STREET FIGHTS

Between Union and Non-Union Men Enliven Frisco.

San Francisco, July 27, via Skagway, Aug. 1.—Street fights between union and non-union teamsters and an injunction against cooks and waiters from striking were the principal features in the local labor situation today.

Police Court.

This morning for the first time in a number of days the well-known and oft-repeated charge of drunk and disorderly was heard. S. Timmins was found in a helpless condition on Second avenue yesterday and it required two men to lift him into the express wagon which carried him to the barracks. He said in a somewhat inaudible voice something about taking a drink which had a dose of poison in it but the explanation was not sufficient and Mr. Timmins paid into the government $5 and costs besides $3 for the hire of the team.

Michael Connelly appeared in court with an eye that looked like the ace of spades which he said had been caused by it coming into contact with Andrew Hill's fist. The assault was unprovoked but as Andrew was so paralyzed drunk at the time and had since apologized for his action he did not wish to further prosecute the case. Magistrate McDonnell dismissed the case and charged the costs of the court to the plaintiff.

Litigation Over a Claim.

The case of McDonald vs. Kennedy is being heard in the territorial court today before Justice Dugas. The controversy is over an interest in the hillside claim adjoining the upper half, let limit, of 89 below lower on Dominion. Both plaintiff and defendant owned a half interest in the claim. In view of a prospective buyer for the property having been found, McDonald was induced to transfer his interest to Kennedy so there might be no delay in effecting a sale. The sale, however, failed to materialize and when the parties realized that fact according to Kennedy's statements, he bought McDonald's interest outright, paying for the same by giving a four months' note for $100. McDonald claims the sale he made to Kennedy was not bona fide and now seeks to have his former interest restored to him. The ground has recently become quite valuable as it adjoins what is said to be the best claim on lower Dominion.

COMING AND GOING.

Capt. Scarth was attending to business at the Forks yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crawford, of Quartz creek, are visiting friends in the city.

Mr. Justice-Craig yesterday reached the 50th mile stone in his journey through life and was the recipient of many congratulations upon the occasion.

Sergeant Davis left yesterday for McQueston, and he carried with him a big lot of October newspapers that were brought up the river by the Susie and Sarah.

Miss Burke, the proprietor of the Fifth Avenue hotel, Skagway, one of the largest and best appointed hostleries of the North, came down on the Dawson Tuesday and is registered at the McDonald.

Mr. Geo. R. Munger the well-known Chicago capitalist is in town visiting his daughter, Mrs. Dandy. Mr. Munger is accompanied by his wife and daughter Miss Belle, and will remain in town for several weeks.

MR. HENEY ARRIVES

Promoter of Valdes and Yukon Railroad Reaches Dawson Last Night.

COUNTRY IS LONG ON MOSQUITOES

And There Is Room for Many Roadhouses and Railroads.

COMPLIMENTS EAGLE BEER

But Has Nothing to Say on Railroad Construction Until He Confers With Capitalists.

M. J. Heney arrived in the middle of the night from Eagle, and it seemed this morning as if half of Dawson's population was hunting for him and the other half shaking hands with him on First avenue. Mr. Heney is well known and of high repute in Dawson, but even this was an insufficient reason for the very general proffer of the glad hand which lurked in every corner for him today. There was quite a number who had suddenly remembered that they had met him on the White Pass trail before the railroad was built or who were friends of his friends to the third and fourth generation thereof.

In fact all this class of "friends" was ready to stampede on a tip from Heney to steal townsites from the Valdes and Eagle railroad he is supposed to represent. Several called the Nugget office and made inquiries for dark, ground-floor, inside information as to the proposed route of the Valdes railroad and its Tanana and Yukon townsites. It would be unfair to our regular subscribers to withhold such valuable information from them for the particular advantage of the few, and therefore we give the whole in full, direct from the lips of Mr. Heney, and expressed confidentially on First avenue:

"How much of the railroad will you build this year, Mr. Heney?"

