Canadian Press Deseated.
Ottawn, May 20—Emergency legislation to authorize the Dominion government to make leans to the provincial sovernments for use through the provincial loan organizations as suggested by Dr. Tory, and the provincial and commerce committee this afternoon. The loans should be guaranteed, he said, by the provinces. Dr. Tory thought that all that would be necessary would be to get parliamentary permission. The details might be left to be worked out by the Dominion government.

As a basis for this proposal. Dr. Tory summarized his main conclusion on the permanent problem. He laid down these principles:

1—The farm loan board principle, as operated in the United States was sound, and could be applied to Canada.

I could get loans.

2. Those who cannot get loans but are not insolvent.

3. Those who are insolvent. He did not care to estimate the numbers in each class, but quoted an estimate given to him as one-third in each. He can be applied to Canada.

As the names of the graduates of the university were called they ascended to the platform and received their degrees from the chancellor.

The chancellor of the university, Dr. Roche, spoke of the college careers as a course of study that by no means was the end of one's student career, and that in meeting the world education was the faculty of being able to think for oneself.

Dr. Roche spoke of the alarming number of young university men who had gone over to the United States, where they were holding splendid positions. Figures on the attendance of schools, both those supported by the government and by private means, were given, showing that in Canada 2,100,000 people are going to school.

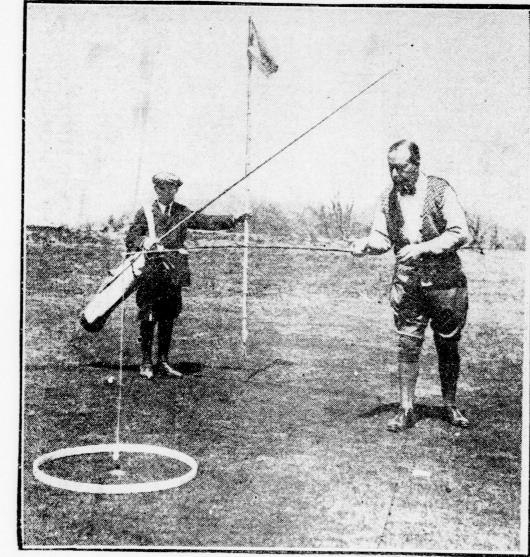

Convocation Address.

In his convocation address, the Rev. Canon Emile Chartier, MA. Ph.D., LL.D., vice-rector and dean of the faculty of arts, University of Montreal, defined education, saying that no one ever found a formula as precise as that of Aristotle: "Teach children to become men," that to work to such an end was the function of masters wherever they might be. In short, the general aim of education must confine itself to the orderly development of each faculty. Mannot being an abstract thing, was subject to particular laws, towards all of whom he has duties; and any system of education which would overlook the special character impressed upon the child by the political constitution of his country, by his nationality, by his faith, by his tonguand by his customs would be doomed upon the child by the political constitution of his country, by his nationality, by his faith, by his tongue and by his customs would be doomed to inevitable failure. # THE DOLL FROM FAIRYLAND

She Talks She Walks She Sleeps

"MISS ADVERTISER"

The London Advertiser

Prettier Than Her Picture!

NCE upon a time, the Fairy Queen said to the other fairies: "What will make little girls happier?" "I have it," said one of them—"A DOLL."

A lovely, big, beautiful doll, with real hair and sparkling eyes. A doll that would go to sleep quickly like good little girls do—and that would go out walking with her mistress every day. A doll that would talk and call any little girl, "Mama."

"Right," said the Fairy Queen. "But the fairy doll I want must be more wonderful and more beautiful than any doll has been before." Fairy scouts were despatched the world over to find the most wonderful doll ever known

The Fairy Queen then said to her ladies in waiting, "This is what I want the doll for:

"Travelling on a sunbeam one day. I passed over London, St. Thomas, Stratford, Woodstock, St. Marys, Chatham and all the other communities in Western Ontario. I saw many little girls at school, running errands for mother and doing everything little girls should. I decided to give them all a gift, and a beautiful doll shall be their reward.

