KINSMAN AND LOCKWOOD ELECTED TO HEAD NEXT YEAR'S COUNCIL

Kinsman Chosen President by Sweeping Majority; Lockwood New Vice-President

Law Society Holds Meeting

Ron Macdonald, second year law student, was elected president of the Dalhousie Law Society for the coming year at a meeting yesterday. Elected out of a field of five nominees, he immediately upon his election took over the chair from retiring president Jess Wentzell.

The retiring president himself thanked the Law Society for their cooperation during the past year.

Filling the position of vice-president for the coming year is Jeff Flinn, while Roger Cyr will take the job of secretary-treasurer. Both are first year students.

A report on the Munro Day Queen committee was given by Vaughn Baird. For what he described as Psycho-Physical attributes, the committee had decided that Moyra Seeger is to be Law's candidate for Campus Queen.

Miss Seeger has received two scholarships, has worked on the Gazette, took part in debates and athletics and is the retiring secretary-treasurer of the Law Society.

Parisienne Air Marks Junior Prom

The Class of '52 were the subject of admiration throughout the campus today following a very successful Junior Prom last night. In a Parisienne atmosphere, well over 100 couples moved to the gym for the first and last Monday night dance of the year.

A stage show during the intermission added considerable to the evening. Suzette and Lucille appeared on the programme. The former in reality Jane Clow brought the house down with the singing of three popular songs. The latter, Janet Rodd, accompanied Suzette on the piano.

Chaperones for the evening were Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bevan and Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Smith. Master of Ceremonies was Bill Haley.

The gym was done up in Parisienne style. Waiting on the patrons were several 'garcons' or volunteers from the Junior Class.

The committee who helped prepare the dance were Ron Robertson, Gay Esdale, Mary Chisholm, John Smallman, Judy MacKeen, Jackie Denham, Marg McLean, Doug Brown, Dave McCurdy and Helen May.

Eric Kinsman, present Vice President of the Students' Council, was swept into the higher office of President of next year's Council by a majority of 524 votes in yesterday's elections. Succeeding him in his present office will be Bruce Lockwood who won in a field of three candidates for the position of Vice President. Both are second year Law students and have been extremely active on the campus during this past and earlier years.

Kinsman's election was considered my many an acclamation. His opponent, Danny Soberman, accepted nomination for this position to fulfill a condition in the constitution which says that there must be two candidates for these positions.

He did, however, announce that would accept the office were he elected. Everyone admired the serious attitude he took towards the fact that there were no two people on the campus who were willing to run for this office.

Bruce Lockwood is a past editor of the Gazette. He has this year been chairman of the local ISS committee. The news of his success in the election was happily accepted.

Many people worked in the elections today. The elections committee consisted of Council members Andy MacKay and Foo Grant. Helping them count up the votes at the end of the day were Strat Poulos, Joan McCurdy, Frank Petrie, Pete Doig, Sherman Zwicker, Scottie Morrisson, Chic Fancy, Irene MacLean, Ian McCulloch, Bibsy Townshend, Gretchen Fraser, George Tracey, Mason MacDonald and Joanne Everett.

Referendum on Health Scheme Shows Nothing

Not much was learned yesterday by the student vote concerning the health scheme. Two questions were put to the voters—Are you satisfied with the present health scheme? and Are you in favour of paying more or a more extensive one?

Three hundred and eighty-one students answered yes to the first question; 352 answered no.

To the second question, 347 ayes were expressed and 353 nays.

In view of the result of this vote it is extremely doubtful that there will be any change in the present system.

Students on this referenda were asked to offer suggested changes. Not much was learned from this either. Most suggestions were meaningless, but succeeded however in making the work of the counters slightly merrier.

Students Favour Return Of Year Book Levy

The student body yesterday showed that they favour a return of the former system under which the yearbook Pharos was edited—when it was paid for by all students and was not put out especially for the graduating students.

The former system was dropped this year and only graduating students paid the compulsory three dollar levy which was used for the purpose of putting out Pharos.

However now that the students have shown that they would like to return to the former system and have a compulsory levy for all students, the University may reinstate this levy which is usually paid at the first of the year.

Those in favour of reinstating the levy numbered 498. Those against, 268.

Robertson and Haley Elected as President and Vice-President DAAC

Struan 'Arpy' Robertson, first year Law student and a senior in Commerce, almost doubled his opponents votes in yesterday's elections to become president of the Dalhousie Amateur Athletic Club for the year 1951-52. Elected as his vice-president was Bill Haley, an engineering student. Pete Mingo was elected secretary-treasurer of the Club.

Arpy has been active at Dal during his three years here, being a member of the Varsity basketball team each year. He was last year elected as Commerce's representative on this year's Students' Council.

