LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Midland Railroad Company today ran a trial train to the Liverpool dock where passengers from the United States are landed. The experiment was successful, and the The that three Japanese warships Foo troops have silenced the forts carrying Fow Choo. More than 25,000 direct transportation of passengers from the dock to London will soon be begun.

SENT BACK. LONDON, Jan. 20.—It is reported the Duc d'Orleans, who went to Dover to remain during the crisis in France, eluded the detectives at Dover and Calias and succeeded in getting into France. The story is that he got as far as Amiens, where he was caught and compelled to return to England.

A PRINCE WITH BRAINS. LONDON, Jan. 20 .- Prince Louis of Battenburg, brother of Prince Henry of Battenburg, son-in-law of Queen Vicwill accurately inform navigators when a ship is out of her course. The invention has been tested by the Admiralty, who have ordered that the instrument be supplied to British war ships.

FEVER MORE FATAL THAN BUL-LETS.

BERLIN, Jan. 20 .- A widespread epidemic of scarlet fever is reported from 7 Munich. There are numerous cases among civilians and still more among the military. In the First Infantry Battalion alone there have been 70 cases, many fatal. The barracks of this battalion have been moved to Schleisheim.

NEWFOUNDLAND AFFAIRS. LONDON, Jan. 20 .- The Times will say editorially tomorrow: "Canada is not likely to welcome Newfoundland while the latter is a bankrupt colony, with a French shore difficulty. If Newfoundland becomes a crown colony possibly an English bank will be willing to open a branch there. In view of the hardy maritime population, we would also suggest a naval recruiting station.

A MODEL. LONDON, Jan. 20.-The Duchess of York is a model. Her little acts of kindness are innumerable, and her spare time is quite taken up with work for the poor, the friendless and distressed. Like her mother, the Duchess of Teck, when entertaining morning callers she would take up her knitting, and while chatting in her cheery, unaffected way, finish off some pretty, useful work which she has in hand. In "poker work" she excels. A drawing of irises and bullrushes for a blotting pad was really beautifully done on cardboard. Poker work on cardboard is quite a specialty, and the right materials are only to be had at Darmstadt. Her Highness' German relations supply her with this as with other meaiums for her work.

SINGULAR SUIT.

LONDON, Jan. 20.-Mme. Wagner has just won one of the oddest lawsuits. At Beireuth last year, as a piece of pleasantry, on the anniversary of the birth of her son Seigfried she composed some verses and tied them to the necks of her five dogs. These verses got into the ossession of a Beireuth newspaper, and they were published, provoking much amusement, particularly when the lines were reprinted in the French news-papers. Mme. Wagner's only remedy was to sue for breach of copyright. The courts assessed the damages at $6.

DAVITT VS. BENN. LONDON, Jan. 20 .- Michael Davitt has written a long letter to the Daily Chronicle refuting Commoner Benn's assertion that all politicians in the United States shared in the official corruption. He comments scathingly on Mr. Benn's readiness to tell all about the whole United States and their public men after having passed a few days at the labor conference in Denver, and a week or ten days in other American citles. "His assertion," says Mr. Davitt, "is supreme absurdity, seasoned with that amount of ignorance and conceit which makes the English critic impervious to ridicule when he rides on the high horse of British superiority.

LET HIS WILD ANIMALS LOOSE. BOMBAY, Jan. 20.-Some "nameless horror" lately haunted Adamshah, near Sukkur, by night. Gradually it was deciderd to be somthing between a hyena, a grave digger, a leopard, a bear, and even a wild boar, according to various eyewitnesses. Outdoor siumberers began to beat retreats into the verandahs and onto roofs. One or two natives sot mauled. Later on the story natives got mauled. Later on the story came out. When the late mir of Khairpur was on his deathbed his relatives wrote and upbraided him with the confinement he inflicted upon the animals in his menagerie. When he was dying he ordered their release. They did a goo deal of harm in his territory. Two, bear and a leopard, perhaps disturbed by the floods from their retreats, crossed the river and

The G. O. M. to Re-enter the Arena of His Former Battles,

And Fight Again for the Great Measures of Reform.

The Tories Said to Have Abandoned All Hope of Foreing Dissolution-The Government's Latest Financial Scheme.

LONDON, Jan. 19.-Mr. Gladstone has ecently written letters to several of his former colleagues and followers in Parliament, informing them that it is his intention to make his reappearance in the House of Commons and take part in its proceedings. According to these communications the ex-Premier will upon questions of first importance, but will otherwise remain passive. This news has been as gratifying as surprising to the Ministerial party, but it is not known what particular measure will call him to his seat in the House. The most reasonable surmise, however, s based upon Mr. Gladstone's answers to letters addressed to him pursuing a general inquiry as to what he may be relied on to do in support of the Min-

MEASURES HE WILL ADVOCATE. While he is disposed to be non-committal as to his intentions, he has intimated that the Irish Land Bill, the Armenian atrocities and the anti-Lords the American minister has measure are the questions in whose dispeace mission for China en-his own responsibility as far If the plans already formulated by the Government are carried out during the session, the proceedings will culminate in the passage of a bill depriving the Upper House of the power of veto. Mr. Gladstone's open adhesion to this principle will be a tower of strength to the Liberals and their allies, particularly on the eve of a general election, and will also commit Mr. Gladstone to the RESUMPTION OF HIS PLACE in the front rank, and cause him to as sume the guidance of the party in the direction of turning the elections toward the decision of questions affecting great constitutional reform. The fact that Lord Rosebery in his circulars to the Liberal election agents informed them that there was no immediate prospect of a dissolution of Parliament, confirms the statements recently cabled in regard to the future situation and gives assurance that none of the measures upon which the Government have staked their existence will be abandoned.

THE TORIES LOSE HEART. The probability now increases that these measures will all be carried, and in consequence the leaders of the Opposition appear to have abandoned the hope of being able to accomplish the overthrow of the Ministry, either upon the vote or the reply to the speech, or upon any subsequent measures. Evidence of this is furnished by the fact that it has transpired that Lord Salisbury, Mr. Balfour, Mr. Chamberlain. and other Tory Unionists recently held a conference at Hatfield House, at which plans were discussed designed to force a dissolution. After the ground had been gone over thoroughly, it was decided that the plans contemplated

WOULD NOT BE SUCCESSFUL and the meeting dispersed. Next day it was given out that Lord Salisbury had made arrangements to start for the Riviera after the assembling of Parliament and would remain there until the middle of March. Assuredly he would not absent himself if he thought there was not the slightest chance of upsetting the Government and forcing an appeal to the electors.

THE BUDGET. No Parliamentary development is the source of so much public speculation as Sir William Harcourt's budget, but it is generally accepted as a certainty that the Cabinet intends to spring a sensation by making proposals to throw off the taxes from tea, coffee and cocoa, and reduce the duty on tobacco. The surplus being thus swept off, nothing will remain to meet admitted requirements of the navy. Recently the Gov-ernment have decided upon

A BOLD COURSE, contemplating the raising of a loan of £25,000,000, paying in annual installments. This fund will be employed in part in erecting permanent fort work at Gibraltar and Portsmouth, strengthening existing coaling stations and erecting new ones. The residue will be devoted to increasing the number of war ships. Mr. Labouchere and Sir Charles Dilke are in favor of this measure, and their support of it insures the adhesion of the Radicals to the plan.

THE ARMENIAN QUESTION. The Armenian commission left Erzeroum on Tuesday for Sassoun, and the Foreign Office expects to receive a report therefrom by the end of April. the meantime the Porte positivel, declines to assist in the conduct of an independent inquiry, and there is probably no hope that such investigation will be made. It is well to dw. Here was a man of with the masses of the latking calmly with the thought his supporters for plunging the country into bloodshed and ruin. We stood in the Salle de la Paix, at the base of the great statt. France declared the maker of laws for the national lettime that this should show you the least "Trade ald Creherel show you the leas SNUBBED. The press correspondents who started a short time ago for Sassoun have reached Erzeroum. They have been refused permission by the authorities there to proceed farther, presumably having been ordered to do so by the Government at Constantinople. So strict are the authorities at Erzeroum that one correspondent who was for a long time employed in Constantinople in assisting to organize the Turkish rates, and was well-known to leading officials as decidedly pro-Turkish in his opinions, has been turned away. The Porte has instructed the Erzeroum offi-cials to inform the correspondents that they pursue their venture at their own personal risk. The official reason for this action is that the correspondents cannot be trusted and would naturally color their reports in accordance with the bias of their respective papers. "Does your barber give you an easy shave?" "Yes," replied the thin-skinned man, "it seems easy-for him."

