FOUGHT FIERCE

British Convoy was Attacked by Boers, Who Held a Position on a Hill.

Enemy Finally Driven off, Leaving 20 Dead on the Field-Convoy and Supplies Reach Destination.

Bleemfontein, Oct. 17.-On Saturday steam convoy left here for Dewetsdorp with 120 tons of supplies for the Bogliesmith column, escorted by 120 of the Scots Guards, commanded by Major MacGregor. When it reached Lefuw Kop it was attacked by 200 Boers who held a position on a hill. The fight lasted all day Sunday until dusk. The Boers decamped during the night leaving [twenty of their dead behind them. The British casualties were eleven slightly wounded. The convoy delivered the supplies at Dewetsdorp, and returned without further trouble.

Cape Town, Oct. 17 .- In a brisk fight at Twenty-four Streams, near Piquet berg, yesterday, Captain Bellew and four other British were killed and

The first was the pre sentation to the 62nd St. John Fusiliers of new colors in the behalf of St. John ladies. The ceremony was quickly performed, for the time was getting along, and it was a mere re ception of the medals and a soldierly salute by the recipient, as he made way for a successor. Smith, a man who lost a limb, was spoken to kindly by the Duke. After this the royal party were escorted to their residence -the Duke and Duchess to Caverhill the Governor-General, Lady Minto and members of the royal suite to P. S. McNutt's residence; these having been given over for the visitors.

To-night the city was brilliantly il Inminated. Never before was such brilliance here. Public and privat buildings were ablaze. The electrical devices were beautiful. Fireworks were sent up from a square in the middle of the harbor. The streets were crowded with people, and it was a night of great enthusiasm and enjoyment. ## AFTER BOTHA

Part of his Force Thought to Have Es caped, but Without Guns or Wagons.

London, Oct. 17 .- The correspondent of the Times at Dundee, Natal, says rain has again interfered with Gen. Lyttleton's operations to intercept the retreat of Commandant - General Botha's force. An attempt by Col. Spens, on the night of Oct. 11, to surprise a number of Beers, with stock and wagons, hidden in a kloof in the and wagons, hidden in a kloof in the north-west part of Ngome Forest, was frustrated by mist and rain. At daybreak the Boers were seen trekking south-west, but the roads were so heavy that Col. Spens was unable to overtake them. Gen. Botha's main body is in the neighborhood of Pongola Forest. A certain number of Boers have undoubtedly escaped west and north, accompanied by a few Cape carts, but with no guns and no wagons. It was at first thought that Gen. Botha was with some of these Boers, but it appears that he has returned to the neighborhood of Pongla. Probably a large amount of the Boers' stock, with men, families and wagons is sheltered in the Shangapie hills. British troops entered Piet Retief on Oct. 11. They found the town empty. Prisoners say that the Boers' losses in the encounter between Gen. Botha and Gen. Kitchener on Oct. 6 were heavy.

rived in time to inaugurate something nearly everywhere he stopped.

But the Duke of York has not been called upon to do much of the same kind of work, for the reason that we have been very busy people in recent years and nearly everything that can be done is well under way. The St. Lawrence is well bridged, our canal system is fairly complete, the country is well served with railways, the cities all have waterworks systems and public parks, while Brock, and other heroes of our history, have their mon-Wales found us beginning great tasks, while the Duke of York found us benefitting by them in their full opera-

The Prince of Wales landed first at Halifax and toured the Maritime Provinces, and did not "reach Canada" until he got to the Province of Quebec. Since his visit, Confederation has been accomplished.

The Prince's trip extended from Halifax to Quebec and up to Sarnia and Windsor, and it was supposed that he had visited the possessions in British North America that were accessible and worth visiting.

The Duke's visit has extended over a country whose geographical measurements are almost incalculably greater -Nova Scotia, New Brunswich, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, the Northwest Territories, and British Columbia. The greater part of the ground covered by the son was a no-man's land at the time of his father's visit. Little was known of the great West, and little was expected of it, even by Canadians themselves. The father laid the foundation stone for a building in which the law-mackrs of Ontario and Quebec should meet; the son found the building answering the purposes of a Confederation comprising not two, but seven provinces and territories just about to be erected into provinces. And he must have extracted from the air rumors to the effect that perhaps Newfoundland may enter ere long and round out British North America.

Books were written about the visit of the Prince of Wales in 1860, and no doubt books will be written about the visit of the Duke and Duchess of York. It will be important to Canada that these books shall properly set forth the change that forty-one years has made in the material and political onditions of the country, so that the British public will relinquish the stubbornly held notion that aCnada is a snow-bound wilderness, a vast undeveloped quarter-section of the earth.