Bill Haley is well known in Engineering circles being one of their representatives on the Council and holding the position of vice-president of the Engineering Society. He was a member of the football team.

Spain Again

There have been a number of world-wide conflicts within the memory of men living today, and the pattern of aggression is becoming clearer as each day passes.

A try for world domination seems to follow a set pattern. First there is an artificial upsurge of extreme nationalism in the country planning conquest. This was evident in Germany before the two world wars and in the Soviet Union of the present day.

The next step is to provide a scapegoat, so any potential opposition in the Homeland can be obliterated with national security the excuse. The Jews of Nazi Germany and the "Deviationists" and Titoists" of the present day are examples of this trend. The dramatic Red Purges of 1936 were the forerunners of another aggression.

After the homefront has been secure from all possible treachery, the next step is to test the weapons to be used.

Spain was the testing ground where Fascist and Nazi weapons were first tried against those of the Soviet Union. Franco was supported by "Special Brigades" of German and Italian troops, while his Communist opponents were equipped with the latest Russian guns.

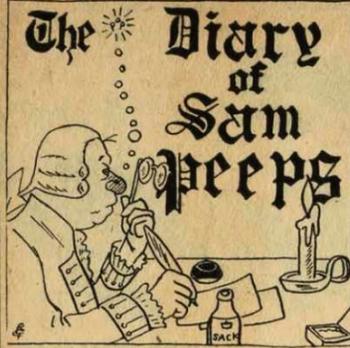

It was in Spain that the Blitzkrieg tactics were first developed and tested. At the present time new Russian equipment is being used by North Korean and Chinese units in Korea, and new tactics, adaptations of classic Russian tactics of the last war are being tried against the only possible major opponents to Soviet aggression.

Manchuria was another example of a testing ground for possible aggression. The Japanese attack on China was preceded by the conquest of Manchuria, nine years before Pearl Harbor.

The failure of the League of Nations to act to protect Manchuria and Abyssinia heralded the downfall of that world organization. The action of the U.N. promises greater things for the future of mankind.

The unceasing aggression of the Russian people is not to be overlooked, however. Ever since the days of the first Czars, the Russians have constantly attacked and conquered the weaker neighbors. The White Russians, Ukrainians, Poles, Balts, and Finns, as well as countless peoples of Central Asia were brought within the fold of Imperial Russia.

In every case the Russian Army tested their equipment in some minor skirmish before committing it a major conflict. Korea may be just another testing ground. Who can tell?

The Diary of Sam Peeps

Sunday, February 25th — Did sleep late as I had been to the Stigma Py parties all the previous three days and did not have time to sleep or to write in my diary. On Friday, they had the Stigma Py brawl at the Lady Hamilton. Did see there Spiff McStonepit with a strange lady, who they do say, comes from Falsero. Also did see there, one Clarinet Big-River with Subway McGrounders, one of Miss Cutit's little girls, who sneaked out for the brawl. On Saturday they did have a new kind of party, called a Roster's End party at which I saw some strange woman, Noel Oil, a Miss Har-High and Wetty Code, who is most enjoyable to look at. Wetty Code was the Shirt Boy at the Pauper's Brawl. Did stay until late, as I was having a good time indulging, as my wife was not there.

Monday, February 26th — Did arise early and journey to the College on the hill, where I did partake of a game of eighteens in the Peasant's Room. While there, did see one Mix Haines, whose voice could be heard murmuring something about Norm and Bert, over and over. Methinks that he is afflicted in the head.

Tuesday, February 27th — Did arise in time to go to Dull to the Student's Against-'Em, which was held in the James. Did see there one Noticer, who yelled something about unconstitutional at Uncertain-Boy Bicker, who did not seem angry.

Wednesday, February 28th — Did sleep late as I had been at the Lady Hamilton until the wee hours last night. When I arose, did go to the Peasant's Room to hear the news. Did see there Greatchain Carve-It bemoaning the loss of Hide Hydrant. Did also hear much talk of a Brawl to be put on by the Carver's Society on Friday and of a Senior Walk to be held on Monday. Did wonder much that the Seniors should need a walk. Did hear that Moan McHoundry is to represent the Millionaires for Prince of the Tent-Us. Big-Liver Sunny does think that Sunrise MacSaft should represent the Pillmakers.

Saturday, March 3rd—Did arise at noon and rush to the James where the Dull ones were putting on the "Muchado". Did enjoy it extremely, especially when Frian Eddy got bitten. Rye Thimble did do excellently, even though he began to fall apart. My wife thought it very funny. Did repair to the Stink to find to my horror that it is now a Permanent Wave Stink.

