CURTALMENT OF VALLEY RAILWAY SERVICE SUBJECT OF CONFERENCE

Local Business Men to Await Result of Tri-weekly Experiment.

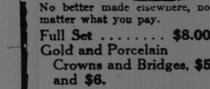

The conference between the business men of the city, commercial travelers and representatives of the Canadian National Railways in connection with the curtailment of the service on the Valley Railway, held Saturday afternoon at the Board of Trade rooms, resulted in the St. John men getting a better idea of what the railway men had in mind and an expression that while it was not what they wanted, they were willing to give it a trial. It was suggested by one speaker that if a daily service was given instead of the tri-weekly there would be an increase in the patronage and a consequent increase in the revenue.

A. T. Weldon, traffic manager; W. U. Appleton, general superintendent; and A. C. Barker, superintendent of transportation. Among the local men present were Hon. W. E. Foster, R. S. Sims, G. E. Barbour, W. H. Smith, G. D. Ellis, Karl Fraser, R. M. Fowler, E. H. Cairns, G. S. Bishop, C. B. Allan, J. Pritchard, H. G. Weekes, J. F. Tilton and several others.

Roman Meal! I should say so! I never refuse Roman Meal. Its delicious and keeps me happy, peppy and fit.

Keeps the family fit

Mr. Appleton said the trouble had been that between St. John and Centreville, it was really a local traffic and the railway had been trying to operate a through service. At the present time they were spending $2 to get $1 in revenue and the proposed timetable had been worked out to try to reduce the expense of operating and at the same time give a good service to the public.

Mr. Barker said they believed the proposed service would give the St. John travelers better accommodation than the one out of St. John. It was proposed to have the connection from here for Edmundston via Moncton and instead of leaving St. John at 4:40 a passenger would leave at 1:40 and have a wait of about an hour in Moncton. Coming from Edmundston, the train would leave there about 6 o'clock in the morning and make a sharp connection with the express at Moncton due in here at 5:50 in the afternoon. The out train would run on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday and the in train on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

A full British mail here will close at 9 a. m. on Dec. 7 for the Canadian Pacific steamship Montclair from this port. A British mail will also leave Halifax on Dec. 8 by the Doric.

G. D. Ellis said he had received quite a bit of information from the railway officials and personally felt they had made out a fairly good case. He thanked them on behalf of the audience for coming to the city and giving the information as to the service and the reasons for the change. He was going away from the meeting with a different feeling and he thought several of those present felt better about the change than when they entered the room. The meeting then adjourned.

A RARE DECEMBER DAY.

Those who went abroad yesterday found it difficult to realize that it was the second day of December. True, the fields were brown and the trees leafless, but until the skies were clouded in the afternoon the sun shone with the warmth of late spring rather than early winter.

WHEN A MAN DIES.

No man can have edited a newspaper especially in one of the smaller communities where it is possible for a man to know his neighbors intimately, without having at least one occasion to regret that it is not possible when a man dies to write an obituary for him which would do justice to his life.

WEDDINGS

Sampson-Hayes.

The wedding of Miss Marie Curtis Hayes, daughter of former Mayor William P. Hayes, of Springfield, Mass., to Naylor John Sampson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Sampson, Springfield, Mass., is of interest to many in St. John. Several relatives reside in and around the city, including Mrs. Albert Palmer, of Pleasant Point, and John Hayes, of South Bay, and Michael Hayes, of West St. John. The ceremony was performed in the Holy Family church, Springfield, by the Rev. C. A. Sullivan. The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attired in a beautiful imported gown of white crepe Roma, combined with chiffon velvet and court train of velvet. Her veil was of French tulle and caught with sprays of orange blossoms, the veil being arranged in cap shape and wreathed with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley arranged in shower effect. Miss Anna M. Hayes, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a gown of turquoise blue chiffon velvet with black picture hat and carried an arm bouquet of Columbia roses. Everett T. Sampson attended his brother. Members and close friends of the bridal couple attended the reception at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Sampson left by motor for a honeymoon trip. The bride's going away gown was a three-piece suit of grey velveteen, with squirrel trimmings and hat of blue velvet. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Sampson will make their home in Springfield, where the groom is associated with his father in the undertaking business.

DEATHS

Mrs. Marian M. Fullerton.

The death occurred on Saturday, Dec. 1, at the General Public hospital, of Mrs. Marian M. Fullerton, widow of Captain E. P. Fullerton of Long Reach. Mrs. Fullerton before her marriage was Miss Marian Miller of this city. She was a graduate of the General Public hospital and was one of the first Victorian Order nurses in the city. She also took a post graduate course in surgery in New York city and for a time did private nursing there. Her husband died eight months ago, and for the past two months she had held the position of matron in the Old Ladies' Home.

Mrs. Fullerton was the daughter of the late Thomas and Jane Miller of this city. She is survived by one sister, Miss Elizabeth Miller of Watertown, Mass., and two brothers, William Miller of Seattle, Wash., and James Miller of Fredericton. Mrs. Otis Clark, of 105 Duke street, West St. John, is an aunt.

Service will be held at the home of Mrs. Clark on Monday evening at 9 o'clock. The body will be taken to Long Reach on Tuesday morning on the 10:30 trip of the Gondola Point Ferry for service in the White's Methodist church, at 11 o'clock. Interment will be in the Methodist cemetery.

Margaret C. Steele.

Since sympathy will be extended to Mr. and Mrs. Willie Steele, of 41 Cannon street in the death of their youngest daughter, Margaret C., which occurred yesterday at the age of ten years and five months. Besides her parents, she is survived by three brothers, Francis, Leslie and Joseph, and one sister, Gertrude. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 from her parents' residence.

MISS I. McINERNEY HAS PASSED AWAY

The sad news of the death of Miss Irene McInerney, daughter of the late George V. McInerney and Mrs. McInerney was received in the city on Saturday. Miss McInerney's death occurred in Charlottetown where she had made her home with her mother for the last few years. Widespread sympathy will be extended to the many members of her well known family in the death of Miss McInerney at an early age. She was 28 years old and had been in failing health for the last few years.

She is survived by her mother, five brothers, Judge H. O. McInerney, judge of probate, St. John; Blake, of the Royal Bank of Canada, Paris, France; Leo, in Detroit; Ralph G., in the territorial staff of The Telegraph-Journal and Times-Star, St. John, and George, a student at St. Dunstan's College, Charlottetown, and his sister, Mrs. Vivian Graham, of Montreal, and Miss Grace, a nurse-in-training at the French Hospital, New York City. His Grace, Archbishop Henry O'Leary, of Edmonton, Alberta, His Lordship, Bishop Louis O'Leary, of Charlottetown, and Richard O'Leary, of Richibucto, are uncles of Miss McInerney. The funeral will take place this morning in Charlottetown. Judge McInerney and his brother, Ralph, left for Charlottetown on Saturday.

SOME HEALTH RULES.

Here are a few simple suggestions for the prevention of tuberculosis,—and in fact for almost any disease.

1. Keep fit. Lead a normal life. Have well balanced the three essentials of work, play and rest—with emphasis on "rest."

2. Keep clean. Make yourself and your surroundings as germless as possible. Water is cheap. Remember that by expectorating and coughing without covering the mouth, you may be spreading millions of microbes.

3. Sun yourself. Fresh air and sun not only stimulate metabolism and elevate the spirits, but are also "sure death" to germs. Pull up the shades and open the windows. A faded rug is far preferable to a germ-eaten rug.

4. Don't worry. Three-fourths of the things you worry about never happen anyway. If you must edit on the future, why not think of the pleasant things in store for you?

5. Make the doctor your friend. Don't wait to see him until you are dying. If you feel out of tune with the universe, ask medical advice.

A question of vital importance to you now—one on which, in fact, your whole future depends—is this: "Is your 'F. B.' active?"

If it is, do not be discouraged. Just make up your mind to begin today to "burn" with all your will. And thank your lucky star that you discovered it in time!

VANCOUVER'S AMBITION

(Vancouver Sun.)

The sooner Great Britain and Pacific nations relinquish any false hopes of continental Europe recovering its position as a world market, the sooner a supreme effort can be made to develop the vast new markets of the Pacific.

Vancouver, for instance, faces a buying area in China, Mexico, Japan, South America, Australia and Korea, equal to ten Europes.

While these unparalleled trade opportunities are staring the British Empire in the face, and awaiting only the establishment of manufacturing and distributing bases in Vancouver to hasten their development, it is rank folly to risk further good money on trading enterprises with the countries of continental Europe, unwilling as they are to honor their commercial obligations.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Hubert Stane, discharged convict, rescues Helen Yardley from the river when her canoe drifts toward a dangerous waterfall. He promises to return Helen to her uncle's camp near a northern post of the Hudson Bay Company. Together they flee from a forest fire. They find a deserted cabin and take possession. Indians attack the cabin. Helen is abducted and Stane is left for dead. Benard, a trapper, rescues Stane and they start in pursuit of Helen's abductors. Gerald Ainley, in love with Helen, shoots her captors and rescues the girl. Helen does not believe the story told by Ainley.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXI
Chigmok's Story.
When Stane set his face to the storm he knew there was a difficult task before him, and he found it even more difficult than he had anticipated.
"He came to a sudden descent in the trail that he was following. It was made by a small stream that in spring flooded down to the lake, but which now was frozen solid. In the blinding snow-drift he never even saw it, and stepping on air, he hurtled down the bank, and rolled in a confused heap in the deep snow at the bottom. For a full minute he lay there, out of the wind and biting snow-hail, feeling like a man who has stumbled out of a bitter cold to a soft couch in a warm room. His mind asserted itself again, his purpose dominated his wavering faculties, and he staggered to his feet.
"Helen!" he muttered, "Helen!"
He faced the bank of the stream on the other side from that which had caused his downfall. Then he paused. There was something—twenty seconds passed before he remembered. His rifle! It was somewhere in the snow, he must find it, for he might yet have need of it. He groped about, and presently recovered it; then after considering for a moment, instead of ascending to the level, he began to walk down stream, sheltered by the high banks.
The banks of the stream looked and opened suddenly. The withering force of the blast struck him, the snow buffeted him, and for a moment he stood held in his tracks, then the wind momentarily slackened, and he dived through the driving snow he sought sight of something that loomed shadowlike before him. It was the bluff that he was seeking, and as he moved towards it, the wind broken, grew less boisterous, though a steady stream of fine hard snow swept down upon him from its height. The snow blanketed everything; then he heard a long yelp and stumbled forward in the direction of the sound. A minute later in the shelter of some high rocks, he saw a camp-fire, beside which a team of dogs in harness, huddled in the snow, anchored there by the sled turn-

Stane looked swiftly in the direction indicated, and as the veil of snow broke for a moment, caught sight of a huddled form crawling in the snow.
"What?" he began.
"It's a man. I saw him distinctly," interrupted the policeman, and then as the snow swept down again he ran from the shelter of the camp.
A minute and a half later he staggered back, dragging a man with him. He dropped the man by the fire, poured some coffee into a pannikin, and as the new-comer, with a groan, half-raised himself to look around, he held the coffee towards him.
"Here, drink this, it'll do you—" he interrupted himself sharply, then in a tone of exaltation he cried: "Chigmok!"
"Oud!" answered the man. "I am Chigmok! And thou?"
"I am the man of the Law," answered Anderton, who has been at your heels for weeks."
"Here, drink this, it'll do you—" he interrupted himself sharply, then in a tone of exaltation he cried: "Chigmok!"

