The Am. Novel of 1915.

MICHAEL O'HALLORHAN
 by Gene Stratton Porter.

This is the story of Mickey the news-boy and his ward-peacher, whom he found with a crippled back and cried for until she was cured. It tells of Mickey's part in the romance of Douglas Bruce and Leslie Winton; and of the kindness of Peter Harding and his wife to peacher, and finally of Mickey's own love story with the walf he found years before.
 The book possesses, like all of the author's works, a deep feeling for nature, the charm of the woods, the flowers and all growing things.

A Money-Saver

For You.

If you are an Employer or an Office Manager, who is on the alert for devices that will enable your present Office force and equipment to increase their daily output, with a decrease in the effort required of each person affected, you will be interested in LINE-A-TIME.

LINE-A-TIME is a simple device, it may be quickly adapted for use with any typewriter, and may be placed on any desk.

It stands behind and close to the machine, and supports the copy. LINE-A-TIME serves the Triple Purpose of increasing the Typist's Capacity 30 to 50 per cent., daily improving the quality of her work, and saving her health.

It increases the output 30 to 50 per cent., because it enables the operator to utilize for transcribing the time she would otherwise spend bending over note book or record sheet.

It enables the typist to be comfortable and free from fatigue. It has but a few parts and is simple in construction. Its life for service is practically unlimited, and it requires but little care. May we demonstrate it to you?

"ECHOES of the Past; OR, The Recompense of Love!"

CHAPTER XXX.

Clive nodded and sat down to his work again. He was distressed by Edith's sudden illness, but, with a sense of guilt and shame, he was conscious of a feeling of relief. He wrote to her, but tore up the beginning of two letters, and he knew that the third, which he finished was, for all his protestations of grief at her illness and their parting, cold and forced. No reply came to his letter, but on the third day—he was dining at Grosvenor Square—Lord Chesterleigh told him that he had a letter from Edith.

She was better; she would write to Clive presently, and he was on no account to go to her. Lord Chesterleigh and he spent a quiet hour or two, then Clive started for the house. As he was passing through the dining-room Sara entered the hall. She stood aside to let him pass, as usual, and salaamed profoundly.

"I am glad to hear that your mistress is better, Sara," he said. She raised her eyes, almost hidden by the thin silk shawl and said, in her smooth voice:

"Yes, she is better, sahib, she will be quite well soon—if she is left quite alone. The sahib knows that, and will not go to her?"

Clive frowned slightly; for there was a note of familiarity, of insistence, in the woman's voice which jarred upon him. "I am surprised that you are not with your mistress, Sara," he said. She threw out her hands, then crossed them meekly on her bosom.

"It is cold where my lady has gone; and your servant feels the cold, sahib." Clive passed on and left the house. As he did so, he remembered that he wanted some papers which he had left on his table at Burleigh Street, and he took a cab and told the man to drive quickly. He ran up the stairs and opened the door sharp, but stopped dead short, for he was confronted by the weird figure of Tibby. Her face was white, her hat awry, and she was evidently in a state of terrible agitation.

"Tibby!" he exclaimed. "Why—?" She broke in upon him with a cry half-threatening, half-imploping. "Where is she?" she demanded fiercely. "Where is she? What have you done with her? I've searched for her in your room. She's not here—you needn't tell me that. What have you done with her?"

Clive's heart sank with a terrible foreboding. "Do you mean Mina, Tibby?" he asked. "Of course, I mean Mina!" she retorted. "No lies! I want her, I want her at once! You have spirited her away somewhere!"

Clive set his teeth hard, fear, dread, of he knew not what, threatened to overwhelm him. Mina was lost, perhaps in danger—of what—and it behooved him to retain his calm, to command all his faculties to meet the case. He pulled himself together and laid his hand on Tibby's shoulder.

"You think I have spirited Mina away, Tibby?" he said. "Look in my face, Tibby! You know that I have not done so, that I do not know where she is. Be calm, Tibby; it's easy to give way, I myself could give way, but she didn't give no orders; she seemed flustered and upset, and she 'anded up a paper to Bill, the cabman."

Clive's heart sank again. "I suppose he won't come back, he'll go on the crawl!" he said. "No," replied the boy cutely. "He'll come back 'ere, cos he's a day cab 'un he puts 'is 'orse up early."

Almost as he spoke, Clive heard the sound of wheels, he dropped half a crown into the boy's hand and went quickly to the archway. A seedy and amshackle cab drove in, and Clive went up to it. He saw at a glance that the driver was drunk; and forcing himself to some degree of patience, he waited until the man had urched off his perch before addressing him.

"Had a long drive?" he said pleasantly and casually. The cabman stared at him, then milled and winked knowingly. "Ra-ther, guvnor," he replied. "And you left the young lady here?" said Clive, in a matter-of-fact way.

"I did," responded the man. "Took her to her friends as was waiting for her. An' a very nice and liberal cover he was. 'Taint orten a poor cabby 'as such a good drink stood 'im. An' 'o 'agging over the fare, neither—' he added unctuously. "Rum kind o' 'place to take a young lady; but there's no business o' mine. Queer cattle, women, mister."

"Koshki!" said Clive. "Yes," assented Tibby. "An' come to sepaking of furriners, there was a kind of Italian woman or an Indian, an old woman wrapped in shawls like, with gold earrings; I've seen her once or twice, and I saw her walkin' on 'the other side of the road to Koshki; but they didn't speak to each other."

"Sara!" murmured Clive inaudibly. The introduction of Sara into the affair only served to complicate and intensify the mystery. And yet—could it be possible that she was concerned in the abduction? Abduction! To the generality of people the word would have sounded an extravagant one, one savoring of melo-drama and the far-fetched, but Clive knew enough of the dark side of London life to be aware that not only abducting but murder itself was often committed, and that in some cases neither the crime nor the criminals were disclosed.

His heart sank, and yet it was torn and throbbled with a sense of fury; but he maintained the show of composure, for Tibby's eyes were on him with pathetic anxiety and a nameless terror. "We will go down to the Rents," he said. "Some one may have seen something, we may obtain some clue."

They went down in a cab, and while Tibby ran up stairs in the vain hope of finding Mina there or some message from her, Clive looked about him almost as hopelessly. He had kept the cab waiting at the archway, and half a dozen urchins were larking round it and chaffing the cabman. One boy, older than the rest, was emphatically impudent, and the cabman flicked at him with the whip and said severely:

"Ain't you never seen a decent cab before, you young savidges? I s'pose you 'aven't, an' it's a reglar treat for you."

"Garn!" yelled the boy. "Why, we've got a cabman as lives here, an' keeps 'is 'orse in that stable." He kicked his leg in the direction of a shed. "An' wot's more he's just gone off on a job with a young ldy."

The blood rushed to Clive's face and he turned away so that the cabman and the boys should not observe the excitement, the wild excitement of hope which he knew displayed itself in his face. Then he sauntered toward the group, lounged against the archway for a minute or two, and incident, that may be connected, however indirectly—have you noticed any strangers about the Rents?"

Tibby made an impatient gesture. "The Rents always goin' in and out; an' I don't take no notice of 'em. Why should I?" She was silent a moment, then she looked up with an acute expression on her shrewd face. "Stop! There was that man, that dirty furrin chap that helped to bash you at 'all that night—' I saw him crossin' the archway—why, it was the day I met you and let you go to Mina."

