Another Battle in Torquin.

PARIS, July 3.—A dispatch from Tonquin states that another battle has occurred between the French and a large body of Tonquinese pirates, who were entrenched at Thanhoa. The French force numbered 150 men. After a desperate resistance the French charged the pirates' position and carried it, but not until they had lost sixteen men killed and seventeen wounded.

The Plot Against Ferdinand.

SOFIA, July 3.—The court martial proceedings against the sixteen prisoners accused of being concerned in the assassination of Finance Minister Beltcheff in March of last year and in the intrigues against Prince Ferdinand, the ruler of Bulgaria, was continued yesterday. The evidence showed that Milaroff, one of the conspirators, had procured bombs and poisoned pills from Zankoff and others, and had also organized bands of brigands to operate in Bulgaria.

Grand Duke Vladimir Injured.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 3.—When the Grand Duke Vladimir, who is making a military tour of inspection in Novgorod, arrived at Tchersporet yesterday, the door of the saloon carriage in which he was riding flew open, and the Grand Duke, who was leaning against it, fell heavily upon the flagstones of the station platform. He was rendered unconscious, and blood streamed over his face. The doctors found, besides his wounds and contusions on his head, dislocations of a leg and arm.

Letters from Emin Pasha.

BERLIN, July 4.—The relatives of Emin Pasha in Neisse, Silesia, have received letters from the African traveler, the dates ranging from March to December, 1891, filling 36 pages in his very small handwriting. They give a minute description of the difficulties he met during his recent long expedition to the north. He speaks in particular of his great trouble in getting a sufficient supply of provisions, of the treachery of some of his old people of Equatoria, who tried to plunder his caravan, and of the decimation of his force by smallpox while on the way back to Bukoba, on Victoria Nyanza.

War With Russia.

BERLIN, July 3.—The Kreuz Zeitung prints an extract from the St. Petersburg Novoe Vremya, which reads: "There can be no doubt that the English influence with the German Anglophiles and Poles in the Baltic Provinces is being used by the Hebrew bankers and other influential members of that sect to force Germany into a war with Russia. So long as Prince Bismarck was at the helm this coalition was not able to force the hand of the German Government, but it is evident now how much this has gained ground when the Prince himself, who in the past has sinned much against Russia, is compelled to raise his warning voice to point out to his country the danger in which it stands."

The Kreuz Zeitung remarks: "Nothing could show more clearly than the foregoing quotation the injury that Prince Bismarck's utterances have inflicted on the German foreign policy."

Object to the New Taxes.

MADRID, July 3.—The new taxes imposed by the Government on various branches of business are meeting with strong opposition. A popular demonstration has been made against the new tax placed upon retail dealers. The men and women doing business in the market formed a procession and marched through the streets shouting and yelling, and in every way showing their disapprobation of the new tax. They assaulted the police using insulting epithets towards the civil governor. Finally the civil guard charged upon the mob, but met with an unexpected resistance. Stones, heavy sticks and anything that came handy were thrown at the guard and many of them were severely hurt. The officer in command eventually gave orders to his men to fire, and a volley was poured into the rioters. This ended the fighting. It is thought that some of the injured will die.

LONDON, July 3.—At the recent sale of the collection of the late Henry Cook a number of very interesting relics of Lord Byron were sold and brought good prices. MR. GLADSTONE'S LEISURE HOURS.

Mr. Gladstone is indefatigable. Not [illegible]ly has he undertaken to deliver a lecture [illegible] the history of the universities at Oxford [illegible]ext October, but he has agreed to be [illegible]resident of one of the sections of the next Oriental Congress in London. He has chosen the section of "Archaic Greece and the East," and is to deliver his address on Sept. 7.

GLADSTONE SCORES A POINT.

LONDON, July 4.—On his arrival at Glasgow on Saturday to deliver a campaign address Mr. Gladstone was welcomed by a throng of at least 50,000 people, who had braved the heavy rain that was falling in their desire to catch a glimpse of the great statesman. Mr. Gladstone introduced a surprise at one point of his address by making an effective retort to the Tory charge that the Liberals had become allies of Rome by their Irish affiliations. He denounced the Government for sending a special envoy to the Vatican, and for conferring upon the Pope what he termed monstrous powers, such as the right to interfere in marriages of British subjects in Malta. This involved, he declared, even the power of illegitimatizing the children of parents who had renounced Catholicism. The subject seemed novel to the audience, who showed their appreciation of a new theme in politics by interrupting the orator's allusions with frequent cries of "Shame!"

SPECULATIONS.

Amid the present political storm and stress one cannot fail to be struck by the calm confidence in immediate triumph displayed by the Liberals. The Grand Old Man is serenely sure about it; the humblest fighting man among his followers has no doubt about it, and the Tories, while professing assurance in public, admit privately that they have no hope of victory. Nobody speculates upon what will happen should Lord Salisbury be returned to power, because that contingency is, by general consent, regarded as too remote to be worth considering at all. The Tories, as well as Liberals, talk of nothing that is not based upon the assumption that Mr. Glrdstone will be Prime Minister in two or three weeks' time.

Difference of opinion is mainly manifested when the extent of Mr. Gladstone's majority is the subject of discussion. The Tories hope that without the 80 odd Irish Nationalists he will have no majority at all. Cautious calculations place the Liberal majority at 30 over the Tories. Liberal-Unionists, and Nationalists combined, and the enthusiastic provincial Liberal, whose faith is always more robust than that of his London brother, declares that the home rulers elected by the British constituencies will outnumber the Tory and Mugwump members by quite 110. The latter gives mathematical reasons for his prodigious confidence.

There were, he says, 410 seats in Great Britain contested in 1885 and 1886. Bye-elections have taken place in 90 of them since 1886, and of 69 Tory seats thus trebly contested 22 were won by the Liberals, while the Tories gained only 1 seat out of 21 rendered vacant during the same period. Applying the rule of three to these figures, the confident provincial extracts for Mr. Gladstone a net British majority of 110, and is greatly comforted.

Mr. Gladstone's electoral campaign has so far been a magnificent success. His speeches, fully reported even in the Tory newspapers, have deeply moved the people, and the spectacle of the aged statesman fighting in the forefront of the battle to the cry of "Justice to Ireland," has fired the popular imagination in an extraordinary manner.

SALISBURY'S MANIFESTO.

Lord Salisbury's manifesto, addressed to the electors of the United Kingdom, caused much surprise to politicians, as it followed close upon the publication of a semi-official statement to the effect that the Premier did not propose to do anything of the kind. Mr. Balfour went down to Hatfield on Sunday, however and persuaded his uncle that something must be done, in view of the despondency prevailing in the party on the eve of the elections. A good many people were under the impression that Lord Salisbury rendered himself liable to pains and penalties by thus directly interfering in the elections with which, as a peer, he is supposed to have no concern. The standing order of the House of Commons declares:

"It is a high infringement of the liberties and privileges of the Commons of the United Kingdom for any Lord of Parliament or other peer or prelate to take part himself in the election of members to serve for the Commons in Parliament."

But the Tories have just made the discovery that when the House of Commons has been dissolved its standing orders cease to exist also and remain in abeyance until they have been re-enacted by a new House. Some Tory peers, therefore, are taking an active part in the present electoral struggle, and there is certainly no law on the statute book by which they can be prevented or punished, although their interference is certainly contrary to constitutional usage. They are not likely to do their party much good by their unusual efforts.

A DUKE'S ARGUMENT.

Mr. Gladstone is making most effective use of his stirring campaign in Midlothian of Lord Salisbury's manifesto, and the Duke of Norfolk has done the Liberals excellent service by a ridiculous letter or manifesto designed to prove that it is the bounden duty of the Catholics to vote for the Tory candidates. He argued that home rule must be wrong, because "it is to be handed over to men who have defied the Pope's decree."

A PLOT AGAINST STANLEY.

The able reporter looked in at the school room in North Lambeth Saturday to witness the nomination of candidates for that constituency. He found Henry M. Stanley and his wife sitting at one end of a long school form and Liberal Candidate Alderman Coldwells at the other end, with about a half a dozen election agents sitting in the middle apparently with a view to keep the peace. In that position the rivals sat from 10 a.m. till noon, the period fixed by the returning officer during which he would accept nominations. It is remarkable that blood was not shed during these two hours, for Alderman Coldwells, despite his name, is a fiery individual who has been saying many spiteful things of "the great explorer," and Mr. Stanley has frequently expressed a yearning to have Mr. Coldwells with him on the Congo or Victoria Nyanza for a brief period.

Mr. Stanley spoke to no one but his wife until about 11:30 o'clock, when it was learned that a deputation of malcontent Tories had gone in search of Gen. Fraser, the late Tory member, to induce him to accept the nomination against Stanley. It seems that many Tories desired to have Fraser as a candidate because he had served them well in the past; but the party managers, believing that the magic of Stanley's name would attract many wavering voters, unceremoniously threw the old general overboard and brought forward the traveler. Stanley, however, has proved a dismal failure, and if anything is certain in London politics it is that the Liberals will wrest North Lambeth from the Tories. Stanley himself seems to be aware of the fate in store for him, and during the last few days of the contest his melancholy has been extreme.

Rude boys daily roar after his handsome pair-horse carriage and yell rude things at him in the strong Lambeth vernacular. Workingmen have evinced even less consideration for his feelings, and have shown embarrassing familiarity with his exploits on the great African lakes years ago. Mr. Stanley has undergone all these and other humiliations in the confident belief that he is to be a member of Parliament, and for that dubious honor he has also renounced his American citizenship and became more English than John Bull himself. Small wonder, then, that he became agitated at learning of the Tory plot against him, and that his wife betrayed hysterical symptoms. As noon drew near he and his wife and his agents (he had no friends in the room) regained confidence. At 11:55 the malcontents sent out scouts to look for the general, and at 12 o'clock, when the returning officer declared the nominations closed, they vainly challenged the decision by claiming that the big clock at Westminster had not sounded the hour. Mr. Stanley and his wife drove away looking almost happy. But they have little cause for congratulation, for if the malcontents have failed to run their own candidate they can and will probably vote against the man who helped in the mean conspiracy to jockey gallant old Fraser out of his rights.

THE STRANDED STEAMER

Still Hard and Fast on the Rocks.

All on Board Escape Injury With the Exception of One Boy.

KINSALE, Ireland, July 3.—According to a later account of the accident to the City of Chicago, the steamer did not strike on the Barret rocks as was at first stated. Before she had rounded the old head of Kinsale she ran on the mainland; the steamer was going nearly full speed. When she struck she forced herself into a large opening in a beetling cliff that stands 220 feet above the seas.

The shock was something fearful, and many of the persons on board were thrown completely off their feet. The bows were torn out and the fore compartment was soon full of water. The coast guards were promptly at the scene of the wreck. The 200 passengers got ashore after a trying and exciting ordeal. Though there was not the slightest trace of a panic, it was a strange and blood-stirring experience for the ladies and children. The passengers concur in praising the care given them by the crew, especially during the thrilling moments when women and children were helped in the dead of night and in impenetrable darkness up the rope ladders. Aside from the boy who fell, not the slightest mishap occurred to the passengers.

