General Joffre, Leader of French Troops, Man of Indomitable Will and Great Resource.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, Aug. 6 .- 3:20 p.m .- France's great army has been placed under the supreme command of General Joseph Joffre, who enjoys great popularity with the men as he does with the French nation generally. He is known as a man of strong will and it is a common saying in the army that when General Joffre has once made up his mind nothing will force him to change it. French military men express the fullest confidence in his skill.

General Joffre is 62 years old. He has been married ten years, but is childless. He is of medium height and stout, with a massive head, very fair hair and thick drooping moustache. He is noted for his excellent horsemanship. He was trained as an engineer, and while on duty in Madagascar constructed the harbor of Diego Suarez, the principal one in the island.

The mobilization plans for the French army were drawn up by General Joffre last April, and the results of their execution have exceeded all expectations.

POURED HAIL OF BULLETS ON GERMANS AFTER WAITING FOR THEM TO COME UP

[Canadian Press.]

Brussels, via London, 11:52 a.m., Aug. 6.—Graphic stories of the great struggle between the Belgian troops and the German soldiery yesterday in the vicinity of Liege, tell of terrific slaughter among the German forces At about noon yesterday the German infantry attempted to carry, by assault, Fort

Barchon, to the northeast of Liege. The attacking infantry crept up under the cover of a heavy artillery fire, but the Belgian defenders reserved their fire until the Germans had come to close quarters, when, at a given signal, the Belgians opened with a perfect hail of bullets from rifles and machine guns, which wreaked havoc among the Germans. The attackers soon lay in heaps of dead and wounded around the fort. At the same time Fort Chaudfontaine, to the southeast of Liege, kept up a hot fire on another body of Germans, who had seized a neighboring castle. The Belgian artillery reduced the building to a mass of smoking ruins. The Germans finally retired all along the line. One newspaper says the German losses amounted to between 4,000 and 5,000 men, while they abandoned 17 machine guns.

A squadron of Belgian lancers, according to another report, was completely wiped out, after it had killed 150 German Uhlans.

Sports, Free Dancing, Baby Show and Banquet on the Program.

Today the Irish have their inning. It's everybody for the great picnic at Port Stanley, with special cars running both ways on the London and Lake Erie Railway line, and on special trains on the Pere Marquette. The early crowds were large, and officials made the statement that from all indications the crowd would be a record one.

Dr. A. V. Becher, president of the Irish Benevolent Society, says there will be something doing every minute. This year the committee has kept pace with the ever changing list of amusements. and added the tango, and the one step and the hesitation to the grand outdoor attractions.

E. J. Ryan, chairman of the music arrangements, took the Seventh Regiment down to the Port with the first crowds in the morning, and at noon the First Hussars Band went down One band will play where the sports are to be run off, and the other up on the Invererie Heights. In addition, Mr. Ryan has provided a string band, which will play for free dancing in the pavilion on the hill. The dancing competition will also take place in the pavilion. Sports and Baby Show.

As is the custom at the society's an outing, there is a long list of sporting events, including everything from a hop, skip and jump to boxing bouts in barrels and baseball. The ma who wrote the song, "This is the Life, got his theme from attending one of these Irishmen's picnics. Dr. W. M. these Irishmen's picnics. Dr. Shoebottom, chairman of the sports committee, says the program is way ahead of any ever staged at the port. William Fulton and H. Fowler, who are arranging the baby show, will award the prizes in steel diving suits by way inaugurating a novelty.

To Close With a Banquet. Ben Noble, in charge of the dancing program, also has a few novelties. It is further declared by the committee that the banquet, which will take place at night, is something that cannot be described or defined. Everybody is welcome, the latch key is out, and everything "will be lovely with the goose hanging high."

Lloyd George Announces That Suspension Will Be Unnecessary.

LONDON, August 5 .- Symptoms of panic over the question of food and money supplies subsided greatly today There is general confidence that the measures undertaken by the Government will meet the crisis; that the money market will not smash, and that the Atlantic route will be kept open shipments from America.

The fact that the Cunard liner Lusi tania was allowed to sail had a reassuring effect, as indicating that the Admiralty feels certain that the navy is in a position to keep the German cruisers off the area of the north At lantic trade routes. David Lloyd George, chancellor o

The critics, who always predicted that a sudden war would throw the country into confusion, do not find their forebodings justified.

Life of London Normal. The life of London, except for the rowd around the Government buildings, was normal today. An unusual number of territorials in uniform, and the newspaper extras were the only indications through the greater part of the city that any extraordinary events were afoot. Martial law is not being entered, except at the naval and military stations. The King's appeal to his subjects ed from Southampton for New York to respect and assist all officials is

THE UNITED EMPIRE.