Hon. G. W. Ross would talk to more purpose if, instead of making the development of Northern Ontario his so'e theme, he would explain to the electors how he proposes to carry on an Administration which will deal justly with the public, when so many members of his government are actively engaged in promoting corporation schemes which clash with the public interests. That this Council having on May 13th, 1901, instructed the Reeve to take action in the case of the grievance of J. K. Laird, by placing the matter on the D. & W. Act, that the same is hereby r scinded, and the Reeve is now instructed to take no action under this Act .- Carried.

Moved by Morrison and McCormick, that the grievance of Mr. T. Roe be ferred to the commissioner of the third ward, with power to act, and report to the Council, and if necessary to prosecute offending parties, and puit up notices if necessary. -

Also, that in the matter of the Nash drain, that the Reeve having taken Messrs. Neil and Jackson before the solicitor, that this Council authorize him to take Mr. David Wilson and Mr. Jas. Doyle, as well as Mr. Neil posts, $55.43. and Mr. F. W. Drury, and on their J. Cornhill, further information have the solicitor advise the Council.—Carried. Also, that providing Mr. Dunkley and Chas. Clark do 221-2 rods each of ditching that the commissioner, Mr. Buchanan, do 45 rods of ditching on the 3rd Con., W. C. R., said ditch to be 8 ft. top and 4 ft. bottom and 2 ft. deep.-Carried.

Moved by Young and Buchanan that the mafter of drainage brought before this Council by Zenas Watson be referred to Councillor Morrison, with power to act.-Carried,

Moved by Morrison and Young, that the grievance of Chas. McKenzie be referred to the Com'r of 3rd ward to report to this Council.—Carried.

Moved by McCormick and Young, that the Municipality of Harwich re-fuses after the 1st of November, 1901, to support Walter Slam, an indigent; since his arrival in this country in 1893 has resided in the Township of Dover for three years and in the Township of Raleigh for three years and who has been supported by the Township of Harwich during the past year and a half.—Carried.

Also, that the Treasurer accept and place to the credit of Ward No. 3 the sum of $1.80, the amount refunded by the Railway Co. for damaged sewer pipe, hereby handed by the commis-sioner of said ward to the Treas. -Carried.
Moved by Morrison and Buchanan, that the petition of J. K. Laird, for drainage under the Drainage Act for pt, lot 18, Con. 3, L. E., be entertained and that W. G. McGeorge be hereby instructed to proceed on the petition as the law directs .- Carried.

Moved by Young and Buchanan, that as Wesley Rosebrugh has lost all his buildings with their contents by fire, resolved that this Council express their sympathy for him in his misfortune by the remission of taxes for the year 1901.—Carried. Kent Bridge, Oct. 14, '01.

The Weak Spot.

If you are sitting in a restaurant when wateresses are in attendance, you will note now and again some young woman put her hand to her back, and straighten herself up, while her lips are tightened as if by pain. It's backache. Yet all day long she must be on her feet, lifting, carrying, hurrying.

That weak spot, the back, can be made strong by the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures the womanly diseases which ighness Can Only Be Had at the Price of Industry and Patient Toil. Lack' of thoroughness is a great fault in the present age. It is quite impossible to do some things rapidly and well, and the temptation in every department of human activity is towards rapidity. Hence comes superficiality in knowledge, inefficiency in business, poor teaching, bad service and shams everywhere. Books which are full of errors, carelessly written, and hardly revised at all, are hurried from the press, largely advertised in superlatives, and marketed like so many shares of stock or bushels of wheat. There has never been a time when the daily press was so carelessly edited, and, while the worst journals have become intolerable on account of the sewage and falsehoods with which they are filled, the best are by no means trustwor-thy in their news and in the statements upon which their opinions are founded. This change in literature, for it is indeed a change, is not due entirely to haste or prejudice, but in considerable degree to indolence Thoroughness, which produces good iterature, reliable news, carefully verified statements, and deliberately

The clerk obeyed. The petition was written out, signed and folded. "Now," said the functionary, "you have only to present it." "To whom?"

"To me, of course!" And taking the petition, he wiped his glasses, carefully adjusted them, read the document from beginning to end, placed it on a file along with a number of similar applications, and then remarked with the utmost gravity: "I have read your petition, and regret exceedingly that I am compelled to inform you that I cannot accede to your request.'

Imagine the feelings of the poor clerk!-London Tit-Bits.

Some years ago a certain William Stickers resided in a village about 50 miles from London. Having narrowly escaped capture for poaching, he went to London, hoping, amidst the bustle of the great city, to escape detection. He was, however, much disturbed and greatly surprised in finding as he supposed, that his offence had become known in London, for on looking up at a street corner he observed "Bill Stickers Beware." But the climax was reached when, on a boarding round some newly-erected buildings, he was horrified to read: "Bill Stickers will be prosecuted." He could hold out no longer, and accordingly gave himself up, and confessed his guilt at the nearest police station.