"That depends somewhat on the state of the moon. She is about at full now, I believe."

"You found the route all that you expected it, Mr. Heney?"

"Oh, yes, and the mosquitoes larger and livelier than they were at Log Cabin."

"How about roadhouses, Mr. Heney?"

"Fine country for roadhouses; the best in the world. With present travel a man can get to bed reasonably early."

"You don't think the Yukon terminus will be at Eagle City, do you, Mr. Heney?"

"No, I don't. I have never given it a thought. Eagle may have disadvantages, but I thought the beer there remarkably good for a Yukon terminus. Others are doing the thinking."

In Mr. Heney's party from Valdes to Eagle were H. T. Harper and S. Merchison and a packer from Valdes. It was not in any sense a survey party, says Mr. Heney, but simply one of reconnaissance. The party followed the military road as far as it is laid out or blazed, and Mr. Heney says he found it "a very large country, with plenty of room in it for several railroads." In other words Mr. Heney has nothing to say until he has reported to those who have the railroad project in hand and then they will do the saying. That Mr. Heney will report favorably on the route everything he says seems to indicate, but as to the probable action of the railroad company and the beginning of construction work, he has nothing to say because nothing has yet been decided.

COMMITTEE IS WORKING

The agitation as to lower freight rates did not cease with the meeting of Tuesday evening, but is still going on. The committee having the matter in hand comprises representative men engaged in the exportation of dry goods,

FOR NEW BARRACKS

Captain W. H. Scarth Selects Site at Grand Forks.

Captain Scarth returned from the Forks last night where he had gone for the purpose of selecting a new site for the police barracks at that point. For some time the barracks have been located in the old Hotel Butler, but as the building has recently settled so much it is feared it may topple over, it has been decided to seek other quarters. The site chosen for the new buildings is on Second avenue immediately back of the Eldorado, upon the same site where the barracks formerly stood some years ago. Permanent buildings will be erected which will be of sufficient size and stability to last for all time to come. The new quarters will also effect quite a saving an enormous rent now being paid for the present location.

For Eagle Boys.

A huge benefit is to be given tomorrow evening in the Savoy theater in order to help the baseball club defray the expenses of bringing the Eagle team up and their entertainment while here. A number of the members of the police have volunteered their services and the affair promises to be a huge success. The entertainment will be in the nature of a minstrel show, a striking feature of which will be the arrangement of the first part. In the semi-circle will be seated the soldiers and police in alternate seats and each will heartily join in singing the choruses and patriotic songs of the other. There are a number of excellent voices in the police force and the Co. B, 7th regiment, U. S. A. is said to have talent to burn. Among the police who have volunteered their services are Sergeant Stillman, Corporals Cobb, Sergeant Duffus, Constables (Home)ward, Morton, Kraemer, Waley, Skinner, Bothwell, Ferguson, Campbell and Bates.

It Was Tame.

The go last night at the Orpheum between Jack Leedham and Billy Williamson was a tame affair, Williamson going down and out in the beginning of the second round with a stiff punch in the jaw. The horse was small which did not please the champion of the evening. After the conclusion of the terrific combat Leedham stepped to the front of the stage and made a little spiel: "I've scrapped in mining towns all over British Columbia, but dis is the blumest crowd I ever did see, and I don't tink 'I'll scrap any more in this country, see. But just to show youse that me heart is in de right place I tanks youse blokes wot is here for 'cum-in' just de same."

Bon Voyage, Seymour.

Deputy Sheriff Harvey Seymour has resigned his office and yesterday started for his old home in London, England, which he has not visited in eight years. Mr. Seymour's resignation is due to illness which has called him home and it is doubtful if he returns to Dawson. He has been inside since January, 1898, and for six years prior to entering the sheriff's office was a member of the N. W. M. P., during which time he was stationed at Regina five months and later was transferred to Battleford, Saskatchewan, where he remained four years. Mr. Seymour has many friends here who will wish him a bon voyage over land and sea.

