LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

HARVEST APPLES.—Mr. John Arthur has received a large supply of this delicious fruit.

CRICKET MATCH.—An eleven of the Guelph club left by the 8 a. m. train for Brampton, where they play against the club of that town to-day.

YOUNG LADIES' JOURNAL.—We have to thank both the booksellers—Messrs.
Day and Anderson for copies of the Young Ladies' Journal for August.

FOR NEW YORK.—Mr. S. Myers of M.P.C. notoriety, left town for New York this—Friday—morning, for the purpose of purchasing tobacco and also engaging a number of additional hands, with the intention of increasing his establishment here.

THE OFFICIAL STATEMENT of the polling, in North Perth gives Mr. Monteith a majority of twenty, which will seriously impair the value of those Grit or-gan's articles in which his narrow escape by four is so eloquently dwelt on.

HEAVY STORM.—Guelph was visited by a thunder storm on Thursday night accompanied by a pleasant shower. Up country the storm raged with much violence, several fires occurring from lightning. In Hamilton the lightning struck the smoke stack of Messrs. Dowling & Leighton's planing mill, setting it, as well as a building near, which the flames were communicated. A farmer's barn was also destroyed near Neustadt.

IMPORTANT PLOUGHING MATCH.—As we mentioned in a recent issue, the Council of Arts and Agriculture have divided Ontario into four sections, for the purpose of holding a ploughing match in each section during the coming fall. This section—No. 3—embraces the Counties of Wentworth, Wellington, Waterloo and Halton and it is intended to hold the ploughing match on the Guelph Model Farm towards the latter end of October.
The arrangements therefor are now being made by the committee which consists of Messrs. Thos. Stock, M.P.P., of Waterloo, C. J. Rykert, of Lincoln, and the Hon. D. Christie, of Paris.

THE TYRATHLEEN LOTS.—On Thursday afternoon Mr. W. S. G. Knowles offered for sale by public auction, a number of lots on the Tyrathleen estate, the property of the Van. Archdeacon Palmer.
At the commencement of the sale Mr.
Knowles stated that an offer had been made for the residence and a portion of the estate, the lots on the north-west of Palmer street would be the only ones disposed of. The sale then proceeded Lot 43 to F. J. Chadwick for $225; 44, S.
R. Moffatt $175; 45, A. H. Goodeve $180; 46, John Johnstone $185; 95, A. Dunbar $180; 96, Jas. Hower $165; 97 and 98, Jno. Little $150 each; 42, F. J. Chadwick $160; 47, F. J. Chadwick, $125; 94 and 99 to Jas. Hower $145 each.

A FISHY CASE.—Just as our daily issue was going to press on Thursday, we received information that a person had lost $150 while at dinner in the Western Hotel here, but from enquiries we have made since, we have no doubt that the rumor was unfounded. It appears that a man named Lowery, of Nassagaweya, went to the hotel for dinner, while in a state of intoxication, and after dinner, went out to the stable, driving off with a horse that did not belong to him. The hostler overtook him, and compelled him to bring back the horse, when the man told him he had lost some money, and went to police constable Dooley telling him the same. As he however disappeared all at once and has not since turned up, there is no doubt that his statement was an entirely false one.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.—At a regular meeting of Progress Lodge No. 153, I. O. G. T., held on Thursday evening, the NARROW ESCAPE.—Yesterday evening about 7 o'clock Mr. Geo. S. Grange's little boy, Eddie, aged about four years, while playing near the River Speed, between Mr. Melvin's residence and Mr.