Two compartments of the steamer are full of water. Forty feet of the bottom from the forefoot has been torn away, and it is feared that the fastenings of the after compartments will give way owing to the vessel's bumping on the rocks.

The Guion Line steamer Alaska, from New York for Liverpool, on her arrival at Queenstown to-day reported that as she was passing the stranded City of Chicago the latter's captain signaled that it was unsafe for the crew to remain longer aboard. The Inmans have dispatched a tender to the rescue.

LONDON, July 3.—A diver who has examined the City of Chicago says that the steamer is firmly fixed on a rock and is badly injured.

THE CANOE UPSET.

Terrible Accident on the St. Lawrence —Six Young Men Drowned.

MONTREAL, July 2.—There was a frightful boating accident on the St. Lawrence in sight of this city this afternoon, by which six lives were lost. Seventeen members of the Grand Trunk Boating Club rowed over during the afternoon from their boat house to St. Helen's Island in a long war canoe over 30 feet in length. The boat reached the island in safety. On the way back, when opposite St. Lambert's, the fragile canoe got caught by the current and capsized. Those drowned are: Thomas O'Brien aged 23, Howard Ransom aged 22, Ernest Lee aged 20, Edwin Sleep aged 24, J. Mulligan aged 23, and another young man whose name has not yet been reported. All the young men lived with their families at Point St. Charles. The bodies have not yet been recovered.

TWO MORE FATALITIES.

Two other young men who went out boating this morning at Nuns Island, near the scene of yesterday's accident, were upset and drowned. Their names were not reported to the police.

MONTREAL MATTERS.

An Action for Nearly $50,000—Live Stock Prices—Charged With Shooting.

MONTREAL, July 4.—Charles N. Armstrong, of the Baie Des Chaleurs Railway fame, has entered a personal action against James Cooper, of the Baie Des Chaleurs Railway, for $48,866, money alleged to have been advanced by Armstrong to Cooper. The former also claims a certain number of shares in the stock of the railway company.

For the first time in several weeks live stock cables from the other side were bad to-day. Very heavy supplies with hot weather caused a break in prices in Liverpool, and 6d was the top figure for best steers. Shipments from here last week were 3,807 cattle and 776 sheep.

Arrangements for 2,000 or 3,000 teachers who are expected here to attend the Dominion Teachers' Association meetings are being made. The meetings will be held in the Assembly Hall and will last four days. There will be a fine exhibition of school work including oil and water paintings, crayon-drawings, writing, etc.

The Provincial Association meets tomorrow morning and will rush business through so as to merge into the Dominion meeting.

Joseph Perrault, who is under arrest in Quebec, charged with shooting a man named Clavett on the Montreal train on Saturday night, is 26 years of age and unmarried. He is a native of Montreal, but lately returned from the wilds of Montana.

Prayer for Change of Weather.

QUEBEC, July 4.—Prayers are being offered here for sunshine so that the crops may grow and ripen, while in the Rimouski district prayers are being offered for rain in order to save the crops.

Four Boys Drowned.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 4.—Four boys, Ed Smith, aged 16; Geo. Smith, aged 18; Wm. Harrison, aged 17, and Dave Toley, aged 20, were drowned yesterday afternoon in Spring Gardens, Patapsco River. A party of fifteen were out rowing, when from some unknown cause the yawl was capsized with the above result. The other eleven occupants succeeded in reaching the shore. The bodies of the dead boys have been recovered.

FIVE VICTIMS.

Railway Men Meet Their Death While Testing a Locomotive.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., July 3.—A wreck occurred on the Wabash one mile east of Keller's station at 12 o'clock last night which resulted in the complete destruction of the locomotive and the death of five men who were riding on it. The wreck was caused by a washout. The killed are Trainmaster C. F. Wilcox, Harry Dunlap, Charles Helm, Engineer Shovey and Fireman Marest. They were testing one of the heavy new passenger locomotives recently purchased by the company.

Miss Nettie Dinsmore, of Ilderton, returned to her home this afternoon. She has been the guest of Miss Maggie Schram, South London

Miss Lizzie Caldwell, public school teacher at Essex, is spending a few days with Mrs. W. H. Seccombe, South London, previous to returning to her home in Elmira for the vacation.

Rev. Stephen Bond, the new pastor of the Methodist Church here, preached very instructive sermons to his congregation last Sunday morning and evening. He will move his family from London to this town next week.—[Petrolea Topic.

Mrs. James Gillean, of London, came to town on Tuesday to visit for a few weeks with her son J. R. at the Lake View House. To-day she will, in company with Mrs. J. Gillean, go to Freemont, Ohio, to visit a couple of weeks.—[Amherstburg Leader.

Miss F. Hyman, of London, Ont., an expupil of the Brantford Ladies' College, who was present at the closing ceremonies of the college, returned home the other day, accompanied by Miss Reba A. Hossie, who is to spend her vacation there and in Stratford.—[Brantford Expositor.

[illegible]ceive its full answer in the conversion to [illegible]od of his descendants and of the other [illegible]ng-neglected races of Arabia."

[illegible]atience [illegible]essary. The Rev. Roger Dutt, a Bengali clergyman from Cawnpore, recently addressing mem[illegible]ers of the committee of the Society for the [illegible]ropagation of the Gospel, said that he had [illegible]een asked whether the missions in India [illegible]ere failures, and that he answered that [illegible]ey were certainly not. There is an im[illegible]atience about missions. People appear to [illegible]ink that the Gospel has only to be [illegible]reached, and that then the place where it is [illegible]reached will straightway be won; but [illegible]hen Christian people are themselves so [illegible]ong in their contest with their besetting [illegible]ns, it should not be expected that those [illegible]unk in sin in India should immediately [illegible]se. The conversion of England occupied [illegible]enturies. India is 27 times as large as [illegible]ngland, and contains 280,000,000 people, [illegible]s against perhaps 2,000,000 in England in [illegible]he days of St. Augustine.

[illegible]ark Africa. When we remember that only ten years ago the people [illegible]f Uganda and Victoria Nyanza were [illegible]lmost unknown to the world, it is sur[illegible]rising to read that the missionaries [illegible]ecently sold in a few weeks 4,000 reading [illegible]heets printed in the native language. [illegible]hey send word that they could sell 10,000 [illegible]opies at once if they had them. They say [illegible]he people are most anxious to acquire the [illegible]rt of reading, and their eagerness for [illegible]ooks is astonishing. "As long as we had [illegible] reading sheet or a book left," writes one, [illegible] crowd swarmed around us day and night, [illegible]nd hundreds were disappointed when the [illegible]upply gave out."

The work in Africa, with all its hin[illegible]rances, goes forward so rapidly and with [illegible]uch strides that the records of yesterday [illegible]ill be out of date to-morrow.

[illegible]issionary Work in [illegible]he Army. Under the leadership of the Rev. J. H. Bateson, Wesleyan missionary, the Army Temperance Association in India, which the Rev. W. L. Glegson established, is making marked progress. The Conference has released Mr. Bateson temporarily, to enable him to act as secretary of the association. No fewer than 17,500 soldiers, or a quarter of the total British force in India, are now pledged abstainers. With one or two exceptions, every corps in India has a branch society, prominent among which stands the Welsh Fusiliers with 535 members. Lord Roberts and the army authorities warmly countenance the objects sought.

Egypt and Syria. A clergyman traveling in the East writes in the highest terms of the American United Presbyterian Mission in Egypt and Syria. He says they are gathering the young boys about them in their mission schools, and in ten years the tourist will find the villages along the Nile filled with hundreds of young men who not only speak English well, but who are washed and "clothed in their right mind."

The Friendly Islands 50 years ago had not a native Christian; [illegible]ere are more than 30,000 church-membe[illegible] [illegible]ho give from their scanty store $15,00[illegible] [illegible]nually for religious objects.

The Samoan group has a Ch[illegible] population of 30,000. In the largest [illegible] there are not 50 families that fail to [illegible] family worship.

BEECHAM'S PILLS for a bad Liv[illegible]

A man must either be an anvil [illegible] hammer.

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is without doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dysentery, diarrhœa, cholera and all summer complaints, sea sickness, etc. It promptly gives relief and never fails to effect a positive cure. Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are teething.

Oh, My Head!

That splitting headache, aching brow and irritable feeling can be immediately relieved and permanently cured by Burdock Blood Bitters, the best remedy for headache, constipation and all disorders of the stomach, liver bowels and blood.

To nearly all men a good cigar is an invaluable companion, but a bad one is intolerable. The latter may be easily avoided by procuring a brand that is recognized by the smoking public as above reproach. The leading favorite in the race is the Highland Lassie, a 5-cent cigar, and one of the choicest makes on the market. H. McKay & Co., this city, are the manufacturers, and their shipments extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Dr. Talmage's Sermon From the Text, "What Shall I Do With Jesus?"

After Awhile the Question Will Be, "What Will Christ Do With Us?"

LONDON, Eng., July 3.—Among the sermons preached by Dr. Talmage, the one selected for publication this week is from the text, Matthew xxvii., 22: "What shall I do with Jesus?"

Pilate was an unprincipled politician. He had sympathies, convictions of right, and desires to be honest, but all these were submerged by a wish to be popular, and to please the people. Two distinguished prisoners were in the grasp of government, and the proposition was made to free one of them. There stands Barabbas, the murderer; there stands Christ, the Savior of the world. At the demand of the people the renegade is set free, but Jesus is held. As the hard-visaged and cruel-eyed Barabbas goes among his sympathizers, receiving their coarse congratulations, Pilate turns to his other distinguished prisoner—mild, meek, inoffensive, loving, self-sacrificing—and he is confounded as to what course he had better take, so he impanels the mob as a jury to decide, saying to them. "What shall I do, then, with Jesus?"

You can, in the first place, let him stand without a word of recognition; but I do not think your sense of common courtesy will allow that.

Another thing that you can do with him, you can thrust him back from your heart, and tell him to stand aside. If an offensive person comes and persists in standing close up to you, and you have in various ways given him to understand that you do not want his presence or his society, then you ask the reason of his impertinence and bid him away. Well that is what we can do with Jesus. He has stood close by us a great while—10, 20, 30, 40 years. He has stood close by you three times a day, breaking bread for your household, all night watching by your pillow. He has been in the nursery among your children, he has been in the store among your goods, he has been in the factory amid the flying wheels, and now if you do not like his society you can bid him away; aye, if he will not go you can take him by the throat and tell him you do not want his interference, that you do not want his breath on your cheek, that you do not want his eye on your behavior. You can bid him away, or if he will not go in that way, then you can stamp your foot, as you would at a dog, and cry, "Begone!" Yet I know you will not treat Jesus that way. When [illegible] could not do that, you could not.

[illegible] is another thing you can do with [illegible] can look on him merely as an [illegible] cure blind eyes, or an aurist to [illegible]ars, a friend, a good friend, a [illegible]anion, a cheerful passenger on [illegible]ut that will amount to nothing. [illegible] look upon him as a God, and [illegible]while he rouses the storm, or [illegible]ee, or heaves a rock down the [illegible]e. That will not do you any [illegible] save your soul than the admiration you have for John Milton or William [illegible]are.