ANOTHER CHAPTER

Closed in Life of Scion of Eminent Respected Winnipeg Family.

ALFRED HESPLER IS PARDONED

After Serving Half of a Five Years Sentence

AT INSTANCE OF DOCTORS.

Came Rush Act on Chechakos for Cabin Stumpage in '98—His Crooked Career.

Another chapter in the life of a man notoriously crooked was finished day before yesterday upon his discharge from the N. W. M. P. prison after having served nearly two years and a half of a five years sentence. Alfred Hespeler, the degenerate son of one of the most prominent men in the province of Manitoba, speaker of the provincial house, German consul, and general agent of the province for the Hudson's Bay Company, came inside with the rush of '98. He left behind him a record for crookedness which would be hard to equal and the few here who had known him in the past were not slow to prophesy it was a question of a short time before he would be up again for the practice of some nefarious scheme.

Hespeler's past shows a checkered career, one which is an absolute proof of the degeneracy which sometimes appears in families in which such a trait could ever before be expected. Born of excellent, highly honorable and wealthy parentage he was reared with every care it was possible to bestow upon him, highly educated, proficient in several languages, it was thought he would prove an honor to his family and an ornament to society. Before he had reached his majority, however, the natural traits of his character became apparent and from that time on he has brought continued disgrace upon his father's head and cost him untold thousands of dollars in keeping his profligate offspring out of the penitentiary and redeeming worthless checks which he issued with such a ready facility. Six years ago last February Hespeler appeared in Juneau and with many flourishings announced that he intended starting a bank. He had money which he spent like a prince and soon ingratiated himself by his polished manner and affability into the good will of the best people in that city. At that time there was no bank in Juneau and steamers arrived from the Sound but once in two weeks. In a short time Hespeler's funds became exhausted but as he was a good fellow he had no difficulty in getting his checks cashed by almost any merchant in the city. In that manner he issued over $100,000 worth of paper on a bank account which later was found never to have existed. The checks were forwarded to Seattle for collection, but

THE NUGGET OF SANTIAGO

History Is Said to be in Error.

Editor of the Baltimore American writes President McKinley a Warm Letter.

Baltimore, Md., July 19.—Gen. Felix's publisher of the Baltimore American has telegraphed the following to President McKinley: "The history of the navy is the standard in use at the naval academy. In the third volume, just issued, the historian charges Rear Admiral Schley with being a coward, a liar, a catfish, an incompetent insubordinate. In an interview in the American this morning Maclay, the historian, who is a navy department clerk, classed as a laborer and attached to the Brooklyn navy yard, says that the proofs of this third volume, which should have told the most glorious story in all our naval annals, were submitted to Secretary Long and Admiral Sampson, and approved by them in advance of publication. Also that Mr. Long put him in his present position after he had read and approved this scurrilous attack upon Admiral Schley. These proofs were also submitted to Admiral Dewey, who refused to read them. If aught were needed to convince any fair-minded man that a clique in the navy department has conspired to traduce the hero of Santiago, and that the conspiracy was carried into execution while that brave and gallant officer was suffering expatriation on the fever-infested coasts of South America, this should finish it. Will you, Mr. President, in view of all this, sit quietly by and permit these conspirators to continue their diabolical work? Every justice-loving American appeals to you to intervene in the name and for the sake of fair play. Next to being right all the time, which no man ever was, the best thing is to find out as soon as possible that you are wrong and right yourself immediately." (Signed) "FELIX ANGUS, Publisher Baltimore American."

Washington, July 19.—The secretary of the navy has decided that the third volume of Maclay's history of the Spanish-American war shall not be used as a text book at the naval academy unless the obnoxious language it contains in characterizing the action of Rear Admiral Schley is eliminated. The secretary says it would be manifestly improper to have a history containing such intemperate language as a text book for the cadets. He will inform both Commander Wainwright, who is in command of the naval academy, and Mr. Maclay, the author, of his decision. Mr. Maclay was appointed to his present position in the New York navy yard August 12, 1900, having been transferred from the light-house service.