Grange's, accidentally fell over the bank into the river. The water being very deep at this point he would undoubtedly have been drowned had he not been rescued by two small boys, neither of whom were more than ten years of age and who caught him by the legs as he rose to the surface. This is a second narrow escape this young gentleman has met with near the same spot, the first one being when he made a perilous voyage through Mr. Allan's mill race. After a few more such attempts he will no doubt become proficient in aquatic.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING.—There was quite a flutter of excitement in social circles in London, yesterday, owing to the marriage of J. Bleeker Powell, Esq., Excise Officer of this town, to Miss Nellie Williams, of London. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Tilley, in Memorial Church, London. A large and fashionable audience were present. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the residence of the bride, where a sumptuous breakfast, when the usual toasts were given and responded to. The happy pair left by the mid-day train for Niagara, from whence they will proceed on their bridal tour. We are certain that the numerous friends of Mr. Powell congratulate him on his fortunate choice.

LOCATION OF THE VETERINARY SCHOOL.— The Council of Arts and Agriculture having at their recent session in Ottawa, renewed their grant of $4000 in aid of the establishment of a Veterinary School at Guelph, the executive committee met at
the purpose of selecting the site. The members present were Messrs. Thos. Stock, M.P.P., Waterdown; A. McKellen, M.P.P., D. Christie, Paris; Ira Morgan, Warden of Carleton; White, Charing Cross; Graham, Brampton; and Rev. R. Barnett, of Hamilton. The committee finally decided to erect the school at the east of the Agricultural college, between the college and the farm buildings. The school will be of stone 40 feet by 30, two stories high, with a basement, the first floor being designed for lecture and dissecting rooms and the upper floor for a laboratory, &c. The plans are originally drawn out were for a building that would probably cost nearly $3,000 but the committee thinking this too high have adopted other plans which can be carried out for about $6,000, $4,000 of which is as we before mentioned already voted by the Council, and the remainder to be borne by the Government. The erection of the building will probably be commenced in about a month or six weeks.

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT.—In our daily issue of Thursday we briefly noticed that Fred. Bigrow, a little boy aged about 9 years, a son of Mr. Bigrow who lives near Messrs. Inglis & Hunter's foundry and is employed in Mr. Raymond's factory, had been drowned in Mr.
Goldie's mill dam, on the River Speed, near Mr. Webber's coopering establishment. It appears that on Thursday about 1 p. m. the little fellow went into the river to bathe and getting out of his depth rapidly sank, no one being near enough at hand to save him. His brother about 7 years of age was standing on the bank at the time and gave the alarm to Mr. Daniel Curtin who is employed in Mr. Webber's shop and who at once plunged in the river, but did not succeed in finding the body owing, no doubt, to the depth of the water, which is over 15 feet, and to its muddy state at the time. A large number were soon on the spot, and did everything in their power to recover the body. Amongst others Mr. Galloway, foreman for Mr.
Jas. Goldie, dived several times, but without succeeding in finding it. After about two hours had elapsed Mr. John Long, who is also employed in Mr. Web-ber's shop, succeeded in finding the body with a grappling iron, and brought it to the surface, when it was taken home to the residence of the parents, who have the dearest sympathy of the whole population in their sad affliction.

ALAS POOR YORICK

GROOKS ARRIVES IN GUELPH.

FOOTSORE AND WEARY,

And Finding West Wellington won't have him, goes Home.

Yesterday we published dispatches from two most reliable sources, announcing that Mr. Crooks had been appointed to the position of Chief Inspector of the West Wellington Police Force. From what has since transpired we have no doubt that our informant on was strictly accurate. Mr. Crooks has spent two or three days in the riding, and has we are well aware, found that Mr. Mc-Gowan's reelection is a certainty.
This morning he arrived in Guelph by the 9.15 train on the G. W. R., having stayed at Drayton last night; he was accompanied by Mr. McKim, the rejected Centre and West Wellington candidate, and was met at the station by Messrs. James Innes and James Massie, who kindly consented to act as chief mourners on the melancholy occasion, but few words were spoken, a hack was procured and the Treasurer furnished a scout horse, the mourners hopped in and squatted down likewise, being driven slowly to the Royal Hotel. Mr. Crooks left town by the 11 a. m. train on the Grand Trunk for Toronto. We are informed that while on board the Great West train this morning, he stated distinctly that he did not intend to run, as although he would not mind a defeat as far as he is personally concerned, such an event would in the present tottering condition of the Ministry considerably hasten its downfall.