[illegible] of only one more thing you [illegible] Jesus, and that is to take him [illegible]arts. That is the best thing [illegible]th him; that is the only safe [illegible] do with him. A minister of [illegible]aking to some children, and [illegible]oint you to Christ." A little [illegible]he audience and came up and [illegible]n the hand of the pastor, and [illegible] sir, take me to Jesus now. [illegible]ow." Oh, that it might be [illegible] simplicity of experience that [illegible]hands and seek after Christ, [illegible]pression of his benefaction [illegible]

[illegible]ke Christ into your confi[illegible] cannot trust him, whom [illegible] He comes and says, "I [illegible] If you do not think he is [illegible] a liar when He says that, [illegible]nd say, "Lord Jesus, I [illegible] my heart. Wash it. Save [illegible] Ay, it is done; for I obey [illegible]d come. I can do no more. [illegible]ou hast asked. I come. [illegible] Pardon is mine. Heaven [illegible]

[illegible]nds, you put more trust in [illegible]n everybody than you do [illegible]gh he stands this moment [illegible] limit, and without mis[illegible]out exception, universal [illegible]ho want it. Now, is not [illegible]gh—all things for noth[illegible]e whole of the Gospel, as [illegible] that if you believe that [illegible]save you, you are saved. [illegible]No more doubt about it [illegible]t there. No more doubt [illegible]t you have a right hand. [illegible]out it than that there is [illegible]had committed five hun[illegible] [illegible] Christ would [illegible] [illegible] you had [illegible] but one; though you had [illegible] the whole catalogue of [illegible]on, and blasphemy, and murder [illegible]ould pardon you just as freely [illegible]aming to him as though you had [illegible] only the slightest sin of the [illegible]way, when Christ comes to [illegible]soul, he stops for nothing. [illegible] is nothing. Protractedness is [illegible] like mountains for their size, [illegible] of sovereign grace expand, [illegible] of sovereign grace arise.

[illegible] advise you, as one of the best [illegible] can do with Christ, to take him [illegible]. Now, there are two things [illegible] love anyone—inherent at[illegible] and then what he does in the [illegible] toward us. Now, Christ [illegible] positions. Inherent at[illegible] fairer than the children of [illegible] of the morning in his eye, [illegible] the setting sun in his cheek, [illegible] frankincense in the breath of [illegible] heaven of holy beings, the [illegible]aven of mighty ones, the [illegible] heaven of great hearts, [illegible] the most sympathetic. [illegible] love him? Do you want [illegible]? Why, he has shed them [illegible] has no more. Do you [illegible] blood? His arteries were [illegible]he iron hand of agony [illegible]hing more. Would you [illegible]e excruciation? Then [illegible]l into his hand, and [illegible]pear into his side, and [illegible]n into his crown, and [illegible]other flame of infernal [illegible]s some one. "Stop! [illegible]ot be smitten again. Enough the blood. Enough the agony." [illegible]rth. "Enough," cries [illegible]h," cries hell. At last [illegible]

[illegible] with Jesus? Will you [illegible]r sin? Will you spit [illegible] Will you crucify him [illegible] you do with him who [illegible]ve, more than a brother's [illegible]an father's love, yea, more [illegible]ove, through all these [illegible] enough to make thy [illegible] rock break? Jesus! [illegible] we do with thee? [illegible] the question will after a while change, and it will not be what we shall do with Christ, but what Christ will do with us? Why, Christ will say "There is that man whom I called. There is that woman whose soul I importuned. But they would not any of my way. I gave them innumberable opportunities of salvation. They rejected them all. Depart; I never knew you." Blessed be God that day has not come. Halt, ye destinies of eternity, and give us one more chance, and this is it.

Some travelers in the wilderness of Australia a few years ago found the skeleton of a man and some of his garments, and a rusty kettle on which the man had written or scratched with his finger nail these words, "O, God I am dying of thirst. My brain is on fire. My tongue is hot. God help me in the wilderness." Oh, how suggestive of the condition of those who die in the wilderness of sin through thirst. We take hold of them to-day. We try to bring the cold water of the rock to their lips. We say, "Ho, every one that thirsteth!" God, thy Father awaits thee. Ministering spirits who watch the ways of the soul bend now this moment over this immortal auditory, to see what we will do with Jesus.

ARE YOU A MOTHER?

If You Are, This Will Interest You.

Just a word to mothers who are obliged to feed baby artificially. There is nothing more neglected than the "feeding bottle," and a large measure of baby's happiness depends upon it. The "feeding bottle" and "teats" should be attended to with the most scrupulous attention. After feeding baby, the bottle should be put in ice cold water, to which should be added a teaspoonful of good baking soda to each pint of water. The "teats" should also be placed in this same solution in order to prevent them becoming sour.

Food should never be put into an unwashed "feeding bottle"; and food should not be allowed to remain in the bottle after feeding, and fed again to the child. If these matters are neglected, the infant's stomach, by being subjected to stale and sour food, becomes deranged, and the child's whole system is disordered from a mere act of inattention and carelessness.

If you feed baby with that healthy and life-giving Lactated Food, now so universally recommended by the medical faculty in Canada, the ordinary infant will not require it oftener than every two hours when awake; the quantity should not exceed three ounces, or an ordinary nursing bottle half full. As the child increases in age the quantity can be increased. A three month's child will thrive well on four or at the most five meals a day, and the quantity given should be six to eight ounces.

Babies fed regularly on Lactated Food as indicated above will be strong, healthy and vigorous; they will sleep well and soundly, and will pass safely through the excessively hot weather. We strongly advise mothers to try the celebrated Lactated Food. Already it has become a household word from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and thousands of little lives have been saved by its use.

The Dairy.

—Glass in the dairy is seldom used in large quantity, but even when fitted in cans for gauges they are liable to get broken and make endless trouble. The thermometer is the only glass implement aside from parts of testing machines that meets our approval. As for wood in many parts of dairy machinery—as churns, paddles, butter-prints, etc.—it is a necessary evil to be tolerated, not encouraged. We have known dairies, excellent in other appointments, that used wooden covers for pans that alone and unknown to the owner caused nine-tenths of all the trouble that came to the butter. If you do not believe this, take any of the wooden implements in use in the dairy a long time, carry it out into the open air far enough from the dairy for your lungs to get full of fresh, pure air, and then carefully smell the old wood and see if you cannot detect the odor of old butter in it. From constant use cream gets spilt upon the wood and the oil sinks into it, and to such an extent that no amount of scrubbing can remove it, and heat with time renders the butter-oil extremely rank. If this old odor comes in contact with fresh cream that cream is sure to absorb the odor to its great injury. Such wooden covers should be entirely abandoned and sheets of tin or galvanized iron substituted, if covers must be used. With the churn and butter-worker the only remedy is constant scrubbing and watchfulness.—[The New Dairy.

—The number of factories reported in operation in Ontario in 1891 was 838. The 45,066 patrons supplied 8[illegible]5,453,574 pounds of milk from 296,196 cows. The number of patrons per cheese factory was 54.

—The number of public creameries reported in operation in Ontario in 1891 was 39. Returns from 30 of these show that they made 1,402,309 pounds of butter valued at $287,559. The number of patrons per creamery was 11[illegible].

The Sick Room.

—One of the most convenient articles to be used in a sickroom is a sand bag. Get some clean, fine sand, dry it thoroughly in a kettle on the stove; make a bag about eight inches square of flannel, fill it with the dry sand, sew the opening carefully together and cover the bag with cotton or linen cloth. This will prevent the sand from sifting out, and will also enable you to heat the bag quickly by placing it in the oven or on top of the stove. After once using this you will never again attempt to warm the feet or hands of a sick person with a bottle of hot water or a brick. The sand holds the heat for a long time, and the bag can be tucked up to the back without hurting the invalid.

—Everyone knows how much more delicious freshly-made jelly is than old; part of the work is done in cool weather; there will be no shrinking or molding of this winter-made jelly; grape jelly will not have time to form its gritty crystals, or the crab-apple to become too solid; it is less troublesome to can the juice than to try to preserve the jelly in numerous little glasses, and finally, if a particularly pretty mold is wanted, it can readily be made at any time from the fresh juice.

—Charcoal prevents fermentation, hence is an aid to digestion. Many a suffering dyspeptic has found relief in eating at intervals through the day cakes made of meal or coarse flour mixed with pulverized charcoal.

Ankle-Deep in Molten Metal.

LOCKPORT, July 3.—While a ladle containing four and one half tons of molten iron was being transferred from one crane to another, in the Holly foundry Friday night, the screw appliance on the handle, which regulates the tipping of the huge vessel, slipped, dumping the fluid iron among the workmen below. A Rescuer Rescued

"Cadet" Lane's own story: "My sufferings for about eight years have been very severe. While acting as nurse in a hospital I took typhoid fever, and during an unconscious spell fell out of my bed, injuring my spine and a vital organ internally. In about two months I tried to walk, but found I was very weak. Had pain in my back, internal weakness, and dragging down of the injured organs, complicated indigestion, sleeplessness, and loss of appetite. I continued to grow worse in spite of all well-directed efforts(?). Pain and enlargement followed, also a scirrhous and cancerous growth. An operation was performed, with but only partial recovery. Then followed a long period of congestion, and again slight improvement. These conditions were repeated at intervals for years, with slight change in kind. About a year and a half ago I went into Rescue work in London, and in the meantime a new complication appeared, viz., 'Change of Life,' which I am still undergoing. I often prayed to God to restore me to health, that He might use me more than ever in the glorious work of 'Rescuing the Perishing,' but I can assure you I felt discouraged often and lost faith in medicine, but kept faith in God. He had rescued my soul from error, and I believed He would yet rescue my body from disease. About two months ago I saw a book entitled 'Entire Revolution in Medicine.' Being an 'experienced nurse,' I could understand the theory. I could see it was a new light in science. I obtained some medicine, and in a few days was utterly astonished to find that I could sleep better, head better, little or no pain with my 'weak spells,' organs rapidly gained in strength and tone. I have not taken the medicine two months. Organs all healing and rapid 'waste' almost stopped. I am nearly well. Better than for six years. A few days more and I will be soundly cured at present rate of improvement. Several in London were induced through a knowledge of my case to try the New System, with equally good results. No other system for me in future. I hope my friends in the 'Army' and elsewhere will try Histogenetic remedies and be convinced. I will answer inquiries.

—[BROWNING.

London, Monday, July 4.

THE Hamilton Times, always well edited and splendidly printed, has discarded its blanket-sheet make up, and will in future be printed after the fashion set by the ADVERTISER — in eight-page form. The change has decidedly improved the appearance of our sprightly contemporary.

WHAT a strange idea of liberty the Hamilton Spectator has! It contends that the best offices in the gift of the people of Canada shall be reserved for men who refuse to become Canadians, and who clear out of the country as soon as their government pay is stopped; and it now further asserts that a school trustee who threatens a teacher with reduction of salary unless she consents to spend a public holiday as his whims may dictate, is not guilty of petty tyranny. One of these days we may expect our contemporary to propose the revival of the Family Compact.

