British Prominent in Fight in Which Fifteen Guns Are Seized-Enemy, Famishing, Greedily Devour the Food Supplied by Captors.

(Canadian Press.)

London, Sept. 12.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Paris says: "A motor car brings news from the front that the first and second divisions of the British army, with the French cavalry and artillery, cut off and defeated a large force of the enemy sixty miles northeast of Paris, taking 6,000 prisoners and 15 guns. The Germans are reported as demoralized.

"The half-starved prisoners ravenously devoured beef and biscuits supplied by the British troops. "During the fight fifty British cyclists, from the cover of a small wood, wiped 150 of the enemy's cavalry out. "The Allies' losses were severe, but they are as nothing compared to those of the enemy, who is now retreating north of the Marne and west of the Ourcq.'

the allied nations would issue a proclamation to the German people, offerng them the opportunity to reorganize their systems of government and to govern themselves in whatever way they saw fit the nation would accept it. This, of course, would mean the elimination of the Kaiser and all his kind. There is no doubt in my mind that if such an offer could be made to the race that the war would come to a sudden termination. It would be the best possible termination, for the slaughter has been great enough, and it is my opinion that there are enough people in Germany who understand the facts leading up to the war to save the situation.'

RETREAT VERY WEARING

Germans' Nerves Suffering, While French Are Getting More Encouraged.

[Canadian Press.] London, Sept. 12 .- The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Nanteuil, department of Oise, in a dispatch dated Thursday, dealing with the turn of the tide in favor of the allies, gives the impression, derived in conversation, of many wounded French officers from the fighting line. From this he learns that the German army, meeting for the first time troops almost equal in number, has been rolled up and sorely troubled, and the right of the army, composed of some of the finest German forces, has retired so far that the centre must give way or risk the line communications.

Capture Ammunition. General Pau scored a tremendous advantage by capturing an enormous ammunition column, seven kilometres (41/2 miles) long. This he destroyed, leaving the Germans very short of ammunition. The correspondent adds: "The effect of the long, barren marches must have an enormous influence or the conscript army. The huge losses in killed and wounded, the paralyzing spectacle of pyramidal funeral pyres on the battlefields each night and the procession of long trains of grievously wounded must give the educated Germans in the ranks food for thought.

Retreat Is Trying. "It was all very well while the Germans were marching forward, but the retrograde movement is trying on the nerves. On the other hand the French army, stiffened by great reinforcements of men who are fighting for all they old most dear, have offered a resolute and magnificent front to the enemy, for the French are twice as dangerous in attack as in defence." The capture remains unconfirmed. Forty thousand men could not in any case have been made prisoners, for the garrison is less than 20,000.

The alleged numbers are on par with the news of the French aeroplanes having dropped bombs on Nuremburg, and with that of France's Tierreurs (snippers) having been organized 'two months before the war.' If they had been, some trace would probably have been found since, and none has. The truth is that neither before or after red war on France was any such corps organized. And since every Frenchman able to bear arms has been called as a regular to the colors, one can scarcely imagine what those corps would have been made of.

LONDON, Sept. 12 .- 2:30 a.m. - The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph has sent the following dispatch from the front:

"The last remnants of the German cavalry has been destroyed and a large part of their mobile artillery and ammunition trains have been taken. Huge numbers of their rank and file have been either captured or cut off. 'A wireless message to Berlin, which was intercepted here today, said:

'We are badly in need of horses and supplies.' "A German general who slept in an inn here last night was overheard to say to one of his aides: 'A great disaster has overtaken us.'

"An English officer of an aviation scouting corps remarked: 'It will be a miracle if any of these Germans get home again. Their only anxiety now is to increase the distance between themselves and their pursuers.'

"There can be no doubt that the tide has turned in the Allies' favor. The great German coup has failed. There will be no siege of Paris, and the Government can safely return from Bordeaux at once."

GERMAN ARMY IS STILL IN RETREAT

Crown Prince's Army Still Fighting to Break Through French.

