue that God had intended the negro race to be destined for slavery. The fact that they have been made free and that they are free settles the question of destiny, and there are many men still living who probably could not have been convinced by any other argument.

Is there any condition of life under which man ought to be treated as a slave, by his fellow-man or by any human Government?
And what else is it but slavery when man is deprived of the right of property in the labor of his own hands?

What is the object of the State in punishing an offender? Is it not primarily, or perhaps in any degree, vengeance, or even punishment. Is it protection against wrong. Is it that crime may be prevented; that wrong-doing may be deterred; and in its highest and ultimate purpose that the moral sense of society may be leveled up.
To reform the life of the criminal classes ought to be the leading object of all penal legislation. Is this likely to be attained by treating the man guilty of a prison offense as a chattel of the State, without any human right except the right to live? Others may be deterred from committing like offenses by such treatment, it is said.
But why not make the punishment more severe, why not restore the prisoner of to-morrow? If we would inspire a dread of crime? We know that severe penal laws never did produce such a result where they were tried; and unless human nature has greatly changed they are not likely to do so if tried again. If the history of criminal laws in Great Britain and New England in the eighteenth century teaches us anything, it is that under their opinion men became callous and inhuman, that a low value was set on the life of man, and that as capital offenses multiplied respect for society and the laws which governed it lost its hold very largely on the non-criminal as well as on the criminal classes.

The wisdom of leniency and humanity in the treatment of offenders was taught by Sir Thomas More in the pages of Utopia, in the reign of Henry VIII.; but it was not until the closing years of the reign of George III. that Sir Samuel Romilly and Sir James Mackintosh were able to persuade the British Parliament that the doctrines of Utopia ought to be ingrafted on the criminal code.
We have made much progress since in the treatment of prisoners; and in Great Britain, the United States and Canada many schemes of reform have been discussed and many tried, with the general result, we are convinced, of an improved social condition.
But the prisoner is still the slave of the State wherever he is sentenced to hard labor. He is driven to his task like a beast of burden, and when his term is at an end he is turned out to shift for himself as best he may. Is it any wonder that, so treated, he becomes an outlaw in spirit and determines to treat the State as his enemy? Is it any wonder, if, under the most favorable circumstances, he is driven by necessity to commit a fresh crime within a day or two of regaining his liberty, being impelled to it by the force of human want even more than by the force of habit? The man who has worked a year, or it may be five years, in a prison or penitentiary, and who is let loose without a dollar wherewith to buy the next meal or the next night's lodging, has temptations placed in his way which few men of strong morals would resist, with the general result, we are convinced, of an improved social condition.

he is turned out to shift for himself as best he may. Is it any wonder that,

The just policy is to treat the criminal as still having a right in the labor of his hands, so that when he goes out of prison he may feel some sense of manhood and independence, and that he may not be driven to commit some new crime in order that he may live. If he is to be let out without reward of any kind he becomes degraded in his own sight, and in that state of mind it is vain to expect for a reform of his habits.
Besides, it often happens that the prisoner has a wife and children dependent on him, and if the product of the whole of his labor goes to the State they must suffer as well as himself, and perhaps more than himself.

Let the State show that it is humane, considerate and just in the treatment of its criminal classes, and it will do much to elevate them as well as strengthen itself.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

—A dispatch says the Dominion Parliament may meet Nov. 15. What's in the wind?

—Chicago is proud having just been officially declared the second city of the United States in point of population.

—Toronto has behaved rather shabbily to its great University. "Varsity should move up to the Capital of Western Ontario."

—Henry George says the popular movement all throughout the United States in favor of free trade is settling in with accelerated vigor.

—The Boston Transcript suggests a soap mission instead of a flower mission. Both are good, but we think the poor suffer most from the lack of a flower mission—bags, you understand, instead of bouquets.

—Ernestus Winslow gets to work earlier than any other business man of prominence in New York. He begins to dictate the answers to his letters at 6:30 in the morning in the summer, and at 7 in winter.

—"Is Pennsylvania a Monarchy?" is the title of a leader in the Louisville Courier-Journal. We may now look to it to deal with such questions as "Is the Colored Man White?" or "Is Last Year a Part of the Future?"

—There is a good deal of sympathy for Kemmler, the murderer who was electrocuted on Wednesday, but not much apparently for his victim. If people do not want to be electrocuted let them quit murdering.

—The Toronto Empire attacks Dr. Caven recently, charging him with "servile devotion to partisan interests against his own principles," with other things of which the foregoing is a specimen brick. There was a time when the Empire was disposed to extend the fatal favor of its praise to Dr.

