RUSSIANS SEIZE THEIR ARCH FOES

Terrorists Captured By The Dozen Under Direction Of Head Office

IS OF GREAT IMPORTANCE.

Trouble Between Norway And Sweden May Benefit Russia.

(Special To The Advocate)

St. Petersburg, April 18.—The recent arrests of about a dozen terrorists regarded by the authorities as being of immense importance was accomplished by Kaskopsky who has captured the entire band which had been operating here under the direction of the central organization which apparently has its headquarters in Switzerland.

Alfred Henry McCullough, the man killed March 11, by the accidental explosion of a bomb at the Hotel Bristol, whose real name was Baumen, was one of the chiefs of the terrorists.

NORWAY AND SWEDEN.

London April 18.—Sir Henry Norman in a long letter to the Times on the controversy between Sweden and Norway says that in the event of a dissolution of the union Sweden could afford to be indifferent to Norway's fate which position would be that Russia would seize the strip of Norwegian territory stretching from Syngen on the West to Jacobs river on the East for the sea-water ports.

VOLCANOE AT WORK.

New York, April 18.—A despatch from Port Deference to the Herald, says both on April 12 and 14 stones were thrown up from Mount Nels accompanied by clouds emptied from a port south of the main crater. On these days there was rather a loud rumbling. The eruptions were especially marked in the evening of April 14, when much matter was thrown from the crater accompanied by abundant clouds of vapor. During the night numberless lamps could be seen far down toward the basin of the cove.

VANDERBILTS NOW

Willie K. And Senator Depew Coming to the Province to Fish and Shoot

A Grand Falls despatch says: "W. K. Vanderbilt, the famous New York multimillionaire registered at the Curless House on Saturday. Accompanied only by a valet, he arrived in town Friday afternoon and departed ostensibly for New York, Saturday on the express. To the host of the Curless, he expressed himself as charmed with Grand Falls' picturesque scenery, and remarked that he and senator Depew proposed to hunt big game in this vicinity next fall. The object of his visit is unknown and no one had the temerity to question the man of wealth."

Here it is thought that Mr. Vanderbilt is interested in the development of Grand Falls water power and that his visit was more in connection with that than hunting.

Father Meahan of Moncton who returned Friday night from his European trip was warmly welcomed by his parishioners Sunday evening and presented with a purse sum of money amounting to $2,235.

EDING, PROTRUDING PILES.

JAMES BROWN, Hintonburg, Carleton, writes:—"I suffered from hemorrhoids every form of piles for twenty years, both here and in the Old Country, and have tried nearly every remedy. I am only doing justice to Dr. Chase's Ointment when I say that I believe it to be the best remedy obtainable for bleeding and protruding piles, of which it has cured me."

A Compliment

Not of the Season, yet in Season. Speaking of our Maple Sugar a day or two ago, a Professional Gentleman, of high standing in Town and County, remarked, "Your Maple Sugar is Good, but then you always get the credit for keeping everything good."

That is just our aim, to pay the difference and get the best.

Another lot of our Maple Sugar. Also a small lot of Maple Taffy.

We are full to the brim of New Goods in all our lines.

FOLLANSBEE & CO.

STANLEY MILLER ELECTED MAYOR.

Hennessy Defeated at The Polls by a Majority of Ten.

BIG VOTE POLLED.

J. M. Falconer and Thos. Clarke Defeated Aldermanic Candidates.

(Special To The Advocate)

Election Day, here dawned fine and cold. As early as eight o'clock many of the candidates were on the move and from that time until the polls closed there were evidences of an election. There were two polling booths in the Town Hall. One from A to M, inclusive and the other from M to Z inclusive. All day long candidates and their friends hovered in the neighborhood of the booths and it was difficult for one to go near the Town Hall and not get the glad hand. It was generally expected that both the mayoralty contest and the aldermanic contest would be close and that a large vote would be polled in both. As will be seen by the returns the expectations of the public were in the main realized.

Although keen interest was taken in the fight, there were no disturbances and everything passed off in an orderly manner.

The following are the official returns:

FOR MAYOR

Stanley Miller, 297

Patrick Hennessy, 197

FOR ALDERMAN

Allan Ritchie, 347

F. J. Desmond, M. D., 329

H. Williston, 313

John Russell, 253

K. H. Gremley, 252

J. R. Lawlor, 247

K. N. Wyse, 237

L. B. McMurdo, 226

Thos. A. Clarke, 224

J. M. Falconer, 205

There are eight aldermen elected. The returning officers were Wm. Irving, and W. H. Belyea.

ROGERSVILLE.

Local and Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Price, spent Sunday with friends in Derby.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Buckley, are sorry to hear of the illness of their eldest daughter, Berta, having a severe attack of pleurisy.

Mr. N. Desroches, the well known traveller is registered this week at the Brunswick.

Miss McAll, daughter of Mr. J. McAll, who entered as novice sometime ago with the Trapeziens, took her final vows on Friday morning. The ceremony was very impressive and witnessed by only a few near relatives of the young lady.

Mr. L. H. Piquet, representing McCall, & Sheehan, Co., Quebec was at the Vantour Hotel last week.

The death of Mrs. McLeod, occurred on Wednesday last at her home in Acadaville. The funeral took place Friday. Interment was in the Rogersville family burying ground. Services at the grave were conducted by Rev. T. B. Chapman, Harcourt.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Sheehan, and children went to Moncton, today accompanied by Miss Marr, of Halifax.