"To make the little folks really appreciate the gift, I asked The London Advertiser to help me."

So it was decided to make it easy for little folks to show their appreciation. We would ask them to secure only four subscriptions to The London Advertiser. Not collect any money—just get Father, Mother, Aunty or anyone to subscribe.

"What's this," said the Fairy Queen. "My scouts back again?" "Send them in Your Majesty," said the leader of the Fairy scouts. "We have found the doll," and throwing back his cloak, he offered the Queen an exquisite rose in full bloom. "But I want a beautiful doll, not a beautiful rose," said the Fairy Queen. "Touch it with your fairy wand," said the scout leader, "and you will have your desire fulfilled."

The Queen touched the rose with her starry wand and behold it became a doll—a golden-haired doll with a handsome lace bonnet and a delicately shaded silken dress (the color of the rose petals from which she came).

The Fairy Queen smiled and nodded her head. "Yes—a beautiful fairy doll, but you shall be known to all the girls in London and Western Ontario as 'Miss Advertiser,' so go now and make them happier than they have ever been before."

"MISS ADVERTISER" The Incomparable Doll

There are many Mama Dolls, but they are not like "Miss Advertiser." They lack her charm, her grace, her beauty. She is the quality of Mama Dolls. No doll has ever been produced that affords a greater opportunity for attention by the little mother. Lifelike in beauty, voice and movement, she is all but human. "Miss Advertiser" is luxuriously gowned in a magnificent silken trousseau—a most exquisite and beautiful creation. Do not be satisfied with any but "Miss Adversities". With her distinctive characteristics she stands alone.

A Few Minutes of Your Time and the Doll Is Yours!

It takes but a short time to win one of these beautiful dolls. All that is necessary is to go direct to your four best friends and ask them for six months' subscriptions to The London Advertiser. They will gladly give their orders to see you carry away one of the "wonder dolls." The greatest reward ever offered for the effort.

We Are Keeping a Doll For You!

Provision has been made for every girl in London and district. No little girl need be disappointed as this is not a contest. Only four new subscriptions to The London Advertiser are necessary to qualify, and there is no limit to the time. If you do not get enough subscriptions one day, try the next, and when you have four bring them to The Advertiser office. This plan has been so arranged that every girl can have a "Miss Advertiser."

1000 "Miss Advertiser" Mama Dolls Will Be Given Away

-Rules To Observe-

Our supply of Mama Dolls is unlimited. Dolls will be distributed to the girls of London and district as long as they are ambitious enough to win them. Girlies who have a little sister can get two or more dolls if they secure required number of subscriptions.

Only the subscriptions of those who are not at present regular subscribers to The Advertiser will count for a Mama Doll. Girls are advised to be sure they do not hand in subscriptions of those who are already having The Advertiser delivered to their homes. We want to give you your doll as soon as you earn it.

Limit Hands.

In the last article, which was about getting big scoring hands, the ders; the thirteen unique wonabout getting big scoring hands, the importance of the double was insisted upon. Without a double in the hand, the four sets and a pair required to complete the hand have a very small average value, as at least one set must be a sequence, or there would be a double for all counts.

There are, however, a number of hig hands that do not depend on the mony, or color harmony.

There are, however, a number of big hands that do not depend on the double, but upon the formation of the hand as a whole. Some of these hands are practically worthless according to the usual methods of scoring; but on account of the great difficulty of getting the particular formation they present they are allowed to score the limit, and for this reason are known as "limit hands."

These hands belong, strictly speaking, to the straight, Chinese, or "dogging" game, but some players in the design intervening sequence from 2 to 8, completed by drawing any tile of that suit. This is variously called the nine united sons; the nine sacred "dogging" game, but some players allow them to be shown in connection with the one-double, or the cleared-suit game, although many of these limit hands would not qualify under the conditions imposed upon the players in either of these forms."