Lucy Calp.—Lucy is Arts and Science candidate for Campus Queen. She came to Dal in 1947 and in her first year she was chosen Commerce Sweater Girl. She has played on the Varsity Basketball Team for four years and has been Junior and Senior class representative in the Dalhousie Girls' Athletic Club. Besides these activities, Lucy has participated in Glee Club productions and on the Gazette.

Sally Newman.—Sally, a senior Arts student majoring in English, was chosen Campus Queen by Pine Hill a few weeks ago. She has been a member of the Students' Council for two years, secretary of the I.S.S. Committee and was one of the committee's representatives at the seminar held in France last summer. Sally won a Dalhousie Entrance Scholarship and the Evangeline Chapter (I. O. D. E.) Scholarship in English and has been active in dramatics, badminton and swimming.

DGDS Scores Hit With Mikado Production Operetta Marked by Uniform Excellence

Congratulations are in order to the Dalhousie Glee and Dramatic Society for their excellent performances of "The Mikado" last week.

Although not everyone will agree with me, I believe that the production of "The Mikado" has set a new high for future years to equal or surpass. In past years there have been good individual performances, but this year's production had a uniformity of excellence which will be difficult to match.

The backbone if any musical is the orchestra. Moulding twenty-five musicians into a smoothly functioning unit takes a great deal of time, patience and hard work on the part of all concerned. This year's orchestra seemed better co-ordinated than those of previous years, and showed flashes of brilliancy at times. The accompaniment of the plucked strings, during Pish-Tush's first act aria, was particularly effective.

No Gilbert and Sullivan operetta could be successful without a strong chorus. In this case, the choruses, both School Girls and Nobles, were very good. However, the movements of the School Girls were hampered by lack of space.

The outstanding feature of the production was probably the fan work. I feel that unless the fans had been properly handled, the sparkle of the performances would have been considerably dulled.

Like punctuation marks, the snap of opening fans had to occur at the proper moment in order to achieve an emphatic effect. Such timing is no small thing, and if you do not believe me try it for yourself, then multiply by eighty.

The costumes by Malaber were quite satisfactory with one major exception, the costume of Poo-Bah. That costume was in a disgraceful condition and, if time had permitted, should have been returned. Also, it strikes me that the nine principals should have been provided with distinctive fans. Economy is to be praised only when useful or necessary; in this case, it was neither.

Albert McMahon gave an extremely effective performance in the title role. In spite of the handicap of an uncertain singing voice, Mr. McMahon came through with a splendid interpretation of the part. It is the overall performance that counts in the long run, as was plainly evidenced by the enthusiastic approval of the audience. This was Mr. McMahon's first appearance in a principal role. It is too bad that this success has come in his last year at Dal.

Nanki-Poo was ably portrayed by Brian Edwards, an old favourite of Gilbert and Sullivan fans here. This was probably his last appearance in a Dalhousie operetta, and a very fitting climax it was. The assurance of experience was shown in many ways. The "kissing song" in the first act was particularly effective and was much enjoyed by the audiences.

If any of the performances could be said to be outstanding, one of my candidates would be Ernest Semple in the role of Ko-Ko, the Lord High Executioner. Another newcomer, in so far as principle roles are concerned, Mr. Semple carried his part like a veteran. In both singing and acting he showed exceptional talent, and displayed a stage presence which is unusual for a beginner. The most sincere compliment we can pay is that we hope to see him in many more operettas.

It is indeed unusual for newcomers to turn in so many outstanding roles. Nevertheless, such credit also goes to Roy Kimball for his presentation of Poo-Bah. Once again, fine singing and acting were combined to produce a top performance. An accident to his costume, during the student performance on Saturday afternoon, only served to heighten the fun. We shall be very disappointed if Mr. Kimball does not have a prominent position in future presentations.

Bob Johnstone, another old hand at the game, did a very good job as Pish-Tush. We are sorry that this was Mr. Johnstone's last appearance on the boards, this being his last year.

Audrey Powell, in the role of Yum-Yum, turned in a performance which will ensure her of a prominent place in future Dalhousie musicals. Not only did she do an excellent job, but she also fought off an attack of laryngitis to do it. Such devotion to duty should not be overlooked. Her aria, "The sun whose rays . . .", deserves particular praise.

Marian Johnstone and Joan Hills played the supporting roles of Pitti-Sing and Peep-Bo very well indeed, getting the most out of every scene.

Katisha was portrayed very adequately by Betty MacFarlane. Unfortunately, Miss MacFarlane's voice is too weak to be terrifying. However, Miss MacFarlane cannot be held accountable for a youthfulness which only time can change.

The Med Chorus

The close of the year 1950-51 will mark for the Dalhousie Medical Chorus its second anniversary. Although the enrolment has not been large, under the capable direction of Professor Harold Hamer, it has been moulded into a finished, well-balanced group.