IT TURNS out that the death of Hon. John Robson, Premier of British Columbia, resulted from neglected injuries of a very commonplace nature. Mr. Robson was driving in a hansom cab, and accidentally shut the door on his little finger, crushing it. A physician who was called in at the Metropole Hotel, where the Premier was stopping, did not consider the injury serious, and it was not until Dr. George Ogilvie, the celebrated specialist, was sent for six days later, that it was discovered that blood poisoning had set in. Dr. Ogilvie amputated the finger, but it was too late, and Mr. Robson's life paid the forfeit.

THE most important business of the Dominion Parliament, the consideration of vast expenditures of public money, has been reserved by the Dominion Government till one-half of the members have gone home and the other half are restless to get about their own business. Important measures are also being rushed through without that consideration which should be given them. The Government should be compelled to have its public measures ready within two weeks after the House assembles. If the responsible Ministers acted promptly at the start of the session, there would be no "scamping" of legislation at the close, and no temptation for members to demand additional indemnity.

SOME notable men have already been returned to the new Parliament of Great Britain without opposition. Among others is Right Hon. Charles Pelham Villiers, who has represented the busy manufacturing borough of Wolverhampton for over half a century. Mr. Villiers was the pioneer in the agitation for the abolition of the protective laws in Great Britain, and he was a strong advocate of free trade and the abolition of the Corn Laws before either Cobden or Bright entered the House of Commons, and forced the issue to the front. The venerable statesman is the oldest member of the House in point of years, but notin point of service. Mr. Gladstone, though seven years younger than Mr. Villiers, was first elected to Parliament 60 years ago next December, and Mr. Christopher R. M. Talbot, of Glamorganshire has represented that shire for 55 years, having had a contest only three times during that period. Mr. Talbot is Lord Lieutenant of his county, and enjoys the distinction of having refused a peerage. He is 86 years of age. J. Henniker Heaton, who made a fortune in Australia, and is the champion of the scheme to provide a penny ocean post, has also been returned unopposed as member for Canterbury. J. A. Picton, who with Sir J. Whitehead, has been re-elected for Leicester, is a well-known Congregational minister. He took a prominent part in the last Parliament. Both gentlemen support Mr. Gladstone. The other M.P.s so far elected are either strong personally or because the represent constituencies in which their party is greatly in the ascendant.

PETROLEUM IN THE NORTHWEST.

The Minister of the Interior, in reply to Sir Richard Cartwright the other evening, gave a number of interesting particulars regarding the investigations made in the petroleum territory in the Canadian Northwest. Mr. McConnell, the surveyor, who went over the ground, thinks there is an extensive petroleum area, about 400 miles square, in the territory of Alberta. But no basin has been discovered, as borings have not been made. There are indications, however, over a wide territory. Mr. McConnell calculates that there are 58 square miles of what is known as tar-sand—that is, immense banks saturated with tar. So dense, indeed, is the tar that it burns freely in a fire. The Minister says it would make first-class natural asphalt for roads. Without boring, and it is strange that no boring has taken place, it is only possible to surmise the depth of these petroleum beds. It is thought that in the neighborhood of Athabasca Landing, some 80 miles north of Edmonton, 1,500 feet would have to be bored to reach the basin; and it is estimated that further north, on the Athabasca River, it would be necessary to bore to a lower depth. Mr. McConnell's investigations this year will be extended further east over a track of country almost the same size as that explored before, and in which no white man has ever been.

It is to be hoped that the Government will carefully weigh the suggestions of Sir Richard Cartwright on the question of collecting royalties for the public benefit from these natural resources. So far, the Minister affirms, the Administration has taken nosteps to lease any of these petroleum lands. It has even refrained from going to the expense of boring to obtain information as to their value. But it already has had applications from speculators in Canada and in England. The future disposition of the territory, therefore, must be faced. Our Administration will fail in its duty if it hands over these apparently valuable lands to speculators without express stipulations that shall safeguard the public interests. In Canada we may well profit by the experience of older lands, where individuals have become millionaires, and their heirs have continued to wax fat at the expense of their fellows, through the appropriation of valuable natural avenues to wealth, the greater part of the return from which, it is now conceded, should have been retained for the benefit of the community.

As it is alleged that the regulations framed under the Dominion Lands Act for the working of minerals have been found unworkable when applied to petroleum, the present is a very appropriate time to consider the whole question. There are too many monopolies in Canada now, and a Northwest petroleum monopoly would be particularly objectionable.

WHO WILL BE THE VICTOR?

In the London County Council elections the Liberals scored a great victory because the elections were held on Saturday, and the workingmen, who can ill afford time to go to the polls, were able to use the customary half holiday in recording their votes. The Salisbury Government, warned by this experience, contrived to have Parliament dissolved so that the elections for the boroughs should not be held on Saturday, and it is believed that as a consequence many workingmen will be disfranchised, as the elections in the big towns take place on the three first days of this week. By Thursday we shall know the result of the contest in all the boroughs throughout the United Kingdom. These boroughs contain 2,397,785 of the registered electors, against 3,726,325 registered in the counties. The full returns from the counties will not be in for about two weeks, as in these the nomination may take place at any time up to the ninth day after the receipt of the writ, and the election may be postponed until six days after the nomination. We will glean the drift of the contest long before then from the returns in those constituencies which the Conservatives carried in 1886 by majorities of less than 500. In Ireland there are 103 seats, and the Nationalists carried 85 six years ago, while the Conservatives got 18. The sanguine opponents of home rule believe that the division in the Irish party will result in the Nationalists losing several seats in Ulster. One of these is West Belfast, now held by Mr. Sexton; another is South Down, now represented by Mr. McCarten; two are East Tyrone and North Fermanagh; and Londonderry, which returned Mr. Justin McCarthy in 1886, may return to its old love. It may be assured, therefore, that the Nationalists will number 80 and the Irish Tories 23 in the next Parliament. In England and Scotland there are 567 seats. Of these in 1886 the opponents of Gladstone obtained 375 and the Liberals only 192. No fewer than 154 constituencies which were Liberal in 1885 went against the Grand Old Man in 1886. It is, obviously, in this class of constituencies that the Gladstonians have the best right to count upon large gains. But among the 221 constituencies, also, which were Conservative in 1885 as well as in 1886, some were carried in the first-named year by small majorities, and here also the Gladstonians have some prospect of success. They have at the bye-elections already gained eight seats of this kind. The number of seats carried by the Conservatives in both 1885 and 1886 by majorities of less than 500 was 57. Add this to the 154 seats won by the Liberals in 1885, but lost in 1886, and we have 211 seats which the Gladstonians have a fair chance of carrying. A few of these are in Scotland. There, as in other parts of the country, a number of the representatives returned in 1886 were selected to oppose Gladstone's Home Rule Bill. They went in as Liberal opponents of that measure, because of its Land Bill attachment. Now that it is no longer proposed to guarantee the payment of the Irish landlords by the credit of the whole nation, many Englishmen and Scotchmen favor the Gladstonian programme, and are not prepared to follow the dissident M. P.s into the Conservative ranks. These facts have to be taken into account in trying to estimate results, though they are, in a measure, offset by the quarrelling among Irish opponents of the present Administration. A detailed analysis of the figures leads the Pall Mall Gazette to predict that out of these 211 seats the Gladstonians will carry so many as to result—after deductions for the possible loss of a few seats carried by the Liberals in 1886—in a net gain of 110. Let us see how such a gain would affect the state of parties. Deduct 110 from the 375 seats carried by the Unionists in 1886 and we have 265. Add 110 to the 192 Gladstonian members chosen six years ago and we have 302, or, in other words, a Gladstonian majority in Great Britain of 37. The Irish Nationalists are considered justified in reckoning upon electing 80 members, while the Irish "Unionists" are credited with 23. Mr. Gladstone's majority in Ireland, therefore, would be 57, which, added to the 37 obtained in Great Britain, would give him a majority of 94 in the United Kingdom. The Pall Mall Gazette estimate is held by most supporters of Gladstone as below the mark; but if it is realized his friends will have good reason to be thankful, for it means a big turn over in the electorate.

OPINION: "ALL SORTS."

PUT IN NOTED COMPANY.

(Huron Signal.)

The Smart Alick who grinds out editorial brevities for the Hamilton Spectator sneers that the editor of the London ADVERTISER is not a Canadian because he was born in Scotland. By the same reasoning the two great Canadians who have recently passed away—Sir John Macdonald and Hon. Alexander Mackenzie—were not Canadians. It's about time the Spec. called off its smart young man.

AN OTTAWA VIEW.

(Ottawa Citizen.)

If the man who holds annexationist views, and preaches in favor of annexation, has a public office, he should be deprived of it. To that extent he should be punished, and no more. In "these days of liberty of thought and utterance" it is in accordance with the spirit of the time that every citizen should be allowed to discuss in the amplest manner all questions of public interest, including the constitution of the state, without being held guilty of a misdemeanour, or subjected to pains and penalties. To aim at the subversion of the government by force or fraud is one thing, but to attempt to persuade fellow-citizens that a change in the constitution of the country is desirable is an entirely different thing. Mr. Elgin Myers has a perfect right to advocate annexation if he choose, but while doing so he has no right to retain office.

‡‡‡

THE FALL OF HENRY M. STANLEY.

[From the New York Recorder.]

Poor Stanley! He forswore his American allegiance last May in order to become a candidate for Parliament on the Tory ticket, and what is the result? Mobbed and hooted on every platform where he appears, his wife insulted and the most serious charges made against his administration in Africa!

Stanley has made the great blunder of his life. His fame was secure. His name filled the world. What to him was a seat in the House of Commons, especially on the Tory benches? As a political organization that party is centuries behind the age, and yet Stanley, who opened up a continent to modern civilization, endeavors to ally himself with political mediævalism! The spectacle is as pitiable as it is interesting.

VITRIOL IN WAR.

[Kate Field's Washington.]

I have been asked to preach the gospel of peace in this review, and to advocate the abolition of war. It seems to me that the best way to abolish war is to make it absolutely inhuman. From this point of view the recent invention of a French officer has special significance. This ingenious gentleman has created a rifle which will hurl vitriol in the faces of the enemy. He suggests that it be used solely against savages who are making frenzied rushes; but as many savages tattoo themselves and otherwise scarify nature in order to attain their ideal of beauty, it by no means follows that vitriol will terrify them; whereas in civilized warfare such a weapon would be more potent than all the bullets that ever were cast. The man who loses a leg or arm with composure, and who meets death without flinching, would run from a charge of vitriol as from a volcanic eruption or any other cataclysm. There are some things the bravest dare not face; the hideous consequences of vitriol are among them. As an agent of peace, therefore, this poison may become a wondrous benefaction. On what field will the new rifle make its debut?

‡‡‡

CONCERNING FREEDOM OF DISCUSSION.

[From Canada Presbyterian.]