New York, July 19.—Edgar S. Maclay today replied to the criticism which has been made upon his historical work, dealing with Admiral Schley and the navy during the Spanish war. He said in part: "I did not appreciate at the time I wrote the book that the terms were immoderate and intemperate. It is only recently that it has met with adverse criticism. It is now my intention to revise that portion of the work that deals with the battle of Santiago. But I shall not alter the facts, for they are correct, and I must first be assured that they are in error. The proofs were submitted to the officers who took part in the battle of Santiago, as well as Secretary Long and received their approval. I should explain that only those portions of the book were submitted to each officer that related to him personally or to the part of the war that concerned him. I have never had any animus against Admiral Schley, and I wrote as I did because I believed it to be the truth."

Spurious Bank Notes. Washington, July 22.—Chief Wilkie, of the secret service, has received a number of bank notes printed from the original plates used by the State Bank of New Brunswick, N. J., over 50 years ago. The bank went out of existence some time in the 50's and it was supposed that the steel plates from which its notes were printed were destroyed. It seems, however, that these plates have fallen into the hands of parties who have printed from them large quantities of notes which have been put into circulation from New York to San Francisco. A very large percentage of the notes so far discovered are twice although some ones and fives are being sent in. Inasmuch as the notes are not counterfeit of any United States notes or obligation the makers and passers cannot be prosecuted under the United States laws, but it is said they can be punished for fraud under the state laws. It appears that the notes readily pass along the Canadian frontier as the takers think they are the notes of the Canadian province of New Brunswick, the words "New Jersey" being printed in small letters. The notes are printed on bond paper and are quite as good in every way as the originals. It is said that possibly $2,000,000 of these notes are in circulation.

Arctic Sufferers.

Word comes from the government hospital at the St. Michael reservation that McNeill, Madden and Callaghan, three of the numerous victims of the Kuskokwim stampede, who were frozen on the trail last February, are rapidly recovering but in a terribly mutilated condition. The surgeon in charge speaking of them says: "When these men were brought in by the dog teams sent out by Gen. Randall and hauled in over a distance of 150 miles on the ice, they were so weak and emaciated that none were able to undergo what was really necessary, that is to say immediate operation. They had been for 30 days frozen, so we had to give them stimulants and nourishing foods in order to first repair their shattered constitutions. It was fully 30 days before they were in anything like a fair condition to be operated upon. The flesh on the frozen parts had begun to slough off and the bones were diseased beyond salvation. Madden's feet had become mummified and black, and of course both had to be removed. "When Madden shall have sufficiently recovered he will be able to work to some extent, but McNeill and Callaghan, having no hands and being without means, will be cases on the mercy of a doubtful public." As soon as they are able to leave Gen. Randall will furnish them with transportation to some coast city at the expense of the government. A subscription of $500 is being taken up in St. Michael for these men in order to furnish them with artificial limbs.—Seattle Times.

THAT GRANT TO TREADGOLD

Means Much More Than Was First Supposed.

There is still much discussion in regard to the franchise so carelessly given by the Dominion government to the Treadgold company, and in a few days a memorial against this monopoly of Klondike water rights may be filed. It is certain that there is much strong feeling in regard to several clauses of the rights conceded in the grant published in the Nugget of July 18. Even the authorities do not know how to construe section 10 of the grant, and the gold commissioner has written to Ottawa for a ruling thereon. The section reads: "The right subject to no payment except the royalty prescribed upon output, to enter upon, make entry for and work all mining locations now, or hereafter abandoned on Bonanza, Bear and Hunker creeks and their tributaries." The best legal authority on the subject is that this section of the franchise does not give any prior right to any claims on these creeks to the company, and that any claims now staked or restaked would have the prior right. Within the past few days eleven of these restakings have been recorded by the gold commissioner, on the creeks mentioned, and it is believed that such locations will hold good. The company has not yet recorded any locations, and it is held that it cannot, under this section of the franchise, take up any property without first locating and recording in the ordinary way, and giving time for a contest as to the locations thus recorded. This reading of the clause opens up many claims to relocation by private parties. The ruling on the disputed point is expected from Ottawa in the next two or three weeks.

