

ferred the subjects best fitted to teach the apprentices, were drawing, arithmetic and mensuration. The majority of the boys nowadays who commenced to learn a trade start in before they had received sufficient schooling. He would not like to see a boy intending to learn the mason business starting in after 18 years of age.
The mason work, he said, was a heavy work. He did not consider this a heavy work, but a mason from attending a night school, at least two nights a week, the mason business in this city was very slack in the winter time. For this reason, a night school would be particularly advantageous.

English Schools Better.
Henry Baynton, a master house painter, was the next witness. He had attended a technical and night school. In the technical school he studied the nature of colors, fresco work, analysis of colors, etc. He studied in England. The technical and night schools there were provided for by municipalities. Mr. Baynton said that he had been in this country about four years.
He considered the schools an excellent matter than those in St. John in England and Scotland, one of the first things a girl is taught is sewing. From his technical knowledge of his own business, he thought it would be a great advantage to have lectures before the members of unions on their particular trades. The only difficulty here, he said, would be to get the "men to attend." He thought Jacob S. Brown said he was a sheet and metal worker. He supported the statements of the two previous witnesses, in regard to technical schools.

Correspondence Schools.
George Breen, a carpenter, said he took a partial course in the Scranton Correspondence School. The part he took cost him about $80. He did not think he could as much help from that school as he would have received from a practical school. If the correspondence schools were conducted in such a way that the pupils could see an instructor, say once a month, it would prove very beneficial. He thought a boy's recognition of his own success would give him confidence to go on with his studies. Night schools would be very beneficial if the students had to view them with some definite object in view.
Herman Campbell, printer, representing the typographical union, was called. He said he learned the trade with the Daily Telegraph. He served his apprenticeship.
Trade journals gave the laboring men some excellent ideas. He was of the opinion that if there was a night school started here the boys learning the printicial business would be at an advantage, particularly if subjects along the printing lines were taught. Subjects such as those connected with the craft, using the rule for job work, etc., would be excellent in any night school.

Thomas White, confectioner, said that the present school system had a tendency to keep boys and girls from learning trades. He thought it would be well if enough of the subjects taught in schools and substitute in their places, trade subjects.
In St. John now, he considered there was a sentiment that factory work was degrading and that the school system was degrading the school system held up the wrong kind of heroes. Children should finish a high school training. Those who dropped out before they finished their course should not receive any benefit from their studies.
In the early grades teachers should find out the individuality of their pupils and instruct them in the subjects they were best suited for.

John Hannah, manufacturer of wire beds, was next called. He said he was a machinist by trade. In his present business he did not have occasion to hire much labor. His experience in learning the machinist trade, he thought, was that those who had an opportunity of attending night schools got along faster and did better work than those who did not have this opportunity. He felt, in St. John, the boys were not treated as well as they should. They were not paid in proportion to services rendered. This was partly responsible for many of our youths leaving here and going to the west and the United States.

Would Train the Young.
J. D. Howe, a furniture manufacturer, was called. He said that formerly the boys got the manual training, but no technical instruction. He considered the skill of the past produced the machines and the machines have destroyed the skill.
As a result, skilled labor here was very scarce. He considered commercialism had destroyed industrialism. There was a great deal of difference between a technical education and manual training. Technical training, he thought, teaches how a thing is done without one knowing what it is done. In manual training, however, one is taught to do a thing without knowing what it is when it is done. Mr. Howe said that night schools have proven a failure here. When a boy went to work at fourteen he should have received instructions sufficient to carry him along. He was more in favor of improving the present school system than by leaving the work to be done in night schools. While the boys are young they are more or less desirous of learning and this is the time when they should be taught.

Anthony J. Sallows, manufacturer of neckwear, said most of the work was done by machines. He did not see that night classes would be of any help to our boys and girls. He considered better results would be obtained if the government would pay the boys and girls a bonus which would enable them to stay at their trades.

refined sugars, ten cents per hundred pounds.

MORE FOUNDATION IS TO BE TAKEN UP

In Another Part of Main Street Work

Mr. Carleton to Go There With Committee This Morning

Ex-Inspector Repeats His Statements at Inquiry
Last Night—Mr. Low
Announces That Interview
With Him Was 'Incorrect—Ald. McGoldrick and Vanwart Tell of Their Trip.