Miss Marie Corelli is the literary lion of Stratford-on-Avon. She lives in a large and extremely pretty house and it would be difficult to imagine a more desirable environ-ment for literary work. the same civil rights as I have.'

Scored by High Church Organ for Worshipping With Presbyterians.

London, Oct. 17.-The Church Times organ of the Ritualists, contains a virulent attack on King Edward for attending the services at the Crathie Presbyterian Parish Church. The King declares this newspaper, is a "Catholic Prince," and as such ought not to be ofund worshipping in the company of Presbyterians, and conforming to 'different religion," in Scotland. Queen Victoria, continues the Church Times, attended the Crathie Church because of her "Jacobite sympathies," and the King "ought to know better than to follow her example."

The Church Times seems to forget that King Edward is not only spiritual and temporal head of, the Anglican but of the Presbyterian Church of Scotland, as well. Just as he must attend the services of the Church of England when in England, so his duty compels him to attend the services of the Church of Scotland when in North Britain.

The Presbyterian Church is the offi-cial State Church of Scotland ,precisely as the Anglican is the State Church of England, and King Edward occupies the anomalous position of head of both,

An Awakening Among the Furs

There are signs of increased activity among the furs; the stir of prepar-ation for the colder weather that is hurrying towards us. Indeed these frosty nights and chilly afternoons have made a woman wish for warmer protection than that afforded by her light jacket, and probably hastened her resolve to supply her lack in that respect. This is her opportunity. A broad comprehensive stock of furs from which to choose furs of undoubted character, in the most fashionable styles of the season, and eminently reasonable though greatly varying in prick.

KILLED SISTER.

New York, Oct. 17 .- Wm: Joyce and his wife, who had been married seven months, were asphyxiated to death night at the home of Mrs. Joyce's parents, in Brooklyn. Joseph Duff, 19 years old, brother of Mrs. Joyce, believes he was the unintentional cause of the tragedy. Mr and Mrs. Joyce, who lived in Manhattan, had spent the evening at the home of the Duffs, and were asked to remain over night, They were given the sleeping room usually occupied by Joseph Duff, who was away from home during the evening. When the young man went to his home and lit the gas Joyce spoke to him and ex-plained the situation, whereupon Joeph turn dout the gas and went to another apartment to sleep. He thinks that in his confusion a finding his room occupied he may have urned on the gas after the light had been ex inguished. There is absolutely no ground for suspicion of suicide. The grief of young Duff is overwhelm.

MESSENGER MISSING

New York, October 17 .- Geo. Armi tage, a messenger at the New Amsterbeen missing since Tuesday. When he disappeared he had with him $50,000 in checks and drafts. According to the Commercial Advertiser of this afternoon the bank officials believe that he has been foully dealt with. Armitage had been in the bank's service for some time and had always been found reliable and punctual. On Tuesday he went out to collect on checks and drafts received by his bank, the sum being variously stated at from $25,000 to $50,000. He failed to return to the bank, and has not been seen since. This morning the bank officers received by express the bank's wallet, which Armitage had carried, containing all the missing checks and drafts except $5,996.58, which may be actual cash or negotiable paper. It is argued by the officers that if Armitage had absconded he would never have returned the wallet.

echnique of an Art That Requise Tact and Skill. me time in his life every author, no er how successful he may be in ficdetermines to write a play, and without a clear understanding of this without a clear inderstanding of the difference between the dramatic and other forms of compositoin. So few, in-deed, are those who have mastered the technique of both the novel and the play technique of both the novel and the play that they can be counted upon your thumbs, says Manuscript.

Charles Reade, whom Swinburne calls the greatest of English novelists and whose "The Cloister and the Hearth" is agreed by all to be the ideal of the historical novel, always plumed himself on his ability to write a play. Certainly he had the dramatic sense, as the stories of his ability to write a play. Certainly he had the dramatic sense, as the stories of his which have been dramatized prove, but he lacked the training in dramatic technique. And, worst of all, he was totally blind to his deficiency. He made over a good French play into a poor English one and wrote to a friend that he had achieved the dearest wish of his life. In the composition of a play the first essential is the construction of a "scenario," the framework of the fabric. With this done, the play is fully embodied in this done, the play is tuny emboured in the mind of the practical playwright. The rest is but upholstering—"leather and prunella." The younger Dumas was once asked how he was getting on with a once asked how he was getting on with a play that he had on the stocks and an-swered: "Nearly through. All done but the dialogue."

The fault of the "closet dramatist," whose plays read better than they act, is nearly always too much attention to lit-erary style and too little to stage effect. He thinks too much of word painting, a necessity in the days of the bare Elizabethan stage, but now rendered obsolete by the calcium and other modern effects. The frame of the dramatic edifice nowadays is everything. The paint can be squirted on with a hose.