The dismissal of Elgin Myers, Q.C.—if he is dismissed—from the position of county attorney and clerk of the peace in Dufferin county for an alleged political offense is a matter on which there is ample room for difference of opinion. Mr. Myers distinctly declares that he favors continental union by and with the consent of her Majesty the Queen and the Imperial Parliament, and on no other terms. When her Majesty says go, my children, Mr. Myers would go. He would marry politically, but not until his sovereign blessed the banns. Just why a man holding these views cannot be trusted to prosecute offenders for breaches of the Crooks Act or of the Orangeville cow bylaw the average Ontario elector may not be able to see clearly. The list of "Sirs" in Canada who were avowed annexationists when about the age of Myers is truly formidable, and includes such dignitaries as Sir Leonard Tilley, Sir John Rose, Sir Alexander Galt, Sir John Caldwell Abbott, the present Premier, and a number of other men more or less distinguished for loyalty. One thing is clear. Should Mr. Myers be dismissed, his dismissal will secure to him and his cause an amount of attention that never has been given under ordinary circumstances. For one man who would go to hear Mr. Myers as county attorney, ten will go to hear him as a county attorney dismissed.

I Had Goitre

Or swellings in the neck since I was 10 years old; am now 52. I used Hood's Sarsaparilla recently and the swelling has entirely disappeared It has been very troublesome. When I began I was feeling so discouraged with the goitre and rheumatism I felt that I would as soon be dead as alive. Whenever I caught cold I could not walk two blocks without fainting. Now I am free from it all and I can truly recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla. I received a letter from Mrs. Jennie Bigelow, now of Fremont, Mich., asking if my testimonial in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla was true; I replied it was, and sent particulars. I have another letter from her thanking me very much for recommending and stating that she also has been cured." MRS. ANNA SUTHERLAND, Kalamazoo, Mich.

BROKE BANDS' RECORD.

KINGSTON, Ont., July 3.—The 25-mile road race of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association yesterday between teams of five, representing the cities of Hamilton, Kingston, Toronto and Ottawa, was won by the Toronto team. TURF.

TAMMANY WON.

SHEEPSHEAD BAY, July 2.—About 20,000 men and women lovers of the race horse saw Marcus Daly's 3-year-old colt Tammany win the realization stakes at the Bay this afternoon, in a common gallop. Garrison rode Tammany and he never had to urge the great colt at any stage of the mile and five-furlong journey. At post time Tammany and Victory were equal first choices at 5 to 2, The Pepper being a close second choice at 7 to 2. Pepper led the way until within a sixteenth from the finish, which was reached with Tammany first by a length and a half, The Pepper second by eight lengths, Patron third by a length, Victory fourth by a head and Charade fifth by eight lengths, the others being beaten off. The stake is worth $35,000, the owner of the second horse to receive $5,000 and the owner of the third horse $2,000. The time, 2:51 2-5, is not fast, but this is accounted for by the fact that the pace was slow in the first part of the race and the track was soft and cuppy, making fast time out of the question.

George Frederick, the winner of the 1874 Derby, went for 85 guineas, and Sir Bevys, the Derby winner of 1870, for 500 guineas.

THE LABOR SITUATION.

Heavy Cut in Miners' Wages—Trainmen on Strike.

ST. CLAIR, Pa., July 3.—An order has been issued at Pine Forest colliery, operated by the Reading Company, reducing miners' wages 50 cents a yard and 10 cents a wagon. The men had been rejoicing in an advance of 2 per cent. and in the prospect of full time, and this order, coming unheralded, has caused a feeling of great depression.

FRESNO, Cal., July 3.—The freight conductors and brakemen of the San Joaquin division of the Southern Pacific Railroad are on a strike. They presented demands for a new schedule decreasing the number of miles to be run in a month. The demands were refused and the men went out.

WIARTON'S SENSATION.

The Stars and Stripes Lowered and Torn to Pieces at Wiarton, Ont.

WIARTON, Ont., July 3.—On the morning of Dominion Day the citizens of Wiarton were surprised to see the Stars and Stripes hoisted high over the Union Jack on the premises of Rev. G. A. Yeomans, a Presbyterian minister located here. It was by far the largest flag floating in town, while the British flag was the size of an ordinary handkerchief. The citizens became excited and called the authorities' attention to the matter. Councilor Parker met Mr. Yeomans and asked him to have the flag lowered, or to at least place the two flags on equal terms. Mr. Yeomans refused to do so and defied anyone to interfere with the flag. About 30 or 40 citizens then marched to his house and a constable lowered the flag, which was torn up by the crowd. A band present played "God Save the Queen," "Hearts of Oak" and the "Red, White and Blue." The people then dispersed, after giving three cheers for the Queen.

Death of Col. Jarvis at Chatham.

CHATHAM, Ont., July 3.—Col. Salter M. Jarvis, a retired lawyer and a most worthy and popular citizen, lost his life by a sad accident yesterday. Col. Jarvis was for years interested in promoting sanitation in Chatham, and had constructed a model water service and closet system at his own residence. It was while making an inspection of the huge cistern in the basement of his house yesterday that he lost his life. How the fatality occurred is not known, but it is supposed he fell into the water while suffering from a weak spell, the result of his recent illness. Deceased was a retired officer of the Queen's Own Rifles and a member of Holy Trinity Church. He had an ample fortune, and spent his means freely for charitable and philanthropic purposes. The whole community is deeply grieved over the deplorable event, and much sympathy is felt for the bereaved widow and two children.

The House Holds a Saturday Session.

At Least Four Government Bills To Be Dropped.

Second Reading of the Voters' List Bill—Measure to Provide for the Inspection of Cheese at Montreal.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.]

OTTAWA, July 2.—The House of Commons held its first Saturday session this morning. The approaching of prorogation was marked by a question of Mr. Laurier's as to what measures, if any, the Government intended to drop.

Mr. Foster, who in the absence of Sir John Thompson, continues to lead the House (although the rule of seniority would place that duty upon Mr. Bowell), replied that there were at least four bills to be dropped, but he would leave the Minister of Justice on Monday to designate them.

In concurrence on the votes for a number of Canadian immigration agents, Mr. Foster moved that the items be disagreed with. This he said was in accordance with the policy of dispensing with useless immigration agents. The list of useless agents dispensed with is as follows: Ottawa, Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton, London, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Brandon, Calgary, Victoria. The House remained in concurrence without debate all morning.

Premier DeBoucherville arrived here today. He will urge upon the Government that a French-speaking representative of Canada be appointed for the Columbia World's Fair.

Mr. Foster announced that pending the negotiation of a treaty between Great Britain and Spain, Canada will take advantage of the minimum tariff of Spain and the Spanish West Indies for lumber and fish, the same as Norway, which is our principal competitor.

Mr. Patterson moved the second reading of the bill with respect to voters' lists, which corrects some irregularities on the last revision, as well as providing that there shall not be a revision of the lists this year.

Mr. Laurier called his attention to the fact that one of the particulars of the petition against the election of Mr. Lowell for Welland is that there were names not on the list that ought to have appeared on it, and that there were irregularities in the revision.

Mr. Patterson agreed with Mr. Laurier that it would not be right to hold Mr. Lowell responsible for irregularities for which the Government's officers were responsible, and promised that this bill shall be made to protect Mr. Lowell in that particular.

The bill to amend the General Inspection Act, which is to provide for the inspection of appeals, caused a sensation.

Mr. Costigan moved to add a clause that cheese shall be also inspected at Montreal according to standards and regulations to be fixed by the Governor-in-Council.

Messrs. McMillan and McMullen, both members of the Opposition, opposed this because the Dairymen's Association had not asked for it, and because any system of cheese inspection anywhere than at the factories would be a mistake.

The proposal was defended by Mr. Costigan and his friends, on the ground that inspection at Montreal was necessary for the protection of sellers against buyers where sales were made on cheese boards.

After considerable discussion the bill with the amendment was passed through committee, and the House adjourned at 9 o'clock.

THE PRESIDENTIAL RACE.

Conclusion of the Prohibition Convention.

Proceedings of the People's Party Delegates at Omaha—Rattling Speech From Ignatius Donnelly.

CINCINNATI, O., July 3.—In the Prohibition National Convention Dr. J. F. Cranfill, of Texas, was nominated for Vice-President. The names presented to the convention were Samuel Small, of Georgia; William Satterlee, of Minnesota; Joshua Levering, of Maryland; J. F. Cranfill, of Texas, and Thomas R. Carskadon, of West Virginia.

Small withdrew before a vote was taken, saying he was no man's fool, and knew before he was here many days that the ticket had been made up.

General Singleton offered a resolution expressing disapprobation of a certain hotel in refusing services to negroes. General Singleton's resolution was adopted and the convention adjourned sine die.

Mr. Cranfill, the nominee for Vice-President, has been the leader of the anti-liquor battle in Texas. He is about 45 years of age. He is editor of the Advance, prohibition and reform paper; also of the Texas Baptist Standard.

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY.

OMAHA, Neb., July 3.—The People's party convention was called to order Saturday morning amid great enthusiasm. A telegram from Judge Gresham curtly informing Gen. Weaver, the Hon. Ignatius Donnelly and others that he would not accept the nomination on any platform settles all doubt as to Gresham's nomination, and he is no longer mentioned in connection with the nomination. The candidate most freely mentioned is Hon. Jas. B. Weaver, of Iowa, and there is little doubt that he will lead upon the first ballot. Senator Stewart, of Nevada; Senator Kyle, the Hon. Ignatius Donnelly, of Minnesota; Senator John P. Jones, of Nevada; Mr. Vandevoort, of Nebraska, a prominent G. A. R. man, are also mentioned in connection with the Presidential nomination.

Hon. Ignatius Donnelly, of Minnesota, made a characteristic speech on the issues of the People's party. In referring to the recent convention at Minneapolis he said: "I had a debate the other day in Minneapolis with a representative speaker of the Republican party and I challenged him to point to a man in the great convention who could be mentioned in one breath with the great philanthropist and humanitarian who founded the Republican party. Where is your Horace Greeley, your Charles Sumner, your Wendell Phillips, your Abraham Lincoln? I asked him to point me out a single friend of labor in the convention, a single friend of the poor mechanic. What was the answer? I was given an example of the philanthropist Fred. Douglass. 'Why,' I replied, 'you have to go out of your own color to find an example.' (Cheers.) And when I asked for another name I was given the name of Wm. McKinley, jun., (laughter) a man who put up the tariff for the benefit of the protectionist manufacturers to increase the burdens of the people. I want it understood that I am not saying anything against the rank and file of either of the parties, but the leaders, the politics and the conventions of the parties are legitimate subjects of comment. They point in the direction of this terrible power of plutocracy that has got the whole country by the throat. Upon every bushel of wheat sold in Minnesota the farmers are defrauded of 33 cents by gigantic combinations reaching from Liverpool to the Red River Valley, and you will find that the cause of the depreciation in prices is to be found in world-wide combinations.

On Sunday night a gas explosion in the Frantz Hotel at Braddock, Pa., blew out the stairs and wrecked everything in the house. An employe named Kelly was terribly burned, and will likely die.

