Mother—"Did you call Edith up this morning?" Daughter—"Yes, but she wasn't down." "But why didn't you call her down?" "Because she wasn't up." "Then call her up now, and call her down for not being down when you called her up."

The balance of White Duck and Wash Skirts half price.—Swift's.

The Blyth Standard says:—Rev. A. C. Tiffin, who has recently come to Blyth, is nicely settled in the parsonage and getting acquainted. He is being splendidly received by the people of his own church, as evidenced by the large congregations and welcomed by all the citizens in town.

The Bowling Club did themselves credit on Wednesday when they brought home from Forest the Trumbull shield, a rink composed of J. McKercher, Garson, Stapleford and Rumford winning the trophy which is now on exhibition in Mr. Rumford's window.

Besides these, there were 36 claims for stock killed and small damage to buildings, settled and paid, since previous meeting on 20th May.

The united services of the Congregational and Presbyterian congregations held on Sabbath last were well attended. Rev. H. V. Workman will conduct the services again next Sabbath. Morning service in the Congregational church at eleven o'clock, and evening service in the Presbyterian church at seven o'clock.

Brown-eyed girls make the best wives; grey and very-blue eyes denote more brains, but their owners do not make the best wives because they are usually extravagant and too fond of pleasure. This is all according to a family doctor who had made a hobby, during a space of forty years, of watching the married life of his patients.

Why do business people dress their windows, or place their goods in front of their stores? To advertise of course. The trouble with the plan is folk have to come to town to see them and they may not do that. An advertisement in the Guide-Advocate is another way and the folk read about the bargains at their home and come to town to buy.

The Watford voters' list for 1921 has been printed and is now in the hands of the Village Clerk from whom copies can be obtained. From it we glean that there are 430 persons qualified to vote at municipal elections, 388 at elections to Legislative Assembly, and 146 persons qualified to serve as jurors. The last day for appeal is Wednesday, August 24th.

The Watford Public School had a record of success this year in the Entrance examinations, practically the whole recommended class being successful. Doris Kelly, one of the pupils of the school, taking the highest marks in E. Lambton. Out of six who obtained honors at this centre five were from Watford school. The majority of the class were one-year students.

The Oil Springs correspondent of the Petroler Advertiser-Topic says:—Tiny Rogers, the pitcher umpire of the Watford ball team, is some class in both positions. As an ump. he can't be beat by any of the league ump. He and Big Bill are in a class by themselves. The game would be more interesting and have larger attendance if the players would pattern after them.

Since he had been in France he was very fond of airing his slight knowledge of French. On leaving his friend one evening he said, "Au revoir!" "What do you mean?" "I mean goodbye—'au revoir' is good-bye in the French language." "O, I see; well, carboic acid to you." "What does that mean?" "That means good-bye in any language," said his friend, with a grin.

Rev. Mr. Hager would like to meet the entire membership of the church at Watford and Zion next Sunday at the Communion of the Lord's Supper at 11 and 2.30. The subject for meditation will be "Discerning the Lord's body in the Sacrament." At the evening service in Watford which will be bright and short, the subject for meditation will be the Benediction "The Lord bless thee and keep thee, the Lord make His face to shine upon thee and be gracious unto thee, the Lord lift up His countenance upon thee and give thee peace."

In another column will be found a money bylaw to raise $18,000 for the purpose of paving Main street from the south side of Front street to the fourth line with a cement pavement twenty feet wide, to be voted on August 22nd. The total cost of the pavement is estimated to be $30,000, but arrangements have been made with the Ontario government to pay 40 per cent. of the cost of such pavement leaving $18,000 to be provided for. This will be spread over twenty years, which will make the yearly payment for that time $1569.32. Against this amount we understand, the county council has agreed to refund the amount paid by the village each year to the county on the Good Roads system, which will reduce considerably the amount to be collected for the work.

The Watford, Warwick and Brooke voters' lists for the year 1921 have been printed and delivered. They are now up in conspicuous places and may be inspected by the public. If your name has been omitted or otherwise improperly recorded you should take the proper course to have such errors corrected at once. Lists may be seen at any clerk's office and we would advise a careful perusal that all who are qualified may have a vote at the next election.

A despatch from Calgary says:—"H. Greenfield of West Lock, who, it is generally believed will be selected by the Farmers of Alberta as premier, was born in Winchester, Eng., 52 years ago. He is an out and out farmer, and has passed through the mill from being a hired man to the owner of one of the finest farms in Northern Alberta. Mr. Greenfield came to Canada in 1892, and for several years was engaged in farming at Watford, Ont. In 1906 he homesteaded at West Lock, and has resided there ever since. Mr. Greenfield is a man of strong personality, and is considered by his admirers to be eminently fitted to guide the Farmers' destiny in Alberta."

WATFORD 6—OIL SPRINGS 2

The last game of the league schedule on Watford ground was handed over to the locals on Wednesday evening when they defeated Oil Springs 6-2. The game as a whole was very slow, with only a few instances shown on either side of any pep. It would appear that both teams were playing mostly substitutes.

CEMETERY SUBSCRIPTIONS

The work being done by the Cemetery Committee is meeting with general approval and plot owners are responding with subscriptions and words of commendation. From the letters received lately by the secretary we quote a few which show how willing the writers are to assist not only with cash but by words of appreciation. All the monuments have now been straightened and other permanent work is progressing under the care of Mr. John Thomas.

Mr. Thomas Goodhand of Dauphin Man., writes:—Enclosed find $2.00. I can assure you that it is with no small share of pleasure that I am enclosing same. I am sure that myself and other absentees should be very thankful to know that the spot where our dear ones are laid to rest is being beautified and looked after.

Mr. W. S. Calvert, Toronto:—Enclosed please find $2.00 on account of my father and mother's plot. I am very pleased to do this and trust the appearance of the cemetery may be much improved.

F. H. Hayhurst, Toronto:—Am glad you did not overlook me when asking for subscriptions for the care of the cemetery. I am enclosing cheque for $10 for your funds.

Kate L. Virgo, Toronto:—Please find enclosed $2.00 towards the care of our cemetery plot. Your plan is surely an improvement on the old way.

John White, Swift Current, Sask.:—I enclose $2.00. Am quite pleased to see the interest you take in the cemetery and you can depend upon a contribution from me every year.

These and the many other similar letters received by the Secretary must be very encouraging to the members of the Cemetery Board who are willingly giving their time and energies to this worthy cause.

If any of our readers at a distance who have relatives buried in the Watford cemetery and are desirous of helping beautify the resting place of the dead wish to help in the good work their contributions will be acknowledged if sent to Mrs. F. W. Rogers, Sec.-Treas., Watford.