It is quite possible the German Emperor was influenced in his aggressive movements by the domestic condition of Great Britain. The Irish question must have seemed to him a golden opportunity. Britain, to an outsider, must have seemed on the verge of a civil war. With the north and south of Ireland both arming, to fight each other, with part of the island breathing out warlike threats against the Government, with political feeling in England more bitter than it has been for generations, with the suffragettes and their male sympathizers daily committing breaches of the peace, and with a is assured more or less antagonism between labor and capital, the empire would certainly seem to be in a very unfit state to enter a war. And if Britain was forced by internal troubles to keep the peace, the Kaiser might well believe he would be in a better position to grasp despotic power, and assume the domination in the first blow, even if it is below of Europe.

But if he had any such dreams, he has by this time been rudely awakened. At the first threat of war, domestic tur-dolls from Germany this year. Even moll suddenly ceased. The Irish volunteers, enlisted with the ostensible purpose of fighting each other, offer to fight side by side against the common enemy. Tory and Liberal join hands; Englishman, Scotchman, Irishman, Welshman stand shoulder to shoulder. There will still be a few men - good import Asiatics and Africans. Fuzzymen and worthy citizens—who are slow to move, or who realize the horrors of war so intensely that they are not prepared to accept the decision of the Government, and will criticize and oppose it. That is unavoidable in a nation of free men who prize, above all things, full liberty of thought and speech. But the overwhelming mass of the British people forget their party differences, drop their domestic quarrels and are one quarantine. A simple process; but it people in the face of a common foe.

The same condition, we believe, will be found in all the overseas dominions. In those sections of the empire, the military spirit is of necessity less active under ordinary circumstances than in the British Isles We see less of the para- will be about the hardest task that phernalia of war, and have less of the warlike element. But when the Empire is in danger, there is the universal demand through all Canada, throughout the Australasian Islands, throughout South Africa, to spring to the defence of the motherland. In the Dominions there are many diverse races, but there will be no divergence of opinion or of action. In Canada there are many thousands of French descent; they and their fathers have shown their loyalty to Britain in the past The star that bids the shepherd fold by the sacrifice of life and property, as they will today, if required, and their hearty co-operation with their Anglo-Saxon compatriots will only be intensified by the fact that France and Britain are allies in this war. Our citizens of Germanic races might be excused if their love for their fatherland weakened their enthusiasm for Britain in this contest. But while Midnight shout and revelry, this might affect some of the older generation born in Europe, Braid your locks with rosy twine, the young German-Canadian is Canadian to the core. And if Sir Adam Beck may be taken as a type of this class his prompt And advice with scrupulous head, offer to the Government shows that Canadians, no matter with their grave saws, in slumber lie where their fathers were born, are Canadians to the core and as loyal to the Empire as any men can be.

So it will doubtless be in South Africa, where Boer and goes up. The ill wind o' war will have to kill each other just because Britain will enlist in the same army. In the vast islands of blow a temporary profit to the western Austria and Servia are unable to settle their differences without war. the Southern Pacific, there is less diversity of race, and the mass of the people are of British descent. No shadow of doubt will be cast on their loyalty; none will question their active devotion to the Empire. So it will be in all the four round. quarters of the globe, wherever flies the Union Jack. A few advocates of peace at any price will be found; a few politicians and yellow journals will see in the crisis a chance for personal profit or party advantage. But as in the motherland, so throughout the Empire, internal dissentions will cease, and there will be one flag, one country, one purpose.

VICTORY'S FRUITS.

DOTH sides in the great war have doubtless ideas more or less definite of what they will do with victory. The two Teuton brigands must have had some rosy plans in invading Servia. France has, needless to say, a red eye fixed on Alsace and Lorraine, with a slice more for long-deferred in-force and efficiency should be too much for her enemies, we might look for the Teutonic absorption of the Balkans, Holland, Belgium and French Lorraine, a protectorate renewal of the old Teutonic menace south of the Alps, and a bullying supervision of Europe in general. Enormous war indemnities would be exacted from the triple entente, and if Britain's fleet by any chance failed, her overseas possessions would tend to slide

Such a consummation would naturally be opposed by the neutral powers, as Italy, Japan. and, perhaps, even the United States. None of these powers either Teuton or Russ. Would the United States abandon its traditional isolation from European affairs to temper the wind to the shorn antagonist?

If the triple entente wins a complete victory, as seems probable enough, Russia might demand from Germany Posen, and from Austria Galicia, thus completing her Polish territory. Bosnia and Croatia might be taken from Austria and given to Servia, which would thus become the dominant state of the Balkan peninsula. If Roumania wants to wrench Transvivania and Bukovina with their Roumanian population from Austria, her cue is to line up with the Triple Entente. She at any rate.