Tuesday, Aug. 23.
Ex-Inspector James L. Carleton having been completely successful in one instance in proving his contention as to the foundation of the Main Street permanent paving, the investigating committee have decided to ask him to point out other parts which he thinks defective, this morning.
This decision was reached at a conference held at the conclusion of last night's session of inquiry. The members will meet at city hall between 8 and 9 o'clock this morning and in company with Mr. Carleton, go to Main Street, where they will conduct a thorough examination. Before the opening of last night's session, Mayor Frank expressed the opinion that the committee had had enough information on which to found a report to the council.
W. E. McManus, foreman for the Hasam company on the retaining wall, admitted that he had used profane language to Mr. Carleton. Ald. McGoldrick and Ald. Vanwart were examined and Mr.
Low and Mr. Carleton were recalled. The ex-Inspector repeated his former assertions concerning the insufficiently of the foundation and asked if it were his duty to bring the committee to call James Kaye and John Kane, as he felt alone in the matter. His worship assured him of fair treatment, but intimated that they would not call expert evidence.

His Worship's Remarks.
His Worship said before opening the session, that there appeared to be a feeling in the community, and expressed in the press, that this committee was simply there to investigate itself and the members of the common council, and that these proceedings ought to have been before the people. Personally, he thought that if the committee adjourned right then, they had sufficient information before them on which to found a report to the common council.
If that body did not think their report strong enough, they should order another investigation to be held in any manner that seemed good to them. His Worship went on to refer to the numerous complaints he had received daily of late regarding city officials. Some of these were by letter, while others were by telephone. Sometimes when these persons were talking over the telephone he was unable to get either their names or phone numbers.

Among other complaints which it was said called for an investigation, was that of Gandy & Allison referring to the complaint now being asserted by the city. He had also received letters from the manager of the Daily Telegraph complaining that that paper was being discriminated against in the matter of advertising patronage.
Complaints were also made that Ald.
Elkin had done some mason work for the city; that Ald. Elkin was occupying a wharf for which he was paying considerably less rental than he should; that Ald. Elkin had sold some timber to the city; that Ald. Baxter had drawn up the partnership agreement between Mr. Low and Mr.
Clarke, if there was such a thing, and that Ald. Potts was about to sell some of the city property and had the capacity of stationer. He had been continually flooded with these complaints of irregularity on the part of aldermen and officials. So far as the work of the committee was concerned, he felt that the members had devoted a great deal of time to it, and that they had now information enough before them on which to found a report, although he would be glad to give as so contradictory a nature, it would take some time to straighten it out. It had been pretty generally said around the city that he was trying to persuade Mr. Carleton, and he would ask the inspector if at any time since the investigation started, he had used him with any disrespect or discourtesy.

Mr. Carleton—"No, you have not." Ald. Hayes thought that the press, by their unfair reports, were trying to make the sessions of the committee valueless.
Ald. Potts explained that so far as he was concerned, before undertaking any sales for the city, he had got legal opinion to the effect that it was quite proper for him to do so.

Says He Used Profane Language to Mr. Carleton.
The first witness, W. C. McManus, was then examined. He said he was foreman of the Main Street retaining wall and had nothing to do with the pavement. There had been trouble between him and Mr.
Carleton about July 29. The ex-inspector had said that the excavation of the wall was deep enough but not wide enough.
Mr. Carleton wanted him to widen it, but marked that it made little difference to him as he had resigned. He admitted using profane language to Mr. Carleton asking him if he took them for a lot of fools when he (the ex-inspector) asked him to widen the base of the wall. There

TAFT-ROOSEVELT BREACH HEALED

President Disclaims Any Knowledge of Conspiracy Against Him

TEDDY SATISFIED

"Old Guard" of New York Republican Party Blamed for Rebuff of the Lion Hunter—Vice-President Sherman Also Implicated.

(Associated Press.)
New York, Aug. 22.—President Taft and ex-President Roosevelt are again fellow workers in the same political field. The threat that they might split apart has been averted by a full explanation on one side and an unreserved acceptance on the other.

The president makes it plain in a letter given out here today by Lloyd C. Griscom, how the misunderstanding arose. He explains that he never took any part in a committee cabal to defeat Mr. Roosevelt for temporary chairman of the coming Republican state convention. On the contrary, he explicitly deprecates the result of the committee's meeting which chose Vice-President Sherman; he rebukes the party leaders who have permitted it to go abroad uncontradicted that the president of the United States was behind their factional preferences; he insists that at every opportunity he advised the fullest conference with Colonel Roosevelt, and he explains that he has been paid by the "columns of unfounded assertions in the newspapers concerning my attitude in respect to the New York situation."

