An effort to convey some reasonable stars has been made by Dr. William Lockyer in the London Mail, who tells us that photography is capable of recording stars which not even the largest telescope in the world can show us. "Everyone knows," says Dr. Lockyer, "that stars are not all of the same brightness. Astronomers use the term "magnitude" for brightness and adopt the system of changing from one magnitude to the next greater magnitude by multiplying by two and a half; thus a star of the first magnitude is two and a half times brighter than a star of the second magnitude, a second magnitude star two and a half times that of the third, and so Now with the unaided eye an ob-

It has an antiseptic effect. It relieves acid mouth and thus not only prevents harm to the teeth, but serves to sweeten the stomach.

It stimulates digestion and helps to prevent the forming of gas that causes dyspepsia.

Read from a widely known medical work:

"Chewing gum aids tooth nutrition and the cleansing action is a definite benefit—it prevents dyspepsia. Good chewing gum is excellent for bad digestion.

For years he managed his paper from Paris and the Mediterranean, where he spent much of his time on a splendid yacht. His staff were kept in a continual state of agitation by cablegrams containing instructions and requiring their immediate attendance wherever their employer happened to be. One of Gordon Bennett's freaks was his unshakable belief in the sagacity of his troupe of dogs. If they fancied an applicant for a position or increased salary, he got it. If they disapproved of him, he was turned down. One enterprising journalist, hearing of this peculiarity, took the precaution of this peculiarity, took the precaution of sprinkling his trousers with aniseed. When the folding doors separating Gordon Bennett's library from the waiting-room were thrown open and he advanced into the latter with his dogs, they made a bee-line for the journalist and covered him with caresses. Gordon Bennett was astonished. He had never seen the dogs so pleased. He inquired whether the applicant was fond of dogs. "Yes," was the reply. "I spend all my time with them." "Ah," said Gordon Bennett, "they are good judges of hu-

They were a party of drummers in and Karachi will point the way to the commercial room of a hotel and included a Yankee and an Irishman. The Yankee had told the tallest yarns about the ability of his countrymen along acrobatic lines and claimed "We have an acrobat in New York who can take a sixty foot ladder, put it standing on the ground and with the other end in the air he can climb to the top balancing the ladder all the time. He can then cross over and come down the other side without mishap, still balancing the ladder." Pat admitted that was good workfor a Yank, but he said, "We have a man in Ireland who can take a sixty foot ladder and balancing it just as you say, he can climb to the top, and when he gets there, he swings the bottom side up and goes up it again." "Huh," said the Yankee, "well we got a painter in America who once painted a snow scene so like nature that a man caught a cold in the head while sitting near it with his hat off." "That ain't much," said Pat. "We have a man in Ireland, a real painter, who once painted a bottle of ginger beer . so like nature that the cork flew out before he had time to paint the wire to keep it in."

On March 27th the Neptune again forged onwith the Eagle and Thetis lying 8

On the following day the report was received that the Terra Nova had taken seals ,and by Saturday, 10 miles from Partridge Point, the flags of the Terra Nova's pans were first sighted, and at nightfall the ship was passing through their dead seals. On Sunday the ship's crew assisted the Eagle in clearing a space for the aeroplane, when a successful fight was made. when a successful flight was made and a large body of seals reported. The aeroplane patch was struck on the following day, the ship's position then being 9 miles East of Partridge Point. During the day 12,000 prime young whitecoats were killed and panned. For the next few days the time the patch was cut up, a total of 33,000 having been accounted for. Hauling seals on board proved to be an arduous task ,as the ice was very rough, with numerous lakes of water, and it was with great difficulty the men worked the pelts. On Thursday the weather broke and a heavy swell carried the remaining pans miles away from the ship's position. Rough-

"Look here," said Field Marshal Sir William Robertson "you mustn't do that,, you know! You're my chief now." But "Little Stee" shook his head. "I know my own place," he said. FOR THE CURE OF Skin Diseases, Anemia, Lack of Blood, Paleness, Impure Blood, Lack of Ambition and Vigor, Debility, Weakness, Tired Feeling, Boils, Pimples, etc.

THERE is no Remedy of more universal application than a genuine true-and-tried Blood Purifier and Blood Builder. A medicinal preparation that will truly purify, revitalize and renew the blood, restores hope and pleasure, ambition and happiness, vigor and vitality. It is of inestimable value not only as a strengthener of the system, fortifying it against invasion of disease, but also as a cure for Chronic Diseases which depend upon an impoverished condition of the blood. Diseases of this nature are usually caused by impurities in the blood deposited through the inactivity of the Liver and Kidneys.