"Oud!" answered the man. "I am Chigmok! And thou?"
"I am the man of the Law," answered Anderton, who has been at your heels for weeks."

"Then I tell you," his dark eyes turned to Stane. "You not know me?"
"No," answered Stane. "I never saw you in my life before."
"But I haf seen you. Oud! I steal your canoe when you sleep!"
"You know who you are in the tent?" asked Stane sharply.
"I fin dat out see ver' next morning, when I meet a man who ask for see white girl. Ah I haf seen dat man before. I see heem shoot see paddle from see girl's hand."

"As he spoke he cut the things which bound her to the sledge and helped her to rise.
"Get on the sledge, Helen," said Ainley, brusquely. "There is no time to waste. We must hurry."
They turned from the storm-ridden lake to the shelter of the great woods. Except for forced halts to unravel the harness when it caught in the bushes, they did not stop for two hours, but pressed on until they reached an open space in the woods, which they crossed in a smother of blinding snow. On the other side of this break they came to a fresh spur of forest, and when they had penetrated to the shelter of the trees once more, the first voluntary halt was made.
"Of whom are you afraid?" asked Helen.
"Indians! We were forced to shoot three of your captors; and those of their friends who were following on behind may feel impelled to try and avenge their deaths."
"Oh!" said the girl; a note of sudden disappointment in her tone, that Ainley looked at her quietly.
"I have an idea," he said, "and I will explain when we camp. Just now there is no time to explain now. There

FOOT CRUSHED IN MOTORBOAT

The large four-masted schooner Whitebelle arrived in port yesterday afternoon for repairs. The schooner was bound from Hillsboro to New York with a cargo of plaster and during the heavy blow in the Bay on Saturday the schooner's jibboom was carried away. Your Health

BY DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON
FLOOR COVERINGS.
Anything you may do to stop up cracks and crevices in the floor of your house will cause a decided gain in health. Air in our rooms we must have, but not through cracks in the floor. More disease germs are disseminated by this means alone than in any other way.
Much dirt and dust is carried on our shoes into homes. It finds lodgment on the carpets and other floor coverings, and sifts down into the cracks. Sweeping and dusting distributes it again and the older it gets the worse it becomes. Do away with carpets in every possible case.
The Japanese have no carpets and very few bedclothes. Their homes are models of cleanliness. Few or no diseases result from house dirt there.
Wooden floors can be made perfectly sanitary by oil and paint, combined with a good cleaning compound and plenty of water.
Healthful floor coverings may be supplied in a number of ways. In many rooms a smooth-painted or finished-oil floor with few rugs furnish the necessary protection. An inlaid floor of wood pattern, doing away with all unhealthy and unsightly floor cracks, costs a little more, but that is more than gained in your annual health condition.
The necessity for pure, vitalizing air in homes, especially during the colder months, is a health factor of almost incalculable value. This is impossible with dusty carpets and germ-filled floor cracks.
Baby is a much safer asset if dusty carpets and unclean floors are made sanitary by removal.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton
OLD MOTHER MENDIT
"Everybody quiet!" cried Dick Red Cap, the town crier, loudly.
"Here come the Riddle Lady and the Twins!" announced Humpty Dumpty, the mayor of Riddle Town.
Just then the Riddle Lady arrived, and searching in one of her big pockets, she found the riddle she had Nancy took the paper and read as loudly as she could.

just composed. As there were no very hard words in it, she asked Nancy to read it. So Nancy took the paper and read as loudly as she could:
"Old Mother Mendit is long, sharp and thin.
She spends most of her time going out and then in.
Without much of a dress you'll be quite sure to find her.
Except for a train that she drags far behind her.
"They say that her living she earns by fine sewing.
And out to her work she is constantly going.
But though it may be that her nature's quite pushing,
Yet most of the time she's at home in her cushion.
"Gossip has it, my dears, and it's made quite a stir,
That she doesn't take sewing, but sewing takes her!
And it does seem too silly that she should go bare,
When she makes clothes for others with kindness and care.
"The train that she wears (or the she changes a hundred and ten times a day,
Not that she's conceited or boastful or vain,
to her back,
And comes home with nothing, alas and alack!
"Some people say she just works when she's driven,
So often kind acts fail and no thanks are given.
Just see now, my friends, if her name you can guess,
This queer old person who won't wear a dress!"
Nancy stopped reading and folded up the paper. She had done very well for a little girl only in the third grade at school.
"I think it's scandalous!" declared Misses Grundy. Misses Grundy was Solomon Grundy's wife and he was so particular about things that he even took care to die on a Sunday.
So no wonder Widow Grundy was prepared to be shocked at anything.
"I don't know who Old Mother Mendit was and I don't care!" she finished up with a toss of her head as she walked away.
"I know the answer," said the Maiden-All-Forsorn. "Mother Mendit was a needle, wasn't she?"
"Yes," said the Riddle Lady. "And the prize goes to you. It is a case of needles of every size."
"Oh, thank you," said the Maiden-All-Forsorn. "Now I can mend up my husband. He's the Man-All-Tattered-and-Torn, you know." And she went away happy.

Mother Defends Teacher's Smoking
And Scores Men as Old-Fashioned

MRS. WILLIAM SCHOLZE, A NEW-FASHIONED MOTHER.

(By Josephine Van de Grift.)
Providence, R. I.—This is the story of a new-fashioned mother, the mother of a girl who smokes cigarettes and wears knickers.

The girl, Dorothy Scholze, 21, lost her job teaching school at Orient, Long Island, the other day because the school board objected to her doing those things.

"I'm not the new woman who's at fault," says Mrs. William Scholze, the mother, who lives here in a modest little house. She was speaking of women in general and her daughter in particular. "The old man is at fault. If the old man would get a new idea into his head occasionally he might find more intelligent women willing to marry him."

"I'm with Dorothy. I brought her up to be independent. Cigarettes and knickers have their own good time and place and though I'm 55 I'd bob my own hair if I took the notion."

And now the motherly form of Mrs. Scholze is the outstanding figure in a storm which is rocking the East. "What you ought to give your Dorothy is a good spanking," write in a number of old-timers who, however, neglect to sign their names to their communications.

"I'm glad to find there is one real progressive mother in the world," writes in the young ones. "And if Dorothy wants a job with our concern she can have it."

FINISHES MISSION AT SAINT JAMES' Rev. Canon Troop Leaves for Jamaica for Christmas With Son.

A mission conducted in St. James' church in Broad street by Rev. Canon G. Osborne Troop, a former rector of the church, was brought to a close last evening. At the three services which the Canon Troop addressed yesterday there were large congregations. At the morning service he referred to the pleasure which it had been to him to revisit the church where he was formerly rector, and his hope that he might visit it again on his return from Jamaica.

In the afternoon Canon Troop addressed a service for children at which all of the Sunday school pupils and the Protestant orphans were present. He spoke to the children on the Book of Remembrance.

On Friday evening Canon Troop had given the first of three sermons on the Second Coming of Christ, and he spoke on that theme at both the morning and evening services yesterday. At

"That's all right," says the county superintendent and certain of the older school teachers, "that's all right, but the moral of the children have got to be observed."

"Morals! Children!" retorts Mrs. Scholze. "I brought up Dorothy to be honest, independent and self-respecting. Isn't that something for a teacher to hand over to her pupils?"

"She was always among the brightest in her class and when we couldn't afford to send her to college she tutored and worked as a librarian to earn her way. She was teaching school this year only to earn money so she could go to Germany to study some more."

"I always told her not to fall in love with any one young man, but to have a lot of boy friends, for while every woman should marry she's almost bound to be disappointed if she marries early."

"Dorothy never smoked in school and she wore knickers only when she was out hiking."

"I'm glad she stood for her rights. I want her to be up-to-date. If she were the scared, wishy-washy creature of a generation ago I doubt if she could hold any man's love—except that of an old fogey."

And here Mrs. Scholze lays the crux of the whole matter.

Meanwhile word comes from Newark, N. J., that Miss Helen Clark, 22-year-old teacher in the fourth grade, reprimanded for smoking, has risen up and told the board a few things.

might be referred to the second coming under three headings, the Rejected King, the Expected King and the Executing King. His address was masterly and made a deep impression. Canon Troop, in referring to the relations between England and the United States, said that he was convinced the two countries were being used by God in the bringing of His kingdom on earth.

Canon Troop left this morning for Halifax from where he will sail for Jamaica to spend Christmas with his son, who is the manager of the Royal Bank of Canada there.

FIRST C. G. I. T. CONFERENCE IS PRONOUNCED GREAT SUCCESS

Interesting Week-end Programme Brought to a Close Yesterday.

The first provincial Canadian Girls' Training conference for New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island came to a close yesterday at the largely attended mass meeting held in St. Andrew's church in the afternoon, and its success and inspiration has been beyond the hopes of its organizers. The delegates left this morning for their homes.

Saturday was a busy day in the conference. At 9 o'clock in the morning the eight leaders who were to take charge of discussion groups gathered for study.