A meeting was held in St. Joseph's Hall, on Sunday evening for the purpose of organizing a branch of the Canadian Insurance society in this parish. Quite a number of applicants were enrolled. The society was spoken quite favorably of by Rev. M. L. Richard during his remarks on Sunday last.

MRS. AITKEN'S ILLNESS

The whole community learn with great pleasure that Mrs. R. Aitken whose condition was really for several days much improved yesterday afternoon. Dr. Murray McLaren of St. John arrived here on Monday afternoon and consulted with local physicians on the case.

Monday evening, about 8 o'clock, four young men were returning to Chatham from Douglastown in a row boat. When part way over it filled with water and was sinking. The occupants managed to capsize the boat and were kept for three quarters of an hour, when assistance reached them.

FOUND SKELETON DIGGING CELLAR.

Remains of Victims of Great Miramichi Fire Was a Gruesome Find.

HEAD WAS MISSING.

Skeleton Was Unearthed Here on Wednesday and Was Stolen That Night.

(Special To The Advocate)

The skeleton minus the head of a victim of the great Miramichi fire was unearthed here on Wednesday. The find was made by Mr. George Stothard and workmen on what is known as the old Murray property situated off the highway leading from the Queens Road to the County Academy. Mr. Stothard had been at work digging a cellar on the property for some time and was naturally surprised to make such a gruesome find.

The skeleton is generally thought to be that of a colored woman. It seems that when the great fire was at its height this woman was confined in the county jail. Her screams attracted the attention of men who were fleeing towards the river and they stopped long enough to liberate her. She was a woman of heavy build and before she could reach the river the flames overtook her and she perished near the present square. After the fire her remains were interred in the Murray property. About fifty years ago, a phrenologist by the name of McLeod, came up from his home in Douglastown, found the grave of the colored woman and removed the head.

Mr. Stothard left the skeleton on a pile of earth when he returned home Wednesday but on his return the following morning it was not to be found. Its disappearance is mysterious for very few were aware of its presence.

Near the same spot the remains of two murderers and one suicide were also interred.

NO SMALLPOX FOR THIS TOWN.

Board Of Health Watching Cases Coming Here From Chatham.

12 CASES REPORTED.

The Newcastle Board of Health has taken prompt and energetic action to prevent the spread of the smallpox from Chatham to Newcastle. All persons travelling by boat, rail, or otherwise are required to show a clean bill of health or a certificate of successful vaccination before they will be permitted to land in the town. Others have been appointed to watch the boats and the L. C. R. has been asked to instruct the conductors to insist that the order is complied with. There were said to be twelve cases in Chatham yesterday. The World on Saturday said:—"The origin of the disease in town is still a mystery. Mr. Fitzpatrick, to whom it was attributed, hadn't been in the hospital for three months, and none of his family has taken the disease. It could, therefore, have scarcely been left in the hospital by him. Miss Cahill, the latest case, had not been to the hospital nor had she been a visitor at Mr. Gilmore's. Where did she get it?"

Miramichi Steamer Navigation Coy. Has Opposition This Season

SERVICE COMMENCER

There will be two steamers on the ferry route between here and Chatham this season. Besides the service of the Miramichi Steam Navigation Company, the steamer R. R. Call, owned by Mr. Arch Fleigher Chatham will be operated. The R. R. Call made her first regular trip on Monday and the steamer Alexandra of the Miramichi Steam Navigation Coy's fleet was put on the Newcastle-Chatham route yesterday. The steamer Miramichi, will resume her regular trips in a few days and the Alexandra will be put on the down river route.

WASTE OF GOLD MONEY

The fuss started in a most unusual and unprecedented way, a way that I really am reluctant to set down, it was so contrary to all that is natural and ordinary in domestic life. Mrs. Reddington had asked for some money and Reddington had grumbled.

Hence the row. Charges of extravagance were met by counter charges of stinginess; charges of foolish wastefulness were replied to with charges of meanness; and so it grew warm and torrid and fulminating. And it ended, as all such discussions do, by Reddington's throwing a ten-dollar bill violently into his wife's lap.

"There that leaves me with only a paltry quarter in my pocket," he exclaimed tragically. "But it's enough. It will be enough arsenic to put an end to my miserable life."

That's just like your wicked selfishness, retorted Mrs. Reddington indignantly, at the same time gathering in the ten-spot. "You talk about my wastefulness, and then you waste a lot of money on yourself without the least necessity for it."

Reddington glowered more gloomily.

"Now," continued Mrs. Reddington, placidly, "why can't you give me that quarter, and go out and sit on the elevated's third rail?"

Willing to Sell Out.

The mayor of New York walked down the steps of the city hall the other evening and bought a paper from a newsboy. While waiting his change he said, Well, my little man how is business today? The little merchant looked up and answered, (in dehum!) The mayor thought for a moment and finally said: Keep at it, my little man. You have a chance to become the president some day. The little fellow answered immediately, Dat might be so, but I will sell me chances for a nickel right now!

An Admirable Liar.

I admire a liar, said Morgan Robertson, the writer of sea stories, even when his prevarications strain my credulity. A friend of mine, who objects to efforts to pry into his personal affairs, recently limped into my workshop.

What is the matter with your foot? I asked, more to be polite than because I cared what was the trouble.

Then he gained my everlasting admiration by a display of nerve and mendacity I never saw equalled. An eel stepped on it, he said.

Lecturer's Street Parade.