Eccentric Chinese Names.

The Chinese are very fond of giving eccentric names to things which they imagine suggest other things, just as we do. We call the ace of clubs the puppy-foot; they call the five of dots a plum blossom, and so forth. Many of the original Chinese names for these limit hands have been enlarged upon, or changed, and even the number of the hands themselves have been added to by writers who were totally ignorant of the allegorical meanings that lie back of these limit hands, their contributions rendering them ridiculous to anyone who knows anything about Chinese philosophy.

CHILDREN DELIGHT LOEW'S AUDIENCE

Two Allerston Kiddies Show Remarkable Talent For Singing and Dancing.

AGAIN TODAY

Patrons of Loew's last night showed unequivocally their whole-hearted appreciation of the talent of the Allerston children, who appeared for the first time on a London stage in a dainty song and dance act that charmed the audience with its refreshing and captivating grace.

These two children, little Miss Marice, a golden-headed, blue-eyed maiden of seven, and her brother "Bobs," who is nearly nine, with the same family heritage of golden curls and saxon eyes, were introduced as an "extra," surely the most depress ing of titles for even an experienced thesbian to wear, but within five minutes at the close of their first song, "Down on the Farm," they had made friends with everybody, even with the most blase of weekly theatregers, and when they trotted off the stage it was to the tune of a laughing and entirely sincere tribute of congratulation.

rides," and away he goes back to the stage trying out a few new steps and singing a song to Marice, who is also working out steps that have occurred to her, as being the basis for a new dance.

They won the friendship of Loew's patrons last night as much by their irresistible youth and the real joy they took in their act as by the songs they sang and the dances they danced. They are not in any way abnormal children, just bright-souled, happy-eyed kiddies who dance without affectation, who are not spoilt, and who have in unusual.

St. Thomas, May 30 .- An important discussion on natural gas rates is taking place in the courthouse before the Ontario board of reference.

The Southern Ontario Gas Company, Limited, is asking permission to practically double their rates on all communities of the district. Albert Tyng of Buffalo consulting engineer for the company, presented a lengthy report on production costs and deeases in supplies. According to his statements the 1923 returns fell short by $231,327.69 of being a fair return on a twelve per cent earning basis.
The rate of increases asked by the application for the different comprovincial inspector of normal schools, who was given the hon-orary degree of LL.D. by the Univermunitles is: Aldborough, from 25c to 68c per 1,000 cubic feet, with a fixed rate of 85c for a five-year period or $1.09 for a ten-year period: West Lorne, from 50c to 69c per 1,000 feet, or a fixed rate of 86c for a five-year not guilty. period or $1.10 for a ten-year period; Rodney, from 50c to 68 cents, or a fixed rate of 85c for a five-year fixed rate of 85c for a five-year period; period or $1.09 for a ten-year period; Dutton, from 55c to 73c, or 90c and $1.15 for alternative; Dunwich, from 28c to 73c or 90c and $1.15 as an alternative; Southwold, from 50c to 88c, or 96c and $1.23 alternative; wallacetown, from 48c-55c to 73c, with alternative of 90c and $1.15; Fingal and Shedden, 35c-60c to 73c, with 96c and $1.23 for alternative; Shedrach Billings.

This is not an easy thing to do, for their medical examination papers may have had no reference to any such weakness. In a number of cases these men have had to quit work and become to a great extent dependent

It is certainly not the wish of the people of Canada that this condition should continue. If there is an element of doubt it should go in favor of the returned men. Giving them every possible opportunity to fight the attack of tuberculosis under the best of conditions, and making adequate provision for their dependents while Rev. The Flirtatious Husband Who Gives His Wife Everything Except Attentions-The Engaged Couple Who Quarrel—The Man Who Tries to Monopolize a Young Widow's Time Without Being Engaged to Her.