CHOP STUFF

Parkhill Rural Telephone Co. will increase rates from $12 to $15 a year. Caradoc-Ekfrjd Co., also seeks an increase.

Margaret Stevenson a candidate who wrote at Melbourne for the Entrance examination recently was successful in obtaining the certificate at the age of ten years.

A number in this vicinity have harvested their dutch set onions. This is the earliest that dutch set onions have been pulled in many years, in fact some say that it is a record.

The date of the West Middlesex U.F.O. picnic at Glencoe has been indefinitely fixed for Wednesday, August 24. The picnic will be held in Herbert Weekes' grove and among other prominent public men to speak will be Premier Drury.

John Campbell, 6th concession of Caradoc, got up quite early a few mornings ago to attend to some work and later, when his wife went to look for him, he was found dead in the barn. Campbell had been melancholy, it is stated. He is survived by his widow, two daughters and one son.

At the recent London Conference held in June, permission was given to sell the Methodist Parsonage at Ravenswood and the Kinnaird Methodist church and shed, also the furnishings, in harmony with the deed of land given to the Methodist church. The proceeds in both cases to be used for the purchasing of another parsonage.

At a special meeting of Wheatley Village Council on the night of the 11th, the school board presented a requisition for $35,000 to build a new continuation school, in order to provide school accommodation for the children of the section, up to sixteen years of age, as called for by the Adolescent School Attendance Act, which comes into force Sept. 1.

The Amherstburg Echo is named as the defendant of a libel action for $5000 in which Donald Watt McCormick, of Amherstburg is plaintiff. Mr. McCormick has put the case in the hands of Wilson and Wilson, Windsor barristers, and the writ was served Friday. The action arises out of articles alleged to have been printed in the Echo concerning McCormick, who was charged with assaulting A. J. Wharton, chief of police of Amherstburg.

Frank MacRae, of London, formerly of Bothwell, is the inventor of a water wheel which promises to revolutionize power energy. It is claimed that the wheel is capable of unlimited power in a current of an ordinary stream, no abnormal fall being a requisite. The inventor has been working on his invention for four years, and during that time has constructed four models all on the same principle but differing in detail.

Windsor boasts of the only woman railroad tower "man" in Canada. She is Miss Muriel Stevenson, 20 years of age. She guards the Michigan Central and Canadian Pacific tracks in the main yards at Windsor daily, from 4 p.m. to midnight. Miss Stevenson got into railroading at the death of her father. Forced with the problem of supporting herself and six young sisters, she took her father's post, and now fills the job as well as any man. When her work is done nightly, she crosses the tracks to her cottage near the railroad station to mother her "family" and superintend the running of the household. During the war Miss Stevenson in addition to other duties, found time to take an active part in the war veterans relief work.

NOTE AND COMMENT

There are 88,000 Freemasons in Ontario.

Pity some of those people who were born tired never get punctured.

Loose leaves of pure gold have been discovered in Benoit tp, in New Ontario. The body in which the rich ore occurs is about eight feet in width.

The Canning correspondent of the Simcoe Reformer says: "We are pleased to see Mrs. Tangley's back in the village." The lady no doubt, as the Newmarket Express-Herald suggests, has adopted V-cut gowns.

Let us never forget that God made home among the first things that He created. Before commerce and trade laws and statutes, thrones and altars there were men and women, fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters, lovers and friends, hearthstones and homes.

You will find honesty among thieves, truth among fools, but you will find few sparks of manhood, womanhood or principle in a knocker. A thief might have a kind heart; a fool might be a faithful friend; but a man who knocks his home town isn't worth the hole in a doughnut in any sort of human relationship.—Penticton Herald.

An Amherstburg garage in an advertisement says that it has inaugurated a taxi service "with nice clean, smooth-running cars for weddings, christenings, funerals or other picnicking tours." This advertiser must be some relation to a lady who attended a memorial service for a deceased sister in some fraternal order. In giving her report of the affair before the next meeting, she said in closing "We had a very pleasant and profitable time."

In Simcoe they have had some trouble with their high school teachers on the score of impertinent demands for salary. The board sacked them all, and the teachers guild kicked up its heels and tried to make it impossible for the board to get a full staff for next term. But the board succeeded and every town in Ontario is delighted. These little uprisings of the school board may cost the taxpayers something at first, but they will bring ultimate relief.—Port Rowan News.

Hon. R. H. Grant, Ontario's Minister of Education, has the proud distinction of being probably the least criticized members of the Drury Government, yet his Department is now one of the heaviest spenders. For education the appropriation is higher than any former Government dreamed of, yet in or out of the legislature there has not been a word of serious criticism or censure. This is remarkable and is surely in part, at least, an evidence of the confidence reposed by the electorate in Mr. Grant's judgment.—Arnprior Chronicle.

Automobiles from the states of Kansas, Ohio, Illinois, Minnesota and Oregon have been noticed in the city during the early part of the week. One tourist from Kansas stated that he passed many cars on the roads in the states and that practically all of them were heading for Canada. "Canada is the big attraction on the other side, this year," he stated. "Any man who owns a car and who has two or three weeks' vacation is planning to spend it in Canada. I like this country; there are no stiff formalities here and everything is so much cheaper than in the middle Western states. I have met many Canadians in my travels who boast this country to the skies, and I can tell you, their boasting is justified. There is no country like Canada," he declared as he started up his engine and left for points in Eastern Ontario.—Chatham News.

MOVE AROUND BEFORE THE IVY BEGINS TO CLIMB UP YOUR LEGS

When the days are long, get ready to file off ball and chain.

Wait until the asters are blooming and then, no matter where you are, go somewhere else. Only an oyster remains forever at the old home-stead.

If the all-wise Arranger had meant for you to look out of the same window all the time, he wouldn't have given your legs.

The planet you are now visiting may be the only one you will ever see. Even if you get a transfer, the next one may not have any Grand Canyon or Niagara Falls.

Move around before the ivy begins to climb up your legs.

It is true that a rolling stone gathers no moss, but it gets rid of the rough corners and takes on a lovely polish. Besides, who wants to be covered with moss.

Go on a journey every year so that you may jolt out of your brittle head piece, the notion that our home township is the steering-gear of the universe.

Some hermits are learned, but only the travellers are wise.

If you have earned a vacation take it. The time has come to exchange your cold currency for some new sensations. You are due to accept a reward for all the years of sacrifice and denial. But you worry. If you splurge around and have a good time maybe the children will not have all the funds they need fifteen years hence.