Caven, but apparently each has found out where the other stands.

—The New York Tribune very properly objects to the fiend who defaces board fences with advertisements "in large blasphemous letters, three feet long, in white paint."
In some places there is a law against it.
But does white paint really blaze?

—Count Tolstoi is a great sufferer from his chronic malady (liver disease), but the illustrious writer's health is now visibly improving. Pity he had not waited for it to improve before giving to the world his views on cellulose as the ideal state of man.

—Donald G. Mitchell, the apostle of amateur farming, enjoys a health and elasticity in advancing age largely due to regular, vitalizing, and sufficiently fatiguing out-door work. "Shut up in town," he says, "I should have died long ago." Good digestion and sound sleep come more surely by daily contact with the soil than by any other way.

—In China the question is not "Why should not women learn to read?" but "Why should they learn?" The art of reading will not bring a girl food or clothing, increase her own riches, or that of her mother-in-law. Consequently of what use can it be? Many countries are made in China to the alleged imbecility of women, but the enlightened Chinaman can see no reason why his daughter should be permitted the life extravagance of learning.
Chinese poverty, which forces young children to help keep the wolf from the door, is another obstacle in the pathway of jealous missionaries.

—A feeble old beggar woman living not far from Vienna, who has been sent to prison seven times for transgressing the medicinity laws, lately came into a handsome piece of property through the generosity of a relative. On receipt of the letter containing news of her good fortune the poor creature fell to the ground with a paralytic stroke, which deprived her of the use of her hands and tongue. Scarcely had she started to Vienna when she was arrested for daring to return to the metropolis, whence as a helpless mendicant she had been banished months ago. Her punishment was reduced to three days' imprisonment. As with her still half-paralyzed tongue she thanked her judge for his "leniency," she added: "If only those three days were over! I am now a house owner and yet must go to jail." The scene was one which no realistic novelist would dare touch.

Constipation,

If not remedied in season, it is liable to become habitual and chronic. Drastic purgatives, by weakening the bowels, confirm rather than cure the evil.

Ayer's Pills, being mild, effective, and strengthening in their action, are generally recommended by the faculty as the best of aperients.

"Having been subject, for years, to constipation, which was being almost much relieved, I at last tried Ayer's Pills.
I do not feel a duty and a pleasure to testify that I have derived great benefit from their use. For over two years past I have taken one of these pills every night before retiring. I would not willingly be without them."—G. W.
Bowman, 26 East Main st., Carlisle, Pa.

"For eight years I was afflicted with constipation, which at last became so bad that the doctors could do no more for me. Then I began to take Ayer's Pills, and soon the bowels recovered their natural and regular action, so that I am in excellent health."—S. L.
Loughbridge, Bryan, Texas.

"Having used Ayer's Pills, with good results, I fully endorse them for the purposes for which they are recommended."

A Sure Cure for Dyspepsia

A Medical Triumph! A Very Bad Case!

HOW THE HEALTH OF ONE OF BELLEVILLE'S CITIZENS WAS RESTORED.

Remarkable Cure of Dropsy and Dyspepsia.

Mr. JAMES JOHNSON, 4th con. 7th lot, Amaranth, writes: "Two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery cured me of Dyspepsia. Mine was a bad case and I had tried a number of other preparations without getting any benefit from them."

Dyspepsia Had to Go.

Mr. W. J. DEVELL, Wingham, carpenter and builder, writes: "Three years ago I was greatly troubled with Dyspepsia; a pain between my shoulders was so bad that I thought I would have to quit work altogether. No medicine gave me ease until I got a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, which gave me relief. I continued using the medicine until I had taken three bottles, when I was perfectly well. I consider it invaluable as a cure for Dyspepsia. I know of several persons who have used it with the same benefit."

What is Scrofula

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly bumps or swellings, which cause painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet, which develop where the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors." It is a more formidable enemy than consumption or cancer alone, for scrofula sometimes the worst possible features of both. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How can it be cured? By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which by the cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and powerful medicine for this disease. For all affections of the blood Hood's Sarsaparilla is unequalled, and some of the cures it has effected are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula in any of its various forms, be sure to give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

The London West Stars Defeat the Y. M. C. A. Athletics.

Athletic Record Broken—Thursday's Half-Playing—A Bussico Game at Cincinnati.

SHINING STARS.