At present, plans include a performance on Munro Day and possibly a 30-minute broadcast on D-Day.

It is hoped that next year's Chorus' activities will be more extensive, and an invitation is extended to any new members who can meet together Wednesday's at 1.45. You'll find the boys in the auditorium of the V.G.

With the Dawn

The story or surrender
Is the story of a song
That works in accents tender
Its magic on the strong.
But the story of surrender
Is also one of shame—
And worse, it also is of man
In his search for peace through flame.
Yet the search is always futile
For the fire of lust betrays,
And the highest pinnacle we reach
Like the grey dawn sifts away.

TIGERS CAPTURE CITY LEAGUE CROWN

Defeat Shearwater 54-37 to Make Clean Sweep of Playoff Series

The Dalhousie Intermediate Basketball team captured the City League crown for the second consecutive year last Thursday night as they downed Shearwater, 57-34, to win the playoff series with two straight victories.

The game, played in Shearwater gym, was a real crowd pleaser, as the Tigers forged to the front early in the first half, and staved off repeated threats by the tarts, to win easily.

Fraser Mooney led the Black and Gold to victory as he dropped in sixteen points. He was followed closely by team-mate, Scott Henderson, who got fifteen. Andy McKay and Charlie Connelly played good basketball for the Tigers, and were threats throughout the entire game.

Thursday's win ran the Intermediate team's win total for the season to fourteen straight, as they have not lost a game this year.

The next step for the team, in their quest for the Canadian title, is a home and home, total-point series with Truro, the winners of which will play a similar series against Yarmouth to decide who will meet St. F. X. for the provincial title.

Navy Edges Dal In Swim Meet

The Dal swimming team came second in overall points in the first official Provincial Swimming meet which was held Friday night at the Stadacona Pool. The girls team picked up first place in their division, but the boys—who were short handed Friday—did not fare so well. The Navy came first, Dal second, Y. W. C. A., Y. M. C. A. third, and Acadia last.

Outstanding for Dal was Bob Cook. He did not seem to exert himself and yet, in distance swimming, he came first by several lengths. He collected more points for Dal than any other individual. Frances Murphy won both the 30 and 60-yard backstroke and, with Anne Edgecombe and Barb McGeoch won the medley relay to be the top scorer for the girls' team. Barb McGeoch came second in both the 30 and 60-yard free style and Anne Edgecombe did the same in the breast stroke. One of the closest events of the meet was the girls' free style relay which Dal won by one-fifth of a second.

Members of the Dal team were Anne Edgecombe, Barb McGeoch, Joan Johnstone, Tabby Weld,

Girls B Team Wins Hoop Loop Title

Dal girls' entry in the City "B" Basketball League have captured the league title, and added further laurels to our basketball crown. The Tigresses played six league games, and won five of them.

High scorer for the year was Barbara Walker, with 44 points, next came Joan Johnstone with 31 and Joan Baxter with 20; following them, came Marg Henderson and Marj. MacLean.

The Dal girls put in 119 points to their opponents 81 points. The Black and Gold forged their way to victory by virtue of three, four and five point victories.

On their guard line, Charlotte Sutherland, Carol Cole and Tabby Weld were the main-stays, with Lucy Whitman and Pat Ahern doing their part.

Congratulations to the "B" team for their hard-won victories.

Girl's Basketball Meet Set for This Weekend

The play in the Nova Scotia Women's Basketball League finals will get underway in Halifax this weekend. The City "A" League teams will play off on Thursday evening at Gorsebrook at six o'clock. The winners will be entered in the provincial playoffs.

Dal will be the team to beat, and the Tigresses are gunning for a provincial title.

Teams coming in from various other towns will be: Glace Bay, Truro and Acadia. City teams will include: Dal Varsity, Q. E. H. Grads, Tartens, St. Pat's Grads, Dal Grads and Dartmouth.

The play should be of a high calibre, so turn up at the Dal gym on Friday evening, or any time on Saturday, and see some excellent basketball.

Frances. Murphy, Gay Esdale, Joanne Beaubien, Randy Erdman, Bob Cook, Fred Laing and Vaughn Baird.

Wednesday of this week, a swimming team from Dal will travel to Acadia for the Maritime Intercollegiate Meet and they are hoping to come home with the championship.

Special evenings coming up?

She deserves your best . . .

wear Arrow formals!

A big evening is made up of little things . . . like the way your girl smiles, the way your shirt behaves.

When you're sporting an Arrow formal shirt, you can relax! Both the Shoreham (for tux) and the Kirk (for tails) are styled in the Arrow manner—so comfortable, yet so correct.