TEACH THE CHILDREN

Parents can do a good deal to prevent serious accidents if they will see to it personally that their children do not play in the streets, and that they are taught to be careful and to keep their ears open when walking along the roads. Too many children have a habit of dodging across the street or road in front of an oncoming auto, believing they can judge the distance and speed of the machine. Others try to be "smart" dodging first one way and then the other, to confuse the driver, and more than one accident has been the result of this. Teach your children that there is danger in an auto, no matter how careful the driver may be, and no matter how closely they watch. It is always the unexpected that happens, and your own little boy or girl may be the next one killed or seriously crippled. We are going to have auto accidents, that is sure. But let us use a little precaution and by warning our children see if we cannot avoid having a little more.

HARVEST 1921

Our August is coming, our August is here; The summer months ending, rewards should appear. A veteran in living, his counsel regard In the flush time of youth respect the reward. It's the law of our being we cannot dispute We all desire fruitage and partakers of fruit; It's the way we're created, we've sowed what we reap, Then why should we grumble be it bitter or sweet. Our tastes often differ, our will has its way; We make or we mar, we refuse or obey. This month is propitious, our life should be gain If we've kept down the weeds, encouraged the grain. An eye for the beauty, a hand for the toil And in doing our duty, we heartily smile. The binders, and mowers, in best of repair, The ropes, and the pulleys, the truck have their share, While the wit, and the skill, the soul of it all Ensuring each harvest tho' ever so small. A holy ambition whatever the style, No life need be empty, a life that's worth while; Our aims, and our efforts, may seem for to fail, But virtue's created and right must prevail. Our blunders, are blessings then heed not the scorn, We learn richer lessons, we character form. Our lamp it is lit, our ambition it burns, There must be misfit if there is no return; Formation and talents we must not revile. The barn for the harvest, refuse for the pile.

SAVING FOR OLD AGE

Insurance companies have a powerful weapon in statistics that prove most men are destined to poverty in their old age. Only fifteen men in a hundred are independent at 65. The other eighty-five are supported by relatives, or the public, in their non-earning days. The Surrogate Court records show that in Ontario only 30 per cent. of those who died in 1916 had estates. In 1920, the proportion was 50 per cent. Out of 11,554 persons who died, leaving estates, in 1920, 9000 had estates valued at less than $5,000 and much of this was in the form of life insurance. The estate increase in the war period showed the effect of good times for the individual, but the general ratio proves the need of constant thrift.

The preaching of thrift has seemingly fallen into disfavor recently. Salaried men bringing up families that demand a motor car, holiday trips, and means of presenting good appearances, have been almost forced to give up hope of saving. What they may be able to secrete for emergencies is swallowed by income taxes and the unceasing requirements of municipal exchequers. The workingman had a much larger income, in dollars, during the war, but between the high cost of living, and the sudden shooting up of standards of living, he did not on the average save much. In the flush period from 1917 to 1920, pianos, gramophones, motor cars, high-class furnishings, exorbitantly priced clothing, expensive holiday trips had a great call among those who, before then, were content to do without them. Table standards went up. Instead of beef stew there was porterhouse, instead of pickled hock there was tenderloin. The dizzy spending of 1919 and 1920 was not a rich man's jamboree, but a "poor" man's. The theory that obtained was: "Have a good time when you can, because you never know when adversity may prevent you... 'Enjoy life'—that is what life is for. Get into the merry whirl. So when the lean days come, there are regrets over money thrown away, but also memories of a real blow-out or blow-in.

Giving little heed to the future is a mistake that may be bitterly paid for. In some countries, the habit of living for the day only is encouraged by the State, which provides old age pensions, and other relief, regardless of what the person's earlier course of conduct may have been. But the pittance it is possible to pay in this way, though enough to keep a man alive, is a sorry reward. The only real safeguard a person has is constant personal thrift. The motor car has dissipated a lot of the old habit of saving, not only because of the operating expenses, but because of the other expenditures it leads to—trips, dinners, parties, dresses, etc. If a car costs a householder, say $800 a year, he ought as a counter expedient, to have an endowment policy requiring premiums of a hundred or two hundred dollars, this to be extracted from unnecessary motor expenditures. Deliberate inviting of dependence in old age, for the sake of luxuries in the heyday of life is becoming far too common in this jazz generation.

WORKIN' ON THE FARM

There's nothin' quite so good For the health as choppin' wood, Unless it's doin' chores, For it keeps you out of doors. An' gettin' in the hay Is the healthiest kind o' play. Hoein' 'taters strengthens backs Most as good as pullin' flax, An' 'draggin' in the calf Is a job to make you laugh. It gives you pluck an' brawn To rise before the dawn, An' then come home at night Feelin' tired out, but bright. I tell ye there's a charm In workin' on a farm.

A SMILE OR TWO

Rub—My new job pays $15 a week and I am saving it all.

Dub—How on earth can you do that ?

Rub—Why, $15 won't buy anything.

Mr. Bowser—I'm sorry, but it's impossible for me to give you three weeks' vacation at the present time.

Bookkeepers—Then, perhaps, you could give me a little advance pay so that I could send my wife away. I must have some rest.

Mother (to battered son)—Johnny, how often have I told you to stop before fighting and count a hundred ?

Johnny—That's what I did, but the other kid's mother only told him to count ten.

—Washington Star.

Lloyd George has a humorous as well as a stern side. This story, told in the cloak rooms of Parliament, fully bears it out. The British premier told of two little street urchins who wandered far in foggy London one dingy afternoon. They pushed their noses against every shop window in search of new sights. Staring through a barber's window they beheld, for them, a new sight. The barber was singeing a customer's hair. "Blimy, Bill," exclaimed the older, "blimy, but he's lookin' for 'em wiv a light!"

Temperance reformer was justly proud of having converted the biggest drunkard in a Scottish town and induced him—he was the local grave digger—to get up on the platform and testify. This is how he did it: "My friends," he said. "I never thocht to stand upon this platform with the provost on one side of me and toon clerk on th' ither side of me I never thocht to tell ye that for a whole month I've not touched a drop of anything. I've saved enough to buy me a braw oak coffin w' brass handles and brass nails, and if I'm a teetotaler for another month I shall be wantin' it."

"Biddy," remarked the newly-wed Irishman, "go down and feed the pigs."

"Faith, and I will not," replied the bride.

"Don't be after contradicting me, Biddy," retorted the husband. "Have I not just endowed you with all my worldly goods, and if you cannot feed your own property, then it's ashamed of you I am."

This was a new point of view, so off Biddy went.

Presently she returned.

"Have you fed the pigs, Biddy?" demanded her husband, sternly.