"I love you dearly, Jack," she said; you are the light of my life." "I'm sorry," said her father, as he appeared in the doorway, "but I will have to put your light out."

"I've got an idea that my boy will be President some day." "What makes you think so?" "Why, when he ain't fishin' he's shootin' ducks."

Mother-I cannot allow you to play with those naughty children, Willie. They are rough and rude. Willie—But you don't mind my fighting with them, mother, do you?

A CITY WITHOUT A GOVERNMENT

Red-Hot Elections Every Year, But the

Elected Never Quality. From the Memphis Commercial Appeal. The town of Humboldt, Kan., is an organized city of the third class, with 1,500 people, and for eighteen years there has not been a municipal officer in the town, although the city election has been held every year. Thereby liangs a tale. And as it contains a warning against the voting of bonds and going into debt it should be told.

In the spring of 1870 there was pro-In the spring of 1870 there was proected south from Junction City to Parsons a railroad called the southern branch of the Union Pacific. Humboldt was not a young town then, but bond voting was the fashion, and Humboldt, which was old enough to know better, voted bonds to the extent of $175,000 for he road. Not satisfied with this debt, in 1876 the town voted $25,000 to the Fort Scott, Humboldt and Western, a road known in the west as the "Old Fifth Parallel." This road was graded from Fort Scott to Humboldt, but it was never equipped. The grade may be seen today by passengers riding along the Missouri Pacific. But the grade did not bring the flood of trade that was expected, and the bonds being sold to the usual "innocent purchaser," the town began to skirmish around the courts to keep from paying an unjust debt. The inevitable came, and in 1876 the town as a legal corporation dissolved into thin air. When the officer of the court came to Humboldt in 1876 to compel the mayor to turn over the interest due on the bonds he found that, although there had been a red-hot election the spring before, and although there was a man there called mayor, there was in deed and in legal truth no mayor at all. The situation has remained the same for eighteen years. In two years more the debt will be outlawed. Then Humboldt is coming up to breathe the free air once more as a municipal corporation. At present the programme is written upon a "tangled web." Every year the mayor and city council are elected. The old administration retires and the new administration comes n-only it doesn't enter. It comes to the threshold, but it doesn't enter. It loes not "qualify." The council meets without taking the oath of office. The mayor is merely the chairman of a committee of citizens the council-and the meetings of the committee are held regularly. Ordinances are passed giving the city marshal and the street commissioner power to keep the town orderly. The council cannot handle any public money. The little money used by the council is raised by private subscription among the residents of the town, and as it does not go through any red tape machine, and as everyone who pays these volunteer taxes knows just how much he pays for everything, the money is not squandered. It is, in fact, a business administration. The city marshal is only a fiat functionary. As city marshal he has power to do nothing except scare small boys who throw melon rinds in the alleys and to notify owners of pig pens to as constab township he can arrest men and enforce the laws as well as the best policeman in the world.

The street commissioner has no power save with the consent of the people whose property he grades up or down. He is a sort of advisory board. The city clerk issues licenses to show which are clearly flat, and his records of the pro-ceedings of the council would have no weight in any court. None of these appointive officers qualify. The whole machinery of administration in the little town is carried on by common con-

The present mayor—the man who was elected, but who has not qualified, and will not—is W. T. McElroy, editor of the Humboldt Union. Mr. McElroy has been in the little town for 30 years, and his paper is 29 years old. He thinks when the citizens get out of this hole, the man who offers to vote a bond on the town site will be hanged.

He says that the city stands ready to compromise with the "innocent purchasers" of the bonds for exactly what the purchasers are alleged to have paid, 25 cents on the dollar. This proposition, he declares, has been made and rejected several times. Every few months an officer from some court tries to find funds of the extinct corporation in some bank in the county. Not long ago the officer tried Iola. But so far the courts have been unable to get the funds. The little town seems to have the best of the contest, and only time will release it from the trouble.

FOUND HIMSELF MARRIED.

Westcott S. Zittel Says He Was Trapped While S.ck and Unconscious.

New York, Jan. 20 .- A most remarkable story of an involuntary marriage is told by Westcott S. Zittel, son of the wealthy real estate broker. He is 27 vears old, a member of the Seventh Regiment and prominent in social cir-

According to his story he has been married, unbeknown to himself, and abducted, and when he recovered his senses he was in Morristown, N. J. Zittel has been suffering severely from grip for the last two weeks and has been under the care of a physician. Last Friday week he was taken sick and went to the apartments of Frederick Bocker, janitor. He declares that he lost consciousness while lying on the sofa, and while his mind was a blank he was wedded to Emma, the 18-year-old daughter of the janitor. He knew nothing for a week, he declares, and when he regained his senses he was at the house of Frederick Richter, at Morristown, N. J. Miss Bocker was with him. When he asked what he was doing in New Jersey she calmly told him she was his wife and brought him there for his health. She showed him a wedding ring and a certificate in support of her state-

Zittel was convinced that he had been the victim of a conspiracy of some kind and he hurried back to New York. The girl followed, going back to her father's home. She visited the parents of Zittel, told her story, and the young man was promptly repudiated. Sick and broken-hearted, with no money, he sought his friend, Dr. Page, and told his story. The physician at once gave him shelter. He found a revolver in Zittel's possession and asked him what he was doing with it.

"Oh, I'm only going to kill that girl and then end my own life," he replied. The doctor disarmed him and has kept a sharp watch on him ever since. Zittel says he had over $100 in his pockets when he went to Bocker's and it disappeared. Zittel is completely demoralized mentally, and he will be removed to a sanitarium. He has engaged counsel and will fight the matter in the

MIDDLESEX WINTER ASSIZES." Action to Set Aside a Mortgage-Jury

Disagreed. Saturday Afternoon. The mill of justice was kept going continuously from 10 o'clock in the morning till nearly 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Progress in the afternoon was very much impeded through the non-attendance of solieners, clients and witnesses in the nonjury cases. THE JURY DISAGREED. The suit for damages brought by Mrs. Mary Ann Stilson, of Komoka, against County Constable John Edwards, of this city, was finished. In their addresses to the jury the counsel brought up many strong points in favor of their clients. The jury were sent to their room, and after a time informed Justice Maredith that they desired to have questions submitted to them, as it would lighten their duties, Counsel consented, but at 5:30 a disagreement was announced and the jury were discharged. SETTLED FOR $100. The suit of Johnston vs. Dean was settled by a consent verdict being entered for the plaintiff for $109. John Dean, a Swede, living in Dorchester, was the defeudant, and Ola Johnston, a fellowcountryman living near by, was the plaintiff. Johnston was a tenant of Dean's, and on Aug. 31 his farm stock was se zed for rent. The seizure was alleged to be illegal, and ended in the suit.

A STRAIGHT "TIP."
The non-jury list of sixteen cases was next reached. When the first was called no counsel responded, and the circumstances were similar in every suit. "Well," said Justice Meredith, when he took in the situation, "I shall not strike out any of these cases now, but I will not sit after next week to hear any which might have been tried today."

NOTES. Thompson vs. Hawson, a question of appeal, is before the courts in Toronto. The case cannot be tried until a decision has been given. The question was referred by the local judge. Mr. Hellmuth moved for a non-suit in Vaughan vs. McClary. Refused.

Judgment has been entered for the plaintiffs in London West vs. the London Guarantee Company. Costs of the action and a reference to the master will be paid by the company. Monday Morning. The first of the non-jury actions was taken up at the opening of the court this morning. It was a suit to set aside a mortgage for $300 and was brought by Aaron N. Christopher against John Smith, Duncan Wm. Beckus and J. B. Jackson. All the parties belong to Ingersoll. Christopher is a private banker, and in September, 1893, he recovered judgment against Magill (now of this city) for $287 44. Executions were issued against the property of Magill, but have never been satisfied. In November, 1892, Magill executed to MacVicar a mortgage on his lands for $250 at 7 per cent interest. A year later Magill executed a second mortgage on his property to Smith for $300. Default was made in payment of the first mortgage, and Magil's lands were sold, MacVicer holding the proceeds. After satisfying his own claim MacVicar has about $250 on hand, and is awaiting an order from the court for its disposal. Christopher claims that Smith never advanced the $300, and that the alleged mortgage was made merely to defraud him (Christopher) out of his judgment against Magill and give other creditors of Magill preference over him.