Strickland W. Gillilan, the "off ag'in on ag'in gone a' in, Finnigin" nan, president of the American Press Humorists, who has been out on the lecture circuit, tells the following story at his own expense:

"I had to fill an engagement at a town in South Dakota. When I got there a blizzard was blowing, and I barely had time to reach the opera-house by the hour set for the lecture to begin. I took my dress-suit out of the case and put it under my arm, intending to change my clothes in a dressing-room at the opera-house.

The wind was blowing furiously, and I was all jammed up as I passed the post-office, where several citizens were congregated. The tails of my dress-coat, under my arm, flopped in the wind, and otherwise I suppose I didn't make a very dignified figure. One of the natives looked at me, and recognizing me from a lithograph in the window remarked to his friends—but I heard it too:

Well, that there feller may have a good show, but I do not think much of his street parade.

$100 REWARD, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any cure that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Foresighted Philanthropy

President Angell of the University of Michigan told this story to a class in international law.

Some years ago, when I was United States Minister to Turkey, Greece was visited by a severe famine. A great wave of sympathy and pity swept over the United States, affecting the women particularly. They raised hundreds of dollars for the relief of the sufferers. With true Yankee husbandry they did not send the money in cash, but spent it in buying vast quantities of cloth which they made into dresses for the Grecian women. One entire ship, I believe, was loaded by this outpouring of charity. I never was tired referring in diplomatic circles to the generosity of my countrywomen, and for a time was the envy of the representatives of the other governments.

Shortly after the ship arrived and its cargo had been distributed I had occasion to make a trip through Greece. It was in the days when our ladies wore extremely large sleeves; but the style in Greece was not the same. You may imagine my surprise and humiliation when I saw that the Grecian women had not known what the American garments were and had put them on their husbands for trousers.

Had To Return The Frame.

Nat C. Goodwin attended a story-telling party not long ago, when he was reminded of the following.

There was a young fellow in Chicago, the owner of a photographic business, who at Christmas presented a fine photo of himself with a magnificent frame to a young woman whom he much admired.

When he next saw her, the young man inquired how she liked the work.

Oh, she exclaimed, I am afraid I shall have to send you back the frame; you know mother does not believe in a girl accepting valuable presents from young men.

Her Astral Spouse

An unmarried woman of my acquaintance was drawing dangerously near the threshold of that age where the unmarried must abandon every matrimonial hope.

Belonging as she did to that large contingent of women to whom marriage represents the possible career, her anxiety, as she saw her chances of achieving it dwindling to the vanishing point, became keen, and in her distress she began to seek for comforting reassurances among that fraternity who, for a suitable consideration obligingly offer to reveal the secrets of the future.

In the course of an interview with one of these "wise women" she was told: My dear, you already are married on the astral plane, and it is your astral husband who is keeping the earth men away from you.

Oh, cried the ungrateful bride, please tell him not to!

MORE THAN CLERGYMEN.

(Halifax Chronicle.)

What is true of Principal Falconer, as set forth in the preceding article, is true of most of the clergy of our country. Nearly all of them are paid today on a scale of salaries established years ago. Since that scale was fixed, the cost of the necessities of life has increased at least from twenty-five to thirty per cent. What is still more important, the number of modern necessities has increased in still greater proportion. A salary of a thousand dollars can be made to go little if any further now, in ordinary circumstances, than five or six hundred went a quarter of a century ago.

OPERATION AVOIDED

EXPERIENCE OF MRS. GLENN

She Was Told That an Operation Was Inevitable. How She Escaped It

When a physician tells a woman suffering with ovarian or womb trouble that an operation is necessary, the very thought of the knife and the operating table strikes terror to her heart, and our hospitals are full of women coming for ovarian or womb operations.

Mrs. Robert Glenn

There are cases where an operation is the only resource, but when one considers the great number of cases of ovarian and womb trouble cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after physicians have advised operations, no woman should submit to one without first trying the Vegetable Compound and writing Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is free.

Mrs. Robert Glenn, of 434 Marie St., Ottawa, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has not only cured me, but it has done so in a way which you have in its favor. I suffered untold agonies from ovarian troubles for nearly three years, and the doctors told me that I must undergo an operation, but as I was unwilling to do this, I tried your Vegetable Compound, and I am only too pleased that I did so, for it restored me to perfect health, saving me the pain of an operation and the immense bills attending the same."

Ovarian and womb troubles are steady on the increase among women. If the monthly periods are very painful, or too frequent and excessive—if you have pain or swelling low down in the left side, bearing down pains, leucorrhea, don't neglect yourself, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

IMPRACITABLE LAWS.

Carter Harrison, ex-mayor of Chicago contributes a very interesting and instructive article to the Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post on "common sense in city rule." He makes one or two striking observations which we commend to all thoughtful readers of the Advocate. He says:—

"Very soon after he has taken up his official duties the mayor of a city learns to divide the people of his municipality into three general classes—First, those whose selfish interest make them especially sensitive to the administration of law, whose callings are almost directly in the path of the law. Second, the great middle class of persons who seldom come in contact with 'the law,' and ordinarily have no occasion to realize that there is a law and an official administration to enforce it. Third, the more radical element of the community given to the agitation of public measures and policies, either from selfish or philanthropic motives."

The truth of the above observations will gain recognition in almost any community. Then Mr. Harrison says in another place:—

"The 'best' citizen is not he who carries in his mind the whole statutory code and is constantly saying to himself: 'I will not do this or that because there is a law against it.' It is scarcely too much to say that he is a far better citizen who instinctively obeys all the laws of his community without realizing their existence."