"Faith, and I have not," she replied, "I have done a great deal better. As they were my property I have sold them and shall not be bothered with them again."

A minister was assigned to a small parish not long ago, and upon his arrival found his new field of labor all that could be desired, with the exception of old Bill Johnson.

Old Bill was addicted to looking upon the wine when it was red, and the new minister announced his intention of bringing him to see the error of his ways.

"Well, of course, we know you mean right," one of the elders said, "but it would be a mighty bad thing for the place if old Bill stopped drinking."

"Why, what do you mean, brother?" the puzzled minister asked.

"Well, parson, it's like this," the elder explained. "There ain't a more convincing talker nowhere than old Bill. Every time he gets drunk and sobers down he gets somebody to sign the pledge with him, and the other fellow usually keeps it."

The traveling showman was waxing eloquent as he described the characteristics of his wild horse from Tartary.

"Ladies and gents," he said, "this hanimal is a real terror. If there's any gent in this company as fancies himself as a rider I'll give him $5 for every minute he sticks on this 'oss. I've rid 'osses all my life, but this 'oss is beyond me. I've tried 'im every way, but 'e shakes me off in ten seconds."

"Why not get inside him?" queried a humorist.

The showman waited until the laughter had died away.

"My lad," he said, witheringly, "I've thought of that. But nature has been unkind to 'im in the matter of mouth; it ain't big enough. Now, if it 'ad been yours—"

But the humorist did not wait to hear the logical conclusion of the hypothesis.

ENEMY OF POTATO BUGS

A strange "animal" which has earned the right, along with the snake and the toad, to be classed as one of the "farmer's best friends", is a bug of the stink-bug family found on many potato plants in Charlotteville, near Simcoe. The bug lives on potato bugs and has completely cleared potato patches in Charlotteville of the bug pest. Frank Shearer of Charlotteville, states that this particular species of bug has never before been seen as far north as Ontario, although farmers in New York and Ohio states look upon the potato beetle eaters as something to be cultivated. The bug is about one-half an inch long, with a curved shell back, similar to the back of a tortoise. The back is colored red with black markings, and along the edge is a fringe of white dots. The "animal" has long spidery legs and its head, which looks as if it can disappear under the hard shell back, is tinted red and resembles that of an ant.

Forest Fires Kill Jobs

HERE are instances of carelessness such as the Fire Rangers of Ontario are meeting all the time. Each is an actual case, as officially reported in detail to the Forestry Branch. Until each individual realizes personal responsibility and co-operates to prevent forest fires, Government Fire Rangers can hope merely to lessen the tragic consequences of such human carelessness and bad judgment.

Save Ontario's Forests They're Yours

Lumbermen's Fires

May 25th, 1920—A careless river driver, by leaving his smudge fire or throwing a cigarette into slash, burned over two townships, including 7,000,000 feet of pine, a $5,000 mill, camp buildings and equipment worth $7,000, sawn lumber worth $7,500, and killed several million young spruce and jack pine trees.

May 25, 1920—Fire in a rubbish heap behind a lumber company's boarding house got away and, despite prompt action, burned over 1,600 acres, including 2,000,000 feet of white pine, and a set of new camps worth $1,000.

June 1, 1920—Two old men left to attend to the stop logs in a dam, let fire get away from either their smudge or camp fire, and burned over 9,000 acres, including 6,000,000 feet of pine, one mill, four camps, large quantities of supplies, and equipment to a total value of $40,000.

May 4th, 1921—Lumbermen burning slash around their camps, lost control of their fire and 15,000 acres were burned before they regained it.

Railway Fires

June 5th, 1920—Engine No. 1368 started a forest fire which ran over 15,000 acres, burning one saw mill, three sets of lumber camps, stables, houses, and outfalls, 5,000 cut logs and 1,400 piles, besides standing timber.

May 25th, 1920—Engine No. 2509 set a fire which burned over 12,000 acres of timber worth $20,000 on the stump, camps and logs worth $5,750, and cost $1,000 to fight.

June 2, 1920—A section crew left a pile of burning ties to go away to their regular work. The fire spread over 1,200 acres.

Fires Set Out Under Permit

June 10th, 1921—Parties burning slash under permit, lost control through bad judgment, and 1,050 acres were burned and forty buildings, including saw mill, were wiped out.

May 27th, 1920—A squatter, burning debris near his shack, fired 7,000 acres, 1,000 of which were virgin timber, and wiped out four sets of logging camps.

Neglected Camp Fires

July 4th, 1920—Tourists left camp fire on shore of Deer Lake. After six days' fight, rangers put fire out, but 550 acres of young pine were dead.

May 31st, 1920—A neglected camp fire, despite efforts of Chief Fire Ranger and 42 men, burned 1,200 acres of young pine.

May 7th, 1921—Indians left camp fire, which burned over 7,000 acres and took one week of fighting to control.

Be careful of fire in the forests. Be careful to put your camp fire out—dead out. Don't throw away lighted matches, cigarettes or cigar ends. Watch out, lest your fire gets away from you.

OUR NEW GOVERNOR-GENERAL

The Manchester Guardian commenting on the coming of Lord Byng to Canada as Governor-General says: "Quality is needed nowadays in a Dominion Governor-General. For they are becoming properly particular overseas. Canada was content with the Duke of Connaught, for so excellent a member of the Royal House is a gift that even an upish dominion can hardly cavil at. But purely social and noble appointments to this post are at a discount. Canada in particular talks with growing eagerness about appointing her own Governor-General. It is well, therefore, that in this case a man who has done something and earned something, rather than a man who has just inherited something, should get the post. The solution of the Governor-Generalship to which the dominions are tending will no doubt come, and before long; but in the meantime it raises awkward constitutional issues that have not yet been solved. General Lord Byng is a good choice to tide over the period of change."

DESERVES CONSIDERATION

We need not apologize for referring again to the exchange question. We do so because it over-shadows all other questions and problems affecting us. If the people could only be made to realize the extent to which we are being bled through the operations of exchange between this country and the United States, the heather would be on fire, and every red blooded man and woman would be willing to work tooth and nail with all their might and main to find the solution. Think of it for a moment! The discount of our dollar in the United States, now something like fourteen or fifteen cents, means that we have to pay more to that extent for the goods we buy from the United States and for many of the goods produced in Canada, to the tune, in the aggregate, of at least two hundred million dollars a year. To get down to a concrete case which almost everybody can understand—every householder in Canada who burns hard coal has to pay between $1.50 and $2.00 more per ton by reason of this exchange. Just as you have to pay that much more for your coal, so you are paying, for the same reason, correspondingly more on nearly every commodity you purchase. It is an appalling condition of affairs. What this country needs is a tremendous trumpet call to arouse the people to a realization of what this awful exchange handicap means. The message should be sent forth in thunderous tones from every editor's chair, from every pulpit, platform, university, collegiate, school, club, from every assembly of men and women to produce more and more at home and thereby render it unnecessary to buy so much from the United States. That is the only solution permitted us in view of the United States prohibitive legislation affecting our food products and in arriving at it, we will not only solve the unemployment question, because increased production at home will mean increased employment to Canadian workmen.