ARTHUR VILLAGE, July 15th.—The Enterprise of this date states that "The Hon. Adam Crooks arrived in the village on Wednesday by the noon train and visited some prominent grites. He sold three different parties afterwards that he did not intend to run for West Wellington, saying, he had three other places in view."

BASE BALL.

The Mutual B. B. Club of Jackson, Mich., arrived in town this morning from London, Ont., and are playing a match with the Maple Leafs this afternoon.

Professional matches on Thursday, at Utica, New Haven 13, Utica 5; at New York 14, New Haven 7, Utica 5; at Hartford, Chicago 4, Hartford 3.
On Thursday the Mutuals of Jackson, Mich., were defeated by the Tecumseh of London, by a score of 12 to 3.

The Maple Leaf B. B. C. of Stratford intend making a grand tour in a few weeks; they visit, among other places, Woodstock, Ingersoll, London and St.
Mary's. The match with London for the June Championship of Western Ontario, takes place on the 24th inst.
All challenges from junior clubs will be favorably entertained.

The Model Farm Competition.

To the Editor of the HERALD.

DEAR SIR:—In Wednesday's issue of your town cotemporary I notice a letter signed by "A Director of the Guelph Agricultural Society," in which the writer attempts to justify the action of the Model Farm authorities in sending their horticultural specimens for competition at the recent show here, remarking that no one should be "afraid to compete with a few boys from the Model Farm, even headed by their chief, Mr.
Barron." Now, Sir, I feel inclined to think more of Mr. Barron than your cotemporary's correspondent seems to be inclined to, and although at the recent show, I succeeded in beating him in some classes, I am not so sure that I could do it again, as it must be remembered this is his first year at the farm, and that when all his arrangements are completed there, he will then have a great advantage over those who, like myself, have only a little time to devote to horticultural pursuits. No man possessed the least common sense would for one moment contend that it is fair to allow one who can command every appliance irrespective of cost, and who devotes his whole time to the cultivation of his specimens to compete with amateurs, whose only opportunity for gardening is probably after 6 p. m. For this well-being of the association I would therefore suggest that in future specimen lots be allotted to the authorities of the farm, on which they can place their preferences for exhibitions only, the real competition being confined to those who have a legitimate right to take part in it. I leave the honor to be your obedient servant,
ANOTHER DIRECTOR OF THE GUELPH
HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.
Guelph, July 15, 1875.

THE CAMDEN IN GALT.—At the last sitting of the Galt Town Council a lengthy discussion took place on the introduction of a by-law to regulate the livestock of that town, the opponents of the by-law contending that the livestock are now well conducted, and do not require any municipal regulation; and its supporters arguing that no burges or horses should be hired out on a Sunday. Finally the by-law received the six months' rest.

WANTON SLANDER.

