Champlain Summer School,
Cliff Haven, N. Y., August 18, 1900.

PROGRAMME OF SEVENTH ANNUAL MEETING ALUMNAE OF AUXILIARY—LECTURES OF THE WEEK.

These have taken place at Cliff Haven, since the last weekly report several events which illustrate aptly the breadth and the influence of the work of the Summer School. One was the grand concert given in our own auditorium and by our own talent for the benefit of the chapel fund. Judged from all points of view, the concert was a complete success. Every number of the programme was a work of art, each performer revealing great talent and individuality in his work. As a result, the chapel fund will be very materially increased.

Another occurrence of importance was the annual meeting of the Alumnae Auxiliary Association. Much important business was transacted at this meeting, including the election of officers and the appointment of R. Rev. James F. Longhin, D. D., of Philadelphia as moderator to succeed the late Rev. James P. Kieran of Rochester.

Solemn Pontifical High Mass was celebrated in the chapel of Our Lady of the Lake, by R. Rev. J. J. Monaghan, Bishop of Wilmington, Del. The sermon of the day was preached by Rev. M. J. Henry of the Mission of the Holy Rosary of New York. Few preachers have ever made a better impression at Cliff Haven than did he. His words were so full of fervor and sincerity, that they appealed with special directness to the large congregation which was in attendance. Both in thought and in delivery, his sermon was one that merited the high appreciation of all who heard it.

The lectures of the seventh week of the session of 1900 proved quite as attractive and quite as profitable as those of preceding weeks. In the Shakespeare and the Dante courses, the last week's work was started with the study of the Merchant of Venice in the one and the interpretation of the last eighteen cantos of the Paradise, in the other.

Both Dean Farrell and Dr. Dalley continue as favorite lecturers, their work having steadily increased in the appreciation of the students of the School. The drama, which is being studied in the Shakespeare course this week, is somewhat different in species and therefore requires some change in method from that of last week. In his discussion of the comedy of The Merchant of Venice, however, Dean Farrell reveals quite as great artistic appreciation and critical skill as in his lectures on the tragedy of Macbeth. The lecturer evinced not only broad and thorough knowledge of his subject, but also the power of imparting this skillfully to his class.

Dr. Delaney in his discussion of the Paradise, brought out the essential points of criticism in such a manner as to evoke the deep appreciation of all those who are continuing the work in the Dante course. For its breadth and accuracy of vision, and for its keen analysis of the poem, this course is quite unequalled.

At 10.30 o'clock on Monday and Tuesday, the main lecture of the day on Distinguished Women, Maria Agnesi and Kathleen O'Mara, took place. The lecturer, Miss Marion J. Brunow of Yonkers, N. Y., is one who is exceedingly well known to all the students of Cliff Haven, despite the fact that this is her first appearance as a lecturer at the Catholic Summer School. Miss Brunow is one of the most successful of the Catholic writers, her stories being widely read throughout this country and Canada. The delight which most of the guests at Cliff Haven have experienced from the perusal of her works, was greatly added to by the pleasure in listening to her talk on Maria Agnesi, the distinguished Italian mathematician.

The material which Miss Brunow has put in her lecture could only have been gathered by most painstaking and scholarly research into original documents. Furthermore, she has cast this matter into an attractive and so interesting a form that it made her lecture doubly fascinating to those who had gathered together to listen to her. Miss Brunow's work certainly made a most delightful and lasting impression on the students at Cliff Haven.

The first two evenings were devoted to reproductions of motion pictures of the Passion Play of Oberammergau under the skillful direction of Mr. N. Dunsane Cloward, of Wilmington, Del. The descriptive lectures delivered by Mr. James J. Stealy of Philadelphia, were very enjoyable, as they detailed in a most interesting manner all points of interest in the pictures themselves.

On Wednesday morning, a reception was tendered to Miss Elizabeth Lorraine Dorsey of Washington, D. C., who came to speak in behalf of Trinity College.

Her talk on this topic proved exceedingly pleasing and stimulating, because of her own personal enthusiasm and broad comprehension of the ideals of the work.

On Thursday and Friday morning, the ten-thirty hour was devoted to a thorough and most interesting study of liquid air. The lecturer in this course was Mr. Andrew R. Kenney of New York, the editor of a monthly publication, "Compressed Air," which is devoted to the study of this subject.

The evening lectures of this week were discussions of the Social Settlement work under the direction of Rev. C. M. Thasent, O. F., of New York. Friday evening was mainly devoted to a reception, many persons deeply interested in this work taking part. The depth of interest manifested in these lectures proved most satisfactorily the progress which is being made in the direction of Catholic charities.

Delightful social entertainments fill nearly every afternoon and evening during the week. Musicals at the New York, the Healy and the Boston, a reception to Miss Dorsey at the Brooklyn, a reception by the St. Peter's at the Curtis Pine Villa, a hop at the Club, and a garden fête tendered by the Alumnae Auxiliary, are a few of the many pleasant affairs filling up the leisure moments at Cliff Haven.

Three Bishops have honored the School by their presence during the past week. Rt. Rev. John M. Parley of New York, Rt. Rev. J. J. Monaghan of Wilmington, Del., and Rt. Rev. P. J. Dunsane of Wheeling, W. Va., have been prominent participants in all the activities of Summer School life.

"Thou Art Peter."