Kansas farmers are having great trouble in securing a sufficient number of hands to harvest the enormous crop of wheat in the State, most of which is ready for cutting. They are offering high wages for help.

A terrific cyclone struck Bethlehem, Pa., on Sunday afternoon. The main building of the Bethlehem Fair and Driving Park Association was destroyed. Lightning struck the cable tower of the telephone office and set the postoffice building on fire. Loss said to be about $150,000.

An Ottawa, Ill., dispatch says at 5:30 last evening another cloudburst struck the Illinois Valley, coming from the north. The downpour continued unceasingly for three hours, and the whole northern part of the city was again flooded. The water reached the first floors in many residences, and serious washouts occurred on the railway.

Bear vs. Boy.

NORWOOD, Ont., July 3.—Harry Stephenson, a son of W. H. Stephenson, of Norwood, had a narrow escape from being chewed up by a bear which was chained up in the C. P. R. yards at Havelock on Friday. The bear made a run at the boy and grabbed him by the leg and pulled him down with his teeth. He made 47 cuts in the boy's leg and took out six chunks of flesh. It was only by the presence of mind of another young lad, who took a stick of wood and beat the bear over the head, that he got away.

The Goat Was Not Censurable.

TARA, Ont., July 3.—The stationmaster in Tara is the owner of a goat, which frightened a horse belonging to Mr. Pierce. The horse ran away, upsetting the rig, throwing out Mr. Pierce and his sister and damaging the buggy. The case came up in the Division Court on the ground that the smell from the goat frightened the horse. The judge held that the peculiar constitution of the horse made him run away in this case, and that a goat is an animal that will not usually frighten a horse. Mr. Pierce is therefore out the costs of the trial.

Buffalo Bill recently gave a performance before the royal court at Windsor Castle. William is very popular in London.

Prof. Skeal, who maintains the orthodox belief that the study of Latin and Greek is serviceable for improving a student's style in English composition, thinks also that there is something to be said on the other side. Whatever the study of Latin and Greek might do toward improving the student's style, the study of languages and English literature would do more.

Timely Pointers.

—Study the advantages of farm life.

—Good planning is the best economy.

—To know how to economize time and labor is one of the secrets of success.

—Farming, to be successful, needs education, talent and tact, as well as experience.

—Take time by the forelock, and always be in readiness for the next work of the farm.

—Profit by your experience. The wise man learns from his mistakes as well as from success.

—White hellebore powder is the best substance for killing currant worms. Apply with a dredging box.

—Farm lands in the State of Ohio have decreased in value in the decade ending with 1890, by $115,000,000.

—The wisest farmer is he who has the most experience to lighten his way. The experience of others well noted and applied with discretion may make the young farmer as competent as the old.

—The average wages paid to farm laborers in Ontario in 1891 were $158 with board, and $257 without board; for the working season $16 66 was the average per month with board, and $25 81 without board; domestic servants averaged $6 25 per month.

—A small handful of fine charcoal may be given with advantage to all kinds of live stock two or three times a week. Given to cows when first turned to pasture or on heavy clover it will prevent bloating. It is excellent for pigs, and prevents the sour stomach which causes bad teeth, thought by some to be a disease instead of a result of it.

—The municipal returns show us that in 1891 there were 22,535,983 acres of farm lands assessed in Ontario, of which 946,421 acres are taxed against non-residents. There were then 11,802,487 acres of cleared land, leaving 8,376,762 acres in woodland and 2,356,734 acres in swamp, marsh or waste lands. Of cleared lands, 187,832 acres were in orchard and garden, while 2,721,281 acres (23 per cent.) were devoted to pasture.

—The value of farm lands in 1891 in Ontario averaged $27 57 per acre for the whole farm, while for every cleared acre there were $16 21 in buildings, $4 29 in implements, and $9 21 in live stock. The latter three averages are almost identical with the figures for ten years, so that the property exclusive of the land has kept pace with the area cleared. The rental of leased farms was $1 95 per acre based on the whole farm, or $2 70 on the cleared portion, being decreases of 6 and 11 cents respectively from the averages of six years.

—Every farm should be a kingdom within itself. It is doubtful if there are any two farms, either large or small, adjoining or distant, that would yield the best returns by conducting both upon the same plan. Yet there are large districts, comprising many varieties of soil and different kinds of land, all cultivating the same crops, and following the same general order. Neither farm nor farmer will be at their best until he is thoroughly and completely himself. From the power of association and the force or habit too many drift into the same general way in agriculture, and the result is that a few make money and the many make but a living. To succeed let every farmer study his own farm just as a phrenologist studies the head before him, then write out his own chart and stick to it.

Robertson cannot be too highly honored by the craft.

Masonic Grand Lodge.

The General Masonic Committee met in the library on Saturday evening, R. W Bro. Porte in the chair. A communication from the grand master stated that it would be impossible to postpone the business of the Grand Lodge for a garden party or band concert on Wednesday evening. Arrangements are well in hand for the reception of Grand Lodge representatives. The banqueting hall will be used by the entertainment committee in which to provide refreshments.

There was a variety of unimportant cases at the police court this morning. Regan with assault and this case was also withdrawn. Harriet Williams was remanded for a day on a charge of vagrancy and of being drunk. Albert Thomas escaped punishment for riding a bicycle on the sidewalk. Andrew Murphy was remanded for a day on a charge of larceny. George Hill was bailed until to-morrow on a charge of having assaulted P. C. Lancaster. Thos. Jameison and Albert Condon, were let go. They were registered as vagrants.

Dominion Day at Ilderton.

The picnic and open air concert held in the fair grounds in Ilderton on Dominion Day was a grand success. A keenly contested game of baseball between the Hyde Park and Ilderton teams was the center of attraction during the afternoon. Owing to the roughness of the ground the score was large and resulted in 12 runs to 17 in favor of the Hyde Park team. An excellent tea was served from 5 to 7 o'clock in the Agricultural Hall to over 500 persons. The concert began at a few minutes past 7 and lasted until dark, the following taking part: Christ Church choir, London; Harry and Miss Poole, Lambeth; Mrs. Bloye, Miss Wright, Mr. A. F. Wicks and Master Geo. Matthews, London; Miss Kate Nixon, Hyde Park; Miss Maida Robson, Vanneck; Miss Maud Ferguson, and Messrs. Golding, Shoff and Fraser, Birr, and Mr. Robert Robson, Ilderton. The programme was decidedly a choice one and was brought to a close by the choir singing an appropriate good-night chorus and the National Anthem. The Rev. H. R. Diehl occupied the chair. The proceeds amounted to over $100, which go towards the building fund of the new English Church.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

A Question of Rates.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

The Orangemen of East Middlesex accepted an invitation to visit Woodstock on the 12th of July next, and appointed a committee to obtain rates from the railway companies. The G. T. R. were first interviewed, and they offered a rate of 45 cents and a special train, the same as was given the Sons of England a month since. Afterwards the C. P. R. were called on. They promised to give rates also, and then the two companies raised the rate to 75 cents. Can the G. T. R. explain why they altered the rate? Is it because they carry single passengers the same distance every day to Port Stanley and return for 30 cents or because they charge Orangemen $1 45 to go to Sarnia on the 12th, and carry a single passenger there and back the day after for $1? Yours truly. EMANUEL T. ESSERY.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Man Killed by a Falling Beam at a Barn Raising in Perth County—Others Injured.

STRATFORD, July 4.—During the raising of a large barn at R. Nicklin's, township of Mornington, at which about 100 men were engaged, an accident occurred which resulted in the death of one man and the injury of several others. Two beams had been raised and the third was about half way up, when it came back upon the men. In attempting to get out of the way William Glen, a young man about 25 years of age, stumbled over a stick of timber and before he could rise the beam fell upon him with such force as to burst open his abdomen, inflicting awful and fatal injuries. He was carried into the house and lived about an hour, during most of which time he suffered terrible agony. Drs. Johnston, of Millbank, and Veitch, of Linwood, were summoned, but were unable to do more than alleviate the sufferings of the dying man. The same beam in falling also struck William Reid, injuring his spine and breaking several ribs, but he is likely to recover. Another, Wm. Reid, was less seriously injured, and several others were more or less bruised.

GREEN GOODS MEN ARRESTED.

Three of Them Captured by Officers at Van Buren, Mo.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 4.—Three important arrests have been made by United States officers at Van Buren, Mo. The prisoners are William Chilton, John A. Chilton and Absalom Coleman. The offense charged is that of green goods game, whereby they are alleged to have netted $2,000 profit per month. The men were held in $2,000 bail each. Their plan of action was to advertise thus: "Counterfeit money—none; $1 to $100 C. S. A. bills. Fine toned paper; perfect engravings. Particulars, 4 cents." Correspondence being opened, would-be purchasers were, the officers allege, given to understand that the stuff offered for sale was easily shoved counterfeits, and the victim of course received Confederate bills. It is claimed by the men that they sold Conly onfederate bills, and pretended nothing else, while the officers assert that captured letters prove a clear green goods case.

Orchard and Garden.

—Lazy, languid shadows stretch across the orchard grass,
And warm and blushing snowflakes drift downward as I pass;
The robins whistle blithely, white butterflies float by:
One fleecy cloud has lost its way in the soft blue of the sky—
And the Spring is in my thought.

Light streams down through the pale green leaves that whisper in the breeze,
Deep in the heart of blossoms lurk drowsy, droning bees;
The willows bend down slender leaves and dip them in the stream,
The day floats by on fragrant wings like a sunny golden dream—
And the Spring is in my heart.

Happy birds through languorous air now tell their secrets sweet,
Clover leaves and tender grass are thick beneath my feet:
Sunshine lights my baby's hair, as at my side he stands,
His treasure-trove of dandelions in tiny, tight-shut hands—
And the Spring is in my life!

—[Virginia Franklyn in Harper's Bazar.

—The lawn should be mown as often as a little growth of grass is made, once in ten days, or oftener if the season proves wet and the grass makes a rapid growth. Clip the edgings of grass borders occasionally, and allow no weeds to grow in either walks or beds. Maintain neatness in all parts of the grounds.

—Plum and cherry trees affected with black knot should be cut down so the other trees may not be destroyed by the same excrescence. It is well to notify persons upon whose premises these trees are to be found, that it is contrary to law to have them standing, and to have them removed.

—Celery plants should be transplanted in beds two or three inches apart as soon as they are large enough to handle. Orchard and Garden says that a good place to put them is a cold frame from which the sashes have been removed. Screens made of laths tacked an inch apart will give shade needed. This transplanting will cause the development of fibrous roots and make them more easy to transplant to their final quarters in late summer.

The O'Connor Girls

By Mrs. Hungerford ("The Duchess"), Author of "Molly Bawn," "Her Last Throw," "Mrs. Geoffrey," etc.

"Yes, all at once!" repeat I thoughtfully. "I don't think, Will, I ever had an idea that I loved you until you told me you were going to throw me over."

"I told you that?"

INTERLUDE.

"What will you have for a wedding present?" asks Will, presently.

"There is just one thing I should like," murmur I. "But I don't know that I ought to ask for it."