The case is in progress. A LORDLY SPENDTHRIFT

Who Can't Make Both Ends Meet on $85,000 a Year. The London correspondent of the New York Sun cables that Lord Francis Pelham Clinton Hope, brother and heir-pre-sumptive of the Duke of Newcastle, who recently married May Yohe, the young actress, has this week been spending part of his honeymoon in the frowey, unromantic precincts of the bankruptcy court. The proceedings showed that he badly needs someone to look after him, and he ought to be thankful he has now got a clever young woman as a wife who will be able to keep him out of the hands of the money-lenders, if anybody can, which appears to be doubt-This interesting young aristocrat came of age in 1887, and during the past seven years, although he enjoyed an income of $85,000, he has managed to accumulate debts to the amount of nearly $3,250,000. This is considered a very fine performance, and gets within measurable distance of the record established by that famous rake and gambler, the Marquis of Hastings, more than a generation ago. At first sight it would appear easy even for a young unmarried man, borne in the purple, to live with a fair amount of comfort upon $85,000 a year. In fact Lord Hope declares that he kept well within his income as far as regards actual personal living expenses, but he says he was handicapped at the start with the payment of $215,000 succession duty, and during the seven years he incurred $222,930 liabilities on behalf of others, and paid nearly $80,-000 interest to money lenders. figures are considered quite creditable to the young lord, and he would have passed out of the bankruptcy court as a model young man without a stain upon his moral or his business character had the official registrar been content to inquire no further. But he, having no particular reverence for the duke's brother, had the bad taste to drag into the light of day betting and gambling debts to the extent of $350,000 for the seven years, and debts incurred in theatrical speculations to the tune of $120,000, two items which pretty well indicate the real cause of his lordship's troubles. He might have pleaded that his theatrical losses, if heavy, had at least brought him a handsome, clever wife, but he did not, so his affairs stand ad-journed for further investigation.

Concession from the Sultan. CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 19 .- The Sultan

has issued an edict exempting the young women of the American College at Sautar from all taxes. The American legation has obtained this concession after three years of insistence.

a Big Finger. BUFFALO, Jan. 20 .- Nine-year-old Wm. Andrie, of No. 43 Whipple street, called at the Fitch Hospital yesterday afternoon with a most peculiar and distressing injury. Three weeks ago he slipped a small stee ring upon the little finger of his left hand. He let it remain there and in a few days the finger began to swell. It was soon impossible to remove the ring. The ewelling and irritation continued, and on Menday the lad went to a jeweler, who tried to cut the ring. He failed, besides bending the metal, which greatly aggravated the pain. When he went to the hospital the finger was terribly swellen and inflamed from tip to where the ring encircled it. Willie took chloroform and the surgeons cut the ring away. They hope to save the finger.

The church built of coral is one of the ouriosities of the Isle of Mahe, one of the Scyschelles Islands in the Indian Ocean. The Scyschelles Islands, which are supposed by many to be the site of the Eden of the Old Testament, form an archipelago of 114 islands, and are situated about 1,400 miles east of Aden and 1,000 miles from Zanzibar. They rise steeply out of the sea, culminating in the Isle of Mahe, which is about 3,000 feet above the level of the ocean, and is nearly the center of the group. All these islands are of coral growth. The item spent laying the concrete was only nineteen days, and ten days after the centers were struck. The deflection proved less than 4 1-2 inches.

THE BURDEN OF DEBT.

The debt of Great Britain was once the largest national debt in the worldso enormous that every other debt seemed small in comparison. Yet, today the gross debt of Canada is actually larger per head of population than that of the United Kingdom, the figures being $61 per head for Canada and $59 for the United Kingdom. The net debt of Canada is more than $49 per head of the population. The charge upon the British revenues due to the interest on the public debt was last year $111,973,-211, or $2 92 per head of the population, while the charges incident to the debt of Canada, including the sinking funds, were last year $12,510,400, or $2 52 per head of population. A few more years of Tory rule would place this country more hopelesly in debt than Great Britain was at the close of the Napoleonic wars in 1815,-St. John Telegraph.

MAN NOT FROM MARS.

Mr. W. Q. Judge, F. T. S., Thinks Mankind Came From the Moon,

HE various views on the subject of Mars are import ant if true; in any event they are interesting. But I was sorry to see a recent writer denying the possibility of the earth becoming cooled and forming on the outside a crust, on the ground that the learned professors might not be able to make a pot of molten steel cool off in just the same way. We have many examples in nature, and some in physiology, showing how fluid masses, moving in the equivalent of space for a mass of molten new matter, can accumulate to themselves an outer crust and move as balls or spheroids in the general mass to which they were before homogenous. This happens in the digestive tract, as when small masses of serum or mucous become covered with a tough skin, under which the inside is perfectly fluid. It similarly takes place in those cases of crystalization in which the hard stone holds in its centre a quantity of uncrystallized fluid and some only partly changed. And if to this we add the facts well known about volcanoes and the melted material they throw out, as well as the observations of vast subterranean fires seen in the bowels of partly active volcanoes, there is sufficient ground for believing that the We have to believe in one of three theories, it seems to me. That the earth and earth was once a mass of fluid in space. all planets were created especially and as they are by some deity, or that it is all a matter of chance, or, lastly, that evolu-tion, which is in one sense a process of condensation, brought into visible existence planets, comets and suns. The last is the theosophical theory. In respect to such remote globes as Mars we have no means of knowing much by observation, and those Theosophists who believe in the Adepts depend in that matter upon what the latter have said so far as it can be understood in view of what we know here. These Adepts have stated that Mars is not now inhabited, but is in a period of obscuration so far as human life and energies are concerned. These obscurations occur at regular periods separated by enormous stretches of time, and they apply to the earth as well as to Mars. While the obscuration holds the planet rolls in the sky, but man is not there. He has gone on to another body invisible to us where he continues the evolution of those parts of his complex nature which relate especially to that other globe. So there may well be atmosphere on Mars and polar ice with equatorial heat, without any mosphere does not prove the presence of a population; the absence of atmosphere population; the absence of air breathing Dyspersia, sentient population. The presence of atbeings on such an apparently airless body as the moon; they would be breathers of electricity only and not visible to us. Mystery of the Moon. The explanation of the genesis of the earth is a revelation of what was called in the Fast a mystery of the moon. The earth is held by the Adepts to be the child of the moon and not its parent. This theory is no more wild nor fanciful than the modern one, that the earth, while cooling, threw out into space a mass of matter which is now our moon. There is the difficulty about the latter that if it be the fact, why did not the moon develop into a smaller earth with similar beings. It does not resemble a child of the earth, but it looks very like what the Adepts say it isthe dead body formerly used by the energies now at work on our globe. It is the dead corpse of the entity-the collection of energies-now imprisoned on the newer earth, just as if a man should now find in some churchyard, or in Egypt, the corpse or mummy used by him in a former life. Let me restate it. There was once no earth of ours. We as souls in bodies adapted to that life were on the moon and she then rolled in the sky apparently unchangeable, but all the time undergoing with us her evolution. Long ages passed and the globe reached her time of death, which must throw her energies into space and cause the souls (ourselves) to travel further, seeking another "mansion in the heavens." The throes of physical death then drew out of the moon nearly all her volve and evolve a new earth. A Neutral Spot. This would be a neutral spot, of which there are uncountable numbers in the sky. The forces there revolved and by cosmic chemistry and dynamics gradually con-densed invisible matter in time a visible mass of molten matter revolved in space. It grew denser on the surface and at last became an earth. We, meanwhile, as souls, were involved in the whole process. This left the moon as a corpse. At first it was large, but rapid absorption by its child, the earth, contracted it during the ages that have followed, until now it is smaller than we and compelled to circle with us about the sun until complete absorption shall have dissipated the whole mass.

forces, which projected into space in the form of a subtle electricity, sought for and

The races of men have to go through their evolution on the earth until they have circled round a mighty planetary chain, of which earth is a member, seven full times, and when they are finished there will be no moon in the sky, for she will be a thing of the ancient past.

Mars is a globe like ours and hence visible, but he has six companions also, making his family. And the sun is the great father or centre for them all. In the case of both earth and Mars, where a great human race flies off to an adjoining member of the family to develop one of the great human characteristics, the globe, which is for a time deserted, goes into a period of obscuration, or becomes an arable field, so as to prepare for the returning human life wave. Mars in an Obscured State.