"Koshki!" said Clive. "Yes," assented Tibby. "An' come to sepaking of furriners, there was a kind of Italian woman or an Indian, an old woman wrapped in shawls like, with gold earrings; I've seen her once or twice, and I saw her walkin' on 'the other side of the road to Koshki; but they didn't speak to each other."

ventually catching the boy's eye, nodded to him. The boy looked afraid at first, but Clive nodded again and held up a shilling and, after a time, the boy idled toward him.

"Look here," said Clive, drawing him apart; "I'll give you this and another one on the top of it if you'll tell me where the young lady told 'e cabman to drive her."

"Wish I could, guvnor," he said, "but I don't know. I see her start, but she didn't give no orders; she seemed flustered and upset, and she 'anded up a paper to Bill, the cabman."

at Without Fear of Indigestion or Sour, Acid Stomach

Instant relief! "Pape's Diapepsin" ends your stomach trouble forever.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women to-day know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

Make fairly hot soaps with a good quality of white sud, immerse the piece, allow it to soak for half an hour, then swish and pat it around. Squeeze out as much moisture as possible and repeat the process. If it does not look perfectly clean, repeat the process.

Rinse it through clean, warm water until all traces of soap are gone, squeeze it, place it on a towel, twist the towel tight to get more water, put a clean towel in a large agate pan or a china bowl, place the article lightly upon it, put all in a warm oven and leave the door open. The washed piece should look almost like new.

THE KING'S CONDITION.
LONDON, Nov. 4.
The King had a somewhat disturbed night but was better this morning and could move with less discomfort.

MUNITION FACTORIES.
LONDON, Nov. 4.
Private factories controlled by the Minister of Munitions for making munitions and other war material, now number 1,349.

DURATION OF PARLIAMENT.
LONDON, Nov. 4.
Political circles are exercised over ministerial silence with regard to the Parliament Act, which orders that Parliament automatically expires within ten weeks. It was expected that special legislation would have extended the life of the present parliament before now, but ministers make no sign.

NO GENERAL ELECTION.
LONDON, Nov. 4.
The Marquis of Lansdowne announced in the Lords to-day that the Government is firmly of opinion that there should be no general election until after the war.

SUGGESTION IN THE COMMONS.
LONDON, Nov. 4.
The suggestion was made in the Commons to-day by Sir Alfred Mond, that legislation be enacted suspending, during the war, payment of rent, insurance premiums, interest on mortgages and similar fixed obligations on men who join the Army. Sir Mond, whose suggestion was received with favor, said that these charges were like millstones around the necks of many men who, except for them would be glad to enlist. Asquith said the Government fully recognized the importance of the problem, and promised to consider the suggestion carefully.

OPERATIONS IN THE KAMERUN.
LONDON, Nov. 4.
An official communication issued to-night, concerning operations in the Kamerun region, says that the towns of Mamfe and Bafra have been occupied by the British, whose casualties were small.

COMPELLED TO PAY INCOME TAX.
LONDON, Nov. 4.
Chancellor of the Exchequer McKenna to-day promulgated an order under which the agencies of American mercantile firms, operating in Britain, will be compelled to pay income tax on the basis of their total earnings in Britain, including money returned to the United States. Hitherto these agencies have only paid income tax on profits expended in the country. The new tax will hit some of the agencies very hard, and may have the effect of discouraging imports, what in war times are considered luxuries, and a castle unfavorable to the trade balance. Arrangements are being made to make the tax more equitable.

REPLIES TO WOMEN ABOUT ZAM-BUK

Mrs. M.—Zam-Buk being quite free from all mineral coloring matter is quite safe for baby's skin sores. Apply twice daily.

"Louise."—No itching will occur in a sore if Zam-Buk is used. For the ulcer, cleanse well and apply Zam-Buk freely.

"Well pleased."—Eczema is often a stubborn disease, and if Zam-Buk has cured you in three weeks, no wonder you sign yourself "Well pleased."

"In Doubt."—Write to the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, sending one cent stamp for reply, and mention this column. They will send you a free box.

"Anxious Mother."—Whether the eruption is eczema or something less serious, you should treat it. Apply Zam-Buk daily. One week should show an improvement—likely less, as Zam-Buk cures very quickly.

"Economy."—The real price of Zam-Buk is 30 cents, but some druggists cut their profit rather than sell inferior ointments, and you can get it sometimes for less.

"Puzzled."—If your doctor has said that Zam-Buk is better than what you before tried, we see no reason why you should remain puzzled. This great herbal balm is now regarded by the medical profession, as well as by the great army of mothers, as the best family ointment. Take the advice from your doctor and try Zam-Buk.

GREEK CABINET RESIGNS.
ATHENS, Nov. 4.
Following defeat in Parliament to-day, the Cabinet resigned. The immediate cause of the defeat was a remark made by War Minister Yanakitsas, which was considered by former Premier Venizelos as insulting to the National Assembly. Venizelos demanded an immediate apology. Zaimis declared the Government stood behind the War Minister and demanded a vote of confidence. Discussion of proposed military laws, the correspondent says, raised a question between the Minister of War and the majority of the party of the former Premier Venizelos. On this issue Zaimis decided to ask for a vote of confidence. The discussion then turned on the foreign policy of the Government, whose policy, he considered, harmful to the interests of the country. All the party leaders engaged in the discussion. The final vote was 147 against Government 114. The Athens newspapers which are opposed to Venizelos consider a dissolution of parliament certain.

GREEK CABINET CRISIS.
ROME, Nov. 4.
Commenting on the Greek cabinet crisis, the Giornale d'Italia, says: Logic seems finally to have triumphed. Venizelos should return to power, but in Balkan affairs any surprise can be expected.

GREECE GROWS UNEASY.
SALONIKA, Nov. 4.
According to information secured from Greek sources—believed to be reliable—King Constantine has assured the French Minister at Athens that should Roumania join the Entente Allies, or should the situation in Serbia be appreciably ameliorated by an Anglo-French offensive movement, Greece will not be unprepared to change her present attitude. Reports of Russian troops landing at Varna have made a deep impression here.

VENIZELOS ACCLAIMED.
LONDON, Nov. 4.
A General News correspondent at Athens says that after Premier Zaimis had handed his resignation to the King, the Chamber of Deputies again assembled. There was a striking demonstration in honor of former Premier Venizelos.

WOMEN SOLDIERS.
LONDON, Nov. 4.
There were nearly two thousand women in Serbia's army when I left. Women soldiers were being organized, said Dr. Grutch, a Serbian army doctor, now in London, to-day. The women are not of special battalions. Some wore the complete uniform of the soldier for the sake of comfort, others wear skirts with blue tunics. The younger women go with their brothers or husbands; they are women of every class of the population. We cannot prevent them from serving.

ing. They inspire the men with whom they march side by side, and with whom they move shoulder to shoulder in the trenches. These women are not afraid. Nobody in Serbia is afraid, and the women rankers do not lose their nerve under fire. We realize the great power of our friends in the war. Every soldier feels we are only part of a world army, and if it is necessary, that our army shall be lost, well, it is only a part. There is time yet to save Serbia, but assistance for her cannot come too quickly.