"What is there you might not ask for, 'to the half of my kingdom'! Ah, that is a poor thing! The whole of my kingdom is yours to do what you will with."

"Is it? Then—I should like Blueskin!" say I, in a low tone. It seems so selfish of me. I am asking him for the horse he liked so well that he bought it from Dad. But oh! if only I could give it back to Dad!

"Blueskin! I wish, Molly you had asked me for anything else!"

"Yes, yes, I know," I cry earnestly. "It is bad of me. But—may I have him?"

"I—— He pauses. I can see in the moonlight that now is flooding bank and sward, and our two faces, how terribly disconcerted he is. "I'm afraid I have given him away already."

"Given him away!"

"Not actually, but in thought."

"Oh! Of course I shall not interfere with your—thought!"

"Molly! What are you thinking of? I only meant——"

"I don't want to know what you meant."

"But, my darling, listen."

"Listen to what? To—to the name of the hateful person to whom——" Words fail me.

"Good heavens! Molly! It isn't like that at all. Now don't be angry with me, my lovely little sweetheart! The fact is, I have wanted ever so much to give him back to your father, because I knew when I bought him that the O'Connor's heart was in him, as the peasants say here."

"Ah! Now why didn't you say so at once?" cry I, half laughing, half trembling. "Why, that is why I wanted Blueskin too. To give him back to Dad. If you could only know how he has missed him. Well," sighing, "you are too good for me—you are, indeed, and—Blueskin will go back to Dad, any way."

"He shall go back to 'Dad' through you only," says he. "Forgive me, my best beloved, that I denied you your request at first; but I had so longed to delight you with my restoration of that horse to your father that I fear I was unkind to you. Blueskin is yours, darling, to do what you will with him."

"Then that's settled. And if I could be happier, Will, than I was five minutes ago, you have made me so. To tell you the truth——"

I never tell him that truth, at all events. Time is not given me. A sudden sound of approaching footsteps, a merry laugh, and Kitty and Paddy Burke are upon us. They are in such exuberant spirits that I conclude at once that all is well with them. I begin to feel deadly ashamed of my own sentimental mood. Kitty when happy laughs. I, now that I have been made supremely happy, have done nothing but cry. There doesn't seem to be a grain of sense in me.

However, I cannot bring myself to be annoyed with Kitty when, Paddy and Sir Willoughby having moved a little to our right, she sidles up to me, and whispers with large sympathy:

"Poor old Molly! Of course he took it badly."

"What?" say I tartly. "The measles?"

"You are upset, ducky! And no wonder, I'm sure. It must be dreadful to have to make a person unhappy."

"You have evidently been making a person happy."

"Yes. Yes," smirking idiotically. "Oh, he is happy. And"—ecstatically—"so am I Molly."

"Well—so am I too."

"Heartless monster! When you are happy," peeping at me most ungenerously, "do you always cry your eyes out?"

"I was silly about that, Kitty, I confess," say I, climbing down in a hurry. "But, the fact is, he said he was going away, because of this money, you know, —and I—well I—got such a fright."

"Eh? what? you don't mean to say that you——"

"Yes—just that," nodding my head. "I think there is no one like him, Kitty."

"Well, there isn't!" says Kitty with an irrepressible chuckle. (After all, Kitty, when she likes, can be a little vulgar! And if Paddy isn't uglier than Will——— But some girls never can see anything)!

"I must say," goes on Kitty, when her ill-timed mirth is a an end, "that you are about the biggest swindler that ever I met! There you have been for weeks making me wretched over the thought that I was driving you into marriage with a man whom you detested, and in the long run it turns out that you would have died of fright if he hadn't married you."

"But I assure you, Kitty, I never knew it, until——"

"Oh! there! That's plenty!" says Kitty, shrugging her shoulders. "By the bye, have you heard about——"

"Good gracious! There is Geraldine," cry I, interrupting her remorselessly.

I am indeed so astonished by the appearance presented by Geraldine and her companion—Mr. Dickenson—that I feel as if I could have interrupted the Queen on her throne without an apology.

"Yes; and I was just going to tell you——"

But Kitty's communications are lost to me. I have neither eyes nor ears now for any one but Geraldine. She comes sailing up to us through the moonlight, her little (he looks dreadfully little in this light) companion in tow. And there is something so appropriative in her whole air that in a sort of startled way I catch the air of the situation. She has accepted him. Oh! no, that is not it—she has been graciously pleased to look with favor on this little, small, tiny man! Gerry! who has overawed Kitty and me all our lives!

"Oh! Gerry! what have you done?" cry I quite loud. Indeed my voice, now that with my usual luck I have thoroughly committed myself, seems to my own horrified ears loud enough to make the welkin ring. I shrink back, driven to desperation by Kitty's whisper—

"You've done it at last," says she contemptuously. "What a fool you are, Molly, as if any one couldn't have seen the road she was going."

"Dear Marian," says Geraldine in a clear tone. I was christened Marian, I believe, but, having heard nothing about it since my birth, the name now comes to me as a revelation and reduces me to powder. "Dear Marian, will you permit me to introduce Danby to you in a new character?"

So his name is Danby! I don't believe even Geraldine knew that an hour ago. And why not Danby?

"Danby?" falter I.

"Yes," says Geraldine with unrivalled dignity. "Danby Dickenson. He hopes—and so do I—that you will for the future regard him as a———"

"Man and a brother!" puts in Paddy Burke. "We're all brothers here, it seems to me." (Paddy has evidently been hearing things from Will.)

"I'm sure I'm delighted, Mr. Dickenson,' falter I. "I mean," hurriedly—"that is—Dan——" here I break down ignominiously.

"Oh! no. Not Dan!" says Paddy Burke sweetly. He wasn't christened Daniel—he———"

"I know that perfectly," declare I with indignation. "I merely meant—I forgot for a moment, and———"

"I see; you were inventing a pet name for your new relation. I'm sure, Dickenson, you ought to be awfully grateful. To be received like this with open arms is, to say the least of it, gratifying. If, Molly, you will only call me Pat, I shall remember it to you for ever."

"There, go away," says Sir Willoughby, giving him a playful shove. "Molly and I have something better to do than listening to your imbecilities all the evening. Where is The O'Connor? I want to speak to him."

"Poor old chap! I don't fancy he will be able to stand much more of it," says Mr. Burke. "He has been doing the heavy father for the past two hours. Blessing two daughters in one day ought to be enough for any man. If he is compelled to bless a third, it will be fatal, I shouldn't wonder."

He is still talking, I think, when we are well out of earshot. But we hurry away from him as fast as we can.

"I'm sure I pitty poor Kitty," say I, wrathfully.

"I don't think you need," says Sir Willoughby, thoughtfully. From what I have seen her—heard rather—I should say she could hold her own."

"Well, certainly Kitty can talk," say I, laughing. "But, with sudden recollection, "so can I. It was only yesterday that Geraldine said (and very rude I thought it was of her) that"—hesitating—"I could talk the hind leg off an elephant! You," with a rather crestfallen air, "won't like that; I shall bore you to death perhaps."

"Do you think that likely, Molly?"

"Well, I don't know."

"I do. Every sound of your voice is music to me. And that old house of mine in Warwickshire—your house, too, by the way—how good that sounds—why, it will take you all your time to fill it with your laughter. Do you know I have had the strangest feeling of late that I have never been alive until I met you!"

Something that is half delight, stirs my heart.

"How fond you are of me," I murmur in a low tone.

"Oh, more!" says he, "much more than that."

MISER BLAUVELT

Went Barefooted and Made a Fortune.

Nephews and Nieces Reap the Benefit of a Life's Hoardings.

New York, July 3.—The executors of the estate of Farmer Blauvelt and his wife, the curious and aged couple who died a few months ago on their farm near Tappan, in this State, think now that they have succeeded in finding about all the personal property left. The Blauvelts had no children, and their estate all goes to the nephews and nieces of Mrs. Blauvelt, who survived her husband a short time, and who, under his will, inherited all his property, and to the De Wolf brothers, who have a farm adjoining that of the Blauvelts and had been life-long frinds of the old pair.

Blauvelt was 84, and a very hard working man. He stuck to his labors almost until the day of his death. During his whole lifetime he never was 50 miles away from his farm. He never saw a railroad or a steam engine, and would have been startled out of his wits if any one had inveigled him into the city and asked him to speak through a telephone. In the matter of covering for his feet he outdid in eccentricity the famous Kansas Jerry Simpson. Blauvelt had not only no use for socks, but winter and summer he went barefooted, putting on neither boot nor brogan.

While he tilled the farm his aged partner made all manner of articles from the flax and wool her husband raised. When she died last spring it was estimated that the estate was worth about $70,000. A great deal of it was real estate, but the executors had to search all the nooks, corners, boxes, chests and trunks about the farm to find all he property left.

Up in a corner in the garret the searchers found a great pile of homespun blankets. These blankets were remarkable in make. On one side they were woven of fine flax, while the other were spun in the best of wool. The executors got $16 apiece for them at the sale. Hidden away between these blankets they found $200 in copper cents.

In out-of-the-way places in the garret and the cellar they found $6,000 in silver and greenbacks, and in old boxes and chests $2,000 in gold coin. All were carefully hidden away.

The aged couple had also a big iron safe in the house, but they kept nothing in it but their account books. "If burglars come," they used to say, "the first place they will attack will be the safe." The personal estate is sloon to be divided among the nephews and n eces of Mrs. Blauvelt.

The Flower Garden.

—Yellow and purple and white,
Snow-white and lilac and gold,
Crocuses, my crocuses,
Peering up from the mold;
These like fingers of flame,
These in a raiment of snow,
And these of the dusky hue of thoughts
Cherished from long ago.

Last year, last month, last week,
My patch of garden was bare,
No glimmer of green or gleam of gold
Or sign of life was there;
It was only this morning early
That spring came by this way,
And the gifts she leaves for a token
Were only mine to-day.

She delayed and delayed her coming,
For March was fierce and strong,
The bitter wind of his fury
Kept winter here too long;
But at last this golden morning
Stirred every patient wing,
And down the shaft of a sunbeam
Glided the gentle Spring.

Hark, how the sparrows twitter,
For joy of the warmer sun!
They began their mating a month ago,
And their nesting will soon be done;
But the thrush has a glader welcome,
Which he'll sing in the mellow eves,
I have heard him trying it over
In the trees forlorn of leaves.

Forlorn! Not now, nor ever,
Since Spring is here again,
And crocuses, my crocuses,
Herald her happy reign:
Yellow and white and purple,
Snow-white, blue-veined and gold,
The signs of a new possession
That is old as the world is old.

New life, new love, new leafage,
Forever old and young,
In all the flowers that open,
In all the songs that are sung;
And here is the beautiful mission
To blossom and bloom and sing,
My crocus-bringer, my passion,
The Maid of the Months, the Spring.