In the case of Mars, it is said the planet is in the "arable" or obscured state because its souls have for a time gone elsewhere for their own good. In time, after many, many centuries, the earth will be in a similarly obscured condition, and then perhaps the returned Martians will be speculating on what is the matter with us if they shall not know more about the Cosmos that we permit ourselves to learn. My corrusion, then, is that we came from the moon before she had contracted to her present size; that as we are all spiritual beings, we arrived here as souls do along the subtle superelectrical current which are not known to science, but are suspected by those who know the reality of the soul life and have had some experience with the telepathic communication which bridges distances no matter how great.-William Q. Judge, in New York

London, Monday, January 21.

Today's Opening Session of the Board for 1895.

Mayor Little's Interesting Inaugural Address.

An Interesting Debate on the Ex-Mayor's Parting Kick.

Committees Are Formed and Boards

Struck for the Year,

Amidst Ald. Pritchard's Deep Displeasure Election of High School Trustees-

Committee Chairmanships.

With the patter of a January rain outside, and in the presence of probably 300 citizens, the London City Council of 1895 met at 11 o'clock this morning. Retiring Mayor Essery took the chair and wished the incoming mayor and his colleague godspeed. He had spent five years in the city's service, and was retiring without regret.

"I am quite satisfied," said he, that the electors having had confidence in you, that you will return that confidence," (Ap-

Then taking Mayor Little's hand, Mr. Essery said: "Your Worship, allow me to induct you to the chair of the mayoralty of the city of London." (Applause).

With the wish for a successful and harmonious term of office Mr. Essery passed down and out of municipal politics. He sat in the chamber during the subsequent

Mayor Little then called on Rev. Dr. Sanderson to open the proceedings with

The aged doctor offered up an impressive prayer, in which he asked God graciously to be present at all the meetings of the council, in all their deliberations, and to conduct them to such conclusions as would best promote the interests of the city. He called for divine blessings upon the chief officer and all the members, and asked that they might be men of pure minds and clean hearts. The reverend doctor concluded with the Lord's Prayer.

THE MAYOR'S INAUGURAL. Mayor Little then delivered his inaugural address. He spoke as follows:

Gentlemen of the Council-In formally assuming the position which my fellow citizens have conferred upon me, it is not my intention to trouble you with any extended remarks. I desire, however, to express my pleasure in meeting with you for the first time in your official capacity, and to congratulate you upon the mark of confidence which you have received at the hands of the electors in being selected to represent them and guard their interests for the present year. The position of alderman is, in my opinion, not always regarded as being as important as it really regarded as being as important as it really is—the city's good name, as well as her financial standing, is largely in the keeping of her board of aldermen. If the management be prudent and careful, without suspicion of jobbery or corruption, and all are actuated by a desire for the common good rather than personal gain, untold advantage must accrue. And, gentlemen, where these conditions exist, is it too much to expect the undivided sympathy and support of the citizens generally? And, further, may we not ask that, until evidence to the contrary be forthcoming, each one of us be credited with an honest intent to do his duty? It is not necessary for me to attempt any outline of the matters which will probably be brought before you during the year-suffice it to say that only by the most rigid economy can the taxes be kept within reasonable bounds. You are not likely to have the rare good fortune which attended the financial operations of your predecessors in 1893 and 1894, and to which it is only fair that public attention should be drawn, as no doubt comparisons may be made. The council of 1893 changed the system under which the appropriation for stituted. the school board had been made for many years. The effect of the change was to charge the year 1893 with only one-half of the school expenses of that year. The J. W. Jones, Wm. Heaman, G. W. Arm-difference amounted to over $29,000, so that strong, Andrew Callahan, John Nutkins, instead of 19 mills the rate should have Ed. Parnell, jun., and J. W. McCallum been nearly 21 mills, if all the expenditure of the year had been provided for as usual.
In 1894, $26,740 80, being the amount forteited by the "Miller syndicate," with interest, was applied to current account. Had this sum not been available the rate would have been 201 mills, instead of 181. The revenue from the L. and P. S. R. may possibly be increased this year, but no such sums as these I have mentioned will be at your disposal. No doubt in your wisdom you will find some means of equalizing expenditure and income without placing too great a burden on the tax-payers; and after all, is it not better that orporations as well as individuals should adhere as closely as practicable to the good | 10 to 7. old maxim, "Pay as you go"? In conclusion, gentleman, I ask for your fullest con-

tude. Let us cultivate systematic business 1. habits, be punctual in our attendance, prompt in the performance of our duties.
Let the estimates for the year, which are really the foundation for the greater part of our work, be prepared as zeon as pospossible, and, last of all, let us try to avoid unnecessary discussion, each member feel-ing himself responsible for the strict en-forcement of the rules of order, thus relieving the presiding officer of his most disagreeable duty. If our year's work can be carried out on these lines the effect must be beneficial to those whom we represent, as well as pleasing to ourselves. (Ap-

Ald. J. W. Jones moved a vote of thanks to Dr. Sanderson for so kindly opening the meeting with prayer. Mr. Little briefly conveyed the thanks as expressed by the council to Dr. Sanderson.

AN ILL-FOUNDED DOCUMENT.

Ald. Nutkins then arose and moved that in the minues of the last council meeting the address from ex-Mayor Essery, referring to the waterworks debenture question be

Ald. Parnell seconded. "The object we have in view," said he, "is that nothing may go down to posterity which might reflect on or throw upon anyone any odium that is not deserved."

Ald. Nutkins then explained the object of his motion. He reviewed his attitude with reference to the waterworks question. "If there is any blame for the debentures not being issued before, it rests with last year's council, myself included," said he, "and not with the Untario Government. I think the Lieutenant-Governor in council favored London considerably in allowing us to issue debentures without putting the question to a vote of the people (as had been fixed by law). I move this with all due respect to ex-Mayor Essery."

Ald. Pritchard thought the move quite unnecessary and in very bad taste. It would bring politics into the council and rake up feelings between the two parties.

Ald. Nutkins denied political feeling.

Ald. Powell wanted to know if a twothirds vote was not necessary. Further, he urged that the out going mayor should be treated as a man of intelligence.

Mayor Little asked Ald. Nutkins if he meant to strike out the whole of the mayor's

Ald. Nutkins replied in the affirmative, and denied the existence of any personal grievance. To his mind the letter would injure the credit of the city with the Gov-

Mayor Little said that he did not wish to have the appearance of interfering, but as a certain complexion had been thrown upon the assertion of Ald. Nutkins which he was sure could not have entered that alderman's mind at all, and as he did not wish to give credence to the assertion, he asked Mr. Nutkins as a favor to withdraw without putting the matter to a vote. He thought it would be hardly fair to strike out the whole of the message if there was only one or two undesirable clauses. The undesirable clause was one in which the mayor protests against the delay in acting on their application and charges the Government with injuring the credit and standing of the city of London.

In reply to the mayor, Ald. Nutkins said that he was willing to amend his motion by striking out only the last clause as outlined

Ald. Parnell, the seconder of the original motion, consented, and denied any desire to bring politics into the council.

Ald. Pritchard-I accept Ald. Parnell's explanation. He then went on to state that despite denials the introduction of polities could not be disguised.

Ald. Armstrong said that Ald. Pritchard and ex-Mayor Essery had introduced politics into the council, the former by making the remarks he made, and the latter by the insertion of the address in the

Ald. Weld objected to the political feel-ing which was plainly being developed. Ald. Brener claimed that the last clause especially should be amended. Ald. O'Meara pointed out that the Ontario Government was not to blame. A deputation from the R. E. C. P. A .- a body composed of members of both political parties-had petitioned against the action, and had sent a deputation down to Toronto to prevent the matter from going through. Ald. O'Meara went on to say that a single "yes" or "no" from the Government just now might place the city at an expense of $300,000. The Government could do them favors at times, and it should not go on record that the City of London Council was antagonistic to the Government. Mayor Little, who had been looking up the authorities while the debate was in progress, then announced that if the address, as printed, was correct they had no power to strike it out.

And the matter therefore dropped, with the understanding that Ald. Nutkin's motion should go on record.