The novelist who will write a play should therefore engage the services of a professional playwright either as a col-laborator or critic and reviser. Even then, if he does not produce a popular play, he will have received hints concerning the attainment of dramatic effects which will be of invaluable service to him which will be of invaluable service to him in subsequent work in his own field of fiction. Indeed, one of the best practices an embryo novelist could engage in would be the novelizing of a successful drama—if he can find one on the boards that wasn't a novel itself originally.

A Peculiar Present. Edward Noyes Westcott, known only as the author of "David Harum," possessed a rich baritone voice and at one time sang in a choir at Syracuse. He was fond of telling of an occasion on which he was invited to sing at a con-cert in one of the smaller towns of west-ern New York. The musical affair passed off satisfactorily with the help of the neighboring talent, assisted by Mr. Westcott's rare voice. As Mr. Westcott was about to retire his host came timidly to his room, carrying two long paper boxes. "I leave the house so early in the morning to go to my factory," the man explained, "that I'm afraid I may not see you, but I want thing for your singing to give you something for your singing tonight. Now, here's two pairs of the very best whaleboned corsets that our factory turns out, and I want you to take them home with you."

Westcott used to add that he was so surprised and amused that he could find no words of protest, and so accepted and took them home.

Chinese Nerve.

The most common form of putting a man to death in China is taking off the head by the sword, and the extraordinary nerve of the Chinese is shown in this way more than any other. I have seen two men beheaded, one placed before the other. It took three strokes of the sword to kill the first, and while the operation was going on the second knelt down with his neck outstretched waiting his turn. Thinking that the process was slow, he turned to the executioner and asked if he were going to be much longer with the first. Then, when the executioner came to him, he stretched his neck and waited for the blow, which completely severed his head from his body.

A whaling station can be smelled a tong distance. It is a wonder how people can endure such awful odors, but it is true that one can get used to anythic The excursion steamers to the North Cape always visit a whaling station for the edification of the tourists. It is one of the sights on the regular programme, but few people go ashore. The others but few people go ashore. The others are satisfied to remain afar off and spend the time "cussing" the captain and begging him to get away as soon as possible. A dead whale will smell longer and louder than any known animal.—Norway Letter to Chicago Herald, Unknown Canada.

One-third of the area of Canada is practically unknown. There are more than 1,250,000 square miles of unexplored lands in Canada. The entire area of the Dominion is computed at 3,450,257 square miles; consequently one-third of this country has yet been untraveled by the explorer. Exclusive of the inhospitable detached arctic portions, 954,000 square miles are for all practical purposes entirely unknown. The world has seven wonders, but the average woman can wonder more than that in seven minutes.

Young man, if you want to attract the attention of mankind, don't run after them, but rather walk, with a stiff upper lip, the other way, whist-ling some careless tune as you go. Do not despise the condition in which you are placed; wherever you are you must act, suffer and conquer. You are as near heaven and the infinite in one place as in another.

COULD NOT WALK.

Some people become so crippled with rheumatism that they cannot walk for months at a stretch. Mr. John Connell, Bedford Mills, Ont. suffered great agony with musular rheumatism in his legs and could not walk for two months. Four bottles of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure made a well man of him. This great blood purifier is put up in bot tles containing ten days' treatment, 50 cents, at all drug stores, or Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

"Dear Edith." wrote the aunt. "I am much distressed over May's inability to write an interesting letter. Why is it? She has been corresponding with me regularly for some years now, and there is really no excuse for a girl of fourteen not writing a better letter. If this is the best she can do now, there's no hope for her later on, I'm afraid. Her letters are most uninteresting, and I'm both surprised and ashamed for her. Now, don't go telling her all this, of course. That would never do. But just see if you cannot contrive to let her know how she fails to make her letters interesting and then set about at once improving them. Never by look or word let her suspect that I criticised them. By the way, Edith, dear, did you decide to get the blue foulard or the gray crepe de chine," etc.

Now, no sooner did "Edith, dear," read this than she, of course, went straight to the fourteen-year-old and gave it to her,

"In heaven's name," began the letter, "what does this mean about Charlie's marriage? May writes me that he is about to marry that dreadful blond that used to live on the block back of you and who afterward went on the stage and to whom I'm sure went on the stage and to whom I'm sure you wouldn't allow any of the children to speak to, much less have anything to do with. The distraught mother rushed to the fourteen-year-old. "What possessed you to write this awful, dreadful, disgraceful lie to your Aunt May?" she gasped. "You know there's not a word of truth in it. Answer me—how dared you?"
The fourteen-year-old calmly took the letter, read it, returned it. "Do you letter, read it, returned it. "Do you think Aunt May will ever say again that I can't write interesting letters?" she said, with a smile.