THE FIGHTING IN THE BALKANS.
LONDON, Nov. 4.
An artillery duel is in progress all day to-day at Valandovo in the Strumitza region, between the French and Bulgarians. The Serbians are reported to be retiring in good order from Tetovo before a superior force. In Dabina Pass, which protects the road to Prilip and Monastir, the Serbians are continuing to repel furious assaults by the Bulgarians. Generally speaking, the despatch says, the situation of the Serbians is extremely critical, but if they are able to hold out a little longer, the situation will take on an altered complexion. Further reinforcements of the Allied troops are being moved rapidly forward.

KING PETER GONE TO THE FRONT.
AMSTERDAM, Nov. 4.
The Bulgarian statement received to-day from Sofia says King Peter of Serbia has gone to the front to encourage his soldiers and take them the news that French and British forces are hastening to their assistance.

LANDING OF TROOPS CONTINUE.
PARIS, Nov. 4.
Landing of French troops at Salonika continues without incident, according to an announcement made this afternoon by the French War Office on operations in the east.

SERBIANS HOLD THEIR OWN.
LONDON, Nov. 4.
A late wireless message received through Scutari says that the cohesion of the Serbian army has been preserved. Where necessary troops are making an orderly and strategic retirement, rear guard actions are being carried on efficiently and the armies are being maintained unimpaired. The Serbians are holding the line west of Uskup and Kupprija, and along the Babuna mountains. The railway is safe from Salonika to a point near Kuprija. At Kragevatz the Germans found nothing of much value in the arsenal. All important equipment had been removed. Up to the present advice says the Austro-Germans have paid dearly for the advance they have made. No decisive battle has been fought, as such action will not be accepted by Serbians at present.

GERMANY TO CONTINUE THE WAR.
LUCERNE, Nov. 4.
Prince Von Buelow informed the Associated Press to-day that he had not come to Switzerland on a peace mission. He declared Germany was resolved to continue the war to its conclusion by arms.

ITALIAN DENIAL.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.
At the Italian Embassy to-day, this statement was issued: The Italian Embassy has been instructed to deny most emphatically that any kind of attempts have been made by the Italian Government to discuss peace.

REPORT OF WITHDRAWAL UNTRUE.
BERLIN, Nov. 4.
Among the items given out for publication to-day by the Overseas News Agency was the following: Reports that the German Government had asked the withdrawal of the American Minister at Brussels, Brand Whitlock are absolutely untrue. The German Government had no reason to ask for his withdrawal, since his personality and his personal activity have never caused dissatisfaction.

DISASTROUS WRECK.
MARSHFIELD, Oregon, Nov. 4.
Twelve persons are known to have lost their lives, and seven passengers are still unaccounted for, through the wreck of the steamer Santa Clara, which went ashore south of Coe Bay on Tuesday.

CLEARED FOR OPORTO.
The schr. Benjamin C. Smith cleared for Oporto yesterday taking a cargo of 3274 quintals of codfish from Alan Goodridge and Sons.

La Grippe and Colds

In La Grippe and Colds, Anti-Kamnis (A-K) Tablets are unexcelled, as they stop the pain, soothe the nerves, and bring the rest so greatly needed by nature to restore the system to health. Physicians have used these tablets for over twenty years, in the treatment of colds, fevers and grippe, and have found no other remedy more useful in these conditions. Anti-Kamnis Tablets are so inexpensive, so pleasant to take, so satisfactory in their results, and so useful in all conditions where there is pain, that A-K Tablets should always be kept in the house for the time of need. Many of our ablest physicians obtain perfect results in grippe and colds by cleansing the system with Epson salts or "Acolids," a very good cathartic, putting the patient on a limited diet, and administering one A-K tablet every two or three hours. This treatment will usually break up the worst case in a day or two while in milder cases, a 10c and comfort, follow almost immediately. These tablets are also unexcelled for Neuritis, Rheumatic Pains, The Pains of Women, Indigestion and Insomnia. All druggists have them. Genuine A-K Tablets bear the K mark.

"Come Out and Fight."

New York World.—They need something to hearten them up a bit and excite their risibles in London, and so we respectfully suggest, that the despatch from The World's Berlin correspondent describing a visit to the German fleet be widely distributed in England.

"Do you think the British fleet will ever come out?" is the question that everybody on board asked the correspondent. Why does not Great Britain "throw the glove in the naval arena for Germany to pick up?"

The ships on which this delightful segment of German public opinion was found are as snug as bugs in a rug under the guns of Wilhelmshaven. They are as secure against come-outers as a cave-dweller, and designedly so.

The British fleet has come out sufficiently to control the seven seas. Aside from a few submarines, there is not a German ship afloat anywhere except in neutral harbors and in heavily protected German waters. Merchant-war and merchantmen alike have disappeared, while British flags, commercial and naval, are seen as frequently as in peace in every ocean.

A Child's Tongue Shows if Liver or Bowels are Active

If cross, feverish, sick, bilious, give fruit laxative at once.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver, and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, Mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "Fruit Laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhea, indigestion, colic remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

MARRIED PEOPLE.

Young Rollo and Alice got married last year and then in a palace began their career. From goldsmiths and cutlers they laid in a store; they'd footman and butlers and servants galore. They'd dachshunds and poodles, apparel the best, and autos, and Boodle's the family crest. They had every blessing that mortals pursue, but—this is distressing—they'd nothing to do! Alas, for folks who are idle no fortune can please. So Alice and Rollo—a matter of course, such things often follow—indulged in divorce. Oh, Reuben and Bridget got married last May; their roll was a midget—he worked by the day. They entered a cottage of tumble-down sort, their fodder was potage at ten cents a quart. He's earning his wages along with a gang; she's canning green gages in that cheap shebang. And neither will fidget for things out of reach; for Reuben loves Bridget, she thinks he's a peach. And indolence raises no cloud in their view; they're busy as blazes, with plenty to do.

LEFT FOR ALICANTE.
The French barqet Yvonne Odette sailed for Alicante yesterday taking a cargo of 4939 quintals of codfish from Balne Johnstone and Co.

In Milady's Boudoir.

PRETTY TEETH ESSENTIAL.

Pretty teeth, or at least white teeth, are very essential to beauty when beauty smiles. But teeth, whether pretty or ugly, should be kept immaculate in appearance at all times.

The teeth of most people are sufficiently far apart for small articles of food to lodge between them, and if these particles are not quickly removed, their decomposition begins, injurious acids are formed and a decay of, first the enamel, and then the teeth proper, begins.

Besides, such decaying particles, give rise to poisonous gases which make the breath bad, retard digestion, aggravate the nervous system, and poison the blood making, as you see, radiant health impossible. The ill-bred custom of using a toothpick in public is not to be considered for an instant, so it is advisable to retire to one's room or the bathroom as soon after a meal as possible, and there use both toothpick and dental floss to remove any particles of food adhering to the teeth, first having brushed them with warm water.

Household Notes.

Maple-sugar frosting will make a plain cake into something extra fine. Use one cupful each of maple and granulated sugar, a teaspoonful of butter and three teaspoonfuls of cream. Boil five minutes and stir till slightly thickened. Dip the cakes in, will not taste of cornstarch.

Fish is much more delicate if it is boned. This is very easy to do by cutting the fish in half, running the knife close to one side of the backbone, then with the fingers lift the backbone from the flesh; the rib bones will come with it. The other side will have a few bones that can be easily pulled out.

