

THE WORLD AMONG THE CHURCHES
The Yorkville Methodist Church on Yonge Street.

As a change from the more heterogeneous developments of the Christian church, your reporter resolved yesterday morning to visit one of the more simple and orthodox forms of worship, and selected for this purpose a Methodist church, not the gorgeous cathedral of Wesleyanism which perpetuates the memory of Pius's presence in Toronto, but a quiet little church on the Yorkville portion of Yonge street. The church is not a pretty specimen of gothic architecture, though the cool breeze and subdued light from the open door and windows were pleasant after toiling up the six young ladies and four gentlemen. As usual in Methodist churches it occupied an eminence behind the pulpit. But also a distance Methodistism has wandered since John Wesley's preachers denounced wearing of artificial flowers, ribbons and feathers. Of the six fair ones in the choir every one wore a crown of artificial hair, and every one wore an artificial flower, except one, who had a gold-colored feather just too sweet for anything.

Mr. Allan's Funeral.
The remains of the late G. L. Allan were interred on Saturday forenoon at St. James's cathedral, the funeral being conducted by J. R. Robertson, and N. F. Lyon, pending the arrival of Mr. Allen's son from Ottawa, by whom all expenses were defrayed.

Provincial Appointments.
His honor the administrator of the government has been pleased to make the following appointments, viz: W. H. McFadden of Brampton, barrister-at-law, to be county court attorney and clerk of the peace for Peel. N. Tuttle of Ingersoll, to be clerk of the sixth division court of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

The Union Station.
Union station, Saturday, 5.07. To the world: Give this station another turning over. There is no person or signal to let passengers know which train goes east or west. I have already answered a half-dozen questions while the station policeman is inside reading a paper. Arrangements are very bad. I have just had a conversation with a conductor and he complains also.—TRAVELLER.

Walker Committed to Trial Perjury.
From the Winnipeg Sun of Wednesday. Yesterday William Walker stood his preliminary trial before Col. Peebles on the charge of perjury, preferred against him by W. H. Naylor. This afternoon he was committed to trial on the charge of perjury, preferred against him by W. H. Naylor. This afternoon he was committed to trial on the charge of perjury, preferred against him by W. H. Naylor.

A Scotch Party's Picnic.
Among those who went on the Empress of India to Oakville Saturday was a Scotch party, with five pipers who blew a sham, or something that occasioned the chipmunks to come out on the branches of the surrounding trees and gaze on him with astonishment and wonder. It may be far remarked the Scotch "folk" had a bevy of exceedingly lovely young ladies in the "gathering," of whom a gentlemanly Scotchman observed: "These are the veritable daughters of the Gael. Behold here are Flora McDonald, Lady McBeth and Helen McGregor." The ladies partook of their frugal lunch with a zest that showed that their appetites was as fine as their complexion, which is saying a good deal. But what is most remarkable about this party was that they entertained sundry looking people who their enemies say is not disassociated with the press.—"Scots wha hae" or words to that effect was a success. Hurrah for the bonnie lassies.

Fruit Growers' Attention.
We beg to call the attention of fruit growers to Lambert's sales of all of the Canadian fruits and the manner in which the sales are carried on. Mr. Lambert is making a splendid market for the growers around Toronto as all fruit dealers in the city are buying from him. This system has brought buyers to Toronto from Kingston, Belleville, Montreal and the principal cities and towns outside of the city. It is their interest to try the plan and not have their fruit handled three or four times before the retail dealer gets it into their hands. Growers certainly receive more money for their fruit by such a transaction. They are notified each day by post card to the sale of their fruit. All communications addressed to George Lambert, auctioneer and proprietor of Lambert's fruit market, Toronto, will be promptly answered and he will give information regarding the sale of fruit.

Gambling on Trains.
From the Grand Rapids Herald. In spite of the utmost efforts of the Grand Trunk authorities to put down gambling on their trains, it still continues, especially on trains that carry emigrants. On the train that leaves Toronto at 11.45 on Wednesday evening, a card party induced an emigrant to have a game of cards, and when he had got everything, including his watch, he dreamed as the train was slack in Wednesday evening, no information having been given until he had got clear. These cases are becoming more frequent every day.

Venue's Wild Predictions.
From the New York News. According to the Philadelphia press, predictions, the 20th and 27th days of this month were to have been the coolest of the summer. If the citizens of this locality could catch Mr. Venue about this time they would probably give him a warm reception. Instead of being the coolest, yesterday and to-day have been the hottest days of the season.

WORLD BALLADS.
SHOWING THAT CURTAINS AND KISSING GO BY FAVOR.
Mads who go to matine daily
Of a curate hear me tell;
Mild as milk and sound as Paley,
All the ladies liked him well.
And he prayed in tones Gregorian,
Nodding a saint so bland;
And he preached with voice stentorian
Sermons sweetly second-hand.
He had not a street acquaintance,
With the wicked, churchless sects;
And his congregation's sentence
Proved him right in all respects.
Spoken was his st. st. st. st. st.
And his soft face shaven well,
And you bet your bottom d. d. d.
Gingham black his umbrella!
And like other reverend ministers,
Every Sabbath he bettel
That he loved the holy sisters,
And the ladies liked it well.
But a new ecclesiastic,
With a stiffer collar band,
And in ritual more gymnastic
And with unnumbered more bland
Came and preached of Heaven and Hades,
And he too, I grieve to tell,
Very often kissed the ladies,
And the ladies liked it well.
But as kissing goes by favor,
Are the ladies always do,
Their first friend away they gave,
Left the old for the new.

THE SPORTING WORLD.

Decker of St. Alban's, Yt., has posted $100 and challenged Wm. Kennedy to wrestle collar-and-elbow for $500 a side. Since the recent glove contest between Sullivan and Wilson, hundreds of young men are learning to box.—New York News.