Trouble in Denver.

Denver, Col., July 20.—A mob of 500 men and boys made an attack upon the city jail here tonight in an effort to obtain Charles Mullien's freedom, but were repulsed by the police, who used their clubs freely upon the heads of the leaders. Fred Hoffman and Albert Guiter were arrested as the leaders of the mob. Mullien, who is a local anarchist, was preaching the doctrine on a street corner and the police arrested him. He was released upon his promise to keep the peace and not attempt to exhorted on the streets again. He immediately went to the corner of Sixteenth and Larimer streets and in a short time had a crowd gathered listening to his talk. He denounced the national government in severe language and scored the local government, especially the police department. A patrol went to the scene and re-arrested Mullien. The mob followed the wagon to the station and demanded the prisoner's release. They then started to enter the station house and were driven back and scattered by the police, not, however, until a number had been more or less injured by contact with the officers' clubs.

There is no longer any excuse if your friends are unable to locate you for a free public register has been placed at Emil Stanf's the same containing name and address of all residents who have purchased house numbers. Additional orders for house numbers may be left at that office.

THE DEVIL'S PHILOSOPHY

First impressions are lasting. The first chapter of a book forms our opinion of the author. The first view of a man forms our opinion of him. If he is well dressed we give him attention and he has a greater influence than if he were shabbily attired. In many important transactions of life, in trade for instance, we never see the man. Not seeing him we must form our impressions from other influences.

"Polished Brass Will Pass Upon More People Than Rough Gold."

Your Letterhead, Card or Bill Head, if properly dressed, will command the attention of the reader. If, however, your printed representatives are shabbily attired you gain the unenviable reputation, by inference, of being "a cheap man." No one can grow big in business carrying that burden. We are in a better position today to do fine printing than at any other time in the history of our business.

HORKANS' STANDARD LIBRARY

Is Today the Most Popular Institution in Dawson.

Its Growth in the Past Year Has Been Phenomenal—Demands of Mind and Body Supplied.

One of the most striking illustrations of the results of energy and enterprise which Dawson presents today is to be found in the Standard Circulating Library which, under the careful nurture of its genial proprietor, Mr. W. Horkan, has grown in less than a year from a small circulating library to be the largest and best patronized institutions of its kind in the city.

The secret of the success which it now enjoys is due to the untiring efforts of the management to make it a place in which men in this country, alone and cut off from the environments and pleasures of home, can spend their leisure moments in a quiet, clean, place and in an instructive or entertaining manner. The shelves are stocked with the finest and best books of fiction, art, literature and science and the latest magazines are always on hand from which the patrons are free to choose according to their taste. The amusement room has a number of chess and checker tables at which those so inclined may find pleasure and profit in those entertaining and fascinating games. Writing tables with ink, paper, etc., are also provided for those who have no place to attend to their correspondence. Everyone who enters the door is made a guest and everything possible is done to make him feel at home and the greatest liberty and freedom is allowed and thus it is that throughout the day and night the place is filled with men of all stations in life who have a moment's leisure and who desire to devote that moment with pleasure and profit to themselves, drop into this place to read and smoke or play at games as they feel inclined.

While the place is well filled all the time yet, as the proprietor says, "there is always room for one more," and if the room is not to be found it will be made. Already this year the place has been enlarged three times and there is yet a little more ground to be had on the north side and when that is taken up the building will be extended skyward and in fact a second story is now being added to part of the building and it is probably only a question of a short time when a further addition will be necessary.