If towels have become gray and dingy looking cover with cold water in which are dissolved shavings of pure white soap and the juice of a lemon. Place the kettle on the back of the stove and allow to come slowly to a boil. Rinse in tepid water, then in blue water, then dry in the open air.

There are many ways of cooking tomatoes that they can be served once, and sometimes twice each day, and to some extent reduce the meat bill. With good cream for the dressing there is nothing more delicious than fried tomatoes. Then they can be stuffed and baked. They can be scalloped or they can be stewed.

There should be in every sewing room a chest of drawers in which to keep unfinished work, new material and patterns. There should be a trunk where all new and useful scraps of all kinds are kept. A sewing table for thread, needles and smaller things is a great convenience. A low rocking chair without arms and a long mirror would make a sewing room a delight to work in.

Ladies' Costumes Fall--1915--Styles.

Was there ever a more fickle lady than Dame Fashion? She is always making changes, and this season has surely surpassed herself.

There is a more decided change in this Fall's styles than has been known for many seasons. While materials are similar, Serges, Gabardines, Tweeds, Cord, etc., the designs are absolutely unlike any of their predecessors. Coats are of many styles, chiefly a la militaire, with high collars, snug-fitting sleeves, and the entire coat in some instances is beautifully braided. Skirts are much fuller, both pleated and gored, and are worn very short.

As descriptions are quite impossible, we can only say that we carry the largest and smartest line of Ladies' Costumes in the city.

Prohibition Election.
 By press hour there is a good chance of having the count for Ferryland and Harbor Main, and just a possibility of getting that for Port de Grave. The delay is due to waiting for the outport boxes sent from St. John's to the capital towns of the various electoral districts. The only box sent out last night was that for Ferryland which left by carriage at 9 o'clock last night. The rest of the boxes were sent out by the morning's train. The votes cast at the Seamen's Institute were as follows:

Harbour Main	30
Port de Grave	38
Harbour Grace	87
Carbonear	17
Bay de Verde	210
Trinity	221
Bonavista	203
Twillingate	51
Fogo	64

This shows that 1086 voters resident in the outports exercised their franchise in these booths. At the General Election 1313 electors voted there. As it is believed that votes marked were overwhelmingly on the side of Prohibition, and as 900 of them were cast by voters resident north of St. John's, it is a good indication of the feeling north.
 As to the West End District of St. John's, the city showed a vote of 2134. St. Philip's 98, Goulds 34, Kilbride 17, Boggy Hall, 26, Freshwater Valley, 10, Blackhead 2 with Petty Harbor and Maddox Cove not stated. This means that the vote cast in the West End District was over 2321 and as 1945 is sufficient to give a 40% vote in this district, it is possible it has been reached.
 In the East End district, the city vote is said to be about 1900. The figures for Bell Island and Pouch Cove, Torbay, Middle Cove and Outer Cove are not available. The population in these places is two-thirds of that in the city limits of this district, and if these external voters have voted in the same proportion as in the city, it would mean that over 3,000 votes were cast, which would leave a chance of a 40 per cent. vote being reached in the city.
 The figures for Conception Bay, so far as they are available, seem to indicate a voting of about 44 per cent. of the electorate, which leaves a very small margin for a 40 per cent. vote in favor of Prohibition. The districts of Trinity, Bonavista, Fogo and Twillingate are expected to give a heavy vote in favor of Prohibition. How the West will go there is little indication.

Supreme Court.
 Court met at 11 a.m. to-day pursuant to adjournment. Present the Chief Justice and Mr. Justice Emerson.
Bishop, Sons & Co., Ltd. vs. John J. Murphy.—On motion this case is set down for Thursday next, the 11th inst., at 11 a.m.
Abram Kean vs. W. F. Coaker and The Union Publishing Co.—It is ordered that the verdict and judgment herein be set aside and a new trial ordered, the costs of the trial and the motion to abide the event of the next trial.
 In the matter of the application of Simon G. Faour for a writ of mandamus, it is ordered that the motion for an order nisi go, returnable in eight days. Court adjourns until 11 a.m. to-morrow.

A New Trial.
 In the Supreme Court to-day it was ordered that the verdict and judgment in the recent libel suit between Abram Kean and W. F. Coaker and The Union Publishing Co. be set aside, and a new trial ordered. It is not definitely known when the new trial will take place, as practically all the days of the November session are set down for other motions. Unless the hearing of the case is set for a day during the third week, it is not likely that the new trial will take place before next month.

Reids' Boats.
 The Argyle is due from the westward this afternoon.
 The Clyde left Lewisporte at 2.30 p.m. yesterday, going north.
 The Dundee left Port Blandford at 8.40 a.m. to-day.
 The Glencoe left Marystown at 7.15 p.m. yesterday, going west.
 The Ethie left Clarendville at 7.45 a.m. to-day.
 The Home leaves Humbermouth this afternoon.
 The Kyle arrived at Port aux Basques at 8.15 a.m. to-day.
 The Meigle leaves North Sydney to-night.
 The Sagona left Harbor Grace at 10 a.m. to-day, coming south.

A Test Trip.
 We hear that the two representatives of the Russian Government who came here to negotiate for the purchase of three or four of our powerful ice-breakers were highly pleased with the S.S. Beothic, which was on her trial trip yesterday, the speed that she made was well up to expectations. The deal has not yet closed, though there is every likelihood of matters being finalized to-morrow.

Personal.
 By last evening's express Misses Frances Morey, Madeline Donnelly, Isabel LeMessurier, Cecil Windelen and Annie Worsley left en route to England to take up the nursing of our wounded soldiers and sailors. May success attend their laudable mission. A large gathering of people assembled at the railway station and gave them a right royal send-off.

Here and There.
FOGOTA RETURNING.—The Fogota left Joe Batt's Arm at 10.34 a.m. to-day, coming south.
SAGONA ARRIVES.—The S.S. Sagona, Capt. Parsons, arrived in port from the Labrador service at 2.30 p.m. to-day.

REACHED GRAND BANK.—The schr. Lady St. John has arrived at Grand Bank from Lisbon with a load of salt.
POLICE COURT.—(Before Mr. Morris, K.C.) A boy for vagrancy was remanded for 8 days. One drunk was discharged.

PIT PROP CARGO.—The S.S. Caribbrook left Little Bay Island to-day for Bonny, England, with 2,100 cords of pit props.
WEATHER.—A light South West wind prevails along the line of railway to-day with the temperature ranging from 37 to 45 above.

HERRING VESSELS.—The American schooners Judique and Henry Nickerson reached Bonne Bay yesterday to load herring for Gloucester.

NOTICE.—The C. C. C. Reserves will meet in the Armoury on Sunday after Last Mass. Business important. By order, J. T. WALSH, Hon. Sec.—n5,11
HIS EXCELLENCY RETURNS.—His Excellency the Governor, Lady Davidson, Miss Davidson and Capt. Abraham who had been visiting Trepassey, returned to the city by the Southern Shore train to-day.

Appreciation From British Soldier.
 A prominent lady of this city who in knitting socks for our soldiers has winter enclosed her card with a simple message for the recipient thereof, has received a very pleasing note of acknowledgement from Driver C. H. Elliott, 25 Field Ambulance, 8th Division of the British Expeditionary Force. Driver Elliott is extremely grateful for the splendid socks received and says that the soldiers are appreciative of all the good work the women of Newfoundland are doing in their behalf. In his note he asks the lady if she knows Mr. John Maundrell, tailor, Duckworth Street. Upon telling Mr. Maundrell that enquiries were made about him he tells us that he met Driver Elliott at the store of Butt, Vosper and Knight, clothiers of Plymouth.