At 9:45 the conference opened with the ceremonial of the Girls' Own Book, which includes a pretty flag salute. A service of worship was then led by Miss Dorothy Handran, of St. John. From 10 to 12 the girls were in discussion groups, talking through their problems on such topics as group standards, group service, personal honor, the place in C. G. I. T. of sports and contests.

Saturday Events.

In the afternoon the out-of-town delegates were divided into groups, one group visiting the dry dock, one the winter port, one the Simms brush factory, and one the health centre, the public library and museum. At supper interesting reports were given by representatives of the different groups.

At 8:30 supper was served in the conference church. Miss Winifred Coates, of Fredericton, being toast-mistress. Toasts were drunk to the King, the Home, the Church, C. S. E. T., and the Maritime camps and of tomorrow. Mayor Fisher spoke briefly, welcoming the delegates to St. John.

A charming pageant, "The Gate Which Leads to Tomorrow," showing tableaux of various vocations was given under the direction of Miss Gwen Ewing. Lantern slides were shown of C. G. I. T. Maritime camps and Miss D. L. Goss gave a splendid address.

On Sunday morning a brief prayer service was held before church. Miss Ruth Barnes of Moncton, presiding. In the afternoon there was a large and impressive gathering in the auditorium of St. Andrew's church, Mrs. Jameson and Principal MacKinnon being the speakers. A choir of St. John girls furnished special music.

At the Sunday afternoon meeting Mrs. Jameson presided. The address was the work of the group from St. James' church in Charlottetown and showed a C. G. I. T. girl on one side of the scale and the four phases of the four-fold life exactly balancing, placed in the other side of the scale.

Miss Mabel Matheson, vice-president of the Charlottetown Girls' Council, presided and Miss Dorothy Bennett, of Fredericton, gave the Scripture reading.

Mrs. R. A. Jamieson, president of the New Brunswick Girls' Work Board, which had planned the conference, gave a comprehensive outline of what the C. G. I. T. programme meant. She told of the gratifying progress which it had made since the work was organized in Canada six years previously.

There were 65,000 C. G. I. T. members in Canada and of these nearly 2,000 were in New Brunswick. Mrs. Jamieson explained the fourfold programme and the slogans which are used to denote each of the four branches: Physical, cherish health; intellectual, seek truth; spiritual, know God; and social, serve others.

Miss Trotter, Maritime girls' work secretary, said a telegram of greetings had been received from the Nova Scotia Girls' Work conference, and it was decided to send reciprocal greetings to the Nova Scotia C. G. I. T. members through their girls' work leader.

Principal MacKinnon congratulated the C. G. I. T. organization in the two provinces on the splendid conference which had been conducted and declared that the sight of so large a gathering was most heartening and at the

U. S. COMPETITION IN SHOES SERIOUS

Montreal, Dec. 2.—"What I should like to see is a movement for the increase of the British preference as regards footwear to help a fight against American imports which compete more seriously with Canadian industry, rather than the baseless talk about the harm of the British preference in the Canadian boot and shoe industry. As a matter of fact it is the trade the Americans get rather than that of the Canadian manufacturers with which the British manufacturers of footwear are competing and just now competing successfully."

C. L. HANINGTON IS PASSENGER

Arrives on Str. Doric—574 European Woodsmen on Board.

The new White Star-Dominion liner Doric made her first call at Halifax on Saturday night when she landed 970 passengers, 650 bags of mail and 680 tons of cargo from Liverpool. The passengers were C. Lionel Hanington, president of the Canadian Club in London, and son of the late Judge D. L. Hanington of Dorchester, N. B.

SPEAKS ON INDIANS.

At the regular Sunday morning meeting of the young men's class of the Knapsack church, conducted under the leadership of R. Garfield Barton, a large number assembled to hear the first of a series of addresses by local specialists. The address was delivered by Dr. McIntosh, curators of the Natural History Society, and he told in an interesting manner, illustrated with many valuable specimens, of the history and the habits of the early Indians in Canada. A vote of thanks, moved by David Legate and seconded by William McKay, was accorded Dr. McIntosh for his much enjoyed talk.

INSULIN TREATMENT.

Miss Katherine Wright, R. N., accompanied Charles Elder, of Moncton, to St. John where the latter will take the insulin treatment for diabetes, a disease he has suffered from for some time.

At the same time prophetic of a better life to come in the Maritime Provinces. He was speaking on the theme, "King in the Kingdom of Christ," and he felt that he could do that best by emphasizing three of the slogans used by Mrs. Jamieson, "seek truth, know God and serve others." Principal MacKinnon illustrated his address with vivid word pictures.

Hearty thanks were extended to everyone who in any way helped to make the conference so successful. The girls themselves carried out their responsible duties in an admirable manner.

Amongst those who were specially thanked were the owners of automobiles who kindly conveyed the delegates from the station to the homes of their hostesses when they arrived in St. John. A reception committee was on hand at that time and saw that the girls were taken without delay to the homes of their hostesses. The members of the reception committee at the station were Mrs. Herman Campbell, Mrs. R. G. Fulton, Miss Florence Cummings, Miss Armstrong, Miss F. Henderson, Miss Townsend and Miss K. Amos.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

MARMALADE AND CANDIED PEEL

Orange or grapefruit marmalade is delicious with toast for tea or breakfast.

If a dish of stewed prunes has been the breakfast fruit, a bit of marmalade with the toast and coffee adds just the necessary touch to the meal.

While many people object to the bitterness of marmalades, of citrus fruits this very tang makes a stimulant for faded appetites. Home-made marmalade can be made just as bitter as one desires it.

Candied orange peel is a sweetmeat easily made at home and a delightful change from candy. A plate of orange peeling will be quite as acceptable on one corner of the bridge table as the usual dish of bon-bons.

No English tea is ever complete without its marmalade and the English people like it with a "tang." One recipe calls for "bitter" oranges to mix with the sweet. But the bitterness is controlled by the number of times the skins are parboiled.

A rather sour orange should be chosen. Lemons may be added if a sweeter marmalade is desired. Lemons do not add to the bitterness of the marmalade.

California Marmalade

One dozen navel oranges, sugar. Cut oranges in halves and scoop out the pulp. Put peels in a large kettle, cover with cold water and bring to the boiling point. Drain from water and return to kettle. Add boiling water to more than cover and simmer until tender. It will take about two hours. Drain and let cool. Scrape out the white inside with a strong spoon, leaving only the yellow outside. Cut into narrow strips. Combine peeling and pulp and weigh. Use three-fourths as much sugar as orange. Put pulp and strips in preserving kettle and bring to the boiling point. Sift in sugar and boil until thick and clear. It will take about one and one-half hours. Turn into jelly glasses and cover with paraffin when cold. The pulp is removed from the skins with a strong tea or orange spoon, leaving the membrane in the skins.

Combination Marmalade

Six oranges, 3 small grapefruit, 9 lemons, 9 quarts water, 8 pounds sugar. Wipe fruit with a damp cloth. Peel one grapefruit and discard the rind. Scrape off all the white possible from the fruit. Cut all the fruit in very thin slices, removing seeds and white pith in the center. Put fruit in a large crock, cover with 9 quarts of water and let soak from noon of one day to morning of the next. Put over the fire and boil two and one-half hours. Add sugar and one more quart of water and let stand until cool. When cool, return to the fire and cook one hour, stirring often. Skim as necessary. Pour into sterilized glasses and cover with paraffin when cold.

Candied Orange Peel

Remove skin from oranges in neat sections. Put peel into cold water and bring to the boiling point. Boil ten minutes. Change water and boil half an hour. Drain from water and let cool. Cut in narrow strips with scissors and measure. Use one cup of sugar for every cup of straws and 1/2 cup boiling water. Make a sirup of sugar and water, add orange straws and boil until clear. Lift straws from sirup with a pair of candy tongs, roll in granulated sugar and spread on a platter. Place in the sun to crystallize and become firm. (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)

GOING TO ACCEPT CHARGE IN BATH

Rev. John A. Swetnam, who has been pastor of the Waterloo street Baptist church for the last two years, announced his resignation at the morning service in the church yesterday. The resignation is to take effect on Dec. 31 when Mr. Swetnam will leave for Bath, Me., where he has accepted the pastorate of the First Baptist church.

The Waterloo street congregation received the announcement with regret and the board of deacons approached Mr. Swetnam before the evening service asking him to reconsider but he declared his decision was final. Several new organizations have been formed in the church during Mr. Swetnam's pastorate, a large number of new members have been added and many improvements have been made in the church property. Mr. Swetnam's departure will also be greatly regretted by many outside his own congregation.

A dedication service was conducted by Mr. Swetnam in the church yesterday morning when the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Morrison was publicly dedicated to the Lord. During the service also the right hand of fellowship was extended to three candidates.

GOOD WORK AT FIRE

The fire engine of No. 6 station in West St. John was called out last night at 10:45 by an alarm from Box 212 for a fire which was discovered smoldering between the floors in the house owned by Charles Goodman which is in St. John's street, near Rodney street. It was necessary to do considerable cutting to get at the fire but the response to the alarm was so prompt that the firemen had finished their work inside of half an hour and the fire was "all out."

Three weeks until Christmas. GIVE BOTH there's a richness to the beauty of this graven gold and silver Matched in gold and silver, Eversharp and Wahl Pen make a beautiful gift—a useful gift—a welcome gift. They are the world's favorite pen and pencil.

Eversharp has become a daily necessary. It is a wonderful pen with which to write. The lead never works, for the exclusive rifled tip holds it firm. Look, too, for the automatic index. And the eraser and extra leads under the cap.

The all-metal Wahl Pen is revolutionary. It cannot crack or split. Holds more ink. Will last a lifetime. Priced from $4 to $50. Eversharp, $1 to $50. Give both in the velvet-lined gift box. Look for the name on each.

You can't give a more original gift—nor one which is more useful than the Eversharp and Wahl Pen miniature set.

Motoring Law and Eye Test

Recent automobile fatalities in this province—all of those up to a month ago, in fact—indicated a lack of needed Glasses as a prominent reason for the crash.

Therefore a movement is afoot not only in N. B., but all over the Maritimes to have a law passed compelling all drivers to have their eyes checked up, the same as with engine drivers. Many motorists will thus be surprised to learn they require Glasses.

CANUCKS A-BISON HUNTIN' GOIN' IN WAY OF BUFFALO BILL

A PART OF THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT'S BUFFALO HERD AT WAINWRIGHT, ALBERTA.