—The surroundings of a house are its frame, and the ground around the dwelling ought to receive its due proportion of attention with the interior of the house. Without a proper frame a fine building lacks the grandeur of a commonplace one with a neatly kept piece of grass around it. With a few well-selected vines, a grass plat, shade, shrubbery and a few inexpensive flowering plants, an old house will give more home contentment than a finer one without the proper setting. The little ones will grow up to love the home and will have an eye to the beautiful in art and nature.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—The commercial travelers will picnic at Port Stanley on the 16th inst.

—The Sunday school of Christ Church will hold their picnic at Springbank Tuesday, leaving by the 10 a.m. steamer.

—The Adelaide Street Baptist Sunday school are to picnic on the grounds at the pastor's residence, English street, on Thursday.

—The Bishop of Huron went to Kincardine on Saturday, where he officiated yesterday. He expects to be absent from the city about ten days.

—Mr. N. W. Rowell, barrister, Toronto, preached a thoughtful sermon in Askin Street Methodist Church yesterday morning. Mr. Rowell has lost none of his Christian zeal since his departure from South London.

—The Sunday school of Christ Church held a flower service yesterday afternoon, which was unusually interesting. The scholars brought a number of bouquets, which were tastefully arrayed about the room and presented a beautiful appearance. At the close of the services the flowers were conveyed to the inmates of the City Hospital and the Aged Women's Home.

—Rev. M. P. Talling and wife returned Saturday from their honeymoon trip in the east. In the evening they were given a reception by Mr. Talling's congregation in the lecture hall of St. James' Presbyterian Church and presented with four handsome pieces of parlor furniture. An address was read by Mrs. Shillington, extending to the young couple a hearty welcome home. The reverend gentleman replied feelingly.

—Word has been received from New York of the death of Mrs. J. Kerr, daughter of Mrs. (Captain) Wilson, of Maple street, this city. The latter went there on Friday in response to a telegram, and arrived in time to be present at the deathbed of her only child. Deceased was reared here. She was formerly a pupil of Hellmuth College, and was an attractive and talented lady. Until recently she had been resident in England for several years. The body was brought home for interment at noon to-day.

—A parent writes: "Mayor Spencer cannot be too highly commended for the action taken by him in not allowing horses and rigs to enter Victoria Park during the demonstration Friday until after 12 o'clock. We believe that his foresight and good judgment met with the entire approbation of that vast concourse of people assembled there, except, perhaps, those who would have preferred to come in rigs. The fathers and mothers and lovers of little children and all predestrians will praise him for it. It is a move in the right direction. And so we all say."

—Richard Box died at his residence, St. Marys, on Friday morning last. He was one of the best known citizens of St. Marys, having been a resident for over 37 years. He was born near Plymouth, Devonshire, England, in 1823, and emigrated to Cleveland, Ohio, early in life. He afterwards lived in Cobourg, Ont., and London township, where he married Miss Sarah Sansborne. After farming some time in London township he moved to St. Marys, then a very small place. He engaged in the purchase of grain and produce, which he teamed to London. As the country became more settled and his business increased he entered partnership with Mr. E. Long, and brought and shipped grain for a number of years. He prospered in this enterprise until, in partnership with Mr. W. Somerville he purchased the St. Marys flouring mill in 1879. Prosperity still followed him in this enterprise and he was able to retire in four or five years from active labors, and established a private banking business which he carried on ever since.

Thomas Haywood's Death.

The following jury has been empaneled by Coroner Flock to inquire into the Haywood fatality: Alex. Aikman (foreman), Wm. T. Brown, James Walsh, Edward Morkin, John Harper, Thomas Gleeson, Thomas Sparks, John Beaton, Thomas Hobbs, Alex. Arbuckle, Thomas Fitzsimon, Chas. Webber and Hugh Sharkey. They viewed the body of deceased at the hospital Saturday afternoon, and adjourned to meet at the police station to-night to take evidence.

Should Be Refused at Par.

The number of mutilated silver coins in circulation now is being freely commented upon by merchants and others. Scores of 10, 25 and 50 cent pieces have large holes in them, and some of the coins have large pieces nipped off their edges. It is thought that somebody is in the business of making money by the punching and clipping process. The nuisance would be speedily abated were a discount placed on each mutilated coin, as is done in the United States.

The Doctors in London.

Services first three months free. The staff of eminent physicians and surgeons who have so long enjoyed such unparalleled success in Montreal and New York, having cured thousands of cases of male and female weakness, catarrh, catarrhal deafness, etc., where the best American doctors have failed, are now located in their permanent office, No. 428 Park avenue. All who visit these eminent doctors before Aug. 1 will receive services first three months free of charge. All forms of chronic diseases are treated, but no incurable cases accepted. If your malady is hopeless they will frankly, kindly tell you so. Go promptly if you wish to consult them, as their offices will be crowded during the latter days of free services. Catarrh and catarrhal deafness is positively cured by their new treatment. The London office is permanently established, but free services end Aug. 1. The president and first consulting physicians will have personal charge till November. Office hours from 9 a.m. till 8 p.m.; Sundays, 1 to 4. b

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

"Patriotism" Only Skin Deep.

When statesmen are ruled by faction and interest they can have no passion for the glory of their country.—[Addison.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

This fully states the case with regard to the claims of the Conservative party leaders to all the loyal feeling in Canada. Their claims, of course, are based on their strong regard and maintenance of the old flag and policy, which policy, by the way, has grown so old that it cannot stand alone. The fanatical and reckless partisanship of the professional Tory stumpers is completely exposed by their continual praising of British fair play, which they never put into practice (at least towards their opponents), and which they have done so much to bring into disrepute. How are these slogans of the professed loyalists to be reconciled with the disgraceful methods they employ to put the Tory candidate in. Take the cases of Haggart and Caron, the respective leaders of the Tory party in Ontario and Quebec. These men are charged with robbing from the public funds money with which to stifle the voice of the people at the elections. Caron, until lately, has been in charge of the Department of Militia, which should be the embodiment of the passion of our young men for the glory of Canada. Yet its Tory head is charged with robbing the country's funds, and he is shielded behind that big majority which has been fraudulently obtained and still more wickedly kept, as evidence the refusal to go into the London seat steal, and the gerrymander that brave knight Sir John Thompson has invented to tie his opponent's hands before going into the lists against him. And yet these men have the gall to speak about traitors to their country, annexationists and blue ruin. The traitors are to be found in their own fold. Caron is a traitor, Langevin is a traitor, Haggart is a traitor. They are all traitors to their country in that they bring it into disgrace among the other nations of the world.

Sir John Thompson has the sublime assurance to get up and call a redistribution "fair" that gives a Conservative minority of 5,000 in Ontario power to elect four more members than the Liberals, who have the majority. It may be "fair" in the eyes of Thompson, but it is not fair according to the principles of "British fair play," which we all desire to have. Is there any other land of free people, we ask, that is so misgoverned and robbed as Canada is to-day by a corrupt brood of politicians? We ask this with a true love of Canada and the hope of her emancipation from the government of the party which claims to govern by the principles of British fair play. Let us take the N. P., by which they pretend to wish to stand or fall. If the N. P. is of such benefit to the people as they claim it is, why are they not content to have the unfettered judgment of the people on it, instead of gagging them by repeated gerrymanders, Franchise Act, reptile funds, "people with the influence," etc., and then allowing them to record their vote on it, which is made almost useless by their schemes and plans for hiving counties and townships? Sir John Thompson has shown that he wishes the voice of the people to have no influence in the affairs of the country, else why does he father a gerrymander which some of his own party, who are bold enough to speak their mind, condemn as worthy only of Tammany Hall?

No; pure elections and pure voters' lists do not suit the ends of the Tory of to-day any more than they suited the Tory of the Family Compact day. They load the dice and then go through the farce of throwing them. If this does not show up the shallowness of their loyalty cry, well, we will try again. It has been said that "Actions speak louder than words." Comparing the actions of the Tory leaders in shielding Haggart, Dewdney, Caron, Elliot, Carling and all the civil service boodlers for the sake of keeping their own power, for very evident reasons—comparing these actions with the pre-election promises of the two knights, Abbott and Thompson, to purify politics and prosecute all wrongdoers wherever found, do we not see that all their pretensions are a hollow sham, made only with a view of "getting there," and when there "staying there"?

If they can deceive the people with these false promises (for such they have proved to be), at the next elections they will bring out the same old stock of high principles; but if, as we hope will be the case, the people see the emptiness of these promises, they will rake up something more patriotic still, which, taken with the Gerrymander and the Franchise Act, will enable them to "get there" again. We believe there are numbers of Independent Conservatives in the country who are disgusted with the action of the Government in burking all charges made against Conservatives, the gerrymander outrage and all the hoary abuses fostered by this patriotic and fair play Government, and who would vote against the Conservatives, were they not afraid of the effect the Liberal trade policy would have. To these we answer, give us pure elections, equalized constituencies, making one man's vote as good as another's, and a just Franchise Act, and we are not a bit afraid of the result. With a proper franchise law the people would have such a strong voice in the country that a trade policy not in accord with the sentiments of the people would soon get its quietus at the polls. WHAT THEY WILL DO.

Mr. Ivey Explains the Intentions of the New Electric Street Railway, if They Get a Franchise—Advertising the City.

Mayor Spencer, Ald. Judd, Leonard, Dreaney, Yates and Secretary Pope attended the finance committee matinee Saturday.

Mr. C. H. Ivey waited on the committee and presented them with the proposed agreement of the new Electric Street Railway Company. It was a very lengthy document and was identical with the former one, except that the line which the company proposed to lay on York street from the river to Rectory street was changed to along York street and out on the Hamilton road. Mr. Ivey said the usual fare of 5 cents would be charged. Workingmen's tickets at eight for 25 cents would be issued. The company would deposit with the city $5,000 as guarantee that the agreement would be carried out. They would also pay the city $100 for each mile of single track that was laid and $200 for each mile of double track and further give a certain percentage of the gross receipts. The company would agree to have five miles in operation at the end of one year and the whole system at the end of two years. If they were allowed to proceed with the work at once a line would be in operation between the city and Queen's Park before the Western Fair of 1892 rolled around. They might, however, have to give the present company another month's notice, and in that case the time would be too short in which to have the work done.

The document will be handed to the city solicitor, who will meet the committee at a meeting at 6:30 this evening, and inform them as to its legality.

It was decided to purchase 3,000 copies of the Buffalo Express containing an advertisement of this city. A copy will be sent to hotels, railroad stations and other such places throughout Canada and the United States. Ald. Dreaney opposed the scheme, and argued that the money should be expended with the London papers. The sum granted by the council for this object was $150, and the Buffalo papers will cost only $90. It was suggested that the balance be expended on local papers. Several communications asking reconsideration of assessment were filed and the committee adjourned.

Gives Good Appetite.

Sirs,—I think your valuable medicine cannot be surpassed, according to the benefit I received from it. After suffering from headache and loss of appetite for nearly four years, I tried B. B. B. with the greatest success, finding it gave me great relief and good appetite. I now enjoy good health, which I owe to your valuable medicine.

Mr. Job Scales, of Toronto, writes: "A short time ago I was suffering from Kidney Complaint and Dyspepsia, sour stomach and lame back; in fact, I was completely prostrated and suffering intense pain. While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrup and Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude."