He attaches considerable importance to the cry of radicals for the enforcement of impracticable laws and further down he again takes the bull by the horns:—

"I believe fully in the highest possible standard of enforcement of law that is consistent with the highest actual attainment in sound and practical results. For the citizens of any municipality to demand of their mayor an unmodified and untimpered enforcement of existing laws is to take a position positively childish in its impracticability and to imply that he is lacking in those qualities which are demanded in every business executive, no matter how humble the position he holds—discretion, judgment, and the ability wisely to meet individual conditions by a modification of the letter of the law. Although, as I already suggested, there is especial need for the exercise of common sense in controlling the movement of that arm of the law which touches the citizen in his home, there are many other phases of city rule in which this force is most desirable. Certainly there is an imperative demand for common sense in dealing with all those problems relating to the question of 'personal liberties' about which the American citizen is keenly sensitive. Problems of this kind are constantly arising, and must be handled with good level judgment and such modifications of the law as sound common-sense would dictate. Only the most casual examination of actual conditions is necessary to show how impossible is a same administration that would attempt a flat and unqualified enforcement of the laws on the statute books of any city in this community."

SCATTERING OF GARBAGE.

Chicago has not the reputation of being a very clean city, nevertheless Carter Harrison, ex-mayor of that city in his article on civic government ignores the subject of filthy streets as though it were altogether foreign to him. We should like to have seen an expression of his opinion on the subject. While perhaps not as valuable as we should like, it might at least give us one or two pointers on how to keep our streets clear of tobacco juice, orange peel, paper, etc. There seems to be little or no effort on the part of many residents of this town to prevent the promiscuous distribution of obnoxious material about the streets. The garbage which lies about the streets and back yards is a menace to public health. It is besides unsightly. Every effort should be made to beautify our town and not disfigure it.

OF GREAT UTILITY.

Mr. Marconi is now in Cape Breton attending to the reconstruction of his towers and other apparatus. So far the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy has not been useful in his country for the purpose that the large government grant was intended to serve.—St. John Sun.

Reckon the Sun is somewhat astray. The men who follow the sea will tell you a different story.

A lamb was born up in South Esk the other day which weighed 13 pounds on the day after its birth. That's nothing! Lambs are born every day, that weigh over ten times that amount.

THE LOCAL LEGISLATURE.

The session which was prorogued at Fredericton last week was not prolific with important measures but those which were introduced and carried out were sound and timely. Premier Tweedie and his colleagues are to be congratulated on the despatch with which the business of the House was carried on. A tremendous lot of business was accomplished in the short time the House was in session. Premier Tweedie is determined that the resources of this province shall be developed and since coming into power he has accomplished much in this direction although hampered at times by the opposition obstructionists. The Central Railway legislation is along the lines of development laid down by the government and those who so roundly denounce it now will see the wisdom of it before long. The changes made in the game laws will meet with the approval of all guides and sportsmen and will likely increase the revenue from that source. Premier Tweedie worked diligently throughout the session. Unlike his critics, however, it is not during his session that the Premier accomplishes the best work. It is when he is free from his sessional duties that he devises ways and means for the further development of the province.

A SANNER YEAR.

This will be a record-breaking year in Manitoba and the Northwest for progress in settlement and agriculture. Mr. Whyte of the Canadian Pacific Railway says the crop area will be greater than that of last year by a million acres, and the total under crop will reach four and a half millions. The seeding is reported to be rapidly progressing. The volume of immigration will almost equal that of last year in quantity and will surpass it in quality.

The Town elections are over. The new aldermen will pretty soon see that they have not dropped into a bed of roses—that is if they bear the title of aldermen for any length of time.

AN EDITOR'S TROUBLES

There was a lively session of the Moncton city council Thursday afternoon. There has been bad blood between Mayor Ryan and Editor Hawke of the Transcript for some time, and in consequence of alleged unfair reports of council proceedings the mayor has excluded the reporter from the council chamber. The reporter, however, has taken his seat usually accepted at the clerk's table inside the railing. This afternoon a Transcript reporter was taking notes outside the railing, when Editor Hawke entered, threw off his overcoat, and muttering that he intended to assert his rights, commenced taking notes at the clerk's table. The mayor ordered the editor outside the railing, but he refused to go. The mayor then called for a policeman, but as none was present he asked himself to remove the offender. The mayor seized the editor by the shoulders and roughly pushed him down. Some of the aldermen interfered, but no more business was transacted and the council broke up in confusion. Editor Hawke is now looking for law.

A. N. B. GUIDE ABROAD.

A despatch from Franklin, New Hampshire, in the Manchester (N. H.) Union says:—

James Myers, the flute and piccolo soloist in the Military band, was a hunter's guide and cook of wide repute in New Brunswick, whence he came recently to the States. He cooked, last year, for Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moses, the well known Tilton couple when they made their tour into the wilds of New Brunswick, hunting for big game. It was at the instigation of the Tilton couple that Mr. Myers came here. He was considered the best cook on Harry Allen's hunting grounds on Bear Brook Fork, where many wealthy Americans go in quest of caribou, moose, bear, partridge and brook trout.

MANY CHANGES IN GAME LAWS

Close Season For Partridge Will End On Sept. 14 of This Year.

DEER LICENSE REQUIRED

Every Non Resident Must be Accompanied By a Licensed Guide

Premier Tweedie and his colleagues are to be congratulated for the prudent changes made in the game laws during the session just ended.

The close season for partridge will end Sept. 14th of this year and in future will extend from Nov. 30th in each year until Sept. 15th in the year following.