SIEGE GUNS AT NANCY

Germans Bring Up Heavy Artillery, Which Has Had Little Effect.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, Sept. 11.--10:25 p.m.— The battle of the Marne, as the French have christened the great struggle which now has been in progress for a week in the territory between Paris and Verdun, with the ailied armies of France and England on one side and the Germans on the other, has not yet reached a decisive The German right, however, in the face of superior forces and threatened with an outflanking movement, continues to retire to the north along the route over which Gen. Von Kluck made his famous lightning advance on Paris from the Belgian border after having defeated the Allies at Mons and again at Cambrai and St. Quentin.

With Gen. Von Kluck also, according to French official reports, the right wing of Gen. Von Buelow's army, which supported his left, is falling back toward the Rivers Aisne and Oise. On Von Buelow's left the army of the Prince of Wuertemberg, which had been trying for weeks to break through the French line, also has stopped fighting and retired north. The German left wing, however, composed of other sections of Prince of Wuertemberg's army and the army commanded by German Crown Prince is still fighting with varying success. These armies appear, however, to have passed Vergun, as Berlin reports say they have been bombarding fortified positions south of that fortress.

Crown Prince Still Fighting.

Although the Germans have had to send some of their best troops back to Prussia, to meet the Russian advance, it is not for a moment thought here that there will be any long pause in their efforts to beat the French. Crown Prince Frederick William, who has with him a portion of the Prince of Wuertemberg's army, is still fighting. and all that the French report says of this battle is that there is no change in the situation, there being alternate advances and retreats. The Germans have brought up some siege guns against Nancy, and here, as the Vosges, it is reported there is no change in the situaton, The British public seems well satisfied with the result of the battle so far as it has gone, but the military experts warn them that it is not over yet. It is suggested by some of the military men as being possible that the French are only holding the line of the Marne on sufferance, while the Germans are making ome changes in their line of communications. Among these experts it is considered that there is no reason to uppose that the German army has yet been fought to a standstill.

Belgians Grasp Opportunity. The distress of the German right ., has given the little Belgian army another opportunity to do something, and it is taking advantage of it by harassing the German reinforcements, which are hurrying south to Gen. Von. Kluck's assistance, and also to attack the Germans' left in Belgium. As only a few troops of the German line are left there, the Belgians have only to cope with the landsturm. It is reported that Germany is withdrawing troops from Alsace, but whethey they are for the Prussian frontier or to support the armies which are facing the allies in Western France has not been disclosed. It is considered likely, however, that the general staff will gather all the forces it can get together, to get through the French forces east of Paris, either by tne route they have been trying during the last week, or by way of Luneville. Situation in Galicia. In Galicia the Austrians, who are being supported by Germans, are still putting up a fight against the Russians, although it has been predicted for days that their surrender or annihilation was imminent. The Russians claim to have had another success over the Austrians near Krasnick on Wednesday, and add that sanguinary fighting is proceeding on the Tomaszow-Rawa front as far as the Dniester River. It is apparent that Gen. Ruzsky's enveloping movement is not developing as rapidly as was expected, and it may have been delayed by the offensive movement, which, according to Berlin advices, the Austrians have resumed in the Lemberg district. Interesting in East Prussia. Matters are getting a little more interesting in East Prussia, where for while Russia is said to have had things virtually her own way. The Germans are reported now to have moved some of their best troops into this section of the theatre of war, and the Russians are said to have been compelled to withdraw. Petrograd says its only retirements have been its advance guards, who are keeping in touch with the German advance, but the Germans claim to have scored another victory over the Russians, who are said to have received a rather severe check between Aug. 25 and 27. It is possible that the Austrians have kept the Russians busy in Galicia just long enough to enable Germany to get her troops into East Prussia, before the Russians were able to dispose of the Austrians and sweep down upon Silesia, Posen and Prussia. Victory for Servia.

Servia is celebrating another victory over Austria, having taken Semlin, just across the river from Belgrade, the Servian capital, which has been under an intermittent bombardment ever since the commencement of the war. This success, it is thought, may enable Servia, which is also advancing into Posnia, to put an end to the guns which have been so long firing on her cap-

Turkey has taken advantage of Europe's occupation to abrogate capitulations which she so long objected to. Her diplomats deny that this means, or implies, any bellicose attitude on her part, and say Turkey believes the time has arrived when she should enjoy the same status as other independent countries, particularly as Great Britain and Austria have just agreed to the abrogations of capitulations in the territory which Greece recently acquired from the Turkish Empire.