For his part, Colonel Roosevelt, when he read President Taft's letter, as communicated to him at Oyster Bay, said: "I am very glad to see President Taft's letter and am pleased with it."
Taft's Explanation.
The president's letter came in reply to Mr. Griscom's blunt assertion by telegraph that he was "a man of no authoritative information as to your attitude is seriously misleading my Republicans." He tells how he first learned from Vice-President Sherman of the plan to oppose Roosevelt, "peremptorily declined to be drawn into a fight with Mr. Roosevelt, and again renewed my urgent advice that there be full personal conference." Finally, he asserts, that the solution of the direct primary issue can be found in provisions similar to those of the Cobb bill, defeated by the late legislature in direct rebuke to Mr. Roosevelt and Governor Hughes.

In the course of the correspondence there comes out a telegram from the president to the vice-president, hitherto withheld, but mention of which had nevertheless crept into print. In substance the president informed T. L. Woodruff, Republican state chairman, and William L.
Ward, of the national Republican committee, "that the thing that I thought ought to be avoided is a controversy in the convention."
Mr. Griscom, in his comment on the president's letter, does not hesitate to say that the Republican organization played politics with the president's name and misrepresented his attitude.

Lastly, he charges that in the last two legislatures there had been an alliance between Tammany Hall and some of the "Old Guard" leaders.
Colonel Roosevelt, in his statement given out at Oyster Bay, explains what was the course of his negotiations with the organization and how, after his successive rebuffs, he felt that further overtures could not consistently come from him. His future attitude he does not define, because he is as yet uncertain what effect on public sentiment President Taft's letter will have when it has been read and digested by the voters of the state.

COOL TORONTO
THIEF BAGS $800
(Special to The Telegraph.) Toronto, Aug. 22.—A thief walked into the Dominion Bridge Company's office here Saturday during the manager's absence, and after asking for the manager went into his room and stole $800 in pay envelopes, which were lying on the desk. He again walked out, saying he would call again.

WORTH $30,000,000 EVICTED FOR RENT

New York Officials Have a Lively Time in Gaining Entrance

HOUSE BARRICADED

Eclectic Woman Used Crowbar on One Man—Inherited Her Millions from Her Father, But Lived Like a Pauper.

New York, Aug. 21.—Miss Dellaripa G.
Richardson, worth more than $30,000,000, the daughter of the eccentric millionaire, Joseph Richardson, who erected the "apite house" at Eighty-second street and Lexington avenue, was evicted from her home, at No. 110 East Houston street, after a fight yesterday. It is charged she failed to pay the rent. The house in which she lived had been her home since her birth, fifty years ago, but recently she had sold it to a cigar manufacturer. She had been asked to move, but did not do so.

Miss Richardson is one of the wealthiest women in the world, having inherited the bulk of her father's fortune. He died in 1897. Since that time she has lived frugally and has added to her fortune. She lived in the East Houston street house along with a Miss Emmett, a cousin.
The eviction was one of the most disastrous ever witnessed on the east side, the city marshal's men being forced to chop open a panel of a door after an attempt to scale the walls with ladders failed.
All of it was done in the morning. The house was struck over the arm with a crowbar by some one within the house as he was trying to unlock the front door after the panel had been burst open.
Crowds gathered in Houston street and blocked traffic while Miss Richardson's household belongings were being piled in the street. It took more than four hours to carry all the furniture from the house and followed the street to room as with goods that were in the Richardson home for more than half a century.

Miss Richardson was greatly incensed over the actions of the city marshal's men
home for more than half a century.
The furniture as it accumulated on the sidewalk was examined critically by the tenement dwellers of the neighborhood.
All of it was of the plainest character, and worn out. The beds were of plain pine, painted yellow. The carpets were ingrain and worn through in spots. The walls had been adorned with old prints and pictures obtained in packages of tea and other groceries.
The interior of the house was in harmony with the furniture. Paper faded so that it had no pattern covered the walls.
Coal oil lamps and candles had been used as illuminants. The old-fashioned house was without a modern bathtub, the only water connection being a sink in the kitchen.

Miss Richardson attached real value to everything in the house, and as the marshal's men were bundling her possessions together she followed them and sharply reproved the men as they cast aside articles which they thought worthless. Among the things which she insisted be taken to the moving vans were hundreds of balls of wrapping strings which she had accumulated from packages, and jars of rusty tacks.