No calf moose can be hunted under the age of two years, instead of one year, as formerly, and no cow caribou can be hunted. No license can be obtained to shoot a moose. The penalty for such offence is set at a fine of from $100 to $200, or from 20 days to two months imprisonment.

No gun or other firearm shall be carried into any forest or wood, or other resort for moose or caribou between Nov. 30th in any year and Sept. 15th in the year following, without a permit of a game warden. Formerly this section applied only to parks and reserves. The penalty for an offence under this section is set at a fine not to exceed $40 or imprisonment for one month in jail, and warden may confiscate any arms carried contrary to this law.

In future hunters must have a license to shoot deer, and no deer may be shot at night. Penalty under this section, which of course applies also to moose and caribou, is a fine of $50 to $150, or imprisonment for one month to three months.

Deputy wardens must pass an examination to the satisfaction of the surveyor general as to their knowledge of woodcraft, the habits and resorts of game animals, the provisions of the different acts for protection of game, and such other matters as the surveyor general may require. But all now acting as deputy wardens shall continue to act until called on to pass the examination.

The section compelling wardens to forward to the surveyor general the names of guides in their district is repealed.

Wardens may confiscate the head of any moose or caribou unless it is accompanied by the owner, or properly tagged with the owner's name.

Moreover, when any person kills a moose or caribou he must exhibit the head to a warden, who will affix a tag, stating the name of the person who killed the animal, the license number, and the time and place of killing. This tag must be preserved and no head shall be delivered to the owner when preserved or mounted, nor shall any head be exported without such tag attached.

It is further an offense to kill any moose or caribou where it is impracticable to bring out the head for inspection by a warden so that he may affix a tag. Penalty the same as that for hunting moose or caribou without a license.

Guides having a guide's license to accompany hunters cannot at the same time have a license to kill any moose or caribou. Before a man can act as guide he must be registered in the office of the surveyor general and hold a certificate. The certificates are granted on filing an application with sufficient particulars and on payment of a fee to be fixed. The license will remain in force until cancelled by the surveyor general for good cause shown. Formerly guide's license expired at the end of the season.

Every non-resident who hunts moose, caribou or deer must be accompanied by a registered guide, and no guide shall take more than five people at once.

A chief ranger is to be appointed, whose duties will be to see that the laws with regard to protection of game and protection from forest fires are enforced.

The license fee for non-residents hunting moose or caribou is increased from $30 to $50.

There's no better food for all than Clark's delicious Pork and Beans—plain, with Chili or Tomato Sauce 5 & 10c. tins.

STREAM DRIVING PROSPECTS POOR

Operators Want Rain At Once
And Want It
Bad.

MILLS STARTING.

Lynch's Started Monday and Hickson's Will Start To-day.

Unless rain—and lots of it—comes speedily stream driving will be seriously interfered with. The water in the river is falling rapidly and operators are somewhat worried over the situation. They realize that only heavy rains at an early date can bring out the logs. The spring has been marked by almost continuous fine weather. Some, however, take an optimistic view. They say the season is still early and that there is lots of time for rain. The South West boom which went out last spring has not been rebuilt and this may cause some inconvenience.

The mills are beginning to start. Lynch's started on Monday and Hickson's started today. Burchill's will be ready in a week or so and so will Ritchie's.

CARRIED TO SEA IN A ROW BOAT

Robert Knowles, Meets Watery Grave While Shooting At Portage River

WIND STRUCK HIM

He Was After Bird Which He Had Shot Few Minutes
Before

Robert Knowles 19 year of age, belonging to Chatham has either met a watery grave or else he is far out to sea in a row boat. Knowles was an employee of the Snowball Lumber Co. and along with a number of other employees of that company was at Portage Island getting off logs. Knowles, decided Monday afternoon that he would try his luck at a few of the birds that swarmed along the shore, so taking a gun he started in quest of his quarry. It was not long before he brought a bird down. The winged creature fell in the water some distance from the shore. Knowles procured a boat and started after it. A heavy gale of wind struck him shortly after he left shore and carried him far out to sea. Up to yesterday afternoon he had not returned and it is generally believed that he has met a watery grave.

Mr. Geo. Brown.

Mayor 1904-05.

Mayor Brown's term of office has about expired. Somewhat advanced in years, Mr. Brown did not feel like reoffering this year. If he had done so, he would surely have been returned by acclamation. No one can adversely criticize Mayor Brown's administration. It is one for which he need bear no shame. On the other hand, he has much to be proud of. During the year the permanent sidewalk idea was inaugurated, substantial improvements were made in the Power House and the square. Of the Square it might be said that it is Mayor Brown's special pride. No man takes as deep an interest in our principal beauty spot as he does. Always courteous and obliging, Mayor Brown won many friends during his term of office. Although retiring, it is safe to assume he will always take a deep interest in public matters and will always have the best interests of the town at heart.

The retiring aldermen are, Messrs Armstrong, Peddon, Phinney and Morrison were also indefatigable in their efforts to advance the welfare of the town and the Advocate has no hesitation in saying that their services will be greatly missed.

Report That Cake of Ice Carried
A Woman Across The River

Quite a commotion was caused here on Friday and Saturday by the report that a woman while at the river bank near Douglastown, after a pail of water stepped on a large cake of ice and was carried out on the water. According to the report the ice carried her across the river and just before it landed her near Burchill's mill she was picked up by one of several boats which went to her rescue. Everybody in town heard the report but after diligent inquiry from all sources the Advocate could not obtain a confirmation.