FLORENCE AS A JOKER. Two Pranks the Comedian Played on the Duke of Beaufort. Through the elder Sothern Billy Florence, the comedian, came to know the Duke of Beaufort, and they were excelent friends. Beaufort came to this country and was at the Gilsey House in New try and was at the Gilsey House in New York a good while. Florence enlivened his stay by several jokes, which were the talk of the town at the time. He told the duke that he was not looking well. "You need violent exercise," said he. "Now, I was troubled as you are. I used to strip to my underclothing and, taking to strip to my underclothing and, taking a heavy chair in hy hands, would run about my rooms, raising and lowering the chair a hundred times without stopping. It had a grand effect."

Florence insisted upon this for several days and got the duke into a mind for 25,000 to 100,000 square miles-that is, trying it. One afternoon when several s large as the states of Ohio, or New England are yet a seizing a great chair, he elevated it above his head and began racing around the room. He was in a fine sweat, with his eyes bulging, his face red and his veins standing out. Florence went to the office, and when the eminent and dignified persons arrived he said to one of them he

"Going up to see his grace?"

"Yes," said the man."
"Well," said Florence, "I've been up to see him, and I'm afraid he's touched in his head. He is leaping about his room, making strange noises and breaking the making strange noises and breaking the furniture. Come up and see him. I think he ought to be restrained. His family ought to be told."

The eminent and dignified personages accompanied Florence and, peeping through a crack in the door, saw an apparent manier dashing round and round, parent maniac dashing round and round, with staring eyes and flushed face. Then Florence shut the door and took them Florence shut the door and took theu away to tell what they had seen, beginning, "It's very sad about his grace," until an impression was general that the Duke of Beaufort had gone mad. A few days later Florence hid the duke's clothing and poked his head in at the door and said, "Hurry out; the hotel is afire!" The duke presently appeared in the hotel The duke presently appeared in the hotel office in a nightgown, slippers and a tall hat, thus confirming the unfavorable impression of his intellectuals.

"How horribly frightened you must have been," said the king. "Not at all," answered Metternich. "It is no merit of mine, but I am constitutionally inaccessible to fear."

"It is as I thought," replied the king.
"You are a supernatural being."

Man and His Palate. I suppose that every man's dream of married life is more or less mixed up with the idea of food—food that he can with the idea of food—food that he can eat and can invite his friends to eat. The possibilities of the chaing dish are innumerable. Try your best not to fall into a hopeless rut. Do dainty cooking. Then some time it may be that the fragrance of a perfect Welsh rabbit will bring to your mind the first budding of love as long as life and as deep as the grave. THE EYE OF AN ARTIST.

A Case Where It Vas More Reliable Than a Sailor's Optic.

Mr. N. Chevaller, the well known artist who accompanied the late Duke of Edinburgh on many of his travels, was once going from Dunedin to Lyttelton, New Zealand, by steamer. Anxious to catch the earliest glimpse of the coast he went on deck at dawn and was alarmed to see that the vessel was heading straight on to the land. Calling the officer's attention to the fact, he was told that it was only a fog bank. The artist maintained his point, but the second officer looked and confirmed his mate.

The artist then said: "Well, gentlemen. I will back my artist's eye against your sailor's eye, and I say that what you mistake for a fog bank is a low range of hills, and there is a range of mountains appearing above

But he was only laughed at, until the captain coming on deck found in the growing light that the artist was right and the seamen wrong. The vessel was out of its course, and there was only just time to avert disaster. The helmsman was dismissed in disgrace and the course given to the new steersman, but the vessel's head still pointed landward-the compass was all

The cause was discovered later. A commercial traveler had brought a box of magnets on board and deposited them in a stern cabin, causing what might have been a fatal deflection of the compass.

To return to the question of interpretation, the artist was dealing with the appearances which his eye was trained to see and his mind to inferpret. A speck on the horizon might have remained a mere speck to him long after the sailors had interpreted the speck into a vessel of definite rig. There can be little doubt that the trained eye is accompanied by a sort of mental seeing, an instinct outrunning optics.

THE CHICKEN YARD.

No henhouse that is frequently dustd with lime will be infested with lice. Lime purifies the quarters and dries them. It is cheap and should be used plentifully.

Always have the nests so low that the bens can step in rather than be obliged to jump down.

If the fowls get too fat, oats as a single food are one of the best grains that can be given to lessen fat. Mating birds to breed to a feather is high art, to be acquired only by long practice, aided by close study. A flat perch is best because of being the most comfortable to the feet and the best support to the breast.

There are three breeds of fowls that tre pre-eminently valuable as egg prolucers. These are the Minorcas, Legporns and Black Spanish. A medium sized active male is twice as valuable as one that is large and extra heavy. If large size and weight are desired, select large hens, but the male should be active and vigorous. When a fowl has canker and the mouth and throat are sore and ulcerated, wrap a soft rag around a lead pencil, dampen it slightly, dip in chlorate of potash and swab out the mouth clean and inject a drop of turpentine.