TOBACCO INJURIOUS ONLY WHEN ABUSED

It may interest those now engaged in the anti-tobacco crusade to read the report made by Drs. W. J. Gies, M. Cahn and O. V. Limerick to the New York Medical Journal on their exhaustive study of the effects of tobacco on man. They assert that its habitual use is not harmful to adults but that, on the contrary, it is distinctly beneficial to certain types. As for the habitually excessive use of tobacco, they say it may prove harmful to certain types of individuals, but that is true of many things, including all foods, when habitually taken to excess. In certain diseases of the nerves and blood vessels tobacco may do harm, and its habitual use by juveniles is always harmful. But they assert that tobacco is not a cause of disease of either mind or body.

THE FARMER HAS NOT STRUCK

(Burlington Hawkeye)
Do you remember the talk of a "farmers strike" last fall? The farmers were going to stop producing food because they were not paid enough for it to cover the cost and give them a decent profit. They said so themselves and the public feared a serious shortage this year.

Well, consider the latest reports of the wheat crop. Wheat is the country's biggest and most important food crop. The agricultural department forecasts a combined spring and winter production of 830,000,000 bushels, which is almost exactly the last five years output. Nature has not been unusually liberal, either. The farmers have done it themselves, planting over 3,000,000 acres more than they did a year ago.

There may be industrial strikes and consumers' strikes, but there are no farmers' strikes. The farmer may grumble, but he stays on the job making full use of his capital and labor.

HICKS—KERR

One of the prettiest of the July weddings was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kerr, London, on Monday, July 18, when their eldest daughter, Beatrice Irene became the bride of Ray C. Hicks of Sarnia. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. R. McIntosh.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and looked charming in a dress of white georgette, with bridal veil, embroidered in pearls, and carrying a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses.

Miss Lena Kerr, sister of the bride acted as bridesmaid, and the groom was attended by Mr. Orville Post. The bridesmaid looked winsome in a pink organdie frock, and carried a bouquet of Sweetheart roses. Miss Helen Humeston played the wedding march.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many handsome gifts. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful wrist watch; to the bridesmaid and pianist gold brooches set with pearls, and to the groomsmen a gold tiepin.

Guests numbering over 50 were present at the wedding breakfast, after which Mr. and Mrs. Hicks left by motor for Hamilton and Toronto, the bride travelling in a tailored suit of navy tricotine and becoming French hat.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Hicks will reside in Sarnia.

A great many guests were present from out of town.

A very serious accident occurred on Saturday when Mr. John Hughes an old and much respected resident of Kerwood, received very serious injuries. Mr. Hughes was up on a short ladder cleaning out the eavetrough of his house when the ladder slipped, throwing him to the ground. He fell on the cement walk and received such a severe shaking up and bruises that he is still in a very critical state and little hope is entertained of his recovery. Drs. Jones and Bateman were called and the injured man was conveyed by ambulance to Strathroy Hospital where he is receiving every possible care and attention. No bones were broken in the fall but the severe shaking up and shock to a man of his age makes his recovery very doubtful. Mr. Hughes is in his 85th year.

Later, Mr. Hughes died Wednesday night.

A WOMAN'S RIGHT TO GOOD HEALTH

Most Troubles Afflicting Women Are Due to Poor Blood.

To every woman belongs the right to enjoy a healthy, active life; yet nine out of ten suffer from some form of bloodlessness. That is why one sees on every side pale, thin cheeks, dull eyes and drooping figures—sure signs of headaches, weak backs, aching limbs and uncertain health. All weak women should win the right to be well by refreshing their weary bodies, with the new, rich, red blood that promptly transforms them into healthy attractive women. This new, red blood is supplied by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which reaches every organ and every nerve in the body. Through the use of these pills thousands of women have found benefit when suffering from anaemia, indigestion, general weakness and those ailments from which women alone suffer. Among the many women who tell of the good Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done them is Mrs. L. Hicks, Round Hill, N.S., who says: "I became very much run down in health; my blood seemed weak and watery, my strength failed, and I was so easily tired that my work was a burden. I had often read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to try them, and I can truly say that after using them, three months I found myself gaining and a further use of the pills all my old-time energy and vitality was restored. Out of my own experience I can strongly recommend this medicine."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ANDROCK CORNER Contributed by The ANDREWS WIRE WORKS OF CANADA LIMITED

Our vacation list this week consists of the following names: Misses Mae Higgins and Wanda Ward, Messrs. Alfred Weight and Gordon Jackson.

Miss Jessie Hayward began on Saturday last her two weeks vacation. She is spending the first week in London, and will later on in her vacation visit friends in Sarnia.

Two of our office staff with their friends had their recreation Tuesday evening in the form of a picnic to one of the well-known summer resorts. They did not report on their trip, but judging from their countenances Wednesday morning they enjoyed the evening immensely.

Androck park is greatly appreciated by all our members. The lawn is kept neatly trimmed and together with the flowers it makes a restful spot for anyone during their leisure moments. Lawn benches have been placed under the shade trees and add greatly to the appearance of the park as well as to the comfort of the participants.

After you have read Androck Corner turn back to the top of this page and read the By-law to spend $30,000 in pavement for our town. Hem! you say, this looks like a lot of money to hand out at a time, but now stop and consider. This is going to last twenty years. The government is going to help us pay for it, and we have been getting a grant from the County Council and see no reason why it should not continue so don't you think it is about the cheapest thing that has been done in our town for some time? Let's give our town pavement a boost wherever and whenever possible.

We are very proud of our Horticultural Society that has aroused such an interest in flowers. Perhaps it deserves the credit too for making this citizen of ours so proud: "Who thinks that his potatoes are something rather fine? I tell you what," says Tom, "they cannot equal mine. For mine—you know I never lie—have grown so fast of late. That when I go to look at them, I can't get through the gate! I drop my cane; with toil and pain I climb upon the fence. And gaze with joyous pride upon those tubers so immense. But that's as far as I can get, though often I have tried; Those taters fill the lot so full I cannot get inside."