Not content with making the place one simply where a man's intellectual appetite be appeased it was decided this spring to establish a lunch room where he might receive a good wholesome home cooked square meal for the sustenance and building up of his physical body.

This idea was put into execution at first on a small scale similar to the way in which the library was started but as before the increasing patronage has compelled continued enlargement until now an average of more than 800 meals are served daily. The question has often been asked the proprietor: How is it that you have such a large patronage when others in the same business are doing so poorly? The question was fully answered to a Nugget representative yesterday afternoon when he was taken through the entire establishment and shown the manner in which the meals are prepared. In the meat room one man is kept busy cutting the meat and fish which is kept on ice, preparatory to being cooked. Everything in the place is kept scrupulously clean, and a fire over the range carries off all the steam and doors from the cooking so that the atmosphere is always pure.

The food is all home cooked and besides being the best in quality obtainable, is served in abundance and no one ever gets up from the table with a hungry feeling. A glance at the table showing the big stacks of fresh homemade bread reveals the liberal manner in which everything is provided.

Another thing which has contributed largely to the success of this place is the courteous treatment which is accorded to all. Everyone who enters this place is made to feel at home and everything is placed at his disposal, and to this end the large patronage which is now being received. This business has grown to such an extent that where one man was running it alone a year ago it now occupies the full time of 15 men to attend to the wants of the hundreds of men who rally there daily.

Mr. Horkan thoroughly deserves the success which his business is now enjoying and that it will continue to grow and expand is an assured fact which is very gratifying to his host of friends.

COURT IN SESSION

Several Important Judgements Rendered Today.

The territorial court reconvened this morning after the regular monthly vacation from the 26th until the 1st. Justice Craig gave his decision in five important cases which have been heard before him during the month. In the case of John McKinnon vs. J. Burke, Daniel McPhee and Michael McNail in which plaintiff sued to recover $200 on an agreement made between defendants and plaintiff whereby plaintiff was to receive $10 per day for 20 days' work. The evidence in the case showed that the payment of the sum was based on the result of the washup and as the lay on which the parties were working was thrown up before the dumps were washed the justice held that the defendants were not liable for the amount and therefore dismissed the action without costs.

In the case of Gabriel Jehu vs. Henry Kern and Henry Kern vs. Gabriel Jehu in which Jehu sued Kern for malfeasance in performance of his duties, and was in turn sued by Kern on a promissory note. It was agreed to try both cases at the same time. In the first case Jehu who owned a two-thirds interest in a hotel left for the outside leaving Kern to attend to his affairs while absent. The evidence of the plaintiff tried to show that Kern had rented the property at a greatly reduced figure than what it was bringing at the time Jehu left for the outside. This was not denied by plaintiff, but in support of his action he had proved that before renting he had asked the advice of brokers and real estate men and they told him it was the best he could do. There was nothing to prove malfeasance and the action for $1000 was dismissed. On the action to recover on monies which could have been collected if proper steps had been taken a reference was taken to find if Kern had delegated his authority to another party and if loss resulted from that delegation of authority Kern will have to stand the loss. The costs of the act will depend on the findings of the reference. In regard to the action of Kern vs. Jehu the document was found to be an agreement payable in gold dust and not a promissory note. Judgment was given for Kern for $200 without interest the cost to be borne by defendant.

In the case of Phineas Calligan who brought suit against his brother George W. Calligan claiming partnership in certain property which the defendant denied, judgment was given allowing the partnership in coming into this country and staking and acquiring certain properties. As to the trip coming in, the judgment says, there seemed to be no profits. Defendant contributed a much larger sum than plaintiff and the judgment credits defendant with the difference between $2500 and $800 or $1700 on the trip. The judgment says they are joint owners in a cabin in Dawson also in the Fortymile property and a half interest in 31 below on Bonanza. Also in property staked by plaintiff in the joint interest. But they are not joint owners in any other property or mining properties. All monies paid by defendant to plaintiff from the time of coming into this country will be credited to him in the account. A week is allowed for the parties to indicate whether a reference is wished or not.