France will perhaps take Luxem bourg as well as the lost provinces, but it would be a doubtful gain. Speaking in favor of the resolution, Winnington Ingram, Bishop of London, said he could not imagine a greater plow for the church than for them to decline at a time when women were struggling for the political franchise to give them the franchise in their own shurch. They were not dealing with threatening people, but with a body of women who were only too anxious to serve their church and their God.

Mr. Oscroft, a workingman representative, said that when he saw the work which working women were doing in his parish he could not refuse them the same privileges which they granted to Woman's Mind.

The second resolution, to the effect that women may act as lay representatives on a parochial church council, was moved by the Archbishop of Canterbury, and carried by a large majority. Linneborn Singled in Ninth With Bases Full, But Side is Retired When Ball and Osborne Collided - Dunn's Muff Paved Way for Petes' Victory.

Three sten on bases, the ninth inning, two men out, one run needed to tie the score, and two to win. Oh the tension of that moment, when the batter taken his place at the plate, and the pitcher makes ready to deliver the ball. Oh the suspense and the thrill of it. The crowd of fans on the sidelines gathered of a hoodoo to the St. Thomas team in a few feet closer, and the clamor of several hundred throats increased, until in a rew reet closer, and the clamor of several hundred throats increased, until since he entered the Canadian League, at the first turn in the tide of defeat, and the first exultation in the moment of will pitch the first game of the series victory. The Petes were lucky to win. It was a presentation and the final score was 4 to 3. Dunn's Miserable Work.

Up to the seventh London apparently had the contest tucked away. Bobby Heck was pitching grand ball, and had a lead of two runs under him as a result of some timely clouting in the second inning. The Petes had only located Heck for four hits when the "lucky seventh" came along, and had had few opportunities to score. Then Joe Dunn butted in, and away went the old ball game. "lucky seventh" came along, and had had few opportunities to score. Then Joe Dunn butted in, and away went the old ball game. Dunn is the weak spot in the London team, and he has been going from bad to worse in recent games. At first he wasn't hitting, but was fielding sensationally. Now he isn't hitting or fielding. Yesterday he isn't hitting or fielding. Yesterday he cost London a ball game. With one down in the seventh, Dunn muffed With one Byrne's easy fly, after yelling to Whit-craft, who also went after it, that he would take it. That paved the way for the four runs that followed. King was hit on the knee by one of Heck's fast ones and was forced at second on Fox's grounder to Whitcraft, making two out, with Byrne on third and Fox on first. Fox stole second and Snyder. on first. Fox stole second and Snyder threw to Heck, who could have easily nailed Byrne at third, as the latter had started for the plate when he saw Snyder make the throw. But Bobby did not see the play in time and Mully baseman, came along and filed out to Eddie Lamy, thus retiring the side and preventing any more scoring.

Sterling Tightens Up.

The outcome of Mr. Dunn's fumble put London two runs to the bad and Bob Sterling was going along like a second by 3 to 2. In the first game Bob Sterling was going along like a storm. After the second inning only two hits were pried off him. In the seventh, the first two men up were easy outs, but Joe Dunn managed to draw a pass. Heck was up and had three balls called on him, mostly pitchouts to prevent Dunn from stealing. Then Joe fell asleep and Sterling picked him off the bag by several feet on a quick throw to Dolan. In the eighth, Eddie Linneborn worked himself around to second as a result of the sun getting in Frank Fox's eyes and causing him to lose sight of Linny's pop fly. Linnepurloined second, but was left, Whiteraft striking out and Bier-

That Eventful Ninth. That Eventful Ninth.

Then came the ninth. It was the one big inning, and as the Tecumps had beaten the Petes out the day before in the final session, they looked good to repeat. Sterling must have felt this way about it also for he became very unsteady and Eddie Lamy, first man up, was passed on four wide ones. Cy Reidy waited for a good one then laced Reidy waited for a good one, then laced a tidy single to left field, Lamy stopping at second. Johnny Nelson bunted, but King dropped Dolan's lob, and the bases were full with nobody out, and Jack Snyder up. Snyder had driven in two runs in the second inning, but the best he could do now was hit to Dolan, whose throw to Miller forced Lamy at the plate. He had a second in the second in t the plate. Heinie Steiger was sent in to bat for Joe Dunn and his fly to left was obligingly muffed by Welsh, a la Joe Dunn style, Reidy scoring. Welsh threw to the plate to catch Cy, but Miller whipped the ball to third and Johnny Nelson was forced out. Pitcher Louis Schettler had been injected into the fray by this time, however, coming when Sterling had pitched three wide ones to Steiger without putting in a single strike. Schettler put a strike over on his first pitch, then Heinie banged the next one, as described above. Reisling sent Osborne in to hit for Heck and "Ossy" drew a pass, filling the bases again. That brings us to Eddie Linneborn and back to the opening part of our story. That ninth inning cramed with enough excitement to most people a life-time. It was base-ball luck that saved the Petes. It wouldn't happen again in a thousand

Ben Beebe, who has been more or less ager Craven will send in Handsome Harry Howick against the London team. It will be a battle of hoodoos, for London fans are quite well aware of Howick's effective pitching when stacked up against the Tecumps.