"LOOKED THE PART."
 Men, must look right and be right to command success. Clear eyes, clear skin and clear brain mean money to the man who possesses them. Bull eyes, sluggish brain and a pimply, blotchy skin are a serious handicap.
 O'Mara's Hypophosphites will remove pimples and blotches, brighten the eye and increase vital power by giving you pure blood and good circulation. Price $1.00.
 We recommend it because we know what it contains.

Residents Complain.
 Residents of Cornwall Avenue are complaining strongly of the number of goats that are allowed to roam at large in that locality, causing much damage to property. We are informed by one lady in particular that a number of the mischievous animals entered her garden last night and completely destroyed her cabbages and other vegetables. The loss to her is a serious one, and it is particularly interesting to see the product of a season's assiduous cultivation destroyed by these animals. We trust that the authorities will take sufficient steps to prevent a recurrence of this in other parts of the city.

A True Friend.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

"He that doth a base thing in zeal for a friend burns the golden thread that ties their hearts together."

—Jeremy Taylor. "Oh, do tell me. You know I'm dying to hear something real interesting."

"No, I can't; it wouldn't be fair to the girl who told me. I promised her I would breathe a word to anyone."

"But you needn't tell me the names, just tell me the story without any names."

"You would guess it if I did that." "No, I wouldn't. Besides, I think you might tell me. You remember I told you about our engagement before I told anyone else."

"I know, my dear, and it was lovely of you; but that was your secret, and this isn't mine."

"But I wouldn't tell a soul," persisted the tease.

"My Final Decision Was Not to Tell." The possessor of the secret shook her head. "I wish I could, but I can't," she said regretfully but firmly.

"You wait. I'll make you tell it," threatened the other, half laughing and half piqued.

So ended the conversation to which had been a passive witness. The next time I saw the tease I asked her she had found out the secret.

"No," she said, "she wouldn't tell me."

"Weren't you really glad, after all?" asked.

"Glad? Why?" "Well, you like to tell her things. Weren't you glad to know she couldn't be persuaded to tell her friend's secrets?"

She cocked her head and looked at me thoughtfully, while she mulled over what was evidently a new aspect of the matter to her.

"That's different!" "Yes," she said. "Of course I don't want her to tell the things I tell her, but—"

"That's different," I finished for her. "Exactly," she said, with a rather shamefaced laugh that showed she realized her own injustice.

It is unjust, isn't it? to try to make our friends act in their relation to others as we wouldn't want them to act in relation to ourselves.

And yet I have often heard women beg each other to tell others' secrets, as in this case, and I have also frequently heard one friend urge another to break an engagement in her favor.

It is a mean and foolish thing to do. You discredit your friend by your entreaties if he refuses; you lose, whether you admit it or not, some of your respect for and trust in him if he acquiesces.

You should never ask a friend to treat anyone else as you would not want him to treat you. And when you meet the spirit of "I could not love thee, dear, so well, loved I not honor more," in friendship you should respect and rejoice in it, not try to break it down by your entreaties.

It may mean some small loss in ungrateful curiosity or in some minor disappointment, but it means the infinitely greater gain of the knowledge that you have a true friend.

END OF KAISERISM IN U. S. New York Herald.—The American citizen of Teutonic blood, while a hard headed and positive person, is notably kind at heart, possesses high ideals and reveres womanhood. Mr. Riddler, whose whole attitude with reference to Kaiserdom has been wrong.

is shocked at the killing of Miss Cavell and says so, and he probably more nearly voices the sentiments of the Americans of German descent than do the German Herald and the New Yorker Herald. The stain which has been put on the German military machine will never be wiped out, but

Miss Cavell will not have died in vain if her shocking fate causes the scales to drop from the eyes of those who have been duped by the hyphenated shedders of ink in the cause of blood and iron and brings an end to Kaiserism in the United States.

Our Regiment in the Firing Line.

By the mail last night there were more letters from our Regiment at the Front. The following extracts from the boys is news that will be most interesting to our readers, and we are very pleased to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mitchell on such splendid news from their son, Harold, who was the first man of the Regiment to win promotion in the firing line.

Dardanelles, Sept. 30, 1915.
 "We went into the trenches on Sunday night, and came out again on Monday night. Just before we were supposed to leave the Turks tried to attack the right of the line, but were driven back with heavy losses. We had to stand to, and were in the bombardment. I can tell you it was very exciting for six hours or more. What with shells bursting and the rapid firing of rifles one has no time to think of anything. However it was a nice little christening, and now when it really comes to us we can't mind it. Harold Mitchell has been made a Sergeant. He got it for good work under fire the first time we went into the trenches. He and fifteen men were detailed to go out after dark, and dig a new trench, they just reached the place when the Turks discovered them, and they opened rapid fire. Harold ordered his men to lie down, and consequently saved them all. They were out five hours, but got the trench completed."

From another letter we hear that while the fight was on the British ships took part in the bombardment, and were giving them all the help they could.

Here is what another letter says: "Harold Mitchell has won another stripe, and is now a Sergeant. He won it for special work in the trenches. Our Company are delighted as he is the first man in the Regiment to gain promotion in the firing line. We hear that after being here for about a month on trench duty, we will be sent to an island not far from here for a rest."

THE CRESCENT PICTURE PALACE.

The Crescent Picture Palace is screening a program of six pictures to-day. Little Viola Dana is featured in "The Portrait in the Attic," an Edison release. "The Box of Chocolates" is an interesting society drama. A thrilling western drama is "The Good in Him." "Socially Ambitious" is a comedy drama. A great comedy is "The Pest of the Neighbourhood" and a most interesting and instructive film at this time is one showing how big war guns are made. Mr. Dan Delmar sings an Irish song; this together with a class musical programme and effects makes one of the best Crescent shows of the season. There will be extra pictures at the big matinee to-morrow. Send the children they are sure to have a good time.

BRITISH THEATRE.

An excellent musical treat was given on the patrons of this popular theatre last night when Mrs. Ayre sang: "O Dry Those Tears." Her rich powerful voice flooded the spacious hall with sweetness, and the applause received was an indication of the popularity in which this talented woman is held. To-night she will sing: "Tommy Lad" and will be accompanied by Mr. H. Gordon Christian. The feature photograph for to-night will be a great Broadway success entitled: "Opened Shutters." It is a masterpiece in 4 reels. "Won with Dynamite" is a sparkling comedy that will be greatly enjoyed. At the matinee performance to-morrow afternoon the children will be presented with bags of candy.

ATLANTIS OFFERS A CHALLENGE AT CONTEST.

To-night the double contest at Rossley's will be one of the events of the season. There will be the ordinary singing and dancing, three big money prizes; then Miss Atlantis who weighs one hundred and twenty pounds will give a handsome prize to anyone who can lift her off her feet; let the strongest person in town come forward; she is not held down in any way. Mr. Fisk is showing his great novelty act; his mechanical arrangement came by the Florioz and he will show a very novel act. Atlantis will give her marvellous fire dance, serpentine and Roman dance. The vaudeville and contest will take place until after the stores close to give all a chance to see it. The pictures are delightful. Don't let the children miss Saturday's matinee, the children will receive a novelty from Miss Atlantis. The great Irish Carroll and Ellor Act will appear Monday.