Wainwright, Alberta, Nov. 8.—The spirit of Buffalo Bill is hovering around the Canadian Government's big wild-game pasture here. The greatest buffalo hunt since Cody's rifle stopped cracking on the American plains is on. And in spite of all efforts to make the event safe and sane, a tinge of romance attaches. The hunt will continue until 2,000 animals are killed. This wholesale slaughter means that the day has passed when reasonable fears are to be entertained as to the extinction of the bison. There are 6,800 in the Wainwright herd, and the killing, mostly of the bulls, is to thin them out and save the winter hay supply.

United States proposed to film the hunt, turning loose a band of feathered Cree Indians to bring down the buffalo with bow and arrows. The Government refused, pointing out that with present-day Indians the arrow is no longer a sure weapon of death and that the buffalo would suffer cruelly from their wounds. Meat Cheap Some New York sportsmen also wished to enter the hunt, paying $500 for each man admitted. But they also were refused. REV. DR. JOHN LINE GIVES ABLE SERMON

Visiting Preacher is Heard at Centenary Anniversary Services.

Able and thought-provoking sermons were preached by Rev. John Line, D.D., S.T.D., head of the theological department of Mount Allison University, when he occupied the pulpit at the centenary anniversary services in part and the Lord's Supper was administered at the close of the evening service. Large congregations greeted the speaker on both occasions, the capacity of the church being taxed in the evening, and the gallery well filled besides. This is a sun-dried buffalo meat, pounded into paste, mixed with liquid fat and molded into solid cakes. It is considered one of the most concentrated forms of food, and is sold at arctic trading posts. The vast Wainwright herd are dependent of four buffalo calves, captured in 1874.

TOMORROW'S TAXLESS TOWN!

That's Milwaukee's Altruistic Drame For Future Generations

(By NEA Service.) Milwaukee.—No taxes to pay! Snacks Utopian and too good to be true. But under a novel plan in municipal finance just gotten under way here, this city hopes to realize the vision a century hence. True, the first 100 years will be the hardest. But after they have run their course, Milwaukee expects to unshackle all tax fetters forever, and thus provide a nice little altruistic present for its progeny. Between 20 and 30 years from now, the city will no longer have a bonded debt, and taxes even then will have started on their downward course. All this will be brought about through the medium of a gradual amortization scheme, aimed to retire all the city's indebtedness and make it a municipal Cresset, in a few decades. As the plan has been conceived, the operating expenses of the city will be defrayed as the years go on, by interest accumulating in a two-fold fund invested in conservative securities. Two-Fold Plan. One is the Civic Foundation, established through the efforts of Mayor Daniel Hoan, with Oliver C. Fuller, president of the First Wisconsin National Bank, appointed as its head. This organization begins to function Jan. 1, 1924. It provides an opportunity for the wealthy to make bequests and donations to the city for the benefit of future generations, in a perpetual private gift to remain intact. The second source is a public trust fund, accumulated from surplus city revenue. This fund has been given a start of $400,000, which will be increased by about $250,000 a year, representing interest on the city's bank account. For the first 25 years the city will receive annually 25 per cent. of the revenue from the fund of the Civic Foundation; 25 per cent. during the next 25 years, and 87 1/2 per cent. after the first 50 years. All interest held back will remain in the fund to be commuted. Interest from various city funds in 1923, will pass the million mark in 1926. In 10 years, it is estimated, it will reach $2,500,000, and by 1943 nearly $16,000,000. Accounting officials predict the city then will be without any indebtedness whatever. Forty years from now the tax rate will be one-third what it is now. Some years later there will be no taxes at all. After 50 years of putting $200,000 into the fund annually, this may be stopped and merely the interest turned back. Fifty years more of this and the total fund will amount to $43,145,478.21. The interest on this tidy little sum would pay all the taxes. So in 2023 Milwaukee won't be such a bad place in which to live.

THREE SPEAK ON PROHIBITORY LAW

Rev. Messrs. Wilson and Marshall and Donald Fraser Heard.

In a temperance Sunday programme at the Queen Square Methodist Sunday school yesterday afternoon the speakers were Rev. W. D. Wilson, Rev. Thomas Marshall and Donald Fraser, president of the New Brunswick Temperance Alliance. Mr. Wilson stressed the importance of taking the temperance pledge while young and forming temperance habits early. Mr. Marshall told of the grave mistakes young folk made in forming drinking habits and thereby barring their way to success. He also reminded the young people that they would be the leaders of tomorrow and it would be a serious matter if they led in the wrong direction. There was an excellent prohibitory act and its beneficial results in spite of the fact that there were violations of the law. He said the prohibitory law should be guarded and that a less stringent one would be a peril. All three speakers declared that there was lack of enforcement of the law. Mr. Marshall was the preacher at the morning service in Queen Square church, and he told of his own experience in Quebec. He declared there were shameful violations of the liquor laws in that province and that drunkenness and crime were on the increase.

Saves Lifetime to Buy His Pupils Telescope

Delaware, O.—A real philanthropist is Prof. H. M. Perkins. For more than half a century he skimped and saved. Every month a few dollars from his pedagogical salary—there never was a year it amounted to more than $1,500—were carefully tucked away. Surprised 'Em 'Tis nice he's laying aside a neat little nest-egg for his old age,' said the folks at the bank. But Professor Perkins fooled them. Not, however, until he had passed the nineteenth milestone in life's long journey. Then his benevolence began to manifest itself. And Ohio Wesleyan University, where he had taught mathematics and astronomy for more than 50 years, benefited thereby. It's Big One A herculean 60-inch reflecting telescope is Professor Perkins' gift. It is said to be the third largest in the world. Those at Mount Wilson, Calif., and Victoria, B. C., are declared to be the only ones with greater range. The instrument, through which Wesleyan's sons and daughters will read the stories of the stars, will be housed atop a new observatory being built upon an eminence four miles outside of town, far from traffic's dust and jar. The telescope was made by Warner & Swasey in Cleveland. The lenses are being ground in Pittsburgh now. It will be six months before the glass is cool enough to see. No Strings 'There are no strings to the gift,' Professor Perkins asserts. 'I want it to be used freely by the students at Wesleyan, and scientists from all over the world.' Professor Perkins forsook the classroom in 1907 to make a trip around the world. He'd been with his school in spirit ever since. And his heart's in Wesleyan yet.

NEW MEMORIAL WINDOW UNVEILED

Stone Church Service in Memory of Late James F. Robertson.

A stained glass memorial window of great beauty of design and coloring was unveiled yesterday in St. John's (Stone) church at the morning service and was dedicated by Rev. A. L. Fleming, the rector, in memory of James F. Robertson. The act of unveiling was performed by James Robertson Curry, a grandson of Mr. Robertson. The service throughout was marked by dignity and simplicity. The new window is the second of two stained glass windows to be erected as memorials in the church. The remaining four large windows, which are now white glass, are to be replaced with stained glass and each will be erected as a memorial.

service. J. R. Secord and George L. Warwick, the church wardens, asked Mr. Fleming, as rector, to receive and dedicate the window, and when it had been unveiled by Mr. Curry, prayer was offered, and then Mr. Fleming spoke the solemn words of dedication. Rev. Mr. Fleming prefaced his sermon with the following reference to the window and the man it commemorated.

ing the donors very sincerely for their splendid gift to the church.

"First let me say that we had hoped to have the Bishop with us today, but this was impossible. His Lordship asked me to say that he would have considered it an honor to have been present at the dedication of this window to the memory of one who was a dear and honored friend and to whom he was indebted for countless acts of courtesy and kindness.

"It is unnecessary for me to speak at length regarding the late James F. Robertson. As one of the builders of our city his name is too well known to require any special reference from me. It is regarding his churchmanship that I should like to say a few words.

"Mr. Robertson was the son of a clergyman in this diocese, a strong Protestant and an ardent lover of the Book of Common Prayer. He knew well the problems of a rector, and that knowledge made him one of the most sympathetic and warm-hearted friends that the clergy have ever had.

"As God prospered him, he sought to express his thanks by helping others, especially those who were of the household of faith, and many a struggling parish and many a harassed clergyman had good reason to bless the name of James F. Robertson.

"I cannot do better at this time than to refer to the Bishop's charge in 1921, where he points out that it was Mr. Robertson that the widows' and orphans' fund, which has been of untold value, was due.

"It was also to his far-sighted policy that we are indebted for Rethesay Collegiate School. His generosity provided bursaries for the education of the sons of clergy at Rethesay and at Wycliffe College, Toronto.

"It would be impossible to dwell upon his private benefactions, for they extend far beyond the boundaries of the diocese, and it is inspiring to remember that today there stands a little church in the far northwest which was the gift of our friend, a small illustration of his wide vision.

"In the words of the Bishop 'we may well thank God for the record of a life, which was great because it was good; and good because it was great.' "May God raise up many more in our beloved church to walk in his footsteps."

In his sermon, Mr. Fleming spoke of the church and the individual.

The window design shows the disciples inviting Christ to remain at their home and the inscription is as follows: "Abide with us for it is towards evening and the day is far spent."

Beneath are the following words: "To the Glory of God and in Memory of James F. Robertson, died Jan. 15, 1921, aged 61 years."

The window was made by the Robert McCausland Company in Toronto and is remarkably beautiful.

CADETS MARCH IN CHURCH PARADE

As the Cadets marched briskly up King street at about 12.45 yesterday their heads were erect and their bearing was that of well drilled soldiers. They won the admiration of passers-by and stepped smartly with 62nd Fusiliers Bagpipe Band playing martial airs. They marched five miles in their church parade yesterday and as they went up King street they were hearing the end of their long tramp, but even the smallest was marching with a swing of a tried veteran. There were 876 of the Cadets on church parade with Captain D. V. Palm in charge. They marched from the Army to St. Jude's church and the Church of the Assumption in West St. John and back again. The

PREBYTERIANS AND CHURCH UNION

In connection with this vital issue, there are some facts which you should know and think about, before you allow your church to be legislated out of existence.

- DO YOU KNOW
1. There are 100,000 members of the Presbyterian Church who have never had a chance to vote on this question of Union?
  2. There are thousands of our men who were overseas when the last vote was taken—the soldiers?
  3. The people—who are the church—have never had a single chance to vote on the proposed Bills?