This will make the third meeting be tween Beebe and Howick this season. Both previous times, the London righthander won from the Saints' spit-baller. In his last two starts against the time, and it is to be hoped that the spell he was once able to weave on the London Club has been forever dispelled. Today's game will be the first in a series of seven with the Craven crew. With Ottawa so close on the heels of the Reisling outfit, the outlook is not one to suffocate London fans with pleasure. The Saints have a bad habit of winning against the local team, although that series in St. Thomas a couple of weeks ago, when London took three straight, was a cruel blow. Just why Manager Reisling has not strengthened this position before now is hard to understand Dunn has not been hitting his weight for nearly a month, and his other work has not been sufficiently good to warrant his remaining in the lineup. The absence of Mike Mullin is hurting the club also. To lose a player who was hitting 340 and batting in a bunch of runs nearly every game, is a blow that will weaken any team, and London cannot afford to have Mullin out of the lineup at this stage. Mike may have acted wrongly in jumping the club, but he is still in the city, and the London directors should make every effort to settle specific or seven in their double do this at the present time, the next best course, as suggested above, is the one to take. TWO HOURS' BATTLE FOUGHT OFF THE COAST OF JERSEY; FIRING CEASES BY MIDNIGHT

French, German and British Cruisers Believed to Have Been Engaged in Conflict-Shots Heard At Internals of a Minute.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 .- Sounds of battle within earshot of Sandy Hook came from the southeast, out of the sea between 9 and 11 o'clock last night, and the coastwise wireless operators, who had been hearing French, German and British cruisers communicating in ern, $1. the wireless codes of their respective navies during the afternoon and early evening, felt sure that they were in conflict, probably not more than thirty miles away. The southeasterly wind brought the sharp bark of rapid firearms distinctly to the ears of listeners in the towers at the Hook and to officers and men of the garrison at the

Shots were heard at intervals of about a minute for three-quarters of an hour up to 11:15 p.m. Before that they were less frequent and seemed to be from guns of heavier

No sounds of the firing reached the Long Island shore, guests at the Hotel Nashau, Long Beach, said, nor was it heard in the Rockaways.

The firing ceased before midnight, and this was taken to mean that some of the fighters had been either put out of commission or run for shelter to the nearest American feeders, $5 50 to $7 90; cows and helfers, It was estimated by wireless men who overheard the cruisers talking that they were in the vicinity of the lower Jersey coast, or out in the steamship lane all day. Steamers, thought to be the Essex and Lancaster, were heard exchanging messages early in the afternoon.

HONEY CROP AVERAGES 16 POUNDS PER COLONY MADE-IN-LONDON

Shows Big Falling Off From Last Year's Production.

The honey crop this year is almost a total failure. Last year the crop averaged 100 pounds per colony, while this year it is but sixteen, showing an alarming failure. However, beekeepers and dealers have a large quantity of last year's honey on hand, and it is not likely that prices will soar very high if the honey has been kept properly.

FLAG DAYS.—Old Boys' Week; Labor Day, September 7th, and all civic holidays.

The Advertiser Union Jack is made of heavy cotton bunting, well hemmed, colors proof against rain and weather. Brass eyelets. Size 33 x 48 inches.

The History of the Union Jack

The name Union JACK is derived from the JACQUE or surcoat decorated with a red cross, anciently worn by British soldiers.

The Union Jack—the national banner of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland—is formed out of the combination of the crosses of St. George, of St. Andrew and of St. Patrick, these three crosses being the national banners of England, Scotland and Ireland, respectively.

The first Union Jack was introduced by a royal proclamation in 1606, three years after the union of Scotland with the English crown. It combined only the crosses of St. George and St. Andrew.

On the union with Ireland a new union ensign was devised, in which the cross of St. Patrick was introduced, with its four limbs edged with white on one side. This is the Union Jack as we now know it.

Through the kindness of Ross' limited, and Dr. H. A. Stevenson, Londoners were last night given a full bulletin service on the European war situation by The Advertiser. The service, the most complete war bulletin feature ever attempted in this city, gave a crowd of many hundreds that crowded the street in front of The Advertiser latest news from the great European conflict. As the war dispatches came over the special wires in The Advertiser office, their contents were thrown on a screen, hung in front of by a stereoptican ronto, who formerly lived in London, and is now a loyal Old Boy.

The sentiments of the people were clearly indicated by their continued cheering. The Union Jack, "the flag that's braved a thousand years, the battle and the breeze," drew forth vociferous cheering, and as it flashed on the canvas for the last time, it was followed by the singing of "God Save the King," from hundreds of lusty throats. A feature of the evening was the