Germans Driven Back on the Left Wing and Centre-The French Capture Another Flag and Continue to Pursue Enemy.

[Canadian Press.]

PARIS, Sept. 11.—11:13 p.m.—The following official communication was issued here today:

"First-On the left wing our success increases. Our progresses have continued. North of the River Marne and in the direction of Soissons and Compiegne the Germans have abandoned to us great quantities of ammunition, stores, some wounded and some prisoners. We have taken another flag. The British army has captured 11 guns and some important stores and has taken from

1,200 to 1,500 prisoners. "Second-In the centre, the enemy has given in right along on its front between Sezanne and Revigny. The Germans have not yet fallen back from L'Argonne. Notwithstanding the strain to which our troops had been subjected during the last five days of battle, they still find energy to pursue the enemy on its left wing. "Lorraine and the Vosges-There is no change in

"Austro-Russian Centre of Operations-The Austrian army which was defeated at Lemberg has not been able to assume the offensive, and in spite of heavy reinforcements, it is being repulsed. On the front between Jalonne and Rawa and the River Dniester, the Russians are besieging the fortified town of Grodek. The second Austrian army has been attacked near Tomaszow, and has been compelled to retreat. "Austro-Servian Centre of Operations-The Servian troops have crossed the River Save at Shabatz and Obrenovatz. In Bosnia they have assumed the offensive in the direction of Visegrad."

REVIEW OF SITUATION. A review of the recent fighting east of Paris from the standpoint of the French war office is made in an official communication, issued this afternoon. The offensive movements of the allies are described as succussful. The statement follows: "As we already have announced a battle has been taking place since September 6 over a front extending in a general way from Paris to

"From the very outset of the action the German right wing, the army commanded by General Von Kluck, which on September 6 had reached the district to the north of Provins, was obliged to fall back, because of the danger of being enveloped. By its clever and rapid movements, this army was succeeding in escaping from the Allies' grip, and was throwing itself with the greater part of its force against our enveloping wing to the north of the Marne and the west of the Ourcq River. But the French troops, which were operating in this region, powerfully aided by the bravery of our British allies, inflicted considerable losses on the enemy and gained the time necessary to allow our offensive to press forward, and at present, on that side, the enemy is in retreat toward Aisne and the Oise.

SITUATION UNCHANGED. "On the Ornain River, as between the Argonne Forest and the River Meuse, where the armies of the Prince of Wuertemberg and the Crown Prince of Germany were operating, fighting was still going on with alternate advances and retreats, but without any great change in the

"Thus the first phase of the battle of the Marne is turning out in favor of the allied armies, since the German right wing and centre at present are in retreat. "On our right the situation remains without notable change in the

Not only have our troops stopped the Germans' march, which they thought was a victorious one, but the enemy has fallen back before us at nearly every point." MILITARY STATEMENT. The French military authorities who heretofore had confined the information made public concerning the military operations east of Paris, to laconic statements very general in character, today gave a lengthy description of the most important battle since the beginning of hostil-

Evidently, the left wing of the allied armies facing the northeast have borne the brunt of the engagements in which the British took such a prominent part that they are the object of the highest compliments on the part of the French military men.

The combat, according to the official announcement, seems to be developing into an abandonment of at least the advance positions held by the Germans who, it is announced, are retiring along a greater part of the line. This retirement is said to have been for 45 miles at some

Furious onslaughts sometimes by the French and again by the Germans occurred about the centre of an extensive line in the vicinity of Vitry-le-Francois

GERMANS ARE FURIOUS. Three great German armies commanded by General Von Kluck, the Crown Prince Frederick William and the Duke of Wuertemberg, effected a junction and repeatedly hurled themselves against the French positions with the greatest vigor, but they were not able to achieve the seeming object of breaking the allies' centre and thus dividing the Anglo-

French armies. The French and British offering an equally effective resistance. eventually compelled the Germans to withdraw. The fighting continued throughout last night and the allies' position, it is understood, was improved today. A rainstorm caused great difficulties in the marshy districts, but did not stop the operations. The fusiliades of the troops and the artillery duel proceeded all day. It is believed that the retiring Germans suffered more than the allies from the storm, as their withdrawing columns were encumbered with baggage and ammunition wagons. FIERCE WORK OF ARTILLERY.