- DO YOU KNOW
1. That it is now eight years since the people had a chance to vote on the question of union?
  2. That during that time:—
(A) The great war ended and peace was declared?
(B) Colossal changes have taken place in commerce, industry and society?
(C) Uncertainty and unrest are distracting the minds of men?
  3. That the people have never had a chance to vote on the Proposed Legislation?

IS IT RIGHT

1. To force union on the church now?
2. To ignore the new members and soldiers?
3. To pass these Bills without a vote?
4. To disrupt our ancient and beloved church?

Considering these facts:

The nurse, the doctor, the judge—all agree

HEALTH authorities throughout Canada unanimously recommend rubbers and overshoes for fall and winter foot protection.

School nurses everywhere urge the children to wear their rubbers to and from school, and for out-door play.

In a Montreal court it was held that a person who had slipped on the ice and sued for damages, had not taken reasonable precaution because rubbers were not worn.

Active, scuffling, heedless little feet of boys and girls give rubber footwear its hardest test. All DOMINION brand rubber footwear is made with the wear quality and durability to withstand the hardest kind of wear and tear—to protect the feet and health of children and grownups.

Because of their splendid wearing quality DOMINION brand rubbers are the most economical to buy.

ENTHUSIASTIC APPROVAL ON EVERY HAND

Since the opening day of our sale, hundreds have testified to the unusual popularity of this remarkable selling campaign that is now forging ahead at our store.

When all is said and done, there is only one way to sell merchandise today and that is to stand back of every article sold and tell the public facts ringing with sincerity and truth.

Hundreds entered our store out of curiosity the last four or five days, but before they left, they bought a big supply of goods.

Many of the people who have visited us, we will venture to say, have not taken the time and trouble to attend a sale in years, but this is no ordinary sale and the public knows it. That is the chief reason of the great response. The people came because the merchandise was their kind of merchandise—high in quality and very low in price. This sale will be brought to an end Saturday night, December 8th and then, of course, it will be too late for you to participate in the savings.

SAYS ISSUE CANNOT BE REOPENED NOW

Rev. Dr. MacKinnon Holds General Assembly Cannot Call Another Vote. At a mass meeting in St. Andrew's church last evening Rev. Dr. MacKinnon, principal of Pine Hill College, Halifax, explained the position taken by the advocates of church union and expressed his deep-rooted conviction that church union was a necessary and wise step.

Question of Doctrine.

It was the question of doctrine that chiefly concerned the Presbyterian cause and there again there was no heart for uneasiness, he said. The bill in reality had no authority to be selected by the other six, the whole being approved by the subject and he did not intend to enter into any controversial discussion, he said. He felt church union would bring progress to church work by uniting the good church equipment in every village where now there were three or four struggling little churches. If the church were properly equipped it could make the deplorable attraction of rural districts. This equipment was all the more needed in view of the expected immigration.

PREMIER GREETED AT THE CAPITAL

Ottawa, Dec. 2 - Prime Minister Mackenzie King after two months' absence attending the Imperial Conference in London, returned to the capital this morning. A large delegation of cabinet ministers, and friends were on the platform to bid him welcome.

BAXTER MAKES A CHARGE AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT

Says Rights of Maritime Provinces Were Deliberately Sacrificed

Halifax, Dec. 2.—That the government of Right Hon. Mackenzie King had deliberately sacrificed the rights of the Maritime Provinces and had thrown those rights as a bait to the grain growers of the west, was the charge of Hon. Dr. J. B. M. Baxter, K.C., M.P., of St. John, addressing a meeting in the interests of W. A. Black, Conservative candidate in Wednesday's by-election at Dartmouth, on Saturday night. The government had, he repeated, bought the votes of the Progressives with that which belonged to these provinces—and most humiliating of all, he said the 16 members from Nova Scotia had been a party to the "Great Betrayal." Not one of them had offered the slightest protest against a piece of political treachery that had robbed New Brunswick and Nova Scotia of what was theirs by all dictates of justice and national fair dealing, said Mr. Baxter.

"We want men who will present our needs and rights," declared Mr. Baxter, "men—not voting machines." The charges he had made, continued Mr. Baxter, might seem astonishing to those not aware of the circumstances. But his statements were susceptible of the most absolute proof, he declared, and added that the "Great Betrayal" had taken place at one of the most disgraceful instances of the sacrifice of Maritime interests was referred to as the restoration of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement with the Canadian Pacific Railway providing that certain articles should not exceed a certain level as stipulated in the agreement.

Says Progressives Won. This agreement was suspended during the year when the roads were to unprecedented heights. When the Progressives asked that it be restored in 1922 they had their way. The report of the committee, Mr. Baxter said, was against the restoration of the agreement. But, he declared, the Progressives brought pressure to bear and the government capitulated. It had argued in committee that whatever prevailed on the C. P. R. would also have to prevail on the C. N. R., else the national railway could not be business.

"The government had the 'solid sixteen,'" Dr. Baxter declared—"The 'solid sixteen' were the voting machines who would support the government in anything and everything. Therefore, Mr. King was in a position to deal with the Progressives. So, the government intervened, the report of the committee was changed and the Progressives had their way—at the direct expense of Maritime interests." The result of this, said Dr. Baxter, was concession to the prairie provinces of many millions of dollars reduction in freight rates which enormous reduction made it increasingly difficult for the Maritimes to get justice in this respect. "For," said Dr. Baxter, "the whole Maritime question is bound up in freight rates. We must have lower freight rates if we are to get along." Referring to the tide of Canadian trade flowing through Portland while Canadian ports were comparatively idle, Dr. Baxter asked: "If you owned the Canadian National line from Montreal to Portland and also the National line from Montreal to Halifax, what would you do? Would you keep the line to Portland bright and shining with Canadian traffic and allow the line to Halifax to rust for lack of traffic? If one line or the other had to lose money would you want the loss on the line to Portland or the line to Halifax? The question is not debatable. The answer of every friend of these provinces would be the words of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier—"we would force Canadian trade through Canadian ports."

THANKS PEOPLE FOR RECEPTION

Rev. John Line, D. D., S. T. D., head of the theological department of Mount Allison University, publicly thanked Centenary congregation last evening at the close of the first service before the general congregation was dismissed for the many courtesies extended to him. Dr. Line said that he felt the honor to himself personally. He also understood that there was in the hearts of the people of Centenary an esteem which they desired to express for the institutions he represented, the Mount Allison University and colleges. During his stay Dr. Line was the guest of His Honor Chief Justice H. A. and Mrs. McKeown.

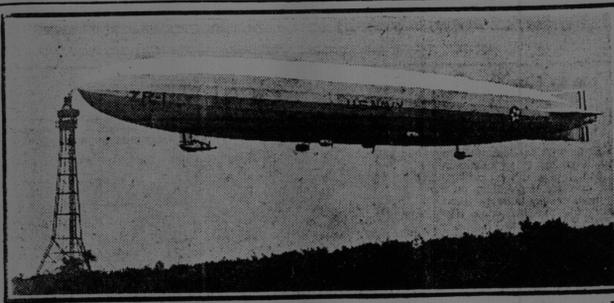

On Saturday evening on his arrival, a committee of men from the church received him and escorted him to the Union Club, where a bountiful dinner was served. After this was concluded, all adjourned to the church, where a reception was held and a delightful musical programme carried out. The Ladies' Aid served delicious refreshments, under the convalescence of their president, Mrs. G. P. A. Anderson. The church orchestra played throughout the evening, which was happily informal and a successful social event.

A KINGSTON NURSE FINISHES TRAINING

Miss Edith Paddock, of Kingston, Kings county, who recently entered the training school for nursing attendants conducted by the Household Nursing Association, of 222 Newbury street, Boston, has just completed her six weeks' training at the association headquarters and has now entered the Deaconess Hospital for seven and a half months of hospital work. The course which Miss Paddock is receiving trains its students to be able not only to perform sick room duties, but to prepare and serve proper food. Graduates of the school are assured work, if they wish, through the registry of the Household Nursing Association.

SMELT SEASON OPENS. The netting season for smelts opened along the Strait of Northumberland on Saturday and many fishermen are out in scores, no ice having formed in the river.

FINE ARTISTRY IN RUSSELL PICTURES

Works of Young Canadian on Exhibition Here Win Much Praise

In the exhibition of pictures which Gyth Russell has on view in the Church of England Institute there is a wonderful feast for the art lover and matter for pride for all Canadians. Mr. Russell is one of the most talented of the Canadian artists of today. Subjects in England and France are treated in the pictures which he has exhibited. Of the 80 pictures which comprise the exhibit by far the majority are etchings and engravings of a special appeal. Some very fine oil paintings, in which soft lights are strikingly imprisoned, some water colors of charming hue and softness and some pencil sketches are also included in the collection and the visitor marvels at the versatility of Mr. Russell's talent while rejoicing in what it has produced. English Scenes. The English home of the artist is in Devonshire, in picturesque Topsham and his etchings show many very attractive scenes in that quiet village. "Cuckoo Time" shows a country lane in Devonshire and the feathery trees and air of freshness, which Mr. Russell has somehow imprisoned in that picture, are evocative of an English spring. "The church wall" at Topsham with its sharp contrast of gloomy dark wall and pleasant street attracts the fancy. The well known favorite of artists, "The Norman drawing of Canterbury," is a tinted drawing in which boldness of line and softness of coloring have been combined to produce a very pleasing portrayal. "Charenton," which to the novice at the first glance is a sketch of few lines but giving a vivid picture, was shown by Mr. Russell in London, at the office of the Agent-General of Nova Scotia where he was privileged to have an exhibition of his pictures. In describing this notable work which is a Chinese ink drawing, the London Daily Mail said: "Perhaps the most boldly splashed ink sketch of a fishing scene, 'Charenton,' the strange technique of which may puzzle even a professional draughtsman." Of his oil paintings Mr. Russell considers "The Blackberry pickers" to be the best. It is a small canvas showing a contrast of dark trees and green meadows with the sun lighting up the grass. There is sparkling talent in it certainly. But it would be hard to pass by the larger canvas beside it, "October morning" with the fleecy clouds and stately trees. An artist's word should be accepted where his works are concerned but the "October morning" can catch the fancy and delight the eye to a far greater extent than "The Blackberry pickers." The water color sketches have a daintiness of coloring that is very attractive. "The Cliffs near Westward Ho" and "Exminster Marsh" are splendid examples of Mr. Russell's skill with water colors and they may easily stand beside the best works of Alexander Watson. The pictures will be on exhibition until Dec. 11. They were first shown on Saturday afternoon when a large number of special invitations was issued. Those privileged to attend on Saturday were greatly delighted and awarded high praise on the brilliant young artist. Canadian.