London West can boast of a bright galaxy of ball players known as the Stars, which has just been admitted to the city amateur league. Yesterday afternoon at Teumseh Park they tried their prowess with the Athletics of the Y. M. C. A., and ran away from that aggregation in a manner which tickled the friends of the Stars and made more than one in the audience feel a little wretched. The Athletics are light weights, but had played the entire season without sustaining a defeat. At Grimby recently they won the Y. M. C. A. ball tournament and a silver cup, and their other victories have been equally noteworthy. To the fact that the Stars' pitcher, Sam Collins, was warmly welcomed by the Athletics' delivery was handed safely sixteen times, the victory was almost entirely due. While errors on the Athletics' part were made, the Stars did not put up a much better fielding game. The position of umpire was satisfactorily filled by Mr. James Bell, the well-known pitcher of the Imperials. The score follows:

Late Strathroy Items.

The Civic Holiday excursion to Sarnia on Wednesday, 6th, was patronized by about 700 of our citizens, a large number of whom went on the Omar D. Conger to St. Clair city. The Citizens' Band accompanied the excursion, and all returned well pleased without mishap.

Two old residents have lately passed away. Sarah, relict of the late James Hill, one of the oldest and most respected residents of Sarnia, died on Monday, 4th, at the residence of her son James, aged 74 years. The funeral was held at Mount Carmel following Wednesday largely attended.

On Saturday, 2nd inst., Wm. Jury died at the residence of his son, O. B. Jury, Strathroy, aged 82. He was born in Woodville, Eng., emigrated to Lytton (now Oshawa) in 1821, came to Sarnia in 1844, and afterwards carried on business in Sarnia and Strathroy. He was greatly respected, was a consistent member of the Methodist Church, and leaves a large family, including Thomas, David and Jonas Jury, Napperton; John C. Kerrwood, and O. B. Strathroy. The funeral took place the following Monday to the Fourth Line Cemetery, Rev. Messrs. P. K. Dayfoot and J. G. Kerr conducting the services, the following old residents acting as pallbearers: Willard, Anderson, Taylor, George and James Parker, A. Hilton and Mark Mann.

Road Commissioner Richardson is slowly recovering from his recent severe illness. He is at his father's home, Miss M. Phillips, of London, is the guest of Mrs. J. S. Macraut.

UNSAVORY SUBJECTS

Dealt With by the Board of Health—Deputation to the Provincial Board Appointed.

A meeting of the Board of Health was held yesterday afternoon. Those present being: Ald. Taylor (chairman), Moule, Anderson, Wallace, Mrs. Niven and Garfield. A communication from the Secretary of the City Council was referred back to the Board of Works. Another communication from the Board of Health was referred back to the Board of Health.

Dr. Hutchinson pronounced the place to be a nuisance. Caretaker Giesse had him that men went into the scrubby and committed nuisances.

Ald. Wallace said if that was the case the caretaker was not doing his duty. Dr. Gardner thought so too. If one man did not do his duty they should get one who would.

Dr. Hutchinson was instructed to take steps to have the nuisance stopped. Inspector Bell was also ordered to see that the closest at Queen's Park was kept in a clean condition.

Dr. Gardner said that there were scavengers about the city attending to scavenger closets who were not within the bylaw, anything which should be stopped. He moved that the scavenger be compelled to report to the City Council.

A communication was read from Mr. Ryan complaining of a nuisance at the rear of his house, where one of the cleaners had left one of his wagons in the yards. The Inspector was instructed to make the man cover the wagon in the night.

Inspector Bell reported that a great deal of trouble had arisen from the disposal of night soil and garbage. The report further suggested that it would be advisable for the city to consider a satisfactory scheme for disposing of the nuisance. It was decided that a committee be appointed to look after a site where the stuff may be dumped or, if necessary, a crematory may be built.

Inspector Bell further reported that 4,500 residences had been visited in the house-to-house inspection, which was still going on.

In reference to the Assistant City Clerk's request for estimates, it was decided that the $2,000 appropriation would be sufficient and the Secretary was ordered to report accordingly.

A communication was read from Dr. W. H. Bright, asking for co-operation of the Provincial Board to be held in Owen Sound next month, when important subjects will be discussed.

The question of the advisability of sending a deputation to the meeting. Ald. Boyd thought a deputation should go and lay the questions before the city before that the questions of the Board. He would suggest that it consist of more than two members. He could point out a number of open holes in the sewer on King street not 300 feet from the city. The Inspector should have found this out.

Dr. Hutchinson remarked that he could not find out everything.

Chairman Taylor said the Medical Health Officer had always done his duty as far as he knew.

The Chairman and Dr. Hutchinson were finally appointed as the deputation to attend the convention. The Board then adjourned after deciding to lay further business over till next meeting.

The liver and kidneys must be kept in good condition. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a great remedy for regulating these organs.