Some idea of how the Germans were harrassed by artillery fire during their recent retreat was obtained in a visit to the fields near Meaux the scene of a severe fight yestrday. The German infantry had taken a position in a sunken road on either side of which were stretched in extended lines hummocks, some of them natural and some the work of spades in the hands of German soldiers.

Besides many bodies were forty or fifty empty cartridge shells, while fragments of clothing, caps and knapsacks were scattered about. This destruction was wrought by batteries a little more than three miles distant. Straggling clumps of wood intervened between the batteries and their mark, but the range had been determined by an officer on an elevation, a mile from the gunners. He telephoned directions for the firing and through glasses watched the bursting shells.

The sunken road was littered with bodies today. Sprawling in ghastly fashion, the faces had almost the same greenish gray hue as the uniforms worn. The road is lined with poplars, the branches of which severed by fragments of shells, were strewn among the dead. In places whole tops of trees had been torn away by the artillery fire. GERMANS FIRE LOW.

The wounded who during the first three weeks of hostilities were transferred to provincial hospitals, are beginning to arrive in Paris. It is remarked that most of the wounds are in the feet or in the limbs and generally not serious, indicating a tendency of the Germans to fire low. Another peculiarity is that the Singalese and Algerian riflemen seem nearly all to have sabre wounds on the arms and shoulders, evidence of their charges upon German cavalry and gunners.

Some of the wounded state that many of the German cavalrymen seem to be tied to their horses; in many instances Uhlans apparently lifeless were seen hanging over the necks of their horses running wild. "In one charge a French hussar pierced a Uhlan with his sabre, receiving himself at the same time a lance thrust that made him let go his hold on the sabre. The Uhlan, run through, sank upon the neck of his horse, but did not fall and the horse galloped off with the man and the sabre. The hussar, sent to the rear to recover from the lance thrust expressed an eagerness to get back. "You know," he says, "I must get after that sabre of mine or be punished for losing part of my equip-

The field bakery in our army consists of twelve knockdown bake ovens with all the necessary equipment for producing bread and the tentage in which to install the dough troughs and shelter the men. Each oven is capable of producing 2,500 rations of garrison bread per diem, or 1,500 rations of field bread; this is bread produced in such manner that it has not as great a "pile" as ordinary (or garrison) slower even, and no loaves allowed to touch (or "kiss") is completely enveloped with a good, thick crust, thus permitting the bread to be readily shipped in wagons; and its freedom from meisture renders it possible to be kept in good condition for a week or ten days. So that each field bakery can produce 30,000 rations of garrison bread, or 18,000 rations of field bread.

sufficient to supply a division. The supplies an army carries with it may be divided into two classes: those carried by the troops themselves, and those which are carried in the trains. The troops having to march many miles a day, starting early in the morning and probably not completing the march until late in the afternoon, would suffer greatly from lack of food Nervous Wife-Oh, Harry, dear, do if compelled to await the arrival of the train carrying the same. Therefore it follows that, if troops are to be fed regularly ordered and collected. This the field, they must carry rations with them, and the ration consumed the rapacity of the enemy. These evils were in a measure remedied by not taking directly from private individuals but by making upon the civil officials certain demands called requisitions for a specified quantity of supplies necessary for the troops. The local authorities could apportion the demand among the inhabitants, according to the known means of each, or could procure the stores by purchase. The former practice of spoliation thus assumed the milder form of a war tax, eventually led to the practice of giving receipts for the stores delivered, and the indemnity for the same was the during the day must be replaced by the next innovation. All these modifications were, of course, only introduced after