Mr. Russell is a son of Judge Russell, of Halifax. For several years he has been a member of the Royal Society of British Artists and he is the only Canadian to be elected to that body. By special commission he painted 16 large canvases in the war zone for the Canadian war memorials which were exhibited at Burlington House in 1919 and are part of the Canadian War Memorials Exhibition. He has done diploma work for the Royal Society of British Artists and by special invitation has exhibited at the Royal Glasgow Institute of Fine Arts. One of his paintings, "The Lane in Spring," was bought by the National Gallery of Canada in 1922. A companion picture, an unframed oil painting also entitled, "The Lane in Spring," is shown in the exhibition here.

EXCHANGE PULPITS

Rev. W. M. Townshend, M. A., pastor of St. Columba Presbyterian church, Fairville, was the preacher in St. Matthew's Presbyterian church yesterday at both services, exchanging with Rev. W. H. Spencer, who preached in Fairville. Rev. Mr. Townshend invited the congregation of St. Matthews to be present at the Presbytery in St. Andrew's church on Dec. 11 when the resignation of Rev. W. H. Spencer will be considered. Rev. Mr. Townshend preached on "Broken Cisterns" at the morning service. A. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wilson, Harding street, Fairville, in a recent accident. While working at Courtney Bay in a mill, he was caught in some of the machinery. Dr. L. M. Curran was called but found no bones broken and no internal injury. The nervous shock was severe but Mr. Wilson was resting as well as could be expected yesterday. If nothing further developed he hopes to be about very soon.

OH, HORRORS!

Girls take a good look at this! It shows one reason why fond mothers raise their boys to be soldiers. This lad, the top of whose head you see, is having a permanent wave put in his hair—said to be the very latest in New York.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE

There is much wonderment over the escape from serious injury of Arnold Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wilson, Harding street, Fairville, in a recent accident. While working at Courtney Bay in a mill, he was caught in some of the machinery. Dr. L. M. Curran was called but found no bones broken and no internal injury. The nervous shock was severe but Mr. Wilson was resting as well as could be expected yesterday. If nothing further developed he hopes to be about very soon.

WILL ESTABLISH HOME FOR BOYS

A home for boys with attractions such as bowling, billiards and other indoor games is being established in Montreal under the name of "Salve Regina Protectorate for Boys." Its object is to help the boy during the stage of adolescence. Most orphanages, it is pointed out, do not make provision for boys after the age of twelve, and this is the age when they are most likely to fall under the many temptations which surround them in a great city. The new institution is designed to counteract these temptations and save the boys from falling into lawless ways. In addition to provision for games, there will be a reading room, cafeteria, showers, baths, bedrooms, and everything necessary to provide a real home for the lads. Boys of any age, whether employed or out of employment will be welcomed. For boys anxious to learn there will be vocational training under the direction of a committee of prominent citizens and the school commissioners are being approached with a view to providing teachers for night courses. To augment the building fund, a tag day was held Saturday.

SPORT NEWS GLEANED FROM WORLD'S CENTRES

THE TIMES-STAR
SPORT REVIEW

Newsy Briefs on Current Pastimes of Interest to Fans.

The proposed transfer of the Syracuse Club to Montreal is creating interest in the International League circuit, in addition to practically every city in Eastern Canada. It is said that the owners of the club, before obtaining permission to transfer, will have to agree to a guarantee of $350,000 last year there is no doubt that they will be willing to take a chance on a city the size of Montreal regardless of the extra expense they will be called upon to pay.

Boxing fans in this city have a new subject to talk about now that Jack Kearns announces that Champion Jack Dempsey is willing to meet Harry Wills. Wills is unquestionably the most logical opponent in the world for the champion. He has been seeking a bout for nearly three years, but this is the first time that he was given any consideration. A match between Wills and Dempsey should make a great drawing card for some promoter and undoubtedly it will not be long before both boxes are made tempting offers.

What athletic stands for is the subject of an article appearing in a Boston paper, of recent issue, from the pen of Fielding Yost, athletic director at the University of Michigan. His interpretation is one which is well worth reading and should be kept in mind by all participants of sports. It is as follows:—

"The sacrifice of self to a group or institution for the entertainment of a common goal is the first lesson taught by athletics. This means co-operation, team play, loyalty and service. The qualities of determination, will power, persistence and courage, both physical and moral, have never been better learned than on the athletic field. The ability to summon all of one's forces, physical, mental and moral, to work together in smooth co-ordination for the accomplishment of a given task, and the initiative necessary to direct these forces, always have been attributes very strikingly developed by athletics. Self-confidence, self-control, poise, alertness, aggressiveness—these qualities and many more are brought out by football and athletics."

WILL NEDDER HEALEY BE ABLE TO MAKE ANY BETTER SHOWING AGAINST JIMMY FRUZZETTI, NEW ENGLAND LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPION, THAN HE DID IN HIS DEFEAT OF FRUZZETTI NEXT THURSDAY NIGHT WHEN THEY MET IN A TEN-ROUND BOUT IN HALIFAX.

It may make a big difference. Healey failed to do this and as a result was practically on the defence throughout the entire bout. Naturally Fruzzetti appeared greatly superior in every department.

RUNS FOUR MILES WITH BROKEN LEG

Finished Race and Then Collapsed.

Sioux City, Iowa, Dec. 3.—Paul Ellis, of Dunlap, Iowa, student at Morning-side College, finished the annual Thanksgiving Day four-mile cross-country run of the North Central Conference with a broken leg.

When the runners started on their dash, Ellis fell and fractured a bone in his right leg. He finished the race and then collapsed on the field.

OWNER OF EPINARD SAILS FOR NEW YORK

Paris, Dec. 3.—Pierre Wertheimer, owner of Epinard, France's champion three-year-old race horse, has sailed for New York on board the steamer Paris. On his arrival in the United States he will be ready to consider any responsible proposition to send Epinard to the United States next spring to meet the United States horse in the match race over any distance up to one mile and a half.

M. Wertheimer would prefer that the race be held in France, but the negotiations which have been in progress since November 3 to arrange an international cup race on the Longchamps course for May 3 next year have been held up by the Vincennes Race Track Society, to which this date originally was allotted, refusing to yield.

HARRIERS WON

Fredericton, N. B., Dec. 2.—The St. John Harriers maintained their position as one of the leading intermediate basketball teams of the Maritime Provinces when they defeated the Provincial Normal School team here 31 to 23 on Saturday. The Normal School has one of its best teams in history, but the St. John combination was too fast for them.

Real Rival For Lewis

"TOOTS" MONDT ON FAVORITE PONY.

Joe "Toots" Mondt, former cow-puncher, looms up as the most formidable rival for the heavyweight wrestling title, now held by Ed "Strangler" Lewis.

Mondt hails from Greeley, Colo. He is a hard worker, always in condition. During the summer months when many wrestlers are loafing, Mondt spends his time roughing it in the Ozark mountains.

In his last contest with the champion, Mondt held Lewis to a two-hour draw, there being a time limit. Mondt was much the stronger the finish. Mondt is promised an early chance with Lewis. In all probability he will be the first man to face the title holder in a championship bout this winter.

WILLS REFUSES RICKARD'S TERMS

Promoter Meets Obstacle in Arranging Bout for Firpo.

New York, Dec. 3.—Tex Rickard refuses to reveal details of negotiations he has had under way for some time to match Harry Wills, negro heavyweight, and Luis Firpo, but indicated that some progress towards arranging the bout had been made.

Rickard admitted receiving word from Firpo in which the latter suggested May 5 as a satisfactory date for holding the fight. The promoter, however, said he had no definite date in mind, although he said some time about May 1 would be desirable.

Rickard apparently has definitely given up a proposal to stage the bout in the Argentine, particularly as Wills is opposed to meeting Firpo in the latter's native country. The most likely scene will be New York. Rickard already has Firpo under contract to fight Wills, but so far the negro and his manager, Paddy Mullins, have steadily refused to accept the promoter's terms.

MYSTERIES THEME OF DR. CROSSLEY

The mysteries of the universe were discussed by Rev. Dr. H. T. Crossley in his evangelistic meeting last night in the Exmouth street Methodist church when a large congregation filled every available seat. Dr. Crossley spoke of the Majesty and Godhood of Christ, of the mystery of the spiritual life. His address was graphically presented and made a very deep impression. With organ accompaniment as well as a violin obligato by Morton L. Harrison, Dr. Crossley sang "The Pearly Gates and Golden." J. H. Leonard, who led the service of song, sang most effectively "The Prodigal's Return." Mr. Leonard's singing is a special feature of the evangelistic services and has caused much favorable comment. The choir sang sympathetically "Take the Home Path."

Rome, Dec. 2.—Erminio Spalla, Italian heavyweight pugilist, defeated Barbareis, another Italian heavyweight in the fifth round of their bout last night. The fighting was in Spalla's favor and Barbareis refused to continue after the fifth. At that time he mentioned to Spalla that he thought he had had enough and said he did not want his body marked.

FEMININE

In the matter of people between 20 and 40 years old, France now has six women for every five men. So several million women are condemned to spinsterhood.

Professor Girault, French sociologist, studies this lack of balance between the sexes and decides that Europe in general, and France in particular, is destined to undergo a long period of feminization. He apparently believes that the minority always rules, and he's right. The majority just thinks it's right. Bolshevik Russia isn't the only example.

"Shorty" Veno, well known Chatham hockey player who went to the United States and made good there, may sign up with the Montreal Canadiens, according to an announcement made last week by Leo Dandurand, manager of the team, prior to his departure for Grimsby where the team will practice. Veno now is in New Haven, Conn. "It is only a matter of price with Veno," says Leo, "and if some of our other prospects do not show up well, I am certain I can get Veno."

R. R. SHELDRIK IS RHODES SCHOLAR

Kingston Man, Now Teaching in Andover, Chosen to Represent N. B.