What Comes After Suicide?

On the whole, it is something of a pity that some of these fellows who cut their throats, blow out their brains or swallow poisons in order to rid themselves of their troubles cannot come back, so they might tell others who are troubled whether relief lies in that direction or not. It is more than probable that what they then could tell would deter other reckless men and women from following in their footsteps, and for that, if for no other reason, their return would be welcome. As Hamlet implied, it is better to bear the ills we know than to fly to those we know not of, and there isn't much doubt that the suicides are not long in finding that out.

The Peach Legend. Almost all fruits and flowers have their legend. One about the peach comes from Japan and tells how a poor, plous old couple were searching for food by the roadside. The woman found a peach, which she would not eat of, though starving, till she could share it with her husband. He cut it exactly in half, when an infant leaped forth. It was one of the gods, who had, he said, accidentally fallen out of the peach orchard of heaven while playing. He told them to plant the stone of the peach, and it brought them happiness, friends and wealth.

How a Plant Protects Itself. One little plant of South Africa protects itself by assuming a curious likeness to a white lichen that covers the rocks. The plant has sharp pointed green leaves. These are placed close together, with their points upward, and on the tip of each leaf is a little white, scaly sheath. The resemblance of the smooth surface these present to the lichen growing on the rocks, beside which it is always found, is so great that it is not till you tread on acts not so much upon the nerves themselves, as upon the digestive functions, and the abundant formation of rich, red blood. The nerves cannot be fed on medicine. They can be fed and strengthened by digested and assimilated food. Ferrozone's marvellous action arises from its power over the digestive and assimilative func-tions of the body. You take it, the blood grows richer, redder. You feel strength and vigor, digestion ceases to be noticed, for it has become good. Work is easier, for you have the strength to do it. What a splendid type of tireless activity is the sun as the psulmist de-scribes it issuing like "a bridegroom scribes it issuing like "a bridge like from the chamber and rejoicing like a strong man to run a race." Every man ought to rise in the morning refreshed by slumber and renewed by rest, eager for the struggle of the day. But how rarely this is so. Most people people rise still unrefreshed, and dreading the strain of the day's labors. The cause of this is deficient vitality and behind this lies a deficient supply of pure, rich blood, and an inadequate nourishment of the body. There is nothing that will give a man strength and energy, as will Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It does this by increasing the quan-ity and quality of the blood supply. This nourishes the nerves, feeds the brain, builds up enfeebled organs and gives that sense of strength and pow-er which makes the struggle of life a joy. The "good feeling" which fol-lows the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" is not due to stimulation as it contains no alcohol, whiskey or other intoxicant. First of a Series of Interesting Articles from the Pen of Thos. Scullard.

nitial Impressions of the Busy Young Industrial Centre.

This is the first of a series of very interesting articles prepared by Thos. Scullard on Sault Ste. Marie, that busy town at the farthest limits of the north shore of Lake Superior. Mr. Scullard recently took a trip to Sauft Ste. Marie in the interests of The Planet, and his descriptions are well worthy of perusal. In 1894 Sault Ste. Marie (was mall struggling town of 1,800 or 2,000 discouraged and debt burdened people, to-day it is a prosperous busy place of 8,000 and increasing in population and importance by leaps and bounds It is the centre of vast steel and paper pulp industries and chemical works and the headquarters of the Algoma Central and Hudson Bay Ry. What is the cause of the extraordinary transformation? How was it brought about ? To endeavor to answer these questions and solve the mystery was the object of a party of nine who recently visited the place and perhaps the impressions made on one of the party may be of general interest to the readers of The Planet. On landing at the International Hotel dock at the Canadian town of Sault Ste. Marie one is struck by the singular appearance of the place. the right lies the old town the "Soo," an old fashioned Canadian village, narrow streets, low wooden houses, homely architecture, on the left somewhat removed but near enough to form a striking part of the synoptic view, rise lofty struc-tures of massive sandstone masonry and imposing appearance, character-istically modern and city like. The sleepy unprogressive post with its wide leisures and unhasting ways in juxtaposition with the hustling stremuous present, "When every min-ute must sweat its sixty seconds to the full." These buildings, which at once attract the eye, are the office buildings and workshops owned and operated by the Lake Superior Power Company and associated companies formed by a number of wealthy American capi-talists and popularly known as the Clergue Synaicate, from the name of the energetic manager Mr. F. H. Clergue. It is the institution of these large industries there which accounts for the present prosperity of the Sault. But why, it may be asked, were these great industries located in this particular place? To the uninitiated this is a puzzle, but to those who know what cheap power means in this age of electricity and competitive warfare the reason is dain. The key to the hitch their wagons to a star.