Dear Dorothy Dix-My husband does nothing but talk about moneyhis stocks, bonds and investments-when he is with me. Remarking upon seems always concentrating on a He is incurably flirtatious, with the girl ushers at the movies, ogles every pretty woman, flirts with the girl ushers at the movies, the waitresses in restaurants, and has a "way" with women for which they fall.

Why doesn't he try some of his cute little ways with me? But no, business becomes his topic of conversation with me. It is humiliating and embarrassing to have a husband who is an outrageous flirt, yet he is never unkind, gives me everything I want except the little attentions that are so much prized by women. We have a family of four children, of whom he seems inordinately fond, and he spends lots of time on holidays and Sundays with them. I love him dearly. Can you help me?

The only thing that can help you, Mrs. H. C. M., is to cultivate a hard-boiled philosophy that will enable you to laugh at your husband's weak ness instead of being hurt by it.

Be comforted by this truth: the flirtations which a married nan carries on in public are harmless. They are merely a tribute that his vanity asks of any passing woman. He wants to show what a devil he is among the ladies, and that is all there is to it. The philanderer of which a wife has a right to be jealous is the secret affair that her husband carries on under cover. There is infatuation in that, and it strikes at the very roots of her happi ness. The really disloyal husband seldom flaunts his infidelities

But however much a wife knows this, a flirtatious husband is a numiliation to her because it hurts her so to see him making such a fool of himself. It degrades him so in her eyes to see him lower himself to the level of the common, vulgar masher who picks up girls on the street Sometimes it is harder to forgive a lack of good taste than it is an actual

You are mistaken, though, in thinking that when your husband discusses his business and his investments with you that he shows lack of affection for you. Quite the opposite is the case. A man never gives a greater proof that he loves his wife, that he trusts her judgment and discretion, and that he regards her as just part of himself, than when he talks business with her. For that is the Canadian man's real life. That is the thing of paramount interest to him. That is his real heart-to-heart stuff. All the jollying, the flattering, the near-love talk, amount to nothing. It is only the woman that a man cares for most in all the world that he talks to about his ambitions, and his plans, and

It may not be as romantic to have your husband tell you that he has bought Steel common, or is holding copper for the long pull, or that he has a nice little block of Pennsylvania, as it would to have him tell you that you have the most beautiful eyes he ever saw, and that he just loves your

Mona Lisa smile, but it means a lot more. So my advice is to study up on the stock market and try to forget the flappers. They are no real menace to you. You have to take husbands "as is," as the shipping manifests say, and the ones who have the illusion that they have a wicked eye that no woman can resist may be aggravating to their wives, but their vagaries are generally harmless. DOROTHY DIX. Dear Dorothy Dix-She is twenty-five, I am twenty-eight, but there are certain marked differences in temperament, so we quarrel. At first little quarrels, then big ones. I gave her every chance to quit me, but she didn't. Finally, we broke off the engagement by mutual consent. This was about a month ago. Since then I have done nothing toward a reconciliation. She, however, has made certain subtle advances toward it. I love her dearly and would give my right hand to have things on the old footing, but I am troubled with the thought that she is just leading me on so that she may crush me to gratify her vanity. I don't know what to do.

It seems to me. C. A. L., that you love yourself a great deal better than you do the girl or else you would not be willing to risk losing her in order to avoid hurting your self-esteem. Evidently the girl is very fond of you. So fond of you that she held on even when you let her see that you wanted to break the engagement. So fond of you that she has extended the olive branch that you are afraid to take. No self-respecting girl could do more.