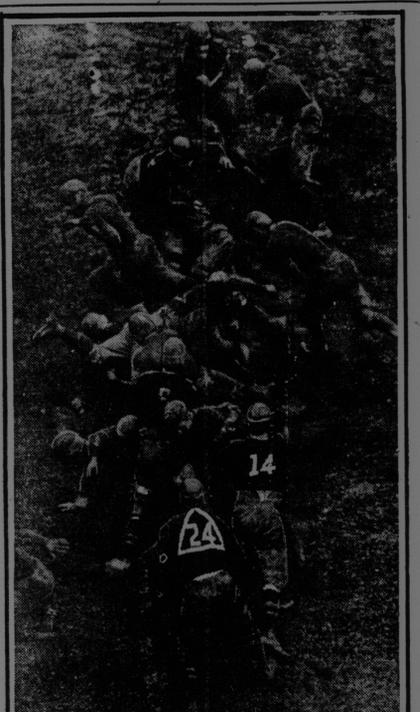

Russell R. Sheldrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sheldrick, at present principal of the Victoria county Grammar school at Andover, N. B., of Kingston, Kings county, has been chosen the 1924 Rhodes scholar from New Brunswick. This decision was reached by the committee of selection after conferences lasting through Friday and Saturday during the course of which all but one of the nine candidates for the scholarship appeared before the committee of which Sir Douglas Hazen was chairman. Of the nine applicants four were U. N. B. men, two St. Joseph's, two Mount Allison and one Kings.

Mr. Sheldrick, who is twenty-one years of age, was graduated from the University of New Brunswick in 1922, at the head of his class with honors in several subjects. Sir Douglas said last evening that Mr. Sheldrick had had a brilliant career at the university and was said by the faculty to be the intellectual equal of any man who had been graduated in the past. He was a member of the university's intercollegiate debating team.

Among other honors won by Mr. Sheldrick during his college course were the Douglas gold medal for an English essay, the Alumni gold medal for a Latin essay and the Governor-Generals gold medal for the highest aggregate.

GETTING READY FOR BASKETBALL START

Dr. W. P. Broderick presided at the regular weekly meeting of the Young Men's Catholic Institute yesterday afternoon in their rooms in the Institute building. Basketball will begin in real earnest this week. The City League and Junior basketball will start at the same time. After the senior league gets away to a good start, the regular nights for games will be Saturday at the Y. M. C. I. and Wednesday at the Y. M. C. A. Rev. William Duke, P. P., was present yesterday and assisted greatly in the meeting. Dr. John Nugent and Paul Quinn, the secretary, reported from the organization meeting of the basketball league, which met last Wednesday. The membership drive committee reported good results from their efforts. The meeting was well attended and everybody was enthusiastic over the prospect for a successful evening on Friday, when the Y. M. C. I. will probably contest the Loyalists.

Toronto, Dec. 2.—Queen's University fought their way to a second Dominion Rugby championship here Saturday afternoon when they smothered Regina by a score of 54 to 0. About 8,000 people witnessed the match which, though overwhelmingly one-sided in score, was filled with many sparkling plays on the part of the visitors.

LEADING TENNIS PLAYERS FOR 1923

Miss Suzanne Lenglen and William T. Tilden at Top.

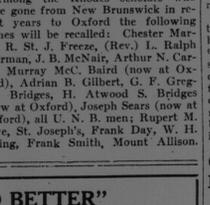

New York, Dec. 3.—(A. P.)—Miss Suzanne Lenglen and William T. Tilden, II, stand at the top of women's and men's tennis ranks for 1923, compilation of the season's championship records reveals. The French star holds or shares in five world's titles, while Tilden has four American national championships to his credit, though he also proved his superiority over the holders of so-called world's crowns.

Lenglen swept through all opposition abroad, including an invading American party headed by Mrs. Molla Mallory. Her only rival for honors appears to be Helen Wills, the younger Californian, who dethroned Mrs. Mallory as American title-holder after the latter's seven-year reign at the top. But as the Western girls' accomplishments were confined to this country, no real measure of comparison is possible. Critics point out, however, that Miss Wills triumphed over members of the invading English women's team, as well as over Mrs. Mallory, quite as decisively as Miss Lenglen had done abroad.

Tilden's pre-eminent place is unquestioned. "Big Bill" conquered decisively William M. Johnston, his California rival, who had won the world's hard and turf court titles abroad, and won the national all-comers' singles for the fourth successive year. In addition, Tilden vanquished in the Davis Cup challenge round James O. Anderson, the Australian ace, who, in the opening match, had defeated Johnston.

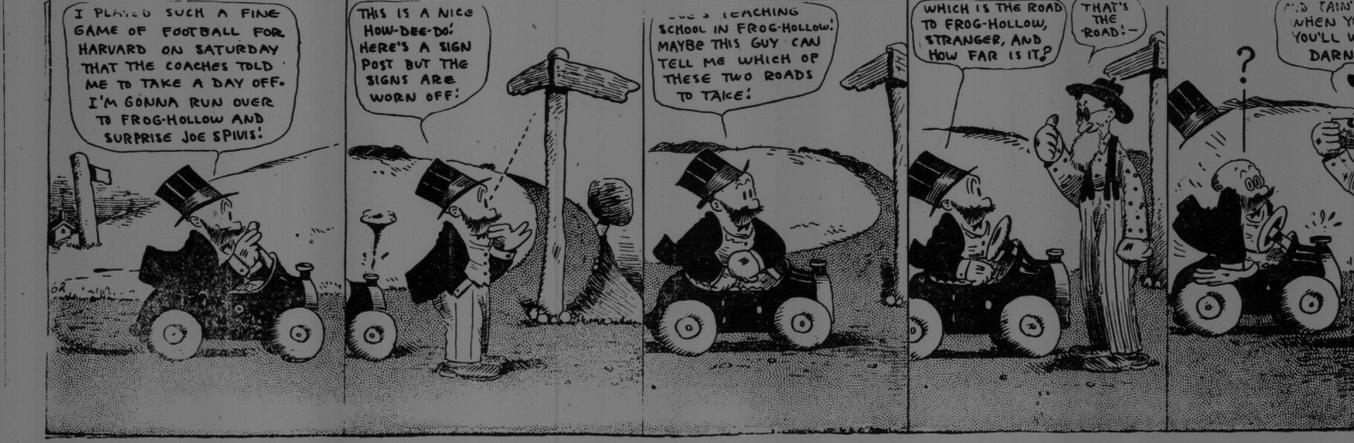

The Davis Cup contest, attracting a record entry list of 17 nations, proved one of the most interesting in the history of the trophy, winding up with a sensational title round in which the United States defeated Australia, after a hard battle, four matches to one.

JIMMY COOTS HELPED CHASE ENEMY INTO MONS DURING LAST WAR DAYS

Mentioned in Despatches—Native of B. C., He Started Career in Canada.

To know James G. Coots, the big Western Canadian boy who is leaving the man for the B. James Carroll Players, is to forget that he ever possessed such a formal and dignified handle as "James." One instinctively finds himself calling him "Jimmy" as he is known to his fellow players and those who know him personally.

Actor Has Fine Record in War

JAMES G. COOTS

It was on the Pacific shore of Canada—at Vancouver—that James G. Coots first saw the light of day, and there he remained until, with his High School graduation diploma tucked under his arm, he looked out to see what the world was willing to give him in return. Jimmy was included in a group of some 70 schoolboys who were booked for a tour of Australia, and there he remained until, with his High School graduation diploma tucked under his arm, he looked out to see what the world was willing to give him in return.

As a result, it was not long after his return to his native land, that he joined the Empress Stock Co., playing in a Theatre of that name in Vancouver and ran the whole gamut of the programme from very minor super to second man, and soon afterwards went to Vancouver as leading man. War Breaks the Chain

Jimmy remained on the war and stage career was shoved to one side for Empire service and the young actor accompanied the general through the flocks to the colors. He enlisted with the 62nd Battery, C. F. A., from B. C., which on reorganization became the 85th Heavy Battery, a disorgan unit equipped with 4.5-inch howitzer—those stubby little weapons which achieved fame as implements of destruction only after the war was well under way. Early in 1918, Coots threw in his lot with the Royal Air Force, which was at this time offered by the great many Canadian boys who had seen active service with ground units and after passing his examinations was delegated to the 84th Squadron.

A Times man was in Mr. Coots' apartment last week when he was leaving he noticed hanging on the wall a small framed paper on which was recorded the fact that Lieut. James G. Coots, R. A. F., had been mentioned in despatches for his work during the last 100 days of the conflict and it occurred to the reporter that the 84th Squadron was one of the flying units which had achieved a wonderful reputation for their work from August 1 to the day of the armistice, at Amiens, at Arras, at Cambrai, at Valenciennes, and at Mons.

ing but the machine was wrecked. Fortunately I got off safely." This was his cryptic description of perhaps the most thrilling event of his life. Such is Jimmy Coots.

With Concert Company. While with the Canadian Artillery, Mr. Coots organized the 5th Divisional Concert Troop, which later amalgamated with the Maple Leaves, of the 4th Division, and while in England produced several minstrel shows and other entertainments at Godalming and Guilford. When the war ended, Mr. Coots took his discharge in London and remained there for several months, taking in the shows and otherwise preparing for his return to the stage. He did not, however, take any engagements in the old country, but returned in 1919 to his native province of British Columbia.

Back at Old Game. In the City of Victoria, where he had come to the stage to don the King's uniform, Jimmy Coots returned to his old vocation, and while the experiences of the war years told to some extent on his ability to "get back," he plunged away and after 58 weeks in stock with the Princess Stock Company, took a flyer at vaudeville.

It was a hard struggle to overcome the four years set-back which the war caused, he said. "In fact I am only now beginning to feel myself again." He did not, however, take any engagements in the old country, but returned in 1919 to his native province of British Columbia.

Meets Mr. Carroll. It was in Hartford that he met Mr. Carroll and signed with him to come to St. John. "It was the east very much," he answered a question put by the newspaper man, "and I am just waiting day by day until the cold weather comes and I can get back on to skates." It developed on further conversation that Jimmy is fond of outdoor life—skating, hockey, lacrosse, playing—much as his work will allow him to

Young Doug Expected To Develop A Distinct Screen Personality

General Impression is That He Made Good in First Film.