perhaps I should say the physical key lies in the fact that the level the waters of Lake Superior is 18 1-2 feet higher than that of Lake Huron. Emerson, the dreamy un-practical transcendentalist, in one of his lectures counsels his hearers to F. H. Clergue, the eminently practical captain of industry, follows his countryman's advice so far as to harness up the elemental force of gravitation and it looks as though as long as he has Lake Superior at his back and access to the mines and forests of Algoma and the Hudson Bay territory he will be secure in his position as a leader in the industrial world. It seems strange that these great natural powers were allowed to run to waste so long, but the fact is it required a man of exceptional ability, great organizing and executive powers, splendid courage, and in command of ample money to turn them to productive commercial use. and the occasion met when Mr. F. H Clergue visited the Sault in 1894. Before that time a few of the mere enterprising men of the place had attempted to finance the enterprise with local capital and had developed nominally about 5,000 horse power with which they supplied the united local needs of the town, but practical ly the whole thing was a Power franchises were offered to one capitalist after another, but there was no taker. Many wealthy Canadians intimately acquainted with all the resources of the place with a view to the formation of a company with sufficient capital to carry the enterprise to a successful issue, but they all shook their heads and pronounced the thing unworkable nounced the thing unworkable. It was easy to get the power, said they, but what use could be made of it? You can't expect manufacturers to bring their factories to the Sault. Oh, no, the thing is impossible. A few still held on to the idea that such magnificent water power could not be allowed to run to waste; some one could find a use for it.

Things, however, looked pretty blue for Sault Ste. Marie and the Algoma Water and Light Company in 1894 By this time $140,000 had been sunk in developing the nominal 5,000 horse power, which nobody wanted; every body was losing heart, taxes were rising, property values falling, peo-ple leaving, and generally it looked as though the sheriff might as well wind up the whole thing. Mr. Hamilton, ex-Mayor, tells an interesting ilton, ex-Mayor, tells an interesting story of his experiences during this trying time. Just at this time, when things were at their worst, Mr. Clergue, who was on a trip through Canada looking up water powers, was induced to pay the Sault a visit. Seeing at once the wonderful possibilities of the place for manufacturing murposes, closed a bargain to take purposes, closed a bargain to take over the power already developed, and the sum of prosperity had arisen on Sault Ste. Marie. It is pleasant to be able to say here that while the old Power Company would have glad-ly sold out to Mr. Clergue at 50 cents the dollar he drove no hard bargain, but paid the company dollar for dollar on their investment.

Vactoria, B. C., Oct. 17. — W. W. Rockhill, who represented the United States in China, arrived yesterday on his way to Washington. He has with him a copy of the protocol between China and the powers, recently signed by the various nations.

Affairs in China have resumed their normal state, Rockhill says. He does normal state, Rockhill says. He does not anticipate any further outbreak, but there is no telling what will happen in China. The so-called insurrections in Kan Su and Manchuria, he said, were simply local uprisings which had been very much exaggerated. A commission is being organized to conduct commercial negotiations with China. This commission will revise the treaties and arrange will revise the treaties and arrange for the opening of more ports. Rockhill said he expected to hear

********* THE BRIGANDS BIG DEMAND .....

They Want More Gold than now in Bulgaria for Miss Stone's Release.

Fear that they Might Murder Their Captive After the Ransom has Been Paid.

New York, Oct. 17 .- Rev. R. Wardlow Thompson, director of the collegiate and theological institute at Sofia, cables the following from Samarow, Bulgaria, concerning Miss Stone, the kidhapped missionary:

"The headquarters of Miss Stone's captors is a thickly-wooded mountain top, near the boundary line of Turkey and Bulgaria. Miss Stone has only light summer clothing, and a colon dress. The brigands refused to allow her to keep her baggage, but let her have a Bible. The leader of the band is the notorious Boucho, from the Bulgarian town of Dubnitza. We sent that, being private individuals, we can't prevent the Government from pressing the brigands; also that the ransom is too princely. No such sum was ever before demanded. No re-joinder has yet been received. Usually brigands ask about a thousand pounds, and then agree for half. Twenty-five thousand Turkish pounds means two horse loads of gold, and that is more gold than there is now in Bulgaria. sides, the brigands demand payment in Turkish gold, for which it would be necessary to send to Constantinople. I should not give the brigands the ransom until Miss Stone is safely delivered to us as they might muder her after the ransom in order to seal her lips forever. We have three theological institute students who were captured in the Stone party. One tells pathetically how he was robbed of money intended to pay for his tuition."

DESPATCHED ANOTHER.

Constantinople, Oct. 17.-As no news has been received here from Messrs. Baird and Haskell, the missionaries who have been attempting to get into touch with the brigands who abducted Miss Ellen M. Stone, a third missionary, has been despatched in quest of them and the brigands.

onquered. Their presentation of the opera Robin Hood last evening, was magnificent and the verdict of a crowded house of critical Chathamites was unanomously and enthusiastically eulogistic.