DEATH OF MRS. SINCLAIR

Mrs. Annie Elizabeth Sinclair, relict of the late John Sinclair and one of Newcastle's best known and most estimable ladies passed away at the residence of her son-in-law Mr. James O. Fish on April 12, after being confined for twenty-two months as the result of a fall which broke her hip bone. Mrs. Sinclair was a Miss Rogers and was born on the North West about ninety years ago. The house in which she was born still stands. She leaves one daughter Mrs. James O. Fish and one son Mr. John A. Sinclair of Fort Bragg. One of her best known children was the late Mr. Edward Sinclair of Bridgetown. The funeral took place from the residence of Mr. Fish on Saturday afternoon and was very largely attended. Interment took place in St James' cemetery. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Henry Arnott.

"Well, I am the King of England," "D'ye tell me so?" said the old lady in a tone of surprise, and then, remembering the rights of hospitality, she took the pipe out of her mouth, wiped the smoke with her hand and, passing it to the King, said, "Will yer honor smoke?"

Utilize Stable Manure.

Manure is often sold at auction in our country and brings $2 or more per load, depending on the shape it is in, says Rural New Yorker. A farmer who would give it away or sell it for 25 cents a load to get rid of it would not farm very long. Yet many farmers throw away the best part of the manure by letting the rain wash it through it. We are known farmers to do this and then buy fertilizers to make their crops.

FERROZONE.

Gave Me New Vital Energy—Nourished Me Back
To Good Health

Perhaps you are in poor health? But work must be done, and there is no chance to take a rest.

Never mind the rest—it won't be necessary if you use Ferrozone. It builds up the system, enriches the blood, strengthens the nerves, makes you feel like new at once. No medicine in the world is so powerful in restoring health writes C. P. Somerville, of Weymouth.

"I was weak and miserable. I toiled too hard at my business and broke down."

"My nerves went to smash, I couldn't sleep and simply had to give up everything."

"Did Ferrozone help me?"

"Well I think it saved my life! It gave me new vital energy, nourished me back to permanent good health. No better tonic is made than Ferrozone."

All physicians recommend Ferrozone because it is absolutely certain to give strength to those that use it. 50¢ per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers in medicine, or Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

Wonderful Orchard.
Perhaps the largest collection of pears in one orchard in Australia has been grown at Albert Park, Moona, in the outskirts of Hobart, Tasmania. There are some 3,000 trees of twenty different varieties. The orchard is now seventeen years old, but last season it has borne its first really good crop. It was described as a wonderful sight to see the branches hanging down to the ground with the weight of fruit, and it was estimated that a measure acre could be taken which would turn off a thousand bushels.

A DEAD TIRED FEELING
And utter weariness are due to the blood being weakened through faulty action of the kidneys and liver. It's a complaint every one of us is liable to. You need and it can be acquired quickly by using Ferrozone, the greatest strengthening tonic made. "No tonic equals Ferrozone," writes H. E. Jennings of Westport. "Last spring I was tired and depressed, had backache and lacked strength. Ferrozone soon brought me to good health and made me well." Price 50¢ at druggists.

color rose in Alice's face, but she turned and played the prelude without a word. When she had sung the first verse, to her surprise Blanch was standing beside her and joined her voice in the next one. When it was finished Frank insisted on a repetition and after that all three sang a dozen more of the sweet old time songs so familiar to all. Then Alice left the room to bring in a light lunch, and Frank seized the opportunity to say, "Well, sis, what do you think?"

"I think," she replied, "that you were foolish to go yachting at all. If I had been you I should have come up here in the first place, stayed at the hotel and courted her every chance I could. I am in love with her myself, and we haven't been here six hours."

Frank stepped up to her quickly and, taking her face in his hands, kissed her.

CHAPTER XXVIII.
TWO days of Alice's visitation passed like a summer breeze. The first day they drove to the old mill and spent the entire forenoon gathering lilies and watching the great wheel that dripped and clattered between its moss grown walls. It was a curiosity to Blanch, for never in her life had she seen one of those old time landmarks, now so rare.

That afternoon they drove to the mountain's top and saw the sunset, only to be late home to Aunt Susan's tea biscuit and cold chicken, and having a surprising appetite. The next day they made a picnic trip to another mountain, leaving the horse halfway up and walking the rest of the way. At noon they returned, and beside a cold spring that bubbled beneath a rock they opened their lunch baskets. Then they picked flowers, hunted for wintergreen and decked the horse and wagon with ferns and wreaths of laurel—only simple country pleasures, it is true, but they at least had the charm of newness for two of the party. That evening they sang all sorts of songs from gospel hymns to comic operas, and Blanch showed in so many ways that she admired her new found friend that there was no further restraint.

"I wish you would stay with me until my school begins, Blanch," said Alice at the close of the evening. "If you knew how lonely I am, I am sure you would."

"I might be persuaded to make a longer visit next summer," was the answer, "if you will return this visit next winter. Will you?"

"I won't promise now," answered Alice. "I am afraid I should be out of place in your society. I'm only a country girl, you know."

"I shall feel hurt if you don't," responded Blanch.

"I should like to see that schoolhouse Frank has spoken of several times," she said a little later, "and that barefoot girl he told about."

It was the first allusion to his interest in her that Blanch had made, and Alice colored.

"We will drive by where that girl lives tomorrow," responded Alice, "and, if you like, will call and see her. She is the most original little old woman in my school."

When Frank and his sister were alone for a few moments, she said, "I am going to do you a good turn today, Sis. I thought, and have a headache," and, handing a little "if you are wise you will improve your opportunities and persuade your 'Sweet Alice' to go after pond lilies and leave me here."