Now the situation is up to you. A man who is really in love with a girl doesn't stand on his dignity. He isn't afraid of her getting the best of the situation or of being put in an embarrassing position. He doesn't expect her to meet him half way. He is willing to go all the way to get her if

But if there is a fundamental difference in temperament between you two, and you are always quarreling, why not let matters stand as they are It is the blood that gives color to the cheeks and lips, as well as brightness to the eyes. If your blood gets thin the color will fade and the eyes the time this happens shout. It was some time before either than the color will fade and the eyes shout. It was some time before either thin the color will fade and the eyes shout. It was some time before either than the search and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters stand as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters stand as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters stand as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters stand as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters stand as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters stand as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters stand as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters stand as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters stand as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters stand as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters stand as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters stand as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters stand as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters stand as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters stand as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters stand as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters as they are two, and you are always quarreing, why hold let matters as they are two as a stand as a stand

> The happy home is not a battleground, with a man and woman fighting over every inch of it. It is a place of peace and rest, with a husband and wife contentedly "yes-yessing" each other and > ambling along on the same hobby horses. Don't delude yourself with the thought that people of different temperaments can ever adapt themselves to each other. They can no more do it than a blue-eyed blonde can develop into a brunette because her husband is dark, or a tall man can become short because he is married to a little woman. And remember, if you quarrel before marriage you will quarrel with her ten times more after marriage, because married people have more things to quarrel over. "Like to like" is a good matrimonial motto and I advise you to take it for your slogan. Dear Miss Dix-I am a divorced man of thirty, and am in love with a young widow. We go together continually, but we are not engaged, and she thinks that there is nothing wrong in her going out once in a while with some one else. I show her every kind of entertainment and am jealous of her receiving any attention from any other man, but she thinks I take the wrong attitude this matter. Possibly it is because she doesn' like me to tell her that she cannot do certain things. If I said that she might do them, she might not care for them. What do you think?

If you are not engaged to the lady, I do not see what possible right you have to dictate to her about her conduct or say with whom she shall go and with whom she shall not go. Very few wives are weak enough in these days to let even their husbands tell them just where they get off and on, and certainly no woman of spirit would stand being bossed by a man who has no authority over her. If you wish to pre-empt the lady's society for your exclusive usage and benefit you will have to marry her. A wedding ring is DOROTHY DIX. the price of that sort of monopoly.

The program of Carpentier, as outlined by Descamps, is to keep on fight-line steadily until he is counted out for the last time and is convinced that he should retire.

"For our Georges is no loner so young," explains Descamps. "He has come to the time of life when he must concentrate all that he has into a few fights and then it will be over. The

Concrete Highways Invite Hard Tests and so Inspire Confidence

THE public at large has, within a few years, acquired a remarkable degree of confidence in Concrete as a road building material.

Nobody ever thinks of putting up on a Concrete Road a sign reading "No heavy traffic allowed." On the contrary, the general tendency is to divert the heavy traffic from less-rigid roads to parallel roads of Concrete.

Whence comes this widespread belief in Concrete as a material to be depended upon? Where did people get this feeling that the traffic can be doubled or trebled on a Concrete Road without injuring its surface?

This public confidence in Concrete could result in only one way - from actual experience. Rigid tests over lengthy periods, have proved how solidly Concrete serves. It has been shown, in the communities that have resorted to Concrete, that pounding, grinding traffic is not unduly destructive to a properly-built road of Concrete.

Grace Church on the Hamilton road is the youngest church of London Methodism. Methodism.

Its work commenced in the spring of 1920. The Methodist council of the city, together with the chairman of the district, the late Rev. W. J. Ashton, made a survey of the suburban districts of the city to see in what locality a new church was in what locality a new church was t needed. Ealing appealed to them as in need of a house of worship. At the same time, the city was undertaking, through its housing commission, the development of the Pine Lawn dis-trict, which is on the south side of he Hamilton road, opposite the Eal-

a-tives" can best be appreciated when it completely relieves some dangerous, deadty malady that is sapping the health and strength of the sufferer. After reading this letter, it is easy to understand why Mrs. Glover was glad to write about "Fruita-tives" in the hope that her experience would guide others to try this wonderful fruit medicine.