The electors of Watford have surely sufficient proof now to assure them that, in their last election, they elected a council of real workers. One cannot but help express their appreciation of the council's efforts to build up our town in every way possible. Hardly a day passed in the last four months that our councillors have not been either working on the roads doing some public work, or looking after it in some way, using their time and cars always for public benefit. They also show that they are alive to the situation in that the work provided in the town by street pavement and a number of water services that are to be installed will make the labor situation in Watford something that will be envied by almost every other town in the country. All this will unite in making Watford a real live town, and when you go away, or when you receive guests here, you will be able to talk about your town with pride. Our council has surely proved the motto that "the only way to get things is to go after them."

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. False and True

By MARTHA Mc. WILLIAMS

(© 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

"Why did they call me Linnet? Of all names! The rest of the world is saddest when I sing!" Linnet Ware said plaintively to her newest victim, Selden Moore.

He laughed, softly answering, "Praise be for that. In this day of musical prodigality, you're an oasis."
"In a desert of melody! Thanks for them kind words," Linnet flung back, settling herself comfortably in a nest of rainbow cushions. Yet even they could not make her look washed out, so vivid was the yellow of her hair, the violet of her eyes, the healthy scarlet of her very perfect mouth. Her skin had the texture of a camellia petal—she was further shapely, and extra well finished. There was a look of race to accent all this.

What wonder that she had gone rather to the heads of her countrymen—at least that moiety of them lucky enough to know her? This in spite of the fact that she danced without enthusiasm, was a dud at tennis, and refused even to look on at golf. Polo she loved—but sex and convention forbade playing it. So she took to going cross-country in any weather, never flunking the stiffest jumps, nor minding hazardous spills.

The spills were few—she had apparently as much influence over hunters as over men. Anything bittable became pliant to her will after a few miles—to the disgust of Amazonian horsewomen who got results with malice aforethought. She was so confoundedly, so confoundingly feminine, with her side saddle, her soft collar, her picturesquely untidy tam that had always a bright knot tucked amid its folds, it was disgusting to have her almost always in the first flight, and not winning prizes solely through refusing to compete for them. She mounted herself well but not extravagantly. "Any good horse will go—if you get the best in him," she explained more than once. Which moved her much tired mother to add: "If only you'd be as sensible about men as horses, it would take a load off my mind and heart."

Being interpreted, this meant, concretely, a shrinking estate, and the Wendell King millions. All through Linnet's bringing up Mrs. Ware had had the millions in the back of her mind. Retrieving them was poetic justice, since they had been unjustly diverted from Linnet's father through his elderly uncle's marriage with the beautiful Widow King.
He had settled them upon her in the first flush of infatuation—when the pair went down with their ship upon a long wedding tour, the wrong was put beyond righting. Wendell, a quiet, kindly, dull-witted lad of fifteen, had inherited them from his mother in trust for possible children. So it had been out of his power to do more than make handsome gifts to the Wares.

Linnet, an elfin, no-colored child, had appealed only to his pity until at fifteen she bloomed with that beauty of the devil which works so many evil miracles. Seeing her round and flush and glow, his plan of life changed. When she was twenty she must marry him, and begin a fairy tale existence. Until then let her play to her heart's content—he knew he could trust her—besides, there was her mother.

Mrs. Ware was far from heartless—indeed, love for her child was the spur to her worldliness. She said nothing to Linnet of the future beyond advising a wise choice if any. She knew Linnet would rebel against a cut-and-dried family arrangement—much better let her continue to think of Wendell as a liberal pseudo-kinsman who regarded her as a child to be teased and spoiled. When she had had her fling playing with the youngsters Linnet might sensibly drift into love with her doting fairy godfather.

Linnet showed a zest in playing with the youngsters equal to her zest cross-country, yet until the era of Selden Moore her mother had never been the least uneasy. For her girl had played the game with the fine reserve of a gentlewoman, making her safety in numbers and surrounding herself with an aura of untouchableness beautiful to see.

But Moore was different. Toward him she glowed as a gem, a star—often when he had left her she sat silent, smiling happily or rousing to hug her mother tight and whisper: "Is there anything like real love?" Moore was only rich enough to be a competent idler. Living was, he said, business enough for a gentleman—wherefore why swamp himself with the risks and the turmoil of active work, when he was so much more valuable as an example of moderation?

Linnet scarcely sensed the question, but her mother pondered it deeply. To her it meant either that Moore had no thought of marriage, or that his wife needs must bring with her an income equal to his own. Linnet could not do that—already living expenses were trenching upon their modest principal—she must either marry money or become a drudge, else a pensioner upon Wendell King.

Impossible to think of either alternative—so impossible Mrs. Ware lost sleep and flesh in considering them. Watching Linnet narrowly, she noted a subtle change in her. She laughed more and smiled less—was by turns overcast and overflashing—also, she had no more joy in playing the game of hearts. A had sign, thought the anxious mother, especially now that she was well past nineteen.

She had not found Prince Charming, plus even a scant million—it was unlikely that she would find him before Wendell King required a decision. She could not blame him—he had been almost unreasonably patient and trustful. He would not try to force Linnet's inclination, but it would hurt him sorely to find he had waited in vain.

She sat thinking things over upon a stormy afternoon when Moore was the only caller at tea time. Despite a lovely flush of greeting Linnet had gone to the window and stood looking wistfully out into the rainy murk. Suddenly she said: "I wish everybody could be home now, warm and comfy, with dry feet and good dinners ahead. That's what ought to be—"

"Agreed—we'll make it so—when we come into your fortune," Moore said teasingly. "We may not have to wait very long—I heard yesterday the insurance folk are worrying a lot over Uncle Wendell's million-dollar policy."

"I don't know what you can mean," Linnet cried, coming toward him white and shaking. "He mustn't die—he is so good—I'd rather die myself—"

"What! When you're his only heir?" Moore bantered.

Mrs. Ware looked at him fixedly. "You are—misinformed," she said drily. "Wendell King could not leave Linnet his fortune—it is strictly entailed, falling direct heirs, it goes to distant cousins."

Moore's face was a study. "I—I am—sorry—I thought I knew," he said, stammering. "Now I must be going. Au revoir."
Linnet did not hear him. She was at the phone calling breathlessly a number her mother smiled to hear. She shut her ears against her daughter's voice, but her heart sang at the timbre of it—something new and wonderful rang there. Presently Linnet came to her, becoming like a rose, to say: "Mother, he is perfectly, splendidly well. We are to dine with him and go to the opera. I'm so happy, hug me tight."

"You are going to be happier, darling," the mother murmured softly—in her heart a mute thanksgiving that her daughter's heart had gone through the false to the true.