THREE TEAMS LEFT IN CANADIAN SOCCER SERIES

Toronto and Fort William Look Like Probable Finalists. WINNIPEG, Sept. 11 .- All but two of the Connaught Cup soccer series of games have been played, and the re-sults today leave the Toronto Eatons, Fort William, C. P. R., and Norwood-St. Boniface teams in a most interest-ing situation. Lachine held Fort Wil-liam to a scoreless draw in the early match, and the Regina leaders made a brave but hopeless stand against the Torontos, losing out by 1 to 0. Toronto had a distinc, advantage over Regina in the evening game, the lame-ness of Rigley at fullback, who was seriously hurt early in the game and though he returned to play he was not able to hold the Toronto rush, and the only goal of the match came through McQueen by a splendid shot.
As it stands now, if Toronto beats Fort William the cup goes to Toronto. If Toronto ties Fort William, Norwood will have to beat Lachine in the sec ond match to tie Toronto and the La-chine team, Norwood's opponents, put

POISONED WATER [Canadian Press.] Petrograd, Sept. 12.-Via London.-How a large squad of Russian cavalrymen met death from drinking poisoned water given to them by a German peasant on the road near Koenigsberg, Eastern Prussia, is described by the Moscow correspondent of the Rjetsch. The cavalry were riding from Insterberg over rough roads and in intense heat, says the correspondent. The thirsty troopers stopped at a small village and asked a peasant for a drink. He brought out two pails of water. Shortly after drinking it nearly one hundred men were attacked with spasms indicating poisoning. Four of the troopers returned to the village and demanded that the peasant drink from the same pails. When he refused they took him captive and turned him over to their officers for courtmartial. MESSAGES TO KAISER ON THE PROJECTILES

Sometimes, He Had To Sit Up All Night

For Weeks at a Time---Suffered For

15 Years Until He Cured Himself With "Fruit-a-tives."

D. A. WHITE, ESQ.

21 Wallace Ave., Toronto, Dec. 22nd, 1913. "Having been a great sufferer from Asthma for a period of fifteen years sometimes having to sit up nights for weeks at a time) I began the use of "Fruit-a-tives." These wonderful tablets relieved me of Indigestion, and through the continued use of same I am no longer distressed with that terrible disease, Asthma, thanks to "Fruit-a-tives," which are worth their weight in gold to anyone suffering as I did. I would heartily recommend them to all sufferers from Asthma, which I believe is caused or aggravated by Indigestion. D. A. WHITE.

Asthma is a disease of the Nerves. It usually attacks those of a highly strung nervous system-those whose nerves are easily affected by any disturbance of digestion. This is why 98 per cent of those who suffer with Asthma also suffer with Indigestion, Dyspepsia or Constipation. In Mr. White's case his Asthma was cured at the same time that his Indigestion was cured.

Why? Because "Fruit-a-tives" act directly on stomach, bowels, kidneys and skin. "Fruit-a-tives" clean the whole system of the poisons that are irritating the nerves. "Fruit-a-tives" sweeten the stomach, insure sound digestion and healthy appetite. "Fruit-a-tives" are a positive cure for Asthma and

CAVALRY HORSES SHORT IN BRITAIN

Foreign Buyers Have Purchased Best Saddlers for Years-Conservation Very Necessary.

[Canadian Press.] London, Sept. 12-Shortage of cavalry norses is causing British army officials much uneasiness. Fox hunting in England and Ireland has encouraged the breeding of light mounts, but unfortunately, officers from continental armies have visited the leading English and Irisl, fairs for years and bought the most select saddlers. Belgium and France have thought nothing of paying three hundred dollars for a suitable mount for an officer, while buyers for the English army have seldom been authorized to pay more than two hundred dollars. Germany, Italy and Austria have annually sent officers to England to purchase fine mounts. In additional to buying desirable mounts in Ireland the continental armies have also exported many highclass mares from Ireland and used them in bringing up the standard of their remount stables.

A general movement has been inaugurated by the press for the continuation of fox hunting in spite of the war, as such is declared to be necessary for the insurance of the supply of cavalry horses. The Government is also urged to keep all the mares it possibly can in England in connection with the home defence, sending geldings to the scene of the war. A movement is also under way for the establishment of national studs in