"I could not think of going after lilies," Alice replied when he proposed the trip, "and leaving your sister alone, and then it is almost too warm to be out in the sun this morning. If she feels better this afternoon we will go there when the sun gets part way down."

Blanch kept quiet all the morning and after dinner was the first to propose another trip to the lily pond. "I am in love with that old mill," she said, "and I want to see it when the sun gets down so it will be shady there."

When they reached the spot she at once developed an unusual interest in the mill and began an animated conversation with the miller regarding it and its history.

"You two go after lilies," she said when Frank had the boat ready, "and leave me here. I'm afraid the sun on the water will bring back my headache."

"All right, only your smiles will be wasted on the miller. He is too old to appreciate them. We won't be gone long," said Alice as she stepped into the boat. And now what spirit of mischief and come over her? She joked and jested on all manner of subjects—the boat, his rowing, Blanch's interest in the mill—and her blue eyes sparkled with mischievous intent. She bared one round arm to the elbow and, pulling every bud and blossom she could reach, pelted her cavalier with them.

"Did you learn that stroke at college," she asked when one of his oars slipped, "or is that the way a yachtman always rows?"

In response to all this he said but little, for he was thinking how best to say what was on his mind. He headed the boat for the shore, and as it came to a stop he said: "Let's get out and sit on the bank, Miss Page. I want to rest."

"Oh, we must not stop. It's almost sundown, and, besides, I want more lilies."

"Won't you get out, Miss Page?" he asked. "I've something I want to say to you—and it's nice to sit in the shade and talk."

Without a word or even a look she arose and, taking his proffered hand, slipped, "or is that the way a yachtman always rows?"

Frank frowned. "Oh, bother these flattery mothers!" he exclaimed. "Why will they turn up their noses at every poor girl? If Alice had rich parents she would be all right, no matter if she were as homely as a hedge fence."

"Maybe that's so," answered Blanch, "but you can't change mamma, and if you want to win your Alice you must do as I tell you and court mamma. Now, I will tell you what to do, and if you're good to me I'll help you do it. In the first place you must stay in the mountains until we go home, and do all you can to please mother. Take her driving, ask her to play whist with you, and when she makes a good play praise it; carry her wraps for her, be solicitous about her welfare and comfort in all things, and treat her just as if she were Alice instead of mamma. Then when she is well cared for, act downcast at times and depressed. Wait a few days before working the melancholy act, and don't say much to other girls. Dance with Edie and me and say sweet things to mamma for a week. Then some day take her out for a drive and act as if you had lost your first friend. She will inevitably ask what ails you, but don't tell her too quickly. Let her coax you a little, and after awhile make a clean breast of it."

"I would suggest you inlustrate the girl has favored your suit, but has practically said 'no' because she is too proud to marry into a rich family. That will do more to pique mamma's interest in the matter than volubly saying 'no' to her. If she asks you too much, but if she questions you about her answer frankly to the point, but convey the impression that you consider your case hopeless, and leave the rest to me."

Frank looked at his sister in silent admiration. "I didn't know you had such a sharp head on your shoulders," he said at last.

When Frank and Blanch had made a short stop at Saratoga, "just to be able to say so," as Blanch said, they returned to the mountains, and the little domestic drama began. As it progressed Frank grew interested in watching the "act" he had on his proud mother. To make her only son show her so much devotion before crowds of people gladdened her heart, and it was soon noticed and commented upon. She had known that Frank was from the first a little smitten with this sister of his, and she had been biding her time to make a little snub to her. Then she raised her one free arm and, resting it against a nearby tree, pressed her face upon it and almost whispered: "Oh, don't ask me now! I can't say 'yes' and I can't say 'no'."

"I shall believe that your heart says 'yes,'" he responded quickly, slipping one arm around her waist, "and until you do say 'no' I shall keep on loving you just the same."

She drew herself away and, turning a piteous face toward him, exclaimed, "Don't, please, say another word now, or I shall hate myself as long as I live if you do."

For one moment he stood dumfounded, and then it dawned upon him. "Forgive me, sweet Alice," he said softly, "for speaking too soon. I believe I know why you feel as you do, and I shall go away hoping that in time you will come to know my mother better. And since you have said that you can't say 'no,' I shall anticipate that some time it will be 'yes.' Now we will go and gather lilies."

Then, as he led her to the boat, his arm once more stole around her waist, and this time she did not try to escape its pressure.

When, two days afterward, the brother and sister were ready to depart, Blanch put one arm caressingly around Alice and whispered, "Now, remember, you have promised to make me a visit next winter, and you must keep your promise."

And poor Romeo, standing by, had to look the love that was in his heart while he envied his sister her partner's kiss.

"No, I did not," he answered frankly, "but I made a break, and as she didn't take it unless I feel hopeful. The fact is, sis, she is the most proud spirited girl I ever met, and mother is the ogre that stands in the way. If mother approves of Alice I am all right, but if she doesn't receive her with open arms it's all over with me."

REASON NO 14 WHY YOU SHOULD USE Red Rose Tea

Because the quality never varies.
Did you ever use a pound of good tea, and after ordering more of the same brand, find it much inferior?

The Eastern climate changes very rapidly, and for this reason tea planters find it impossible to produce the same quality from month to month—two lots from the same garden are seldom the same quality. This is probably the reason why the tea you got the second time was not as good as the first.