THE ALDERMEN PRESENT. The following aldermen were presents Otto E. Brener, John H. Pritchard, John Heaman, Stephen O'Meara, John W. Jones, A. B. Powell, Robert Carrothers, Wm. Heaman, Wm. SIR CHARLES DILKE.

time has been fencing in public, that is to say, at the various tencing clubs, notably at the head-quarters of the National Fencing Society, to which all the leading masters of the art of tierceet-quart belong. Although Sir Charles is now going on for his 54th year, says a writer in an eastern exchange, he showed an agility and alertness, and, above all, a suppleness that would have done honor to any young athlete of 20; and carried everything before him, defeating several of the most celebrated maitres d'armes, or professionals, who were simply staggered by the rapidity of his maneuvers, especially with his trick of changing his foil from hand to hand. For he is about the only man I know who can fence as well SIR CHARLES DILKE with his left as with his right hand. This is the result of long practice. For a quarter of a century scarcely a day has passed where the baronet has not devoted an hour to this branch of sport, and it is to this in particular that must be attributed the preservation of his physical and mental faculties. He is, likewise, a splendid oarsman and at home in the saddle, but has a profound and un-English contempt for cricket, In view of the preservation of his powers, I do not despair of seeing him once more occupying a seat on the treasury bench in the house of commons as a minister of the crown, especially if Queen Victoria dies. For the Prince of Wales has all along manifested much sympathy for Sir Charles and has not hesitated to ride up and down the Row with him in Hyde Park of a morning. There is certainly no man in Europe who possesses so great an insight inte political affairs, beth at home and abroad, the enforced withdrawal into private life after his unfortunate imbroglio with Mrs. Crawford having led him to devote his entire attention and efforts to studying in every phase the great questions of the day, domestic and foreign. Whatever else may be said of Prince Bismarck, there is certainly no keener judge of statesmen now living, and he makes no secret of his opinion that Siz Charles towers head and shoulders intellectually above his countrymen, nor is any Englishman a more welcome guest at Friedrichsruhe. Gambetta entertained the same opinion with regard to Sir Charles, and it need therefore astonish no one if the abilities which he certainly possesses in such an eminent degree are soon again used for the good

GRIFFO VS. DIXON. SEASIDE ATRLETIC CLUB. Coney Island, N. Y., Jan. 20 .- The spotting fraternity from all sections of the country gathered about the ringside in large numbers to witness the pugilistic contest between the great featherweights, Albert Griffo, better known as "Young Griffo," featherweight champion of Australia, and Geo. Dixon (colored), featherweight champion of America, who also claims the featherweight championship of the world. Both men have remarkable records and a bitter feeling of rivalry has existed between them ever since their 20-round draw in Boston, June 29, 1894. Before the opening of the first round over 4,000 people were present. Dixon weighed 126, and Griffo claimed weight 129 pounds, but he looked more as if it was 139 pounds. The Lafayette Club of Philadelphia presented Griffo with a horseshoe of flowers with their compliments and good wishes. The men were remarkably well matched. In round 25 and last Dixon was desperate and fought like a tiger, but he could not knock the rriumphant smile from Griffo's face, The Australian hit only a few left-handed blows in this round, as he was on the defensive, and spent his time in avoiding punishment. The crowd was wild with excitement when the round ended, some calling for Griffo and others for Dixon. When the referee decided the contest a

A Powder Mill Goes Up. NEWBURGH, N. Y., Jan. 19 .- The corning mill in the powder works of Laflin & Rand Company, four miles west of this town, blew up at 10:45 this morning, instantly killing Thomas H. Condon, 31 years of age, who was at work alone in the mill. The explosion wrecked the building. Whittier's Sweetheart.

AMESBURY, Mass., Jan. 20. - Miss Elizabeth Bray Downing, who was widely mentioned several years ago as the supposed sweetheart of the poet, John Greenleaf Whittier, died at Maplewood farm, West Newbury, Friday night. She had been ill only five days. Her age was 85 years. The story goes that in early life a mutual love sprang up between her and Mr. Whittier and that it came to an end through Whittier's great affection for his mother, whom he would not leave to enter the matrimonial state.

No Sleep for 116 Days.

ELWOOD, Ind., Jan. 20 .- David Jones, a prosperous farmer, living near this city. has had no sleep since Sept. 25. Three years ago he was afflicted in the same way for a period of 90 days, when sleep again returned and was normal until about Sept. 18, when he became restless and could only catch short naps. But on the 25th sleep left him entirely, and he says he does not feel that he would ever desire to sleep again. At times he becomes very nervous, but if he lies down and remains quiet for a time he arises much refreshed. He has now been without sleep for 116 days.

A Boom for the Peat Producers. WELLAND, Jan. 19 .- The development of the manufacture of peat fuel at the great beds of material now operated and con-trolled by the Ontario Peat Fuel Company in the township of Wainfleet, is likely to be very greatly enhanced by the announcement just made that the Canada Southern Railway Company (Michigan Central Railway) will begin within the next six weeks the construction of a branch line from a point on the main line-west of this town to the peat beds. The operation of the peat works has been hampered by the lack of shipping facilities.

PHENOMENAL LIGHTS.

Brighter Than the Glare of the Noonday Sun.

Strange Experience of Passengers Cross ing Lake Michigan.

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., Jan. 20 .- The Detroit and Milwaukee steamer was more than half way across Lake Michigan Friday night when the pilot saw a bright light off the starboard bow. He could not account for it and called the captain. The captain, too, was puzzled, and thinking that the boat must have veered from her course and that the light was from Grand Haven, he ordered her headed for it. It was calculated that the light was fifteen miles ahead. After proceeding ten miles a companion light appeared some five miles to the west-ward. The passengers, who had by this time been aroused, gathered on the deck and watched these lights, which now began to flash at intervals.

On went the steamer, and as she approached the light the passengers were obliged to hold up umbrellas and other objects to shade their eyes from the intense glare. So bright was it that Steward Walthew, over 60 years old, was enabled to read the Lord's prayer from the fine print of a Bible without his glasses.

Suddenly a mountain of darkness seemed to arise between the boat and the light, but the blaze was flashed over its top. In a few minutes the mountain sank backward and the lights were seen, still too brilliant for the eye to endure. At just 2 a.m. by the captain's watch the lights flashed, there was a terrible rumbling like a quadruple peal of thunder, and then the lights disappeared. Almost on the instant a tidal wave struck the ship and the phenomenon was over.

No one attempts to explain the strange occurrence. The boat, which was fifteen miles out of her course, was over an hour late in arriving this morning. A commercial traveling man named Dunn, who was on the boat today, said that the glare was greater than two noon suns, and that he really believed the end of the world had come. The captain has made an official report of the phenomenon to the secretary of the company, and these facts are taken from that report.

BATTLE WITH BANDITS.

Four Desperate Characters Shot by Deputy Sheriffe.

HENNESSY, Okla., Jan. 20 .- The Rock Island train was sent out from Kansas City with a posse of deputy sheriffs for the purpose of rounding up the Doolin gang. They met the bandits in camp a few miles from here at sundown and, surrounding them, at daylight yesterday morning the battle began. Bill Doolin was killed outright. Tulsa Jack and Zip Wyatt died with their boots on, and Sam Green, an all-round desperado, was forced to bite the dust after a hot encounter. Bill Doolin was known as a bandit, only second in point of desperation, to Bill Cook.

western shops, shot his wife four times and then turned the weapon upon himself Both will die. O'Brien is a miser, and the shooting was occasioned by his wife selling four chickens and using some of the proceeds in purchasing sugar.

Lucky Discovery.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 .- A Times special from San Luis Potosi, Mexico, says: Hidden treasure to the amount of nearly $300,000 in Spanish dubloons was discovered yesterday in a cavern which opened into a canon just east of this city. The money is supposed to have been secreted by bandits or Franciscan monks many years ago. The laws require one-half to be paid to the Government.

Starvation in Nebraska.

GREELEY CENTER, Neb., Jan. 20.-The distress in this part of the State is appalling. No picture of the suffering has been overdrawn. Hundreds of families have nothing to eat and no fuel, and children are so nearly naked that they are kept from school. It is impossible for the people to care for the destitute, and unless a large amount of cutside assistance is received at once, many farmers and their families will

Settled After Seven Years' Litigation. DENVER, Col., Jan. 20.—The Emma Mine case of the Woods heirs, Jerome Wheeler and the Aspen Mining and Smelting Company, has been settled. The appeal now pending in the United States Court of Appeals at St. Louis is to be dismissed by Wheeler and the Aspen Company at their own costs. They agree to convey an undivided half interest in a group of eighteen mines at Aspen to the plaintiffs. The properties involved are valued at between $5,000,000 and $10. 000,000. The suit has been in court for Scandalous Banking. ST. JOHNS, Nfid., Jan. 20 .- The newspapers are filled with denunciations of the scandals shown in the management of the suspended banke here. One firm alone, it is shown, overdrew its accounts $25,000 last year, for the greater part of which no assets exist. The same firm executed a mortgage for $70,000, but the mortgage was not registered. Another firm pur-chased steamers with the money obtained from the banks. The steamers are now mortgaged to repay the money. Ontario Beekeepers' Association. STRATFORD, Jan. 20 .- The regular annual meeting of the Ontario Beekeepers's Asocia-24 aext. The meeting promises to be one of nausual interest to the fraternity. Be sides leading beekeepers in Canada there will be several from the United States. On the evening of the 23rd, instead of a banquet, there will be a special session inthe collegiate institute free to all, the intention being to give the general public some idea of the importance of the industry and the wonderful study of the honey bee. According to the programme addresses will be given by Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, Prof. Fletcher, Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa; R. F. Holterman, president of the North American Beckeepers' Association, and others.