Notwithstanding the character of the stage accommodation and the usual accompaniments of cramping, the captivating DeKoven creation was well staged in its entirety. The musi of Robin Hood is inspiring, though difficult in the main, while the book is bright and refresh-

The company is an excellent one throught, while the leading parts are in exceptionally strong hands. The choruses were splendid and the solo paris were gems, in which Albert Parr, tenor, who, by-the-way, has many relatives living in this city, in the title role; Miss Miller, soprano, in the difficult music which falls to word to Constantinople pointing out the lot of Maid/ Marion; Miss Rafter, contralto, in her most important solo, "O Promise Me," were repeatedly encored. The role of Will Scarlet was calrusted to an understudy, Allen C Hinckley, basso, and it was splendidly sung, the Armorer's Song, in the third act, being twice repeated upon hearty recalls. Mr. Barnabee, despite his many years, retains all of his capability as a fun maker, and in the lighter vein was given admirable support by Mr. Frothingham, as the Friar. Miss Bartlett, though suffering from a bad cold, made much of the small part of Dame Burden, but Miss Lutz was somewhat unhappily cast as Annabel. The large audience-the biggest of the season -- attested the popularity of good opera in the Maple City, and gave emphatic endorsation to the ambitions of the management to secure the best. The company were delighted than doubles that of St. Thomas, materially vanquished that of Hamilton and came close to the figures of Lon-

Mr. Brisco has earned for himself, in the short time in which cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh goers. And confidence begets support -which he well deserves.

ALIVE MELODRAMA.

A great treat in melodrama was provided at the Grand last night in 'The Span of Light," which has been here before, but still retains its effective force as a dramatic trump card. There was a large audience, and plenty of enthusiasm for the heroine and detestation for the hard-ened villain of the piece. From the opening of the stiry this bold, bad person is out for coin, which demands the murder of his stepmother, and his marriage. But the latter scheme is foiled by the spirited independence of the young lady in making her own choice. Years clapse and the villain seeks possession of a gold and dia-mond mine, which the hero holds the key of, but in this pursuit also his base plans are brought to naught. Two of the scenes are more than or-dinarily exciting one which shows a lighthouse and the escape of a big steamer from wreck amid angry seas. and the other where the human bridge spans a yawning gulf, and over which the heroine passes in safety from the pursuit of Arabs. The bridge is form-ed by the famous Danazetta Brothers (three,) who also give clever acrobatic performances, which received great applause. "The Span of Life," is well put on the stage and the scenery is sol good and the action so spirited that it is hardly any wonder the popularity of the play continues year after year unabated.—London Free Press. don Free Press.

WALKER WHITESIDE. Mr. Walker Whiteside, as Prince Victor, in the elaborate production of "Heart and Sword," to be made by Shipman Brothers this season, is one of the most interesting studies of the day. Though a very young man, he has steadily mounted the theatrical ladder of fame. In Shakespearean roles he first gained fame. Since going into the romantic play, such as "Heart and Sword" is, he has not lost an iota of that hard earned glory, rather he has added to his laurels, "Heart and Sword," is a feally delightful romantic comedy, one which all thorough theatre-goers will appreciate particularly as it is interpreted by a company of exceeding worth; the stage settings and the costuming effects are perfect and 'altogether a performance of magnificent propor-tions is given.—London Free Press.

This production will be at the Grand on Friday, Oct. 25.

"I think it far from right," said Police Officer Henry Darr this morning, to The Planet, "that boys should be put in jall for playing truant from school, because, in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, it will not be the last appearance at the police court. "When a boy goes to jail for tru-ancy or petty theft, he gets really scared and will likely go bac kto school. He will be shunned by his former playmates, and made-a jest of by the rest of the children as a fail "A boy has feelings as well as any other person and he won't stand the slurs. He will probably run away from home; going from bad to worse. ## FATAL LEAP

Young Maple City Lad Jumped From a Pile of Lumber and met Death.

A very sad accident occurred in the city about seven o'clock last evening, as a fesult of which, David Boyes, the six year old son of Mr. Knott, of the Wm. Gray & Sons Co. lost his life. The little fellow was playing on an eight foot pile of lumber near Park's foundry, with his brother and some more little boys. He was standing on the top of the pile when all the rest had gone down, when his brother ask-ed him if he would help him to get down, but David answered, "No, I can

He did so and fell on his head, receiving some internal injuries. He was removed to his home and Dr. Backus was summoned, but could do nothing to relieve the little fellow's sufferings.

He died at 10 o'clock.

David was a particularly bright, active little fellow, and had just recovered from a month's illness. His death has caused a gloom to spread over the entire community.

The funeral will take place to-morthy formand at one o'clock, from the now afternoon at one o'clock, from the home of his parents, Charteris street, to the Maple Leaf Cemetery. ****