In Red Rose Tea this serious difficulty has been overcome by scientifically blending several teas together, so to always obtain uniform flavor and strength, and this has been one of the greatest triumphs of Red Rose Tea.

The quality never varies—you can rely on getting exactly the same quality of tea as long as you use it.

A CASE OF LUCK.

How the Lack of a Nickel Won a Good Paying Position.

Little Mrs. Tyler sighed as the trolley car whizzed past her.
"To think," she mused, "that I should have come to this—too poor to spend 5 cents for car fare! If I could only get more music scholars! Then Bob could have the beefsteak and the fruit he needs—dear, patient Robert!"

Time was when Fredericka Tyler's piano playing had won her many a social triumph, but that was before she had married the penniless Robert Tyler, to begin life anew across the continent. Now that he was sick they had only the pittance her pupils brought her.

Today Mrs. Tyler was very tired. No wonder she had sighed when the car had glided past her and home was a mile away. Strains of Handel's "Emulous Blacksmith" drew her inside a music store. Music always rested her. A girl was playing upon a grand piano, and several persons stood about Mrs. Tyler strolled her way.

One after another took a turn at the instrument. The newcomer was too interested in the playing to question wherefore. Finally a man approached her.

"It is your turn next," he said.
She was about to explain his mistake when the humor of the situation appealed to her, and she was seized with a desire to carry out the joke. Accordingly she took her seat and began Paderewski's "Love Song." She did not know for what she was playing, but she vaguely felt that it was a test of some sort, and she threw her soul into her fingers. When she ended there was a little burst of applause, and "something else" was called for. She responded with Liszt's "Schubert's Serenade" and then with Chopin's "Cradle Song."

A sheet of music was placed before her, and a lady came forward to sing. If there was one thing in which Mrs. Tyler excelled it was in accompaniment, and now she did her best. The face of the man who had invited her to play was one broad smile as he inquired deferentially:

A FRIEND TO WOMEN.
The late Nellie Farron, when she visited America with the Loran Company, danced before a well-known New York club.

At the end of the dance, during an informal supper, some one began to talk about the new woman, a dancing topic at that time.

"Do the English believe in woman's emancipation?" a lady asked Miss Farron. "Do they believe in opening the same fields to women as to men and in paying them at the same rate?"

"Oh, yes," said the little actress. "Even the English tramps believe all that. A tramp asked a countrywoman of mine one day for assistance, and she said to the man sternly: 'Why don't you go to work?'"

"Madam," said the tramp, "twenty years ago I made a vow not to do another stroke of work till women were paid the same wages as men."

HIS IDEA OF GOOD COMPANY

The late General William Preston, one of the most genial and hospitable of Kentuckians, was noted for his ability to absorb a conversation without attracting attention or giving offence.

Once, having traveled from Louisville to his home in Lexington, he was greeted at the railroad station by several friends, who expressed the hope that his journey had been a pleasant one. "I enjoyed it very much," said General Preston, "for I had the companionship of the most entertaining young man I ever met. I found his society so delightful that I was sorry when I bade him farewell here on the platform."

"Who was he?" was the inquiry. "I can't recall his name just now, though I am sure he mentioned it, but there he is," said the General, pointing to a youth who by his unerring accuracy in lip reading was regarded as the most intelligent deaf-mute in the state, who never in his life had been able to hear or to utter a sound.

WHAT A COMMA DID

DAN LOCKWOOD told this story as a cloak-room tale, and insisted that it was a true story. James I. King of Buffalo, who, do, became ill and was sent to the Bohemian spa for treatment, somehow or other, the Bohemian local press reported his arrival referring to him as "James I. King of Buffalo, America."

This blunder seemed humorous to Mr. King at first, but serious symptoms soon developed which made him wince and squirm. All of the parvenus, parasites, hunters, snobs, sycophants, and beggars swooped down upon him, and everybody seemed to join in a general conspiracy to molest him. He couldn't turn round without spending money. The heads of bell-boys and waiters were constantly before him. His bill was jammed full of "extras" which he never had or thought of having, but they were things that King of Buffalo or any other ought to have; and he had to pay.

In vain did he endeavor to convince his persecutors that it was all a mistake; that he was not a personage, nor a believer in royalty. They would only smile and tell him that if he wanted to travel incognito he should have begun right. They howled and scraped before him, always holding out hands to catch the royal patron and determined blandishments, until he was obliged to leave the spa and go elsewhere for treatment.

Ever afterward, wherever he registered, it was as "Thomas Thompson of Boston." Only by thus living under the cover of an alias was he able to remain abroad for treatment, and afterward "do" Europe.

because they are far superior to any other kind, being absolutely safe, pleasant and effective. They contain no ingredient which will lead to the formation of a dangerous habit, but are simply a purely vegetable compound which cures thousands of others and will do the same for you.

They can always effect a positive cure in from ten to twenty minutes and a single trial never fails to induce and delight chronic sufferers from headache.

All sorts of cases will find them, but be sure you get the genuine KUMFORT Headache Powders. They will cure your headache, while substitutes or imitations will prove more harmful than helpful.

That "Tired Feeling"

Is often joked about, but the condition itself is no joke. It indicates serious derangement of the blood and nervous system. People can't help feeling lazy and worn out if impure blood flowing through all the organs is poisoning them and paralyzing their activity. Spring is the season of blood impurity. Nine people out of ten would feel better through use of our Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla with Iodide of Potassium.

This is a blood purifier that really purifies. Pure rich blood means buoyant health. Be your best this year by giving nature a little help.

Price 75 Cents.