Von Kluck's Sharp Counter-Move Prevented Joffre Gaining Brilliant' Victory on Main Field.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, Sept. 12 .- 6:20 a.m. - The admirable discipline of the censorship was revealed by yesterday's communications, which showed that the only ones outside of the military authorities who knew of the whereabouts of the French forces at the beginning of the great battle were the Germans. The latter learned of it none too soon, and their diversion from the route to Paris, heretofore attributed to fear of the Paris defenceworks, was simply a clever manoeuvre o escape a desperate situation. The Germans penetrated France in three columns, but the force consisted of five armies and at least 800,000 The plan was evidently for direct attack on Paris by Gen. Kluck, while the armies of Gen Buelow, the princes of Wuerttember and Saxony and the crown prince dealt with the other armies of the allies. Nearly Great Victory. The audacious commander of the German right wing, surprised by the resistance of the allies at Guise and Compeigne, was rendered cautious, and must have discovered the presence of the army of Paris on his flank. He showed his resourcefulness by a sharp counter movement against this protecting force. The critics give Von Kluck full credit for skill as well as hardihood, and referring to Gen. Joffre's plans say it is a match between masters in the art of war. Gen. Joffre failed, they believe, by the narrowest margin in gaining one of the most brilliant victories in history.

Must Be Discouraged. It is generally thought that this looping of the loop adds immensely to the dangers of Von Kluck's army. The worn Toronto, Sept. 11.—Beans—Prices are A. A. AUSTRIA'S RULER TRAGIC FIGURE

Francis Joseph Is Lonely in His Grief, But Majestic.

DESTINY IMPLACABLE

Lives of His Brother, Wife and Son All Ended in Darkest Tragedy.

Can there be anywhere in Europe more pathetic figure than that of the aged Emperor of Austria? "Terrible! Terrible! Nothing is spared was the exclamation that escaped his lips when informed of the murder of the heir to the throne, the Archduke Franz Ferdinand and his wife. The words recall another sad day in the Emperor's life when, informed of the murder of his wife, he said, "Then I am to be spared

The Most Lonely Figure. "Sympathy flows forth from every quarter," say the Pall Mall, "to the thrice-stricken Emperor, the most lonely figure in the world, and the most majestic in his grief. Called to a throne which already seemed to be tottering to its fall, he has worked throughout his long life to consolidate his empire, and worked with a humble, pious trust in God which all the blows which he has endured have not availed to weaken. Son, wife, and heir have been taken from him by demented violence. He has been spared no sorrow which can befall the children of men. $10,000 FOR 100 WORDS

The publication of "The Million-Dollar Mystery" began Aug. 1 in The Advertiser. The story will run for twenty-two consecutive weeks in this paper. By an arrangement with the Thanhouser Film Company it has been made possible not only to read the story in this paper, but also to see it each week in the Advertiser district. For the solution of this mystery story $10,000 will be given.

CONDITIONS GOVERNING THE CONTEST.

The prize of $10,000 will be won by the man, woman, or child wno writes the most acceptable solution of the mystery, from which the last two reels of motion picture drama will be made and the last two chapters of the story written by Harold MacGrath.

Solutions may be sent to the Thanhouser Film Company, either at Chicago or New York, two weeks after the last installment is published in this paper, Advertiser readers would have to submit their solutions on or before January 14.

A board of three judges will determine which of the many solutions received is the most acceptable. The judgment of this board will be absolute and final. Nothing of a literary nature will be considered in the decision, nor given any preference in the selection of the winner of the $10,000 prize. The last two reels, which will give the most acceptable solution to the mystery, will be presented in the theatres having this feature as soon as it is practical to produce same. Would You Like to Have This in Your Home JUST A LITTLE HUSTLING AND YOU WILL WIN

We will issue trade certificates with every purchase at our store. These certificates repre-ONE VOTE for each ONE CENT of purchase and the person holding certificates representing the LARGEST NUMBER OF VOTES at the end of the contest will receive this beautiful instrument, the Claxton Player Piano, ABSOLUTELY FREE OF COST.

The certificates are transferable and if you are not interested in securing the player piano yourself, you can assist a friend.

Our object is to interest you in our store. We want a chance to show you that you can do better here than elsewhere. We do not expect to recover the heavy expense of this contest through a greater percentage of profit, but through the difference in volume of business—we expect the increase to more than repay us and in the future we shall endeavor to give you EVEN MORE for your money than we have in the past.

We solicit your patronage solely through the merits of our goods and Lower Prices. WE CAN SAVE YOU MONEY AND WE ARE READY TO PROVE IT.