"For years, I was a sufferer with chronic Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Constipation; the stomach pains were dreadful and finally my health broke down completely. After five X-rays had been taken, I was advised that my condition strongly resembled Cancer of the Stomach and an immediate operation was necessary. Dreading an operation, I consulted other physicians but grew steadily worse. I had almost given up hope when I decided to try "Fruit-a-tives" recommended by many friends.

Immediately my condition began to improve. Pains disappeared; soon Dyspepsia and constipation were things of the past. After a few months I was perfectly well again and have been in the best of health for over a year now." Mrs. ANNIE GLOVER, 16 Henry Street, Ottawa.

Dr. Banting Comes Home To London and His Silence Proves Claim To Modesty

Discoverer of Insulin Retreats Into a Shell At Attempted

REFRESHINGLY RUDE

Denies, However, Advocating Afternoon Rests With Cup of Tea.

Dr. Frederick Banting, discoverer f insulin, benefactor of mankind nd recipient of the world's grateful nors, came home to London last

But Dr. Banting didn't want London know anything about it. When he Advertiser, in the person of a ly impressed reporter, met one o he ten most famous men in the world t the old C. N. R. station, the latter ave an excellent dual impersonation f an oyster in one of its most silent oments and a turtle retreating into

Perhaps it's not a very dignified way in which to speak of the winner of the Nobel prize, but it's true. Dr. Banting wouldn't say anything, and following that he retreated into convenient car clutching a club bag o his breast and disappeared, hitting on all six cylinders.

Very, Very Modest.

Dr. Banting is a modest man. One nderstands how he earned the rdict of English newspapers a erdict of English newspapers as the most modest man in the world." le is so modest that he is almost iolent. But one can't help liking im. All the honors he has received ave not turned his head. He is not onceited. He is not really self-concious. He is genuinely modest and tterly uninterested in publicity. He eminds one a little of a small boy sked to recite something in front f the class when he wants to go wimming. Dr. Banting would rather e messing around with test tubes messing around with test tubes d things, dressed in a dirty lab at than bother with newspapers or e dear public. He has something Shaw's contempt for what people ink about him, and one can't help ing him for it it is a refreshire. ing him for it. It is a refreshing

The Advertiser reporter approached r. Banting. Dr. Banting glowered. Wants to Fight.

"You're a reporter? I wish they'd send me someone I could lick." "Oh, yes," murmured the reporter couragingly. "What they said I said about afteron tea was a lie," said Dr. Banting. He was referring to a recent report in which he was described as an advocate of afternoon rest and a cup tea. The reporter believed the lial because Dr. Banting was iding along the platform as if he l never rested in his life.

'In what disease has science made greatest progress towards a cure?' asked The Advertiser. "Bah!" replied the great scientist this time safely ensconsed in the car. The reporter approached. Dr Banting placed his club bag upon his knees and hid behind it. "Drive on." quoth he to the man at the wheel, and the driver drove. One concluded that the progress of science held little of encouragement.

Damage Suit. In the opinion of Councillor Parker

f Adelaide Township, some person just have dug holes in the township road, near Mud Creek, early in the Toronto Ex-Mayor Declares evening of Oct. 18 last. That is the only way the councillor could explain the big cavities in the road that Henry Brown struck when he passed that way in his motor car at 9:30 that night, causing his car to plunge over a 30-foot embankment. Mr. Brown was injured, and his car was vrecked, and he wants $3,000 damfrown. Parker thought the road as O.K. that afternoon, but that he road next day was certainly not a good repair. Other witnesses for the defence vesterday of the second n good repair. Other witnesses for he defence yesterday afternoon in-duded Reeve Sullivan, County En-dineer Charles Talbot and Miss M. Dewar of the London weather oureau, who gave data as to rainfall.

J. C. Elliott, K.C., is acting for he township, and called a number of witnesses during the afternoon to witnesses during the afternoon t prove that the township had not been negligent in the upkeep of the road