These secretions if not removed from the circulation, gradu ally form poisons which deteriorate the condition of the blood and allow other diseases to obtain a more ready entrance to the system. In the effort of nature to throw off these impurities, frequently pimples, boils, carbuncles, etc., appear, and it is wise to respond promptly to the Warning of Nature.

THIS SARSAPARILLA

is a genuine preparation scientifically prepared from the best and purest remedies for the purifying and rebuilding of the blood. It should be taken every spring, as at this season the blood is more apt to become impure and impoverished. Keep your blood in perfect condition and you will be prepared to fight life's battles with greater success. One Bottle of this Blood Purifier is all that you will need to take to produce results. TRY A BOTTLE. PRICE 50c. POSTAGE 20c. EXTRA.

"The recovery in the franc is due, as pointed out in our City Notes, to the raising of credits for the Bank of France in London and New York. The amount of the sterling credit is £4. 000,000, which has been arrange stock banks; two other proposals for raising French credits in London are not being proceeded with in view of the recovery in the franc exchange. This has been so rapid as to reveal very clearly the existence of considerable speculative positions."

Paris Correspondent.

"It must be appreciated that we are no longer in the period when Poincare could flout Lloyd George, Bonar Law, or Stanley Baldwin. France is in no mood for a great game of isolationist politics! she is really, in my judgment, in no state of mind favourable to playing a great role in the world at the expense of her home peace. France, as I see her at the moment, is desperately sick of the responsibilities of the Great Power game and not in the least willing to keep that form of show up be--FRANK SIMONDS.

In Sunday Times. A Critical Week.

"Thirty or forty years hence, when the history of these times can be fully told, last week will probably be marked in the calendar as one of the most critical for Europe since the war ended," writes Mr. J. A. Spender in the Westminster Gazette. "It is impossible for Englishmen to realize what the fall of the franc to near 120 meant to France, or what gulfs of political and economic ruin seemed of a sudden to be opening up for the French people. The flight from a currency is like a run on a bank, which gathers impetus as it goes along, and it can only be stopped by quick and heroic measures, which of necessity include foreign support.

"This was obtained for the franc n the nick of time last week after days of such anxiety as may well have bleached the hair and shattered the nerves of all but the most brassbound of Ministers and financiers. We may imagine what was going on behind the scenes from the few confused cries that were heard in the auditorium-'dictatorship," 'indefinite auditorium—'dictatorship," 'indefinite postponement of elections, etc.; but by Thursday the corner was turned, and we saw the result in the sensational recovery which pulled the franc back thirty points, to the confusion not only of speculators, but of other quite innocent people, who had been compelled to buy or sell francs in the course of their business during the previous days. A Real Turning Point? "Now the question which lies before us," added Mr. Spender, "is whether this recovery of the franc is to be a real turning point in European policy or a mere breathing space before another and worse catastrophe. By using the gold reserves of the Bank of France the French Government can undoubtedly get sufficient foreign credit to stabilize their exchange at or near its present level, pending measures which they alone can take to set their financial house in order. But if these measures are not taken, stabilization will end when the gold is exhausted. Now, since it is highly improbable that foreign bankers would wish to be in a position in which their only remedy would be to drain France of gold at some moment when it would seem imperative to her to keep it, it is a fair presumption that the bankers who have come to the aid of the franc have obtained some assurances about French policy.

"I say French 'policy' rather than French finance, since no radical reform of French finance is possible without a change of policy. The 20 per cent. addition to taxation to which the Senate has at length consented is, of course, useful, but no one can suppose that it will meet the case if the struggle with Germany is to continue, and French finances submitted to the strain of immense payments 'on German account' on the one hand and a policy towards Germany on the other, which makes it altogether improbable that anything will be recovered from the Germans. The pegging of the franc means, therefore, I hope, that assurances have been asked and given that the realities of the case will at length be faced in a practical spirit."

First Aid to the Franc. "That the franc should have jumped up some fifteen points in two days. on the strength of negotiations for loans in London and New York, is in a sense reassuring," says the Manchester Guardian. "It shows that the panic has been stayed. But it is also disquieting. It shows a deplorable instability. The market for francs has become the sport of speculators and sentiment. It answers to the moods of the moment instead of to the legitimate play of commerce.

"The loan of a few million pounds steadies the nerves because the holders of francs know that the French

Government now has the means to fix