THE TROLLEY TIEUP.

Troops and Police Together Fail to Restore Order

Among the Striking Street Car Men in Brooklyn-A Futile Conference.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Jan. 20 .- The entire second brigade, National Guard, State of New York, nearly 3,000 strong, failed to restore order in Brooklyn yesterday. The troops did guard duty at the depots of the trolley lines and relieved the police, but charitable associations show that about the latter were not able to prevent the robbing of cars and assaults upon employes at other points. Trolley wires were cut, motors disabled, green men stoned and maltreated, and other disturbances were kept up with nearly the same disregard for the authorities that has prevailed all the week. One man received a bayonet thrust in the groin and will likely die. Eugene Williams and Philip Tighe were also injured. Malcolm Wood, a private, was hit with a stone. He is now in the hospital with a fractured skull. The strikers cut the trolley wires on Fulton street yesterday, and traffic on that line was at a standstill. A mob of 1,000 men and women jeered the soldiers. A sweeper followed by a salt car on Summer street line was stalled by a number of women at Dean street. The calling cut of the troops seemed to aggravate instead of alleviating the situation. It has caused indignation among the labor unions, and there is a prospect that other trades will be called upon to strike in sympathy. Master Workman Connelly said to a reporter that a general strike may be ordered. Mayor Schieren sent for the strike leaders and also for the railroad presidents and had a protracted conference. Nothing was accomplished that brings the strike any nearer settlement. The mayor decided to call upon the Governor for more troops, issued a proclamation warning the people and from gathering in crowde, and states that the police and militia have been ordered to disperse any unlawful assemblage. There are 3,000 men of the second brigade on duty in Brooklyn, and by tomorrow there will be over 7,000. BAKERS AGITATED. DETROIT. Jan. 20 .- The union bakers held a largely attended meeting last evening in Trades Council Hall and adopted sentiments antagonistic to any reduction of the present retail price of bread. As all danger was to be apprehended from the direction of non-union bake shops, a vigorous campaign was resolved upon against them, and all union men will be earnestly appealed to not to purchase any bread that does not bear the label.

HULLABALOO ABOUT HAWAII

Fiery Frye Has an Opportunity to Air His Jingoism in the United States Senate.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 20 .- In the Senate yesterday Mr. Frye (Republican, Maine), offered the following resolution: Resolved, that the Senate learns with profound indignation of the attempt to restore the Queen to power. Second, that the President should at once order American ships of war to Hawaiian waters for the protection of lives and property of American citizens resident in the islands. The second of the resolutions was objected to by Mr. Grey (Democrat, Delaware), who said he had no objection to the first resolu-

Mr. Frye thereupon withdrew the second. Mr. Hill, suggested the use in the first resolution of the words "with great regret" instead of "with profound indignation," and Mr. Frye reluctantly made the modification. Finally, however, Mr. George (Democrat, Miss.) objected to the resolution and it went over.

Mr. Frye remarked that God might forgive the man who made the objection, but that the American people never would. Mr. George made the retort that he was not responsible to Mr. Frye for his actions.

NO REASON FOR EXCITEMENT.

The Hawaiian Minister to the United States received word of the Hawaiian trouble in a dispatch from President Dole this morning. The telegram says: "Rebellion broken. cessful than this one. UNCLE SAM SENDS ONE SHIP. At 2:25 yesterday Secretary Gresham, STEAMBOAT DISASTER.

A Big Steamer Wrecked on Mississippi.

Sunk in 50 Feet of Water-35 or 40 Persons Perished.

OWENSBORO, Ky., Jan. 20 .- Brief and fragmentary details of the destruction of the big passenger steamer. State of Missouri, Saturday evening at Alton, Ind., 100 miles above here, have been received. She struck a rock and sank in 50 feet of water. The reports say that at least 37 passengers were drowned, but no names are given. The State of Missouri is a long and New Orleans. She had on board a fairly large cargo of freight and nearly 100 persons, including a crew of 60.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT. Evansville, Ind., Jan. 20. - Meagre particulars of a terrible steamboat disaster reached this city this afternoon. The officers of the steamer City of Owensboro, arriving at 3 p.m., reported the sinking of the State of Missourla short distance below Wolk Creek, Ky., Saturday, at about 5:30 p.m. The Missouri left Louisville at 10 clock Saturday morning. After striking the boat drifted off the rocks and sank in five minutes in 50 feet of water. The people aboard were panic stricken when they neard the crash. They had no time to pre pare for their safety, and officers, passen gers and crew seized anything in sight that would keep them above water.

Capt. Joe Conlon, First Clerk Werman and second Clerk Howard, with five lady passengers and Pilot Pell and son man aged to reach shore uninjured. The second mate and engineer on watch were picked up by the steamer Tell City, and the City of Owensboro picked up four men and left them at Owensboro.

The others, 35 to 40 in number, includ ing passengers and members of the crew it is thought, went down with the vesse This was the first trip of the season for the Missouri.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 20 .- The Tribune's correspondent at Hawesville, Ky., wires the following: The great Cincinnati and New Orleans steamer State of Missouri went to the bottom of the Ohio at Wolf Creek postoffice, 35 miles above this city, about 6 o'clock last night, and 40 people met their death.

A Suicidal Family.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Jan. 20 .- Mrs. E. C. Woolson committed suicide yesterday morning by cutting her throat with a razor. Mrs. Woolson was the mother of Dr. Wm. Smallpox in Guelph.

GUELPH, Jan. 20 .- A case of smallpox son of Wm. Schwartz, who some days before came from near St. Thomas (where he is supposed to have contracted the disese) to attend the dairy school. The dairy buildings are a quarter of a mile from the college, and its students board in private house in the township near Guelph. The sick man had mingled for several days with the dairy school students, and when too sick to work consulted a Guelph physician, who diagnosed smallpox and sent him to the smallpox hospital, where he is isolated. The college reopens on Tuesday, but as the dairy school students do not board there, the college buildings are, of course, wholly free from danger. In order that safety in every way may be assured the few college students who have remained in residence during holidays have been quartered in a large building at some distance from the college. All exposed students have been vaccinated, and with the prompt measures taken it is probable no extension of the disease will take place

The following is an extract from an article written by an experienced transin the New York Sun, Dec. 30, 1894: " wish that some of our transcontinental lines would adopt a little wrinkle that I saw recently on the Canadlan Pacific line. It was a mere trifle, but it illustrates the desirability of looking after little things when persons are making a long journey. We were in the heart of the mountainous region, and of course practically cut off from the world for two or three days. It was at a time when there was big news in the world. Soon after we stopped at a station the porter came around with several telesheets fastened together, and passed them from passenger to passenger. It was a bulletin of the days' news telegraphed each morning from Montreal especially to the passengers on the through trains. In a dozen items it gave all the important news in America, Europe and China. We heard the latest war news and knew the situation at Washington in national affairs. It was three days before we reached any large place with newspapers having a satisfactory news service, and you do not know how much we enjoyed that little attention and foresight on the part of the company. I found that at the chief hotels, where passengers drop off for a day or two to enjoy the scenery, the same system was carried out. Of course when one is traveling he wants to get away from newspapers to some extent, but he is always glad to know what is going on, and by this system he could get everything of importance in three minutes. I wish the American lines used the same care of looking after their patrons. It wouldn't cost much, and it would be worth as much as many of the luxuries with which they fairly burden

WHAT CAUSES BLUSHING?

It Is a Problem that Has Never Been Satisfactorily Explained.

The physiology of blushing has long presented a difficult problem to solve. Many unsatisfactory explanations have been given of the cause of that unsatisfactory phenomenon. The British Medical Journal lately received an inquiry as to the measures to be taken for the cure of a chronic tendency to blush, and one of its correspondents takes up the matter in a very practical way.