Though the policy adopted by the Globe and the majority of the organs of the grit party, during the past quarter of a century, of villifying in every possible way the character of political opponents is at length meeting with the reward such warfare deserves, not by the organs of the Conservative party adopting the same weapons, but by the gradual falling off of the whitewash with which the Globe's proteges have been covered, and the exposure of them in the controverted election courts as steeped to the lips in corruption, in the Montreal courts as fraudulent vendors of property and in the English Privy Council as operators in oil swindles, yet the wholesale vilification and libelling is proceeded with as persistently as before, a conservative however upright and honorable being free from the attacks of the amanuenses who at the dictation of the master of Messrs. Mackenzie and Blake, cease not day by day to pen the most unfounded and villainous slanders. Nor is this pernicious system confined to the newspapers of the party, for we find it cropping up in a most unmistakable manner in the numerous groundless petitions which have been filed against Conservative candidates. As we write, we have before us copies of the petitions filed against Messrs. Platt and Cameron in East Toronto, Wallace in South Norfolk, Bell in West Toronto, N. W. Brown in South Ontario, Long and Kean in Simcoe, Wills in Hastings, Meredith in London and Scott in North Grey, in all of which petitions the Conservative candidates or their agents were charged with grievous infractions of the election law, infractions which if proven would have resulted in one of the most grievous punishments which can be inflicted on a citizen, the deprivation, for a lengthened period, of political rights. Yet in all these cases we have mentioned, the charges which brought into court entirely broke down, being dismissed by the presiding Judges as vexatious and unfounded. It is a matter of which the Conservative party may well be proud, that while the charges of grit petitions have in no less than ten trials been proven wanton slanders, every petition pushed by conservatives has been shown to be well founded, in every case resulting in the unseating of the member petitioned against and in several cases in his disqualification as well. The petition against the return of Mr. McGowan in West Wellington is a fair illustration of the kind of slander indulged in by the grit party individually and collectively; in that petition nearly every one who took an active part in the election on Mr. McGowan's behalf is charged with breaking the law in some particular or other and yet when the petitioner had to face the stern reality of proving his allegations in court he was only able to substantiate one paltry charge of treating by an agent. In that petition the respondent was charged with no less than four acts of corruption, every one of which the Judge declared to be unproven. Dr. Orton, T. A. W. Gordon, George A. Drew, Jos. Draper, Wm. Clarke, T. Zass, R. English, R. Ludlow, E. Hoolihan, W. Elen, T. Swan and the editor of this journal, were all charged with treating the electors in contravention of the statute, but the charge could not be proven against any of them, not even with all the petitioner's ingenuity in securing the services of such a witness as Alfred Barton, an individual of whom we hope the party feel proud. W. W. White, W. Markle, A. Anderson and P. King were charged with having committed bribery, but this charge likewise broke down, while one of the last charges, but not the least scandalous, was that against J. K. Barrett of Aboyne, than whom a more honorable man does not exist, and who it was alleged bought wheat at a fabulous price from James Conlin of Peel for the purpose of securing his vote for Mr. McGowan. In the face of the adoption of these tactics by their opponents it becomes the duty of the conservative party to consider whether the unprincipled traders who utter and publish such slanders as we have pointed out shall not be made suffer the penalty imposed by statute on libellers. At the recent election trial in London, in which the charges against the conservative member Mr. Meredith and his supporters entirely broke down, Mr. Christopher Robinson who appeared as counsel for Mr. Meredith closed his argument by saying:—"I pledge myself that those who have formulated these gross and libellous indictments will be called upon in another court of law to make them good." We heartily coincide with such a remark and we trust that in future those, who, in the hopes of fishing up some case of bribery, make such allegations without due foundation will be criminally proceeded against and made to feel, that while so long as they choose to conduct political contests in an honorable manner they are at perfect liberty to do so, yet the moment they resort to calumny and libel as a weapon they forfeit their right to quarter and can expect no consideration.

OLIVER GONE UP.

The South Oxford election case was continued yesterday, still further evidence of corruption being produced. Mr. Oliver's counsel threw up the sponge and the Judge declared the election void.

Alas poor Adam, we knew him well.

A fearful hail storm passed over Northern Michigan on Tuesday night. The hail fell to the depth of several inches with such force as to split peaches, apples and pears an inch in diameter. Every vestige of squashes, onions, tomato plants, beans, peas, cabbages and all vegetables are stripped and crushed to the ground. The windows of houses were smashed. Several teams ran away under the pelting torture of hailstones. Chickens that were out in the yards were killed by the hailstones. People out with umbrellas had them torn into shreds.

A new lodge of Good Templars has been established in Georgetown.

THE LIVING LINK. CHAPTER I.