The Catholic Truth Society has just published in pamphlet form an excellent lecture by Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, delivered in St. Louis many years ago, while the Archbishop was still coadjutor of Archbishop Kenrick. The title is "What Catholics Do Not Believe," and we reprint the concluding paragraphs—a glorious and inspiring description of Christ's words to Peter as being in the great Mother Church in Rome:

It was in Rome in the year 1867. On that occasion, the eighteen hundredth anniversary of the death of St. Peter, we were assembled in the magnificent basilica that bears his name. Five hundred Bishops gathered around the Sovereign Pontiff—Bishops from every tribe and nation upon earth. There he stood, the Supreme Pontiff, the great central figure. Forty thousand wax lights illumined the magnificent assembly. The multiplied saints of eighteen centuries looked down from their niches and from the tomb-by the use of Royal Baking Powder is considerable. Royal is economical, because it possesses more leavening power and goes further.

Royal saves also because it always makes fine, light, sweet food; never wastes good flour, butter and eggs.

More important still is the saving in health. Royal Baking Powder adds anti-dyspeptic qualities to the food.

There is no baking powder so economical in practical use, no matter how little others may cost, as the Royal.

Alum baking powders are sold at a low price, but they are extravagant because they make the food unhealthful. The continued use of alum in food causes the most serious disorders of the alimentary organs.

A barn belonging to Mr. John Stewart, Whitehorse Road, with all the hay it contained was also destroyed. For a time telegraphic communication between this city and Summerside was interrupted.

It is all the time curing diseases of the stomach, nerves, kidneys and blood, and it is doing good every day to thousands who are taking it for poor appetite, tired feeling and general debility. In South Africa!

Mr. I. N. Ford, special correspondent of the New York Tribune in a recent cable to that paper regarding the Transvaal says:—The Government has published a number of confidential letters from prominent politicians in England and at the Cape to President Steyn and other members of the Free State and Transvaal executives. The correspondence includes letters from Dr. Clark, M. P., and John Ellis, M. P., in addition to those from Henry Labouchere, which the latter has already printed in Truth. But the most interesting documents in the collection are letters from Sir Henry Deville, Chief Justice of Cape Colony, and Mr. Merriman, who was lately in the Cape Colony and is now leader of the party in the colony which sympathize with the republic.

Strongly as both writers supported the Afrikaner cause they were most emphatic in urging President Kruger, during the months preceding the outbreak of hostilities to grant reasonable concessions to the Uitlanders. Deville, who was one of the commissioners to sign the convention of 1881, goes so far as to declare that he would never have advised the British Government to grant independence to the Transvaal if he could have foreseen President Kruger's policy. Mr. Merriman writes in the same sense, and directly warns the President that the continued denial of political rights to the Uitlanders must prove an explosion, and draws a vivid picture of the evils which the reactionary attitude of the dominant party in the Transvaal was bringing upon the country. The whole correspondence is a most valuable material in the coming general election to the Ministerial Office, which will be held in the autumn of 1900.

THE SLIGHT OF DE WET. During the last few days it has been frequently stated that De Wet was heading to the east province, intending to make for the Bushveld to the northeast of the capital and eventually to join his forces to those of the Boer army in the Orange River district. Recently, however, Lord Roberts sent a dispatch to the effect that De Wet's force is a mere remnant of his original column and does not amount to more than 200 men, while most of the guns have been buried.

A London dispatch of the 25th says: Lord Roberts left Pretoria and fixed his headquarters at Wesselsfontein, the command being in the hands of the British army in the Orange River district. The Boer army is reported to be in the Orange River district.

Gen. Buller reports that the Boers laid a trap for his cavalry on the 23rd, opening with several guns at fairly short range. The guns were silenced, but when the Boers were being placed for the night two companies of a Liverpool regiment advanced into the hollow and were surrounded by the Boers. The Liverpool Regiment lost ten men killed, Capt. Palmer and 55 wounded, 22 men missing.

A Pretoria special says: Lieut. Cordes, who was shot for plotting to kidnap Lord Roberts, walked fearlessly to the garden headquarters at Wesselsfontein, and requested to see his captors. He sat in a chair with folded arms and told Capt. Buller of his plans. Ten bullets entered his body.

Accident on the P.E.I.R.

What was probably the worst accident in the history of the Prince Edward Island railway occurred Saturday evening, when the west-bound freight train ran off the track near Summerside, three miles west of Summerside. The train was running along at the usual rate of speed when the accident took place. The engine and the first two cars of the train fell into a deep cutting about thirty feet deep, and the engine and the first two cars were completely wrecked. The rest of the train was derailed on the other side of the track. Six box cars were derailed and three of them were on the left side of the track, two on the right, and the other was lying across the track. The engine and the first two cars were on the left side of the track. The train was in charge of Conductor Kelly and Driver David Foy. Driver Foy was the only man to get away and it was soon found that his injuries were of a very serious nature. Medical aid was sent to the scene as soon as possible and an examination it was found that as well as being terribly crushed the unfortunate man had three ribs broken besides other injuries. He was taken to Kensington and at 10 o'clock a. m. on Sunday Mr. Foy's son and Dr. Warburton left for him in a special. Sunday afternoon and had news to report that Mr. Foy had died before two o'clock that afternoon. The remains were brought to the city and were buried in the morning. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon and was largely attended, the Odd-fellows Society attending in a body. The accident is supposed to have been caused by the rails spreading. The box car next the engine was crushed into splinters and two others are badly demolished. A wreching train left the city shortly after the accident and completed their work Sunday evening. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Foy and his eight children, who are left in mourning.

When we have good blood we are healthy, strong, vigorous and full of life and energy. Hood's Saragapilla makes good blood.