"THE TREY O' HEARTS"

Continued To-Day.
 The programme arranged for the Nickel Theatre to-day and to-morrow is of the finest quality and it will attract large audiences. The 14th instalment of the "Trey O' Hearts" will be shown. This is the second last chapter and is highly interesting. There is a great social drama in two acts entitled: "The Conflict" in which Lillian Drew, Ruth Stonehouse and Richard C. Travers are the principals. "Janet of the Chorus" is also in two reels. It is a comic by the Vitagraph Co., and is one of their best. "The Hazards of Helen" will be continued and there is a comedy: "A Temperance Lesson." The children are reminded of the bumper matinee to-morrow afternoon. The attractive serial: "The Exploits of Elaine" with Pearl White and Arnold Daly will begin next week.

"Still Getting Worse."

"No one can measure your 'Nerve Force' as it leaves you."
 "Prescription A" will increase your 'Nerve Force' wonderfully.
 Nerve Force is the very motive power of the body as petrol is of the engine.
 If you are using up too much Nerve Force through overwork, worry or other causes—you are like a motor car with a leaky petrol tank, however good the mechanism it must break sooner or later.
 Now Prescription "A" not only restores lost Nerve Force but actually increases it to a remarkable degree. Try it. You will really be astonished at the result.

"Kindness" Replies to Mr. Fox.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Please allow me space in your valuable paper to make a few remarks in reference to a letter which appeared in your issue of Wednesday last, under the heading "Cruelty to Animals," and signed "Cyril James Fox," where he states, "If persons who seek by anonymous contributions to the press to aid the cause for which the Society for the Protection of Animals is working, would pursue a more practical course and lodge their complaints, suggestions or recommendations with one of the Society's Directors or its Inspector, more beneficial results would follow." Now I think he is a little bit mistaken. For instance, if I were to make a complaint to the Inspector for the sake of dumb animals, should be done, he could tell me to mind my own business as he had been appointed for that purpose, and who would blame him, as he had been commissioned for that purpose. I would have to go away feeling mighty cheap over such treatment, and that is all there would be about it, and nobody would know if there was any complaint or not, but when one makes certain statements through the press every one knows about it who reads the paper, and they then become interested and you save yourself probably from being put in a humiliated position. Bear in mind that I am not stating that the Inspector would do a person dirty for he is too gentlemanly to do such things, but there is nothing to prevent him, with regard to the Society and the Inspector, I esteem them and appreciate the noble work they are doing and have done for the sake of dumb animals, but I don't see why Mr. Fox should come out and state in the manner which he did that I misstate facts. There is not a vestige of truth in my statements. As I will here give Mr. Fox to understand that I am just as capable of stating facts as he is, and if he is liable to misstatements that I am not, and what had stated in my letter on Monday last with regard to the sheep having their legs tied and so forth, and how they were pitched on vehicles to be taken away, can be proven time and again and borne out by many witnesses which will prove my consistency for truth, and if Mr. Fox had been near the entrance to his office on Monday between two and half-past two o'clock, he would have seen an express wagon pass by his door with five or six sheep in it with their legs tied and laid in like so many packages probably going to some outlying settlement, which has been often the case. I did not say they were really starved or famished; I said perhaps they were, which was possible for them to be in more ways than one. As to the Inspector looking after their landing, herding and feeding, I am well aware of all that, as I have personally seen him there attending to such cases, but he cannot be here, there and everywhere. I believe him to be a very efficient officer, and the case of those animals having their legs tied and so forth might not have struck him as being cruel, but those acts have taken place, nevertheless I believe if it has he would have looked into the matter. Now I think I might here draw Mr. Fox's attention to one or two other acts of cruelty which he is not aware of. In the early part of the season about a quarter to eight in the morning, there was a shipment of cattle driven to Mr. George Neal's premises along Water Street. One of the attendants had in his charge a bull which he was leading by means of a rope attached to an iron ring which was inserted in the animal's nose. In passing the Gas Co's office the lad there was washing the windows with a small hose and the water was running in the drain on the sidewalk. The poor animal being very thirsty tried to quench its thirst with the muddy water. The attendant tried to get him away and the means he adopted to do it was by taking the rope up short to the animal's nose then twisting the ring around enough to twist the nose from its face, saying at the same time, "don't you will make you come. When he was told not to treat the animal in such a brutal manner, he replied he was not treating him brutish and that he would get a drink when he went down to the wharf. Now I have known very intelligent animals who have done queer stunts for their trainers, but I never knew an animal who would be intelligent enough to understand a stranger when he told him where he would be able to quench his thirst. Another day at two o'clock three head of cattle were driven up from Mr. Neal's wharf on to Water Street. The animals not knowing where to go gave their attendant some trouble, and caused him to get irritated, whereupon he struck one of them across the neck with a stick to all appearances like a fair sized picket, breaking it in two, but Mr. Fox nor the Inspector were present on either one of these occasions, or else the parties concerned would have been brought into trouble. As I said before they could not be here, there and everywhere. Enough said for the present.

Drummer Alex. Hennebury.

Mr. George McF. Hennebury, of The Evening Telegram staff, is in receipt of a letter from his son, Drummer Alex. Hennebury, of the Mid. Regiment, who at the time of writing Oct. 8th, was at the 15th General Hospital at Alexandria, and was doing well. Alex. was reported wounded in the casualty list received here on Oct. 8th, and it is a coincidence that he wrote to his parents on the very same day that they received the official notification of his being wounded. In his letter he says that he was wounded on Sept. 28th. While advancing to the firing line, a shell burst quite near him and a piece of shrapnel entered his right thigh. He was attended on the field by a doctor who temporarily bandaged his wound and ordered him to the base hospital by the seashore, about a mile from the firing line. He was brought there by stretcher bearers, and the next day was put on board an hospital ship and taken to Alexandria. Since arriving there he has been carefully nursed and though at the time of writing the wound was healing, his leg was still very weak. He expected that when he would be a little stronger he would be taken to London to make room for other soldiers. Alexandria is a beautiful city throughout is a cheery one and has about it a true British ring. He is longing for a speedy recovery, that he may again take his place amongst his comrades in the Regiment.

Lieut. Stan Duder.

We are pleased to hear that Lieut. Stanley Duder, R. N. R., of H. M. S. Whitby Abbey is rendering splendid service in the Eastern waters. While on the way from Port Said to Dedda he sighted a torpedo coming towards his ship from the port quarter. With great promptitude and coolness he put the helm hard to port and the torpedo passed about ten feet astern. The Captain's report to the Vice-Admiral was one of which Lieut. Duder might well feel proud, as will also his fellow countrymen who are ever proud to hear of the brave deeds of Newfoundlanders. Amongst other commendatory remarks the Captain said:—"I have to report that Lieut. Duder was the first man on the ship to detect the torpedo, and it was due to his prompt action that the ship was saved."

Makes Hair Grow

The time to take care of your hair is when you have hair to take care of.
 If your hair is getting thin, gradually falling out, it cannot be long before the spot appears.
 The greatest remedy to stop the hair from falling is SALVIA, first discovered in England. SALVIA furnishes nourishment to the hair roots and acts so quickly that people are amazed.
 It destroys the dandruff germ, the little pest that saps the life that should go to the hair from the roots. Large, generous bottle for 50 cents.