MEANS A BLOW TO VALLEY RAILWAY

Woodstock Hears That Mill- ville Spur Will Be Started at Once

GREAT INDIGNATION

Former Supporters of Hazen See Hand of Big Railway Company in Scheme—Baptist Conference Deals With Home Mission Report.

(Special to The Telegraph.)
Woodstock, Aug. 22.—It is currently reported here tonight that work is to be started on the Millville spur this week.
Many prominent Conservatives through the county are pronounced in their disapproval of this, as they feel it is a black eye for the Valley Railroad.

The feeling that Mr. Hazen is only trying with the Valley road question is steadily growing and many who supported the present administration are bitter in denouncing the evident trucking to the great corporation which seems to hold the whip hand over Messrs. Hazen and Fleming.

Preparations are being made for the reception of the royal commission which is due to arrive here Wednesday noon. Several of the leading business men of the town will appear at the session, which will be at the court house.
Baptist Conference.
The attention of the Baptist conference today was largely given to the subject of missions. Both branches, home and foreign, rendered their reports and the discussion occupied the time of the morning and afternoon sessions. The work among the colored people, coming under the head of home missions, took up considerable time. A colored pastor, Rev. Mr. Puryear, spoke of his work and the need of his church in Halifax. The problem of this work seemed to perplex the different members. It was reported, however, that it was the intention of the board to proceed to the training in the Horton Academy for work among the colored settlers of Nova Scotia.

The foreign mission report showed an increase in expenditure, but a deficiency of $5,000, with a total income of $28,700.
There was an increase in giving of $3,925 for this year. The estimate for the year is $48,866. This amount will be required to carry on the proposed work of the board.
The New Brunswick section of the home mission board reported receipts, $6,025 and expenditure of $5,635.
The Nova Scotia and P. E. Island sections reported receipts, $7,753; expenditure, $9,899, with a deficit of $2,146.
The church edifice funds reported receipts of $736 and expenditure $803.
Calls Offerings a Disgrace.
In the discussion, N. P. Smith, of Halifax, deplored the fact that in some sections the giving of the people to the funds of the church was so small. The amount was an average of 81 cents per member and he thought this a disgrace to the denomination.

The Rev. C. H. Wilson said there were men on the home mission fields who were getting only $425 per year. He knew of men on these fields who had set down to dry bread. The salary should be at least $700.
Considerable debate arose over the section of the reports, the establishment of a

TRAIL OF DEATH IN FOREST FIRES

Eighty Burned TO DEATH IN FOREST FIRES

Hundreds Dead and Missing

Vast Areas in Idaho and Montana in Ruins

Flames Still Spreading Before a Hurricane Wind—People Rush Into Streams to Save Their Lives—Incendiaries Said to Be at Work.

(Associated Press.)
Spokane, Wash., Aug. 22.—With more than fifty persons known to be dead, more than 100 missing, 200 injured, half of Wallace burned, and two or three villages obliterated, forest fires tonight continue to threaten death and destruction in Northern Idaho, Eastern Washington and Western Montana. Half a dozen villages are threatened by the flames, and their inhabitants by hundreds are hurrying to places of safety. Relief trains are helpless in many cases, owing to burned bridges and fires that lick the tracks. Wallace is now safe, and no towns are burning.

The situation is most acute in the Coeur D'Alene region in Northern Idaho. Reports from other parts of the northwest are more encouraging than they were yesterday. Some of the fires have been controlled, others are less threatening in the absence of wind, while in some places the fire fighters have diverted the course of the flames from towns that were threatened.
Three families of homesteaders, comprising fifteen persons, are believed to have perished in La Tour creek, near Catolde, Idaho, in the forest fires. They are John Andrews, wife and five children; B. A.
Smith, wife and two children, and James Osborne, wife and family. Several persons reported burned today reached St.
Joe after a perilous trip.

The fire is only six miles from St. Joe tonight and large cinders are falling town. Twenty-five men are probably surrounded, if not consumed by fire, on La Tour creek.
From Trout creek, two men arrived in St. Joe today after a terrible experience.
For two days they lay in the creek, their heads under water except when they were compelled to breathe. Fires raged on both sides of the creek.
The hospital at St. Joe is filled with refugees, suffering from injuries and burns.
There are 100 refugees in St. Joe tonight.