Among other causes of blushing he gives prominence "to the wearing of too thick underclothing, and especially of too thick socks." He adds that long-sleeved jerseys or woolen socks are often a cause of blush. ing, and, in fact, warm clothing in general, He does not fail to remark that the blusher must choose in this matter between the risk of rheumatism and the annoyance of blushing.

As collateral evidence in support of his views he says: "An aunt of mine had habitually a red nese from this cause alone, which disappeared when she took to thinner stockings."

Regarding the matter from a social standpoint the writer says: "The best plan for an habitual blusher is to laugh and be very gushing, as, for instance, on meeting an acquaintance in the street, when he colors up; and he will then feel more at his ease than if he looks sheepish and reserved. An obvious cause for blushing is oversensitiveness and self-consciousness, which will wear away as the person becomes used to society and strengthens his character by adopting wise principles of thought and action. The physiological explanation of blushing given by the writer just quoted is that it is due to paralysis of the sympathetic circles of nerves surrounding the arteries, which, not contracting properly, allow a free flow of blood to the surface, Warning to Liberal M.Ps.

The Standard's Influence in Scotland. LONDON, Jan. 19 .- Mr. Bedford, of the Standard Oil Company, has recently had several conferences with the Scotch oil companies, which have resulted in an agreement by which the price of solid paraffine will be increased immediately a farthing a pound. This will yield an annual gain of £50,000 to the companies, and at the same time competition with American petroleum will be stopped. The agreement was ratified today.

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleas-ant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect lazative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance. -Senator Sanford and daughter, of Hamilton, were in the city today on a short visit. They left for Hamilton this after-

-The big fancy dress carnival of the Balmoral Club, Sons of Scotland, has been indefinitely postponed on account of the mild weather. The carnival was advertised for tonight at the Westminster Rink.

-Organizer John Berdan will organize a new camp for the Woodmen at Adelaide village on Wednesday evening and another at Uttoxeter in a few days, also Organizer H. Atkinson will organize at Bervie, Bruce county, this week.

-Owing to the absence of Mr. Ed. Meredith from the city today the charge of wife desertion against Albert Austin Beares was again enlarged. The order for bail was renewed, but Beares was again removed to jail lacking a bondsman. Provincial Appointments.

William McLean, Walkerton, has been appointed local registrar of the High Court of Justice for the county of Bruce; John Alexander MacKenzie, of the town of Sarnia, junior judge of Lambton, to be local master of the Supreme Court of Judi-cature; George Robinson Watson, Listowel, M.D., to be associate coroner for Perth. Mr. H. T. Smith Resigns.

The many friends of Mr. H. T. Smith will regret to learn that he has resigned his position as superintendent of the street railway company. Mr. Smith entered the employ of the company as a driver when the road opened on May 12, 1875. He was very painstaking, and was several years ago appointed to the position which he filled up to the present. His successor is not yet known. Accidental Death.

The coroner's jury in the case of Robert Hagyard, who was killed at Hyde Park on Saturday morning, returned a verdict of accidental death and exonerated the railway company. A deplorable circumstance was developed. It was shown by the evidence of Albert Edward Morris, a hetelkeeper, that Hagyard came to his place at 6 in the evening and remained until 1 in the morning, when he left under the influence of liquor. A whisky bottle, partly filled, was found on the body. It was also shown that the horse driven by the man was a very stubborn brute. General Booth.

The visit of General Booth to this city gets very near. Next Saturday, 26th inst., the local Salvationists will bid him welcome. Tomorrow the general will be holding great meetings in Port Arthur, Ont., and is planned out to work his way through Ontario commencing at Orillia, coming west, returning thence to Toronto where he finishes his Canadian tour. While in London, he will be the guest of Mr. Thos. McCormick, who is a well-known and practical sympathizer with the Salvation Army. There seems no doubt whatever, in spite of the heavy strain this tour must have been on the general, that his meetings in London will be characterized with the usual dash and energy displayed by Salvationists in general, and their leaders

His masterly delivery and power of dialect made his renditions wholly acceptable, and the repeated enthe appreciation of the audience." Of the other performers very strong praise is also given. As the proceeds go to the beneve-lent fund of the St. Andrew's Society, there should be a full house. Sworn In.

The inaugural meeting of the London West Council was held in the school house at 11 o'clock this morning. The full board -Reeve Macdonald, Deputy Reeve Murdock, Councilors Hamilton, Andrews and Moore and Clerk Simpson were present. The meeting was held, Reeve Macdonald stated, merely to keep within the requirements of the statute. The oath of office and the necessary qualification papers were sworn to by each individual councilman, and a striking committee, composed of Deputy Reeve Murdock, Councilors Hamilton and Moore was appointed. "I would recommend," said the reeve, "that the committees in future be known as Nos. 1, 2 and 3, instead of the finance, etc. The duties of No. 1 should be to discuss financial matters, No. 2 walks and ways and No. 3 light and relief." The suggestion will be considered by the striking committee, and a report presented at a meeting of the council tomorrow

ABig Crowd at the Interim Session Rooms.

The Usual Inquiries Into Men's Private Affairs-Appeals by Both Parties Allowed and Disallowed-Conservatives Refuse to Drop Unnecessary Objections.

The cumbersome machinery of the Dominion Franchise Act was set in motion at 10 o'clock this morning in the interim session rooms of the court house.

The room was packed to sufocation with people waiting to be put through the franchise mill. To expedite business Judge Edward Elliott, the revising barrister, consented to take up the names of those present and save them, if possible, the trouble of further attendance at court. By arrangement with the lawyers he laid down the following rules for guidance:

1. The qualifying year ended on Dec. 22, 1894. 2. A person shall have been a tenant for year within the electoral district to qualify as such-i. e., from Dec. 22, 1893, to Dec. 22, 1894.

3. When two or more members of a family seek to qualify as owners on the ing around off the streets and patroled the same property, the father shall have prefer- vicinity. It is said the families of some of value of the property minus $300 (the father's qualification.)

4. A reasonable statement shall be made to satisfy the revising barrieter that a person objected to is not entitled to vete. There are 2,100 appeals entered by both parties, and the court has a big pile of work out out. The Liberals were represented by Barristers J. B. McKillop, R. K. Cowan and Talbot Macbeth. Mr. C. S. Hyman, M.P., lent every assistance. Conservative interests were looked after by Messrs. Toothe and Hellmuth.

Mr. Helimuth complained that a number of votors had received letters signed by Mr. C. S. Hyman, telling them that the objections to their votes had been with-drawn, but these letters were not signed by the party objecting to their names (Mr. Frank Butler). Any individual voter could take up an objection and press it, and therefore one of these notifications to a man that the objection would not be proceeded with would not enable him to avoid coming to court. Mr. McKillop explained that the Liberals found on inquiry that a number of votes, to which they had objected were good votes. No doubt the Conservatives discovered the same thing of their objections discovered the same thing of their objections. "We offered to exchange name for name with the other side, but their answer was that their objections were all good."

Mr. Hyman remarked that none of those to whom he had written would be required to defend their votes.

Mr. Toothe—I don't know a single name that we propose to abandon. As a result, Liberal voters who have moved around the corner during the year and have been objected to in consequence, will have to submit to the annoyance of attending court to prove their right to vote. The Liberals refused to put Conservative voters under the same circumstances to this inconvenience, and are being com-mended on all hands for their fairness.

The usual scenes were witnessed this morning of hard-working men, men who, through dull times, had been unable to earn within a few dollars of the requisite $300, and lost their franchise to which their industry and intelligence entitled them; of owners' sons who carned little or nothing securing that franchise; of business men having to reveal their financial affairs, and of citizens being forced to waste valuable time to prove their rights which were attacked simply because they changed their residences during the Senator Sanford came from Hamilton to secure a vote as tenant of Oak Hall, which is rented by the Sanford Manufacturing Company, which comprises ten members. It was argued that if Senator Sanford could vote so could the other nine—and so could all the directors of the banks which have branches here. Decision was reserved. There were several other interesting cases, including that of Mr. Abraham Jacobs, who has been objected to regularly and unsuccessfully by the Conservatives for thirteen years as an alien. He was born in London. The following was the list of disposals up to 2 p.m.: LIBERAL OBJECTIONS DISMISSED.

"Mother, have you thought over what said this morning about going to Switzer land?" said he impelled by the sad longing of much worried people to run away. "Be cause since then I have found an adder reason for my journey." And he gave he the two letters which had come on from Cambridge. "I suppose you had not heard of Miss Jardine's death, or you would have put off the dinner-party?"