In the case of Robert Roberts, Thomas Tracey, Richard C. Gardner and Mrs. Richard Gardner vs. Louis A. Ginzburg and L. L. Ginzburg in which plaintiffs sue for damages on account of defendants, who own a hillside claim above the creek claim owned by plaintiffs on a pup tentary to Bonanza, diverting the water from the creek to the hill, the judgment allows the plaintiffs nominal damages with no costs.

The case of David W. Cullen and Harold G. Blankman vs. the Yukon Corporation, Ltd., which was to determine the boundary between a creek and hillside claim which were staked under the regulations providing the creek boundary from base to base and in which case a referee had been appointed to examine the boundary, judgment was given confirming the report of the referee.

IS THIS JUSTICE?

Pauper Tim Connelly Held in Jail for Debt.

A peculiar instance of the miscarriage of justice is seen in the case of Tim Connelly who has been confined in jail since June 29 simply because he owes a debt which he is unable to pay. Connelly was capised last fall by one Oleson, who claimed that he (Connelly) was in his debt in the sum of $2000 and was about to leave the country. Connelly admitted owing the money but said he was unable to pay it at the time, but disclaimed any idea of leaving the territory. Upon his arrest he at once gave bonds for his appearance, but the case for some reason has never been brought to trial and Connelly has been under bonds all winter. Becoming tired of such proceedings and not wishing to tie up his bondsmen for a seemingly indefinite period he, the latter part of June, appeared at the bar racks, gave himself up and asked to be placed in custody in order that his bondsmen might be released from any further liability. He has been in jail ever since, is without funds with which to procure the services of an attorney and is being kept there solely at the pleasure of Oleson who pays $1 per day for his maintenance. Friends of the unfortunate man have recently come to his rescue and a motion for his discharge will be argued before Mr. Justice, Craig on Monday, August 5. Connelly has sworn to an affidavit that he has no means with which to pay Oleson, has no way of earning any as long as he is kept in confinement and is not leaving the country.

when they were returned two weeks later marked "No Funds" Hespeler had disappeared; he went to Sitka to see about starting another bank, but forgot to return to Juneau, continuing on down to Victoria by the outside passage. There was a strong disposition to prosecute Hespeler at the time, but the matter was finally hushed up, the father taking up the checks issued by the worthless son.

Hespeler had been in Dawson but a short time until his old propensities came to the front again. One of his practices was to call upon recent arrivals whom he found building cabins near the edge of town, represent himself as an agent of the timber office and collect stumpage on the logs. Early in the winter he was arrested for obtaining money under false pretenses and as those were the days of severe sentences, in spite of his high connection and the efforts made to secure his release he was given five years at hard labor. Several months ago Hespeler complained of a severe soreness in his throat. The usual remedies failed to give relief and a consultation of physicians that was held pronounced the growth found a malignant cancer. It was reported to the governor general that the death of the prisoner was a question of but a short time unless he was operated upon at once and upon that showing the governor in council was persuaded to grant him a pardon. The pardon was received on the last mail and on Tuesday Hespeler stepped forth a free man once more. He left for the outside last night on the Dawson and it is understood will receive medical attention at once for his throat affection.

System Now Reigns.

The old timer who strolled down to the end of Front street to record a claim this morning was surprised at the changed condition of things. He had no longer to stand in line from a few hours to a few days, but got his business done at once. The office has been systematized, and it is a remarkable fact to those who recall the waiting crowds that this season more money has been taken in for recording than in any previous season. But the facility with which the business is now transacted is easily accounted for. In the old days there were four men dealing with the record of locations, the transfers and everything else. Now there are two recorders in addition to the court recorder, all with able assistants—in all a force of 30 men each of whom's task is specified under the systematic arrangements that are now in force.