Incendiary Fires.
The new fires that have sprung up in the last twenty-four hours have not proved serious thus far. A report today that the Colville fire in Eastern Washington had broken out with renewed energy, is untrue. The fire in the Wallawa reserve in Oregon appears to be under control.
A fire in the Wenah reserve in Southwestern Washington became dangerous yesterday, and is still raging. In Eastern Oregon, between Baker City and La Grande, are several fires which are doing serious damage to live timber. There are a few sporadic fires in Western Washington and Oregon and in Northern California, but they are not yet serious.
Despite the efforts of 750 fire fighters, among whom are 250 or more regular soldiers from American Lake, Washington, who arrived today, none of the fires have been put out. All the men obtainable have been drafted into service to back-fire and trench. The fires in Southern Oregon are said, in many cases, to be of incendiary origin. This has been a matter of general gossip in Medford for several days, but it became official published today through despatches from Washington.
No hope of rain is yet given by the United States Weather Bureau. The prediction of the district forecaster for tonight and tomorrow is for fair weather throughout Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

NEARLY 700 IN D. R. A. SHOOT

Three Matches Shot Yesterday --New Brunswick Rifemen Do Fairly Well.

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—The biggest rifle contest in the history of Canada was opened today on the Rockcliffe ranges with almost 700 competitors from all parts of Canada looking for bull's eyes. The contingents from western Canada are particularly large but all the provinces are represented, and there are competitors from England. The conditions for shooting were good today. The Tyro, Bankers and Mc-Dougall matches were shot. The following scores were announced:

Bankers, 600 yards, was taken by Pte.
Clements, of Hamilton, who put on the only possible, of 35. There were nineteen who put on a score of 34. The leading New Brunswicker was Capt. Forbes, of the 73rd, Chatham, who was 24th, winning 85 with a score of 33. Sergt. Archibald, St.
John, took 27th place and the same money with 33. Lt. S. Teck, 76th, Truro, 84 with 32.

In the Tyro, shot at 500 yards, four Simmonds of Halifax; Pte. Crandemere, 67th, Woodstock, won $4 with 33; J. L. White, of St. John, won $3 with 31.

Despite the efforts of 750 fire fighters,
among whom are 250 or more regular soldiers from American Lake, Washington,
origin. This has been a matter of general

FIGURES THAT TELL STORIES

HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS, 1909

THE dredges in these pictures are merely typical; the expenditures include not only dredging, but wharf building, and other improvements. Last year the money spent on this service by the Dominion Government amounted to $7,850,000, of which $4,500,000 was for dredging plant and operations. The work, of course, covers the harbors and navigable waters of the whole Dominion. Besides the expenditures pictured above, the other Provinces shared in these improvements as follows: Manitoba $351,500, British Columbia $320,000, Prince Edward Island $152,000, Saskatchewan, Alberta, and North-West Territories $20,000, Yukon $7,800. A great part of the work under this head is the improvement of harbors on the St. Lawrence grain route from the Gulf to the head of Lake Superior. Concerning this the Deputy Minister of Public Works reports: "Even under present conditions the Canadian route is asserting its superiority, and, as the improvement of what have now become national ports in Canada's transportation system continues bringing them nearer and nearer to a state of full efficiency, it will inevitably become the supreme grain route."