MYSTERIOUS BODY OF WATER

All Sorts of Queer Beliefs Cluster Around What Is Known as Wonder Lake, in Alaska.

"I think the next thing I wanted to speak of was Wonder lake," says H. H. Lumpkin, writing of "A Hike in Alaska" in Boys' Life. "It is not such a tremendous sheet of water. Not nearly so large as many other Alaskan lakes, being some three miles long by a half mile wide. It lies in a sort of depression, its surface about three or four hundred feet above the level of Moose creek. Its bed was evidently scooped out by glacial action somewhere back in those dim ages they tell us about. You can see, even now, the evidences of the glacial moraines. Some plow, those glaciers!

"Now, here are the things they tell of that lake. One, that it has fish so large that a specimen that a man hooked pulled him out of the boat into the lake. If that isn't a good fish story, then you try to go me one better. Other stories that I think are well authenticated are these: That in winter, under the ice is heard a rumbling, growling sound. So much so that, although the winter trail lies straight across it, the Indians refuse to travel it, and go all the way round. That in summer there rise periodically great bubbles of gas of some kind, that bubble, and bubble, and finally die away. I talked with those who have seen this phenomenon. Then two things I found for myself. First, the lake is very deep. It is sparkling and clear, and shelves rapidly, a few feet from shore, to an unknown depth. Second, it does teem with fish, because I saw them, although I do not know the variety, for having no proper tackle, we did not catch any. The ones I saw would average two to three pounds. No monsters. But who can say what may inhabit those sparkling depths? Ugh!"

HIS LIFE RUINED BY DYSPEPSIA

Until He Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES" The Wonderful Fruit Medicine

MR. FRANK HALL

Wyevale, Ontario.

"For some two years, I was a sufferer from Chronic Constipation and Dyspepsia.

I tried every remedy I heard of without any success, until the wife of a local merchant recommended 'Fruit-a-tives'.

I procured a box of 'Fruit-a-tives' and began the treatment, and my condition commenced to improve immediately.

The Dyspepsia ceased to be the burden of my life as it had been, and I was freed of Constipation.

I feel that I owe a great debt to 'Fruit-a-tives' for the benefit I derived from them."

Few Pence Once Day's Wage.
The use of beaver in making hats came into being about 1200, for Chaucer mentions it. Flanders turned out the first. Hatters' guilds began to appear in England, and apprentices were taught the art of making felt hats and decorating these. Nine cents a day was then a hatter's wage.
In the sixteenth century the first hat stores began to do business, and hats, heretofore as wide as decorated as poetic fancy, began to be standardized. In other words, style began to rule. By 1600 styles were very changeable. Shakespeare's plays speak of varied types of hat then worn.

Our Books and Ourselves.
We should ask questions of our book and of ourselves; what is its purpose; by what means it proceeds to effect that purpose; whether we fully understand the one, and go along with the other? Do the arguments satisfy us; do the descriptions convey lively and distinct images to us; do we understand all the allusions to persons or things? In short, does our mind act over again from the writer's standpoint what his acted before; do we reason as he reasoned, conceive as he conceived; think and feel as he thought and felt; or, if not, can we discern where and how far we do not, and can we tell why we do not?—Dr. Thomas Arnold.

The Young Mother
 Youth, with its vitality, makes for the young mother's health and happiness. But later, maternal experiences bring a different result. The care of a family, multiplied household duties, and very often the weakness caused by womanly disease, tend to prolong the suffering and to make convalescence a slow and weary process. Many women—perhaps your own neighbors—have had beneficial experience with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which prepares the prospective mother. Send 10 cents to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial package of tablets.

HAMILTON, ONT.—"I was advised by a practical nurse to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic during expectancy, and I have had every reason to be grateful for her advice, because it kept me in perfect health and I had practically no suffering. The 'Prescription' not only benefits the mother, but I am positive the child is benefited, too. I would not hesitate to recommend this 'Prescription' to every expectant mother."—MRS. C. Sores Flee Before It.—There are many who have been afflicted with sores and have driven them away with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. All similarly troubled should lose no time in applying this splendid remedy, as there is nothing like it to be had. It is cheap, but its power is in no way expressed by its low price.

Be Your Own Developer of Geraniums—Light Fall Pruning of Orclards Is Safe—The Barberry Hedge a Spreader of Rust in Grains.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Toward the end of the summer, the amateur flower grower often wonders how the stock of geraniums in the flower border can be increased and preserved by some other means than by taking up the old plants in the autumn; the last named method not having, perhaps, proved successfully in past seasons. By starting fairly early, toward the end of August, before cold chilly nights appear, a nice supply of young plants, more especially of all kinds of geraniums of the flowering kind, or those having fragrant leaves, or even the bronze or silver leaved kinds, can be had by starting cuttings or slips of these plants. First of all obtain a shallow box about three inches deep, ten or twelve inches wide, and from twelve to twenty-four inches in length; an empty huddle (fish) box will do very well. It should have some small holes bored through the bottom for drainage. Pack this box firmly with moist, clean, gritty sand; sand that will make good stone mortar will do. Then take the terminal or top part of the young growth of plants about four or five inches in length, each shoot or cutting having from four to six joints where leaves are produced. Make the base of the cutting just below one of these nodes or leaf joints, making a clean cut with a sharp knife flat across. Cut off some of the lower leaves, leaving two or three leaves at the top. Cut off all bloom buds and blossoms where possible. Make a hole or drill in the wet sand deep enough to set fully the length of stem of cuttings in the sand. Water them well once, and keep the sand moist until cuttings are rooted, which should be in five or six weeks' time. The box can be set out of doors in partial shade until the first week in September when they can be taken into the window. When cuttings have roots about an inch in length dig them carefully from the sand without injuring the roots and pot them singly into small 2 1/2 inch pots or set them about two inches apart in well drained shallow boxes in a soil made up of one part sand, one part leaf mould, and about six parts of light loamy soil enriched with one part of dry pulverized cow manure from the pasture field. This is one of the best possible fertilizers for soil for pot plants. Set the young plants in the window in a temperature of 60 to 70 degrees Fahr. an ordinary house temperature. Salvia, Ageratum, Lady Washington Geraniums, Fuchsias, Resine, Lobelia and many other plants can be started from cuttings in this way.—The late Wm. Hunt, O. A. College, Guelph.