Thanksgiving Day.

The Diocesan Magazine of recent date says:—"The Bishop has appointed Sunday, the 21st November, being the 25th Sunday after Trinity, to be observed throughout the Diocese as a Day of Thanksgiving to Almighty God for the mercies temporal and spiritual of the year now drawing to its close. He recommends that the thank offerings of the congregation be devoted to the Home and Foreign Mission Fund."

Salvation Army.

Lieut.-Colonel Smeeton who arrived by last evening's express to conduct the installation of Lieut.-Colonel Otway, is an old friend of Newfoundland. The Colonel was in charge of the Army's work on the Island some years ago, and during his term of office he made a great number of friends, not only among the many Salvationists on the Island, but also among the public in general. His devotion to the interest of the work while here endeared himself to his co-workers, who, together with his many friends in St. John's will be pleased to see and hear him again. Since the Colonel left this Territory he has travelled all over the North American Continent, and has filled many important commands. Previous to his returning to Canada he was Financial Secretary for the Western States Territory with his headquarters at Chicago. After the S. S. "Empress of Ireland" disaster, he offered his services to the General to take the position of Financial Secretary for Canada and Newfoundland. His predecessor having gone down in the Empress. The Colonel's re-appointment to the Territory was well received, and he has the confidence of all officers in the Territory. The latest proposition he has to erect is to find ways and means to solve a large Territorial Training College at Toronto, which will cost in the neighbourhood of $200,000.00. The Colonel will preside at the meeting to-night, and we feel sure all his old friends will make an effort to see and hear him.

Thanksgiving Day.

The Diocesan Magazine of recent date says:—"The Bishop has appointed Sunday, the 21st November, being the 25th Sunday after Trinity, to be observed throughout the Diocese as a Day of Thanksgiving to Almighty God for the mercies temporal and spiritual of the year now drawing to its close. He recommends that the thank offerings of the congregation be devoted to the Home and Foreign Mission Fund."

MET ON TRANSPORT.—Writing to relatives in the city Lieutenant Victor Gordon, who was then at Malta on his way to the Dardanelles, says he met the Rev. Cyril V. Camplin-Cogan, who was on his way to the Dardanelles Front, as chaplain. The gentleman is well known here, having been Rector of St. Mary's Church for several years. The meeting of both Chaplain and Lieutenant must have been a happy one.

THE GREEK CRISIS.

LONDON, To-day.—The defeat of the Greek Government in the Chamber of Deputies and the consequent resignation of the Zaimis Cabinet is the latest sensation afforded by the Balkans. While of course it was understood that Venizelos, the former Premier, had it in his power to turn the Government out when he so desired, having a majority in the Chamber at his back, the fall of Zaimis came unexpectedly, as it was believed the leader of the majority had decided to accord the Premier sufficient support to enable him to remain in office for the present at least. As so often happens, however, a vote of confidence demanded by the Government on a matter of minor importance, some difference of opinion between Venizelos and the Minister of War on the military proposals of the Government was defeated by a vote of 147 by 114. By handing in his resignation and that of his Cabinet to King Constantine, Zaimis again places on the King the responsibility of deciding the future policy of his country. In London the first impression was that the defeat of the Government would mean the immediate recall of Venizelos and the fulfillment of the original agreement between him and the Allied powers to go to the assistance of Serbia. In this belief the news caused a distinct rally on the stock exchange. A later despatch from Athens, however, indicated the possible dissolution of parliament. Should this course be taken it would be at least two months before the election could be held and the new Chamber meet at Athens. In the meantime either the Zaimis Cabinet resignation, which has not yet been accepted, with perhaps a change in the Ministry of War or some other Cabinet favoring the King's policy of continued neutrality, would have charge of affairs, and there would be no change in the military situation. Even should Venizelos be called up-sians are advancing in strong force and have captured important positions near Czernowitz. This movement is calculated more than anything else to influence Roumania. The Serbians who are making a stand south of where they are supported by the British and French, consider their retirement before the Austro-Germans and Bulgarians. In the north and northeast, the Bulgarians are now within ten miles of Nish and advancing northward from Ulskup toward Pristina, thus besides being in danger of losing their capital the Serbians are threatened with being cut off from the south and will have only one line of retreat to Montenegro. They are fighting a severe rear guard action and are leaving little or nothing behind for the invaders. Fighting continues in the Champagne district and France with the fortunes of war fluctuating. While the Italians persist in their offensive, the Austrians claim that no progress has been made by their adversaries.

AEROPLANES ATTACK MERCHANT VESSELS.

LONDON, To-day.—Germany seems to be trying a new method of attack on British merchantmen with aeroplanes. The Cork steamer Avocat which arrived at Manchester tells a story, according to the Liverpool Journal of Commerce of a 35 minutes engagement with three hostile aeroplanes, at 11 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 30, one of aeroplanes a large battleplane which dropped 36 bombs, some of which missed the steamer by not more than 7 feet; when the bombs were exhausted the battleplane fired on her with machine gun. The ship's sides and deck were struck by bullets but all crew escaped injury. At a height of from 800 to 1000 feet all the aeroplanes dropped bombs and attacked steamer with rifles.

AVIATORS BURNED TO DEATH.

PARIS, To-day.—Two military aeroplanes collided while landing yesterday at Le Bourget. They caught fire and four aviators manning the machines were burned to death.

REFUSED TO CALL REICHSTAG.

AMSTERDAM, To-day.—According to Berlin newspapers received here, the Imperial Chancellor has refused the Socialist request to propose to Emperor Wilhelm a speedy convocation of the Reichstag sitting to begin and end in November.

NO RUSSIAN LANDING.

LONDON, To-day.—A despatch to Reuter's from Petrograd says there is no truth in the report that Russian troops landed at Varna, the Bulgarians chief Black Sea port.

NO CHANCE OF GREECE.

ROME, To-day.—Reports concerning peace negotiations are arousing interest here, although little credence is attached to the rumor that Prince Von Buelow, former German Ambassador to Italy, is charged with such a mission. Italian opinion sees in the numerous references to possible peace negotiations a means for bringing pressure on the Allied Governments. The Italian papers published his opinion not to be deceived by such falsehoods. The Tribune asserts it is in a position to say the Entente Allies have certain guarantees that the Rome Cabinet will not be a party to such obscure combinations. All Roman newspapers agree in pointing out how ridiculous would such attempts be at the moment when the union of the Allies has been drawn closer with our taking into account the renewed victorious military activity.

A SORROWFUL STORY.

LONDON, To-day.—One of the most tragic stories of the war is revealed in the publication in the official London Gazette of the order dismissing from service Lt.-Col. Ryan, Sixth Canadian Mounted Rifles. Ryan was the holder of several war medals. He had spent nine months in the trenches and was wounded three times. He obtained a short leave of absence to see his mother, who had planned to come from Canada determined to see her son before he was wounded again, since she believed that the fourth wound would be fatal. The mother sailed from New York and the Lieut.-Colonel left the trenches in France and came to England to greet her. He prepared a royal welcome for his mother, whom he worshipped, and reserved apartments for her at the Savoy. The mother died aboard the steamer the day before it reached Liverpool, and Ryan, who met the vessel at Liverpool, received her body. After he had made arrangements for the burial of the body, Ryan, already a nervous wreck as a result of his harrowing experience in the trenches, was completely demoralized by the new tragedy in his life. He came to London unmindful of everything and disregarded the order for his return to the front. The sequel came in the Gazette's announcement that he had been court-martialed and dismissed.