"Why so? She was only a poor relation Nobody knew anything about her here. Her death was not even put in the newslong line of Alps. Through one deep inpaper." "Mother, have you thought over what smoothest of ponds."

He determined to go, the very next day, to visit Blackhall, which he had never yet seen, and knew little about, for his father rarely named it though it had been the home of the Jardines for many generations. Also, they must have had a burial-place, for he had some recollection of his father having once expressed a wish to be there, only his mother had overruled it in favor of the grand new cemetery on the outskirts of Richerden, where she had afterward erected a beautiful while marble sarcophagus with an urn at the top. What matter? Henry Jardine slept well. And far away, some-where beyond those moonlight mountains near the very places where they might have played together as children, or walked to-gether as young people—slept also Cousin

But, the waking? If it be possible that the life to come shall heal some of the wounds of this life — oh, the heavenly

CHAPTER II.

Rederick Jardine was not, I hope, a worse oung fellow than most others of his age, or less soft-hearted. Yet when he had fairly bade good-bye to his good, tearful mother—who, he knew well, would do anything in the world for hun, except let him do what he felt was best for himself—this parting once over, he breathed more freely than he had done for many weeks.

His "wild-goose chase" had resolved itself into a deliberate purpose, or as much so as was possible to his nature, and at his age. He had not been to Blackhall—he hardly k new why, except that his mother had thrown a good many impediments in the way of the journey, so that perceiving that she did not like it, he gave it up. But he had a long correspondence with Mr. Black, the old factor there, who knew all the family

From him Roderick discovered that there had been, half a century back, three branches of Jardines — represented by Silence Jardine, Archibald Jardine, and Henry Jardine, his father. Thence Archibald had suddenly disappeared abroad, thing his little partiment. taking his little patrimony. After many years he was heard of as a pasteur, in some Swiss Canton; no very great change, he having been intended for the Scotch Church; and he was said to be married, with a family. But he had never revived acquaintance with either of his cousins, and what were his present circumstances, whether he were alive or dead, nobody knew.

He had only been able to catch one clew whereby he might find his cousin. Mr. Black, the Blackhall factor, a strong Free-Church man, had taken some interest in a similar disruption in the Swiss Church, and in one of the controversial writes therein, a professeur or pasteur, or both—the good man's ideas on the subject were misty—at Neuchatel To this M. Reynier Roderick brought a letter of introduction: but on delivering it found the family were still at their summer retreat in the Jura Mountains. So he decided to make the best of a bad business and amuse himself till they came back. He knew the language—that was one comfort—and he was not of the stolid temperament, which refuses to take in any temperament, which refuses to take in any new ideas, or to see any perfection in things to which it is unaccustomed. He was a true Celt, impressionable and flexible by nature, ready to love, quick to hate, until the experience of life should teach caution in the one and tolerance in the other. "The world will go hard with you my boy," his ather had sometimes said, half tenderly, half pensively; and Roderick, shaking his black curls, had only laughed, afraid of nothing.

Nor was he discouraged or afraid now, In fact, he rather enjoyed this dropping from the douds—oh, what soaking clouds!—into a ne Alace and new people. Not so very fter all, for when on Sunday morning he followed the dripping multitude up the steep street which led to the cathedral now a Protestant Church—he found every-thing so like home that but for the language he could have imagined himself sitting under his mother's favorite minister at Richerden. Only when the psalm arose, to a quaint and beautiful tune, and it was a beautiful psalm, too, for he read it out of his neighbor's book,

"Grand Dieu, nous te louons, nous t'adorns, it contrasted favorably with the nasal hymns which so tormented him in Scotland. It was sung not badly, especially by one pure high soprane, a few seats behind, a voice so good that he vainly tried to batch sight of the singer; and in its sweet musical French it seemed to express what he missed so often at home the sense of cheerfulness in religion. To the last verse-

Nous n'esperons, O Dieu, quen ta grande Tu seul peut nous aider dans notre ad-Rendre nos jours heureux et notre ame the invisible singer behind gave such pathos that it went right to his heart. The young man, called often irreligious by his mother, because his religion lay very deep down, longed earnestly for those jours heureux, that ame contente, and wondered if, by any means, he could attain to the like—he, all alone, with nobody to help him to be good, hundreds; ready to allure him to be bad.

It was a small thing, one of those trifling incidents which befall us all—only some of us note them and others do not; but long afterward he remembered it with a strange solemnity, like a person who, believing he

Plunging back through the muddy streets 'home'—what a ridiculous word!—to the dreary hotel, Roderick made up his mind to give one day's more chance to the weather, and to the absent Professeur, upon whom, and to the absent Professeur, upon whom, and all his famille charmante, the garcon dilated enthusiastically: for everybody seemed to know everybody in this innocent little town. If, on the morrow, it did not cease raining, and some token did not come in answer to his letter, Roderick resolved

"Then you did know of it? But, of course content of the sun was slowly rising, dyeone could not mourn for a person whose death was not important enough to be put in the newspaper."

Wedding of Mutes. The Cauadian Mute chronicles the fact that the other day there was a happy gathering at the residence of Mr. J. Mc-Killop, of Duart, the occasion being the marriage of his daughter Belia to Mr. J. C. McCielland, of Ottawa. The Rev. Mr. McKay tied the knot, being assisted by her brother, Mr. James B. McKillop, of London, deputy crown attorney of Middlesex county, as interpreter. The bride was attended by her niece, Miss Ethel M. Mc-Killep, of London, while Mr. Albert A. McKillep, brother of the bride, did the honors for the groom. The wedding was a private one, only the relatives of the contracting parties being present. Both the bride and groom being deaf, the ceremony was of absorbing interest. Everything passed off most happily; beautiful weather graced the occasion, and the newly wedded pair left for a short wedding trip amid a flood of sunshine and the good wishes of a host of friends. The bride received many valuable and beautiful presents, and the young couple have ente relations under the most favorable auspices. Mr. McClelland was educated at the Mac-Kay Institution at Montreal, while our own school (Belleville Deaf and Dumb Institute) claims the bride, who is a most amiable young lady. Mr. McClelland has a prominent position in the Government Printing Bureau at Ottawa, which he has held for several years. May a long, happy and prosperous wedded life follow them, and we know the same wish will come from hosts of their old schoolmates in Ontario and Quebec." HE CETS FIVE YEARS.

Ellis, the House-Breaker, Is Sentenced.

Strong Address for the Prisoner-Kleptomania Urged.

The case of Eilis, the man who stole apparently without need and for no other purpose than to pack the stolen articles away in a room, came up at the Police Court this morning. When the case was called Crown Attorney Magee laid three fresh charges against the prisoner. They were charges of entering Robert Elliot's house, King street, Robt. Kidner's house, Burwell street, and Wm. James house, King street. Among the articles taken from the last named place was s feather bed. Eliis pleaded guilty to all three charges. Then Mr. Love addressed the magistrate on the prisoner's behalf.

"I submit," said he, "that a person who steals invariably does so for gain, and in this case the circumstances do not appear to point that way. It is true he has been guilty of numerous robberies, but all the goods, as I understand, have been recovered with the exception of a few trifling articles belong to Mr. Ingram, and such a time bas elapsed since that robbery that these articles might have been lost or gone astray. He has made no attempt to dispose of any of these articles. He has simply heaped up in a room a lot of useless articles apparently to gloat over them. I submit that these facts all go to show that the man has a mania in that direction. Of course, I admit that a plea of that kind does avail anything now, and I don't think it would avail if it had been made before a jury. I don't know that because a man is a kleptomaniac is a sufficient answer in law for stealing, and I admit that such a man should be incarcerated either in an asylum or some other place until he is cured. The fact of the recovery of the articles and no disposition having been made of them, I respectfully submit ought to weigh with your honor.' "There was no necessity at all for his stealing. He was a hard working man, industrious, and his wife was also occupied in working for a public institution, and there was ample money coming in for the support of his family and himself. He is a workman and it is strange that he did not attempt to make profit out of the things. believe such a case has never come before your honor in all your experience."

Mr. Magee, for the crown, mentioned that Ellis had been sentenced to eight years in New Jersey and had served out

The magistrate asked Ellis if he had anything to say. Ellis muttered something to the effect that his conduct could not be cailed steal-

Mr. Parke thought otherwise and sentenced him to five years in the Provincia, Penitentiary. Ellis took his sentence coolly.