A TERRIBLE SECRET. Edith shook her head. Can you bear it, asked Miss Plympton, anxiously, this that I wish to tell you? Perhaps I had better defer it.

No, said Edith, in a forced voice. No—now—tell me now. I can bear whatever it is, better than any horrible suspense.

Miss Plympton sighed, and leaning forward, she kissed the pale forehead of the young girl. Then, after a little further delay, during which she seemed to be collecting her thoughts, she began.

I was governess once, Edith dearest, in your dear mamma's family. She was quite a little thing then. All the rest were harsh, and treated me like a slave; but she was like an angel and made me feel the only real happiness I knew in all those dreary days.

I loved her dearly for her gentle and noble nature, I loved her always and I still love her memory; and I love as I loved her, and for her sake, and when she gave you to me, on her death bed, I promised her that I would be a mother to you, dear.

You have never known how much I love you—for I am not demonstrative—but I do love you, my own Edith, most dearly, and I would spare you this if I could. But, after all, it is a thing which you must know some time, and before very long—the sooner the better.

I wish to know it now," said Edith, as Miss Plympton hesitated, speaking in a constrained voice, the result of the strong pressure which she was putting on her feelings—"now," she repeated. "I can not wait. I must know it to-day. What was it? Was it—crime?"

"The charge that was against him," said Miss Plympton, "involved crime. But, my darling, you must remember always that an accusation is not the same as a fact, even though men believe it; yes, even though the law may condemn the accused, and the innocent may suffer.

Edith Dalton," she continued, with solemn earnestness, "I believe that your father was as innocent as you are. Remember that! Cling to that! Never give up that belief, no matter what you may hear. There was too much hate and blind passion and prejudice in that court where he was tried, and appearances were dark, and there was foul treachery somewhere; and so it was that Frederick Dalton was done to ruin and his wife done to death.

And now, my darling, you have to make yourself acquainted not with a father's crimes, but with a father's sufferings. You are old enough now to hear that story, and you have sufficient independence of character to judge for yourself, dear. There is no reason why you should be overwhelmed when you hear it—unless, indeed, you are overcome by pity for the innocent and indignation against his judges. Even if society considers your father's name stained and dishonored one, there is no reason why his daughter should feel shame, for you may take your stand on his own declaration of innocence, and hold up your head proudly before the world."

Miss Plympton spoke this with vehement emotion, and her words brought some consolation to Edith. The horrible thought that had at first come was that her father had been a convict in some penal settlement, but this solemn assurance of his innocence mitigated the horror of the thought, and changed it into pity. She said not a word, however, for her feelings were still too strong, nor could she find voice for any words. She sat, therefore, in silence, and waited for Miss Plympton to tell the whole story.

Miss Plympton surveyed Edith anxiously for a few moments, and then rising, went over to an escritoire. This she unlocked, and taking from it a parcel, she returned to her seat. "I am not going to tell you the story," said she. "I can not bear to recall it. It is all here, and you may read it for yourself. It was all public ten years ago, and in this package are the reports of the trial. I have read them over so often that I almost know them by heart; and I know, too, the taste of that trial, and the looseness of that evidence. I have marked it in places—for your eyes only, dearest—for I prepared it for you, to be handed to you in case of my death. My life, however, has been preserved, and I now give this into your own hands. You must take it to your own room, and read it all over by yourself. You will learn there all that the world believes about your father, and will see in his own words what he says about himself. And for my part, when I see the testimonies were far stronger, I would still take the word of Frederick Dalton!

Miss Plympton held out the parcel and Edith took it, though she was scarce conscious of the act. An awful foreboding of calamity, the mysterious shadow of her father's fate, descended over her soul. She was unconscious of the kiss which Miss Plympton gave her; nor was she conscious of anything till she found herself seated at a table in her own room, with the door locked, and the package lying on the table before her. She let it lie there for a few moments, for her agitation was excessive, and she dared not to open it; but at length she mastered her feelings, and began to undo the strings.