THE KING RECOVERING.

LONDON, To-day.—The King is recovering slowly. The following official bulletin was issued to-day: "The King had a somewhat better tonight. His appetite is improving, but he still has the same pain especially on attempting any movement."

THE GREEK IMMOVABLE.

ATHENS, To-day.—The King has summoned the leaders of all parties to a conference on the situation, resulting from the overthrow of the Ministry is probable. Unless the King decided upon radical course of dissolving Chamber which cannot be recovered while the army is mobilized, there is no reason to believe the Greek ruler has changed his views regarding the entry of his country into the war. While he is credited with anti-Bulgarian sentiments and with the belief that Greece cannot afford to quarrel with the Allies because of her long and vulnerable coast line, those close to him assert he is irrevocably resolved to maintain neutrality.

S. S. PRESIDENT DEAD.

PITTSBURG, To-day.—A telegram to-day from London announces the death there yesterday of Sir Robt. Laidlaw, the President of the World's Sunday School Association.

NAVY LEADER REMOVED.

AMSTERDAM, To-day.—The "Kruisung," a copy of which has been received here, says Admiral Von Capelle, Director of the Administration Department of the German Admiralty, has been placed under half pay.

Sportsmen Return.

Dr. Unger, Messrs. Dinkey, Harris and Morrison, of the United States Steel Corporation, who were in the interior caribou hunting, returned last evening with their full number of heads, some of which are very fine. These gentlemen express themselves in the most glowing terms of our hunting grounds and return feeling quite delighted with their visit.

MAN DROWNED.—Yesterday afternoon Walter Holmes, of Seldom, aged about 28 years, was accidentally drowned by falling from a motor boat while towing a vessel. He leaves a wife and two children. The above information was received to-day by Deputy Minister of Justice Hutchings from the Magistrate at Pogo.

PRISONER AND WARDEN HAD REMARKABLE ESCAPE.

New York, June 14.—Hyman Leibman, a prisoner in the Tombs, who was to have been placed on trial to-day for murder, jumped from the fourth tier of the prison cells to-day, forty feet, into the arms of Warden Hanley. The latter heard the keeper's shout, looked up and braced himself to catch Leibman as he fell from the stone flagging. Leibman escaped with only a shaking up and a few bruises. Warden Hanley was bruised, but not hurt.

BATTLE OF INKERMAN 1854. One of the most fiercely contested fights of the Crimean War. It has been called the "Soldiers' Battle" because, owing to the fog, the troops fought hand to hand with the enemy, under little direction from their officers. The arrival of the French troops resulted in the Russians being driven back.
GUNPOWDER PLOT, 1605. A conspiracy to blow up the Houses of Parliament when the King was present to open Parliament in person. Guy Fawkes, one of the conspirators, was arrested at his post in the cellar. The plot is commemorated in the annual searching of the vaults below the Houses of Parliament at the opening of the session.

The Hired Girl.

By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."
The hired girl question is one reason why we should all be happy and content with a careful life of poverty. It is only after a man begins drawing a salary instead of wages that he comes down with the hired girl question.
The hired girl is a movable body who travels in an ellipse like a comet. She comes from no one knows where, and departs immediately into obscurity. Comets are an improvement on hired girls, however, because they do not take handkerchiefs and teaspoons with them when they go away.
The hired girl is a movable body introduced into a household by the housewife to provide a change of trouble. When she can't stand cooking any longer she gets a girl. When she can't stand the girl any longer, she goes to cooking again. They say that Heaven is a place where there are plenty of hired girls who are good natured, industrious, neat, honest and talented designers of good dinners and who never, no never, go away. This explains why four women attend to church to one man.
The hired girl is usually imported, and when first unloaded in this country is earnest, timid, and obliging. Unfortunately hired girls pick up American ideas very quickly. The best hired girls are found in the homes of your best friends and can be obtained for a dollar extra per week. This explains why there are so few permanent friendships in America. The job should be approached with great caution. The hired girl is very shy and can rarely be induced to enter a family where there are more than two. When setting a trap for a hired girl, remove all furniture that is had to dust, have the piano tuned, conceal the children in the attic and tack a sign, "Maid's room," over the guest-room. Then cover the library table with gold, and trust to luck.
Hired girls are frequently taught to cook, wash dishes and do many other useful stunts. Some people also attempt to teach them to come in early at night and handle cut glass without breaking it. But then some people will attempt anything. They are subject to many ailments, among which are relatives and matrimony. Many a fine hired girl wears herself out carrying home food to her relatives. On the other hand, matrimony is likely at any time to enter a happy home and snatch away a hired girl who is a perfect treasure.
Hired girls should always be treated kindly and the mistress of the house should not ask to go out more than once a week. In return for good treatment, a hired girl will almost always feel gratefully toward her employer when she leaves to take a place where there is no washing, and the parents have agreed to chloroform their children.

A druggist can obtain an imitation of MINARD'S LINIMENT from a Toronto house at a very low price, and have it labeled his own product.
This greasy imitation is the poorest one we have yet seen of the many that every Tom, Dick and Harry has tried to introduce.
Ask for MINARD'S and you will get it.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

Is it proper or necessary for a man to hold a girl's arm when walking with her? asked Violet.
"It is improper and wholly unnecessary except to help her over a difficult crossing or to protect her when in a crowd," answered her mother.

Men's Underwear.

FOR THE COOLER WEATHER.

Amongst others we have, we wish to mention here

Men's Fleece Lined Underwear,

in a superior quality.

Price now only 45c. garment.

But while you may be considering your pocket, in the long run you will find you will have more money by considering your health and buying

Wool Underwear,

STANFIELD or NU-KNIT.

We stock both of them, suits to suit everybody.

Then we are at the present moment offering a Special Lot of Men's Shetland Lamb's Wool Drawers.

And as regards Underwear you can get nothing better. Owing to the practical impossibility of getting Shirts to match these this year, and if so at impossible prices, we are offering this lot of Drawers at 25 per cent. under last year's low prices.

Gas the Beneficent Spirit.

The nightly hot bath is the children's joy, and a pleasure to their nurse also, provided that its preliminaries do not involve wordy warfare with an indignant cook who requires the kitchen fire for her own purposes. All such trouble is obviated by the installation of a gas water-heater, which solves the hot water problem once for all.

It is as great a boon to the master of the house who wants to shave in a hurry as to the hockey-playing daughter who comes in tired and muddy, or to the nurse whose baby charge shows signs of a threatened chill. Such symptoms often yield before the simple remedies of an immediate hot bath and a night passed in a room well warmed and at the same time ventilated by a gas fire. Where gas is the family friend, there health, peace and contentment should reign supreme.

POTATOES.

Our late advices by mail and wire state that the Potato Crop at P. E. I. this season is a partial failure, and only about half of last year's yield can safely be counted upon. In addition to this fact the P. E. I. Government have large orders in hand for the British and French Armies and as a consequence much higher prices are naturally expected. We were lucky in securing