Light Fall Pruning Is Safe.
 Light pruning in fall is permissible, but heavy pruning is dangerous and likely to result in serious damage from winter killing, especially if the succeeding winter is severe. The injury is caused by drying out of the cut area and may be prevented by covering all wounds of any size with a good covering of paint made from pure lead and oil. Do not use prepared paints, as these contain injurious benzine or turpentine driers. To make an effective covering it will be necessary to give not less than two coats, because one coat will not prevent checking and drying of green wood. Coal tar makes an excellent wound covering and is easily applied. This matter of covering wounds made in fall or early winter is frequently slighted by orchard men, but the writer has seen such serious damage result from neglect of this precaution that he feels justified in warning fruit growers with regard to the practice. In experimental trials in the College apple orchard, varieties so hardy as Duchess of Oldenburg, Wolf River, Snow and Scott's Winter have suffered very serious injury following November pruning with the cuts left unprotected. The wounds dry out around the edges and by spring the dead area is greatly enlarged, frequently extending down the trunk or branch for a foot or more. The dead bark comes away later leaving a large dead area, detrimental to the parts above and certain also to decay later. It is not likely that injury would follow the cutting of branches below an inch in size unless many were removed and there probably would be no necessity for covering such wounds. All above this size, however, should be thoroughly protected.—J. W. Crow, O. A. College, Guelph.

Barberry Hedge Spoiled Ten Crops.
 Hundreds and hundreds of instances can be cited to show that the common barberry is the most important factor in the spread of rust in northwest states. In a Government bulletin on rust and barberry, Dr. C. E. Stakman of Minnesota University Farm relates the experience of a farmer at Ulysses, Minn., who had a barberry hedge of 635 bushes. He had tried to grow oats on his farm for ten years, but each year the black stem rust destroyed almost all the grain. Then one spring he destroyed the hedge before the bushes had become rusted. Ten days before the harvest the field was examined thoroughly and no stem rust could be found. The yield and quality proved to be excellent. It was the first time in ten years that a crop had been grown successfully on that farm. Every land owner should begin early in the spring to destroy the barberry for the protection of grain crops.

(National Crop Improvement Service.)

"In the Pacific Northwest, wheat smut spores live over winter in the soil and the ordinary treatment with formaldehyde is not effective unless there has been a rotation of crops which causes the smut spores to die.

"As a consequence, dense clouds of smut spores, which may be seen for miles, arise from the threshers and spread wheat contagion over the entire country," says Mr. P. Schlessner, Perth Amboy, Chemical Company.

"Sometimes when this smut cloud is properly mixed with air, a piece of wire or nail will strike a spark in the separator and the result is an explosion worse than a thirteen-inch gun, blowing machines to pieces and often killing and injuring the crew. "The wheat smut tax amounts to millions of dollars. It is in most instances entirely preventable by treatment of the seed, but so serious has it become that the American Department of Agriculture has a separate grade for smutted wheat. "It will be well for the Canadian farmer to prevent smut from ever getting entrenched while it is comparatively easy."

WOMEN OF MIDDLE LIFE

A Dangerous Period Through Which Every Woman Must Pass

Practical Suggestions Given by the Women Whose Letters Follow

Afton, Tenn.—"I want other suffering women to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. During the Change of Life I was in bed for eight months and had two good doctors treating me but they did me no good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and in a short time I felt better. I had all kinds of bad spells, but they all left me. Now when I feel weak and nervous I take the Vegetable Compound and it always does me good. I wish all women would try it during the Change of Life for I know it will do them good. If you think it will induce some one to try the Vegetable Compound you may publish this letter."—Mrs. A. KELLER, Afton, Tenn.

Mrs. Mary Lister of Adrian, Mich., adds her testimony to the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to carry women safely through the Change of Life. She says: "It is with pleasure that I write to you thanking you for what your wonderful medicine has done for me. I was passing through the Change of Life and had a displacement and weakness so that I could not stand on my feet and other annoying symptoms. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the first bottle helped me, so I got more, and I am now doing my housework. Your medicine is certainly woman's friend and you may use this testimonial as you choose." Mrs. MARY LISTER, 608 Frank Street, Adrian, Mich.

It is said that middle age is the most trying period in a woman's life, and owing to modern methods of living not one woman in a thousand passes through this perfectly natural change without experiencing very annoying symptoms. Those smothering spells, the dreadful hot flashes that send the blood rushing to the head until it seems as though it would burst, and the faint feeling that follows, as if the heart were going to stop, those sinking or dizzy spells are all symptoms of a nervous condition, and indicate the need for a special medicine. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a root and herb medicine especially adapted to act upon the feminine system. It acts in such a manner as to build up the weakened nervous system and enables a woman to pass this trying period with the least possible annoying symptoms.

Women everywhere should remember that most of the commoner ailments of women are not the surgical ones—they are not caused by serious displacements or growths, although the symptoms may be the same, and that is why so many apparently serious ailments readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it acts as a natural restorative and often prevents serious troubles.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

SUMMER HEAT

HARD ON BABY
No season of the year is so dangerous to the life of little ones as is the summer. The excessive heat throws the little stomach out of order so quickly that unless prompt aid is at hand the baby may be beyond all human help before the mother realizes he is ill. Summer is the season when diarrhoea, cholera infantum, dysentery and colic are most prevalent. Any one of these troubles may prove deadly if not properly treated. During the summer the mothers' best friend is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and keep baby healthy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WEST ADELAIDE

The Ladies' Auxiliary of W. A. Presbyterian church held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Ball on Thursday, July 7th. One quilt was quilted. On account of the extreme heat and busy season there was a small attendance of 15 members and 5 visitors.

The corporation of the County of Lambton has been made defendant in an action in the supreme court of Ontario brought by Stanley Wilson for $5,000 damages for personal injury and unstated damages for the death of his wife and two small children, alleged to have been caused by negligence on the part of the county in not keeping the Bosanquet-Warwick townline in good repair. Fred Wilson is also a plaintiff in the action, and through his father and best friends is also claiming $5,000 damages for the death of his mother. Meredith & Meredith, London, are acting for the plaintiff.

Another of the pioneer residents of Plympton has passed, in the person of Mary Ann Kennedy, relict of the late John Burnley, who died at her home on the Egremont road, in her 81st year. She was a native of Cumberland, Eng., and came to this country when a child, and has spent most of her days in Plympton. Mr. Burnley died about 27 years ago and she is survived by two sons and three daughters, viz: Thos. Burnley, Deputy Reeve; Wm. Burnley, and Mrs. A. Henderson, Sarnia; and Misses Annie and Edith Burnley, at home. One brother, Jos. Kennedy died in Medicine Hat recently. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon to the Errol cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. W. J. H. Peters of the Anglican church, and the bearers were: R. S. Jardine, Dudley Joynt, Andrew Lunam, Arch. McMillan, Bert Wellington and J. W. Wright.