Obituary

Mrs. Elizabeth Barle. The death occurred in Carleton Friday of Mrs. Elizabeth Barle, widow of William A. Barle, in the 77th year of her age. The deceased had been in poor health for some time. She had been a resident of Carleton for many years and was one of the most respected citizens of the west side. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. H. L. of the west side, and five sons, Albert, of Carleton; Irvine, of New Mills; George, of Everett (Mass.); and William and Robert of this city. Richard A. Dickson. Saturday, Aug. 20. The death occurred at Youngstown, Ohio, yesterday, under particularly sad circumstances, of Richard A. Dickson, a former resident of this city, but lately of Elyria, Ohio. He had been living in the latter place for about seven years, and last week, as he was not feeling very well, he decided to take a trip to Youngstown, Ohio. Mrs. Dickson, accompanied by her daughter, has been in this city visiting her mother, Mrs. John Nixon, of 321 Charlotte street, west. Yesterday morning Mrs. Dickson received a letter from Youngstown in which it stated that Mr. Dickson was very much improved and was going to return to his work in Elyria soon. She was greatly rejoiced on receiving this good news, but her joy soon turned to sorrow, for at 1 o'clock she received a telegram stating that her husband was dead. The news came as a stunning blow. The deceased, when he lived in this city, was employed for several years with the Portland Rolling Mills and later with I. & E. R. Burpee. About seven years ago he left for the States and secured employment in Elyria, Ohio. He was a member of Union Lodge, No. 2, K. of P., here, under whose direction the body will be brought to the city and interred. Besides his wife, he is survived by two sisters, both of whom reside in this city. Elliott B. Sproul. Saturday, Aug. 20. Elliott B. Sproul, of Apohaqui, who after his wife's death last February, went with his sons to Chicago to live, died there on Thursday, and his body will arrive in St. John on Sunday, en route to Apohaqui for burial. Mr. Sproul was about 85 years of age, and a son of the late Reuben Sproul, and had spent his whole life on his farm near Apohaqui. His sons are Elliott W. Irvine and George Sproul, of Chicago, the first named being a leading contractor in that city. His daughters are Mrs. James E. Earle, of St. John, and Mrs. Price, of Boston. Mr. Earle received a telegram on Thursday night announcing Mr. Sproul's death, and another yesterday, announcing that the body would be laid to rest in the family vault at Apohaqui on Sunday. Mrs. Earle has been in the city for several days camping with friends at Loch Lomond, and the news of her father's death, following a letter received last week stating that he was in good health, is a severe shock. Stanley D. Carr. Middlesex, Aug. 13.—The very sad news concerning the drowning of Stanley D. Carr was received here last week. Mr. Carr was employed in a survey party. On July 25 he went in bathing in the Sackatchewan river, near Carleton. The river is very treacherous and runs at a rapid rate. The body has not yet been found, although everything is being done to recover it. Mr. Carr went west last September. His general manner won him many friends wherever he went. He was a member of the Brussels street Baptist church. His father, John Carr, of St. John, and grandson of the late Captain John Marr, of St. Martins. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. W. Carr, of St. John, and his wife, Maryfield (Sask.); also one sister—Miss E. Maude, at present at home. Much sympathy is expressed for the bereaved family. Prof. Warren M. Steele. Amherst, N. S., Aug. 19.—A telegram to Rev. J. Steele, of St. John, announces the death of his son, Prof. Warren M. Steele, M.A., aged 38. He died in Salida, Colorado. He contracted tuberculosis three years ago. Fuller of Amherst, and a young daughter; his father and mother, one sister, Mrs. G. B. Bobb, of Amherst, and two brothers, Walter and Creighton, both in the United States. Creighton was with him at the time of his death as was also Dr. Jackson and an uncle of his wife. At his request the burial will take place in Salida. Prof. Steele was graduated from Acadia in 1902, and from Yale in 1904 with the highest honors in his class. He was Professor of Psychology in the Freeman University, Greenvale, South Carolina, and also pastor of the 2nd Baptist church at the same place. Mrs. Steele and daughter left on Tuesday but would not reach there before his death. Mrs. W. A. Magee. George Dick received a telegram Saturday morning announcing the sad news of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Magee, wife of William A. Magee, formerly of this city. Besides her husband she leaves two sons, Frank, of the Royal Bank of Canada staff, Vancouver, and George, also of Vancouver; and one daughter, Mrs. George Dick, of this city. One brother, John Shields, of Dartmouth (N. S.), also survives. Mrs. Magee was well known in St. John, and her many friends will receive the news of her death with much regret. (Continued from page 1.) he was, said, no established wish for the wall but he took orders from Mr. Carleton and Mr. Hatfield. Mr. McManus said he was still on the work and came daily in contact with the new inspector and assistant engineer. In answer to a question by his worship, witness replied that he was a "broken-down contractor." Ald. White—That is to say that the wall will stand longer than you will? Witness—"Well, I hope so." He was a native of New Brunswick and had frequently put in concrete work. In answer to Ald. White, Mr. McManus said there were no specifications for the wall. The width would vary according to the depth of the excavation. Ald. Hayes—Did you have any other tiffs with the inspector? "I don't call that a tiff." "A little pleasantry, eh?" "Yes, sir." Mr. Carleton—"Do you remember the narrowest footing you had on the wall?" "No, sir." "Wasn't it seven feet?" "Well it would vary. Sometimes it would be nine feet." Mr. Carleton—"Well, that's all I wish to ask him. What he says is substantially correct and what I said was correct." Mr. Carleton Plain. His worship here asked Mr. Carleton to explain several points in his evidence which seemed to him contradictory. Mr. Carleton—"When this trouble first commenced I made three statements and I still stick to them. The first was that the specimens shown here were not concrete. The second was that the pavement was defective and third that what the city has got was not within 50 per cent as good as what was called for in the specifications." As to rolling the stone, he had not given any orders for it. With these words, Mr. Carleton bade the members goodnight and left the room. Ald. McGoldrick. Ald. McGoldrick was next called. He had been, he said, chairman of the board of works for four years. The permanent paving work came under his board. The engineer had been ordered to prepare specifications for the work. These had been submitted to a committee comprising among others Ald. Spruce, Ald. Holdboard, after which they were sent to the council. He was acquainted with Mr. Low who, he believed, was the representative of the Hassam Paving Company. He had been a member of the council which went to Boston and Lowell last year to see the Hassam pavement but he had never seen any of it under construction. His worship—"Did you have any negotiations or conversations with Mr. Low or Mr. Murdoch in regard to the specifications?" "No, not that I know of." "Did you advise the engineer to have the specifications framed so that the Hassam people could come in to the exclusion of others?" "No sir, I did not." "It has been stated openly that members of the common council have had opportunities to receive money illegally in connection with this contract. Have you?" "No, sir." "Do you know of any other civic official who has so received money or the offer of it?" "No, sir, I don't. I don't believe there is, either." The alderman went on to say that he was favorably impressed with the Hassam pavement. Referring to the piece taken out last Tuesday, he thought it was "rather crumbly." To Ald. Hayes, he said he never consulted with the engineer as to the advisability of allowing the Hassam method either before or after the tenders had been let. In answer to Ald. Jones, the witness said he had never heard the engineer say that he had ordered the stones rolled or opened at 1 o'clock and the stones rolled until 5:30. Doors will be closed again at 6:30 to close again at 10:30. W. Myers, the highest-paid illustration singer in America, will be the soloist of the vocal department. CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature of J. C. Ayer & Co. WORTH $30,000,000; EVICTED FOR RENT