(By Jack Jungmeyer.) Hollywood.—If you were to see the picture, "Stephen Steps Out," without knowing the name of its hero you'd probably say, "I saw a nice young chap on the screen last night; he left quite an impression; I believe he'll make good."

No such chance of anonymity, of course. His name is blazed in big letters. And he probably—most probably—will make good. He is young Doug, son of Doug.

Douglas Fairbanks Jr. makes his agreeable bow in the picturization of a Richard Harding Davis story produced by William Elliott and Jesse Lasky, under direction of Joseph Henabery. Young Doug's actor patrons at his screen coming-out party are Theodore Roberts, Noah Berry, Harry Myers, Frank Courrier, James G. Barrows and Fannie Midgley. They exhibit that nice deference to their proteges which when violated is called "stealing the picture."

Doug Jr. reciprocates with an air of well-mannered respect for his elders and an ingratiating smile at his first audiences which says quite plainly and eagerly, "I hope you'll like me." This mutual politeness constitutes the bloom over the technical substance of the boy's initial effort, a comedy-drama of college pranks, paternal acquisition of Turkish history in the pride, adolescent sentiment and the land of the Crescent.

This first picture, under the most favorable auspices, will hardly provoke a critical appraisal of young Doug. That will come in succeeding films. The public will be curious to see if the son gives a hint of having something more than his illustrious father's name. But it will be his personality, rather than his ability, which will be studied in "Stephen Steps Out." The screen reveals him in striking resemblance to the late Wally Field, in appearance and gesture. I believe the similarity will be generally commented on. And if that be the case, it is not unlikely that the public will expect to see Douglas Fairbanks Jr. in the type of hero popularized by the lamented Wally. Such is the public's way. Flood, tall, rather loosely knit, with more than a suggestion of adolescent languor, the youngster's character of his dad's outstanding character in his of the flashing smile. But the quick, nervous springiness which might call an easily recognizable chip off the old block.

In "Stephen Steps Out" the producers introduce a typical academic chase in and about a Turkish palace a la the elder Fairbanks, quite as one expected them to, but young muscles will have to do considerable toughening before get, in fact, that is the only way he has of keeping fit.

Mr. Coots expressed his keen appreciation of the cordial reception that has been given him since he arrived here. Such is the public's way. Flood, tall, rather loosely knit, with more than a suggestion of adolescent languor, the youngster's character of his dad's outstanding character in his of the flashing smile. But the quick, nervous springiness which might call an easily recognizable chip off the old block.

Young Star Makes Good in First Film

they may display the agility of the athletic sire. I doubt very much whether the son will ever emulate the father in this respect, although he is faithfully devoting himself to sports with such a goal in view.

Producers, it seems to me, would do well not to attempt to model young Doug's screen activities upon those of the father, but to encourage a distinct manner. Certainly the boy's first appearance gives promise of achievement and of an interesting latent personality, which coupled with sturdy ambition and a craving in the life of the screen, should make him a distinct figure in pictures rather than a replica.

Douglas Fairbanks Jr., in "Stephen Steps Out," an entertaining picture, provokes studious conjecture along that line.

RUFFLES. Taffeta ruffles, edged with old-fashioned pinkings are shown as something entirely new and different, and are very effective.

There yet remains the music. This was an ambitious attempt, and an attempt crowned with a large measure of success. One cannot too highly commend the people of St. Silas for their effort to combine music and drama in their own way and in their own milieu. Today we hear much of the decentralization of musical activity, and this should mean more than the giving of concerts in outlying suburbs. Mrs. Boulter, the composer and conductor had given us a score full of interest and beauty. Choir and orchestra were skilfully used to accompany the

NEW MYSTERY PLAY IN LONDON CHURCH

"Paul and Silas" Given Admirable Production at Kentish Town.

London, England, Dec. 3.—The St. Silas Players are an interesting company. They are in some respects comparable to their stage. For they act in a church, without scenery or footlights, and with a minimum of "effects." They have, that is, none of the mechanical appliances of the ordinary theatre. And the players themselves would not profess to be finished actors, though some of the company are obviously not unacquainted with the art of the stage.

Yet their performance is sufficiently striking. The vigor and naturalism of their playing, united with the faith which they share, make these mystery plays of theirs—for they have a repertoire of three—something of a landmark. They seem to be acting because they have something which they really wish to say and do.

The church is fortunate in having as its playwright B. C. Boulter. In this new play, "Paul and Silas," he shows in a small compass a real sense of dramatic form, as well as a gift of writing simple direct verse. The gradual awakening of the clairvoyante, with the climax: "God, I wake!" the goal-stow departure of Paul and Silas from the little band of Christians were all impressive. Of the players, one might specially mention him whose query awakened the soothsayer, the goiter, Paul, whose quiet dignity and pathos were well conceived, and above all, Louis.

There yet remains the music. This was an ambitious attempt, and an attempt crowned with a large measure of success. One cannot too highly commend the people of St. Silas for their effort to combine music and drama in their own way and in their own milieu. Today we hear much of the decentralization of musical activity, and this should mean more than the giving of concerts in outlying suburbs. Mrs. Boulter, the composer and conductor had given us a score full of interest and beauty. Choir and orchestra were skilfully used to accompany the

Even Wild Oranges Had To Be Made-Up

Three pounds of grease paint and a box of rouge were used by George Elder, property man for the King Vidor company in making up an orange grove for a scene in the screen version of Joseph Hergesheimer's "Wild Oranges."

After making photographic tests of the oranges, John Boyle, photographer, decided that the oranges must be "made-up." In his test Boyle discovered that the fruit photographed like clusters of baseballs. Elder spent one whole day applying grease paint to the oranges.

English Actor Dead. Stanley Brett, brother of Seymour Hicks Served in A. S. C. During War. London, Nov. 16.—(By mail)—Stanley Brett, actor, died yesterday in a London nursing home, not long before his 44th birthday. He was physically very like his more famous brother, Mr. Seymour Hicks, whose part in "The Man in Dress Clothes" he had been playing on tour when he was taken ill.

The second son of Major Hicks, 42nd Highlanders, he was born at St. Heliers, Jersey, on November 15, 1879. His first appearance he made on tour in "Lord and Lady Algy" in 1899, and thenceforward, with his personality, voice, and presence, he had no lack of engagements. In 1902 he played Lieutenant Spicer in "Quality Street." In "The Catch of the Season," in which he first appeared as Higham Montagu, he afterwards succeeded his brother as the Duke of St. Jermyns. He also understood his brother in "The Beauty of Bath." Other pieces in which he appeared were "Alice in Wonderland," "The Gay Gordons," "Sweet and Twenty," "Nighthawks," "The Glad Eye," "Cash on Delivery," and "Up in Mabel's Room." Mr. Brett was at one time in South America in charge of the Seymour Hicks Musical Comedy, and often appeared at home in music hall sketches, such as "A Girl in Possession," "Full Inside," and "Always Tell Your Wife." Early in the war Mr. Brett enlisted in the Royal Army Service Corps, and afterwards obtained a commission. All shades of yellow and orange are popular in taffets for dancing and dinner frocks. There is a tendency to combine yellow and orange advantageously.

MRS. IRENE CASTLE SPRINGS SURPRISE

Her Wedding to Chicago Clubman Thanksgiving Eve Announced.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—Chicago society was started on Saturday when it became known that Major Frederick McLaughlin, clubman, sportsman and millionaire coffee merchant, on Thanksgiving eve, in his bachelor apartment at No. 883 Michigan avenue, married Mrs. Irene Castle Tremaine, divorcee, and internationally known as a dancer.

The couple slipped quietly in to the county clerk's office at 5:30 on Wednesday afternoon and obtained a license. They were married later in the evening and are now on their way to the Pacific coast, where they will board a boat for a honeymoon in the Philippines, Japan and China. They will return to Chicago in about two months. Society particularly was startled by the news, for it had been believed that since his first short-lived and ill-starred venture in matrimony the master of the hounds at the Onvenschia Club had become a confirmed celibate, devoted to his sports, his polo and his horse-ship, his hounds, his bachelor apartment and his clubs.

New York and Chicago both knew that there was a friendship between Major McLaughlin and Miss Castle, as she has always been known on the stage, for McLaughlin in late years has been often seen in theatrical circles, and is known to be friendly with many of the prominent actors and actresses. But not even the theatrical friends of the pair appeared to have had any knowledge of the romance. They also seemed genuinely surprised. Miss Castle has been very well known in Chicago society. When she was here last year she was invited to guest at the homes of the society leaders. At that time she said she had attended several parties given by Major McLaughlin, charpered by friends, at whose home she was living; and it was thus that the dancer's sportsman began.

Major McLaughlin was divorced from his first wife in 1910. She was Helen Kenner. Wylie McLaughlin, a Baltimore society girl, whom he met here at the "Streets of Paris" fete at the Coliseum during the winter of 1906.

Gossipy Notes of The Screen People. Moses of "The Ten Commandments" and Sally Lung of the modern story of that production had their first real experience of a New York subway rush hour the other evening. Incidentally, Theodore Roberts is the screen celebrity who plays Moses, and Nita Naldi has the part of Sally Lung.

J. G. Hawks, a soldier of fortune who has been author, traveler and adventurer, will do the continuity for "Women Who Wait," that will follow "Pleasure Mad." Hawks knows the New England well that is the locale of "Cape Cod Folks." Sarah D. McGree's play, from which "Women Who Wait" is adapted.

"Torment," Maurice Tourneur's newest production, will contain scenes from the Japanese earthquake. The story is laid in three countries, and all the main characters of the play are discovered in a bank vault in Yokohama when the earthquake shakes the city. The people are shut in for several days. Massive sets reproducing the lower regions of the American Bank of Yokohama are being wrecked by artificial earthquakes at the United Studios in Hollywood.

Certain motion picture directors have a flair for particular stories which they believe they can do better than any other. Griffith and Flynn lean toward romance. Rex Ingram is a realist and artist, favoring to some extent the unusual. Marshall Neilan likes to get a twist in his production and elaborate upon it, and like Tod Browning he is noted for some underworld films. Browning directed "Day of Faith." He is also responsible for "Drifting," "The Virgin of Stamboul," and "Under Two Flags."