(Continued from Page 1.) The home from which Miss Richardson was evicted was the first property owned by her father. Its title had rested with the family since 1877. A few months ago Miss Richardson sold it to H. Handelsman. She agreed to leave immediately. When Mr. Leaning went to the house to look at its interior he was refused admittance, and Miss Richardson had since kept herself barricaded for more than two months. Mr. Handelsman became tired of the delay and obtained a writ of eviction and it was served by J. Van Leer, city marshal. When the marshal arrived at the house he found that all of the doors and windows were barred. The house has long been known as the "prison house" of the block and the vicinity because of the narrow windows protected by a lattice work of iron. Marshal Van Leer pounded on the door and called to Miss Richardson to open it. He received no response. He then had his men break down the walls and tried to force the windows, but was unable to do so on account of the bars. As a last resort he ordered his men to chop open the front door with axes. After an opening had been made Deputy Marshal Britter tried to unlock the door through the hole. As he was fumbling with the lock he was struck a hard blow upon the arm with a crowbar, which he declares was wielded by a woman. He quickly withdrew his hand and the door was broken open. Miss Richardson had her furniture taken to No. 57 West Ninth street, a four story private house owned by her. She said yesterday that she had delayed moving yesterday that she had delayed moving yesterday because Miss Emmet was ill, and because Miss Emmet was ill. Miss Richardson's father lived cheaply, household expenses, it is declared, having been less than $1,000 a year. His one extravagance was the erection of the spite house in Lexington avenue. It was only five feet wide and was built because a neighbor refused to buy the strip of land at Mr. Richardson's figure. Mr. Richardson's second wife owned the five feet of ground. The neighbor offered $1,000 for the strip, but Mr. Richardson asked $5,000. The rooms in the house he built were less than five feet wide, but he continued to live there until his death. The property afterwards was sold and stores were built. Affairs in Kings County. (Sussex Record) Andrew Elliott, the well known agricultural expert, who was here last week in connection with the field grain competition, is a firm believer in the development of alfalfa culture in this section. Mr. Elliott, who has a wide personal experience with the plant, is convinced that it can be grown profitably in Kings. He gave it as his opinion that with a little effort many of the unproductive hilltop fields could be made good producers of alfalfa. If he is correct in his surmise, and there is no good reason for doubting him, there are many valuable acres herabouts which have heretofore been regarded with little short of contempt.
